saved forty dollars in buying this harp, but I'll make your heart ache with jealousy before the month is over!" He sat down and began to thrum. He held his head on one side, ran out his tongue and picked away at the scale and he had been going about five minutes when the cook opened the door, beckoned me out, and whispered: "I give you notice that I shall leave after supper to-morrow!" "Why; what is it?" I asked. "Him-Mr. Bowser! He'll bring spooks and ghosts about! I have already been otaken with palpitation of the heart. Mercy! but listen to those voices of the dead calling out to each other across their graves! Mrs. Bowser, it's the wonder of the people that you don't mit suicide!" Mr. Bowser thrummed until I had to carry baby up-stairs to quiet his howls, and until the ends of his fingers were sore, and he wouldn't have quit when he did had not a voice in front of the

"Why don't some one throw a rock through the window or ring for the patrol wagon? Next day a dark-skinned man who said he was a grandson of the late Givoni, came up and gave Mr. Bowser a lesson, and the cook, who had almost consented to stay, suddenly rose up and rushed after her bundle. When ready to go she whispered to me:

"I'm sorry, mum; sorry for you that's left! If the child dies, send me word and I'll come and do all in my power.' Mr. Bowser took four lessons in all and then told his teacher that his services would be no longer required. He took the last two lessons in the barn in order, as he said, to surprise me. On the evening of the last lesson he brought in the harp just as a couple of the neighbors came in. He promptly responded 'to an invitation to show off, but had not labored two minutes when one of the gentlemen asked: "Have you any particular object in that, Mr. Bowser?' "Of course he has," replied the other "It is an imitation of a great calamity in Japan-buildings shaken down by an earthquake - flames devouring the ruins—husbands shouting—wives pray-ing—children sobbing—dogs barking, etc. Is it your own composition, Mr Bowser?"

"Why-why, don't I play all right? The teacher said I was making wonderful progress."

They beckoned him out into the alley and held a conference. What was said do not know, but when Mr. Bowser came in he looked very pale, and the first thing he did was to give the harp a kick which opened all the joints and prepared it for the crash which came when he flung it out doors.
"Mr. Bowser, have you gone crazy?"

demanded. "No, ma'am, but I've got a few words o say to you.'

"What have I done?" "Done! Done! Who coaxed me into buying a harp?" "The grandson of Givoni. He had an old harp he wanted to get rid of and he struck you for a flat and got twice its worth.' "Struck me for a flat!" he shouted, as he walked around on the cat. "And why? Because I was willing to be swindled to keep peace in the family. You had your mind set on a harp and harp you must have."

"Mr. Bowser! What did I want of a

"Heaven only knows. But for you I should never have thought of trying to play on it. What do you suppose Freeno and Davis said?"

"That you were a dunce." "That if their vives led them around by the nose as you do me that they'd vipe the family out and then commit suicide! I must have looked sweet lawdling over that old harp!" "You did. I told you that it was nonense your trying to learn music at your "My age! There you go! Am I a thousand years old? Am I five hundred?

Am I even one hundred, that you keep flinging it at me! Music! Why, I've more music in my big toe than you have in your whole body. Mrs. Bowser, this is the limit. You have gone far enough. Now beware! The worm is ready to

But next morning the worm was as pleasant as June, and when a crowd of a dozen boys paraded up and down, each harping on a piece of that harp, Mr. Bowser never let on that he saw or heard anything - Dottoit Proce Press.

There's Many a Slip. Soupin (eagerly) — Hello, Inswim, what number drew the prize at that church fair lottery fandango last night? Inswim (laconically)—Number ninety (Delightedly) - "You don't say that ninety-one got it. Well, well! That's Menasha, Wis., gives some interesting prevents an agent from collecting commy number. A fool for luck. I never facts relative to the frog's habits. In missions from both parties to a transacwon a thing before in my life, but I ninety-one days the eggs hatch. The tion. Now, sir, if that is all you want "But you didn't win any thing." "No? I thought you said ninety-one got it?" "No, I said that ninety won." "Oh! "We can drop in here as well as any-

And the two manly forms disappeared behind two baize doors of green which swung together after them like the indicators on a druggist's scales, and a ompact of secrecy was solemnized .-

The Art of Acting. James-Hullo, De Forest. How's the orld usin' ye, me boy? De Forest-Now is the winter of our liscontent. Bad, bad, Jimmy, I'm playing Buckingham in Richard, at fifeen a week. But, anon, what cheef with you? James-Hippopotamus in the Tin Hippopotamus at two hundred. Come and line with me.—Harper's Weekly.

She Knew Him. Father-Young Einstein has been devoted to you for two or three years, hasn't ho?

Daughter-Yes, papa. Father-Isn't he very slow about pro-Daughter-Yes, Jake is a little slow, but (confidently) he'll get there all the same.-Chatter.

THE EFFECT OF PRACTICE.

Doctor Cutts-Pretty bad lip you've got there, my boy; but I think we can Patient-Tain't th' lip, doc. I play a ife in th' ninth ward drum-corps. called to see about a cough.-Judge.

Excitement in a Newspaper Office. Editor-James, what is that moving n the waste basket-a mouse? James (examining basket)-No, sir; t's one of them throbbing, passionate oems, sir.

Editor-Pour some water on it and hrow it in the ash barrel; the place isn't insured .- Munsey's Weekly. A New Crop.

Three-Fingered Mike - Ah, there, Reddy! Been away, hain't yer? Jim the Penman-Yep; been to Kan-"Kansas-were yer farmin'?"

"Naw, not much-raised a few checks, hough."-Light. Let Us Hope So. George! that was awful. A freight train of fifty-four cars loaded with pig-iron ran over a tramp yester-"Oh! mercy! I hope the poor fellow wasn't hurt."—Harper's Bazar. MISCELLANEOUS.

-In a cemetery near Detroit are the The Illinois Senator Twists a Lawyer graves of three husbands of the same woman-all in a row.

and care for the flower beds.

sages. The dog is frequently seentrot- lawyers we went, at the appointed time, ting along on an errand of this kind, to the gentleman's office. first pair of boots.

store. To-day it covers the whole hild- and such a date?" ing and has climbed upon a large oals "Yestere. The first occupants were a "Yestere. The first occupants were a "Yestere. Trade?" turbed, and their descendants still beed "I g as well as the German canaries. -The North Pole may at length be trousers-oil skin ones-which were on at that time?" board the ill-fated Jeannetts. The garment is said to have been ound on the the one I traded to him,' said Mr. Farcoast of Greenland, showing that on well. their journey from the Jacific to the the pole, carried that war by a current. | him.

-A Knoxville (Tenn, barber shaved man recently who resides in the Smoky growing since the battle of Chicamauga. The man, whose name is Harmer, was the day before the battle, and had not shaved since. He said he had got tired shaved since. He said wanted it "The lawyer was now in a dignificant rage." "Come, sh,' said he, 'I am not to be "Come, sh,' said he, 'I am not to be "The lawyer was now in a dignificant rage." in the Confederate army, and shaved than the one he traded to me.' -Asparagus on Toast: Wash and cut the tender stalks into pieces two inches | worth?' long; put in just enough boiling salt water to cover. When tender, add a cup slices of buttered toast in a deep dish, the little animalsbegin to have motion. In a few days they as- attend to my business.' sume the tadpole form. When nnetytwo days old, two small feet are sen bebody. In five days after this the re- about the suit, and I haven't paid the fuse all vegetable food. Soon therefter | $1.250 yet."-Washington Cor. N. Y. the animal assumes a perfect form. -A fog signal prematurely expression recently at the famous Bell Rock lightouse, off the east coast of Scotland. The dome was shattered by the explosion, and the light was extinguished for built in 1811. After the explosion a passing steamer had a narrow escape from being wrecked on the reef, owing to the absence of the light. She was disaster was averted. -A case came up in a St. Paul court the other day in which a big colored woman was a witness. She testified that she had whipped her little boy very severely, and as she went on with the story of the exceedingly stiff beating she had administerd, the Judge's clear brow grew a little darker, and he interrupted her to ark if it had been necessary to chastise the boy so severely.

The colored lady looked astonished at the question. Gazing intently at the Court, she inquired: "Jedge, was you eber de father of a wuthless mulatter boy?" "No, no," said the Judge, hastily. "Then, Jedge, you don't know nuffin about de case."—Minneapolis Journal.

SOME MISTAKE THERE.

A Cincinnatian Meets a Mudsill and Hugs We were having a good time in a St. Louis gymnasium one night when the question of self-defense came up to be argued by half a dozen different persons. Among them was a man from Cincinnati, who contended that a gentleman ought always to be able to thrash a mudsill, provided the latter would make fair scrap of it. Two or three opposed this theory, and to test it the Cincinnatian offered to strip while a committee committee of one, and I went out upon the street and picked my man haphazard. He was going past with a bundle under his arm, and I said to him: "Will you come in and box a man five or six rounds for five dollars?"

"Regular fighter?" he asked. "No, only an amateur."

"I'm your huckleberry." He was a plasterer, and he had some of his tools in the bundle. He got ready without seeming to care who his opponent was to be, and as they entered the ring it was seen that they were about even in size and weight. was called, and the fun began. It didn't last long, however. Inside of two minutes the plasterer planted a straight right-hander at the other's nose, which floored him and kept him on his back for sixty seconds. "Is that all?" calmly inquired the plasterer as he took off the gloves. "Yes. Here's your money." "Thanks. Good night." When the Cincinnatian came to and got his nose repaired he sat for a long time wondering how it all came about "Can't you explain it?" he was finally asked. "Well, I can." "What is it?"

FARWELL AS A WITNESS.

Very Much Out of Shape. A gentleman from Chicago, chatting —One hundred and twenty walnut with a party of acquaintances about trees standing in the forest near Del-some of the laughable features of the phi, Ind., were sold lately for $10,000. testimony given by newspaper men be--A prisoner in the Albany peniten- fore the Dolph "smelling" committee, tiary, whose term was about to expire, was reminded of an experience he had asked permission to remain for a year once with Senator Farwell as a witness. "Mr. Farwell," said he, "owned a —Some people get into the habit of building on Washington street jointly and there at the intersections of the derunning in debt. They have actually with me and wanted to get the whole, got the habit and never feel so happy so he sent an agent to me to propose a as when they are owing somebody. trade. I accepted finally his proposition to give me a building on the West side of alternate rows of kid and flat Val--Telegraphers have ways of commu- and $5,000 to boot, but I distinctly told lace. Proportional to the novelty is the nicating to each other unknown tocom- the agent I would pay no commismon folk. Said one of them: "If I am sions. More than a year afterward the sitting next to an associate in an audiagent brought suitagainst me for $1,250, ence room, I never speak. I simply tap claiming that the trade was a $50,000 ence room, I never speak. I simply tap claiming that the trade was a $50,000 rounded by aigrettes of light green out my message on the hand of my transaction and that he was entitled unfoliage and tied with black or mossder the law to 21/2 per cent. commission —An employe at the Baltimore & on that amount. As his first step to Ohio freight office in Tiffin, has a water ward establishing his claim was to despaniel which acts as a messenger be- termine the value of the buildings he tween the division freight office and the informed me that he was going to take ed on blackened steel springs, are among depot, often carrying important mes- Mr. Farwell's deposition; so with our looking as proud as a small boy with his "'Mr. Farwell,' said the agent's lawt pair of boots.

-In 1871 a man living at Porterdle, been explained to him, 'did you trade Cal., set a slip of ivy at one end of his buildings with this defendant on such

"'Yes, sir,' said Mr. Farwell. "On what terms did you make the "'I gave him $5,000 to boot.' there in immense numbers. The sing "Exactly! Now, Mr. Farwell, will

You please state on oath what, in your opaion, was the value of the building and her velvet bonnet often gets sunreached, all on account of a pair of which the said defendant traded to you "'I was worth about $5,000 more than

"'Thelawyer looked at first a little Atlantic, the breeches must have passed | confused Then a bright thought struck "Now, ur.' said he in a mandatory tone, 'tellus what you considered the Mountains, and whose beard had been building worth which you traded to him. "'Well, unswered the witness quietly, 'I thought it was worth about $5,000 less trifled with. Will you, sir, or will you not, tell me hew much this building was "'No, sir,' said Mr. Farwell, 'I won't tell you any thing about it. But I will of new milk, a tablespoonful of butter, tell you something a good deal more to a teaspoonful of sugar, and a pinch of the point, and opening a drawer in his white pepper. Let boil up once. Have desk he took out a book of check stubs. "There is the stub of a check for of the bed in the guests chamber. "He pour the asparagus over, and serve in sauce-plates.

Soo, said he, 'which I gave to my agent in full payment of all commissions, and world and all its cares." "Sleep knits take it up in a tureon to serve with it. in full payment of all commissions, and -The owners of a frog farn near I believe there is a law in Illinois which up the raveled sleeve of care," with Orange Judd Farmer.

"I have seen men set back," continued the Chicago man, "but I never saw one ginning to sprout near the tail, and the so badly twisted out of shape as this need appears to be separate from the lawyer was. I never heard another word Tribune.

RIPENING BANANAS.

Gas Makes the Only Heat That Will Take the Place of Nature. Few people outside of those directly the first time since the lighthouse was sage up. and ripened with great care, and it was for the purpose of seeing this done that the city.

is built into the left wall of the store. he continued, and the temperature is charged by Prince Albert, and more kept at about seventy. There is no heat | legitimately fell upon a King than a that will perfectly ripen bananas or Queen. He has patterned his conduct other fruit but that from gas. We have on the example of his father. Speaktried every thing else, and we found ing the first time at the Royal Academy went out to pick up a victim. It was a that all but the gas shriveled the fruit, banquet in 1863, when in his twenty ripened it too quickly, or ripened it unevenly: therefore, everybody in the business now uses gas."

course, only for the winter time, for as can not fail to stimulate my effort to soon as the weather begins to get mild tread in his footsteps." The Prince we take away the gas heat, allowing the | Consort aimed at being short, pithy and fruit to ripen in a natural manner, and exhaustive. The Heir-Apparent has when the hotter months are reached we taken him for his model, but he has are obliged to hang up our fruit in the touched a much greater variety of subcellar."--Boston Globe.

Pretty Cotton House Gown. For house gowns in the morning nothdresses of percale or gingham, made to open low at the throat over a chemisette and broad collar of tucked nainsook. shoulder, opens in the middle to button below the waist line, continues to the foot, and is held to the figure by a pointed belt coming from the sides and widened at the back into a corselet. wh ch receives the fulness of the back at the foot are finished with the narrow white ladder-stitched beading so much used by French needle-women. Three straight breadths, forming the sides and let. The full sleeves are gathered to "He was a mudsill all right enough, but you are no gentleman!"—N. Y. Sun. belt.—Harper's Bazar. FRESH FASHION NOTES.

Many Things of Particular Interest to Lady Readers.

Perfumes are worn any place and every place but on the handkerchief. All the little bonnets and toques have strings of narrow velvet ribbon in the back, and from the knot some buds and bits of foliage peep out.

Importers are selling bonnet shapes composed of gold arabesque, with here sign a mock ruby or topaz. A new style of glove, with the stamp of Paris on it, has the top or arm made The latest fancy in floral bonnets is a green velvet strings. Aigrettes, wings, ears of corn, bandeaux and crescents made of moonlight, bronzed, burnished or green jet, mount-study in hawthorne and briar roses sur-

the ingenious ornaments of the millinery trade. Regarding the make-up of a bed the French round drum bolster is the style most favored. Where silk, morris stuffs or cretonnes are used for dressing, the valence which covers the foot and sides of the bed should match the bolster, cover and spread.

Miss Frances Willard cares so little for style that she never has more than one dress at a time, and does not get a new one until the old one is worn out. She is happily indifferent to the seasons, burned and her straw hat snowed on. The taste for butterfly millinery is on the increase. Black lace butterflies are spread over the crown of floral bonnets and posed on the brim of large hats. Some of these insects hover over the blossoms that decorate lace hats. In the hats made with a velvet crown and lace brim, clusters of these frosted, gauzy-winged creatures are pinned. Mme. Nordica has a beautiful home just out of London, surrounded by a if too dry. The dressing should be large garden. When he is in it she keeps house, weeds and trims her flower beds, entertains company, hunts, rides, sails and plays tennis. She has trophies from every city she has ever sung in, and the fittings of her house are filled with bric-a-brac and ornament, the gifts of admirers and fr.en's. She has the pork, drain off most of the grease she uses every day. sprigs of heartsease, are very much favored, and then there is the Spanish idea of hosp tality accompanied by the time-honored proverb of that polite nation, "The house and bed are thing, These are simple words, but t ey mean so much-genuine hospitality.-N. Y.

World. THE PRINCE OF WALES. He Does an Amount of Ceremonial Work That has Never Been Equaled. In the matter of tours, blending pubic, social and private functions, the Prince has done, and continues to do, an amount of work that has never been equaled, much less excelled. During interested in the fruit business know his Indian visit he was always engaged exactly how the large quantities of in some interesting public business, and bananas which come to Boston are cared varying the ceremonial and royal duties for by the dealers. Two or three large | with recreations of an active and exhilsteamer loads of the yellow fruit come arating nature. It has been the same warned just in time by fog signals and a to Boston weekly. When they arrive with his European tours. No living about nine-tenths of the bunches are man has received more public addresses, perfectly green. In fact, all of them or conversed with more of the public were green when they left Jamaica, the men of all countries, or had better opyellow ones having ripened on the pas- portunities of acquiring the most cosmopolitan information. The range, ra-The green bunches have to be handled pidity and variety of these quasi-public tours once furnished Punch with the materials for a humorous tale of magic the writer visited one of the oldest fruit and produce commission houses in depicted as intent upon following an Illustrious Person in his travels by "You see," said a member of the firm, means of a magic opera-hat, which con-"bananas are divided into four classes veyed him from place to place. He kept or grades, the finest bunches being up the chase for some days, flying from known to the trade as 'golden veils.' capital to capital, from country These are the very best fruit grown, to country, from court to private and in a cargo of say 15,000 bunches castle, from public ceremony to there will be only from 200 to 400 private entertainment, until, physibunches of 'golden veils.' Next to these cally and mentally exhausted, he come No. 1, then come eight hands, and was glad to be rid of his opera-hat, the small bunches are styled No. 2's and to resume his quiet life as an ordiand are the cheapest. These are the nary being. The story conveyed some kind that are sold by street hawkers. | very useful teaching. Reference has "The moment we receive out fruit we been made to the pressure of circumhang the bunches up in our hot room." stances, and all that needs to be said in He then led the way to his fruit ripening room, which is a double-decker, and Prince of Wales has, for several years, been called upon to assume many of the "These two rooms are heated by gas," | public functions that were formerly dis-

second year, he said, "I can not, on this occasion, divest my mind of the associations connected with my beloved and "This heat-ripening process is, of lamented father. His bright example jects. The published speeches of Prince Albert range from 1840 to 1860, and are 34 in number. The Prince of Wales' collected addresses run from 1863 to ing can be prettier than the one-piece 1883, and are 154 in number. Eleven have been delivered at Royal Academy banquets, six at Trinity House, and four in connection with the Royal College of The front breadth is gathered on each Music. The more numerous addresses touch such diversified subjects as commerce, agriculture, education, public works, medical charities and general philanthropy. They are short, kindly and appreciative, obviously bearing about them the stamp of the Prince of of the waist. The corselet and the hen Wales' individuality.—Cassell's Family Magazine.

-The population of Iceland diminished 2,400 between 1885 and and 1888, back of the skirt, are gathered with a standing ruffle on the edge of the corse 59,224. The decline is due to emigration to America. The native fishermen complain that their business is being ruined by English fishing steamers.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Lemon juice and salt will take spots of iron rust from linen, which should be left in the sun to bleach. -Boiled Spinach: Pick and wash speck of spinach, put in a pot without water, sprinkle with salt, and let cook half an hour. Season with pepper and a large teaspoonful of butter. Take up, pour hot cream over, garnish the top with slices of hard-boiled egg. -Ladies Home Journal.

-Rye Muffins: One cup sifted rye neal, one cup white flour, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, twe teaspoons baking powder, one egg, one cup milk. Mix the dry ingredien to thoroughly; beat the egg, add the milk, and stir quickly into the dry mixture. Bake in hot gem pans twenty-five minutes.

—Forest Pudding: Make one quart of soft custard, flavor with lemon and add one wineglassful of sherry, dissolve two heaping teaspoonfuls of dessicated cocoanut and add to the custard; line a glass dish with thin slices of sponge cake, and when the custard is cool, turn it in. Sprinkle cocoanut over the top and serve cold .- Boston Herald.

-Cold fish and macaroni is an excellent way to use up cold boiled fish. Take equal quantities of fish and macaroni, and one cup of tomato sauce, cook macaroni in salted water, drain off hot water and pour over cold,; prepare sauce the same as given with egg tymbals, butter a shallow dish, put a layer or macaroni, then tomato sauce, then fish with pepper and salt, then macaroni and tomato sauce, cover with cracker crumbs and bake until juice bubbles through the top .- The Home. -A Salad of Herrings: Take two herrings, and let them soak in milk for an hour or so to draw out the salt, bone them, and flake the flesh; cut half a dozen cold boiled potatoes into slices, and a small teaspoon of finely minced onion. Put these with the fish, mix all well together, and work lightly into them a plain salad dressing of vinegar, oil, salt and pepper. As this salad should be rather moist, add a little milk added just before the salad is served. -Fried Pork with Cream Gravy: Cut the pork in thin slices and freshen it by soaking in either milk and or water, then wipe dry, roll it in flour, have ready a hot pan or spider and fry it, not too fast, to a nice crisp brown. Take up three pianos in her house, each of which and stir smoothly into it a spoonful or more of flour. When perfectly smooth All manner of sweet and suggestive add a teacupful of cream, or milk and things are painted across the headboard cream together, season to taste with salt and pepper, and when well scalded,

SOME VALUABLE HINTS.

How Paint of All Kinds Should be The painter was rather averse to giving away the tricks of his trade, but the reporter as usual succeeded in getting some information that will be appreciated by believers in home economy. This particular man happened to be a veritable cyclopedia of knowledge pertaining to his trade. As it is getting along toward house cleaning time the ladies will want to know the best way to clean painted surfaces, said the painter. This work should be done carefully in order to avoid damaging the paint. Use a flannel rag dipped into warm soap suds, then into whiting. Do not use a strong alkali soap that will cut the paint, but select a milder variety. Hard rubbing is unnecessary. The same rule will apply to natural wood finish. If it is a good job of wood finishing the dirt will roll off easily.

There seems to be few people who know that wall-paper can be cleaned so nicely as to look as good as new, yet it is a fact. One easy method is to rub the paper thoroughly with a piece of soft rye bread. That isn't a bad plan, but a more effective one is to saturate a piece of flannel in spirits of wine and rub gently over the paper. Either method will absorb the dirt.

After the painter has been to work on the house for a few days the windows are found to be well covered with paint splashes. The best way to remove them is to rub with a stiff brush dipped in camphor and sand. Coal oil, benzine or turpentine will do the work satisfactorily if the paint has not become too dry, and in that event ammonia will do it. If paint should happen to have splashed upon clothing the spots should be saturated with turpentine and allowed to stand for several hours, then rubbed off. Alcohol or gasoline are better for light-colored clothing. Most people who get themselves daubed with paint make the mistake of rubbing it into the cloth.

When a man wants to do a little job of painting on his own book, when the work is not important enough to require a regular painter, he should at any rate know how to do it right. Boiled oil is the material for mixing; turpentine is the thinner and japan the dryer. To thin paint add a little liquid at a time. then beat or stir it thoroughly before adding more, and so on until the proper consistency is reached. Paint should always be applied in thin coats, and each successive coat should be thoroughly dry before another is applied. Use plenty of oil in mixing. It dries more slowly, but makes the paint elastic, lasts longer, and prevents cracking. This is the season, too, when the carriage-owner wants his old vehicle to look like a new one. The carriage painter takes it in charge and by the quick American method completes the work and returns it to the owner in an incredibly short space of time. Last year the varnish spotted shortly after it was out of the shop and the painter and the varnish were of course condemned. But it was the fault of neither. When the buggy spots it does not necessarily indicate poor work or poor varnish. It is caused by the ammonia in the atmosphere or in the spots of mud and slush that have splashed upon it. To avoid the trouble have the vehicle washed carefully, never allow spots of mud to dry upon it, and, if possible, keep it out of reach of the ammonia-laden atmosphere of the stables.-Chicago Tribune.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE. TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional inser-on. Special contracts for advertising longer

SATURDAY, MAY 17, 1890.

Farm Mortgages.

A great deal has been said on this floor and elsewhere about farm mortgages, and it appears to be thought at the same periods and in the same by some that if the number of farm mortgages is large in any State or buys is less than in what he sells, it Territory it indicates an unprosperous condition of the farmer. But all events, has not plundered him, nothing is further from the truth. Nothing can be absolutely predicted as to the prosperity of the farmers of a community from the existence or contribution to that knowledge of non-existence of farm mortgages. the facts without which reasoning of The inference to be drawn from the number of mortgages in an old, set- 1880 at Fort Dodge are compared tled country, like one of the New England States, might be very different from the inference to be drawn from the same thing in a new community. In a new State a large number of farm mortgages may indicate great prosperity, may represent cultivated and productive farms and comfortable homes, where, without the ability to borrow, there would have been a waste and unproductive area. They may have been the means by which day laborers on the farm have been converted into prosperous farmers on their own account. In many cases they represent additional lands, purchased on credit, which are a source of increased prosperity, and so a blessing.-Senator Dolph.

McKinley's Bill Worrying England.

stated that the full list shows a decline of 38 to 69 per cent; that window (line) is the significant subjects, it is the significant state of the three of the control dispatch. Yesterday's reports are to the effect that the members of the Dunder Chamber of Commerce "have their cyces upon Congress and would list that the members of the Dunder of Commerce "have their cyces upon Congress and would list the three of the control of the decrease of the decrease of the decrease of the control of the decrease of England wanted and then oppose it; and I always found myself in the person in Washington, The General. right." In this tariff matter, it will be who by the way, is looking remarkwell for us to find out what England wants and oppose it. Like Mr, Webster, we will be pretty certain to find that we are right .- Wheeling Intelli-

Prices to Farmers.

If the depression of agriculture is in any measure due to the tariff, as some assert, prices will tell the story. That test Free Traders invar iably try to evade. Prices ought to be lower than at any former time, Correspondents must enclose full hame and ldress, not necessarily for publication, but a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned. ed. But if prices generally "ought to be lower," what sense is there in attributing the low prices of farm products to the tariff? When prices of products which the farmer buys at different periods are compared, and also prices of products which he sells markets, if the decline in what he is conclusive proof that the tariff, at > Such a comparison has been made by the Fort Dodge (Iowa) Messenger, which deserves attention as a useful value is impossible. The prices of with those charged or paid there this year. Some of the figures are here arranged in tabular form:

As respects farm implements, it is "McKinley's tariff bill is worrying cline of 33 to 60 per cent; that win-

THE REPUBLICAN. ably made it a rule to find out what er John, the Senator which was attended by about every prominent ably well, came over from New York City, where he now resides, and will remain here for a few days. The second eyent celebrated was the sixty seventh birthday of Senator John Sherman, who made it memorable by a dinner at which the President, urer Vice President and other prominent

Vice President and other prominent personal friends were entertained.

In the House today, the five-minute debate on the tariff bill, which is to continue eight days, was begun. At its close the vote will be taken. Some very strong speeches were made last week in support of the bill, but as important as the subject is-none more important-the audiences have been small both on the floor and in the county Commissioners of Garrett. County on the third Tuesday in April, or until his successor is elected and qualified. 42 A. The said Treasurer shall be subject to removal from office by the County Commissioners of said County at all times for wilful neglect of duty, or misdemeanor, or misbehavior in office, upon presentment, indictment and conviction in a Court of law.

..... 16 to 18 16 to 20 imposed."

stated that the full list shows a de- joyed to learn, as he did last week, un

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 566.

of Public Local Laws title "Garrett county' sub-title "County Treasurer" and to re-en the same with amendments. SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, that Sections Forty-Assembly of Maryland, that Sections Forty-two to Sixty-one, both inclusive of Article Twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws title "Garrett County" sub-title "County Treas-urer" be and the same are hereby repealed and re-enacted with amendments.

been small both on the floor and is the galleries. There is but little entertainment in a tariff speech, no matter how able the speaker may be the election of a successor to the late Senator Beck has brought out the fact that ex-Speaker Carlisle, on of the leading candidates, has a great may bitter enemies in his owner. The speaker carlisle of the speaker that ex-Speaker Carlisle, on of the leading candidates, has a great many bitter enemies in his owner. The speaker carlisle of the speaker to the same by sale or otherwise as hereinafter prescribed, and to convey a good legal title to any real or personal estate sold by him for the payment of State and County taxes in the manner provided in the succeeding sections.

many bitter enemies in his own and some very revolting stope of and some very revolting stope of his personal habits and priy/e life are being told by democrats / Fre.

A bill has been introduce into the House to prohibit printi/g upon or attaching any advertigement for public display to an Anerican flag.

In spite of Democratic opposition the Senate has passed, and the President signed the bill classifying all imported worsted cpths as woolen. Secretary Procto on Saturday made a second allcwance of $50,000 for the Missippi flool sufferers. This leaves a balance in his hands of $50,000 out of the $150,000 recently appropriated by Congress.

Representative La Fayette, of Wisconsin, made a telling point in fayor of a protective triff when he said it. The Democrats denounced the Republican party when in 1883 it placed al duty on wire nails of 4 cents a pound. The duty has stimulated the production of wire nails, and to day they are being sold at 2 cents and two-tenth cents a pound, or just a little more than one-half of the duty imposed."

Gen. John C. Fremont was so overliowed to the stop of the spin of the said office, shall account in the succeeding sections.

44. The person elected treasured before the Clerk of the Clurk of the client of the this office, and to be similarly certified, shall take an dounty in the succeeding sections.

45. The person elected treasured before the Clerk of the Clurk of the client of the shall secoult to the similarly certified, shall take and to the said office, and to be similarly certified, shall take and county in the succeeding sections.

46. The person elected the said office, shall take and county in the succeeding sections.

47. The person clected the client of the client of and only for claims which may have been levied and ordered paid by the County Commissioners. He shall reserve out of the money collected by him for county purposes generally man public schools, a sufficient sum to pay the amount levied in each current year by said Commissioners for public schools, and shall pay the same over to the Board of County School Commissioners of said county as follows: One-fourth on or before the first day of November next succeeding the data that, all state laxes and money due that that which may have come into his hands uring the week to to the credit of the Comp-roller of the State Treasury and shall receive herefor from said bank a certificate of de-osit, which he shall immediately forward to he Comptroller, showing the amount placed o his credit; and said Treasurer shall in like shall pay the same overto the Board of County School Commissioners of said county as follows: One-fourth on or before the first day of November next succeeding the date of the levy; one-fourth on or before the first day of November next succeeding the date of the levy; one-fourth on or before the first day of April next thereafter and the remaining one-fourth on or before the first day of April next thereafter and the remaining one-fourth on or before the first day of July thereafter.

49. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer as soon as the annual levy shall have been made to give notice thereof by advertisement inserted once a week for three successive weeks in two newspapers published in said county and by hand-bills posted in at least five places in each election district; and to prepare the tax bills of each tax payer and forward the same by mali ordeliver the same to the person or corporate institution to whom the property included in such bill is assessed, so far as their residence or postoffice address may be known to or ascertained, on dilligent inquiry by the Treasurer, on or before the first day of August next succeeding the date of the levy, and such advertisement and hand-bills, and tax-bills shall also contain a brief abstract of section forty-six relating to the discounts to be allowed and the interest to be charged on all tax-bills. 50. The said Treasurer shall, during the first week in December in each and every year. 50. The said Treasurer shall, during the first week in December in each and every year, give notice to all the delinquent tax-payers of said county by advertisement Inserted in two newspapers published in said county, and by hand-bills posted in five of the most public places in each election district of said county, and at the Court House door, warning them and each of them that the payment of all taxes then due and in arrear will be enforced by advertisement and sale, unless the same are paid before the first day of January then next following.

51. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to

51. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to 51. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to enforce the payment of all taxes remaining unpaid on the first day of January in the year succeeding that it. which the same shall have been levied, provided the notice required by the preceding sections shall have been given. If the taxes be due and owing upon real property or upon real and personal property, the said taxes shall be a lien on said real property, and said real property shall be liable for the payment thereof in whatsoever manner or to whomsoever the same may be as for the payment thereof in whatsoever manner or to whomsoever the same may be assessed until paid, and the Treasurer shall be authorized to enforce the payment in the manner nereinafter prescribed by a sale of either real estate or personalty. Whenever real estate is susceptible of division so that a part thereof will sell for enough to pay the taxes due and all costs, the Treasurer may in his discretion employ a surveyor to divide the same, and tax as a part of the costs in such proceeding, such compensation for the services of such surveyor as he may consider just, not exceeding the sum of three dollars per day.

52. Whenever it becomes necessary for said Treasurer to enforce the payment of taxes by

52. Whenever it becomes necessary for said Treasurer to enforce the payment of taxes by a sale of realty, he shall advertise such real estate or so much thereof as may be necessary once a week for three successive weeks in one newspaper published in Garrett county, and by hand-bills set up on and near said property, at the Court House door and at least five other places in the district where the property is tocated, and any advertised notice of a sale under the provisions of this sub-title of this Article shall be deemed sufficient, if it contains the time, terms and place of such sale, the year or years for which the taxes are due, to whom the property is assessed, the district and locality where located. of such sale, the year or years for which the taxes are due, to whom the property is assessed, the district and locality where located, the quantity of land offered for sale, if there be record evidence thereof in Garrettor Allegany counties, and a reference to the record Liber and folio where the deed or conveyance for the said property to the person to whom the same may be assessed or belongs, may be found, the name of the grantor in and the date of the deed or conveyance; or such other description as shall be sufficient to legally identify said property, and in no case shall a description by metes and bounds, courses and distances be required unless it shall be necessary for the identification and location of such part or parts of real estate as may be sold under a sub-division thereof as provided in the next preceding section. No levy upon iand shall be required where the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Greater of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the Freasurer by virtue of the same is sold by the freasurer shall be released from responsibility therefor, provided t

53. Whenever it shall be necessary to enforce the payment of taxes by a sale of personal property, the said Treasurer shall make out a bill of such taxes in the usual form, with an order at the bottom of said bill directing the Sheriff of said county to levy upon the personal property of the delinquent and to sell the same to satisfy and pay the taxes so due; and it shall be the duty of said Sheriff upon receiving such tax bills and order, to levy upon and sell the personal property of such delinquent in the same manner and upon the same fees as if he were proceeding under the same fees as if he were proceeding under an execution from a justice of the peace, and he shall immediately after such sell and the shall be payment of taxes, interest and costs, shall be paying the shall be payment of taxes, interest and costs, shall be paid by said Sheriff to such desinquent taxpayer; and the said Sheriff to such desinguent taxpayer; and the said Sheriff to such desinguent taxpayer; the said Treasurer may enforce the payment of under the provisions of this sub-title of this Article for taxes the said be reported to the times to inform himself by all lawful means of all property, stock or investments in said county liable to taxation and not included in the last revised list of assessments and of all buildings and improvements and of all property created or acquired since said revised assessment and shall make return thereof to the County Commissioners, and for the purpose of this section the said Treasurer shall be clothed with the powers of general assessor and shall receive the fees heretofore allowed, by law or usage to collectors of taxes for assessing new property in said county, and his valuation thereof snall be subject to revision and correction by said Commissioners. But nothing in this section contained shall be construed to interfere with or effect the rights, powers and duties of the County Commissioners under and by virtue of the general law of the State in relation to such new or other assessments of property.

According to one are recorded to the first management of the subject of the subje

56 A. In all cases in which any land or real estate may be discovered in soil of any test of the state to the section of the state of new or other assessments of property.

56 A. In all cases in which any land or real estate may be discovered in said county the name or names of the owner or owners of which cannot be ascertained by the reasonable diligence of the person or persons, officer or officers whose duty it is made, by law, to assess the same, and the said real estate is or shall be otherwise susceptible of identification and legal description, the same shall be assessed by such description by such person or persons, officer or officers authorized by law to make assessments, and the same may be sold by such description, as the property of persons unknown to the officer or officers and the sale thereof ratified and confirmed in the same manner hereinbefore provided for the sale and ratification of the same in other cases of the sale of real estate for taxes. prescribed by this section and warning them to come forward and claim said lands and be present at the time of assessment if they desire so to do. The assessments made by virtue of this section to be subject to revision as, and in the same manner as other assessments are. This section not to apply to property the title of which remains in the State.

57. The Treasurer shall pay over according te law or to the order of said County Commissioners, in the manner hereinbefore provided all county taxes and all moneys due said county and collected by him, and he shall also pay into the treasury of the State of Maryland, according to law, all the State taxes levied in said county and collected by him, and he shall be allowed two years from the date of each levy placed in his hands for collection, to complete the collection thereof, and to make his final settlement with said County Commissioners and with the Treasurer of Maryland respectively; all claims for erroneous, insolvent or uncollectable tax-bills for which he shall claim a credit shall be presented before or at the time specified for said final settlement, and in no case shall said Commissioners allow credit for erroneous, insolvent or uncollectable taxes, unless satisfactory proof be produced, under oath, that the same cannot be collected. The said Commissioners in their discretion, at any time after the expiration of the term of any such Treasurer, or at the final settlement aforesaid, may direct and require him to de-liver over to his successor in office all balances of collectable taxes due upon the leveles with vinich he was charged and also

The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O.O. F. neets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, meets in same Hall 1st and 3d Thursday nights of each month. GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hail, Lake View, every Wed-hasday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

-Mayers, the druggist, is always to the front.

-Just received a big line of notions from Philadelphia, at Offutt's.

-Shartzer is mixing paint, pure lead and all colors, at $1.25 per gallon. -Latest styles in straw Hats at Offutts, and just about half price.

-Try the new drink, Malto in Soda Water, Mayers' Pharmacy. -Shartzer is agent for the best Light in the world, see sample at -Another case of Cashimeres and

-The latest, best and purest fruit juices are used for flavors in Mayers'

Soda Water. -Don't be humbuged in buying adulterated paints, but go to Shart-zer and see your paint mixed. -The finest and largest line of Neck Ties and Four-in-Hands, at Offutt's. -New flavors at Mayers' are Malto, Orange, Grape Juice, and many others. Try a glass, -Lost- A Shawl between Oakland and Mt. Lake Park, The finder will please leave at this office.

-Men's Fancy over shirts in every style and quality, at Offutt's and a big lot to open.

-L. L. McCrum, of Aurora, Preston county, was in the city several days last week attending Court.

-Opening of the season Soda Wa ter, Deep Rock, all kinds of Mineral Waters, &c., at Mayers'.

-A fine cottage for rent at Mountf J. C. PEDDICORD. -Go to Howell's for green and tancy groceries. He keeps the best that the market affords. -Have you seen the latest shades in Dress Goods? If not go to Offutt's and you will go wild over them. He has them all. -If people ask you high prices for wall paper come to Shartzer and buy fine gilt paper at 121c. All other paper at 5cts per bolt. -Lots of Rain and more to come, so go to Offutt's and buy a good Umbrella, for they have a big lot of them, from the cheapest to a fine silk. -The cheapest Paints, Oils. Varnishes, Brushes, &c., at Mayers'

Pharmacy. -It you want a first-class plow at a low price, call at Davis' Hardware Store, Oakland Md. -latest styles, newest patterns largest stock and lowest prices in Wall Paper, &c., at Mayers. -We have a full line of garden reeds, seed potatoes, onion sets etc., all reliable, at Felty's on R. R. st., Oakfand. -Remember we have no old stock of wall Paper left, All new and latest styles at low Prices at Mayer's Pharmacy. -Davis & Son, G. O. Miller, and H. J. Mayer have had attractive awnings put up in front of their business houses. -A Mr. Smith, one of Washington City's prominent attorneys, was in Oakland two or three days last week on professional business.

-Young man! If you want your best girl "look sweet" at you, go to Townshend's and get a nice straw hat, cheap. 2t

-The protracted meeting at Mountain Lake Park is still in progress, with prospects of considerable good being accomplished. -Our low prices, and good goods are astonishing and pleasing the people. Call and inspect goods and get prices before purchasing elswhere.

No trouble to show goods. -It would pay you well to stop in rminate may cost the farmer the loss at Mayers' Pharmacy and examine an entire crop. The seed is somehis stock of Wall Paper, &c., before amine now, before spring opens, by going elsewhere, as he has one of sting it in boxes of earth under glass. the finest assortments and latest styles of the season. Also Paints, OLD seeds do not lose their vitality all Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, &c.

-A special meeting of Crook Post, ill merely germinate in the hot-house No. 35, G. A. R., was held in Stur. by prove a failure in the garden.—giss' Hall one day last week so that untry Gentleman. visiting comrades would have an op. THE soil on which a barn or over portunity of attending and joining, hich a stable stands should be thorat which three old soldiers joined the shall younderdrained and so dry that no halations rise from it. Post. Mustering officer Schilling inspected last Saturday night.

-A new time schedule went into effect last Sunday on the B. & O, lished at Winston, this county with straw hats are immense, and cheap. William A. Barrett, Jr., as postmaster.

-B. & O. carpenters are at work a new one built,

-Hamill & Little don't give goods away, but come as near it as anyone else if not a little nearer, Call and get prices.

-The Grand Jury, after finding other matters required of it, was discharged by Judge Hoffman last Saturday.

-Hamill & Little will buy wool for the hard cash and pay the very highest market price. Call and get their price before selling.

-Mr. J. L. Peters has removed his tailor shop from the New Glades House to the rooms formerly used as a postoffice, next door to F. & C. Felty's store -Third Quarterly Meeting of Oak.

land charge, M. E. Church, will be fancy Ginghams, just opened at Of- held at Mt. Lake Park next Saturday and Sunday. Communion services at 10:30 A. M. -Next Monday decides whether or not Oakland will issue bonds for > ery voter should express, by his ballots his views upon the matter. -Mrs. Mary Brady and daughter, Percie, left for Washington City last Saturday morning, where they will remain a month, the guests of Dan'l

Miller, Mrs. Brady's brother. -Mrs. Smith, of Mountain Lake Park, mother of Miss Jennie Smith, was taken seriously ill on Sunday last, and is now (Tuesday morning) not expected to recover. -Charles Bell, formerly of Oakland, but now of Frostburg, was brought to Oakland Tuesday last by Deputy Sheriff Coddington, charged with the larceny of sheep skins from

D. E. Offutt. -Alph Lohr, of near Swanton had the misfortune to lose his pocket. book, containing about sixty-five dollars, one day last week, while walking along the railroad, near

-- Neckties for the Masher, the Dasher, the Preacher, the Small Boy, the Large Boy, the Old Man, and in fact a full line of neck wear for everybody, at Hamill & Little's, Call at 11 A. M., and 7 P. M., by Rev. and see them.

-Last Sabbath evening the Epworth League celebrated the anniversary of the organization of the League, by rendering an exceedingly interesting program to a large and appreciative audience.

-Mrs. Jane Boughner, of Fairmont, W. Va., and Mrs. Jennie Tabb, of Virginia, who have been visiting their parents, G. W. Delawder and wife, for some time returned to their homes last Monday.

-Leeve Dorton, the 'snake editor' of the Morgantown Post, has awakened from his winter's sleep and made Brother Morgan a visit last week. Is it possible that Morgan town's supply of "Kentucky elixir" will never be exhausted. -Gen'l B. F. Kelley has consented to visit Grafton on Decoration day May 30. This fact is a big advertisement for that occasion, and many will be there to see him, as he is universally beloved by all who know his record as a soldier. -Professor Newman was selected to conduct the Oakland Normal School which will be taught here this summer. The Professor is one of the best educators in Maryland, and we predict great success for the Normal this summer. -Oakland was visited by another slight fire last Friday. The residence -Just received at Mayer's Phar- of Mr. Sarsfield, on Fourth street ily. macy, new and Elegant stock of wal. was discovered to be on fire, but the Paper, Borders and Ceiling Decora flames were extinguished before fair condition, but adjoining water hotel, instead of the one in the rear been a tin roof put upon the house since the fire occurred. -Mrs. Mary Tasker requests us to sioners to take the necessary steps to say that she had fully expected to get remedy this evil. her fortune from the old country this spring, but has been informed by her attorney that her case has now will be decided. d. It is more important to secure od seed than to prepare for its recepin in the soil. The failure of seed to once, as an animal dies, but are connually losing it, and old seeds that

-That firm of S. L. Townshend & Son are always getting something -A new postoffice has been estab- that just suits everybody. Their Council should have the "Davis" bridge, on Oak street repainted at Court costs. on the bridge at the depot. The one once. Many places in it show where now standing is to be torn down and the elements have left their mark, and in a short time Council will be compelled to make extensive repairs if it is not preserved by a thorough application of paint.

WANTED. - Fresh butter, eggs. chickens and produce of all kinds twelve indictments and looking after for Cash, at Felty & Co.'s, Railroad street, Oakland, Md. FOR SALE-Two first class colts, one

MRS. E. DROEGE,

Deer Park Md. 5 10 St -Garthright has just laid in the largest, best and certainy the cheapest stock of goods he ever carried. Extra good bargains in Men's, Boys and Children's suits, and all kinds of Harness, Bridles Sadles, Collas, Pads, neck Pads, single and double examine goods, get prices, settle dd accounts, sell wool at good cash pice, and be convinced that good times are coming.

-The residence of D. E. Ofutt, on Main street, presents the fnest appearance of any residence in Oakland. the improvement of her streets. Evowing to the fact that a force of painters have been at work on it for several days. The color-carary yellow -with white and dark trimmings, gives no shock to the artistic sense. but harmonizes so thoroughly that one never tires of looking at it. Mr. Offutt has displayed good taste in the selection of the colors used.

> -At a meeting of the Board of School Commissioners last week, the trustees for the ensuing year for the ew changes were made.
>
> decided to recognize three Normal > Schools in the County this year viz:
> At Oakland, under Prof. J. Newman; > Ander Ephraim Lee, and at > Growning; said
> Ang. ust next. A great many applications were presented to the Board for lew school buildings and repairs.

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 104A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. C. E. Clari, Ev. Lutheran Church-Preachig A. Dunlap.

St. Mathew's Church-Preaching every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. S. Hipkins, Rector in charge.

every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M., narian, a gentleman of the very highexcept the second Sunday of each est character and a man of good exmonth.

Grand Jury Report.

To the Honorable the Judges of the Circuit Court for Garrett County,

We, the Grand Inquest for the State of Maryland, in and for Garrett county, respectfully report that we have with care and impartiality examined all witnesses brought before us: Investigated all violations of the law coming to our knowledge, and made such presentments as deemed proper, to the best of our ability, according to duty.

We have visited the Jail, found it in fair condition but would recomof sheet iron drawers for the water gaged the Elkins cottage for this closet now being built, instead of summer. Ex Mayor Latrobe, the wood as per contract.

the hands of the sheriff and his fam- already secured cottages there for the much damage was done. There has closets in very bad condition; and of the little chapel, which his family On the 10th Day of JUNE Next, would respectfully recommed to our occupied last season. Honorable Board of County Commis-

We believe that the amounts annu ally levied for Pensioners and Paupers and Medical services and medibeen thrown into the courts, and cine for same, is a burden upon the while she fully expects to gain the tax payers, that could and should be case it will be some time before it remedied by the providing of an almshouse for the county. We ask to be discharged. C. J. OTTO. Foreman.

New Goods in New Styles.

We desire to call the attention of $115. our customers and the trade in general to our large stock of new styles dale, was in town over Sunday. of dry goods for this season. Our stock comprises in part: Batiste, from here, was the guest of Mr. Challies, dress Ginghams, Flannelettes, Satines, &c., &c. We profess to be judges of goods, and do not hesitate to say that the above named dress goods will please all. Call and chase or not.

Court Proceedings. APPEALS.

Nos. 1, 2 and 3. Dismissed No. 4. Judgment affirmed. No. 5. Settled. Appelant to pay Nos. 6 and 7. Judgment affirmed. No. 8. Dismissed. No. 9. Verdict for Appelant-one cent damages and costs. Nos. 10 and 11. Continued.

No. 12. Judgment affirmed, each party to pay his own costs. No. 13. Settled. No. 14. Verdict for Appellee.

URIMINAL APPEARANCES. State vs. Mary E. Fike. Assault yearling, one 2 year old. Apply to and battery. Jury trial. Verdict naded. guilty. Fined $10.00 and costs. Same vs. same. Adultery. Jury trial. Verdict not guilty.

State vs. Isaac Van Sickle. Adultery. Jury trial. Verdict not guilty. State vs. F. F. Beeler. Violation of Local Option Law. Verdict guild ty. Fined $50.00 and costs. State vs. James Jackson. Larceny Reins, and cheap Trunks. Come and Jury trial. Verdict not guilty, by ensent of State's Attorney. State vs. Wm. Hanlan. Larceny. Jury Trial. Verdict not guilty.

CRIMINAL TRIALS.

State vs. Solomon Clark. Selling mortgaged property. Jury trial. Verdict not guilty. No case, had been tried on the civil docke which would be of general interest. The ejectment case of

of the Court until Wednesday eve ning. The present term will probably extend into next week.

Change in Time Table. The following is the new time-table various schools were appointed. Very on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

> GOING EAST 6-Accommodation 72-Accommodation GOING WEST. 15-Accommodation

Superintendent Chosen. Special to Wheeling Intelligencer.

GRAFTON, W. VA., May 12 .- After say ballots the Directors of the Reform Schoot, in session here this afternoon, elected C. C. Showalter Superintendent of the School. He is the Principal of the Kingwood Acad-St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching emy, 28 years of age, a fine disciplinest that politics will not enter this institution.

Rev. C. J. Trippett, of Terra Altaand Rev. J. Newman, of Oakland, a substantial paling fence around his were applicants for the position.

The President Will Be at Deer Park. The Washington correspondent to the Baltimore Sun says that Presi. improving yery slowly in health. dent Harrison contemplates passing a portion of the coming summer at Deer Park in the same cottage he and his family occupied last season. It was said that he would take possession of the Elkins cottage, now mend the removal of the present that Mr. Elkins has removed from sink beneath the Jail; its thorough Deer Park to his new thirty-room cleaning out and filled with stone or house at Elkins, W. Va.. but it is understood that Mr. Washington We would also recommend the use McLean and family have alreedy en-Hanways, the Turnbulls and several We found but one inmate in the other Bal/Imore familles who make Jail, who reported good treatment at Deer Park their summer home have season. Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, has We found the Court House in very secured the cottage adjoining the > Grantsville. Messrs. Gnagey and Durst have dissolved partnership in the Grants-ville planing mill. Mr. Gnagey owns and controls the mill. Mr. A. L. Gnagey has bought his partner's interest in the furniture store here.

Mr. M. D. Yoder sold his large Clydesdale draft horse to a gentleman from Pennsylvania for $175. Weight of horse, 1,600. Mr. D. J. Swartzentruber sold a three-year-old Clydesdale mare for Mr. Lou Winterberg, of Meyers-

Mr, E. S. Beachy, who lives east Emanuel Harshberger last week and over Sunday.

Messre, Jas. and Joel Maust are re-shingling Mr. J. S. Miller's barn. John Spicer, son of Frank Spicer, examine, whether you desire to pur- died on Thursday. He was taken to 4 12 New Baltimore for interment. Age S. L. TOWNSHEND & Son. 18 years, 2 months and 1 day.

Accident.

On Sunday, May 4th, at half-past 4 P. M., at Connelsville, Pa., Mr. Joseph Beeghley, of near Accident, was united in marriage to Miss Catharine Appellee $6.50, and Appellee to pay Shepp. Miss Shepp had formerly been a resident of Flatwoods, but for the last nine years had resided in Connelsville. On Monday the 5th of May, Mr. John MacNair, who has charge of Weller's mill, below Accident was married to Miss Ettie Haines, of Uniontown. The writer wishes both of these couples more sunshine than clouds, and if there is any uecessity for storm, a gentle storm without thunder. Both couples were sere-

The communion in the Cove of the English Lutheran Church on Sunday, 11th inst, was quite large, regardless of mud, damp and foggy weather. Six young men and four ladies were received by the rite of confirmation. These - with what were previously added - makes an addition of thirty-six to the Cove

Lutheran Church in two years. The writer is informed that there will be three Normal Schools in the county this coming fall. One at Oakland, one at Accident, and one at Grantsville. This will give the people of these towns an excellent chance to send their children to school. Hope they will embrace the opportunity, There is a scarcity of apple and no peach blossoms, in Accident and sur-

Meyers ys. Frazee was taken up rounding community. Monday and occupied the attention Work has already been begun on the new Dunkard church near Accident. It will be built on the same lot on which the old church is standing. It is to be 32 by 50 feet and 14 feet high.

Accident has something new again It's a walk from the Lutheran parsonage to town. Something that was very much needed. Messrs. Frank Hinebaugh, W. T., & E. McMillen, John Bear, Dessie Boyer, Jonas and Harry Speicher, William Gnagey, our town, have been attending court at Oakland. They were both on the petit jury.

to Rockwood on last Monday and returned on Tuesday. He took his daughter over to attend Normal school at that place.

Lake View.

Messrs. Jno. Wolf & Bro. will soon move their saw mill to the Bethlehem settlement, near Ryans Glade. A Mrs. White, from Ohio, is visitecutive ability. The fact that he is ing at Mr. J. L. Burley's, and will a Republican, and the majority of probably open a cottage to accommothe board are Democrats, is an ear- date persons who wish to spend the season in Lake View.

Mr. B. F. Crane has improved the appearance of his property by putting lot.

Mr. Jos. T. White is stopping temporarily at Geo. P. White's, having come over from Elk Garden to consult with Dr. McComas. He is Trespass Notice. Notice is hereby given warning all persons not to trespass upon my farm known as the "McHenry Farm," either for the purpose of fishing, hunting or for any other purpose. 5 10 3t JONAS GLOTFELTY.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree passed qy the Circuit Court for Garrett County as a Court of Equity in a case wherein Chas. W. Boucher is complainent and Jos. Whetstone and others are defendants, the undersigned was appointed Trustee to make sale of certain real estate therein decreed to be sold, in pursuance of said decree I will offer at Public Sale at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., in front of the Mellinger House, in Grantsville, in said county, the following real estate, to-wit: A tract of land called "SMOOTH VALLEY," containing 106 acres except so much as wa conveyed to Casper Schram by a deed fron Sarah and Phillip Durst, dated July 9, 188 recorded among the land records of Allegan; County, also a part of

"STANTON'S PURCHASE,

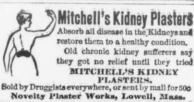

adjoining said "Smooth Valley,," containing for said part 3½ acres, as described in a deed to Sarah Durst from Jacob Blocher and others dated July 25, 1886, recorded among the land records of said Allegany County. These two parcels of land lie in a body and are pleasantly situated about two miles East of Grantsville on the National Road, and contain about 100 acres and are improved with a DWELLING-HOUSE, Static and out-houses. TERMS OF SALE—As prescribed by said decree: One-half the purchase money to be paid in Cash on the day of sale and the balance in two equal installments at six and twelve months with interest. The deferred payments to be secured by the purchaser withis notes and surety to the satisfaction of

PHINEAS C. BOUCHER, 5 17 4t Trustee

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop near" Browning House." DAVID LITTEL.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS:

If so call upon or write us:

The Farmers Hardware

(LIMITED.)

Association.

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager. The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS, BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING; (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS. Also have 2 TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known in Garrett County, will call on every farmer and solicit orders for anything they wish in

Yours, respectfully FARMERS HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

TREASURER'S TAX SALE.

John Gerringer and Webster Glotfelty have the credit, because they did the work. Thanks! It's a great convenience.

Mr. Aaron Boyer, one of our model farmers, and Mr. Fred Burkhart, of our town have been attended.

JUNE,

Rev. W. M. Spangler took a trip in the year 1890, at the hour of il o'clock A

"SAINT CLAIR,"

which said tract of land is contained within the metes and bounds, courses and distances following, to-wit: Beginning for the entire tract at the end of the third line of Lot No. 7, lying westward of Fort Cumberland, and running thence, reversing the third line of such of Lots Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 10, North fifty-five degrees, West three hundred and iniety-three perches to the first line of Lot No. 11, and running with it and the second line thereof North twenty-three perches, North sixty-seven degrees West fifty-seven perches to the first line of Lot No. 13, and running thence with it and the second line thereof North first line of Lot No. 13, and running thence with it and the second line of Lot No. 16, and reversing it as corrected North eighty-eight perches, North sixty-seven degrees West eighty nine and one-half perches to the end of the second line of Lot No. 18, and reversing it as corrected North eighty-eight and one-quarter degrees West one hundred and thirty perches to lihe beginning of Lot No. 19, and reversing fart of the given line thereof, North two degrees East forty perches then leaving said Lot North forty-seven degrees Eastone-hundred and nineteen perches to the seventh line of a tract of land called "Glory," and reversing it and the sixth line thereof South forty degrees East three-hundred and eighty perches, North seventy dedrees East three hundred perches, then North seventy seven degrees East forty-three perches to the end of the 28th line of a tract of which said tract of land is contained within thereof South forty degrees East three-hundred and eighty perches. North seventy dedrees East three hundred perches, then North seventy seven degrees East forty-three perches to the end of the 28th line of a tract of land called "Mill Seat," and reversing the line thereof South twelve-degrees West one-hundred and sixteen perches, South forty-seven degrees West twenty-six perches, South twenty eight degrees West sixteen perches, West twenty perches, South thirty-one degrees West fitty-five perches, South thirty-one degrees East six perches, then North seventy-one degrees East twenty-six perches to the second line of Lot No. 6, and running with part of the third line thereof by a straight line to the beginning, containing 394 acres more or less. The said one-undivided half interest in said

The said one-undivided half interest in said tract of land called "Saint Clair," hereby intended to be sold, having been conveyed to a certain William A. Brydon by Jeanet and George A. Clark by deed bearing date the 17th day of March, 1875, and recorded in Liber W. H. T., No. 1, folio 718, &c., one of the land records of Garrett county, Maryland, and being the same property which is assessed upon the Assessment Books of the County Commissioners of said Fourth Election District of said Garrett county to the said William A. Brydon: Said land will be sold for the payment of the State and County Taxes due and in arrest thereon for the years 1888 and 1889. ROSS COMPTON,

WANTED. LOCAL OR TRAVELING,

Late Tressurer.

o sell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expenses and Steady Employment Guaranteed. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y.

SALESMEN WANTED or liberal commission to local men, free—no collecting. Permanent pos-guaranteed, Experience unnecessary, of territory if apply at once.
L. P. THURSTON & CO.,
215 Empire Nurseries, Rochester, N. Y

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER

W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO.,

Cumberland, Md.

Also White Oak Timber Land.

Office 20 Baltimore Street. ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Bing-bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Blemish Cure ever known. iTCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by

HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Mde

Peleg Asks a Few Questions and Starts Him Talking.

He Enlightens His Grandson on Matters Military and Recalls the Particulars of an Old-Time Training Day.

"Gran'pop, was you ever a soldier?" asked little Peleg of the old settler. 'No, sonny," replied Peleg's grandsoger wunst. "How was that, gran'pop?" asked lered: Peleg.

"Wull, Peleg, you've hearn tell, o' pop!"
""Will, Peleg, you've hearn tell, o' pop!"
""That's the ticket, Sile!" hollered course, o' the war 'twixt us people up North here an' the folks th't riz up agin pop. 'Let em shriek, b'gosh, Giner' us down South," replied the old settler. or no Giner'l!" "Fore the war were over our side run a leetle short o' sogers, owin' to folks bein' busy a-gittin' in their buckwhit ter, an' wearin' a coonskin cap. He an' a-cuttin' o' their hoop poles an' a- didn't hev a brass button nowhar' about choppin' out their railroad ties, et him, an' my pop were jist a walkin' soger cetery, et cetery. The consekence were an' rigged out like a Giner'l. The th't a lot o' us patriots in Sugar swamp | Colonel was a-hossback, too, an' so was got notice from the Gover'ment th't we all of 'em clean down to the Corp'l, who needn't be afeered thet we wouldn't carried a big brass hoss pistol an' wore a hey a chance to sackerfice our- white hat with a squir'l's tail in it, an' notice were received. Consumption, had found a w'ite apron wit a lot o' plas *roomytiz, agur, hard o' hearin', missin' | terin' tools pictured on it, 'long with a front teeth, plumbago in the back, nighsightedness an' giner'l breakin' up o' the constitution took holt o' the deestric' wuss'n a woodtick to a houn's nose. Ev'ry body was ailin' amazin' bad, an' I an' nex' to my pop had the takin'est uniwas took suddently helpless with the form o' the hull comp'ny. roomytiz myself, an' the agony—Jee- "It were a-cheerin' sig whizz! Peleg! how the agony did swoop ol'-fashioned dinner-horn. Th' wa'n't in the hull deestric', an' I took on awful, 'cause I thort I wouldn't git on the list

an able-bodied man under fifty year old up his sword arm with the corn-cutter in o' them th't was to stan' a chance o bein' invited to go an' bleed an' die fer their kentry. But somehow or other I did git on the list. An' so did Jehiel Covercorn, though he had been took with plumbago in the back so bad th't he were doubled up like he hollered: 'For-r-e-e-d-motch!' ship knee. An' Hiram Spudley got wunst more. The Colonel took it up, on the list, too, though he were shakin' an' the Major took it up an' hollered it with the agur so that it were all he k'd down to the Leftenant-Colonel. Lippy do to githis glass to his mouth without Conkright's pop an' Joe Hosslip th spillin' the rum, an' Hiram had to shake the order were reg'lar enough by this pooty bad wen he done that. Jehiel time, an' begun to marcu. Giner'l Tidfit were down first on the list, then come | yelled to 'em te halt an' fall back or he'd me, then come Hiram. I were picturin' hev 'em court-martialed fer goin' agin to myself, Peleg, how I'd go down inter the rules o' war. Then he started the Virginny with my trusty ol' b'ar-killin' order all over ag'in, an' it went to the run, an' march to glory or the grave, Colonel, an' on to the Major, an' from b'gosh, in spite o' the agony an' the him to the Leftenant-Colonel an' from roomytiz, wen wat sad misfortun' do him to the Captain, who yelled it to the but grab me an' spile the pictur'! The Fust Leftenant, an' the Fust Leftenant last were draw'd. Jehiel Covercorn got passed it to the sargeant. Then my in invite to go an' do some marchin' on pop an' Toby Grindle, the fifer, to glory, an' so did Hiram Spudley, but I got it in their heads th't the time were left out in the cold. I went to bed was to hand fer movin'. Toby struck weepin' scaldin' tears o' dissyp'intment, Peleg, but w'en I got up the nex' morn-in' the roomytiz had took wings and who said he had half a notion to borry flew away, ez Dominie Van Slocum my pop's gun an' shoot both him an' nowt put it, an' the azmy had un- Toby with it fer mutiny in the camp. slutched my wizzen, an' I were breathin' Then he started the order to forrid ez soft an' mild ez a May mornin'. So march ag'in. It got all down along the that's the way I kim nigh to bein' a line to the Corp'l this time, an' then it soger wunst, Peleg. Would you like to were reg'lar fer the sogers to march but be a soger, sonny?

releg. "And that's what I'm going to The nex' time the order kim down the be, too. Wait till you see me on a skit- line from the Giner'l to the Corp'l things tish horse, with gold tassels jingling was straightened out, an' away the on my shoulders, and a red sash tied around me, and a cocked hat with a fife squeaked, the drum rattled, an' feather in it longer than our old the people hollered. I can't begin to rooster's tail. I'll have my picture tell ye, Peleg, the steps an' the twisttook, with my horse rearing up on his in's them sogers was put through. They bind feet, and his nose up in the air, sashay'd, they crossed over an' back and me pointing my sword up toward they swung their corners, they allythe sky. Why do soldier horses always | manded left an' they allymanded right stand up on their hind feet, with their heads up so high, like we always see 'em in pictures, gran'pop?"

"That so they kin sniff the battle from afar off all the quicker, sonny, an' give the men th't's ridin' 'em a chance to go off in t'other direction 'fore it's too late," replied the old settler. "But yer wrong, Peleg, in thinkin th't them fellers on hossback is sogers. They hain't miscus. sogers. They'm Giner'ls an' Colonels an' Majors. Sogers don't hef to ride hossback a riskin' their lives by bein'throwd Giner'l Tidfit perceeded to give 'em a don't hev nuthin to do but carry a twentypoun' gun, with a nice shinin' bagonet come down pooty heavy, an' she went stuck to it, an' with only a few blankets off with a bang that shook the tavern an' kittles an' tin cups strapped to their backs to keep 'em balanced good, so's keered much for the Never Sleepin' they kin travel easier. Them chaps on hossback has to sleep nights in hot tents. w'le the soger can march up an' down in front of 'em all night, gittin' the fresh air, an' seein' the stars shine, an' sprung ten foot in the air. The Giner'l hearin' the owls sing, an' inj'yin' natur' | quit the saddle in a hurry. He went up from the ground up. It's the an' the Colonels and the Major's th't head fust. He plunked squar' inter the rides hossback, Peleg, not the soger. "An' speakin' o' sogers, sonny, 'minds me o' the time I were a boy in Sugar Swamp, an' o' the company o' sogers th't usety make freedom shriek in that deestric'. It were called the Never Sleepin' Sentinels and Powder Burnin' Sons o' Liberty. I 'member the fust giner'l trainin' day th't them Powder yanked, an' by an' by pulled the Giner'l Burnin' Sons turned out-school let out fer that day, the saw-mill shut down, the tan'ry quit work an' the store put up its shutters. Th' wa'nt an' eddycational, industrial or commercial institootion in the hull deestric' open 'cept the tavern. Hannibal Tidbit were the Gin'r'l, an' they had a Colonel an a Major, an' a Leftenant-Colonel, an' a Cap'n, an' a Fust and Secon' Leftenant, an' a Sargent, an' a Corp'l. The sogers was my pop, Libby Conkr'ght's pop, Joe Hosslip an' Pete Sniffley. Toby Grindle played the fife an' Simon Filkins the

"By rights, Peleg, my pop orter ben the Giner'l, 'cause he had a big cocked hat an' a shad-belly coat with big brass in your master's boots? buttons on it, an' a sword. Them regimentals had been handed down in the Baden-Baden he'll be sure to say: "You family by somebody or other th't fit in stupid fellow, what made you put the the Injun wars. But pop didn't git to cigars in my boots? Now you may be Giner'l, an' so he 'listed ez a soger, smoke them yourself."—Unterhaltungspurpose to let folks know, b'gosh, th't blatt.

he had the makin's of a Giner'l, an' ca'c'lated to wear 'em. The res' o' the con p'ny mowt ha' ben Never Sleepin' Sentinels, but w'en the fife an' the drum struck up on that great day in Sugar Swamp, my pop were the only Powder Burnin' Son o' Liberty 'mongst 'em, fer not another soger or Giner'l or any thing else had a gun. To see my pop marchin' in the ranks, wearin' his cocked hat and feather and his reg'lar regimental coat an' brass buttons, with his ancestor's sword strapped 'round him, an' his gun on his shoulder, father; "I never done no sogerin' ez I I tell ye, Peleg, it were a sight th't knows on, but I kim nigh to bein' a filled me so full o' the spirit o' Bunker Hill th't I riz up on the fence and hol-

"'Make way fer liberty an' my old

"Giner'l Hannibal Tidfit was ridin' on possback, with no sword but corn-cut-selfs on the altar of our kentry, a red woostid comf'ter tied around his 'cause special invites was goin' ter waist. The arms o' the sogers, 'sides be sent to setch of us ez was lucky my pop's gun an' sword was an eel spear, enough to have our names drawed outen carried by Lippy Conkright's pop, a a list th't were gointer be made o' the brush hook shouldered by Joe Hosslip, able-bodied citizens o' the deestric' w'at an' a two-tined pitchfork which Pete wa'n't more'n forty-five year old. Th' Sniffley handled. Pete's pop had beer were a big fallin' off in the healthiness a secret lodge man o' some kind down in o' the deestric' right away arter that Jersey, an' mongst his belongin's Pete big wide-open eye. "'That wide-open eye 'Il fit the Never

Sleepin' Sentinels amazin', 'says Pete. "An' so he tied the apron on hisself "It were a-cheerin' sight to see the Never Sleepin' Sentinels an' Powderdown on me! I yooped with it like an Burnin Sons o' Liberty make their fust start at trainin'. Giner'l Tidfit slung it, and hollered: " 'For-r-e-e-e-d motch!' "The sogers started forrid, but the Giner'l hollered:

"Halt there, gol ding ye!" "The sogers halted, an' the Giner" ol' 'em th't they wa'n't to start till the order got down to 'em reg'lar. Then not a consarned soger moved. The "You bet I would, gran'pop," said rules of war had got 'em all mixed up. 'Bout all th't the Giner'l an' the rest of 'em on hossback had to do was to keep their hosses from gittin' in the way o' Joe Hosslip's brush hook, an' Lippy of that name. This has brought out the Conkright's pop's eel spear an' Pete Sniffley's pitchfork, fer either one or the rear on the double quick, an' a slingin' their weepons around per-"Arter it were all over the comp'ny were halted in front o' the tayern, an' off or run away with. Sogers walks, an' partin' drill. Wen he hollered out to 'em to ground arms my pop let his gun winders. Giner'l Tidfit's hoss hadn't Sentinels, but w'en it kim to the Powder-Burnin' Sons' part o' the sogerin' he pertested. W'en the gun went off he give an all-pervadin' snort an' Giner'ls a piece an' then kim down in a curve head o' Simon Filkins' drum an' went clean through it. He got up with the drum hangin' to him an' his head shoved inter it clean to the shoulders. The drum wouldn't let go of him till my pop grabbed the Giner'l by the heels an' Simon Filkins grabbed the drum. They both yanked, an' out. Toby Grindle had a happy idee jist then, an' struck up on the fife 'See the Conquerin' Hero Comes,' jist ez the Giner'l come out o' the drum. But th' wa'n't no uset. The Giner'l's idees o' the rules o' war was all upsot, an' he riz up an' hollered:

"Break ranks, or I'll pitch in an' break ev'ry Powder Burnin' Son o' Liberty's head!'

"The ranks was broke to wunst. The never sleepin' sentinels struck a bee line for the tavern, an' in less'n an hour freedom were shriekin' ez if she'd bust her lungs."-Ed Mott, in N. Y. Sun.

The Sly Footman. Fritz-Why are you packing the cigars

Johann - Because, when we get to

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-A civil engineer in Germany must study and practice nine years under government supervision before he can make ndependent engagements.

-A vegetable flannel is made in Ger many of fine leaves which are woven into undergarments and clothing of various kinds. One great advantage is no vermin will lodge in clothes made from the material.

-The art of making red glass for church windows, as practiced in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries, was lost for a long time and was only recovered in 1826. The modern product is still inferior to the ancient.

-The mollusks that bore into the insulation of submarine cables are pro-nounced to be a species of teredo. The embryo is said to penetrate between the the jute until strong enough to cut through the gutta-percha.

-Manufacturing statistics show that the State of New York leads in the production of underwear, while Penneverywhere, but in the Western States especially; in the latter are also made woolen gloves and mittens in vast quantities, particularly the filled mittens, now so important in the trade. -Experiments have demonstrated that the relation between the relocty of a projectile and the resistance of the by the air to its motion differs naterially from Newton's theory that the resistance is proportional to the square For velecities which of the velocity. are nearly equal to that o sound in the air the proportionate ircrease of the resistance is much greater than that of the velocity.

-A firm at Bolivar, N. Y., is engaged in manufacturing gs from crude oil. In the idea that a fish diet builds up the It is claimed it beatsold nature. Under brain. I've lived on fish, fish, fish for the new device the gas can be sent to any reasonable distance required. The doing mental labor than I did before I owners claim they can show more fire began Fish phosphorus is a humbug." for heating purposes than any other gas than any on record or, in fact, as cheap as natural gas. For a portable gas- them."-Chicago Tribune. work for hotels at watering places it is said it can not be beaten.

made in Belgiam, and is said to be "That's unfortunate, sir. Will you meeting with considerable favor as a kindly snggest wherein it may be rival of rubber hose. It is formed by proved?" Manager-"Sorry again, but wrapping strips of brass or other metal | I'm just like you in that respect; I don't spirally around a mandrel, the strips know a thing about writing a good play. being bent over at both sides and a thin, -Washington Star.

of power direct from the boiler withou the use of air-compressing machinery Terre Haute Express. The pressures usually carried in steam boilers would not be sufficient for tha purpose, but boilers are promised of special type which will supply steam t a pressure at from six hundred to eight hundred pounds, and which will at ne same time be safe and easily handle -A factory at Cronly, a virigo ar Wilmington, N. C., is making bagging for cotton made from pine needles It is believed that this new materal for bagging will not only break up the jute trust, but become a source of great wealth to the South. Dry pine needles, or "straw," as they are termed, serve as well as green ones, but on account of the difficulty of obtaining them in a sufficiently clean state the practice is to take the leaves fresh from the trees, selecting the lower and older ones and leaving the younger for the support of the tree.

THE MAYFLOWER. Interesting Facts Concerning the Vessel

That Landed the Pilgrims A new training brig has recently been launched at the Pembroke dockyard in England. This latest comer in the English navy has been christened Mayflower, the last of a long line of vessels interesting and little known fact that t'other of 'em was allus a-bringin' up one time an English war ship. The name is one of the oldest ship names in the English navy, going back to 1415, when a vessel with that name carried some of the knights who fought at Agincourt across the channel. Her successor-the Mayflower of 1447-was the flagship of Richard, Duke of Gloucester. But the Mayflower of 1620 was an old Armada veteran long before she came across the Atlantic, and took a promiment part in that historic sea fight in 1588, fighting alongside of Drake's Revenge and Hawkin's Victory. In the fight off Gravelines, when the Armada made a last desperate attempt to save itself from utter rout, the Mayflower's part was a prominent one. According to a recent writer in the London Graphic, the ship was one of the chief ones contributed to Queen Elizabeth's fleet by the merchants of the city of London, but Goodwin's Pilgrim Republic states that the officials of Lynn offered the Mayflower (150 tons) to join the fleet against the dreaded Spanish Armada. The Graphic erroneously implies that the Mayflower ended her days ingloriously in the slave trade between Guinea and America. Goodwin, in reference to this rumor, says that the slaver Mayflower was a ship of 350 tons, while the Pilgrim vessel was only 150. The latter came to Salem in 1629, and the last known of her was when she was one of

> It Was Original. "Don't you think," said an author to an acquaintance, "that I have written an original book?"

"Yes, I think so."

"You will acknowledge, then, that you have never seen any book just like it?" "Yes. I'll do that." "Ab, I'm glad that I have compelled a fleet that landed John Winthrop and his colonists at Charlestown in 1630.

you to give me even a wormed-out cknowledgment of my ability. You actually hate to compliment a man, but will you please tell me in what way my book is strictly original?" "O, yes; it is original in this way: It is the poorest book that has ever been published."—Arkansaw Traveler. PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

 A book that is likely to "make some stir"-the cook-book.-Norristown Herald.

-Bacon-"The doctor said you had a very high fever, last week." Egbertguess he was right. I notice by his bill his charge was $25."-Yonkers

-Gilhooly-"I heard you were not expected to live." Gus De Smith-"Yes, the doctors gave me up." "How did you come to get well?" "I gave up the doctors."—Texas Siftings.

-- Miss Gushlere-"How torturing, how fearful the thought must be for a great singer to know she has lost her voice! Mr. Praclere-"It's much more torturing when she doesn't know it."-Hartford Lampoon. -"Sir!" he said to the proprietor of a dry goods store, "I have called to notify iron wires of the sheathing and lurk in you not to trust my wife on my account, as she-" "Don't worry, sir, it has been ten years since you had any credit at this store!"-Detroit Free Press. -"Get out of this!" said a tailor to an untidy looking tramp, who had strayed sylvania is far ahead in the making of stockings. Seamless stockings are made place for you." "I doubt if it's a fitting place for any body," replied the tramp. -Two busy doctors meet and speak of the influenza. "You must have plenty of work," says one. "Don't speak of it, replied the other, "I am absolutely played out. The patients are killing their doctors at present." "Revenge is sweet," the other retorts.-Le Figaro. -Tit for Tat.-Mr. Younger (meeting Miss Winters on the street)-"Why, how do you do?" Miss Winters (with a sold stare)-"You have evidently made amistake, sir." Mr. Younger-"I beg a thousand pardons-I mistook you for your mother."-Epoch. -Grindstone-"Idon't take much stock three straight weeks and I feel less like began Fish phosphorus is a humbug. Kiljorlan-"You have been expecting stimulates the brains. It won't create

-Manager (to young playwright) aid it can not be beaten.

—Flexible metallic tubing is now doesn't quite, suit." Playwright—arrow rubber band inserted to prevent _-"I think,' said Mr. Jason to his leakage. The tubes bend readily in any wife, "that if my health does not imdirection, and are perfectly tight, very prove I shall not last through the sumstrong, and easily handled and repaired. mer." "I'm sorry to hear it," was the The substitution of steam for compressed air in a gun intended to throw "Well, that is surprising. I'd just like shells containing dynamite or other high to know what in the world you feel sorexplosives, is proposed in France, the ad ry about?" "Because, if you should go vantages claimed being the furnishing and die in the hot weather it is going to cost me such a lot of money

COLLECTING BAD DEBTS. A Chicago Man Has a New Scheme Which

Works Every Time. Away out where Blue Island avenue intersects the prairie there lives a bad debt collector named John Smiley, whose ingenuity deserves a better recompens than it obtains. When all other means of collecting a debt have failed recourse is had to Smiley. Only the desperate cases are given to him, as he charges 50 per cent commission on his collection. The other day he went into a down-town office to collect a bill of $20. His dress was funereal, his face sanctimonious, his eyes beatific in their upward roll. In one hand he carried a small vial, in the other the bill which he was trying to collect.

"This is the fourth time I have called," said he, in sepulchral tones. "I am a poor man; I am desperate. It is not worth the throw of a die to me whether I live or die. My inability to collect this bill has almost driven me out of my mind. See this," holding out a vial, "and see this," holding out the paper. "One is a bottle of strychnine and the other is a bill against you for $20. Either you pay the bill or I take the strychnine.

"Better take the strychnine," was the suggestion. "All right, but if I take the poison I'll take it here. I have a friend outside who has my dying statement in his pocket. In that I say that I was driver to suicide because you refused to pay this bill. That will be in all the newspapers to-morrow morning. The publicity won't hurt me then, because I'll be dead; but you can judge of the effect such a statement will have upon you.' Smiley's aspect grew still funeral as he stopped talking, and his hand fumbled nervously at the stopper of the bottle.

"Well, here's your $20. Now get out I didn't give it to him because I thought he would commit suicide," explained the debtor, "but because he's got a new scheme for collecting bad debts. I'm a pretty hard man to collect from, but this chap carries too many guns for me." -Chicago News.

The Largest Cake Ever Made. The "jubilee cake," presented to Queen Victoria by the Messrs. Gunter, the famous London purveyors, in June, 1887, was a triumph of the bakers' and confectioners' art. It was 9 feet 6 inches in circumference, 10 feet high, and weighed over 600 pounds without the pounds. The design was that of a crown.

guarded by lions and surmounted case of fraud or collusion in said proceedings temple bearing figures of Fame and sale on the part of or between the Treasurer and purchaser; this section not to apply thands, heralding the jubilee to the quarters of the world. These

Glory, each holding trumpets in to real estate the title to which remains in the hands, heralding the jubilee to the State.

State.

Glory, each holding the jubilee to the State.

Quarters of the world. These, a following fees. For advertising property for were surmounted by temples with sale under the provisions of section fifty-two gled figures of Peace. The pane payment of taxes, if the property be sold the the base were embroidered in gol Treasurer shall receive five per cent on the white satin, bearing the royal regress amount of sales with his expenses as gram, while between them were figwithout sale he shall receive four per cent on in relief representing the four quarter amount collected, and his expenses as of the world. Between the lions whall be entitled to an itemized bill. And if guarded the crown were medal the Treasurer or any clerk, agent or deputy of men't reasurer shall ask, demand or receive bearing portraits of her Majesty and greater costs or fees than are allowed by prince consort as they appeared or he provisions of this section, or shall receive my pay or commission for or on account of the last being from the photoghe sections of this subtitle of this Article, or taken in May, 1887.—Notes and Quebial for himself or any other person discount in the provision of the subtitle of this Article, or taken in May, 1887.—Notes and Quebial for himself or any other person discount in the provision of the subtitle of this Article, or taken in May, 1887.—Notes and Quebial for himself or any other person discount in the provision of the subtitle of this Article, or taken in May, 1887.—Notes and Quebial for himself or any other person discount in the provision of the

"AS BIG A FOOL AS THOMPSON'S COLT."

"Well, by George, I supposed every one'd heard tell of Thompson's colt. You see, it was like this: Thompson was an early settler, and owned a team and one colt. He lived on the bank of some big stream-the Mississip, I reckon. Well, whenever that tarnal colt of his'n was thirsty, instead of walking down to the water and drinking, like a sensible critter would, what did the fool colt do but swim to the other side, wade out, shake himself, turn around, walk down and-take a drink."

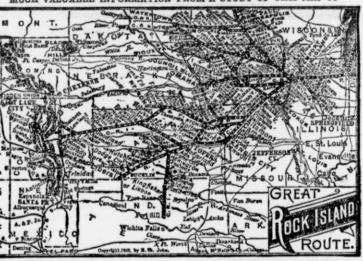

Now, some folks are just like that colt, When they get bilious and constipated, they just let it run on, until first thing they know they have to swim through a long, tedious spell of sickness. A few doses of Dr. Pierce's Golden plant in the world and at a lower cost too much from it. Phosphorus only Medical Discovery, taken in time, would prevent all that. There is nothing equal to it for Biliousness, Impure Blood, Scrofula, or even Consumption, which is really nothing more nor less than Scrofula of the Lungs. The "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or money paid for it will be refunded.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy. WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Manufacturers, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

$500 EFFERED for an incurable case of the proprietors of DR, SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDV.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Saile, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskalioose, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minnespolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sloux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingflaher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwast and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACHIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS.

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Eluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., sud between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE, Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Pecoria, Spirit Lake, and Sloux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Tickets Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN, E. ST. JOHN, Qen'l Ticket & Pass. Agens.

CHICAGO. ILL.

Recommended by Physicians. Pleasant and agreeable to the DEMORM your CALVES easily cheaply, by using drugglests, or sent, express prepaid, for $1, by W. P STEARNS, Manufacturer, Monroe, Wis. Circulars free garanteer with the property of the control of the co BO You Live in a Houset If so, you want a Endorsed by Physicians and U.S. Government. Send for prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Fal.s. Pa.

JMPTION

MOTICE. Do you favor Woman Suffraget If A. N. K.-C. 1290. Clears 1 25 good five-inch cigars by mail FAR

Impleme

A good will opera an import keeps proper bot they are r seen tho value, rec hand to c with the sheared o diameter. the form two blade together ! they will

but if obliquely The too were awa that rep cut" wa ter, so pressed draws th increasing fold ove ing or cu the opera places to represen by a cord blade; b a pair of small twi pivot is o ter of th slight al

the roa, motion o cutting o efficient by Fig. 1 ficient pe similar p would be the curv

THE CO comfort but in weathe ter dair to artifi cows. QUALI with bu It is on the high the diffe item in in the re A VER good su good pas dicator, lected, g at least be able PETE perime the Gen some di cows at day. from 15 average THE T the Pit from th it is se twoor time to The cal it is dr the cov and it though counte any ra handle than s either letting that fo ing the is with fied an

to keep that ti

human

Implements That Every Farmer Should Pessess.

A good pair of pruning shears which proper bounds, but badly constructed eastern Illi they are not so convenient and useful following: as the single-bladed knife. We have seen those that were of very little value, requiring a hard pressure of the hand to cut off a small twig; and again we have had the satisfaction to work with those which with little effort two blades of the shears meet square together like a common pair of scissors, they will not prune off a large shoot; on's colt.

FIGURES 1 AND 2

ed a team

ississip, I

of walk-

t did the around,

d consti-

to swim

's Golden

nothing

n, which

"Golden

maladies.

o be effec-

aid for it

onchitis,

OBTAIN

WAY.

IAN,

. Agens

aver Fals, Pa.

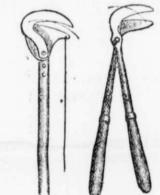

Suffrage! If

1290.

gars by mail

but if one moves over the other obliquely with a draw or sawing motion. their efficiency is greatly increased. The tool manufacturers of past years were aware of this difference, and they employed a complex construction like that represented in Fig. 1. The 'drawcut" was effected by the movable cen-ter, so that when the handles were pressed together the connecting rod draws the nearer blade downwards, and increasing the cutting power several fold over the simple shears. For pruning or cutting grafts above the reach of the operator, it is still common in some places to attach to a pole the shears represented by Fig. 2, which are worked by a cord attached to the nearer curved blade; but as the cut is only that of a a pair of scissors, it can be used only on small twigs. The cut shows where the pivot is on which the nearer blade of these shears moves, being the center of the dotted line. In Fig. 3, with a slight alteration, the pivot is placed on

FIGURES 3 AND 4. ficient pair of shears may be made on a similar principle; but all its efficiency

would be lost if the pivot were placed at the curve. -Country Gentleman. DAIRY DOTS.

THE cows in the winter dairy must be to artificially warm the water for their QUALITY is an important factor, both with butter and beef, says an exchange. It is only the best quality that realizes the highest prices, and in many cases the difference in the cost will be a small item in comparison with the difference

A VERY important item in securing a good supply of milk at a low cost, is good pasturage, says the Live-Stock Indicator, and no matter what breed is se lected, good pasturage must be secured, at least during the growing season, to be able to realize the largest profit.

PETER COLLIER, of the New York experiment station, tells the reporter of the Geneva Courier that he finds that some dairymen in the State are feeding cows at a cost of twenty-eight cents per of the rows with five holes each, and day per cow, while others are getting practically as good results from rations costing only fourteen cents per cow per Some dairymen get 363 pounds from 150 to 200 per cent. more than the

THE practice in weaning calves, says the Pittsburgh, (Pa.) Stockman, varies from the time the calf is dropped until it is several weeks old, but we think at the cow's udder is inflamed she will let fruits.-B. F. Johnson. the calf suck and butt all it wants to, and it uses its privilege freely. It is thought this butting is of service in rehandle her udder much more roughly to be done. Another point in favor of letting the calf suck for a few days is, that for the first three days after calving the cow is more liable to have milk fever than subsequently, and if her calf is with her she is much better satisfied and will keep very quiet, and this state of quietude is just the one we want to keep her in, as any excitement at stances. - Western Rural.

THE APPLE ORCHARD.

How Best to Raise, Cultivate and Care for It—Useful Hints and Directions by an Experienced Illinois Fruit-Grower.

Westeru Editorial Machinery Sometimes Slips a Cog.

We extract the following from the last The following paper on "How to Raise, Cultivate and Care for an Apple Orchard," was delivered by Hon. Thomwill operate with readiness and ease is as Lowrey, an experienced orchardist of an apology for the half-sheet we were renders it soft; in dry weather, on the obliged to issue this week. Monday contrary, it grows hard and tough. will operate with readiness and ease is as Lowrey, an experienced orchardist of out an equal distance apart. Thirty creeping for the past two years. On the feet, I think, is the proper distance to contrary, we have had the revolver and plant. The land should then be har- the other man has done the four-legged rowed sufficiently to make a good bottom act.

> "Having selected the site for my entirely around the orchard.

throwing the dirt out, then harrow it wel' and throw the dirt back with the plow This will leave the land in fine condition for planting. I would plant the trees thirty feet apart in rows each way. When ready to plant the first thing I would do would be to plow entirely around the tract, having a lath to stand exactly where I intended to plant each tree, in the outside rows of the orchard. The outside rows should be, I think, about twenty-five feet from the center of the road which was laid out around

"I would set the trees about two inches deeper than they grew in the nursery. After leveling the bottom of sharp knife cut off all broken or bruised enough of them without going to that we ought to have been getting out copy.

which the trees are planted thoroughly motion of the dotted line, sawing and cutting off larger limbs, and acting as at which time I would wrap the trees to burying ground, and shall grave; but we don't mourn. efficiently as the implement represented protect them from rabbits. The strip by Fig. 1. Fig. 4 shows how a very ef- of clover between the rows should be satisfied with the above explanations mowed when it is ready to cut for hay, and left lying on the ground as it fell, to act as a fertilizer. After the leaves a sack swung around the neck. When on how to spell 'cordial.' He insisted comfortably housed, not only at night any considerable number were collected that it was 'corjul,' and rather than see

> A Home-Made Mane Comb. The comb for the mane and tail of horses shown in the illustration is made, right, and we promise an issue of the says the American Agriculturist, of a Kicker which will make the sand fly in piece of half-inch board, eight inches fifty directions."- Detroit Free Press. long and five wide, with one end reduced to the form of a handle, as shown in the engraving. A hole is bored in holes are pierced with a brad-awl, four the three intermediate rows with four holes, so that the whole shall be in the "quincunx" form. Stout wire nails driven through the holes serve as teeth. ering of perforated tin plate on the back, to hold the teeth in place.

Tobacco Stems.

No more successful use can be made of them than to mulch fruit trees; they repel two or three days old is about the right insects, absorb moisture, and as they time to take the calf away from its dam. rot slowly they give up potash salts and The calf will suck in a little while after other forms of plant food essential to it is dropped, and no matter how much the health and fruitfulness of all sour

THE mainspring of farming is the thought this butting is of service in reducing inflammation, on the principle of tion in the soil. The failure of seed to counter irritation, we suppose; but at tion in the soil. The failure of seed to any rate the cow will allow the calf to germinate may cost the farmer the loss of an entire crop. The seed is somethan she will let a man rub it, and either the rubbing or the butting ought thing that the farmer should carefully examine now, before spring opens, by examine now, before spring opens, by testing it in boxes of earth under glass.

OLD seeds do not lose their vitality all at once, as an animal dies, but are continually losing it, and old seeds that will merely germinate in the hot-house may prove a failure in the garden,-Country Gentleman.

THE soil on which a barn or over that time is just as dangerous as to the human mother under the same circum-oughly underdrained and so dry that no exhalations rise from it.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

out on a half-sheet:

keeps trees and shrubbery within the Fruit-Growers' Association of South- morning, as we entered the post-office eastern Illinois. From it we take the five times as large as that of any other "What does the establishment in Arizona, Mr. Wanaorchard, I would, in the fall of the year, maker's man Friday, who was appointed with the plow throw up a ridge on the postmaster against the protests of ninelines surrounding my orchard tract for tenths of our people, came out in the the purpose of planting hedge. I corridor and demanded a personal would then with a plow, or what would apology for what the Kicker said about sheared off a green limb over an inch in be better, a road scraper, throw up a him last week. In our pioneer days, diameter. All the difference existed in road twenty feet in width on each side when we lived on roots and hadn't a secthe form or construction. When the of the tract, thereby making a road ond shirt to our back, we used to get down and crawl whenever requested. "I would then plow the ground into We felt that we had to. We were a tenlands thirty feet wide, or as near that der-foot and lacked sand. A change width as may be, to make the rows come came. We haven't been doing any > for a meadow. Then when the proper time comes for seeding I would, if timber land, sow it in clover, one peck of the ear to enforce obedience, we lit onto Therefore, when Wanamaker's Friday seed per acre. If prairie land, I would him with a weight of two tons, and had sow it in clover and timothy, at the rate of one peck of clover seed and one gallon minutes. Before letting him up we took of timothy per acre.

>
> "When spring came, with the land in good condition for cultivation, I would plow a strip six feet in width in the central conditions of the condition of t ter of each land, as deeply as I could, pen for some weeks, and we must dictate our copy.

> > More Explanatory. - Wanamaker's man Friday has a brother named Jin, who is a loafer and a cur from way back. We stated last week that we believed he stole money letters from the mails, and the statement seems to have put some "git" into him. After we had licked his brother and got back to the office Jim came sneaking down the street and fired at us through a window. He had a shot-gun, but he fired so high that no one was touched, and he was out of sight before we got to the door.

In a few days we are going on a hunt for Jim. We shall locate him and walk the shallow hole in which you are going in on him and side on the the shallow hole in which you are going it on our office door. Let him accept it on our office door. Let him accept one intenthis notice as fair warning of our intenroots with an underslope. Examine tions. While he didn't hit us with any carefully for borers in the roots, and be of his buckshot, the idea of such a chuckcertain not to plant any with the tree, as in all probability you will have trouble. Now place the tree in the hole, spreading the roots as evenly in each weeks ago a wild-eyed guyasticutis enspreading the roots as evenly in each direction as possible, placing the side which is most heavily rooted to the struck us for a "sit." He gave the name direction as possible, placing the side which is most heavily rooted to the southwest; now sift the loose dirt down amongst the roots, pressing it in so as not to leave air spaces, then fill in with dirt until the roots are thoroughly coviting the property of the New York papers for the last dirtumber of the New York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be refunded. Consumption (which is most of the New York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last through druggists under a positive guarantee of its benefiting or curing in every case, if the new York papers for the last throug dirt until the roots are thoroughly cevered and tramp down solidly, then flir four dollars per week and buy his crackup with loose dirt and leave the tree ers and cheese at our grocery, we didn't standing as nearly perpendicular as pos- question him as closely as we otherwise might. He had worked two days I would plant nothing but yearling when we got hurt, and what did trees. As soon as I was done planting the lop-eared brother of a hyena do my orchard I would plant the hedge of but go off and get drunk and lay osage orange, placing the plants two feet apart in the row, then puta barbed-drove of mules would run over him in wire fence, of at least three wires, di- going to water! He was trampled out rectly over the bedge.

"I would with a double-shovel or culof sight into the sand, and on top of our other troubles we had to hire him dug tivator keep the strip of ground in out and buried. But for his kick-over which the trees are planted thoroughly we could have issued a full sheet and cultivated until the middle of July, at got it out on time. We've had him which time I would carefully examine carted off to one corner of our private for borers, repeating the middle of burying ground, and shall mark his

THE LATEST .- If our readers are not we have another to fire at them. Owing to our wounded hand we could not do a stroke of writing. We could dictate, fell I would go over the orchard and however, and we hired young Bill Ellis, pick off every leaf roller, caterpillar son of old Reprobate Ellis, to act as our harbor I could find, dropping them into half a column when he differed with us but in all but the very pleasantest weather. Many of the best of the winter dairymen are finding it profitable spring, I would empty them out and burn the English language knocked out we them. When good weather came in the spring, I would again examine for an old tramp printer $10 and told him to go ahead and run out half a sheet. It's all we could do under the circumstances and we beg the indulgence of our subscribers. Next week we shall be all

> MEN WHO FASCINATE. Female Views on the Fellows Who Have

> "And would you marry the sort of man who fascinates you?" "Yes, indeed. I don't think there are any of them good enough, so there's not much choice, and you are more apt to be happy with the man who fascinates you to the extent of making you forget his faults than with the one who has so few faults and is so moral he just isn't any thing else.' "I'll tell you the kind of man I call fascinating," said a right chatty married lady with well-established opinions. "It is the one who always says the courteday. Some dairymen get 363 pounds of butter per cow annually, which is from 150 to 200 per cost more than the transfer of the cost of the a street car as if you were a princess royal. The one who continually piques your curiosity by making you feel that he is keeping something back, and that never really allows you to believe that you know all about him. I like him to be cultured in the broadest sense, to have traveled and read and thought so much that he has something to say, and with authority, on all subjects, and yet who pays you the most subtle of all compliments by occasionally referring to your opinion or asking your indorsement of his views." "The man I call fascinating," said girl with a reputation for possessing all the fascinations belonging to women, as well as understanding those peculiar to men, "is the big, manly, strong, gentle one. I don't admire that detestable creature known as the male flirt, but one who, when thrown with a person of the opposite sex, makes her feel, for the time being at least, that she is the only woman in the world worth talking to."—N. Y. Evening Sun.

-Mr. Tootles (who has been scolded by his wife for being out late)-"If you don't like it, my dear, why don't you strike, as factory employes some times do?" Mrs. Tootles—"No; I won't strike, but you'll find there'll be a lock out some night."-Munsey's Weekly.

A Ginger-Bread Barometer.

It is nothing more or less than the figure of a General made of gingerbread Slips a Cog.

We extract the following from the last Place du Trone. When he gets home ssue of the Arizona Kicker, which came he hangs his purchase on a nail. You know the effect of the atmosphere on EXPLANATORY.--We owe our readers gingerbread. The slightest moisture contrary, it grows hard and tough. Every morning on going out Clavette

> "What does the General say?" The man fortwith applies his thumb to the figure and replies: "The General feels flabby about the chest; you'd better take your umbrella." On the other hand, when the symptoms are "hard and unvielding," our worthy colleague sallies forth in his new hat.-French Paper.

Why Thunder Sours Milk. You have often asked or been asked: 'Why does thunder sour sweet milk?' Milk is peculiar, inasmuch as it is very sensitive to atmospheric changes. Electricity, the cause of thunder, produces, or, if it does not produce, follows great and rapid changes in atmospheric conditions. Lightning is the discharge which comes of electrical inequalities, producing chemical changes in the air. Thunder-storms represent the greatest activity of electrical phenomenon, and the best authorities give it as their opinion that the electricity in the atscaringduring the prevalence of such sorms. - St. Louis Republic.

Though time flies it is the man who goes slow who keeps up with it.—Atchison Globe.

Deafnus Can't Be Cured Deafness Can't Be Cured by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to ctre Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Rustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect learing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out entirely closed Deafress is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restoret to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but in inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafress (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Whish is said to improve with age, but some men never give it a chance.—Somerville Journal.

Confidence Begot of Success. So successful has Dr. Plerce's Golden Medical Discovery proved in curing chronic nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat dis-eases, that its manufacturers now sell it

Pierce's Pellets, Purely Vegetable. One

Eveny man has his particular bent, especially after eating a prematurely pulled watermelon.—Philadelphia Press. Home Seekers' Excursions. Home Seekers' Excursions.
The Burlington Route, C., B. & Q. R. R., till sell on Tuesdays, April 22d and May 2th, Home Seekers' Excursion Tickets at His Rates to points in the Farming Regions of Servest. Northwest and Southwest.
Limit thirty days. For folder giving details concerning tickets, rates and time of trains, and for descriptive land folder, call on your ticket agent, or address P. S. Eustis, Gen'l Pass, and Ticket Agent, Chicago, Ill.

THE self-made man has no prejudice against the tailor-made girl.—N. O. Picay-

Ladies Have Tried It.

A number of my lady customers have tried "Mother's Friend," and would not be without for many times its cost. They recommend it to all who are to become nothers. R. A. PAYNE, Druggist, Greenville, Ala. Write Bradfield Reg. Co., Atlanta, Ga., for particulars. By all druggists.

By a strange metamorphosis, the man who wins in a half-mile dash starts out afoot and comes in ahead.—Elmira Gazette.

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada, Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar.

On his return home the immature clubman lets himself in with a minor key.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

Have no equal as a prompt and positive cure for sick headache, biliousness, constipation, pain in the side, and all liver troubles, Carter's Little Liver Pills. Try them.

WITH the Briton emotion is a matter of cultivation. He always loves whole 'art.—Philadelphia Press. Explosions of Coughing are stopped by Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

Where is the man with enough moral courage to try and find out conclusively whether a suspicious-looking bill is counterfeit after he has once accepted it!—Wash-tester Research fett after he has once accepted it!—Washington Post.

"Grow me the men who sings at his work," says a writer. He can have him also the men who whistless at his work and amusement-geers will approve also of giving himmany of the men and women who sing on the stage, provided he can induce them to follow some other calling.—Norristover ferald.

It would be an awful strain on a man t be polite through all the worrinents of business if he were not consoled by the prespect of getting even after going home—Terre Haute Express.

WHEN you see a woman who struggles to keep up appearances you do not have to look far to find a man who is struggling to keep down expenses.—Atchisoidlobe.

The man who hasn't money enough to build a woodshed is usually the man who spends the most time studying the plans for new homes in the building magazines.—Somerville Journal.

The coachman who contemplates cloping with and marrying his employer's daughter should remember that by so doing he will lower his position from coachman to groom.—Binghamton Republican. "Do you want the earth?" inquired th haughty hotel clerk of a meekly complaining guest. "No," was the reply, "you cakeep it awhile longer till I ask you for it."

—Washington Post.

The most wasteful thing about this country is the immense number of good day aborers that go to seed every year in the guise of "professional" men.—Ashland

"Or course we must recognize the fact," said one politician to another, "that hen esty is the best policy," "Particularly," was the rejoinder, "when it's the other fellow that's honest."—Washington Post. No man has a right to do what he pleases inless he pleases to do what is right.

Sufferences from Coughs, Sore Throat, etc., should try Brown's Bronchial Troches," a simple but sure remedy. Sold only in Price 25 cents.

True charity-raising the wind for cyclone sufferers.—Courier-Journal. PAIN in the Side nearly always comes from a disordered liver and is promptly relieved by Carter's Little Liver Pills. Don't forget this

It is the diamond miner who is the most successful discoverer of strata-gems. The best cough medicine is Piso's Cure for Consumption. Sold everywhere. 25c.

WHEN money talks is it a paying teller!-

WE recommend "Tansill's Punch" Cigar.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading drug-gists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

I took Sick,

I took Cold.

I take My Meals,

I take My Rest, AND I AM VIGOROUS ENOUGH TO TAKE ANYTHING I CAN LAY MY HANDS ON; getting fat too, for Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda NOT ONLY CURED MY Incipient Consumption BUT BUILT ME UR AND IS NOW PUTTING FLESH ON MY BONES AT THE RATE OF A POUND A DAY. I TAKE IT JUST AS EASILY AS I DO MILK." SUCH TESTIMONY IS NOTHING NEW. SCOTT'S EMULSION IS DOING WONDERS DAILY. TAKE NO OTHER.

Dyspepsia is the band west, southwest, northwest west, southwest, northwest ache, constitution and piles, that Sold Everywhere. Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

ALL COUNTRIES.

Rings's Food. By Druggiet
ALL COUNTRIES.

Rings's Food. By Druggiet
ACCO., Palmer, Muss.

ENSION JOHN W. MORKIN
Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS
Late Principal Examiner U. S. Ponsion Bureau
5 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, att y since 9-2 AME THIS PAPER every time you write.

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY, WESTON ENGINE Co., Painted Post, N. Y. ALL KINDS.

A CLEAN AND PERFECT CURE OF HURTS AND BRUISES.

A Doctor

Lawrence, Kansas, Aug. 9, 1888.

George Patterson fell from a 2d-story window, striking a fence. I found him using St. Jacobs Oil freely all over his hurts. I saw him next morning at work; all the blue spots had gone, leaving neither pain, scar nor swelling.

C. K. NEUMANN, M. D.

AT DRUGGISTS AND DEALERS.
THE CHARLES A. VOCELER CO., Baltimore, Md.

"Oh, So Tired!"

is the cry of thousands every Spring. For that Tired Feeling and recover Health and Vigor. It Makes the Weak Strong.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

VASELINE PREPARATIONS.

On receipt of price in postage stamps we will send ee by mail the following valuable articles: One Box of Pure Vaseline,... 10 Cents.
One Box of Vaseline Camphor Ice, 10 Cts.
One Box of Vaseline Cold Cream. 15 Cts.
One Cake of Vaseline Soap.... 10 Cents.
One Bottle of Pomade Vaseline, 15 Cents. One Bottle of Folkade Vasseline, to Cents, If you have occasion to use "Vasseline" in any form be careful to accept only genuine goods put up by us in original packages. A great many drangists are trying to persuade buyers to take Vaseline Freparations put up by them. Never yield to such persuasion, as the article is an imitation without value and will not do good nor give you the result you expect. A two ounce bottle of Bine Seal Vaseline is sold by all druggists at ten cents.

Chesebrough Mfg. Co., 24 State St., N. Y.

wherever found, That holds the Roll on which is wound The Braid that is known the world around. Profitable Business ? "OHIO" Bore Wells with our famous Well Machinery. The only perfect self-cleaning and fast dropping tools in use. Catalogne free.

HARTSHURN'S SHADEROLLERS NOTICE AUTOGRAPH LABEL

OF THE GENUINE WHARTSHORM

The "Soo" Railway opens up large tracts of pine, Hembiek and Hardwood Timber in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Timber in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Timber in Wisconsin and Michigan.

MILLS and FACTORIES. Timbered Farming Lands CHEAP and mostly on time. Railway Co. Pays Cash for Cordwood.

Address "SOO" RAILWAY, Minneapolis, Mino

Beautiful Bitter Root!

WM. FITCH & CO., PENSION ATTORNEYS & CO.'S YEAR DOOK

NOW READY. Describes their latest improved Threshers, Threshing Engines, Saw Mills and Saz Mill Engines, Horse Powers, Fistilonary Engines, Plain or Automatic, and Bollers, Address RUSSELL & CO4 - HASSILLON, OHIO.

Dut Permanently GIRED
FREE TO ANY ADDRESS.
The Yellow Pine Extract Co., PITTABURGH, PA. $75.00to$250.00 A MONTH can be made

UGGIES & HARNESS

WE CUT | $21 Cart. | $10.00

THE PRICES | $50 Bucgr. | $30.50

for CASH to introduce our work. Address with stamp U. S. Buggy AND CART WORKS, Cincinnati, O.

22-NAME THIS PAPER avery time you wilk.

Shoe and Leather Beporter.

A noticeable thing about the statures of ancient men and women, is for everything he may be able to prothe apparently disproportionate size duce." of their feet. We moderns are apt be found, however, that for symmet- of supporting the Government needs not think of such a thing as putting At present in many States the bura nine-inch foot on a five-and-one- den of local taxation presses heavily half-foot woman. Their types for upon farm property, its yery nature these classical marble figures were rendering easily accessable. Every taken from the most perfect forms of corporation created by the State and living persons. Unquestionably the to whom special privileges are granthuman foot, as represented by these ed, either by State, county or incorold sculptors, was larger than the porated village or city, should be modern one, and, in fact, the primi- taxed in proportion to its earnings, tive foot of all people of whom we and in all ways the principle of taxhave any record, either in printing ation should be to place the burden or statuary, was considerably larger of maintaining the Government, than the restricted foot of modern whether State, municipal or national, times. The masculine feot, forming upon the luxuries and comforts an approximate average of four dif- which the wealthy enjoy, and to referent countries, was about twelve duce it to a minimum in its applicaleast a No. 12 or 121 shoe to cover it of the poor man. comfortably. The average masculine foot to-day is easily fitting with a No. 8½ shoe, and is, therefore, not above ten and seven-sixteenths of an inch. Now, by the old sculptural rule of proportion, a man 5 feet 9 inches in height should have a foot 112 inches long, or one-sixth his height. It was of no great consequence what size sandal he wore, but he would least a No. 101 for a minimum fit or a No. 11 for real comfort. For women, allowing the difference in the Hamilton county, and was purchased was about the same then as now, a Wood. Some weeks passed before woman of five feet three inches in he noticed the name on its interior, height would have had a foot ten Then he wrote to the young woman inches long, requiring a modern shoe whose name was on the umbrella. -it ought to be spoken of only in a She answered. The correspondence whisper-No. 6 as the most comfortable for that foot or a No.  $5\frac{1}{2}$  as the her departure for this country. She limit of torture. The reason for the difference between the old classical foot and the modern one is obvious.

Rusk to the Farmers.

Restriction is what has done it.

communications from different sections of the country, appealing to him for an expression of onlinion respect for an expression of opinion respect- Wood were made one. So much for ing the present condition of agriculthe umbrella romance.—Albany Aredies, has issued a long address to the gus. farmers of the country. The present agricultural depression, universally admitted, and of which there can be no doubt, the Secretary says, can be traced to a combination of causes, so many that probably no one can enumerate them all .- Those causes which to the Secretay seem more next legislature. The W. C. T. U. depression may be divided into two this project.—California Christian classes-those inherent to farmers Advocate. themselves, and for which they alone of causes-to careless culture, want of Telescope. business-like methods, lack of study of supply and demand and market prices, and to the ownership of more you so cross at me all the time ?" products, combinations, and the de- Weekly. pressing effect of the increase of middlemen on the result of the farmer's honest toll, Sccretary Rusk advances an argument in favor of higher duties on agricultural products. One of the gravest causes for the present agricultural depression, in the opinion of the Secretary, is lack of protection for the farmer. Few people, he says, realize that our imports of agricul. D spepsia and Habitual Constipation tural products estimated at prices paid by the consumer, are about equal to our agricultural exports estimated at prices paid to the farmer, yet such is the case. Our imports of products sold in competition with those actually produced on our own soil amount to nearly $115,000,000 Is Pleasant, Safe and efficient. Price 25 cts. and as much more could be produced on our own soil under favorable conditions.—Our imports of agricultural products for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1889, aggregated $266,000,-June 30, 1889, aggregated $266,000, 41 the above preparations are for sale at A. G. Sturgiss' Drug Store, Oakland, and by druggists and country merchants in all parts of Garrett and adjoining counties. retary thinks, with proper encouragement, be produced on our own soil.

To protection the secretary looks for a remedy. "One glance," he says, "at the comparative rates of duty levied upon agriculture as compared with other products, one glance at the free list, the greater portion of which consists of agricultural products.

Garrett County.

IT IS ORDERED, This 28th day of April.
1890, by the Orphans' Court for Garrett County, sitting in Equity. That the sale of the free list, the greater portion of which consists of agricultural products.

Garrett County.

IT IS ORDERED, This 28th day of April.
County, sitting in Equity. That the sale of the real estate of the late Howard Stuck, as made by Lucien Frazee, Trustee, to Franklin F. Fike and Elijah Fike, be ratified and confirmed; unless cause to the contrary thereofbe ucts, either grown or which could be grown upon our own soil, and a comparison of these figures with the manufactured articles, ought to be $1,300. sufficient to silence forever any op-10sition to the demand I have made Test.-J. W. WHITE, Register.

on behalf of the American farmer in my annual report, namely, that by a wise application of our admirable utes found in our museums of art, protective system, all the benefits of supposed to represent the perfect fig- our home market be secured to him

Your system of taxation, the Secto pronounce them too large, particu- retary thinks, demands improvelarly those of the females. It will ment in certain directions. The cost rical perfection these feet could not to be most equilably adjusted among be better. A Greek sculptor would the different classes of our people. inches long. This would require at tion to the hardly-earned property

Romance of an Umbrella.

While working in an umbrella factory in Sheffield, England, about three years ago, Miss Annie Hodgson wrote her name and address on an umbrella which she had just completed. The result brought about by this careless action is quite romantle Along with hundreds of others the Wood. Some weeks passed before he noticed the name on its interior. Then he wrote to the young woman whose name was on the umbrella. She answered. The correspondence thus strangely started lasted until her departure for this country. She took up her residence in Troy as housekeeper for her brother. After some time she went to Palmer's Falls. thence to Racquette Lake, where she was employed during the summer at its.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

The Antlers." Mr. Wood was employed at the lake by W. W. Durant and it was there that the lady and it was there that the lady and its was the late on its passage.

Intervents the public streets; they shall bely shall the streets, lanes and ultey shall the streets, lanes and alleys on the rediction to a treet, lane, shall the streets, lanes and alleys of the code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett co by a young man named Jerome tary Rusk in reply to hundreds of ployed at the lake by W. W. Durant

> The scientific temperance instruction law of California has already so seriously affected the saloon-keepers' regular crop of customers-the boysthat the liquor men have begun agitation to have the law repealed by the witl endevor to pour cold water on

John Toiler says that it is easy can provide a possible remedy, and enough for a preacher who is settled those over which the farmer himself on a $5,000 salary to preach eloquently has no direct control, and the remedy to his people on the importance of for which must be provided by law. being cheerful and full of sunshine; In the first class of causes indicat- but he would like to see him try it ed he attributes depreciation of the on a dollar a day, with a wife and productive power of land to a variety five children to support.—Religious

Little Boy .- "Mamma, why are land by many than they can properly "Because you keep doing wrong, care for. After alluding briefly to and I want to make an impression the discouraging effects of farm mort- on your mind," "If you'd be goodgages, the difficulties of the transpor- natured just once, it would make a tation question, gambling in farm bigger impression," - New York

If You Have a Trifling Cough

Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough Cure. It is a sure and speedy cure for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness, &c. 25 cts. a bottle. For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, &c.

Use Roger's Specific Liniment. It has no qual as a cure for Sprains, Burns Bruises, Jolic, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentary, Rheumatism, &c. 25 cts. Speedily cured by a few doses of Appetite, the Great Stomach, Kidney and Liver Rem-edy. Price 50 cts.

Piles! Piles! Piles! Roger's Specific Cocaine File Remedy Will cure in a short time the most aggravated case of Itching, protruding, Bleeding, or any other form of Files. Price 50 cts. a box.

Roger's Specific Worm Syrup For Chapped Hands, Face, &c., Use Frangipane Curative Balm, a delightful ollet'article for the Hands, Face, Roughness

of Skin, Face and Sunburn, Tetter, Pimp Blotches and Skin Diseases. Price 15 cts.

ORDER NISI.

Singleton Switzer, et. al., vs. Jennie Stuck, et. al. No. 33 Equity. In the Orphans' Court for Garrett County.

firmed; unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 27th day of May next; provided a copy of this order be published in some newspaper printed in the town of Oak-land for three successive weeks before the 27th day of May next.

Register.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 277.

AN ACT

Corepeal Section 178, Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland. title 'Garrett County,' sub-title 'Oakland,' and to re-enact the same with amendments authorizing the Mayor and Council of Oakland to levy needful taxes on the assessable property within the town, liable to taxation and to provide for collecting the same. SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland. That section one hundred and seventy-eight, Article twelve, of the Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," sub-title "Oakland," beand the same is hereby repealed and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

rett County," sub-title "Oakland," beand the same is hereby repealed and re-enacted so as to read as follows:

178. The Mayor and Council shall have power to mass all such ordinances not contrary to the Constitution and laws of this State as may be necessary to give effect to the powers conferred by this charter, and which they may deem necessary for the good government of the town, for the preservation of peace and good order, and securing persons and property from violence, danger and destruction; for the removal of nuisances of every character, and all obstructions from the streets, lanes and alleys, and from any lot adjoining thereto, within the limits of the town; they may remove or cause to be removed any houses or other buildings that may in their judgment become dangerous, they may pass ordinance to cause the streets, lanes, alleys and sidewalks to be paved, and preserbe the materials with which said grading, repairing, leveling, draining or sewering shall be done and by whom, and in what manner payment shall be made therefor; to protect and preserve any of the town property, rights, and privileges; to regulate the sate af nostriums, notions, patents, aget or patent inventions and remedies, and the weighing of coal, hay and offer commodities and merchandise; to restrin, regulating the same and merchandise; to restrin, regulating the difference of fitty cents on the higher the wait needful taxes on the sessessable property within the town liable to taxation not be exceed fifty cents on the higher down of alleys at unreusonable hours of the night; they shall levy all needful taxes on the sessessable property within the town liable to taxation not to exceed fifty cents on the higher down of the town from being on the streets, lames or alleys at unreusonable hours of the night; they shall levy all needful taxes on the sessessable property within the town liable to taxation not to exceed fifty cents on the higher down and compensation of such other officers, agents and servants as may be deemed necessary; to the practice of firing and discnarging are arms, fire-crace ers, topedoes and other explosives either by profitting the sale there of or otherwise; to restrain and prohibit gaming; to provide for itensing, regulating or restraining thearticals or other public amusements within the town limits; to punish and suppress tramps by the imposition of fines and penalties thereon and to enforce such fines and penalties; they shall erect lamps and provide groper and suitable lights upon the public sreets; they shall have power to lay out, open, after or close streets, lames and alleys or parts of streets, lanes and alleys, by condemnation or in any other manner not contrary to law; provided, the question of closing any public street or alley or part thereof shall be first submitted to the

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 475. AN ACT

o repeal Section thirty-seven of Article twelve of the Co-le of Public Local Lawfitle "Garrett County" sub-title "Count Commissioners" and to re-enact the sam with amendments. SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General & before said Commissioners to settle their ac-counts, touching the fairness and truth of such accounts, and to all persons who come before said Commissioners to make transfers or ask for rebates or reductions, or other changes in assessments on the assessment books of said county and shall have power to lake affidavits to all papers to be filed in the office of said Commissioners, and to adminis-ter an oath or affirmation to any person pre-senting a claim to the Commissioners against said county, and to any person who is to be senting a ciaim to the Commissioners against said county, and to any person who is to be examined as a witness in any matter before the Commissioners, for which service the clerk shall not be entitled to make any charge, the same being made a part of his of ficial duty as cierk; and it shall be the duty of the cierk to keep the office of the County Commissioners of said county open from line o'clock in the forenoon until three o'clock in the afternoon, and to attend therein for the transaction of business on every day in the week except Sundays and legal holidays. The compensation to be allowed said clerk by the County Commissioners shall be in full for all the services required of him as said clerk, by law, either general or local, provided, however, that such compensation of such clerk shall not be less than four hundred doilers shall not be less than four hundred doilers.

rs, nor more than six hundred dollars in SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage Approved April 3, 1890,

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 291.

To fix the compensation of the Sheriff of Gar-rett County for boarding prisoners confined in the jail of said county. Assembly of Maryland, That the sheriff of Garrett County shall be allowed for keeping and boarding each prisoner committed to the jail of said county the sum of forty cents per day to be levied oy the County Commissioners at their annual levy of taxes for said county.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That all Acts or parts of Acts in conflict with the p ovisions of this Act be, and the same are because pealed, so far as the same relates to Americannus. SEC. 3. And be it enacted. That this act chall take effect from the date of its passage. 5 3 3t Approved April 3, 1890.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 144. AN ACT

AN ACT
To repeal section two hundred and thirty-one of Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, entitled "Garrett County" sub-title "Witness."

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That section two hundred and thirty-one of Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland entitled Garrett County, sub-title "Witness," be and the same is hereby repealed. SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage. Approved March 21, 1890.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 312, AN ACT

AN ACT
To provide for the payment of mileage to witnesses summoned to the Circuit Court for Garrett County.

SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That witnesses in Garrett County who shall reside more than three miles from the place of holding the Circuit Court shall, in addition to the per diem allowed by law, receive six and one-quarter cents per mile for every mile exceeding the first three, to be allowed in going to the Court, but no witness shall be allowed mileage more than once going to said Court in any one term. SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That this Act Shail take effect from the date of its massage.

Approved April 3, 1899.

5 3 34

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING, to sell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expe-and Steady Employment Guaranteed.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y. INSOLVENT'S NOTICE.

Jacob C. Beachy vs.

His Creditors.

The creditors generally of Jacob C. Beachy are hereby notified that a meeting of the creditors of the said Jacob C. Beachy, an insolvent petitioner, will be held in the Clerk's office at the Court House, in Jakland, on the 17th day of May, A. D. 1890, at 4 o'cleck P. M., for the purpose of electing a permanent trustee to take charge of the estate of said insolvent, for the benefit of his creditors.

JAMES C. PEDDICORD. JAMES C. PEDDICORD.

SALESMEN WANTED or liberal commission to local men. Out-fifree-no collecting. Permanent position guaranteed. Experience unnecessary. Choice

L. P. THURSTON & CO., 215 Empire Nurseries, Rochester, N. Y.

--WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO. Cumberland, Md Office 30 Baltimore Street.

ANDREW J. HARNE.

Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Onkland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 192.

AN ACT

rubic General Laws of Maryland, Ittle "F of Officers" sub-title "Criers" be, so far as same relates to Garrett County, and all of Acts or parts of Acts, inconsistent with Act, be and the same are hereby repealed. SEc. 3. And be it enacted. That this act shaltake effect from the date of its passage.

Approved March 27th, 1890, EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN. That the undersigned, appointed by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, to view the lands through which the new public road from a point on the Hutton Switch road, near James Dodge's, and running thence through or on the lines of the lands belonging to James Dodge, Edward Teats, John Connell Jr., Thomas Spahr, John M. Browning, and Sylvester Rinard to the West Virginia line near the Thomas place, and examine whether the said new road should be opened, will meet on Saturday, the 31st day of May, 1800 for such purpose, and to determine whether the public convenience requires the said road.

ISAAC KUYKENDALL, ISAAC LAYTON, JOHN HARNED, Examiners. FAVORITE SINGER

OUR FAVORITE SINCER

Orop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ringe Tucker, Ruffler, Einder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvascers' Commissions. Get New Machines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Go-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia. Pa.

FOR SALE!

Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all un-der fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park.

der fence. Situated about Deer Park. For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT. 8 24 tr

One of the BEST Tel- Rescopes in the world. Our la-littles are unequaled, and to introduce on shout the fiftieth part of its bulk. It is a grand, double size telescope, as large as is easy to carry. We will also show you how you can make from $3 to $3 LO a day at least, from the sast, without experience. Better write at once We pay all express charge Address. H. HALLETT & CO., Box 886. Fourt.an. Marke.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS.

rticle, which can be depended upon to be as Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself.

We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices and terms. We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season.

Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express, Address H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md. A Rare Chance to

Secure a Home. AUCTIONEER! FOR SALE

> Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

> > and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the heaver and others.
These lands will be sold CHEAPand on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four equal yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.
For further information apply to.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican Office, Oakland, Me

VALUABLE STOCK FARM

FOR SALE. I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres, About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings

The annual rouse, parn and other out-buildings and a young orch-rd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, containing 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story

FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.
The land is heavily I-med and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.
Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.
For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner,

Oakland, Md. MASSEY HALL PREPARATORY SCHOOL.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year--Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three courses utlined—Academic, Scientific or Commercall. Special attention to collegiate require ments. Number of Puphs strictly Limited Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN, Principal.

J. F. LEWIS, ---MANUFACTURER OF-

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and aperience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I am experience as a "HINGLE SAWYEIS, I am experience as a "HINGLE SAWYEIS, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the State for the same price J. F. LEWIS.

33'881y Cranesville, W. Va DR. E. H. BARTLETT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

#2- Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church.

#2- Residence and office two doors and office two doors East of Catholic Church. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

-GO TO-

Henry J. Mayers' OAKLAND PHARMACY

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS

MEDICINES.

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY

RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. "Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto."

-Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, ems, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Bibles, Buckets, Baskets, Autograph Albums, Knives,
Lik Stouds, Regers at Bibles

Ink Stands, Razors, etc. AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Var-nishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere,

German and English Spoken. H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PINNOS ?

CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY

GUARANTEED! Having decided to make a specialty of sell-Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument, and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask.

ask.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line. to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 12th, 1889: GOING EAST

2—Accommodation .. GOING WEST. 71-Accommodation . 47-Express.....

15-Accommodation.

The fast trains, with the exception of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be pro cured before taking the cars, pas-

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD.

General Passenger Agent.

sengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25

D. E. BOLDEN E. M. SPEDDEN. NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES, OAKLAND, · MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring-bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Blemish Cure ever known.

ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails, Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., SATURDAY, MAY 24, 1890.

NUMBER 14.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD.

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Md. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland,

GILMOR S. HAMILL
ATTORNEY AT LAW
AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing nvéstigation of land titles and collection felaims. Loans negotiated. [eli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

2-Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Plains, including claims against United testing, Items (Sentence of Court of C

WARING THOMAS. EWD, H. SINCELL

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attornays-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND,

Sydesper puriding, Main St., aboy

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 io 6 J. W. VEITCH. VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW

SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.
Vill practice in the Courts of Garrett Count and the clipining Jountles of West Virgini and in the Jourt of Appeals of Maryland.
To the in the Court House.

A, B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY,

Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, M.I., and offers his services to those wishing Beattal Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Eik Lick, Pa. 6226m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. # 3 Residence in Dr. Keller Building. Sept. 3, 1885.-19.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his protessional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity. 55'88 Er Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholie Church.

DR. S. TOWNSHEND. RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and Illing the natural teeth,

All work warranted to give satisfaction. Dr. I. D. Newman,

OAKLAND, MD. CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

Office and residence on Mill street, opposible Helbig bridge Callsday or night promptly attended to,
3 5 y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND. Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessarty outbuildings; twenty acres under cultivation. A fine young wenty acres under cultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply

Wonderful Tonic and Pariner.
The officers of the Microbe Kills in case of conjugs. Price $3.00. Wm. Badam's Microbe Killer, Bladan Pro

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting flown any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Rowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the sand, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 264, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down. THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to doall kinds of blacksmithing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop wear "Browning House."

Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-DAVID LITTEL.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. MULES

We have opened

NE W STOCK YARDS

AT BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-

Mules for Logging -and-TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MELES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO.,

Barritt Station, between Gorman and Bayard.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATREUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newels, Weatherboard-

ing Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates,

Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mell work. 9, '87. E. F. STANSBERRY.

-Manufacturer of Boots and Shoes.

Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD. ** Repairing neatly and promtly done. Nov. 21, 85.- y.

FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oak and and Sang Run road, six miles from Oak land, and near the Youghtogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just cothing into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and the wenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Cail on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Reperblican office, Oakland, Md

Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD. lumber brokers

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Belting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or Iron; Shanling, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggles, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM. A PRACTICAL AND

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DEMANDS

That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It cannot, therefore, be stated too emphatically, nor repeated too often, that all who are in need of a genuine Blood-purifier should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or thatof some one near and dear to you, may depend on the use of this well-approved remedy in prefer-ence to any other preparation of similar name. It is compounded of Horduras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich h curative properties), stillingia, mandrakt, yellow dock, and the iodides. The process of manufacture is original, skilful, scrupulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heated, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a com-pound extract, obtained by a method ex-clusively our own, of the best and nost powerful alteratives, tonics, and diuretics known to pharmacy. For the last forty has been the standard blood-purifier of the world-no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its form-tala is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly concentrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

Sarsaparilla

J. C. Ayer & Co.,

Lowell, Mass. In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sar. saparilla is proved to be the best remedy for all diseases of the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 30 eres of which is cleared, and on which are rected a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two failes from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 zeres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to orad- would keep the now !" RICHARD CUSTER.

F. A. THAYER.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and the Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Parents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C. SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE.

FIRST - Class Tailor,

FROM BALTIMORE.

Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 3 i5 90

WANTED AT ONCE.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock, Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, the patronage of the public. 3 i5 90

WANTED AT ONCE.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock, Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, the patronage of the public. 3 i5 90

WANTED AT ONCE.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock, Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, the patronage of the public. 3 i5 90

SQUARING THE ACCOUNT. BY ANNA SHEILDS.

erbert Denison paced up and the small room that had been especial sanctum of his brother busly rattling his watch chain. e, his only sister, Tom Thorpe's ow, was sobbing on the sofa. Jessie, dear," he said, presently, is cruel to make you talk, but if ild only get some really clear of the business, I might, per-sie sat up and tried to still the h. She was a woman with fair hav and blue eyes, and young enough | me ?" to make her deep widow's help you,"

sourning doubly pathetic. "About the house ?" she said.

for y' "The price was six thousand dollars for the house and grounds. There is a very large orchard and a found comfort in constant work, and vegetable garden, besides the garden the next week most of her packing hurried the last boxes on the wagon in front. Tom was to pay for it just | Was finished. as he could, but not less than three sure, but it heped along.

"I am positively certain of it."

"And the receipts are lost?" stole Tom's rec ipt book."

"Why ?" much respected, and there have been | ing, w several stories told about him that into the top of the mop board was an from the frame. A large, yellow enthrow a doubt over his honesty. envelope, almost concealed, that Mr. velope, with three immense red seals Still, he keeps clear of the law. Tom Paxon was sure contained an inclos- was behind it, and with trembling took the receipts for the payments ure. Warily he crept up to it, seized fingers he tore it open. A long slick on the house, in a small, red account it and found it a scaled envelope, of paper was the only inclosure, and book, that had nothing else in it. directed-alone with him when he was taken broke the sed and read; the receipts."

"I understand that. I think he intended, if Tom got better, to pre tend it was a mistake, or he might have meant to cheat him."

the payments." "No. He would come over, or Tom would go to bun and pay whatseen the receipts often ! And think, else must find those bonds !

Bert, how that five thousand deliars young man who had made for him- ders, special indecements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

Tom's experiments in sheep-raising.

Tom's experiments in sheep-raising. Tom's experiments in sheep-raising > life for one, and left the other deso-Many long talks the brother and sister had about this cruel wrong as well ask Jessie to sell one of her op, "In whatsoever state I am, I always at the same conclusion that painted it ! only the finding of the receipt-book dignified by the name of library, you a good price !" when Bert, pointing to the wall, said : "Where on earth did you ever get that horrid daub, Jessie? What is

"The landing of the Pilgrim Fathers," soid Jessie, smiling. "It is a work of art as that! Why, man daub, Bert, but Tom was fond of it alive, if Jessie ever could part with for the sake of his only brother, who it, it ought to bring five times that painted it. Poor Fred! He imagined sum!" himself a great artist, and this picture a masterpiece. But after vainly w, Tom Thorpe, his brow knit trying to sell it he gave it to Tom. perplexed thought, his fingers It was a dreadful job to get it up, and you see it takes all the space on Come, hurry up! Take out the top > to get it down is a mystery." "Do you value it?"

died ten years ago, and the picture is on the bonds. frightful." "H'm!-I think I see a light!"

as there is nothing to be gained by you?"

"I will begin to pack to-day." It proved to be a tedious job to gather all the household goods into myself." Yes. You say it is almost paid Beveling compass, to start off box after box, to take leave of neighbors, You get the money, and I'll speak to hundred a year We were so anx- for their start, Bert sent to for Mr. already seated when Mr. Paxon came ious to have a home of our own, Paxon, to make one more appeal to around the corner, actually carrying Bert, that we vorked very hard for his honesty. There was a long, the money in his hands. it, and that is he reason I know all rather stormy interview in the disabout it. I put all my writing mon- mantled library, where only the crisp notes for five hundred dollars ey in, too; not a vast sum, to be huge painting and two chairs had each, that represented the exact sum been left. Bert had left the room, that Tom had paid the rascally land-"And you are sure there were five under some pretense of questioning lord for the house his widow was thousand dollars paid to Mr. Paxon? his sister, and Mr. Paxon was peep- leaving. ing in a Paul Pry way that Jessie had told her brother was habitual "Lost! Gone entirely. Bert, I with him, when he made a discovery. can see the picture through the winnever dared say it, for I cannot prove There was an ugly space in a recess dow. Good bye!" it, but I firmly believe Mr. Paxon where Tom Thorpe's stationery desk had stood for ten long years against Paxon entered the empty house. The the wall. Scraps of paper and string workmen had gone with the wagon, "Well, he is a man who is not torn envelopes, all the debris of pack- but when he pulled the corner of the at day—no, I am not going to cry "To lessie, my wife. To be enemed er read: "This makes our account square." "This makes our account square." sent word to Mr. Paxon that he rammed it hastily into his "The Ledger" would pay him five hundred doilars. pocket, and when Bert returned took He had sold a lot of wool, and I had his departure. Something important two hundred dollars saved. I know must be in that paper, that had ilk and gave the alarm. There was "DEAR JESSE-It has been long did she appear to "know the way out nothing to prevent his slipping the known to you, dear, that my life was when once she got in." Jane found receipt-book into his posser, and I believe he did it. It cannot be found, surprised than I have made a fittle and Mr. Paxon would not dare to Poor First left and ten thousand dols so free with other people's names. assert that he has never been poid anything but rent for the house, if he did not know I cannot produce the receipts?

Page 1 Did rest States bonds, and, anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture he has never been poid have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture he has never been poid have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture he has never been poid have hidden it away in the lower been poid have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her has never been poid have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her has never been poid have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her has never been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her has never been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her has never been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her hand had a lower been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right hand corner of the picture her had a lower been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it away in the lower right had been poid anything but rent for the house, if have hidden it "H'm! Yes, I see! But one can until you take the envelope from the scribing a remedy. "Jane," said he,

"Was there never any witness to sweat brok out all over the rascal's advice. "Agnes," said Jane, "you ever we could spare. But I have newly discovered treasure. Nobody good." Agnes excused herself on

But when he returned to the house he found everything in hurried con-Bert did think of it! He was a fusion, and Bert issuing hurried or-

FIRE INSURANCE. solf a home in a Western State, over which he had asked his widowed sister to preside. He had come to her ed to leave on the 7.30 train from Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property or short motice and at reasonable rates.

Special indicements and rates given on ing that his brother-in-law had lived in the children and Jessie are ing that his brother-in-law had lived in the children and Jessie are friend one day, while admiring his

> "And that picture has to be pack- being able to take all things so easy: and Jessie's contributions to maga. ed, too," cried Bert, bustling into zine literature, had nearly secured a the house. "Here, some of you felhome of their own, when a sudden lows bring a step ladder !" "No, no !" cried Mr. Paxton. "I- right use of my eyes." rupture of a blood-vesset had ended

I came over to see if I couldn't buy that picture." "Buy it !" Bert cried. "You might could help her. They were still talking, in the room that Tom had decried Mr. Paxon, watching with hormal space I shall occupy when I voted to his wife's literary fabors ror Bert's preparations to tear the come to be interred in it. I then look and his own business affairs, and painting from the wall. "I will give abroad in the world and observe will never part with it."

"Five hundred dollars," "Bah !"

"A thousand !" "A thousand dollars for such a -Bombay Guardian,

"Five times that sum! Five thou. sand dollars !" cried Mr. Paxon. "Certainly!" said Bert, coolly. "But we do not wish to sell it at all.

that side of the room. How we are nails very carefully there." "I'll give you five thousand for it?" cried Mr. Paxon, desperately, rapid-"No! I scarcely knew Fred, who ly calculating the ten years' inferest

"But we leave here in half an hour! You don't carry five thousand said Bert, musingly, "Well, dear, dollars round in your pocket, do ready to go to Scrantonville with I'll give you a check !" "Won't do! I cannot stop to cash

"I'll run over to the bank with it

"Well, you haven't much time. and make preparations for the long Jessie while you are gone. I'm not journey and new home. But Jessie so sure she'll take it." Off darted Mr. Paxon, and Bert and sent it off just as the carriage But the day before that appointed drove up. Jessie and the boys were Very carefully Bert counted it. The "Correct!" he said, presently. "There is no need of a receipt. You The carriage whirled off, and Mr.

re scattered about, but wedged canvas, he found it already loosened half fainting the disappointed schem-

Care for Gossips. A good woman, Jane Parsons, was he had it when Mr. Paxon came. evidently slipped out of the desk anxious to be at peace with all, and Then there was that dreadful hem- when it was moved and escaped ob- particularly wished to be on good orthage, and how could we think of servation. But the disclosure was terms with those who lived near, anything but Tom for the next three a startling one. Without any scru- But Agnes Saundry was such a great days? But, Bert, Mr. Paxon was pie of honor or honesty, Mr. Paxon news-bag, that her calls on Jane were "neither few nor far between." Nor gaye me. The interest will run on her leader, who was not long in prenot accuse a man of such a crime as hiding place, as no one will ever move the picture. Forgive me for that without some proof."

until you take the envelope from the wikeep your family Bible on the tamove the picture. Forgive me for ble, and when she has been in the keeping this one secret from you.

Tom."

ble, and when she has been in the house long enough, ask her to read a No one el-e! Why, they might chapter or a psalm, and pray with tear it down at any moment. A cold you," Jane followed this excellent body. All his hoarded wealth, the are a good scholar. I wish you would result of scheming, cheating, saving, read a chapter or psalm, and pray was as nothing compared with this with me; it might do both of us the ground that she was very busy. She would gladly do so another time when she could stay. We need scarcely say that Jane had no further cause to complain of Agnes gossip-ping in her house.

Small Reason to Complain.

youmy secret very easily. It consists in nothing more than making a His friend begged him to explain

"Yes," he replied, "I can teach his meaning. "Most willingly, "replied the bishpressing upon her, but arriving boys! Why, her dear brother-in-law first look up to Heaven and remember that my principal business is to "But it looks so well where it is, get there. I then look down upon what multitudes are there who are "How much? But I am sure Jessie in all respects more unhappy than myself. Thus I learn where true happiness is placed, where all our cares must end, and how very little reason I have to repine or complaints"

The Republican.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

A DEEP-LAID PLOT.

How Mrs. Carlyon Adopted Her Relatives Unwittingly.

It was a bleak, blustering March day, blazing fire of cannel coal, a pretty lit- shut the door; she musn't hear." tle elderly lady in a white lace cap, a glistening black silk gown, and a pair of gold eye-glasses in her hand. Through the partially open door one could catch a glimpse of waving palms and pink-bloomed azaleas in the tiny observatory, and the whole house bore the stamp of quiet and luxury.

"So my half-brother, Linton, is dead?" said Mrs. Carlyon, glancing down at a black-edged envelope which lay on her lap.

"Yes, ma'am," said old Rebecca, the maid, who was arranging the breaded said Mrs. Carlyon, in a mysterious whiscutlets and omelette on the breakfast per, "and I never rested until I coaxed tray. "And I declare, ma'am, I had a the secret out of her." (Rebecca started good cry when I heard it. Such a pretty, bold-faced boy as he used to be! Do you remember, ma'am, when he painted the poodle's tail orange color with your best oil paints? And I never could keep a cooky in the cake-jar or a jelly cup on the pantry shelf when he was around, bless his heart! Dead-and left three children! It don't seem possible.'

Mrs. Carlyon compressed her lips. "And they want me to take them," said she.

Old Rebecca came a little closer. "And you will, ma'am, won't you?" "Certainly I shall not!" (Rebecca had his half of the property, and he squandered it. He married a woman that I detest. He had his own way through life. Now I mean to have mine. The eldest girl must be eighteen at least-quite old enough to earn her own living. The two little ones must go into an institution. I wash my hands

And this was Mrs. Carlyon's decision, from which no amount of reasoning could move her.

"It's a shame!" cried old Rebecca, dissolving into tears, as she remembered the handsome boy who had been at once her torment and her delight in the days of "Auld Lang Syne." "It is most heartless!" said the rector

"It's heathenish!" declared Mr.

Trumpet, the lawyer. But Mrs. Carlyon heeded never a one

"It's my missus, all over," said Re-"Mr. Lewis Linton offended her mortally when he married the Canada young lady, instead of taking to her friend, Miss Sarah Sequin, the heiress. And my missus, she's one that never forgets, nor she never forgives!"

this dreary place?"

Little Nydia Linton clung, with a torrent of tears, to her sister's shabby black gown, while Clare, her twin, lay in a disconsolate heap on the floor. Candace Linton would have liked to fall down and cry, too, but she knew that she must control herself. She was eighteen and the twins were only eight. "Be brave, Nydia," said she. "Don't lie there, Clare. They'll be very kind to you here, and you must learn all you can, so as to be ready, one day, to come and live with me, when I've made my

"But can't we go with you, sister?" pleaded little Clare, laying her cheek against the hem of the rusty black gown. "We'll be very good and quiet." "And we can do lots of things," chirped Nydia. "Papa never weuld have gone away and left us in a place like this. You don't love us as papa

Candace to tear herself ruthlessly from the embraces and entreaties of the little ones, but with the aid of Sister Agnes, May at all, but your own blessed niece the kind matron, she contrived to do so, Mr. Lewis' daughter, and the blessed try and solve that stern problem of life Do as you please with me, but don't earning a living.

Was it luck, or chance, or the guiding finger of Providence, that led her to the very employment agency whose back windows commanded a view of the crys- the white kitten to the rescue tal dome of Mrs. Carlyon's conservatory?-that brought old Rebecca thither before her name had been entered half an hour on the big dog's-eared ledger on Mrs. Carlyon!"

"Well, it ain't exactly a maid that I notes, and sort o' help the time go by. The wages ain't much, but it'll be a firstclass home for any one as is lucky enough to suit."

"There's a young person just come that wanted some such place," said Mrs. Salsify, referring to the dog's-eared volume

And Candace was brought in, her color changing and her heart beating. "Lord bless us!" croaked Rebecca, opening her bleared eyes. "Miss-Linton, did you say? It's a name my full of whims as an egg is of meat. But you'll suit her-yes, I think you'll suit her. She likes young people and pretty people, and her heart ain't bad mance in her girlish heart, entered willingly into the conspiracy. In one thing Rebecca was right. Mrs.

And Candaca, who had a vein of vo- bis account."

Carlyon was pleased with her new companion. Miss May "suited her" in all

"And the marvel of it," said she, laughingly, "is that old Rebecca isn't jealous. I never had a companion in the house before but that she was half nad with jealousy. How have you won er heart, my dear?" And Candace drooped her head, and said sne did not know. "Rebecca, look here," said Mrs. Carlthe dry snow blowing hither and yon, yon, one day to her old servant, "I the trees bending before the howling want to talk to you. Where is Miss blast, and Mrs. Carlyon sat before her May? Watering the azaleas? Well,

"Ma'am," gasped Rebecca, "you're never going to send her away?" "No, you old goose! Send her away, indeed! What ever should I do without her? No, it's quite another thing I'm thinking of. This old house is dull, isn't it, Rebecca?"

"Well, ma'am, it isn't exactly gay." "And it's twice too big for us, you

"It is a pretty roomy place, ma'am." "Miss May was crying this morning when I came into the room, suddenly," two little twin sisters in an orphanage in Montreal!" (Rebecca recovered her-self again.) "Now, Rebecca, wouldn't it be a delightful surprise for you to go to Montreal and get those dear little girls and bring them here?"

"Lawk, ma'am!" gasped Rebecca. "The rector is always preaching to me that I ought to adopt a homeless child," added Mrs. Carlyon, "and here's two of 'em. Miss May showed me their photographs-real golden-haired little beauties. I know I'm a queer, cranky old woman, but I always was fond of chilstepped quickly back.) "Lewis Linton dren. Here's the name of the street, Rebecca, and the number. I'll let Miss May suppose you've gone to visit your widowed sister, and you shall bring 'em here. What a surprise it will be! How I shall enjoy it!"

"The Lord be good to me!" thought Rebecca, "but I'm gettin' into a reg'lar Guy Fawkes tangle of plots and mysteries. However, I don't see no way but to go ahead and do what my missus says. Here goes!"

And one long June day, when Miss May came home from doing errands for Mrs. Carlyon, with a bunch of longstemmed roses in her hand, she found Clare and Nydia in the boudoir, playing with an old-fashioned wax doll and a box of Chinese puzzles, which Mrs. Carlyon had rummaged out of the store-closet for their benefit. "We're adopted, sister!" they cried, gleefully. "The pretty old lady in the thite lace can has adopted us. And, oh, isn't it a pretty place? and have you seen the tall palm tree and lemon tree with real lemons on it? It's like coming to Heaven, only we haven't had to

"What funny things children do say, to be sure!" said Mrs. Carlyon, furtively wiping her spectacle-glasses; but she how do you like my surprise? don't begin to cry, I hate tears"-with the crystal drops coursing rapidly down her own withered cheeks. "And you needn't thank me; I won't be thanked." The children skipped off to play with the white cat, whose silver-belled her face in Mrs. Carlyon's lap. "I love you!" she sobbed. "Oh, how

"Look here!" said old Rebecca straightening herself up. "I can't stand no more o' this. I must confess,

"What?" ejaculated Mrs. Carlyon.

Carlyon. "And I've cheated you all along!" sisted Rebecca, raising her voice to It was little less than heartbreak for perfect howl. "Yes, discharge me! I don't deserve no character! Turn me out of doors! For Miss May ain't Miss and she took the train to New York, to children are your own flesh and blood. turn them out! For it's my doings, every bit of it." And Rebecca ended with a piteous wail, that brought Clare and Nydia and "What is the matter with the kind old woman with the crocked nose?" said Nydia. "Please don't scold her,

"Say 'Aunt' Carlyon, my dear," said the old lady. "No, I won't scold her. want," said Rebecca. "There's maids I-1 begin to see through the mystery enough. But it's a sort of a companion.

My missus, she says she can't stand my child," to Candace. "And I am still stumbling way of readin' the paper to more surprised myself. But I'm not the horse. The dog has been credited her no longer, and she says the lace I angry-don't think it. I do believe you with unbounded affections, and the mend ain't fit for no one to wear; and she all love me," as Candace covered her borse with almost human sagacity; but says I must bring some one back that white, withered hand with kisses, and the cat still suffers under the bad char- in this way. The great thing is to sun can read, and play music, and write the children clung about her neck, "and acter that Buffon-who can not have and thoroughly brush the garments, so so we'll all thank the Lord for His mer- been acquainted with any reputable cies! Rebecca, don't stand staring there, specimens of the race—gave her. She but go and open a jar of green gage is plums for lunch, and tell the cook to crafty, treacherous, loving places and send us up chicken croquets and green not persons, and in every way unworthy peas and plenty of sponge cakes. Chil- of fellowship in the household. J. G.

dren like sweet things!" So she accepted the situation with admirable philosophy, and old Rebecca trotted away, muttering to herself:

"I'd otter be down in the lowest deep of penitence, after all the fibs I've told and the wicked deceits I've practiced; missus ain't partial to. Ain't you no but, somehow, I can't help bein' the May? Well, then, we'll happiest old woman in the world!"call you Miss May. My missus she's as Helen Forrest Graves, in Philadelphia Saturday night.

A Lawyer's Queer Will.

The will of a prominent attorney in when once you get at it. Look here! Cincinnati is a peculiar document, and you're Lewis Linton's daughter, ain't two of the provisions have attracted you, from Bidwick, in Canada? My considerable comment. "I desire that pretty dear, I've held your father on no bar meeting be held for me, for such my knees many a time when he wasn't occasions are utilized by lawyers to exknee-high to a grasshopper. But Mrs. plode their eloquence without cause. I Carlyon musn't know-no! no! We'll desire that no crape be worn by my famwin her over in spite of herself-see if | ily for me, but if any member chooses to do so the same shall be charged to and finally destroys prematurely. A manliness; all things must work to-person who is absolutely well has no evidence of the existence within his Students of Browning affirm that alwhich finally result in disease. When sume to be some expression bearing on the first symptoms of trouble are manifested, we pass them without serious Is it because persons are so rarely consideration, and rarely bring ourselves found who hold this view of life, or be-minds had we not broken down physically. with wondering interest. They marve and you make another struggle, and as to the reason for the immunity for the immunity for the immunity for the existence beyond the biblical period and it was ruin after all! Well, what of three score years and ten. They would like to question him as to his struggle; indeed, you are better pleased habits of life and glass if results with yourself because you row feel habits of life, and glean, if possible would have remained foreign to our

THE WEAR OF WORRY.

orget the fact that the are sufferers. uestions concerning nen and women asked, "What would I best do next?" over eighty years of age to be filled out nswers to these circulars, Dr. Humphrey was able to draw only two legiti- little they let shine on themselves! nate inferences. The first inference is that civilization is prolonging the average of human life; the second is that old | their presence make all such things posage is being so ameliorated by modern sible. They watch for the earliest of its pain and terror. thing reliable as to the influence of down thespirit of young people right living in promoting longevity. Centenarians were discovered who had store for them. They make sick people always lived intemperately and irregularly, and one man of one hundred and never get well. They fling their perree declared that he had all his life Neither was it made patent that ob- and the sunshine. They look shocked servance of the old saw, "Early to bed, and grieved over a burst of innocent ficial influence upon the aged people most harmless of speeches. They make who were systematically catechised. It religion seem a terrible thing was discovered that small eaters and young who are requested to look to them hearty eaters allike defied death, and as shining examples of its influence.

They rob life of more than half its been uniformly benefity the start what do they give in return?

What shall be done with these people collar was a perpetual challenge to For it is undoubtedly a fact that their becoming a majority. Candace fell on her knees and buried looking closely to his physical condition make them what they are; but their or dissipation. A habit of "throwing worry to the longevity than most people imagine, which make life sweeter and better "I'm a hypocrite and a deceiver," said trace their recovery to the time when neapolis Housekeeper. they simply forgot all about their troubles. Therefore, while we should "Is the woman crazy?" said Mrs. endeavor to avoid wearing indulgence, we should at the same time cultivate pla-cidity.-Milwaukee Wisconsin. CHARACTER OF CATS. The View Puss Takes of the Philosophy of Nature and Life.

The bent of the cat's mind was pleasantly defined a few years ago by a warm winter. If one has no cedar writer in the London Spectator, who chests to store woolens in, a very good said there could be no doubt as to the substitute is a trunk or flour barrel. view Puss took of the philosophy of The barrel should be well washed in nature and life. She is quite satisfied cold water, dried and lined with newsthat the world and every thing in it were made and exists for cats. This thick flour paste, with a large spoonful appears in all that well-bred and cared- of alum added to a quart of paste. Cover cats do, and in every accent and tone of their voice. Puss possesses herself with the air of a proprietor of the best side of the barrel. Cleat the cover toplace and the best food; expects to be gether and paste paper on the inside. waited upon; demands a share of every The woolens should be thoroughly lish; and looks upon us as at once her brushed and sunned, carefully folded Providence and her servant.

Cats are not demonstrative like dege and do not submit to training like the said to be selfish, spiteful, cruel, Wood answers these accusations by saying that the cats with which he has been most familiar "have been as docile, tractable and good tempered as any dog could be, and displayed an amount of intellectual power which would be be none." To all persons who have and never a sign of moth. The fur-given their confidence to Puss and received hers in return, they need no answer .- W. H. Larrabee, in Popular Science Monthly. The Amende Honorable. Reporter (mistaking the English in-Jap)-You speak remarkable good Enzlish for a Japanese.

Englishman (indignantly)-Sir! I am ao Jap. I am an Englishman born and Reporter (abashed) - Um -erres, I know; I meant to say you speak emarkably good English for an En-tlishman.—N. Y. Weekly.

BRIGHT VIEWS OF LIFE.

Why We Should Avoid Wearing Indul. They Beautify Our Surroundings and The main problem of this world is that It is said of Browning that the reason of right living. We all have a desire to why he had so many admirers and ve as long as possible, but we are not friends was because he never had the rompted by that desire to so train our blues. "The world is not for despair," nabits that the physical mechanism he said. "Joy is to be tasted; hope is to will run without the friction that wears be indulged; sorrow is to be met with body of the vital machinery upon whose smoothness of operation so much defound in all his poems, there are many pends; therefore, when good health pre- persons who connect them so closely vails, we are apt to slight the duty of with their idea of the poet that every watchfulness and care as to our manner of living and thus establish conditions which they do not comprehend they as-to realize the necessity of making a cause Browning allowed it to form so vigorous stand against the attack of disease until an ailment has secured a should be so associated with him? In good grip upon us. Then, when we either case the lesson it teaches is the dition, we experience thought in regard of this wholesome view of life is as sad. to the blessing of good health which

Ruin may stare you in the face. "Not ruin at all," asserts the man with the wholesome view of life, "but the darkest hour before morning!" and People who are struggling against a though you are confident that he is misdeclining tendency of life's powers look taken and that further effort on your upon the hale and hearty octogenarian part is useless, hope will assert itself, with yourself because you now feel ome clue to right living which migt sure that you did what you could, and iteration of symptoms and experence turn to him if you are wise, and hope by invalids, who never et their fiends responds to his predictions, and you try again. But perhaps you are not wise; Dr. George Murray Humpirey en- then you go to the one with the gloomy deavored to induce information that wiew of life, who told you all along just might be valuable as guide to people how it would be! You think, because who desire to live through life's allotted his predictions were fulfilled, that he span, and he has given the reading will be a safe adviser, and you have yet world the result of hisinvestigation in to learn that these people with the a book entitled "Old Age." He sent gloomy view of life can make direful carefully arranged circulars, containing predictions, but are at a loss when

O, these people with the gloomy view by physicians. From the nine hundred of life! How much of sunshine they do keep out of the lives of others! How They predict failures and scandals and domestic troubles, and by the gloom of cience that its progress has lost much symptoms, and make them public with of its pain and terror.

The inquiry noted failed to educe any the gossips of the world. They weigh talk of the miserable future which is in ot drunk, and always would do so. black sloud between the happy spirit and early to rise," etc., had any bene- laugater, and put evil meanings to the lids during the major portion of their with the gloomy view of life? Who can existence. This latter discovery would suggest a method of attack which shall seem to afford stimulus for the be successful in infusing a little sunhope of those who are endeavoring shine into their natures? Something to take good care of themselves. must be done, for there is danger of the man who feels the necessity of They say life's duties and experience has a better prospect of reaching old statement is contradicted by the presage than he who considers himself ence of those whose experiences have strong enough to withstand any excess been more severe, whose duties are more pressing and quite as distasteful, and who have in abundance the nationce and courage and hopefulness and faith which dogs" has probably more to do with form the wholesome view of life, and and there are not a few people who can | brighter to all who know them .- Min-

WINTER CLOTHING.

The Proper Way of Putting Away Woole Goods and Furs. Heavy woolen clothing and furs must be put away early, before the moths are astir. They seem to work in furnace heated houses the year round. I found a "buffalo bug" and a shining, silvery moth in January, but this has been a papers. These are pasted in, using every place on the inside of the barrel, letting the paper come up to the outand laid in. When the barrel is full, the cover should be pressed down, a stout manilla paper put over the top, coming down well round the barrel, tied down with twine and pasted so as to fit Woolcns may be kept securely and thoroughly brush the garments, so that if moths are already there, to get his wife or children. them out, and then pack securely. An

Hang out furs when the sun shines hot: let them hang several hours, combing them with a coarse dressing comb. Put into its box the muff and a strip of paper pasted around where the cover joins the box. The fur cape the same. I never add camphor or anything, and equaled by very few dogs, and surpassed | have kept these furs twenty-three years, lined circular may be put into a bag made of calico, made the length of the garment, the latter laid on the bed and folded together, a patent garment-holder put in at the neck, the bag slipped on from the bottom part, drawn closely at terpreter of the Japanese embassy for a | the top and tied, then sewed around the wire loop of the "holder." The seal plush sack, the cloth jacket and winter overcoat are prepared in the same way. Have a row of hooks put up in the closet very near the ceiling, so that the garments hang full length, and come out in the fall with never a wrinkle. garments This leaves room below them for another row of hooks for shorter garments .- Good Housekeeping.

old trunk past its usefalness, or a box properly prepared, will answer the same

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-A medicament more powerful than quintne in counteracting fevers is said is a plant called the pompolano, the root | you needed practice."-Puck. of which contains a substance analogous to quinine.
—Over $$0,000,000 new capital has been invested in the electrical industry in this country during the past year, Budget. and in England, during one week, twenty-one electrical companies were organized. This shows how rapidly the friends?" Conductor-"Guess not, Miss, industry is growing.-Electrical Review.

—Different classes of substances have been found to affect the organs of taste in the following order: Bitters, acids, saline substances, sweets and alkalies. The taste-nerves are nearly 2,000 times as sensitive to quinine as to sugar. -The production of olives for home varieties of the olive is being conducted come to a full understanding of our con- same; the commentary on the rareness at the four California stations. Several varieties that have already been tried promise to be much superior to those now grown. -A noted French inventor has patented a process for manufacturing know."-Terre Haute Express. alloys of steel and copper. The product is said to possess superior qualities of elasticity, strength and malleability to a remarkable extent. The steels alloyed | Wife-"Yes, you look as if you'd had a

-Experiments as to within what never takes me more than a minute to limits the ear can distinguish the def- make up my mind?" "I'm not surprised, that the smallest difference perceptible by untrained or slightly trained ears one-sixth to oneference in the pitch of two sounds show my dear. It shouldn't take any one lead them to the level of health. This desire for advice is responsible for the wholesome view of life. That is, you seems to be from one-sixth to onefortieth of a semitone. A peculiarity gain," said the horse jockey. "No," that appears to apply alike to trained | said the other party, leering quizzically and untrained ears is that they detect at the sorry looking animal which the upward differences more easily than mammoth in Siberia is almost incredible. Middendorff reckoned that at least ever any ship which carried more peo-100 pairs of tusks had been put upon the | ple than the City of Paris?" Brightmarket yearly during the last two centuries, and from personal observation Nordenskjold is inclined to regard this tors of American society."-Elmira Gaestimate as too small. It thus appears that in the recent modern trade useful tusks of more than 20,000 of these ani- ly, "I flatter myself I'm a pretty conscimals of past ages have been collected.

-A number of merchants, especially in favor of a broad and comprehensive | you snore."-Light. system of industrial schools, first in New try will before long pass absolutely into lays were dangerous."-Philadelphia Inthe hands of an undesirable class of foreign-born and foreign-bred workmen. -The London Lancet has added anthat paper the frequency with which the traced to its source in a barber's shop has become almost characteristic of the the public at so much per pound. disease. In other words, there is not not doing any kicking."-Detroit Free death, perhaps, but certainly the risk of tubercular eruption in the shaving pot, and it seems that any modern Figaro who for the shaving of his customers uses unclean brushes or a common soap supply not improbably assists in the transference of the infectious church in my life, and I'm afraid I'd be -The substitution of steam for com pressed air in a gun intended to throw shells containing dynamite or other high explosives is proposed in France, goes 'round."-N. Y. Weekly. the advantages claimed being the furnishing of power direct from the boiler. without the use of air-compressing machinery. The pressures usually carried in steam boilers would not be sufficient for this purpose, but boilers are promised of a special type, which will supply steam at a pressure of from six and easily handled. RUSSIAN HEBREWS.

Some of the Trials Jews Suffer in the Czar's Dominions. A curious and important appeal case has just been decided by the court of Cassation of the Senate, which affords a striking example of the complicated disabilities of the Jews in Russia. A law student of Jewish race executed a deed of transfer by which he made over his property in Kieff, consisting of house and land, to his wife in her own right, but the notary public refused to legalize it on the ground that the wife, who was also of the Jewish faith, had

The matter went to court and it was decided that, although a Jew possessing a diploma of either of the three learnest degrees had the right to reside in all parts of the empire, and in virtue of such right might acquire property in the district of his residence, yet this right to acquire property was the result of an exception to the law granted in favor of the Jewish doctor or master of law or arts, as the case might be, indi-

This decision was upheld and confirmed on appeal to the Senate in St. Petersburg. Possibly we shall soon hear of the wives and families of Rus-sian Jews not having the right to reside with their husbands and fathers in districts where the standard of their education gives them the privilege to live.

Coughing from Ear Irritation. Some cases of obstinate cough reported of different parts of the body, and demdosing symptoms. In the case of one patient, forty-five years old, examination of throat and lungs failed to reveal any cause of the cough (which was accompanied with little expectoration). when by accident it was discovered that the ears were much inflamed and very sensitive, and that slight irritation of them was followed by paroxysms of coughing. The ears were treated and the cough ceased. Two subsequent cases of troublesome cough-in one of which repeated consultation for sup-posed lung trouble had been held—receive figures of angels on a

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Miss Hysee-"I was encored three times, wasn't 1?" Mme. Logee-"Yes; to have been discovered in Mexico. It the company seemed to recognize that -He - "What did your father say when you told him we were engaged?

She-"O, Augustus, you must not ask me to repeat such language."-Boston -Young lady - "Mister Conductor, will I have time to say good-bye to my this train leaves in two hours and a half."-Texas Siftings. -"Do you want the earth?" inquired the haughty hotel clerk of a meekly complaining guest. "No," was the re ply; "you can keep it a while longer till I ask you for it."—Washington Post.

-She-"You are such a solitary man, Mr. Silby, I should think you would get lonesome." He-"O, no, I enjoy being by myself." She (thoughtfully) - "I don't see how you can."-Burlington

Free Press.
—Chief—"Have you got any clews?" Subordinate-"No; but I've caught the criminal." Chief-"Well, you must go out and get a few clews. It will never do to break established rules, you

-Husband (at half-past one a. m.)-Don't say a word! I know it's awful late, but I've had a hard tug of it." are especially useful in the manufacture of ordnance, armor-plates, gunbarrels and projectiles.

WHE— Tes, you look as it you hard tug. How many schooners did you tow in to-night?"—Boston Herald.

—Candor.—"Well can't you decide? It jockey would fain exchange for shekels; wnward.

-The abundance of remains of the hard bargain."-Boston Transcript.

-Brightwit's boy-"Father, was there wit's boy's father-"Yes, my son, the Mayflower. She carried all the anceszette.

_"Yes," remarked Mr. Tangle, proudentious man. Whatever I do, I do it with all my might." "Nobody would those interested in textile goods manu- have the slightest doubt of that, Henry, facture, propose to begin an agitation | replied Mrs. Tangle, "if he ever heard

-Mr. Penn-"It amuses me to see you York City and then elsewhere. The dressing to go around the corner. One movement has its origin in a conviction would think you were going to a wed-that, unless American youth are drilled ding." Mrs. Penn—"I didn't spend thoroughly in the rudiments and the much time dressing when I went to your higher development of textile manu- wedding." Mr Penn-"No, you weren't facture, this entire department of indus- taking any chances. You knew that de-damage you a great deal," he said to other terror to existence. According to the grocer, as he dodged into the door to let a great cloud roll by. "O, no, sir. contagion of parasitic sycosis has been | Anything added to maple sugar, prunes, evaporated apples, etc., is paid for by

Press.

-Rural minister - "The brothers whose duty it is to pass the plate are not here to-day. Would you object to taking up the collection?" Modest worshiper-"I never passed the plate in rather awkward." "O, never mind about that. It won't be noticed. Most of my congregation become absorbed in their hymn-books about the time the plate

COURAGE OF A GROUSE.

He Watches the Operations of Two Hunters With Great Interest. On one occasion, in company with my brother, I had gone to the woods and was there to wait for a farmer, at whose house we had stopped over night, and hundred to eight hundred pounds, and who was to come on later with fox-which will at the same time, be safe hounds, for we were to try for reynard that day. We had got out of the road which ran through the forest, and over a rail fence, and were standing under a large hemlock when we heard a ruffed rouse in the distance. He came directly toward us, and alighted on the ground about forty feet away. There was a small gully or water course between us and the bird. Before he struck the ground he had taken about two-thirds of a circle to break his lightning-like flight. As soon as he lit he straightened. up and took a survey. He soon saw us, but instead of again flying he swelled up in a most pompous manner. Never had I seen a grouse appear larger or who was also of the Jewish faith, had no right to acquire landed property in Kieff, whatever might be the rights of her husband.

And I seem a grouse appear larger or more magnificent. My brother looked at me and I suggested that he snap a cap at him. Neither of our muzzle-loaders was charged. At the sound of the first cap the grouse slightly shook himself, but seemed to swell his breast out more. My brother continued taking caps from his pocket and snapping them t the grouse, bringing his gun up time and taking deliberate aim until nine were exploded. The grouse seemed to like the sound and to be fascinated by it, and the seene generally. The man coming down the road with the dogs alarmed him, and turning he ran several feet and took wing, and we several feet and took wing, and we heard him going through the thick ever-greens away in the distance.—Forest and Stream.

Emperor Frederick's Mausoleum The mausoleum of the Emperor Fredrick is completed externally with the exception of the copper-roof of the cupola, In the interior the stone-masons and sculplors are still at work. The decorations of the interior are very rich and carried out entirely in light gray Silesian sandstone. The sober color of this by Dr. A. C. Palmer show how remarka-bly close are the relations to each other green Syenite pillars. As a finish to the arch which spans the opening of the onstrate the folly of indiscriminately altar niche, a beautifully formed escutcheon has been chosen, over which the imperial eagle soars with outspread wings. This is flanked on both sides by figures of angels holding religious symbols in their hands. The span-irels of the upper gallery are adorned with cherubs. Within the last few days the Emperor's consent has been given to the carrying out of the mosaic in the supola and on the ceiling of the altar space. The designs for the mosaics were worked out by Prof. Ewald after The eupola is to proved to be due to ear disease.—Medial Record. ground between palms.—London Telecal Record.

Poisoned by alcohol, blear-eyed and illy clad, Cursing his fate as he shuffles along, Crushed and bereft of the once earnest will he

Penniless, homeless and jeered by the throng: Friend's have assisted him, pastors have prayed with him— He has been rescued and lost o'er and o'er; But do not give him up-pull from his lips the

Speak to him kindly and try him once more. Though 'tis disheartening never to thrive with him, Sad his relapses from virtue to shame: Give him not hopelessly up-if you strive with him Some spark of good may be fanned to a flame, ome potent memory—haply a mother's voice, Teaching him virtue and wisdom of yore, May be recalled to his ear by another's voice Speak to him kindly and try him once more. Christ in His charity taught those who came to Him, Ill deeds should be pardoned seventy times Succor the least here and you do the same to

These are His precepts in earth and in Heaven. Oh! then, when laboring hard for humanity, Never believe that you laber in vain; Kindness will conquer the drunkard's insanity, Speak to him gently and try him again. —Francis S. Smith, in N. Y. Weekly.

ALCOHOLIC DISEASES.

Physical and Mental Injuries Produced by the Use of Strong Drink.

It will be clear to every reasoning and unprejudiced mind that a chemical substance, which possesses the power of producing in the living so many varied and important changes as those which alcohol produces, can not fail to induce in the organs of the body physical modifications which are either good or bad. That alcohol is incapable of imparting any good is now pretty generally ac-knowledged. Its elementary construction precludes the possibility of considering it as a substance of food which can build up or sustain any vital structure or organ, such as muscle or brain; and when it is freed from saccharine foods there is no evidence whatever for assigning to it the doubtful virtue of giving fat to the body. In small quantities it quickens, in large quantities it deadens nervous action. This is its summum bonum, and its summum malum. The good is infinitesimal-the evil infinite. The physical injuries from alcohol are incomparably large because of their extent. They graduate from the simple exaltation of action, peculiar to the excitement of the first degree of its action, to the complete paralysis pertaining to the last degree. Wherever tional disturbances, followed by organic neration, be set up. We know now of a definite and connected family of with them. alcoholic degenerative diseases. We are acquainted with alcoholic phthisis, or the consumption of drunkards; with hepatic cirrhosis, or induration of the drunkard's liver; with the dropsy, arising from the hepatic cirrhosis; with alcoholic dyspepsia; with alcoholic ep-ilepsy; with alcoholic hypertrophy, or enlargement of the heart; with alco-holic asthenia, or feebleness of the heart; with degeneration of the kidney, and the accompanying train of kidney diseases, classed vaguely under the term Bright's disease. But the most wide-spread devastations from alcohol are those seated in the nervous system and displayed in mental aberration. The commoner known of these are the acute affections, delirium tremens, mania from drink, inebriety, or repeated intoxication; to which must be added the less understood yet serious conditions, alcoholic epilepsy and alcoholic paralysis. This last-named disease, only recently clearly defined, is one of the most widespread of the chronic diseases resulting from alcohol, one of the most obscure and one of the most fatal.

ing so many and serious diseases, must, of necessity, be the cause of a tremendous mortality, with the usual precedence of many days of utter disablement and disease. The fact is so. It is difficult to calculate the precise mor- itably to his world-wide renown by also the beautiful and isolated group of tality from alcohol, because we have resigning from the liquor business as never yet fully diagnosed all the evils leading to disease and death which spring from it. For example, up to this dollars to ascertain the amount of farm They Watch Over Their Young Like i time we have not added the mortality mortgages in this country. It will be due to alcoholic paralysis in the large computations from which our results It would add greatly to its value to have been drawn. Some years ago, know what proportion of these mort- hatching season approaches, it seeks the from the best data I could obtain, gages have been made necessary by the I estimated that in England and Wales the annual mortality from alcohol was many farmers who are addicted to the ingathering seaweeds, and deposit them handing it out. fifty thousand per annum, an estimate use of intoxicating beverages. - National in small holes on the shore. There the fairly confirmed by other observers, of Temperance Advocate. an important and independent character. Admitting its correctness, this estimate makes the mortality from alcohol to be about one-tenth of the whole mortality-a view which had been previously expressed by the late Dr. Edwin Lankaster, the coroner for Central Middlesex-and which places alcohol, as one of the causes of mortality, at the head of those causes. This estimate, however, must have been under the mark, since it excluded altogether that fatality which we now know to arise from alcoholic paralysis, and excluded, also, too rigidly, instances of direct poisoning from alcohol and all accidents of a fatal kind indirectly due to alcohol. 1 would not, however, run any risk of being charged with over-statement, and would be content still to place the mortality from alcohol at one-tenth of the whole mortality, in places where the article is consumed in the same propor tion as it is in England and Wales at the present time; a proportion fairly representative of alcoholic populations generally.

An agent like alcohol, extensively and recklessly used by mankind in all

Connected with the two subjects of the diseases from alcohol and the mortality from it, the question has often tality from it, the question has often trum. The pitiful slavery and cannibalton and lays her eggs there.

The eggs sink to the bottom of the relative trum. amount of sickness presented by ab- ism prevailing among these tribes water, and the male is then obliged to staining as compared with non-abstain- awake a sense of horror in all who read of ing communities and as to the relative them. But it is still more horrible that value of life in the two communities. from a Christian nation the vile poison It has been difficult to get at precise should be poured in upon them that conclusions on these subjects from the must lead to their debasement, robbery two circumstances, that in making com- and destruction. Is the history of the parisons the social relationships of the different classes are largely different, and the returns from the registers of Africa?—St. Paul Pioneer-Press

| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelope the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelope the eggs fixing up this spring so very badly.—
| Companion | Corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelope the eggs and the result is the form of two jets of the latter than the corruption of so many of the Indian tribes gaseous powder, which envelope the eggs and the result is the corruption of the latter than the corruption of the death from alcohol have been hitherto imperfect in themselves and imperfect in the interpretations that have been put upon them. But, judging from the eports of those life assurance compa nies in which there are two classes of insured-one an abstaining, the other a non-abstaining class-and, judging likewise from the returns of sickness and mortality of two clubs, one abstaining, the other non-abstaining, existing in the same locality, holding the same social status and made up of the same numbers, it is absolute certain that the rate of mortality and the number of days of sickness present data largely in favor of abstaining communities.

In summary, as to the effects of alcohol on the health and life of the human species, on which fortunately those efects have alone been tried on a large scale, it must be stated on physical grounds, apart altogether from moral considerations, that the effects of alcohol are injurious both to mind and body; that until it has produced an artificial constitution alcohol does nothing that any one can construe into useful action, and that the establishment of the alcoholic constitution is a false and unnatural policy of human life-a source of weariness, of disease, of premature old age and of excessive and unnecessary mortality. — Benjamin Ward Richard-son, M. D., in N. Y. Voice.

LIQUOR AND POVERTY. Drunkenness Makes More Paupers Than

Any Other Agency. There is no statement more frequent or more erroneous than that poverty is the cause of drunkenness in most cases. As a matter of fact, the case where poverty has caused drunkenness in thin country is the exception. Those who make the statement get the cart before the horse. It is Irunkenness that leads to poverty in the vast majority of cases, and hopeless, ruinous poverty at that, A man may be poor but not shiftless or lazy, but let him take to drinking and he will lose all self-respect, sense of manhood, or desire to work and become a lazy, shiftless vagabond and plunge himself and family into a hopeless condition of squalor and wretchedness. Those who are affluent or in moderate means reduce themselves to poverty by drink. Those who are poor only make themselves poorer and end in hopeless —A Georgia editor has an old Confedthemselves poorer and end in hopeless misery. Any person who has had the opportunity to observe the practice of drunkard-making will testify that he can hardly recall a case where poverty has made drunkards, but he will testify to numerous cases where drunkenness has made nauners. Where one takes to paupers and dragging their families down Alcohol is the poor man's worst enemy the world over. It is the chief cause of poverty in this country and the principal cause of the waste of earnings and the deterioration of health, morals and manhood. Any measure which would induce wageworkers not to waste their money on intoxicating liquors would be a blow at poverty by abolishing its principal poverty by abolishing its principal cause. The hope of removing poverty in the future lies in the prospect of re moving voluntary intemperance, for sobriety is the first step to economy and industry. There is no tax so destructive as that which liquor levies on the wage worker and the poor man. It gradually takes his money, his health, his happiness, his mind and his home. If the thousands of workers in this city would save the money they waste on liquor there would soon cease all complaints of poverty.-Chicago Tribune.

NOTES FROM EVERYWHERE.

THE keeper of the morgue in New York City states that four-fifths of the five thousand bodies that reach that place of the dead every year are sent there by drunkenness.

It is announced that Bismarck reparts of the world and capable of inductives from public life with a fortune marine tree, and that it had a mysterious which yields him an income of about $100,000 a year, and that among the sources of this annual revenue are seve that Gordon met with allusions to this eral distilleries and one large German brewery. He could add now most credwell as the Chancellorship of Germany.

Congress proposes to spend a million interesting and valuable information. self-imposed drink waste on the part of An Ex-Rum-Seller's Talk.

A man named Stacy, the owner of a splendid drinking saloon in New York, signed the pledge lately and closed his house. Hearing that a party of young men had formed themselves into a Temperance society, he went to them and gave them his experience as a rumseller. We repeat some of his recollections: "I sold liquor for eleven yearslong enough for me to see the begin ning and end of its effects. I have seen a man take his first glass of liquor in my place, and afterwards fill the grave of a suicide. I have seen man after man, wealthy and educated, come into my saloon, who now can not buy a dinner. I can recall twenty customers worth one hundred thousand dollars to five hundred thousand dollars, who are now without money or friends."-Banner and Herald.

The White Man's Shame Water. The natives of Africa call New England rum shame water. The Dark Continent has a keen discernment. For it is a burning shame to civilization

MISCELLANEOUS

-Twelve cartloads of crushed eggs, and wich papers and other rubbish were taken from the White House grounds on Easter morning.

a number of chickens recently, among them a rooster whose crow he knew chicken.

cient days.

ent days.

—A man in a village of Holland was held it in his hand, that Robert felt a seen one day painting a heavy blackline on the gable-end of his house, and -An old molasses candy woman used gone ten rods after freeing the bird to ask her juvenile customers whether they wanted "sticks or gobs." One day chuck full of trade dollars, which were elongated pieces or condensed masses?"

of her uncontrollable grief she ordered a handsome monument to mark the departed's resting place. Before the stone was completed the widow had taken a new hitch on life and married be keked by a nule. again. She refused to accept or pay for the monument, and there was lots of trouble in the household. -A vast sum was sunk in the temalone. In scaffolding, flooring, shedding, etc., 1,000,000 cubic feet of timber were used. From first to last 1,200 tons of mere service bolts were needed to hold the mass of material together. Scores of hydraulic jacks, sixty miles of wire rope and rams innumerable were also among the temporary appliances em-erate shoe, manufactured for the gov-ernment in 1864, just before the war organic matter of the body is enfolded in membrane, there will alcohol penetrate, and then will funchol penetrate, and then will functhemselves still poorer, dying at last as rough cowhide, dressed only on the in- no attention to the pleading voice our hill, White Star, etc. Next we picked ented, but has been used long enough side.

> of Mount Hood in the mountains, that tog-nail, was ever found. As the willful shone with such intense brightness to disappeared the fairy came breast to such an extent that they feared hand on Sarah's head, she said: to approach the sparkling luminary. There is not much credulity to be attached to Indian tradition, but if the she has been justly punished you shall stone from which this arrow head was be fitly rewarded. Here, take this." extracted could be located gems of great value might be found.

> been exported to Europe. The nut fade or shrink if run through hot water. weighs twenty pounds and measures twenty-five inches across. The palm on which it grows (lodoicea sechellarum) is 100 feet in height, and is only to be power of counteracting poisons. Hence the name-coco-de-mer. It is probable ward visiting Seychelles was struck by islands and their double cocoanut.

NEST-BUILDING FISHES.

Careful Hen. The Bitshki is a Russian fish which lives in the Black Sea. When the shore and builds there a nest for its young. Both father and mother unite mother lays her eggs, and watches over them like a careful hen until they are hatched. for its young, but defends it from attack | dear! Presto-fizzledum-change!" with great zeal and ferocity. One naturalist says that he took a male thicket and bore the liar away for catstickleback from the water, and placed meat, while the stranger took from his ought to have taken yourself. him with others in a collecting bottle. Then he went on observing the nest John with the remark: which the prisoner had been guarding. Suddenly a large crowd of hungry sticklebacks assembled about it and began an attack, evidently with the purpose of devouring the young within.

The conscience-stricken natūralist at run." once dropped his prisoner among them, and as soon as the wronged householder could collect his scattered wits, he rushed at the invaders, attacked them fiercely and soon was again in possession of his nest, which he at once set about mending with bits of weeds and twigs.

A Chinese fish constructs a nest, not of grass or seaweeds, but of frothy se cretions. The male prepares bubbles the air by sucking them in and strengthening them with mucuous matter from his mouth. Then he brings them into the water, and expels them to construct a nest. The female enters this cavity, raise them into the nest, He appears to be unable to carry them in his mouth, so he swallows a large supply of air, de-scends beneath the eggs, and violently expels the air accumulated. This air, finely divided by the fringes of the gills, escapes in the form of two jets of gaseous powder, which envelop the eggs MODERN FAIRY TALES.

Old-Fashioned Stories Revamped for the Benefit of Good Boys. ROBERT AND THE ROBIN. -One day as after the children's egg-rolling picnic Robert De Chow Chow, who was the son of a poor but honest peasant, was pass--A citizen of St. Johns, N. B., lost ing through a field he espied a robin fluttering on the ground. Now Robert them a rooster whose crow he knew with his eyes shut. He made a detour had long desired to possess himself of a of the city, heard the rooster, insisted robin, and, seeing his opportunity, he upon an examination and found every sprang forward with great eagerness and found the bird had its feet entan--A numismatist suggests that a cer- gled in a string. He seized it after a littain coin—say the fifty-cent pieces—tle trouble, and his joy was so great issued during any administration be that he uttered a shout. But after a stamped with the head of the President minute or two there came a change. The great pity and said: "Poor bird! I will not put you in a attaching to it a date, say November cage to pine and die. Here—take your 18, 1882. Asked what he was about, he freedom." said: "I am moving my high-water Wasn't that nice in that boy? And do mark up to where the boys can't scratch it out again. I am sick of their pranks." In those days? Robert had scarcely her niece took her place, and put the then slightly above par. The trunk and question in this way: "Will you have contents had been left there by Jay Gould, to reward just such a Robert, And the youngsters agreed that she was stuck up.—Youth's Companion.

—A Jackson County, Mich., woma lost her husband, and in the first blush of her upcontrollable grief she ordered encent cigars, and his mother could > eac, one had togo out at intervals and PLUCKING THE HODAG. - In a dell not far fron the house where Sarah dwelt with her parent, who were also poor, any more sacred han a pigweed I know business. Little Sarah and been told not to pluck the hoda; and she was a girl who hills, and picked out the largest from should be used to hold the gate in never disobeyed her mother, but one day her cousin came to see her and soon began to whisper evil counsel in her ears. This cousin was twelve years old, ended. The sole is fully three-quarters had forty-four freekles to the square of an inch thick, and is made of poplar inch, and her nose turned up at the end. wood, evidently shaped with a hatchet Her name was Viviere. She not only or drawing knife. The upper is attached to the sole with a strap of raw but the fairy as well, and full of this hide, running entirely around the shoe, determination she started for the dell. young heroine wept so profusely that out the smallest tubers from the same to be common property to any one who An old lady living at Lewisburg, the tears fell off the end of her nose. Ore., picked up an Indian arrow head The dell was reached, and with a loud recently, that is quite a relic. It is shout of defiance Viviere rushed for-black flint interspersed with quartz, ward and seized the fateful flower and pearl and emerald, and under the micro- broke it from its stem. Next moment scope exhibits a roseate hue of exquisite she disappeared with a loud "S-wish!" beauty. The Mollalla Indians forty and it may be good policy right here to years ago told the whites of a rock south state that nothing of her, except one

"Child, I heard you pleading that she would not pluck the hodag, and while And she placed a bag of rubies, pearls -The fruit of the coco-de-mer, which ders and headed her for home, and that's General Gordon believed to be the for- all I can remember just now, except to THE TRUTHFUL BOY .- James and John were playmates, and each twe ve years old. Their parents dwelt side by side, found on the Seychelle Islands. Hun- and so the two boys were much together. dreds of years before the Seychelles They "played horse" with the same hoewere discovered these nuts were washed handle, liked the same brand of pumpup on the Maldive Islands, and the wise- kin pie and were pretty nearly one in acres of those days told the people that all things. The one great exception this sea-borne fruit had grown on a sub- was the fact that James would lie like a candidate for alderman, while John Simply have a man walk along each would tell the truth if it barked his shins. James often guved him for this foolishness, but to no effect. He kept hill. I would advise to gather only wonderfol nut in Arabic MSS., and after- right on telling the truth and getting those hills that have produced a large three lickings to any other boy's one. One day when these two boys were going over to Mrs. Scott's to borrow her quilting frames and a drawing of tea they met a stranger, who looked at them intently and finally asked: "Boys, did you find a purse of gold on

"No. thir," promptly responded James the liar. "Yith, thir," as promptly responded John the truthful, at the same time

They had found such a purse, but be ing s little absent-minded I had forgotten to mention the fact. "Ah-ha!" cries the stranger, The stickleback not only builds a nest dropped it to test you! The proof is And a great black cat leaped out of a > pocket a golden rule and handed it to "Now run along sonny, and every thing you touch shall turn to gold. Re member, that while the liar may prosper and grow fat for a time, the truthful

While this is also a true story I have concealed the true names of the principal characters in it, but they can be had by sending your address with a stamp to pay return postage.-Detroit Free Press.

A Trick of the Trade. Owner of Premises (to tenant)-Now Jones, you may show me those rooms that you think need repairing. Tenant (with alacrity) - All right

We'll begin with-Owner (enthusinstically) - One mo nent! Is this your baby, Mrs. Jones? What a remarkably pretty little fellow! Ootsy, tootsy, pootsy! Won't you come and sit on my knee, baby? Bless its little bright eyes! I'll be along in a minute, Mr. Jones. Mrs. Jones (to baby)—Go and sit on the gentleman's knee, dearie. (To Mr. any thing about the house that needs ly indestructible, and may be applied to elements of plant food in which in all Jones)-John, I don't see that there's

FARM AND GARDEN.

SEED POTATOES.

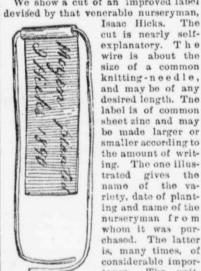

Extracts from a Paper Read by Prof. E. S. Goff Before a Wisconsia Parmers' Institute, Five years ago we took up this question at the station, starting on the as-sumption that the running out of petaoes is due to a lack of proper selection of seed. In the year 1884 we commenced the experiment. In order to answer the question in the shortest possible time we determined to select from the strongest hills on the one hand, in order to increase the vigor of one set of plants, of that date. They will thus serve as robin looked at him in such a sad-eyed hand, in order to decrease the vigor of way, and its heart beat so fast as he another set of plants. In the fall of 1883 we ordered our men, while they were digging our variety tests of potatoes, to put the potatoes of each hill carefully by themselves. While these potatoes lay on the ground drying I passed over the rows and examined each hill, one by one. I then selected the hill of each row that contained the largest number of fine, smooth, salable po tatoes, and put this hill into a small sack and labeled it "Best hill of White Star," or "Best hill of American Giant," etc. After I had gone over ten varieties in your saw and bolt on the remaining this way I returned and selected the pieces. Next bolt on two braces and hill from each row that had the small-est number of merchantable tubers. These smallest hills were put into sacks and carefully labeled, when all were hinge your gates before sawing them put into the cellar, where they were down, but if this be done then leave left until the next spring. While we room enough to make two saw-cuts and were getting ready to plant these a di- take out half an inch or your gates will ficult question arose. The potatoes bind for the eleven-foot gate. from the strongest hills were larger on the average than those from the least ground, not less than two and one-half productive hills. It would be expected, feet deep, and firmly wedged with therefore, that they would yield more, because our other experiments gener- sill should be dug in the ground the porary plant used in building the Forth bridge. The engineers estimate that £500,000 was spent in this direction but honest, grew a beautiful flower ally showed that large tubers are more depth of the post-hole and in line with productive than small ones. How could the fence, into which fasten the post we eliminate these difficulties, so that and put on a pull-brace opposite the ness it was to gurd the hodag and see we should be sure that whatever differ- gate. A post extending six inches that no one cane to injure it. What ences in yield we secured would be due above the ground, with a shoulder on salary she got, and why that flower was to the selection of the seed and not to the top, should be used where the gates > or not, the single eye-cutting did not or injure stock. The five-foot gate is differ much in size, because, as a rule, sufficiently large for the admission of the larger the tuber of a given variety, the larger will be the number of eyes. when used for the wagon, and neither We then planted the single eyes of one is too heavy for the children to each of these tubers in a short row by open or shut. The smaller gate should themselves, and labeled the one best always swing both ways, as a matter of tubers from best hill. White Star, and safety to stock passing in or out. the other best tubers from smallest hills, and planted these in the same chooses to make and use it, and will way. In the fall the crop was dug, each supersede seven-tenths of the patented hill being put by itself, and the same selections made for another year, and | well-painted or whitewashed, with its in 1885 the same experiment was repeated. In the fall of this year potatoes rotted badly and we were unable to make the selections. We therefore figure 2, brace; figure 3, sill; dotted lines waited until the following year, when eighty-three in number. The results of from all the varieties we were testing, all these tests show that the tubers from the most productive hill yielded most in every trial. What is still more striking, the yield of the smallest tubers from the most productive hill was more and diamonds on the good girl's shoul- than that of the largest tubers from the least productive hill. We may fairly assume that had the yield of the best bidden fruit of the Garden of Eden, has add that this is a true story and won't hills been compared with that of the average hills, the difference would have been half as great, or about sixteen bushels per acre. We have this much then to pay for the trouble of selecting the seed, added to the prospect that the potatoes will increase in productiveness from year to year. When potatoes are not dug by horse power the increased trouble required to gather seed potatoes from the ost productive hills is very slight. row with a bag hung over his shoulder, and gather each strikingly productive number of tubers of good size and uniform shape, and very few small ones. These seed potatoes had better be stored in a cool cellar, where they will not sprout. But some will say there is no use of taking this trouble, because when one variety runs out we can buy new ones. Yes, but can you afford to let a variety run out on your hands? Suppose you secure a variety that suits you in quality, form and season, and is productive, if it loses in productiveness three bushels per acre each year, for ten years, the fifth year you grow that variety you will lose fifteen bushels per acre; the sixth, eighteen; the seventh, twenty-one; the eighth, twenty-four; the ninth, twenty-seven, and the tenth, thirty. If you want to buy a new variety you must pay some one else for taking the pains that you might and Improved Tree and Plant Label. We show a cut of an improved label

Isaac Hicks. The cut is nearly selfsize of a common knitting-needle. and may be of any desired length. The sheet zinc and may the amount of writwhom it was puris, many times, of considerable importance. The writing is done with a common pen and common wooden kind, as it is practicalPRACTICAL FARM GATE.

Pennsylvanian's Ideas on a Subject of General Interest.

Having read an article in these colmns some time ago on farm gates and oosts, I will contribute my ideas on a practical gate and manner of setting posts. The gate should be made of clear, white pine or other light, strong wood, and should be in two parts and always planed and painted. Take five sixteen foot boards four inches wide, plane them and bevel the edges back one-fourth inch; lay the five boards down and in line, the distance apart that you want your gate in height. Now cut eight pieces the length you want your gate in neight, planed and bevelled same as the rails. Bolt the rails squarely between two of these pieces at each end. Now

A CONVENIENT GATE. bolt two pieces on the rails five feet from the end, leave room enough for

A solid post should be dug into the stone, but if wet or loose soil, then a the difference in the size of the seed come together for them both to rest on not. I never medle with other people's tubers? The following plan was adopt at the same time. But if the gate is ed: We took the two sacks of each va- desired to swing both ways, which it riety, that is, the best and the poorest should do for convenience, then hooks each, and cut these to single eyes. place. A slide latch, which is very con-Sometimes these two potatoes were of venient, if used should slide on the the same size. But whether they were short gate, so as not to get knocked off stock and gives a fifteen-foot passage

> This kind of a farm gate is not patones now upon the market, and if kept beveled edges and smooth surface, will last from fifty to sixty years.

In the cut figure 1 represents posts: indicate posts, braces, etc., under the where there are no stones for fastening.

-N. Y. World.

Asparagus on Unmanured Soil. At a late meeting of farmers in Boson, the remarkable statement was made, and corroborated by several of the participants familiar with the case, than on the asparagus ground of the two Messrs. Coolidge-Joshua and John-who grow some of the best "grass" that goes to the Boston market, no manure at all has been used for at least ten years, other than the tops, and a liberal annual dressing of salt, usually taken from pork or fish barrels. People were long prevented from raising this most excellent vegetable because of the preposterous requirements laid down by those who first wrote about it. The fact is, says a contributor to Vick's Monthly, that it is the most easily grown and simplest in its requirements of any vegetable, while there is none more healthful or more enjoyed, coming before any other and having a distinct and agreeable flavor all its own. Its use is especially recommended as a tonic for the nerves. The chief requirements are dry, warm, fertile soil, some shelter from high winds and room enough for its mass of roots. It will do well even in an upland meadow, with out culture or manure and surrounded by other growths, if the soil is good and if it is not crowded or injured by cattle. About four feet by two is the preferred distance apart. A bed will last a lifetime, once planted and not abused. Its few demands for care make it especially desirable for a farmer's garden. The growth and size of the sprouts depend much on the full, uninjured growth of the tops after cutting ceases, about mid-June, when green peas come in. Manure enables more good sprouts to be grown on less area, and often tenderer, but not richer.—Farmers' Review.

To fit spongy muck land for gardening purposes, nothing is of greater importance than thorough drainage. The next step will be to "sweeten it," i. e., explanatory. The neutralize the acids contained in it. wire is about the This may be accomplished by applications of lime, ashes or any other alkaline substance. The caustic forms of lime, of course, will be more effective ones, and so we would prefer the differlabel is of common ent forms in the order named as follows: Ground or pounded quick lime, water-slaked lime (hydrated), air-slaked smaller according to lime (hydrate and carbonate). The clear carbonates-chalk, marl, old air-The one illus- slaked lime, etc., have much less effect. trated gives the The quantity of lime required depends name of the va- on its caustic nature, and on the acidity riety, date of plant- of the land. Try ten barrels of fresh ing and name of the slaked, or twice that quantity of airnurseryman from slaked lime at first; note the result, and repeat as needed. Wood ashes conchased. The latter tain not only a mild form of lime (carbonate), but also a caustic potash, and a quantity of phosphoric acid, and heavy applications of it are the very best treatment that could be given for ink. This label is far superior to the your muck soil. It not only tends to sweeten it, but also provides just the

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN,

in our State for some years. The men who have assumed to lead the Demcratic party, for example, have been chiefly occupied in contriving to keep themselves in public office and in tery must have made when it doubles parceling out the spoils to their re- its bid to the Legislature, and offers They have exercised, one of the charter. It is an old solder of the present states the present state of the charter of the states of the charter of the states of the charter of the present states of for some of them have managed to keep themselves in office from the time whereof the memory of this of its charter. It is an old dodge of the time whereof the memory of this of its charter.

criticism upon the management of public affairs in this State than the acquittal of Stevenson Archer yesterday, Judge Stewart practically admitted that there was no law in the code by which the State Treasurer could be punished if he made away with all the money in the treasurv. It is undoubtly a correct decison, but it must have been a humiliating one to a judge who in the take our share of the "pie" while it Plumb will accompany him if he can performance of his duties is called upon day after day to sentence poor wretches to the penitentiary who have stolen small amounts, perhaps to keep themselves from starving. What a queer notion of Maryland justice the outside public would form if they had nothing to guide them but this decision. There is probably not another State in the Union where the treasurer can appropriate to his own uses as much as he pleases of the people's money and snap his fingers at the law. There is nothing at this tenacious and deadly tentacles reachmoment except his honor to prevent ing all over the State, is sucking the the State Treasurer from appro- moral life out of the people of Louispriating every negotiable security iana .- N. Y. Mail and Express. under his charge, and yet if a starying man were to run his fist through a pane of glass in a baker's shop and steal a loaf of bread he could be sent to the penitentiary.

studied, the more palpable becomes hard task to keep the Republicans of the two-for-acent style the reckless disregard of public inter-State officers profess not to know the laws and the Constitution bearing on the treasurer's office, and do not prefer for complaint against the bill, have the United States. This Court af-mit are known to them. The tread amendments to correct the cause of surer is allowed to serve for nearly complaint from their constituents. two years without even bonding or but every amendment so far offered being sworn in, and it is exceedingly except those which came from the doubtful if, during the larger portion committee, has been defeated. Only To ret of his several terms, Archer was two days more of debate remain, and really the treasurer of the State. For there are all sorts of rumors as to # less Bid.

It is some slight indication of what enormous profits the Louisiana Lot-They have succeeded, too. to the State $1,000,000 a year for gress.

that if the action of the Legislature is favorable their cause is gained. This is a bad sign, and indicates that the people of Louisiana, whether by reason of race or religion or historical association, are expected by this iniquitous association to use their influence in favor of legalized gambling. The necessity of a popular vote forms a very convenient excuse for legislators who cast their ballots in favor of the lottery. If the people do not favor it, they say, our vote will make no great difference—where-fore let us take our share of the "pie" while it is going around, and leave the deave is gained.

This is a bad sign, and indicates that the people of Louisiana, whether by reason of race or religion or historical association, are expected by this iniquitous association to use their influence in favor of legalized gambling. The necessity of a popular vote forms a very convenient excuse for legislators who cast their ballots in favor of the lottery. If the people do not favor it, they say, our vote will make no great difference—where-fore let us take our share of the "pie" while it is going around, and leave the details as to how far it shall cover, and this will be done soon.

Secretary Proctor will make an official inspection of the military posts at Willet's Point, Sandy Hook, Fort Hamilton and Fort Wadsworth, New York, this week. Senator plumb will accompany him if he can difference do for the cannot levy for State and County taxes shall be due and payable on the first annual levy for State and County taxes shall be due and payable on the first day of September, a discount of three per cent shall be allowed; and after the first day of Saptember, a discount of three per cent shall be allowed; and after the first day of Saptember, a discount of three per cent shall be allowed; and after the first day of Saptember, a discount of three per cent shall be due and every year. All county taxes shall be due and every year. All county taxes shall be due and payable on the first day of Saptember, a discount of thr ion to the people. The efforts of Gov. Nicholls are now being ably supplemented by an organization called the Anti-Lottery League, and they claim to have secured enough votes in the Honse to defeat the scheme there. Let us hope that this is so, and that the Christian people of the State and its honorable citizens generally will rally to the aid of Goy, Nicholls, and put an effective quietus on the monstrous devil-

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, May 19th, 1890 .-The more this Archer business is Representative McKinley has had a statement destroys the political amests by the Democratic party, and the various amendments, which have having made it. more convincing the necessity for a been proposed and voted on, to the thorough and radical change in the tariff bill, and on two occasions ver-State politics. The legislature has bat amendments which originated The Supreme Court of the United failed to pass laws properly guarding from the majority of the Ways and States to-day rendered an opinion of the funds by punishing the officer in Means committee have narrowly vital interest to the Mormon church. whose custody they are placed. The escaped defeat when the the vote was in the suit of the Church of Latter State officers profess not to know the taken. As a rule though the Repub. Day Saints against the United States tend to execute those which they ad- contented themselves with offering firms that decision, is going around, and leave the decis-arrange his Senatorial duties so as to

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 566.

AN ACT

currency, is not meeting with successin making converts among the lay makers, on the contrary their idea of being vigorously opposed by Ongressmen. There is little chane of such a bill getting through this Congress.

The election of Representative Carlisle to be Senator give general satisfaction here among the members of both parties. There is probably no Democrat in the country whom the be revent any persion logistation at this session. The present difference of this session. The present difference of this session. The present difference of the particular of therefor from said bank a certificate of deposit, which he shall immediately forward to the Comptroller, showing the amount placed to his credit; and said Treasurer shall in like a manner deposit all money in his hands at the comptroller, showing the amount placed

to his credit; and said Treasurer shall in like a manner deposit all money in his hands at the control of the county. In the said the shall all the county of the taxes and dues in such bank as he may see different to the county. Treasurer of Garrett county, which money shall be drawn of any by the Treasurer making such deposit only by the Treasurer of the state of the level, and a tail other missioners. Hoshall reserve out of the money everled by him for county outposes generally and public schools, and sufficient sun to the said pay the same over to the Board of tounty School Commissioners of sall county as afflows: One-fourth on or before the Brasiof the levy; one-fourth on or before the Brasiof the levy; one-fourth on or before the Brasiof the levy; one-fourth on or before the Brasion to the first day of August next suctions and the annual levy shall have been made to give notice thereof by advertisements merted once a week for three successive weeks in two newspapers published in said county and by hand-bills posted in a such county and by hand-bills posted in said county and the resonance of said on the said treates of the property of the agent of the preson or corporate institution or to be a successive weeks in two newspapers published in said county and the same has been property and the same has been property and the property and the property and the same has been property and the property and the sire so to do. The assessments made by virtue of this section to be subject to revision as, and in the same manner as other assessments are. This section not to apply to property the title of which remains in the State.

37. The Treasurer shall pay over according te law or to the order of said County Commissioners, in the manner hereinbefore provided all county taxes and all moneys due said county and collected by him, and he shall also pay into the treasury of the State of Maryland, according to law, all the State taxes levied in said county and collected by him, as, and in the manner hereinbefore prescribed; and he shall be allowed two years from the date of each levy placed in his hands for collection, to complete the collection thereof, and to make his final settlement with said County Commissioners and with the Treasurer of Maryland respectively; all claims for

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday hights of each month. ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F. meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nes lay evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

-Shartzer will buy a fine lot of Matting. Call Monday.

-Highest cash prices paid for Shop. -Lost - A Shawl between Oakfand and Mt. Lake Park, The finder will please leave at this office. -A fine cottage for rent at Mountain Lake Park. J. C. PEDDICORD. -Go to Howell's for green and tancy groceries. He keeps the best that the market affords. -Shartzer is buying Wool again and pays 30cts per pound.

-Miss Jennie Smith was in Washington City tast Saturday and Sun-

-Rev. C. E. Clarke has been on the sick list for the last week, but is now slowly convalescing.

-I you want a first-class plow at a low price, call at Davis' Hardware Store, Oakland Md.

-The finest and largest line of Neck Ties and Four-in-Hands, at Offutt's.

-Over fifty suits for men, boys and children, at cost, at Shartzer's, -Miss Della Edwards has improved the appearance of her property by having a new fence placed around it. -Great slaughter in Wall Paper! Reduced to 4c! Gilt at 8 and 10c, at Mayers', Druggist.

-Dr. W. H. Ravenscraft has removed his residence from Virginia Cottage to the Commercial House.

shout two weeks, closed last Sunday night.

-We have a full line of garden seeds, seed potatoes, onion sets etc., all be saved. reliable, at Felty's on R. R. st., Oakhas them all.

Linseed Oil. Beware of cheap, worthless benzine Paint.

MAYERS, Druggist. -Shartzer is still selling Wall Paper as follows: White back, 5 cts; Gitt, 12} per bolt.

-E. J. Fringer, the unterrified Democrat of Cranesville, Preston county, W Va. was in the city last Monday and greeted many of his friends. -Lots of Rain and more to come. so go to Offutt's and buy a good Umbrells, for they have a big lot of them, from the cheapest to a fine silk.

chickens and produce of all kinds first Democratic Mayor elected in six for Cash, at Felty & Co.'s, Railroad street, Oakland, Md.

FOR SALE-Two first class colts, one MRS. E. DROEGE, 5 10 St Deer Park Md.

-Rev. Moffat, of Cumberland, Md., deliyered a very earnest discourse in the Presbyterian church, here, last Sunday evening, to an appreciative congregation.

-The Presbyterian Church of this place has withdrawn from the Winchester, Va., Presbytery, and will soon as possible.

-Quite a number of our people W. Va., Sunday last.

taining a letter.

at Mayers'. Brown back 4c, Anti- line B. Buell, of Chicago. septic back, 5c; White back, 5 to 8c. Gilt at 8 and 10c. Extra heavy Gilt and Embossed Paper at correspondingly low prices, at

-Shartzer is in Baltimore buying goods and will be home with new styles, and will sell cheap for cash.

-Mr. Eli McMillen and Mrs. Dr. and relatives in Oakland and Deer Park this week.

state that there will be but one Mass at St. Peter's Church on next Sunday, May 25th, and that at 9 A. M. -The people will patronize Hamili & Little because they get the benefit of the "Cash System," viz: quick sales, and small profits and they have no margin for bad debts on their goods.

-The Rev. Tamblyn, pastor of the M. E. Church, Terra Alta, was at hides, at C. R. Savage's Butcher Mt. Lake Park and Oakland last Saturday and Sunday, holding quar-Sharps. His sermons were well received by our people.

> -- The aged wife of Rochus Wolf, be about $2.500. residing on Oak Street, while a short distance from her home on Tuesday. was paralized, and died within an hour after being conveyed to her home. She was well known and highly respected in this community.

the National Medical Congress, at M. parade to the cemetery, where the Nashville, Tenn., as a delegate from services will be held. The various the Medical and Chirurgical Society secret organizations of the town are of Maryland. He will read a paper hereby invited to turn out and join on the case of William Combs, who us on that day. The Friendsville was shot in the brain and has fully and Deer Park Posts are requested to for Cranesville Circuit for this year will be held on the 7th and 8th of are not members of the G. A. R., to June, at the Dodge school house, take part with us. four miles north of Oakland, Services will commence on the 7th at 10.30 having friends buried in either cem-A. M. The meeting on Sunday will be a basket meeting.

-Hamill & Little take the Bun on Shoes, they are going like hot cakes. Call and inspect their stock, and get their prices. These goods have been submitted to experienced shoemakers and have been pronounced the very workmanship.

-James, son of Jacob Cupp, aged -The protracted meeting which 20 years, and residing near Huttons, has been in progress at the Park for this county, was struck by a locomotwo miles west of Huttons, Saturday -Take your wool to Hamill & Lit- last, and knocked in front of the entle and get the hard cash for the same, gine, which passed over him, cutting Jas. A. Hayden, Mrs. W. P. Town- Miss Belie Clement. A very pleasant They are paying the highest cash one leg off and terribly mashing the other. It is thought that he will recover, and that the injured leg may Miss Maggie Tower, Miss Addie

-The "Amateur Charade Club" of Oakland will give an entertainment -Have you seen the latest shades in Offutt's Hall on Thursday, 29th in Dress Goods? If not go to Offuit's of this month. A comedy entitled and you will go wild over them. He "A Precious Pickle" will be acted. Synopsis of the play is as follows: -Our Paints are made of purest Three city school-girls on their sum. day, May 24th, at 3 P. M. mer's vacation in the country drive the mistress of the house and her servant "Juno" to desperation. A short love scene in operetta style, Good music, songs and tableaux will also be features of the evening. Come, everybody, and enjoy a rare treat. -The new State election law embodying the most prominent features of the Australian system of secret voting was applied for the first time at the municipal election at Cumberland Monday, and notwithstanding the many obstacles under which the law labored in its introduction its application was pronounced a success. -That firm of S. L. Townshend & The election resulted in a Democratic Son are always getting something victory, Mr. W. M. McKaig being that just suits everybody. Their elected mayor over Robert R. Henstraw hats are immense, and cheap. derson, Republican. Four of the five Democratic candidates for city coun-WANTED. - Fresh butter, eggs, cil were elected. Mr. McKaig is the years. -The preliminary announcemen for Mountain Lake Park has been yearling, one 2 year old. Apply to published. The Chautauqua Assembly at that place holds its ninth session, beginning July 29, and closing August 12. Charles W. Baldwin, of Washington, is President; J. M. Davis, of Oakland, Md., is Secretary, and W. L. Davidson, of Cincinnati, is Superintendent of Instruction. The Assembly is peculiarly fortunate son. He is a fine lecturer, an able join the Baltimore Presbytery as organizer, and, as Bishop Vincent declares, "a very inspiring man." attended the dedicatory services of having been secured. The season the new Lutheran Church at Egion, will open with a camp meeting under the charge of the Revs. John Thomp--The Federal Grand Jury in Bal- son, D. B. Updegraff, and Dugan Court, a great many cases were contimore, Monday, ignored the charge Clark from July 4 to 14, inclusive, tinued, which will doubtless make against Fred. A. Thayer, our post. The Woman's Christian Temperance master, who was charged with de- Union will follow on the 22d with an Inter-State Conference and School -Great reductions on Wall Paper of Methods, in the care of Mrs. Caro-

Clothing at City prices. the agency at this place for the celebrated Clothing House of Mabley & at McCrum's, will leave us shortly to ing to fill up with cannot prosper. A H. J. MAYERS.

—Hamill & Little, have a full line | brated Clothing House of Mabley & at McCrum's, will leave us shortly to ling to fill up with cannot prosper. A | THE GARRETT COUNTY PANK |

—Hamill & Little, have a full line | Carew, now doing business in nearly engage in business at Mountain Lake | newspaper that has its rates too high | THE GARRETT COUNTY PANK | of groceries, meal, feed, &c., at prices every City and town in the Union. Park. that astonish the natives and make Prices are the same as city prices; The County Seat question is being mal rate, that is, a rate which the the strangers smile. All we ask is an goods and make up are the best, and agitated in Grant, and a vote will be publisher can afford to accept and examination of our goods and a com- a fit guaranteed in each and every taken this fall, which will decide make a profit, and which the adver-

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 10} A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. C. E. Clark, Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching E. H. Glotfelty, were visiting friends at 7 P. M., ny Rev. J. A. Dunlap. St. Mathew's Church-Preaching

-Father Mattingly requests us to S. Hipkins, Rector in charge. St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M., except the second Sunday of each

The Bond Election.

The election Tuesday to determine citizens do not fear him. whether the Mayor and Council of Oakland shall issue bonds for the berland, is in town on business. improvement of the streets of the terly meeting for Presiding Elder 25 years, with interest not to exceed in order. 6 per cent. The issue cannot exceed $10,000. The first issue will probably Decoration Day. Decoration Day, Friday, May 30th, will be observed by Crook Post, No. The Rumbarger Lumber Company 35, G. A. R., Oakland, Md. The areatil busily engaged in repairing members of the Post will meet at -Dr. J. Lee McComas is attending Sturgiss' Hall at 1 P. M., and at 11 P. meet with and take part in the ex--The Fourth Quarterly Meeting ercises. The Post will be pleased to have all soldiers of the late war, who their part successfuly.

etery to make this an occasion for placing flowers upon their graves. The following ladies have been appointed a committee on flowers:

OAKLAND. Miss Lou A. Thayer, Miss Blanche Browning, Miss Mamie Weber, Miss Mary Townshend, Mrs. A. G. Sturbest quality of leather, and good giss, Mrs. Dr. Henry McComas, Mrs. J. M. Jarboe, Mrs. G. W. Legge, Miss Katie Lowe, Miss Nettie Kepner, Miss Susie Hamill, Miss Lottie shend, Miss Ella Peddicord, Miss time was had. After a few hours of Cupp. Miss Rose Cornelius, Miss cies. Among the gentlemen present Nettie Michael, Miss Lizzie Leary.

DEER PARK. Mrs. E. F. Droege, Mrs. Dr. Laughlin, Mrs. Jos. Lashorn. The above committee are requested to meet at Sturgiss' Hall Satur-

W. H. HAGANS, R. T. BROWNING. W. R. JARBOE, H. Lowe, E, D. KEPNER, Committee,

Circuit Court.

The May Term of Court finally adjourned Saturday afternoon. The case of Meyers vs. Frazee. going to press last week, was decided known as the "McHenry Farm," were: Peddicord and Sincell for hunting or for any other purpose. Frazee, and Semmes and Mitchell for Meyers. The case of John P. Kohr, ys Christian Kohr, to recover $2,000 and Christian Kohr ys. John P. Kohr replevin for a steam saw mill and fixtures, were both entered settled, each party to pay his own costs. D. E. Offutt vs. Jesse J. Ashby, Jr., E. Offutt vs. Fox Bros., replevin for staves, were both entered settled. both parties to pay his own costs. The case of R. W. Little vs. J. W. S. Cochran, removed from Allegany county, was continued on account of the sickness of defendant. The case of John Shartzer vs. H. P. Jamesson, was partly heard by the Court, and held for July Court, with in securing the services of Dr. David- leave to both parties to produce additional evidence.

The case of the State vs. Charles Bell, charged with larceny was tried The programme is magnificent, men Friday, when the accused plead and women of remarkable talent guilty, and was sentenced to the county jail for 90 days.

Owing to the fact that Judge Hoffman wished to go to the Hagerstown the September Term a long one.

Messrs. Hamill & Little have taken hopes of his recovery are entertained. suits in sure returns.

case. Children's clothing a speciality. whether it shall be moved from tiser can afford to pay and also make prompt attention to collections, 112'89.

Petersburg to Maysville or not. has been appointed Census Enumer- aim to have our rates "normal." ator for Dist. No. 8. A good appoint-

Mr. Barritt is putting in quite a every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F.

> friends in Piedmont, W. Va. Dr. Hummelshine, dentist, of Cum-Dobbin. Mr. Robert Rumberger is visiting friends in Gosport, Indiana. Mr. Geo. Head spent Sunday with friends in Keyser.

The Rumbarger Lumber Company the and roads.
Mr. v. P. Mooney, the efficient young book-keeper for the Rumbarger Lunber Company spent Sunday in Davi Mrs. Caines returned last week from an extended visit to friends in the east. Prof. Canoa's entertainment was success and each scrolar performed

Mr. Wm. Orris contemplates moying from this place to Euling Station, We would suggest that persons on the extension of the W. Va. C. railroad in the nearfuture.

> Several persons rom Dobbin attended the church fedication at Eglon, W. Va., last Sanday. Miss Eva Fazentaker, of Western-port, was visiting friends here last Sunday. Miss Effa Furguson, of Johnstown, is visiting her brother, W. W. Fur-guson, at this place. Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs have returned from a visit to friends in the West.

Last Wednesday evening a num Bowers, Mrs. Bowie Johnson, Mrs. given in honor of the birthday of Mamie Miller, Miss Sallie Jarboe, enjoyment we were served to cake, oranges, lemonade and other delicawere Messrs, F. T. Rumbarger, Camden. Among the ladies present were Miss Jennie Fazenbaker, of Gorman and Miss Annie Hamill, of Blaine, W. Va. It has been reported that the Sunday excursion trains will be placed on the West Va. Central R. R. on and after May 25th, which will be very convenient for those working along the line and cannot get home during the week.

Trespass Notice.

Notice is hereby given warning all which was on hand at the time of persons not to trespass upon my farm in favor of Frazee. The attorneys either for the purpose of fishing, 5 10 St JONAS GLOTFELTY.

Some Business Suggestions.

Does your business pay? Could you not make it pay better by doing some advertising in a judicious way? Some business men are always on the lookout for a new customer and trespass for cutting timber, and D. contriving ways to please and meet the wants of old ones. The best and cheapest method to get new customers is by advertising in an enterprising newspaper.

Advertising doesn't sell any man's goods, it only lets the people, the purchaser, know where to find them. The newspaper that is read by the most people is the one in which to

There is a great deal in writing an attractive advertisement. Do you give your ads. your best attention? If you expect to do a large business on the fact that you know so many people, you will get left. The ones you don't know are greatly in the majority. How are you to reach them in the most favorable manner at the least expense? By placing an attractive advertisement in the news-

Instances have been cited where large advertisers have gone under. This was not the fault of the advertis-While L. L. McCrum was returns ing, but of the advertiser. A man can lose money speculating in advertising the same as in wheat. It is in dealing the same as in wheat. It is in dealing the same as in wheat. It is in dealing the same as in wheat in the article as a staple that results in recovery are entertained.

Our congenial clerk, J. L. Harne,

The newspaper that takes advertis.

Our congenial clerk, J. L. Harne, The newspaper that takes advertiscannot sell its space. There is a nora profit. The profit must be mutual. We understand that Jus. W. White else one or the other will quit. We

The Democratic party has gall enough to claim to be the friend of large stock of goods. We are in- the soldier during the campaigns, but formed that Geo. W. Moon has ac- devotes a great deal of its time to cepted a position in his store as clerk. fighting him when no compaign is J. B. Barth, M. D., our new phy- gaing on. It seems to go terribly sician, is building up a good practice. against its grain that so many of the Mrs. Chas. Hilleary is visiting old yeterans who served the country in its hour of peril are being reward-Sheriff E. N. Casteel was in town ed for their efforts in their old age yesterday, 19th inst., but law abiding and the day of their need. Considering that so many members of the party wore the gray during the war and sympathized with the South, we The small boy in our town is fast don't know that this is to be wondertown resulted in favor of the issue, becoming a nulsance, not only to ed at, but just the same it is mighty by a majority of 32 in a total vote of those getting married but to others bad poticy. It will not do the party 144. The bonds are to run from 15 to as well. A little restraint would be any good when it goes before the people in the next campaign, although it will probably modify its tone and attempt to pose as the soldier's friend again by that time. However, it is about as consistent on the pension question as it is on any other .- Cumberland News.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The West End of Wing-and-Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, sitting Room, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms, The sleeping ooms will be furnished with everything nec-mary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two horses, and carriage house There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, con-nected with the premises. Apply to 5 24 E. C. TILSON, Proprietor. APPEAL NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, To the property owners of the town of Oakland, that the town Council will be in session to hear

Monday, June 2nd, 1890, between the hours of 2 and 5 P. M., and 7:30 to 9 P. M. J. W. HART, Clerk.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership. the Co-partnership heretolore existing between the undersigned, doing business under the firm name of Gnagey & Durst, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. All persons knowing themselves indebted to the firm will please call on Jonas E. Gnagey, who has charge of the books, and settle their accounts by July 1st., 1890, as after that date the books will be in the hands of an officer for collection.

JONAS E. GNAGEY,

JONAS J. DURST. 20 years, and residing near Huttons, this county, was struck by a locomotive on the B, & O. R. R., at Corinth, two miles west of Huttons, Saturday holm, Mrs. W. H. Hagan, Mrs. J. T.

Lee McComas, Mrs. Daniel Chise da birthday party at the residence of Mr. And Mrs. A Clements, It was of Mr. and Mrs. A Clements, It was long, Mrs. W. H. Hagan, Mrs. J. T. Grantsville, Md., May 1st. 1890.

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 813. AN ACT Fronk Orris, Lou Carroll, Erwin Fazenbaker and U. G. Arnett, of Dobbin, and Mr. M. N. Wilson, of

Dobbin, and Mr. M. N. Wilson, of County.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the provisions of section one of Article fifty-six of the Code of Public General Laws, title "License" subtitle "Mode of Issuing General Provisions," shall apply to Garrett County as fully as if the said section in its terms, words and language, was herein contained and repealed and made to have full force and effect in said descript County. SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That this Ac shall take effect from the date of its passage Approved April 8th; 1890. 5 24 3t Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 803. AN ACT AN ACT
To add an additional section to Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland title
"Garrett County" sub-title "County Commissioners," authorizing the County Commissioners to levy money to the Mayor and Counsil of Oakland, said section to follow section forty-one and to be numbered fortyone and a-half.

Public Local Law.

5 24 3t

CHAPTER 285.

Approved March 22, 1890,

AN ACT AN ACT
To authorize and empower the Sheriff of Garrett County to employ a warden for the County Jail of said County:

SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland. That the Sheriff of Garrett County be, and he is Hereby authorised and empowered to employ some suitable person as warden to the County Jail of Garrett County, whethever a prisoner or prisoners may be confined in said jail, and the services of such warden are, in the judgment of said Sheriff and the State's Attorney for said County, necessary for the safe keeping of such prisoner or prisoners.

SEC. 2 And be it enacted. That the com-

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden A General Banking business transacted.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN GARRETT COUNTY.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1850.

TAKE NOTICE, That the roads under your charge shall be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year;
and in working said roads it is incumbent unon you, wherever practicable, to cut guttiers on either side and work high in middle of road, You are also required to notify air persons traveling the roads with steam threshers or other heavy machines that they will be held responsible for all damage done
to roads and bridges over which they pass.

By order,

By order,

J. B. FAY.

Mitchell's Kidney Plasters Absorb all disease in the Kidneys and restore them to a healthy condition. Old chronic kidney sufferers say they got no relief until they tried MITCHELL'S KIDNEY PLASTERS.
sold by Druggists everywhere, or sent by mail for 506
Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware Association,

(LIMITED.) E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Soma erset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OLLS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC. It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAGONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KINGGIST IS TABLE TO BE THE TABLE TO BE AND AND ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARF, and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known in Garrett County, will call on every farmet and solicit orders for anything they wish in FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager. TREASURER'S TAX SALE,

Under and by virtue of Sec. 58 of Art. 12 of the Code of Pub. Local Laws entitled Garrett County sublitle "County Treasurer," the un-derstance, Ross Compton, as County Treas-urer for Garrett County aforesaid, will offer at Public Sale to the highest responsible bid-der for cash, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Oakland, Garrett County Maryland

ON TUESDAY, THE 10TH DAY OF

JUNE, in the year 1890, at the hour of 11 o'clock A: M., all that piece, parcel or tract of land lying and being in the Fourth Election District in said Garrett County, known and designated as an one-undivided half-interest of, in and to a certain tract of land known and designated as which said tract of land is contained within missioners," authorizing the County Commissioners to levy money to the Mayor and Counsil of Oakland, said section to follow section forty-one and to be numbered forty-one and achalf.

"SAINT CLAIR,"

Section I, Be it enacted by the general Assembly of Maryland. That an additional section be added to Article twelve of the Public Local Lavs of Maryland, tittle "Garrett Compty" sub-title "County Commissioners," to follow section forty-one, to be numbered forty-one and a-half and to read as follows:

41½, They shall have power to levy annuality to the Mayor and Council in Keeping the public roads and streets in said town in reality. Section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws.

CHAPTER 179.

AN ACT

To repeal section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurors," seven degrees West three hundred perches, then North seventy seven degrees West twenty-six perches, South forty degrees East fire-chundred and the seventy seven degrees West one-hundred and nineteen perches to the end of the Sth line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it as corrected segrees West one hundred and the second dine of the Sth line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it as corrected segrees west one hundred and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running with the second line of Lot No. 18, and running with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it are set of the first line of Lot No. 18, and running thence with it are set of the second line of Lot No. 18, and running with it and the second line of Lot No. 18, and running with it and the set of the second line of Lot which said tract of land is contained within

The said one-undivided half interest in said The said one-undivided half interest in said tract of land called "Saint Clair," hereby intended to be sold, having been conveyed to a certain William A. Brydon by Jeanet and George A. Clark by deed bearing date the 17th day of March, 1875, and recorded in Liber W. H. T., No. 1, folio 718, &c., one of the land records of Garrett county, Maryland, and being the same property which is assessed upon the Assessment Books of the County Commissioners of said Fourth Election District of said Garrett county to the said William A. Brydon: Said land will be sold for the payment of Said land will be sold for the payment of the State and County Taxes due and in arrest thereon for the years 1888 and 1889. ROSS COMPTON.

Late Treasurer. WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING. ell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expense Steady Employment Guaranteed. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, ROCHESTER, N. )

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEERS Will sell Real or Personal Property.

Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Met

Where all the dwellers are dumb Nor hear the sound of the bugle-blast Nor call of the rolling drum.

So still they lie in their dreaming. The hearts that were wont to beat, Ready to rise and answer— To hurry on eager feet,

By day or night-time, in rain or sun Through valley, or field, or street; Ready to meet the summons, Ready to come or go:
To march in the scorching heat and dust,
Or halt in the blinding snow:
To spring half awake, from dreams of home,

To the sabre-thrust of the foe; Ready to yield, not strength alone And the hand's keen, willing art, But all of the sweet, full life God gave-Not only a tithe or part, But all to their duty.

Asking body, and brain, and heart. What memories throng as we pause and stand Where flowers on these graves are thrown, While all about us the sunlight streams
And the breath of the May is blown
From warm, green valleys whose ripened grass

In drifted swaths is mown. What dreams come to us. . . . Ah! far away Is the martial clang and tread— Far, far, is the sound of the clashing steel, Of the charge, in mad triumph led

The pain, the passion, the tumult wild— For these are the peaceful dead. Their flags are folded, or idly float
To the sweet caress of the wind—
The flags that pressed through the bullet-

While a million of souls behind cllowed steadfast and faltered not, Like the thought of one mighty mind.

What dreams comes to us. . . . What heart deep prayers; Yet the tender tears we shed By these grassy mounds, where the heroes sleep With the blue sky overhead, Are so bright with blessing, so touched with

They might answer for smiles instead. We dream of the soldier brave. . . . But we dream Of the men, who were loved and dear;

Of the unkissed kisses, the vows unkept, The passionate, homesick tear: The human yearning, the whispered prayer That no one but God could hear; Of tired sleepers, with boyish brows, Of blotted letters, and true-love rings,

And the pictures of women fair Hidden close in those stalwart breasts With a lover's jealous care. Our hearts heat fast with the beating drum Swell high with the music's strain,
For love, that is ever life's theme of song,

The sweeter through loss and pain-For love, that lasts over strife and war. While the years and the ages wane. Bring flowers-for the world is abloom,

Like a garden grown ane w;
There are willing hands at the tender toil,
There are hearts long tried and true, And flowers enough for the boys in gray As well as the boys in blue

The task is ended-the twilight falls, The sounds of the day decrease Yet not with the silence of shout and song Can the paims of our glory cease;
We have strewn the breasts of our noble dead
With the blossoms of lasting peace. Madeline S. Bridges, in Leslie's Illustrated

Weekly. GOD NEVER FORGETS.

The Story of One Decoration Day and What It Brought.

NE bright evening among the last days of May, 1852, there came to Farmer Gibbons' door, seeking shelter for the night, a consumptivelooking man and his little seven-year-old son. The good farmer had never been known to turn a hungrystranger from the door. hence the warmthe cozy kitchen was given up to the wayfarers and Mother Gibbons brought out her most dainty knick-knacks to tempt the appetite of the sick man. That they were no ordinary tramps their scrupulouslyclean, well-mended though threadbare garments testified. The man told a sad story of an old home in Pennsylvania which had been forsaken for the rolling prairies of the great West; of the misfortunes that had robbed him of his small estate and swept his wife and children into the grave. After five years of helpless struggling in the new ountry he was going back to die among his own kindred and leave his little Jack in the care of his own people.

In the morning the family was aroused by the cries of the child who understood enough to know that the white, stiff form by his side was lifeless.

"Poor papa is dead," he sobbed, as Mr. Gibbons and his wife came hurrying down-stairs. The boy was rightthe stranger had died alone and unattended while they slept.

A coffin was provided at the expense of the township, and the next morning faces of the friends of his youth sent a few of the neighbors followed the humble dead to a grave in a quiet corner in familiar walks. It was on the 30th of the church-yard. wrote to an uncle whose address little ing in the processson that was wending Jack was able to give, but it was weeks its way to the cemetery he passed quietnot take the lad into my house. Bind him out or send him to the almshouse an old veteran who was scattering flowuntil he is old enough to support him- ers on the graves of the brothers in-

The neighbors shook their heads ger of trusting to one of whose ancestors he knew nothing, he replied: "I am only oing for this strange lad what I would wish others to do for my boys, were they east friendless upon the world."

"If we do our duty we can trust con-quences with God," added the motherly voice of his wife, who had chanced o overhear the conversation.

The years passed on and Jack became a real farmer's boy-toiling in the fields in the fruitful season and tramping across the woods to school in the winter. "Jack Shepherd is a good boy, and well worth the raising," his benefactor would say, proudly, whenever the boy's capabilities were called in question. When the news of the fall of Fort Sumter was flashed over the North that sad April day in 1861, Farmer Gibbons could scarcely be persuaded that he was too old a man to shoulder a musket and march to the defense of his country, and when it was told him that his oldest boy had headed the list of volunteers e said, with tears streaming down his unburnt cheeks: "God bless you, Dan. You would be no son of mine if you tried to skirk from duty now."

The next day a letter from George, the student, came, telling that he, too, had donned the blue. "I could not help it, father. All the students are volum cering," he wrote.

"Never mind, mother," said the farm er, at sight of his wife's wet eyes. "We gave them to God when they were babes, and if He chooses to use them in nelping to save the country, His will be Jack's patriotic heart would have mpted him to follow the example of Dan and George, but Mr. Gibbons said: Wait a bit and see how times go. Old men like me and slips of boys like you are not worth much on long marches, so for the present we had better stay at home and raise something upon which to feed our soldiers."

Jack listened quietly, and then with out a word went back to the plow he had eft standing in the furrow.

A year passed away, and with it poor Jack's bright hopes of the future. A hundred dollars that Mr. Gibbons ad placed in the desk in the room adjoining his disappeared mysteriously, and circumstances pointed suspiciously towards him as the thief. Though obedient and tractable, the boy was highspirited, and resented, as base, any in sinuations that called his honesty in uestion. His indignant denial would have had much weight with the conscientious farmer had not Ben, the Gibons' baby, asserted boldly that he had seen Jack "fooling 'round the desk more than once."

"POOR PAPA IS DEAD.

In the eyes of the parents this proof was conclusive, besides it accounted for the many petty thefts that, in the last few months, had sorely puzzled the worthy couple. The soul of honor himself, Mr. Gibbons would not tolerate in one for whom he had done so much. The result of the trouble was that Jack packed up what few things he needed for a change, and went out from the home where his happiest days had been spent.

"God will not forget your kindness to a poor, friendless orphan," he said, as he took mother Gibbons' hand at parting.

Going directly to a recruiting office, he enlisted in a Michigan regiment, and in less than twenty-four hours he was on his way to Tennessee, where General Halleck was just then laying siege to Corinth. In spite of his youth and consumptive tendencies Jack made a good soldier and came out of the bloody conflict without his fair name being tarnished. Instead of returning to the home that had sheltered his boyhood, he went West and settled upon a claim, taking up his lonely life as a rightful heritage. Not so kindly did the four years of warfare deal with the poor old farmer's lads, for when the boys in blue came marching home, not one of the stalwart sons who had gone forth to battle walked in the ranks. George and Ben had come home in pine coffins many days before, while Dan was left sleeping beneath the bright Southern skies.

After Jack had gone away Ben gained his father's consent to become a soldier, but before a year had passed he sickened and died, but not until he had taken upon him self the theft that had sent the orphan boy alone into the world.

More than a score of years afterwards an irresistible desire to look upon the Jack back to catch a glimpse of the old May that he arrived, and the little town Before the day was over Mr. Gibbons | was gay with flowers and banners. Joinbefore a reply came, and then the only ly to the grave of his father, now satisfaction obtained was: "I have a marked by a marble slab. In the same family of my own to support, and can row, a little to the east, he read the formed him that Dan closed his life in a It belongs to me.-Light.

The boy grieved over his uncle's heart- | Southern prison and that the two daughcommand, until the kind farmer ters of the same household had died and his good wife agreed to give him a within a week of each other, leaving home among their own noisy boys and the old folks childless and almost per niless. Waiting to hear no more, Jack hastened to the old farm-house, and visely, doubting the wisdom of the without making himself known listened step, but when they remonstrated with to the pitiful story of the old people, Mr. Gibbons and pointed out the dan- who upon the morrow would be turned out of the house where all their wedded life had been spent. "We gave our boys all to our country, but now we are > mured the old man. "Father, God never forgets," said the good wife, tenderly. "Don't you remember poor Jack's last words— Go prize at last. will not forget your kindness to a poor forgotten both by God and man," mur-orphan boy?" "Ah! but did I not send the poor lad away for a crime our own boy com-

GOD WILL NOT FORGET YOURKINDNESS sin, Mary, and to-norrow pight we will sleep in a pauper's red.' "God never forget," said the stranger, and then came the nost jcyful moment of his life, when he was able to reveal himself to them aid assure them that the boy whom they had saved from the almshouse had cone back just in time to render them a lile service.

Jack did not leavethem again, except for a few days to arrange his business in the West, and bring back the money to save the old home from the auctioneer's hammer. "God did not forget them," and after many days the bread which they had cast upon the waters came back to them .- Belle V. Chisholm, in Christian Inquirer.

DOGS AND PICTURES.

Incidents Showing That Animals Can "Make Out" a Painting.

It has long been a disputed question whether animals can be made to perin the flat surface of a picture, and be deceived into supposing that the painta living thing. Stories of such perception in dogs, horses and cats are not very rare, but few of them have been vel! authenticated; and the fact has telligent animals, though they are estimated animals, though they are estimated entry ceedingly curious, and often become estimated over an image in a looking research to the municipal system for street-lighting and the direct current transformer. Difference of the control of make out" a picture. An English painter, the Spectator

ad habit of chasing sheep, and was ured of it by dint of much labor and

One day the dog's master painted a picture of a flock of sheep, guarded by two dogs, and on being called out of the studio by some one, he left the picture leaning against a wall.

On his return he was surprised and delighted, for he regarded the fact as a ompliment to his work, to find his terrier barking loudly at the picture, his ears pricked up, his eyes gleaming with fire, and his whole manner indicating excitement. The painter looked upon the incident as the more remarkable from the fact any departure from rectitude, especially that the figures of the sheep were not painted life-size, but were only about ight or ten inches long.

But while the dog's illusion regarding the sheep must have been complete, it was quite remarkable that he did not eem to see the pictures of the dogs, and paid no attention to them whatever. As often, afterward, as he was shown the picture, the terrier became greatly excited by it, frequently mounting a table in order to approach nearer to it. The same journal tells another story of quite as remarkable a character. A lady who possessed two dogs had the portrait of one of them painted by the artist Chalon. The painter, having finished the picture, left it out of doors a day, however, his factories are turning few minutes to dry. The other degree happening to come up, began to bark at it and to gambol about it precisely as he would have done if he had met his companion.

DECORATION DAY.

The old earth to the sunbeams said: "Come, let us hasten with the flowers; Give me," she breathed, "your kindling kiss; Give me your strength," she prayed the

Call the rhodora from the swamp, Call the azalea sweet as musk, Call lilies that from burdened hearts Their tragrance pour along the dusk

And call from all my secret cells The blushes of the perfect rose,
'or I would heap my heroes' graves Full soon with every bud that blows!" Then said the sunbeams and the showers

"In morning glow, in midnight dew, hough clothed with grass, though heaped with Though tenting skies be gray or blue, Yet while on each white marble there The sacred letters shine like flame, The grave no other garland needs Whose headstone bears a hero's name:

-Harper's Bazar. A Genuine Curlosity. Hardup-Do you see this $5 bill, Dum ey? There's something quite peculiar about it.

Dumley-How's that? It looks to me ust like any other $5 bill. Hardup-Well, there's one great difference between it and most other bills.

THE WIZARD OF MENLO PARK

A Short but Interesting Sketch of Amer ica's Greatest Inventor.

"Some men," says Shakespeare, "are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them. Mr. Edison belongs to the second class He is essentially and above every body alse a self-made man, having by sheer force of intellect won his spurs and attained to the highest pinnacle of fame. It was an uphill fight, too, from the first, and those who had watched his long and lonely struggle for "his own hand" were glad when he carried off the

As great men go, Edison is a mere boy. He is only forty-two, having been born in Eric County, O., on the 11th of February, 1847. His father was of Dutch and his mother of Scotch descent, and his early years were spent in Port Huron, Mich. Although two months' schooling was all he had, he was a perfect glutton for reading, and, at the age of twelve became a newsboy on the Grand Trunk railroad of Canada. While yet holding this position he began to experiment in chemistry, and purchasing with what little pocket-money he had some old type, printed and issued the Grand Trunk Herald, the first newspaper ever published in a railroad train. A station-master on the line, in gratitude for his having saved his daughter from the front of an advancing car, taught him telegraphy, and thence forth the youth who was destined to be come the first scientist of his age gave up his life to the study of electricity. After a few failures in furthering hi

Thomas a Edison turn availed themselves of his services and, his inventive faculties getting ful play, he took out over fifty different patents in connection with improve ments in telegraphy. In 1876 the Wiz ard established his laboratory at Menle Park, in New Jersey, from whence he has given invention after invention to an astonished world. Nearly all these inventions, which number about three hundred, were to be seen at the Paris Exposition. Never be ceive the semblance of living creatures fore had such a collection of the great inventor's triumphs been brought together. They were exhibited with th d representation of an animal is really object of tracing the history of his numer ous inventions and of showing their pres ent perfected state. Mr. Edison's exhibi occupies no less than nine thousan square feet. Four systems of electri often been observed that the most in- lighting—the three-wire central station The London Spectator, however, re- Edison has experimented with in mak ferent vegetable products which Mr ates, on the faith of a correspondent, an ing carbons were also exhibited. He has incident or two which seem to indicate tried twelve hundred different kinds of n certain animals, at least, an ability to bamboo alone, and is at present using the fiber of a peculiar species of bamboo which comes from some foreign country. ays, owned a terrier which had a very but he still continues to experiment sending men to different parts of the world with the view of discovering something which will still further per-feet his carbon. Next, there was the telephone department showing what Mr. Edison has done, from his original instrument down to his latest improved motograph or loud-speaking telephone. Mr. Edison has devoted a large amount of his time and energies to perfecting the telephone, and here we have his multiple telephone, his autographic telephone and many others, including his wonderful automatic telephone, which is capable of transmitting words at the lightning speed of 7,200 per minute. Then there was the telegraph department, which shows among other things that marvelous train system of tele graphing-by which messages are sent from a train traveling at fifty miles an hour on a track fifty feet from the telegraph wires. The phonographic department was perhaps the most interesting of all. When ten years ago Mr. Edison declared that he had conceived and imperfectly constructed a machine which could distinctly repeat any sound that might be produced from a symphony in Wagner to the squall of a one-year-old baby, the world took to laughing. Toout forty perfected machines a day, and some 1,800 are already in use in various business houses. Mr. Edison has since created a pocket phonograph, the cylinder of which will take some three hundred words-about the length of an ordinary letter. One of these is now in use at the New York World office. The The machine is placed down-stairs. reporters come in and talk into it. The cylinder is then taken up stairs to the composing-room, and the compositors set up from its dictation, not only attaining a greater speed than on the old system, but earning more money.

Mr. Edison speaks very confidently of his new ore-extracting machine, which promises to revolutionize the mining of ore. The machine by a very simple process separates the ore from the earth. and leaves it ready for the furnace. As yet it is only adapted to iron ore, but the Wizard is now studying the question of a machine for dealing with both refractory silver and gold ore, and he will probably get them out in the near fut-

The "far-sight machine" also promises to be a big thing, but it is absurd to say that it will enable a man to see his wife two thousand miles away. In a city, however, it will be of practical use and for the present, at least, the Wizard does not look for any thing further.

Among some fifty-five yet more extraordinary inventions in progress in Mr. Edison's laboratory is one which concerns serial navigation, and it is not unlikely that the next great revelation of science will be in that direction.

Now in the name of all the Gods at once Upon what meat does this, our Cosar feed That he has grown so great.

may well be asked of Mr. Edison. As a matter of fact his principal food s cigars, of which he smokes about twenty a day, and the more he works the more he smokes, and with him work is a religion. He generally gets through wenty hours of it every day and never takes more than four hours' sleep. Although he often works steadily in his laboratory for days together without even taking a "wash up," yet, withal, though he does everything contrary to the rules of health, he has a constitution of concrete, and is never even under the weather.

The secret of the Wizard's strength lies in his impenetrability. His individuality is so strong that he might be called influence incarnate, and in the company of his fellow-men he appears rather as a giant among pigmies than as a competitor among equals. Yet, when one gazes at that unwrinkled face, boyish almost in its openness, it is difficult to picture the magician who is absolutely wresting the secrets from nature. Mr. Edison indulges in none of the ordinary dissipations by which th€ scientist and the man of letters can unbend his bow. In fact he goes in for no amusement whatever, and he is above society. Yet there is nothing of the leaden-eyed, melancholy-mannered sa vant about him, and when he once de scends from the ethereal heights of sci ence, he is as frolicsome as a boy, and he inventions, two telegraph companies in has even been known on occasion to per petrate a joke.

RODDY'S MORAL HEROISM.

It Was Sublime, but Lost Him the Friend ship of Two Chums. "Roddy's coming down the street," said Cumso to Fangle. "I hear that he has caught a bass alleged to have weighed twelve pounds. Let's stop him and quiz him about it." "All right," said Fangle. "Hello, Roddy; I hear you have been fishing." "Much sport?"

"Only fair! Why, some one was telling me that you caught a fish so large that when you pulled it out of the water the river fell two inches." "I'm afraid that's an exaggeration," protested Roddy.

"Yes; so it is," added Cumso. "The fish was big enough, in all reaon, without making it out that large." "You gentlemen surprise me very much," said Roddy. "I didn't catch any thing very big.' "Well," said Cumso, "I think a twelve-pound bass is a pretty good-sized fish.'

"Who says I caught a bass of that weight?" "Why, it's all over town." "You don't say! Why, my usefuless as a Sunday-school superintendent will be ruined if it is thought I tell such whoppers as that. Why, gentlemen, I assure you that the largest fish I caught

With a low, incredulous and simultaneous whistle, Cumso and Fangle weighed only two pounds and a quar sneaked away. They could not endure the presence of a man who told the truth about his catch of fish .- William II. Siviter, in Jury. LIKE A BIG SAFE.

The Queer Mud House Called a Kura, is Which Japanese Live. The combustible nature of Japanese houses renders large fires a frequent and disastrous calamity; hence since a a long time ago the more wealthy Japanese merchants as well as farmers have been in the habit of building a kura or fire-proof mud house contiguous to their shops and dwellings, yet generally entirely isolated.

Into these are hurried at the first alarm which indicates a fire approaching the premises the portable property, household stuffs, merchandise, etc., and the kura is then closed, and if time permits, the joints of windows and doors are sealed with fresh mud. A fire passing around and over such a structure will leave its contents unharmed.

It is a very common thing to see in Yokohama, in the streets of the native town, many of these kura built with much attention to architectural effect. They resemble very closely gigantic fire-proof safes, which may be one, two and even three stories high. They have heavy projecting roofs, concavely curved, covered with extremely heavy tiles of black terra cotta.

The gable end always faces the street. In each story is a window-like opening heavily barred with iron for lighting the interior. These are closed at night and in case of fire by heavy-looking

A KURA. doors exactly resembling those of our fire-proof office safes at home in appearance. The whole structure is smoothly stuccoed and painted black. The entrance is placed where most convenient to the owner

The kura is built of a light framework of wood, between the openings of which is securely fastened open wickerwork of bamboo, writes a correspondent of the Detroit Free Press. Then the whole wall surface inside and out is solidly filled with stiff plastic mud taken from the bottom of the river, and when thoroughly dried is smoothly cov ered with stucco, often treated ornamentally. No wood or other combustible material appears on the surface anywhere, and except for the color the kura would form quite an ornamental feature among the houses.

THE PAY OF AUTHORS.

two e

teasp cups table

salt,

and

Bake

quari potat balls;

salt, Put

brown sauce turist

cups stir corn

Boil

put i cove butt salt, boil lemo jelly

the

tem less lam the Facts for Persons Who Think That Liter-I caught one of our best known au-thors in a confidential mood recently, and his comments on the revenue of authorship, which he gave me permission afterwards to print, carry interest with them. I may add that the name of this author is one of the most widely known in American literature to-day. years ago I chose between law and literature. I had every opportunity to succeed at the bar, for, through hard study and my connections, a lucrative practice seemed opened to me. But I turned to authorship. To-day I am what the world calls a successful author. My last novel was bid for by three publishers, and my royalties, I am told by my publishers, are higher than those of the majority of their writers. I have the pleasure of hearing my books and name hawked on the trains when I am traveling, the newspapers give me from a quarter of a column to a column and a half reviews. But what has literature brought me in money? Let me open my vest-pocket book to you. Here is my actual revenue for 1889, and includes, as you see, royalties on six of my novels, magazine articles, etc., and every thing is collected. Here is the total -$2,170.40 Compare these actual figures to the paragraph recently circulated, in which I am reputed to earn $10,000 from my pen. Is it any wonder that the unsophisticated enter literature with false hopes? Yes, print these facts if you wish; only, of ourse, withhold my name and identity." I reproduce here the facts and figures as they were given to me. I ouly wish it were possible, for the sake

However, the facts in general must be sufficient. I am constantly asked by literary beginners as to the prices generally paid by magazines for literary work. Of ourse, in my answer, I must be understood as only referring to beginners, not those who have, by constant practice, become experienced with the pen and know what is most desired by editors. It is safe, I think, for beginners to depend upon the following prices: Poems are the least marketable, but where a poem of average length is acceptedsay four verses of eight lines each-the price is from $5 to $15 each. A short story of 2,000 words commands $25 to $35 at the lowest, $50 to $100 at the highest, every thing depending on the strength of the story and the magazine to which it is sold, Prose articles of any merit whatever range from $4 to $10 per thousands words, the average being about $6. Of course, prices for literary work, as prices for dry goods or any thing else, vary according to the quality of the goods, but those I have quoted are, I provided, of course, that they fall into the hands of reputable magazines. As a rule the good magazines pay upon a ceptance of a manuscript.-Edward W. Bok, in Chicago Journal.

of those who think that literature is-a bed of roses, to give this author's name,

THE PENITENTES. Barbarous Performances of Fanatics in New Mexico.

The Penitentes seem to a new comer in the country to be a strange order of superstitious fanatics, the old flagellants of the dark ages, who have come down by some ecclesiastical legerdemain, landing in this corner of the terrestrial foot-stool. Their performances are a touch of baptized barbarism clutching at the skirts of this nineteenth century. The horribleness of seeing them at work flagellating themselves on Good Friday is akin in the recollection to the heartrending moans of the wounded and dying in a terrible calamity. They compose a secret organization that is fast dying out, and is not now sanctioned by the dominant church, and the worst of their doings are supposed to take place in their lodge rooms. They are seen to outsiders only when marching in procession, carrying each a rough wooden cross, nearly heavy enough to crush them under its weight. Their backs are usually bare, and as they stagger along as best they can, weighted down by their burdensome load in body and their sins in mind, their brethren beat them with clubs and prick them with cacti till, in many instances, there isn't an inch of the flesh that isn't torn and bleeding. Not infrequently they die from the effects of the terrible punishment inflicted. A doleful chanting, in which they specify the particular sins they are trying to explate, is continually kept up. And yet this very class is usually composed of the rabble element of the community. Often, when they get through their penances, they go straight off and get drunk and run up another score of evil deeds done in the body greater than the last. They seem to hold implicitly to the belief that every sin committed must be paid for in suffering, and the more pain one endures here, the less he will have hereafter. These poor, deluded penitentes are not attempting any moral improvements. They are merely endeavoring to shorten their stay in purgatory, and horrid work they make of it. Any one who was ever so unfortunate as to be locked into one of their lodges must admit that a feeling of uneasiness and uncertainty crept over him while there. Perchance a dim light, as the scene may be described, made awfully indistinct and ghastly the rude form of Christ on the cross; the men stretched out full length on the ground, more like corpses than living beings, and the wretched objects who piled the scourges on themselves and the others, making the blood spurt at every stroke, while the yells, wails and howls were indescribably ter-

But such barbarous practices will soon have become obsolete in New Mexico. Even now it is only the well-informed who can point out their hiding places when engaged in their flagellations .-Las Vegas Optic.

-Social economy-Mrs. Scroogge-I'm writing to ask the Browns to meet the Joneses here at dinner, and to the Joneses to meet the Browns. We owe them both you know." Mr. Scroogge-'But I've heard they've just quarreled and don't speak!" Mrs. Scroogge-"I know. They'll refuse, and we needn't give a dinner party at all."-Punch.

Bake in gem pans or muffin rings.

with this > quarter of boiled halibut fine, adding potato in the same proportion as for fishballs; season nicely with butter and brown in the oven. Serve with an eggsauce, if preferred .- American Agriculturist.

-Boiled Salad Dressing: Heat two cups of rich milk (half cream is better); stir in two heaping tablespoonsful of beat hard, and when cold, season to taste with vinegar, mustard, etc.—Christian at Work.

Boil a young chicken, cut in pieces and put in a stew pan with soup stock to cover. Stir in a quarter of a pound of butter and one beaten egg. Season with salt, pepper and thyme; add two hard boiled eggs cut up, and the juice of a lemon. Boil and sarve with wild grave. Boil and serve with wild grape jelly, -N. Y. Observer. -The care of lamps is quite an item in the daily routine, out if they are systematically attended to it takes much less time in the long run. Fill the lamps early in the morning and wipe them carefully, first with a damp cloth and then with a soft, dry one. burnt portion of the wicks should be pinched off with a bit of cloth, and only occasionally should they be trimmed with scissors to keep them perfectly

-Pineapple Pudding: Beat the velks of six eggs, grate half-a-pound of pineapple, add to it a cupful of sugar and one of hot cream; mix, set in a kettle of boiling water, and stir until it thickens; emove from the fire and set on ice. When cold, add a pint of whipped cream, mix through the pudding, beat the whites of the eggs, and stir in. Pour in a mold and set to cool. When solid, turn out, and serve with cream sauce, flavored with extract of pineapple .-

-Strawberry Cake: This is some thing more than the old-fashioned strawberry shortcake. Make a simple sponge cake and bake in two layers; when done these should not be an inch thick. For the filling bring a pint of milk to the boiling point in a double boiler, add the velks of three eggs well beaten with two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one of eorn starch: stir until it thickens and turn out to cool. While the cakes are still warm, spread a layer of this over; cover thickly and regularly with large strawberries; lay on the second layer of cake, cover with a thinner layer of the eream, and place berries on top. Dust with powdered sugar and serve with a pitcher of milk or cream.

FOR HOUSEWIVES TO TRY.

Possibly a Useful Bit of Information from Uncle Sam's Bug Bureau. In a bulletin just issued by the division of entomology, Department of Agriculture, Dr. C. V. Riley, writing of insect pests of the household, after de-scribing various species of cockroaches, try and keep cool.—Philadelphia Ledsays: In the latitude of Washington and further south the croton bug eats every thing which contains paste, and consequently wall paper, photographs and especially certain kinds of cloth book bindings suffer severely from their attacks. In a recent number of Insect Life will be found an account of severe injury done to certain of the important files in the Treasury Department in Washington, the bindings of many important public documents being disfigured and destroyed. In the office of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey they have become an intolerable nuisance by eating off the surface and particularly the blue and red paint from drawings of important maps.

But I need not elaborate further upon the damage which they do. How to kill them and prevent this damage is the question.

Without condemning other useful measures or remedies like borax, I would repeat here what I have already urged in these columns, viz., that in the free and persistent use of California buhach or some other fresh and reliable brand of pyrethrum or Persian insect powder have the most satisfactory means of dealing with this and the other roaches mentioned.

Just before nightfall go into the infested rooms and puffit into all crevices, under baseboards, into the drawers and cracks of old furniture-in fact, wherever there is a crack-and in the morning the floor will be covered with dead and dying or demoralized and paralyzed roaches, which may easily be swept up or otherwise collected and With cleanliness and persistence in these methods the pest may be substantially driven out of a house and should never be allowed to get full possession by immigrants from without.

For no other insect have so many quack remedies been urged and are so many newspaper remedies published.

Many of them have their good points, but the majority are worthless. In fact, rather than put faith in half of those which have been published it were better to rely on the recipe which T. A. Janvier gives in his charming article on Janvier gives in his charming article on Terre Haute Express. "Mexican Superstition and Folk-lore," published in a recent number of Scribner's Magazine, as current among the Mexicans: To get rid of cockroachescatch three and put them in a bottle, and so carry them to where two roads cross. Here hold the bottle upside down, and as they fall out repeat aloud three credos. Then all the cockroaches in the house from which these three came will go away.-Washington Star.

-The tomato, which was pronounced by the first English subject who tasted one not many years, as "not altogether uasty," has at last conquered England.

INTERESTING RELICS.

away in the bank's vaults. They went -Cream Fish: Mash one pound and a about the hazardous undertaking systematically and carefully. They had a leader, a trained safe-blower, who had cracked dozens of safes, and he occupied a full month in laying plans, perfecting means of escape, and preparing his tools with which to open the avenues to the golden treasure. Although there were fifteen men in the gigantic conspiracy, but five were to do the actual work, the balance were to be on watch at different points. The orders were to silence all passers by or watchmen who discovered salt, and make very moist with cream. a full month in laying plans, perfecting Put the mixture into a baking-dish, and | means of escape, and preparing his tools corn-starch, rubbed up with three table- passers by or watchmen who discovered spoonsful of butter; cook one minute; any thing, but to do the work with as little noise as possible, using revolvers only as a last resort.

The burglars got to work about elever -Spring Chicken Dressed as Terrapin: o'clock in the night, having captured two watchmen, chloroformed them, and building, they being compelled to saw through some immense window-bars. About 1:30 in the morning they got at the doors of the big vault, where paper money, gold and specie, to the value of over $1,000,000 were stored. There were about four inches of solid chilled-steel to bore into before a charge of powder could be successfully inserted and touched off; but these men accomplished all this, and at about four o'clock in the morning there was a dull roor the morning there was a dull roar, the building shook, and a heavy piece of the vault door flew off and crashed to the floor. A golden stream flowed out of the orifice, and the thieves crept back to where the treasure was, and began filling the heavy canvas-bags they had brought with them. They secured in all about $20,000, this being all the money within reach, the hole in the vault door not being large enough to admit a man. When they had gathered all that they could the intruders started out. They were met at the point where they entered by a half-dozen detectives, who captured the whole lot. At the trial it developed that one of the burglars was a detective, who had learned of the gang's robbing scheme, and had ingratiated himself with them, finally becoming one of the crowd. The com-pany that furnished the vault that was pany that furnished the vault that was blown open secured the tools the burglars did their work with, and exhibited them as an advertisement in their business. The claim being made that with ness, the claim being made that with the charge of powder the burglars used half the building ought to have been torn down, while in reality but a comparatively small piece of the vault door was wrecked.—Chicago News. -When brine-salting there is no use in waiting for the butter to absorb the brine when it is put into the churn; if you are ready to print or pack, give the churn a few turns, draw off the brine and the butter will be as salt as if it were allowed to remain in the brine for

-The price of ice for the season has been fixed at $1 a hundredweight. As coal is only about twenty-five cents per 100 pounds, it looks as if it might be

Our Hannah Jane. Our Hannah Jane.

Our Hannah Jane was thin and wezk,
And asiy white her lip and eneek.
We often thought—and thought with pain
"We often thought—and thought with pain."
Without loss our Hannah Jane."
Without loss our Hannah Jane.
"She sought for healing everywher.
And, when our hopes were almost past.
"Favorite Prescription" tried at last.
It gave us fope,
She cased to pine, she censed to mope,
(Pierce's remedies are sure and true)
Now Hannah Jane is good as new.
"Pierce's remedies are sure and true."

Now Hannah Jane is good as new.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive quarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years. many years.

many years.

DR. Pierce's Pellets—cleanse and regulate the stomach, bowels and system generally. One a dose; purely vegetable.

Don't be a claim. If you've got to be anything of the kind be a mud turtle. Then you may have some snap to you.—Binghamton Republican.

Money talks, but occasionally the sales-lady cries "Cash!"—Fittsburgh Chronicle.

It is said that Jefferson carried his sim-ple tasts into official life. Lots of office-holders to that, but the trouble is they taste too often.—Texas Siftings.

A LECTURER on physical beauty says that "holding one's hands up makes the veins swell and induces a large, coarse development." Train robbers, who order their victims to "throw up their hands," should be informed of this fact,—Norristown Herald

AN Esquimaux has started a paper in Greenland. The last issue announces that there is no immediate danger of an ice fam-ine, in spite of the balmy winter.—Puck. It is only between the ages of eighteen and thirty that a girl is willing to tell exactly how old sho is. Most of the rest of her life she spends in bewailing her unwise willingness during this thoughtless time.—
Somerville Journal.

Photography of the colors is the latest

Photographing in colors is the latest achievement, but no camera will ever do justice to a bald-headed man with the blues

The re-discovery of the art of tying a long four-in-hand sear! into a flat necktie, instead of in the customary sailor knot, is at present the matter which absorbs the attention of the dudes the most.

The dude is not of much practical use, but he makes an excellent background when you stand him up beside a real man.

When an editor lacks backbone, it must make him feel uncomfortable to have people refer to his "want column."—Yonkers Statesman.

There is no dampness that is so oppressive as the dampness of a woman crying.—Atchison Globe.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

—Vanity Puffs: One pint and two tablespoonfuls of flour, one pint of milk. two eggs well beaten, a little salt. Stir well and bake in hot cups or gem irons three-quarters of an hour. Nice for breakfast.

—Buckwheat Muffins: Dissolve one teaspoonful of soda (not heaping) in two cups or one pint of buttermilk; add a tablespoonful of molasses and a little salt, and stir in one cup of sifted flour and one and a half cups of buckwheat. Bake in gem pans or muffin rings.

INTERESTING RELICS.

The Tools Used in One of the Great Bank Robberles of the Age.

Until recently there was stored in the big vault of a Dearborn street safe and lock company a set of burglar tools that flgured in one of the boldest attempts at a bank robbery that has been recorded in many a year.

About ten years ago fifteen expert safe burglars conceived the grand plan of robbing the Louisville National Bank at Louisville, Ky., and getting away with about $1,000,000 in cold cash stored away in the bank's vaults. They went

Sold by Druggists, 75c. Occasionally you see a girl with five dollar gold pieces for bangles on her brace-let and a lonely nickel in her pocket-book.— Atchison Globe.

cago, Ill.

Obesity induces to inactivity. That's probably why the fat office never seeks the man.—Binghamton Leader.

Progress. It is very important in this age of vast SHAD roes by any other name would doubtless taste about the same.—Berkshire News.

An exasperating coincidence—that coal should always come down at the same time the stovepipe does.—Burlington Free Press. Must not be confounded with common cathartic or purgative pills. Carter's Little Liver I'lls are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

Many a maiden lady's age is marked down at a low figure that she may be dis-posed of at a bargain.—Rome Sentinel. Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar.

The man with a big family is a flat failure, from the landlord's point of view.—

THE Grip of Pneumonia may be warded off with Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar. Pike's Toothache Drops Cure in one minute.

RUSSIAN STUDENTS STUDENTS STORY OF THE PROPERTY OF

It frequently turns out that the queen of nds is a knave of hearts.-Ashland

Rich! fragrant! fine! are the expressions of those who smoke "Tansill's Punch" 5c Cigar A TITLE often sells a book as easily as it

PROMPTLY CURED BY

Carlisle, Pa., February 11, 1888.

I was hurt in the left hip and tried several physicians without obtaining relief. Less than a half-bottle of St. Jacobs Oil cured me. JOHN U. SHEAFER.

IF YOU HAVE SICK HEADACHE, DUMB AGUE, COSTIVE BOWELS, SOUR STOMACH and BELCHING: if your food does not assimilate and you have no appetite, KISSINC at 7, 17, 70: Photo-gravure, panel size of this picture for 4 J. F. SMITH & CO., Makers of 'Bile Reans.' St. Louis, Mo.

but Permanently CURED.
FREE TO ANY ADDRESS.
The Yellow Pine Extract Co., PITTSBURGH, PA. ST NAME THIS PAPER every time you WM. FITCH & CO.

PENSION ATTORNEYS

DO You Live in a House! If so, you want a HARTMAN Steel Wire Mat. Absolutely fexible. Endorsed by Physicians and U. S. Government. Send for prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Falls. Pacar-NAME THIS PAPER steel; time you write. DEHORN your CALVES easily, cheaply, by using druggists, or sent, express prepaid, for $1, by W. P. STEARNS, Banufacturer, Monroc, Wis. Circulars free, ex-NAME TRIS PAPER erey thes pos with.

NEVER BETS ON HIS OWN HORSE.

The tell a good story of a man who has a fondless for fast horses. A year or two ago he had one that was said to be a "flyer," and marvdous stories were told of what she had done, and was capable of doing. But an intimate friend noticed that the owner of the wonderful brse never staked any money on her.

"Why don't you back her for a good, round sum, if she an do what you claim she can?" he asked "That would prove that you had confilence in her, but as it it is —."

"See here, my fiend," said the other, with a twinkle in hi eye, "don't you know me well enough to know that I'm too modest to bet on my own ng, especially when I feels sure that she can't come out ahead?"

When a man knows he can accomplish what he undertakes he doesn't feel too modest to say so. Waen Dr. Pierce put his "Favorite Prescription" before the public as a certain remedy for "female weakness," with "satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded" on every bottle of it, it proved that he had entire confidence in the preparation. He felt sure of its merits, and Purely Vegetable and Perfectly Harmless. Unequaled as a Liver Pill. Smallest, Cheapest, Easiest to Take. One Tiny, Sugar-coated Pellet a Dose. Cures Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all desagrements of the stomach and bowels. 25 cents, by druggists.

UNADQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sloux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Cmaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abliene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADC. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Gouncil Bluifs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Eotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandours of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE, Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sloux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

CHICAGO. II.L. Qun'l Ticket & Pass. Agens.

Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lefayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps. Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address Ceneral Manager. PISO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH.—Best. Easiest to use. Cheapest. Relief is immediate. A cure is certain. For Cold in the Head it has no equal.

DETECTIVES PATENTS! PURE FORTUNE! A PORT OF INSTRUCTIONS PREE

SOLDIERS and Heirs write us for new Pension laws, sent free, Deserters relieved.

Soldiers Sun, Washington, D. C., & Gincinnati, O.

**SAME THIS PAPER very time you write.

**A. N. K.—C.

1291.

**WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE.**

**Advertisement in this.** PENSIONS If you want your pension WITHpension WITHpension WITHpension WITHpension WITHthe hands of JOSEPH M. HUNTER, ATTORNEY, WASHINGTON, D. C.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE attract that you saw the Advertisement in this state that you saw the Advertisement in this pension Bureau.

GPAME THIS PAPER every time you want.

For Fifty Years

Standard Blood-purifier and

Tonic, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has no equal

Spring Medicine.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE AND $2 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN And Other Advertised Specialities Are the Best in the World.

W. L. BOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass. GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1878. W. BAKER & CO.'S Is absolutely pure and it is soluble. No Chemicals are used in its preparation. It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is therefore far more

Sold by Grocers everywhere. W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

VASELINE PREPARATIONS,

On receipt of price in postage stamps we will ser 4 free by mail the following valuable articles: One Box of Pure Vaseline, . . . . 10 Cents. One Box of Vaseline Camphor Ice, 10 Cts. One Box of Vaseline Cold Cream. 15 Cts. One Cake of Vaseline Soap.... 10 Cents. One Bottle of Pomade Vaseline, 15 Cents. One Bottle of Pomade Vaseline, 15 Cents,

If you have occasion to use "Vaseline" in any form be careful to accept only genuine goods put up by us in original packages. A great many druggists are trying to persuade buyers to take Vaseline Preparations put up by them. Never yield to such persuasion, as the article is an imitation without value and will not do good nor give you the result you expect. A two ounce bottle of Blue Seal Vaseline is sold by all druggists at ten cents.

Ko Vaseline is genuiue unless our name is on the label.

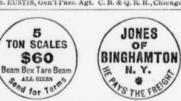

Cheschrough Mfg. Co., 24 State St., N. Y.

J. I. CASE T. M. GO.

The "Soo" Railway opens up large tracts of Pine. Hemick and Hardwood Pine Hemick and Hardwood Railway opens up large tracts of Pine. Hemick and Hardwood Railway Contact and Factor Hess. Timbered Farming Lands CHEAP and mostly on time. Railway Co. Pays Cash for Cordwood. Address "SOO" RAILWAY, Minneapolis, Mins Pract of the Paper of the you write.

Budington HALF RATES
ROUTE FARMING REGIONS WEST, SOUTHWEST, NORTHWEST,

LANDS BITTER ROOT VALLEY

NOW READY. Describes their latest improved Threshers. Threshing Engines, Naw Mills and Saw Mill Engines. Horse Powers, Stationary Engines, Pluin or Automatic, and ROILERS. Address RUSSELL & CO., - MASSILLON, OHIO. ENGINES AUTOMATIC. PORTABLE OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO.,
Painted Post, N. V.
FE CATALOGUE FREE.

We were not very well off. Father's situation in the bank, although a responsible one, yielded but a small pensive family he had to support; so, when the question came up where sideration was the expense.

It did not make much difference to me-I was sure of a certain amount my pretty curls and shining eyes had | water lily." captured the hearts of the"big boys," naturally great things were expected

I and had always been delicate, but doubt.

Father accompanied us, but only stopped long enough to see us comthe uplands.

as one swallows a bitter tonic. I play- wreck. ed on the little old-fashioned piano dull and commonplace.

from her chair by the window.

mouthed wonder.

full of importance.

that the stage has come and Mr. away. Brent was in it. He is here every summer and comes gunning in the my heart told me who it was. winter. He gave us the sail boat on the bay, and we had his name painted on it, 'Hartley Brent.' He ain't and sat down on the same beam, so very young, but he's rich, and I dress before you came down,"

She hurried away, feeling she had done a good deed.

After closing the door to shut out the cold sea air, I wrapped a shawl around poor, shivering Millie, sav-

"Now, dear, I have been 'forewarned,' and when I am arrayed in my new grenadine I shall be 'forearmed."

Time dragged no longer after Hartly Brent came, and soon several other pleasure seekers arrived, until we were a merry party. Escorts were plenty, and, as was the privilege of my bellehood, I chose such as pleased me best. When my choice fell on Mr. Brent, as it often did, I could see how pleased he was to be of seryice. He was never officious, yet always ready to quietly render any little attention needed. His manner was different from the gay gallantry of other cavaliers, with their jests and flattery, though he was always deferential, and praised my taste, my music and my voice with a discriminating earnestness I knew to be sin-

"It is because he is older than the others," I said to Millie, who loyed to hear me talk of him.

She was always interested in anything I liked, and he had been kind and books and taking her in his know it could look so handsome. strong arms down to the parlor of an evening, and back again to her room when she was tired. "Besides," I said to myself, the warm brood circling around my heart at the thought, him : "their attentions mean nothing, and he is in earnest."

ning sat on the piazza, after I had ed to when I followed you here," tucked Millie in bed and kissed her that they might not reach or disturb shade between his face and mine.

can over the moonlit expanse, love | eart, as I never loved any one office 30 Baltimore Street.

salary when compared with the ex- square glass that hung on the wall of wealth shall not be spared, and I am of admiration and attention wherever to her with a kindly smile, as though to beg you for the sake of our pleas-I went. I had always received it she might feel slighted, "with her ant friendship to use it in my favor," since my first day at school, where golden hair and white dress, is a

It was our last day at Beachpoint. and fancy saw my love boat reel from up to the last ride taken in the park. The season was nearly over and side to side and then go down, swal-With not only the beauty but mamma was already home with the lowed up in mid-ocean, much of the eleverness of the family, boys and had written to me to come and bring Millie. Mamma informed ed them, and I went home, as I shall I had but one sister-a poor, pale, to a celebrated physician, and he happiness, with never a line on my little thing. She was younger than thought she could be cured beyond a face to tell of my loss .- Bell Barnard.

for some time had been growing In the morning we went with a gradually weaker, until now we merry bathing party over the bay to wheeled her about the house in an the surf. Millie waved her hand to easy chair. It was finally decided us from her seat on the porch, where that mamma should take the boys up Hartly, with brotherly kindness, had into New Hampshire and sister Mil- brought her and crowned her with lie and I should go down to Beach- moist pond lilies, which he must point, a little unknown resort on the have walked a long distance to gather,

After taking my bath, I donned my walking dress again, and getting fortably settled. I was lonesome tired of watching the others in their enough the first few days. There picturesque costumes, sporting in the were no boarders but us, and the breakers, I wandered down the beach house was the only one or the beach. to a point where the hulls of two our neighbors being away back in staunch vessels, with crushed timbers half sunk in the sand, eloquentiy to the three fundamental black, yel-I dutifully took my bath each day told the story of storm and ship- low and white stens.

Seating myself on a projecting in the parlor, and to kill time slept beam, I gave myself up to pleasant ville, Ga. It is said to be worth $40 away the greater part of the long recollections of the eventful week summer afternoon, It was all very which had just passed. I pictured my fairy boat sailing over friendly Millie was cheerful and contented. seas and under cloudless skies, until She read and worked on the pretty life being done, it was anchored in things she was constantly knitting heaven. I had no fear for the future out of bright wools, or sketched as if one dear hand was to guide me one much of the scenery as she could see thrilling voice I had come to know so well was to cheer me.

One evening I was out of sorts and How good and noble he is! I a little cross, and had just declared I thought with a swelling heart; how wouldn't make a toilet to go down altogether superior to all men I had stairs, where there was no one but known; how worthy the love and the landford's son, who usually ex- respect of any woman! I had never pressed his admiration with open- been in love before. I had seen a great deal of society, and received Presently our landlady bustled in several offers, but none were eligible. and when mamma said "No," I had tures, when used in large quantities, "I just run up a minute to tell you, without a pang seen father turn them retards digestion, neutralizing the

There was a step behind me, and

"Don't you suppose I have followthought perhaps you'd like to know ed those little footprints until I know he was here so as to change your the slender tracks?" he smilingly answered, pointing to the impression in the damp sand, of my high-heel walking boots. "Isn't this scene grand? One never tires of looking at the ocean, for it is never twice alike.'

He was silent a moment, and seemed more thoughtful than usual, gathering a handful of the white sand and watching it sift slowly through his fingers. At length recovering himself, he said:

"Sing something, please; you know I always like to hear you sing, supply ten lamps with light for thir-'in season and out of season.' The sea will be bass and accompaniment," Fishers Went Sailing Out Into the West." swelling over the water with the more than 75 degrees farenheit. melody and dying away to the sounding monotone of the waves, I looked at my companion. His face was turned seaward, and over it was a soft, ned expression, and in his eyes a tender light I had never seen there before, though my heart ceased heating, my voice was too well trained to falter, and the music wailed on.

For men must work and women must weep Though the harbor bar be moaning.

The sad chord did not touch him; joy, and faith and hope held possession of his soul. How his thoughts irradiated his somewhat stern features. It was the face of the one man to her, bringing her fruitand flowers in the world for me, but I did not

When the last echo of the song was lost in a retreating billow, he turned, and taking my hand, he said in the courtly manner that never forsook

"Thank you. I did not know there was so much music in that means of a microphone to a receiver, How quickly time flies when one song. I have heard it often before is happy. Each perfect summer day but never like that. Your rendering has a remembrance in my heart; we of it adds a hundred fold to its meanboated and fished and gathered shells ing. And now I want to speak to indicated by white disks marking during the day, and in the long eye- you on subject that I had not intend-

His bronzed face took on a ruddier hue, and the firm fingers closed over Mr. Brent and I engaged in quiet my hands in a nervous clasp, while conversation, our voices subdued, unneticed by him I lowered my sun-those who sat with as, while he told "I know I ought to have waited me of his home; of his struggles with until you were at home, and I had the world, and the success which had meant to, but something impels me crowned them; his past life, and to throw myself on your mercy, and plans and aspirations for the future. find out my fate before you leave. I Listening to his voice and looking love your sister Millie with all my freighted a fairy boat and launched before, and I ask your permission to it from the sand, and I watched it tell her so. I do not think she regards sailing o'er the summer sea, careless me wholly with indifference. I will where it drifted, I was so happy. take and cherish her as a precious Each day I looked in the little flower. As my wife, time and our room and saw myself growing confident that somewhere may be more blooming and radient. Mr. found a cure for her infirmity, Will we should spend the summer, one of Brent-I called him Hartley in my you intercede in my behalf, if she D spepsia and Habitual Constipation the first things to be taken into con- thoughts-said I reminded him of a hesitates to comit herself to my care? crimson carnation, with my bright plead for me with the assurance that edy. color and the spicy scent of my fan. it is love, not pity, I feel. Knowing "And, Millie," he added, turning your great influence over her, I want A cloud was gathering on the deep, the waves looked dark and angry.

> At the call of the company we joinme that she had described her case go through life in daily sight of their > > Scientific and Industrial.

A new crematory is to be built in Paris, which will do its work in less than an hour.

Kerosene as a therapeutic a not is highly spoken of by Dr. H. A. Gross in the Medical World. In a new swedish glass phorphorus and boron are the most important of fourteen constituents. A commission of the German railway companies estmates the duration of steel rails a thirty-five years. Quatrefages reckins up at least 172

races of then, all lowever reducible

Boxite, or silvefine, as some call it, has been discovered near Adairsa ton, and is being mined.

A recent patent applies to a machine for dusting poisonous powders on growing plants, such as cotton or potatoes, to rid them of insects. A preject for the repression of false marks of origin on industrial product has been submitted to the Industrial Conference at Madrid. Steel seamless boats are made by hydraulic power in England. They are said to be superior to those of wood, and can be produced at about the same cost. The use of saccharine in France has been restricted, as its antiseptic nagastric juice.

The American Cotton Seed Ph Trust is now sunning a mill for make "How did you find me ?" i asked, ing paper from the halls remaining as Mr. Brent pushed aside my dress after all the oil has been squeezed out of the cotton seed. Willis Barnes, of Charleston, Ind.

has invented a little machine which is operated by clockwork, and marks automatically, on glass, 50,000 lines on the space of an inch.

The vapor of glycerine has recently been used by French physicians whenever a distressing or frequent cough has had to be alleviated. The remedy is very simple application.

The new storage battery for lighting cars by electricity, recently tested on the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, has a capacity that will ty consecutive hours. A remarkable feature of the large

I began the old, old ballad, "Three coal mine at St. Andre du Poirise, France, which is over 3,000 feet in depth, is the comparatively low tem-As my voice rose loud and full, perature experienced which is seldom

A new electric bonng machine for drilling rivet-holes in boilers not only has a small motor for driving the drill, but is held up against the plate by means of a pair of powerful electre-magnets, making clamping unnecessary.

An Englishman has invented a means of utilizing the principle of stilts with wheels. The wheels are each acts as a sort of independent bicycle. They go yery fast when one has learned how to walk on them.

An apparatus has been invented which is intended for prevention of collision in time of fogs. A large funnel is mounted on the fore part of the yessel, and turns round at the rate of five turns a minute. The waves of sound caused by the movement of another vessel are received by a membrane and transmitted by which indicates by means of electro magnets from which point of the compass the noise comes. These are the direction, and an electric bell also sounds. Several receivers are intended to be worked from the same transmitter, for the Captain and also for the engine man, who could stop at once, or slow down if the vessel was coming in the opposite direction.

--WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md.

If You Have a Trifling Cough Don't neglectit. Use Roger's Specific Cough Cure. It is a sure and speedy cure for Coughs Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness &c. 25 cts. a bottle.

For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, &c. Use Roger's Specific Liniment. It has no equal as a cure for Sprains, Burns Bruises, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentary, Rheumatism, &c. 25 ets.

Speedily cured by a few doses of Appetite, he Great Stomach, Kidney and Liver Rem-ty. Price 50 cts.

Piles! Piles! Piles!

Roger's Specific Cocaine Pile Remedy Whi cure in a short time the most aggravated case of Itehing, protruding, Bleeding, or any other form of Piles. Price 50 cts, a box. Roger's Specific Worm Syrup Is Pleasant, Safe and efficient. Price 25 cts. For Chapped Hands, Face, &c.,

Use Frangipane Curative Balm, a delightful oilet article for the Hands, Face, Roughness of Skin, Face and Sunburn, Tetter, Pimples Blotches and Skin Diseases, Price 15 ets. All the above preparations are for sale at A. G. Sturgiss' Drug Store, Oakhand, and by druggists and country merchants in all parts of Garrett and adjoining counties.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree passed by the Circuit Court for Garrett County as a Court of Equity in a case wherein Chas. W. Boucher is complainant and Jos. Whetstone and others are defendants, the undersigned was appointed Trustee to make sale of certain real estate therein decreed to be sold, in pursuance of said decree I will offer at Public Sale

On the 10th Day of JUNE Next at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., in front of the Mellinger House, in Grantsville, in said county, the following real estate, to-wit: A tract of land called

"SMOOTH VALLEY." containing 106 acres except so much as was conveyed to Casper Schram by a deed from Sarah and Phillip Durst, dated July 9, 1868, recorded among the land records of Allegany County, also a part of adjoining said "Smooth Vailey,," containing for said part 3% acres, as described in a deed to Sarah Durst from Jacob Biocher and others dated July 25, 18:8, recorded among the land records of said Allegany County. These two parcels of land lie in a body and are pleasantly situated about two miles East of Grantsville on the National Road, and contain about 190 acres and are improved with a DWELLING-HOUSE, Stable and out-houses. TERMS OF SALE—As prescribed by said decree: One-half the purchase money to be paid in Cash on the day of sale and the balance in two equal installments at six and twelve months with interest. The deferred payments to be secured by the purchaser with his notes and surety to the satisfaction of Trustee.

"STANTON'S PURCHASE,

PHINEAS C. BOUCHER. 5 17 4t

EXAMINERS' NOTICE. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That th

Agency and the first the new through which the new to point on the Hutton Switch row are Dodge's, and running thence through es Dodge's, and running thence through on the lines of the tands belonging to ames Dodge, Edward Teats, John Counell, c., Thomas Spahr, John M. Browning, and Sylvester Rimard to the West Virginha line, hear the Thomas place, and examine whether the said new tond should be opened, will meet on Satarday, the 3ist day of May, 1820, for such perpess, and to determine whether the public convenience requires the said road so, to locate the same, and perfort the Fremiscs.

ACKUYKENDALL,

ISAAC KUYKENDALL, ISAAC LAYTON, JOHN HARNED,

OUR FAVORITE SINCER rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ring Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St. Philadelphia. Pm.

FOR SALE!

fastened to the feet as stilts are, and Small Farm Near Deer Park

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one bundred acres, fifty acres censist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all un-der fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park For terms, &c., apply to

JOS. G. NESBITT, Fairmont, W. Va.

ALESMEN WANTER SALARY AND EXPENSES PAID. L. P. THURSTON & CO.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER. East End Oak St., Oakland, Md. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS.

Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and resting many other popular varieties, I find that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as represented.

represented. Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself.

We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Piesse write for prices and terms.

We will have all kinds of Flower and Vegetables. Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season.

Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express. Address H. WEBER, Box &, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEA Pand on the neaver and others.
These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four ecual yearly payments, with interest and seem 'ty to the satisfaction of the coverage. UNSURPASSED IN TONE the satisfaction of the owner. For further information apply to.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Mc

VALUABLE STOCK FARM

FOR SALE. I am authorized to sellthe valuable

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, enant House, Barn and other out-buildings

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland containing 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story

FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.
The land is heavily l-med and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.
Two and one-half tobs of hay to the acre was produced this year.

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md. 8 17 tf

MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year--Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three course Regular and electric studies. Three coarse outlined—Academic, Scientific or Commercall. Special attention to collegiate requirements, Number of Pupis strictly Limited. Reference Library.

For terms, heurs, coarses, &c., apply to

REV. J. NEWMAN. Principal. 7 7 td J. P. LEWIS,

-MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the State for the same price. J. F. LEWIS.

33'881y Cranesville, W. Va DR. E. H. BARTLETT,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church. tf 296

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

-GO TO-Henry J. Mayers' OAKLAND PH RMACY

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS

MEDICINES. Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all

RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. "Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto."

-Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands, AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on

Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Var-

nishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc.

Give me a call before going elsewhere.

German and English Spoken. H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G.,

Opp. GLADES HOTEL. EVERETT & HARVARD

PINNOS ? CLOUGH & WARREN

ORGANS.

DURABILITY! EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY

WORKMANSHIP AND

GUARANTEED! Having debided to make a specialty of self

ask.

I can also furnish ad kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md. B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

€ Place of business—Railroad street, next to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890;

GOING EAST 6-Accommodation -Accommodation .

GOING WEST. 71—Accommodation 47—Express..... 15-Accommodation

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD. General Passenger Agent.

D. E. BOLDEN E. M. SPEDDEN. NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES.

OAKLAND, . MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, sweeney, Ring bone, Suffes, Sprains, all swollen Thronts, Coughs, etc. Save 550 by use of one bottle. ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails, Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME I

OAKLAND, MD., SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1890.

NUMBER 15.

PROF SONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDICORD,

ATTORIEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. ## Office in Prighard Building, Oakland,

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancia tvestigation of landvilles and collection staims. Loans negotiated. 1614-18

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice is the Courts of Garrett, Alle gany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va. 4.8 Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of States, including clother against United States, to the Collection of Campanian Collection Collect Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above drug store. 6.5 '86 tf.

WARING THOMAS. EWD, H. SINCELL THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, GAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Aliegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia.

J. W. VEITCH. VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW
SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY,
OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

30 Office in the Court House, 2 sty 3-tf.

A, B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. "Office in Pritchard Ruilding, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY. Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing Dental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 622 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. Eg-Residence a' Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.-1y.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.,

ffers his professional services to the people Oakland and vicinity. 55'88 まるつけice with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two Boots and Shoes.

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Carticular attention paid to cleaning and filing the natural teeth.

All work warranted to give satisfaction.

Br. I. II. Wawingn. OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. alleday or night promptly attended to

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND. Of 1335 acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The Improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outpulldings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place.
For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for Owners.

Successful Freatment of Disease A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY! MICROBE KILLER Successful Treatment, Bronchitis, Consumption, Melaria, Rheumatism. Wonderful Toule and Blood Purifier. officacy of the Microbe Killer in cases of con-traction has been so effectually demonstrated that we think in claiming for it contains powers beyond the contract of the contract of the contract of the contract of the desired contract of the contract of jugs. Price $3.00. Wm. Badam's Microbe Killer. Philadin. Po-

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 284, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattle to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down.

THEOS. B. HORWITZ BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmithing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as tow as can be had for first class work. Shop bear"Browning House." NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES MULES!

We have opened

NEW

STOCK YARDS AT

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-

Mules for Logging -and-

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO.,

Barritt Station,

MILLS.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates, Ar Estimates cheerfully given on allkinds of mill work.

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of-

Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD. Nov. 21, 85.- y.

FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oak and and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river.

This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. good orenard, and a young orenard jus-oming into bearing. The farm is well watered, and is in every ay a very desirable property. One hundred nd twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican office, Oakland, Md.

&

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Co. Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS -AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poies, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Belting, Olis, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys-wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagons, Buggles, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First-Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

BARRITT STATION Wolff's ACME Blacking

When out of order, involves every organ of the body. Remedies for ome other deraigement are frequently taken without the least effect, because it is the layr which is thereal source of the trouble, alt until that set right there can be no halth, strengh, or comfort in any part of the stem. Mercury, in some form, is a common pecific for a slug-gish liver; but a far safer ad more effective

Ayer's Pils. For loss of appetite, billious toubles, consti-

For loss of appetite, billious bubbles, consti-pation, indigestion, and sick hadache, these Pills are unsurpassed.

"For a long time I was a afferer from stomach, liver, and kidney trubles, expe-riencing much difficulty in digstion, with severe pains in the lumbar regio and other parts of the body. Having tried, variety of remedies, including warm baths, with only temporary relief, about three mouths ago I began the use of Aver's Pills, and ay health began the use of Ayer's Pills, and ay health is so much improved that I gladly estify to the superior merits of this medine." -Manoel Jorge Pereira, Porto, Portugal. "For the cure of headache, Ayer's Cathortic Pills are the most effective medicine I ever used."—R. K. James, Dorchester, Mass "When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more effective than any other pill I ever took."- Mrs.

localities. Taken in small and frequent doses, these Pills on the liver, restoring its natural powers, and aiding it in throwing off malarial poisons."

Act Well

— C. F. Alston, Quitman, Texas.

"Whenever I am troubled with constipation, or suffer from loss of appetite, Ayer's Pills set me right again."—A. J. Kiser, Jr., Rock House, Va. Rock House, va.

"In 1858, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for billousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than anything

I had previously tried, and I have used them in attacks of that sort ever since."—H. W. Hersh, Judsonia, Ark. Ayer's Pills,

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

FARM FOR SALE!

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables plain Mary Jones." For particulars and terms, apply to orad-

FIRE INSURANCE. tude?"

to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of proper-ty on shert notice and at reas-mable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property. Insure your property in good companies— those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. F. A. THAYER.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-iness direct, hence can transact patent busi-ness in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with de-scription. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, country, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C. SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers.

WHICH TO MARRY

WILLIAM H. BUSHNELL.

Ellis sat alone in the room pleased to call his study. It owever, used more for smokin any other purpose, he being support." the wise men who leave behind when business for the his neglected eigar burned ously near his fingers. He and --" t thinking of his client's inter ing the form, face and expresreproduced; in endeavoring to

Ave of his sister's dress as she enebstraction.

thus. Then Jeanette-not Edis any contrast with the one less favored, and heart." longer, as she had wedded a few and the words of his sister grated months previously-Jeanette Mason, upon his ear and heart. "Which, Robert, which?"

"You here, Jean?" he questioned the photographs away and dressed to in astonishment. "I thought I was ge out, it has burned me nearly to the bone," and he threw it spitefully away. your heart to ashes."

Jean ?"

of making a wife, Rob?"

whiteness and smoothness forbade at the fever heat of love.

at Long Branch, caught her as she as he did so. was being swept away by the under- "I might as well know the con-

"Well ?" would not be the wife she desired for en of anticipation.

her brother.

"Plain enough, certainly, if judged and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young or chard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bearting.

"Plain enough, certainly, if judged by the world's standard of female loveliness, but of the kind to grow beautiful with love and time. Did versed. She saved mine."

"And won your 'everlasting grati sylvania a few weeks since. No, I and not an idle one.

was not about to be devoured by bears or have my bones picked scrupulously clean by wildcats, but lost my way, slipped upon a mossy rock, liant daughter." hung suspended over a dangerous precipice and would have soon gone crashing to the bottom had not this young lady-hum, she must be about my own age-heard my shouts, come to the rescue and by strength of arm drew me up to safety."

"A mountain -," with a confused pause at her inability to command term for a female Hercules may be." at the picture, Jean, and give me That Annie Belford was determinyour opinion."

is she?" "The one child of a ruined mer- time would work a cure. chant, with an invalid mother to Would it? Marry in haste and reused to toil.

brayely, you may be assured. The and when "righting up" his study other is ?"

ut his own. All of mind and brother! Hark, my busband is cale even respect. were concentrated upon two ling; I must go, Some other time

"Very well." The answer was fair enough, but Robert Ellis inwardly determined usual care; saw that an hour would help see that he failed to hear the that time should never come. He had settle his two and her heart sank taken the pictures from their secret within her. But hiding her feelings tered, closed the door, stood behind resting place not to decide between she asked: hien and looked at the cause of his them; simply to make one act as the foil of the other, to render the beauty For a few minutes they remained of Annie Bellord more supreme by prepared to take her to your home asked in a half-bantering, half-earn- "Women are always savagely jealous of any one better looking than themselves," he grumbled as he put alone and -the deuce take that cigar, His sister intercepted him and asked whither he was going.

"Nowhere in particular; simply "And mind, Rob, one of these does for a stroot and-well-may drop into not burn you more deeply-burn the club," was answered positively, though his dicision had already been phasize her blessing with a prayer. "Do you speak from experience, made, and he walked as rapidly as possible to the home of Annie Bel; etiquette to do so, but his restless "Very far from it. With me mar- ford! A luxurious home it was, and spirit would not permit him to reriage has been no failure-has been he found the young lady radient in main within doors. A walk was necthe fruition and glorification of love. dress and smiles, and the reception essary to calm him. and he turned But which of these are you dreaming he received was flattering in the ex- into a neighboring park. From there treme. Again and again he was he could see the house of his charmer "What have you to say to this thanked impressively for saving her and perhaps even catch a glimpse of one?" and taking one of the pictures life from "those horrid waves," the face and form to him now the from the table he handed it to her for With deft fingers the keys of the piano were touched: with the sweetest It was that of a girl, below rather possible voice she sang for and at vinity absent. He wished the wings than above twenty years, blue-eyed, him; in every way she endeavored might be swift that brought her regolden-haired, with skin as the lily to charm; with blushes tempte I and turn and turn and thrilled with exultation as and lips as the rose, slight of form, with eyes magnetized and sent the he saw his desire gratified. Almost

"I have found in Ayer's Pills, an invaluable remedy for constipation, billousness, and kindred disorders, peculiar to miasmatic er, "is Miss Annie Belford, young, opening upon the table in his study localities. Taken in small and frequency opening upon the table in his study 'finished' (with a slight sneer upon when he returned. It had no particthe word) at a fashionable female lar temptation for him, so he lessureacidemy, rich, and acknowledged to ly lighted a cigar. Then he carelessbe beautiful. I met her last summer ly took it up, mentally commenting > tow, and so become easily acquainted tents, but wish business had kept at for your carelessness and stupidity, and won ber everlasting gratitude." a distance and left this night for- and the riding whip sang in its pas-"What of her character, Rob?" hum, Mary Jones! What in the "The yery problem I was study- name of humanity can she be writing stinging blows fell upon the sad, ing. I know she rides fairly well, to me for! Wants me to call a searly pinched little face. can play and sing, and can dance as possible to-morrow. Well, I shall In his efforts to escape the boy fell gracefully for an unlimited number have to do so on account of gratitude with his head striking the sharp edge Mary."

> There was something in his open, He carelessly tossed the note aside, manly face, in his accent, that told of finished his cigar, and as soon as his more than a casual interest. It head touched the pillow gave himself alarmed his sister, for with the quick to dreaming such love-tinted dreams ly into the house, leaving the injured intuition of women she felt the girl as momentarily turn earth in a heav- boy to his fate.

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 30 the dicision in the bright hazel eyes erected a and flushing a trifle indignantly, "is the young lawyer, quickly disposed of and the interview could soon have ended. There was, however, a quiet charm about the modest house, a lady-like repose and self-possession about her manner that interested and detained him; no effort to "show "No, the circumstances were re- off," although her conversation revealed;extensive reading and culture; an open piano that she was no stranger to; to "words wedded to melo-Scarcely. You remember I was dy," and pictures upon wall and hunting in the mountains of Penn- easel that told her brush was a gifted

> "You are blessed," he said to the invalid mother, hoping to draw her not. A soiled handkerchief lay upon out, "in having a remarkably bril- the table beside two photographs and

"Mary is a good girl," was all the there was much more in it to him than the most fulsome laudation.

He thought of it as he hastened to hts office, more than once during the day, and seed thus sown might have flashing diamond, laid it upon the blossomed and fruited had not the lips of one of the pictures, and it was gloriously beautiful vision of Annie the word she desired, "whatever the Belford constantly obtruded itself and dazzled his eyes. For beauty to "Not so. She was a city produc- the great majority of men is as sun-

ed to win her brother his gister saw The picture was of a girl who had with misgiving and regret. Scarcely right. - Talmage. reached the age of twenty-five, tall, a day passed without some token to rather a Juno in figure than a Psyche him, a flower, an invitation to a seat with eyes and hair of the darkest in "our opera box," to accompany ing in the present, what reason have brown, nose and mouth too large for her in a horse-back ride-a some we for supposing that it will be soul-Has taken charge of Leownstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to recover the patronage of the public.

Mt. Hope Nurseries.
ELLWANGER & BARRY, Bymmetry, complexion wanting lily whiteness and rose tinting, hands not Jeanette Mason was too wise to in-

of the dairty order and evidently terfere. . She knew how much love grew by opposition; how many a "A strong and good face, Rob," man and woman had married from was the comment of the sister. "Who pique and defiance, and carefully "held her tongue," hoping that pent at leisure seemed destined to be "And does ner life work well and the bitter experience of Robert Ellis, one morning his sister found a costly "A petted child of plenty, luxury solitaire ring, she began to prepare herself for the coming of a sister-in-"Of fashion and frivolity. Oh, law she feared she could never love,

With tears starting from her eyes traphs lying before him; in we will talk further on the subject," she watched her brother as he came from his chamber that evening and saw he was dressed with more than

> "Whither to-night, Rob? "To win you a sister, Jean. Bé

"Then you have fully decided?"

"Beyond change,"

"Between the photographs?" "Between them." "Will you let me speak, Rob?" "No. I will have no inteference in my loye matters. I am fully able to decide for myself." "Kiss me, Rob. God bless you my dear brother," and as he shut the door behind him she stole away to the privacy of her chamber to em-

It was early to call, would not be most beautiful on earth. The house was unlighted; his diwith dainty hands, whose unstained young lawyer home with his blood at the instant the girl dashed up upon a spirited horse. No groom was in peered to assist her, hoping to earn a few pennies. In his eager haste his foot slipped from curb to gutter and the costly dress and pink and lily face of the fair rider were liberally bespattered with mud. "You miserable little wretch," was passionately exclaimed, "take that sage through the air and half a dozen

if for no other reason. So long, Miss of the curbstone, and he lay stunned and bleeding. The angry girl gave him not even a glance of pity, resigned her horse to a groom with loud, sharp words, and swept proud-

> But if she was regardless of human suffering, another was not. A lady who was passing along saw the unpleasant episode, crossed the street, raised the child, wiped the blood and filth from his face, bound up his head with her dainty, perfumed handkerchief, and, giving him some money, sent him on his way rejoic ing-to be shortly interviewed by > Robert Ellis. Haif an hour later the lights flashed out from the parlor of Annie Belford. She was listening to flattery and glibly responding, though often her heart leaped at the sound of the doorbell and her eyes were turned wistfully to see who should enter.

In the study of the lawyer was the man she longed for, but who came plainly was given to view, the initials exquisitely embroidered upon response he was able to obtain, but it. As once previous his sister came softly in, saw how he was engaged and for the second time asked: "Which, Rob, which ?"

> not upon these of Annie Belford. The most of that which you do to benefit the souls of this generation

From his pocket he took the costly

you will effect through your own behavior. Go wrong, and that will induce others to go wrong. Go right, and that will induce others to go

If your religion is not soul-satisfysaving in the judgment ?- McLaugh:

The Republican. JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THE LAST OF THE HOUSEHOLD.

To My Sister in Heaven. The last, my darling! Yes, I am the last Of all our household; in the happy past If find alone the close companionship
For which I long. My lonely footsteps slip Along the difficult, the untried way,
And there is nobody who dares to May:
"Be careful, dear! I would not take that read." Or: "Let me help you bear our heavy load." The last, my darling! Yes, I am the last

Of all my own. Love's sky is overcast, And through the coming storm no voice I hear That calls: "Be brave to breast the blast, my dear."
Well-done itself is mixed with bitterness

Because there's none to call it "our success," And though my friends are sorry I'm alone, My grief is all my own, is all my own. The last, my darling! Yes, I am the last Of all the family on earth thou hast. But yesterday thou wert so close to me And now thy pictured face is all I see. Thy cherished books, thy flowers, thy sac shrine, I can not bear, my dear, to call them mine! These rooms, these pictures, those sweet thing that grow, Once ours, now mins. How can I have t so?

The last, my darling? Why am I the last?
The loving hand I held so firm, so fast,
The morn I lost thee. Can it, dear, be right,
That I must sit with empty hands to night?
Heaven is so full. There are so many there
To love each other. Why could not my prayer
That we might go together, answered be,
Or one be left to live my life with me?

The last, my darling! Yes, I am the last, But O! the future soon shall touch the past And, sometime, when or how I do not know, The one that's left unto her own shall go My darlings! we shall have so much to say
Of what has happened since you went away
In Heaven and earth. O! union, blessed, swee When all our family together meet!

—Julia H. May, in Good Housekeeping.

A TEST OF COURAGE.

What We Found in the Chancel of the Church.

ID I ever tell you a little circumstance that happened in the vear '87?" asked Hugh Mont-

A party of young men were a ssembled round a blazing fire. A terrible storm had caught them hunting in the woods, and but for their great good fortune in finding : deserted house in which to shelter themselves they might all have perished. As it was, they were glad enough to avail themselves of this rather desolate place, and as they found wood enough to keep a fire they determined to sit up all night and amuse themselves with telling stories. The great fire roared up the rough chimney, the wind and Hugh was the first to volunteer his little story. "This fire puts me in mind of it." he said, as the three young men, his companions, their faces all aglow, sat enjoving the genial warmth. "I was invited to a church festival, about ten miles from home. The clergyman settled over the church was my father's brother, a jolly, good-natured man, of whom we were all very fond. It seems a good many visitors were expected, and the people were taxed to "Who will carry the candle and go night. My uncle's house was more than full, several of his wife's relatives having taken advantage of the chance to come on, and among them were several young people.

"'I hope you won't object to sharing your room with two other boys,' my uncle said. 'They are good fellows, and quite near your own age.'

"Of course I thought the more the merrier, as boys usually do. My room. or 'the den,' as it was called, was some little way from the house, and adjoin ing the pastor's study. It had originally belonged to the old rectory, before the more costly building, in which the present rector lived, was built.

"Assuring my uncle that I did not not, I went over to inspect the quarters that had been assigned to us. I found the room large and low ceiled. Several walls, among them that of a former clergyman, in old-fashioned cassock and The place had been newly papered, and the furniture, what little

"THIS FIRE PUTS ME IN MIND OF IT!" there was, though much the worse for wear, was good enough for occasional however, was the wide, deep chimney, very much like this one, jutting out slight bruises, we came at length to the from the wall. Great logs of hickory room we had just left. Jack had been were burning with a cheery sound in the immense fireplace of the grand, yellow flames giving an air of comfort and picturesqueness to the apartment." "Regular story style, isn't it, Ned?" said one of the boys.

you?" laughed Hugh. "Well, after coat on. 'I don't care if they pr staying a short time with the folks at in the barn to sleep, he resur the rectory, we three lads went over to he took down his cap from a peg. the den. I in the meantime having made the acquaintance of my two compan-

"The weather had turned bad, a reguar snow-storm, as it came on to-night, and we were glad to get under shelter. As the gas was cut off from the church, for the reason that new pipes were being laid, we were furnished with canwas all that we really needed, so we put our candlesticks on the shelf.

"It was only half-past ten, and we deseated round the fire, as we are to-night, we proceeded to make ourselves as comfortable as possible. The storm began to rage and all the windows rattled. We could hear the hail strike against the blazing sticks made it as light a to rage and all the windows rattled. We panes, but that was rather a pleasant day. After seeing that the fire was ound, hearing it under shelter in front of a good fire.

"Jack Hale was the oldest of our party. He had been dwelling upon his lingering, longing glance behind, and adventures, and I thought him very strong and brave. He volunteered to tell a story.

"'When I was sixteen,' he comnenced, 'I was visiting a friend whose louse was said to be haunted.'

"This was a delightful beginning, but t was as far as we ever got. We gathered close together and watched the crawling shadows on the whitewashed walls. We were patiently waiting in the pause which he probably made as long as possible, in order to whet our when a singular sound, proceeding from the inside of the church, fell on our ears, startling us more than we cared to say.
"'What's that?' asked the story-teller, nalf-rising, his face as pale as death Great Scott! what can it be?'

"Each of us looked at the other as the ominous sound rattled and rolled again. Louder and louder, clatter, thump, thump, clatter, as though a dozen horse were tramping overhead. I had never heard any thing quite like it. "'I'll not stay here,' said Jack Hale, as the noise, after subsiding for a mo ment, broke out again. "'It's the wind, perhaps,' I said, though I didn't believe it. 'Sit down and go on with your story.'

" 'As if I could, with that horrible church, too, just the place to give one the horrors! I just believe it's old Parson Jenks.'

" 'Who's old Parson Jenks?' asked Fred Gray, a slight young fellow, very boyish-looking.

I hate these old churches, anyhow-that is, at night.'

'We're not exactly in the church,' said Fred Gray. 'But I should like to

"I dared not say how much the story of Parson Jenks had affected me. " 'I should think it was a hundred omethings,' Jack said, as the thunderand I don't believe in ghosts.'

and they are racing. in a church. Even nine-pins would be with me?' I asked. "'Not I,' said Jack. 'You may count me out.' "'I will,' Fred Gray said, in a resolute voice, that gave the lie to his slight figure and delicate features. 'I should like to go. "Well, I stay here, thank you,' said Jack. 'No money would tempt me to-go into that poky old church to-night.'

"There is some reason for the noise," I said, 'and I'm going to find what it is. Come on, Gray. "'Oh, come, don't leave a fellow alone, and its storming cats and dogs, too. I our chances. "He looked so miserable that for a moment I wavered. It was, may be, a mind it in the least, rather liked it than foolish experiment. There was no chance of lighting the church, but the romance of the thing had got hold of the room large and low ceiled. Several me, and I hated to give it up. I always old-fashioned pictures hung upon the did hate to give up things I had once tackled-you know that, boys. harder my lessons, the more determined I was to master them. I suppose there must be a certain bull-dog obstinacy in my character. Well, I thought for a moment, and looked over at the picture of the poor old clergyman. I declare,

> That settled it. " 'Nothing will hurt you here, Hale, I said, 'with the fire on one side and the loor on the other. I'm going. "Fred Gray had lighted the candle at the fire, and he followed me into the study. The glaring lights showed ooks everywhere, an open closet, in which hung two or three ghostly-looking, white surplices, a stove, a small cabinet organ, and the large desk at which the minister wrote his sermons every Saturday. I remember noting for the first time a small statuette that stood on the back of the desk, and thinking that I had never seen it there before. The door of the study opened directly on the chancel, but as we were passing through, a puff of wind blew the candle out. Thoroughly excited by this time, and not a little frightened, we groped our way back to the den. clinging to each other. After knocking down chairs, stumbling against the stove, and giving courselves several room we had just left. Jack had been piling light wood on the fire, and the interior was one grand illumination. Never was sight more welcome.

"'Ah, ha! knocked out, were you? jeered Jack Hale. 'I thought your not going to stay in this racke night. lows. If it isn't ghosts, it may be burg-asked, roused by Jack's mocking ver dles, but the cheery light of the fire ed to the door of a closet opposite the eided it was too early to go to bed, so give up now. I'm going to see the thing

> " 'All right, I'm off,' said Jack, and away he went, leaving us to ourselves. safe, Gray fixed the candle in the lantern, and in a few minutes we started an assistant in prize fights. off again, throwing, I won't deny,

"I PULLED THE CURTAIN ASIDE."

moving forward stealthily and with

"The ghostly disturbance, if it was that, seemed to have reached its height as we gained the chancel. Gray threw he light on the church, but all that clatter going on! I never heard such an thing was indistinct and uncertain. ex the validity of laws enacted by the leginfernal noise in my life-and in this cept the darkness beyond, which islative authorty, they place the courts seemed now to be everywhere, over stitutional, head, underfoot, on all sides; clatter, "That's him,' said Jack, pointing to thump, thump, clatter, mingled with method of overning through the judicthe picture of the man in a clerical dress. strange vibrations that sounded almost lary the people still reverence the 'Didn't you ever hear of him? He was found dead in one of the rooms of this middle of which stood the big organ. Court of the United States, indicates old rectory; had been living alone for were ranged on the left of the chancel, the wisdom of our ancestors, and the some time, and as several hundred dol- and curtains that could be reached from moral injue lars of church money was missing, it the pulpit hid the organist from the of an inpartial judge."-Youth's Com was thought by some that he had been eyes of the congregation during service. panion. foully dealt by, though the coroner's I motioned to Gray to turn on the light, verdict was death from natural causes. and sure that all the noise came from upreme effort, trembling all over, and noise, and no music.

what does it mean? How came I here? of training athletes. pitch dark! What time is it?' he continied, 'dear me, dear me!'

but how did you know I was here?" " 'I guess if you could have heard the think we had all better leave and take clatter of those pedals underneath, you side were enough to shake the stoutest the mystery, if we were frightened.'

We turned round, and there stood my

"That was the only thing to do, and congratulate you on your bravery. Jack Hale burst into the rectory, awhile ago, in such a state of excitement that it seemed to smile at my indecision. might have been in circulation round town to-morrow, if you had not had the How did it happen, Willis?' he asked, turning to the organist. I thought I would wait for a lull in the rapidly to the front. storm, as I had no umbrella. I suppose myself.'

"'I'd advise you after this to keep awake in church, young man, said my uncle, laughing. 'Otherwise there's no knowing what you might do.' "We boys went back to the den quite elated with our share in the matter, and of my best customers. I've been shaving presently, when Jack Hale came creep him for five years. ing back, crestfallen enough, we had the laugh on our side." "That's a pretty good story," said one of the boys. "And the best of it is," said Hugh, "it's a true one."-Mary A. Denison, in Watchman.

- Women are not vain. They are interested so much in their own appearcourage would ooze out at your finger ance only because they understand that "Of course it is; you wouldn't have ends. As for me I'm off to the restome tell it any other way, would be was already pulling his overthing.—Somerville Journal.

in that he's temperate to a certain dething.—Somerville Journal.

AN IMPARTIAL JUDGE.

The Gratifying Reputation Enjoyed by a A compliment, paid by Rufus Choate You'd better come, too, you fel- to Chief Justice Shaw, of Massachusetts. happily illustrates Burke's githy phrase, The cold neutrality of an impartial "Gray, shall we go back again?" I judge." "With what judge," said Mr. e. Choate, "can you see your antagonist "Certainly, said Gray, and, by the freely conversing, without the slightest way, there is a lantern hanging up over apprehension, as you can with him?" there—a dark lantern, too.' He point—Once during the trial of a case, an eminent lawyer, associated with Mr. fire-place. 'That's just the thing,' he Choate, was rising to contest an unwent on, taking it down. 'Yes, of favorable, if not unfair, ruling made by course we'll go back. It won't do to the chief justice. "Let it go!" whispered Mr. Choate, drawing him back. "Sit down. Life, liberty and property are always safe in his hands." Gracefully as these sayings compliment the impartiality of one of the most upright of judges, they are not more expressive than one which was paid him by a "sporting man," noted as

The "sport" was a witness in a murder trial, and during his examination the chief justice walked to the edge of the bench, and in a grave way, peering over his spectacles, asked the witness several questions. After the witness had left the stand, he said to an officer of the court: "Did you see that chap that sot with two other coves behind a little fence there in court-I mean the cove called the chief?" "O yes, you mean Judge Shaw," said "That's him; but what a glorious feller be'd made for a referee in a fight!" saidthe bruiser. Daviel Webster did one of the best worksof his life when he seated himself in Lemuel Shaw's office, and spent severalhours in pursuading him to relinquish a lucrative practice to accept the Chief-Justiceshi p of Massachusetts. Though its salary was so small as not to amount to one-third of the sum which Mr. Shaw earned jearly, by the prac-ice of his profession, he yielded to the sanse of duty, aroused by Mr. Webser's arguments, and for thirty years served the Commonwealth by administering justice. The Constitution of the United States and the Constitutions of the States are could be seen was here and there a dim peculiar in this that without expressly pillar, and shadowy outlines; every authorizing the judiciary to pass upon wrapped the interior as in a mighty in such a psition of complete indeshroud. Still with stealthy steps, 1 pendence the the judges have assumed limbed into the pulpit, which was one and exercise he right to pronounce one of the old fashioned kind. The noise law constitutional and another uncon-that part of the chancel, I made one As Industry Which Gives Employment to Many Thousands of Londoner pulled the curtain aside. I think I was The fast times in which we live hardly never more scared in my life than when semember that "cabs," especially han know what that noise is.'

The fact hat after a century of this

CABS AND CAB-MEN.

'and see if we can find out. My father taught me to prove things. There must be some reason, of course, for the noise, and the curtain-rings rattled a wild exclamation, and saw by the 12,000 hackney carriages was destitute bull's eye, slowly turning towards me, of any at all. It is true that the history two lack-luster eyes and the pallid of public carriages goes back a very face of a man, I came very near falling long way into the remote distance. For from the platform on which I stood, instance, carriages of a kind were to be The seeming mystery was soon solved hired in Rome under the Emperors. The The organist, who had been practising word "carriage" is probably to be traced ing sounds began again. 'It's mules, that afternoon for the coming service, to the Latin carruca. During the Midhad probably fallen asleep, and his dle Ages, however, they ceased to be "'Mules!' laughed Fred. 'Fancy mules mind still on the music had, in a used, for in consequence of feudal cussomnambulistic state, gone on with his toms and feudal authority they were practice. There being no one to blow the prohibited as being likely to enervate bellows, of course there was a terrible men and render them unfit for military service. Such a fear suggests a kind o " 'What is it? what has happened? parallel between the old and new ways he asked all in one breath. 'Why, it's The renascence of public carriage may be dated from the reign of Louis XIV., and was due at that time to a cer-"I looked at my watch. It wanted ten minutes to twelve. It wanted sign of St. Fiacre in the Rue St. Martin. "'Never was so frightened in my life gave the name of his dwelling to the as when I saw you, he said, getting modern French facre. Oddly enough as down from his high perch. 'Never did it may seem, hackney coaches were first such a thing before, though I have a established in London in 1625 by a retrick of walking in my sleep, sometimes; tired sea captain named Bailey, who was a man of ingenious mind and enterprising. His vehicles used to stand a the "May Pole" in the Strand, and youldn't ask. It sounded for all the numbered no more than four. But they world as if a dozen kicking mules had were found so convenient, and were so been let loose. That and the wind out- patronized, that they grew rapidly. In 1637 there were 50; in 1652, 200; in 1654, nerves. But we were bound to get at 300. From time to time regulations were made limiting their numbers; but

"'That's right, boys,' said a hearty as the French Kings could not stay the growth of Paris, and as Mrs. Partington failed with the Atlantic, the tide of hackney carriages was not to be hindered, and, all laws notwithstanding, confinued to flow. Yet, in spite of the rapid increase in the number of these coaches, there was came over at once to investigated for a long time little improvement in think he must have a confirmed belief their form. It was not until 1820 that in ghosts. The wildest sort of stories the French "cabriolet de place," whence comes our abbreviated and familiar "cab," was introduced into England courage to see what the matter was, from the other side of the Channel. In shape it was a kind of hooded gig, and allowed no more than one passenger, as "Well, I was very anxious, as you the driver sat inside. But a change was know, about the music,' was the man's coming. In 1834 the gondola of London, answer, 'and after a long practice I went the hansom cab, was patented by Haninto the study. It rained so very hard som, and by its great superiority it came

In 1888 there were 7,396 hansoms and I must have fallen asleep, and the other 4,013 "growlers," or four-wheelers, techfollowed. I'm heartily provoked with nically described by the police as clarences, and year by year they continue to increase. — Murray's Magazine.

Long Winded. Old Gruffy-Who is that man you just shaved? Barber-That sir, was Mr. Griggs, one Old Gruffy-Humph! then he must have been here four years before I came in .- Boston Herald. -Quevedo (looking for board, happen in at dinner time)—"Do you take in boarders, madam?" Boarders (with one general shout)—"You bet she does."

Philadelphia Enquirer. -Many a man is like a thermometer,

PUGET SOUND INDIANS. How Scattle's Cunning Saved Them from

Destruction. The last man bearing the name of eattle died a few days ago at the Old Man House, near Port Madison. John Seattle was the last of old Seattle's sons, Angeline, the old chief's daughter.

has not been generally known how Seattle became a chief. S. F. Coombs says that while calling on old Seattle, at the Old Man House, he learned the following regarding that old gentleman's early history and why he had thing of the sort."-Terre Haute Exbeen a chief:

It seems long before any white people had settled on Puget Sound, and about the time the Hudson Bay Company were Twhy, these I'm waring cost me ten establishing their posts in the Northwest, the Indians living on the Upper they charge according to size."-Boston White river and the mountain Indians | Herald. had banded together to make a fight on the Puget Sound tribes, or those known as the Old Man House tribe. Word reached them that a force of those gaged in something else." "Of what mountain Indians were about to start in canoes from Upper Green and White rivers in such numbers and so well armed that if they reached Duwamish, now Elliott Bay, the Old Man House tree would be wiped out. A council of the old and wise ones gathered, and Seattle, then a young man not over twenty, volunteered and devised a plan to check the enemy to be a poety, even good poetry, will instruments in the shape of axes were called for. They left Elliott Bay by the expedition. A short distance above the mouth of Black river, on White river, the bluffs came so close together that fir trees chopped down on one side would reach the bank on the opposite side. It was at this point that Seattle commenced felling trees. By dark these trees were stretched across the river and so ar ranged that a canoe could not go under without first upsetting. Seattle had his men ambushed on either side, with their rude implements of warfare, mostly bows and arrows. Seattle did not have to wait long after dark before the mountain Indians came paddling down, and before those behind could know what was the matter in front some five or six large canoes with over one hundred warriors were struggling in the water, and many who reached the shore were soon dispatched by Seattle's Flatheads. The remaining canoes that were checked before getting under the obstruction agent.-Munsey's Weekly. were turned back, and the plot to clean frustrated, and young Seattle was dewhich then comprised all the Indians as soon it would rain right along.

Head on Puget Sound. Old man Seattle never learned the cousins said they were coming to stay Chinook jargon. Always, when giving with me if the weather was fine."-Light. information he had an in terpreter. Old Seattle must have been past ninety at his death. Mr. Coombs says that when he ar rived at Port Madison, over thirty years ago, the big logs and posts they rest on at the Old Man House were a great wonder to all. The logs reaching across from one post to another must have feet at the butt end, about 134 to 2 feet at the smaller end. These logs, no doubt, were placed in position without the aid of any gear, purchase or ma-chinery. Old man Seattle could not inform us when they were first erected. He said the new cedar posts were replaced in the ground from time to time as the old ones became decayed. -Seat-

TWO VERY ODD PLANTS.

One of Them Useful to Check the Growth of the Beard. Another very funny plant in the Government's botanical garden is the so called barber plant, the leaves of which are used in some parts of the East by rubbing on the face to keep the beard from growing. It is not supposed to have any effect on a beard that is already rooted, but merely to act as a preventive, boys employing it to keep the hair from getting a start on their faces. It is also employed by some Oriental people who desire to keep parts of their heads free from hair, as a matter of fashion. Also found in the botanical garden is the "Cruel plant," which is so designated because it catches butterflies and kills them for sheer sport. Its flowers attract the poor little flutterer by the honey it offers, and when the victim lights upon it it grabs the butterfly by the head and holds it fast until the captive dies. Then the flower drops it on the ground and lies in wait for a fresh unfortunate. A curious looking tree from the Isthmus of Panama bears a round red fruit as big as an apple, which has this remarkable faculty, that its juice rubbed on tough beef or chicken makes the meat tender by the chemical power it ssesses to separate the flesh fiber. One is interested to observe in the botanical green houses three kinds of plants that have real consumption of the lungs-the leaves, of course, being the lungs of a plant. The disease is manifested by the turning of the leaves from green to white, the affection gradually spreading from one spot until, when a leaf is all white, it is just about to die. Cruelly enough, as it would seem, the gardeners only try to perpetuate the disease for the sake of beauty and curiosity, all plants of those varieties that are too healthy being thrown Globular Electricity. A recent communication to the Academy of Madrid instances a case of globular electricity which is interesting. In a town in the northwestern part of Spain, at nine o'clock one evening, there suddenly appeared, without the slightest sign or warning, for the heavens were clear and the air was quiet, a ball of fire as large as an orange. It fell directly upon an electric light wire, which it slowly followed into the station where the dynamo was in motion. First it flirted with the armature of an interrupter, then it struck the moving dynamo and twice jumped back and forth be-tween the conductors and the dynamo. Then, as if baving accomplished its mission, it jumped on the ground, burst into innumerable fragments with a loud explosion, leaving no trace of its pres-ence,—Chicago Herald. PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Employer-"Well, Patrick, which s the bigger fool, you or I?" Patrick-"Faith, I couldn't say, sor, but it's not mesilf, surely."—Boston Budget.

—Husband—"I have often heard that bread is the staff of life," Wife—"So have I, Oscar." Huband-"Well, this, being now the only surviving child. It bread would make agood staff for a policeman."-Inter Ocan.

-Minnie-"I head that you are going to enter the lectur field." Mamie "The idea! I'm gong to be married." Minnie—"Well, I new it was some-

-Miss Crabtree-'See what nice shoes dollars." Miss Crabtree-"I suppose

-"Poor woman! Have you no husband to help you earn a living?" husband, so called, but he is deeply ennature?" "Trusting in Providence."-Chicago Times.

-"Do you think," he asked in hesitating accents, "that you could learn to love me?" "Yes," she replied coyly, "I could learn, but I'm afraid you'll a good deal of trouble teaching father." -- Washington Post.

-Cotton merchant (to son who wants never pay as well as cotton, even bad cotton especially bad cotton."-Harper's Bazar.
—Palmer—"It's mighty funny, but canoes and by trail, Seattle heading there are no less than six people with whom I have been talking within a week who are now dead." Curtleigh-'I haven't the least doubt of it. I'm sorry I can't stop to listen to you to-day, but the fact is I'm not prepared."-Bos ton Transcript.

—Mrs. Brown—Our sex is advancing every day. They are beginning to appoint women in the small post-offices. They should have done that years ago Brown-"Not at all. They had to wait till the postal card went out of fashion. -Lippincott's Magazine. -Tourist (headed westward)-"Are there many wolves in Kansas?" Mover (headed eastward)—"Heaps uv 'em, pardner!" Tourist—How do you pronounce the name by which they are called-c-o-y-ote or ki-ote?" Mover-"Wall, some calls it one an some the other, but them that have run up agin 'em much pronounces it real-estate

-First Farmer-"I hope we're goin' out the Puget Sound clam-eaters was to have a spell of dry weather, now, neighbor Meadows; it's just what we clared chief of the Old Man House tribe, need." Second Farmer-"Well, I'd just between Algi Point and above Skagit First Farmer-"Why, what's the reason of that?" Second Farmer-"My city

THE SCORE-CARD FIEND. The Base - Ball Game Couldn't Go On

Without Him. If you want to enjoy yourself at a base-ball match manage to sit beside the man who tries to keep a score of the game for his own satisfaction.

No one has yet solved the mystery why this man hothers his head about the score, but all the same he is as much absorbed in the work as if every mark and figure he makes were to go into the next United States census reports. The chief peculiarity of this man is that he doesn't know how to keep a base-ball score anyhow. The official scorers, who get naid for their labor, do not do half the work for their money that this man does for the pure love of it. It is understood that a large part of the satisfaction he finds comes from a knowledge that the people around him can't keep a score, and therefore he must be greatly envied and admired. This belief may be right or wrong, but with this man it goes. The score-card fiend does not go to the ball-match for the pleasure of seeing the game. He is educated far beyond that point and goes for the pleasure of recording the play—the game. People who are satisfied with merely watching the progress of the game on the field are subjects of this man's pity. When the score-card fiend is so anxiout to keep a correct record of every detail on the field, we hold it is not right to make him the victim of defective information. If, for instance, he has been absorbed in watching the ladies in the vicinity, and the game has got away from him, it is not fair to tell him, when he asks, that O'Keefe went out on a foul when, in fact, he made a home run. Misinformation of this kind, when given to him a dozen times during the progress of the game, has a tendency to mar the accuracy of the score. Give the score-card fiend a chance.—N. Y.

THE SINGING VOICE.

World.

Singers and Doctors Agree That Tobacco Affects It. That the voice is affected by tobacco is proved by the testimony of singers on the one hand and by the experience of physicians on the other. A very large acquaintance with vocalists of all grades, extending now over a longer period of years than I care to think of, enables me to say that, while a few consider their voice as improved, the vast majority think it is more or less injured by smoking, says Dr. Morrell Mackenzie, I attach far more importance to the testimony of the latter than to that of the former, as singers have frequently the most eccentric notions of what is "good for the voice." As stout, mustard and melted tallow candles have each been vaunted by distinguished artists as vocal elixirs of sovereign efficacy, it is not surprising that tobacco should also have its adherents.

The example of Mario, who smoked incessantly, is often cited as a proof of the utility-or, at any rate, the harm-lessness-of the practice. It is obvious, however, that an exceptional singer is so by virtue of possessing an exceptional throat, and no rule for general use can be safely founded on such an instance. Balzac used to say of great men who were victims of the temper passion that there was no knowing how much greater they might have been if they had been free from that weakness. In the same way we may say of Mario: How much finer might even his voice have been without his eternal cigar? It might at least have lasted longer than it did.

THACKEAY'S PIPE.

t Lies in the Sale of a Chicago Catour. When It Ceased to Smee for the Author He Handed It to Markemon—He Gave It to Frank Jarvis, We Transferred > gray, drifts like dreams away, ties, duns and lipundiscerned We light our pipes! This is the tale of a pipe. It goes without saying that whoever knows a man's pipe knows the

A pipe has one advantage over a woman—it need not be beautiful. In fact, the best pipes never are. This one, for instance, lacks any distinctive grace. It was cut from the root of a French briar; it is fantastically carved and handsomely mounted. That is all; it is merely a commonplace, honest old pipe. But what rare, good stories it could tell. At all events it has heard stories enough. But all that is over now. It has fallen on hum drum, prosaid lays. It lies in Kinsley's safe, among rellow ledgers and bills and accounts. There are merriment and good fellowship enough all about, but the old pipe knows nothing of all that. It lies in the musty darkness of the safe and broods over the old days when its young bowl was warm and the hot smoke coursed through it.

Perhaps after all that is better. A good many of us would be willing to vegetate in the dust of Kinsley's safe if we could only call up the memories that come to flatter the old pipe.

The other day the old fellow was coaxed from retirement. At first he sputtered sullenly and coughed and growled after the manner of aged gentlemen on the stage. But as his old heart began to warm up and the unwonted fire lived again in the ashes he grew complacent, confidential, garrulous. "Bless me, my boy, what days I have seen-and nights, too, mark you!" ae chuckled, "and the songs and brandypunch and the stories!"

gratifying to funeral mutes and other vivacious people. It was a wild, harum-

THACKERAY'S PIPE.

scarum sort of journalistic youngster. sowing wild oats with both hands. A trifle vulgar, too. It was given to cracking jokes of the kind that medical students enjoy. London was its world. In fact, Punch was so very metropolitan that it was provincial. One day Punch got a new contributor He was a tall, ruddy, full-faced Englishman, plump and genial. He stood over six-feet-two and was big in proportion. Kindly, soft eyes beamed behind his spectacles; his laugh was a work of art. It began low down in some internal cavity and growled away like distant thunder; then of a sudden it boomed outlike a carillon of bells. "Our new contributor" was a very clever fellow. He wrote dainty verses and cynical stories and drew marvelous pictures of innocent pot-boys and polite cab-men. And in spite of the fact that he was a newspaper man-or perhaps for that very reason-he was a gentleman by birth and education. He stamped the paper with a new tone; he made its satire universal and adapted its fun for the appreciation of cultivated men After a bit he began to gain some little notoriety under the name of William

Makepeace Thackeray. At that time the writers for Punch used to meet for a weekly dinner. By the way, this fine old custom is still kept up. Of course Thackerey went. Douglas Jerrold was there, and Gilbert a Becket, who is almost the last of that old band. Now and again Dr. Charles Mackay, who died WILLIAM MAKE- a few weeks ago, PEACE THACK- was of the party. He was the one nonsmoker in a crowd of fine old Sir Walter Raleigh's disciples. Poor fellow, he couldn't smoke; one can tell that by reading his poetry. Some one said of Wordsworth that if he had been a worse man he would have been a better poet; there is no doubt that there is an inspiration in small vices-properly applied.

Thackeray touched up this little weakness of Dr. Mackay in a wellknown song with the iterative refrain: "Alas, poor Mackay, Who can't smoke his 'baccy.'

One need hardly be told that the author of "Vanity Fair" was a great smoker. Usually he smoked cigars—a good habit confirmed by his first trip to America-but on the night of the "Punch" dinner he always lit his pipe. The "Yollowplush" papers were hatched under its kindly influence. The "Hogarty Diamond," the "Wanderings of the Fat Contributor," and the "Snob Papers" all were due to the inspiration sucked through its dainty stem. "Little Billee," the best bit of onsense verse ever written, was born at a Punch dinner and wrapped in the swaddling clothes of the old pipe's cloudy smoke. Thackeray, with his glasses pushed up on his big forehead, and his eyes twinkling, chanted it dolorously, while Douglas Jerrold rolled about on the floor howling with laughter.

The old pipe grows garrulous, recalling these days and nights.

But the fire sinks in the bowl and the old pipe gurgles sadly and falls into a quieter mood. It murmurs something of Kensington gardens and the big new house, of a sudden illness, and thenthe pipe is out. Take him for all in all-or 'alf-an'-'alf

-we shall not look upon his like again, Genial, kindly, noble-hearted; a good man and a true friend-that was Mark Lemon. He believed in one God, in one woman and in one publica-tion. Oddly enough, the second was his wife, MARK LEMON. and the last of these was Punch. He was more than a satirist and more than a humorist. He danced grotesquely with cap and bells through life-preach.

"Mark Lemon, editor of Punch." That is his epitaph. It is a monument as well. He was the Falstaff of literature -rare Jack Falstaff, kind Jack Falstaff, sweet Jack Falstaff—and by some whimmor and the manly heart-the other half was a Christian gentleman instead of a rakish rapscallion.

and the North that Mark Lemon made front of that amateur offending. A hack-writers formed the company. And they were a merry family. They played King Henry IV. "We are a promising set of actors," of the rehearsals. -but why not perform?"

Mark Lemon was a handsome man There was no stopping him after that; he went on recling it out by the hour.

During the first few years of its life Punch was a vagabond sort of paper. It had not attained to the dignity that at present renders its humor so intensely gratifying to funeral mutes and other.

Mark Lemon was a nandsome man himself and looked the part of the fat and one such was recorded in the Peking and one such was recorded in the Peking Gazette last September. A draper at a homother were helping to dice and fry it brown in hte lard, then add it, also, to the raw ptatees. Then put in the boiled potatoes, handling the mixture as lightly as possible. Roll it into balls, tie each in a thin plundered. Going out to prospect, he found some bits of cloth on the river present renders its humor so intensely gratifying to funeral mutes and other.

The lowesheave to dische the said to taste. Cut state oread into dice and fry it brown in hte lard, himself and looked the part of the fat and one such was recorded in the Peking and one such was a draper at a hand one such was recorded in the Peking and one such was recorded in the drapers and one such was recorded in the Peking and one such was recorded in the Peking and one such was recorded in the Peking an staff behind the footlights as well as be- water.—The Housekeeper.

But this theatrical venture was an episode, though the old pipe babbles interminably about it. Mark Lemon's life centered in the Punch office. Bouverie street was his world. The Punch dinner was his weekly oasis. There he smoked Thackeray's old pipe-a legacy from his dead friend. There he led the chorus that chortled his own jolly song:

"Why measure all your hopes in gold, No rope of sand is weaker; 'Tis hard to get, 'tis hard to hold, Come, lad, fill up the beaker!"

"Hast thou not found true friends more true,
And loving ones more loving?"

I could but say: "A few, a few;

So keep the liquor moving.' The old pipe grows colder. Half to itself it murmurs disjointedly of a quiet old Sussex village-of trooping villagers-of old-time friends and fellow-workers-the country churchyard. The pipe is out! The third pipeful and the last for the night is wearing away and the old pipe talks indistinctly. that quiet grave sits in a busy Chicago office-smoking. And the pipe he smokes is the one that Thackeray lit many times, that dear Mark Lemon flourished as he told his best stories and sang his rarest songs. Again it has found a new owner; more than that-a new lover.

For Frank Jarvis was bred in the school that made Dickens and Thackeray and Douglas Jerrold and Tom Hood and Mark Lemon. He left an impress on the early literary work of Chicago that many years will not wipe away.

The old pipe's wanderings were not yet at an end. Frank Jarvis fell in with the unpleasant fashion that humanity set generations ago. The world was so much the poorer. There was only one man in Chicago worthy to smoke that pipe. It was left to him. Every one who knows his Chicago as he should know it knows the man. A fine English gentleman, a bon-vivant, a musician, a journalist.

"Bless me," chuckles the old pipe,

"he has pulled those royal mustaches out many a time over me. Bless me," the old pipe goes on, "he has laid me tenderly on the table scores of times while he sang in fine tones." sang in fine tenor THE PRESENTOWNER.

voice, you know, the 'Colleen Bawn' or 'Was It for Naught That Nelson Fought?' Bless me," the old pipe concludes, "I regret the old days, but he is sympathetic. Thackeray, Mark Lemon, Frank Jarvis rolled into one." The pipe is out. Lay it back among the yellowed ledgers and receipted bills. It has much to think of; it is cruel to disturb its meditative repose. This is the tale of a pipe.-Vance Thompson, in Chicago Tribuno.

Where, Indeed? Mrs. Wundah-I did not know there were such things as artificial whales. Mr. Wundah-Well, there are not. Mrs. Wundah-But where do they get speak of?-Puck. No Sale Made. Jack-How will these trousers wear? -Out!-Texas Siftings.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Coffee served with a big spoonful of hickly-whipped cream on the top is de-

-To entirely remove paint from wood, apply a thick coat of two parts freshlyslaked lime and one part sal soda, mixed thick. After twenty-four hours wash off.-The Household.

-Wheat Crisps: One cupful rich ream, one half a cupful of sugar, one saltspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of wheat flour; knead until stiff enough to roll out thin, cut and bake on ungreased tins in a hot oven.—Boston Herald.

-A wise man once said that the road to people's hearts lay through their stomachs. Well, why not? Our temper undoubtedly depends a great deal on our digestion, and we are far more likely to be grateful to and fond of the people who study both, than we are of the good folk who stump along regardless of either. -An excellent condiment for breakfast is potted tomatoes. The ripe tomatoes must be scalded and skinned, passed through a sieve to remove the seeds from the pulp, and heated gently in a stewpan. Add salt, a little horseradish, vinegar and some onions to taste, minced very fine. When cold, put it in small pots and cover with melted butter; tie up in stout paper.—N. Y. Evening Post. -Vegetable Hash: Two quarts of finely-sliced potato, one carrot, one blood beet and two turnips; these should be cooked and chopped; two raw onions chopped fine, and a small piece of celery, parsley or turnip-tops. Put them in a stew-pan and cover tightly and set then in the oven. When hot, pour over a gravy of drawn butter and cream, stir together, and serve. - Christian at Work. -Coffee is far more delicious when nade with eggs than it is without. One sical paradox a moral one. There was egg to a teacupful of ground coffee is aw is sufficiently elastic to shield a greatly to the anneyance of mother nothing of Jack in him but the fine hu- about the right proportion, for a rich multitude of delinquencies: about the right proportion, for a rich multitude of delinquencies: And, by the way, few better actors enough of this mixture to thoroughly ever played the role of the fat knight. wet the ground coffee. Beat an egg thoroughly, add two tallespoonfuls of cold milk; pour this mixtere into a pini his reputation. He was the head and of boiling milk, let scale but not boil. Try this when you have so cream for crowd of journalists, litterateurs, and breakfast coffee. - Country Gentleman. -Potato Dumplings: Bol five or six peel and grate them, taking care to keep them light and flaky. Peel and said Joe Hatton, complacently, at one grate about the same quantity of raw absence of that publicity which renders drink all the liquor he can pay for, and cent. in the expenditure for alcohol per potatoes, put them into a loth and illegality practically impossible in En- break mother's heart without the slight- bed. A third table shows the compara-"Yes, you are promising enough," squeeze out all the juice, the nout them said Lemon, "and promising is all right into another dish, and add to hem an the correction of injustice in China." squeeze out all the juice, the nout them gland, make it very difficult to secure est remonstrance. onion chopped very fine, two or three | Cases do, however, occasionally happen; eggs, and salt to taste. Cut stae bread and one such was recorded in the Peking

BENEDICT ARNOLD'S HOUSE. It is Still Standing in the Fifth Ward in

The old Benedict Arnold house is still standing in the Fifth ward, on Water street, near the corner of Olive street. It has fallen into decay, but there are some grey-haired citizens who remember it when it was one of the show places of the town. Its orchard was the largest and finest in New Haven, and the grounds were laid out in handsome ter-Arnold built the house soon after his return from Ticonderoga. He must have been a man of some wealth, for the house was well built and the grounds were ample. Arnold was not a popular man. He had a violent and irascible temper, and "would rather fight than eat," as has been said of him. He always found fault, and the ferrymen who took passengers across the mouth of the Quinnipiac river before the bridge was built, dreaded to have him for a passen-

New Haven.

Nevertheless Arnold was a man of affairs. Besides his business as a druggist and bookseller, he, with Adam Babcock, owned three vessels engaged in the West India trade. They were the brigantine Fortune, forty tons, the Charming Sally, thirty tons, and the Three Brothers, twenty-eight tons. Arnold never took particular pains to see that all custom house dues were paid; in fact, he was very lax in this particular. It is related that once on a time a sailor on board one of his vessels reported some of these laxities to the collector of the port. The report was made on Sunday, and the collector refused to receive it, and told the sailor to come again on Monday. In the meantime Arnold had heard of the sailor's tale bearing. Before Monday came Arnold adopted a course of moral and physical suasion which compelled the sailor to leave town with his tale untold. Arnold's laxity in regard to the customs laws was probably not much greater than that of his neighbors. Indeed, to evade the customs was a virtue rather than a fault, for it was regarded as a justifiable method of protest against taxation without representation. Arnold's property was confiscated after his treachery at West Point was discovered. Pierpont Edwards acted on the government's administration and sold the property to Captain Isaac Prout. Captain Prout made only a partial payment, and was unable to meet the subsequent payments as they became due. In this way the property came into the hands of Noah Webster, the lexicographer, and he lived there for some years, finally selling it to James Hunt, a West India merchant, who devised it to his daughter, wife of D. Goffe Phipps, of been almost dismantled. Betsey Arnold, a sister of Benedict Arnold, lived for years and years after her brother's disgrace, in Norwich, on public charity. When she was ninety years old she was taken to the almsthis artificial whalebone the papers house by old Sheriff E. G. Thomas. Betsey made a great how-de-do about it, and was so grieved that she lived only a few months. She was a strong old Clerk (who has had a row with boss) temper.—New Haven Palladium. woman, and had much of her brother's

JUDICIAL TORTURE.

Some of the More Common Forms of Cruel-ty Practiced in China. Suspension of the victim by the thumbs with the arms bent behind the back and the toes touching the ground, is a and the toes touching the ground, is a common practice. There is used also in the case of great criminals, and especially in the case of great criminals, and especially in the case of great criminals, and especially in the context of the context of the case of great criminals, and especially in the context of the contex cially in the southern provinces, a mode of torture called "kneeling on chains." The victim may be made to kneel on a coil of sharp chain, with his arms extended, and a lictor standing ready to flog him if he lower them; or he may be suspended from the ceiling, face down-ward, by a cord attached to his thumbs and great toes, and lowered till the weight of the body rests on the knees on the chain. Quite recently, according to a Chinese newspaper, two men charged with belonging to a secret association in Hupeh were made to kneel on sharp chains and seceived 1,000 blows with the light bamboo to elicit confession. There had been, apparently, some indications of a local disturbance, and these men were arrested as rangleaders. Suspension, too, by one wrist and ankle; suspension by a pole passed under the armpit, with the hands tied under the knees, and various other cruelties are said to be practiced occasionally in the southern yamens. Yet there are, in the penal code, stringenta provisions against the infliction of illegal punishment; and the coulty, if death ensue, is severe. A matter has quite recently, for instante frome to serious grief for decapi-tateg a man where the law called for stringulation; the point being that disnemberment of the body is a disgrace, extract, but less than this can be easily "When it so happens that, immediately after that no restraint should be exerted over anchor. He then seems to have stretched a point, declared that he had found the essories, and tortured to death the two tory that they sentenced the draper to bestrangled for giving malicions false

illegal torture. - Fortnightly Review. INEXPENSIVE CUTS.

evidence resuiting in the death of the iered and banished for carelessness and accused, and the magistrate to be cash-

How to Produce Appetizing Dishes from Cheap Pieces of Meat. It is not a difficult matter to obtain a satisfactory dish of meat from a prime cut, but it requires the supreme skill of the cook to take a piece of beef shin or him and no one else injury. If he a neck piece of veal or mutton and produce a tender, appetizing stew. It is in the use of what are termed "inferior" cuts or meat that the French cook excels. There is much more nourishment in some of these cuts-notably in the neck piece of mutton or veal-than in some prime cuts like the French filet of | Make home pleasant for the child and beef or the tenderloin. A piece of meat through which the blood of the animal circulates freely is more wholesome and contains more nourishment, though it is tougher and requires more time to cook than a tender piece that lays inside, like the tenderloin. The stew, or broth, of the Scotch, which they make from the neck of mutton, is a dish that has justly acquired world-wide fame. It requires time and patience to cut up a neck of mutton and reject every scrap of fat, and separate the bones and lean, and cook them in separate dishes; but the result is the most delicious broth that can be made. A breast of mutton is a difficult piece to dispose of, but if carefully trimmed and boiled in salted water till tender, the bones may be removed and a rich forcemeat prepared and spread on the meat, and a compact roll made. This is now dipped in egg and rolled in sifted bread crumbs and browned in the oven. Serve it with an acid jelly like barberry, currant or damson plum. The chunk of meat which forms the "tough" end of the county, acquitted. the porterhouse has acquired its odium small steaks it will be found tender and excellent. There is another piece of meat which lies in the forequarter, which butchers sometimes include, we believe, in their chuck roasts, It is the piece, as rich in meat juice and nourpieces of veal for potpies are the neck and shoulder pieces. There is no part Proof Positive. Brown, who is looking out for summer board, was bargaining for rooms in the only hotel in a remote Long Island vil-

"I can rely," he asked, "on your giving ns good and wholesome food?" is so good that last summer we lost sevindigestion."--Judge.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

DE WAR FO' TEMP'RANCE.

Tune—"Eabylon is Fallen."

Look out dar, now! We's agwine to shoot. Look out dar: Don't you understand? We shall win de vict'ry, we shall win de vict'ry, And we's agwine to occupy de land:

Keep de powder dry, boys, 'n don't you go to nappin';
Don't you see de fee on ebery hand?
Pour de Temp'rance shells in, dey is Alcohol has got to lebe de land. Chorus. See de Temp'rance "Orders," dey am all advancin', Like as if dey me'nt to hab a fight: How deyre feet am stompin', how deyre eyes am flashin'. Cos dey know dey's fightin' for de right.

Don't you lower de banner! Eber keep i floatin'; Neber let dem coch you by surprise Dey am allus watchin': dey am neber sleepin'; Allus playin' possum wid deyre lies! Chorus.

-Mrs. L. A. Obear, in National Temperance

A WORD TO MOTHERS. Make Home More Attractive to Your Children Than the Saloon. That boy of yours, father and mother, is full of life. It bubbles up and bub-bles over all the time. A little sevenyear-old son of an acquaintance of ours says: "Mamma, it is very hard to sit and was in excess therefore, of the legal still so long in school. Sometimes I senence. But it may easily be con- feel just like screaming." Yes, the lit ceved that in the matter of torture, the fellows are full of life and fun. and in all ordinary cases, the following They make a good deal of noise in the provision in section 413 of the Chinese house and they disarrange some things The Rural does not mean to intimate used, by adding a teac upful of cold water to a well-beaten egg, and using enough of this mixture to thoroughly wet the ground coffee. Beat an egg thoroughly, add two tallespoonfuls of the back of the thighs, and in a lawful manner, the culprit commits suicide or dies in any manner in consequence of the punishment he part that no restraint should be extended that mother to remember that should be extended the infliction of punishment on the upper part them, but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part them. but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part them. but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part them. but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part them. but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to them. but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to them. but it solemnly warns father and mother to remember that should be extended to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the infliction of punishment on the upper part to the inf uponsible for the same."

Unless a case had been so glaring as to excite the whole neighborhood—and gaily-lighted, beautifully-mirrored, elethe Chinese are not easily moved- gantly-furnished saloon. He can go means would be found to hush up or ex-plain away improprieties. The power He can strike the billiard balls hard or large potatoes, and when they are cold and venality of official underlings, the soft as he likes; he can laugh as loudly

We have seen homes that the saloon as the moments went by, and father mother said no; if he brought some of his playthings into the sitting room, the crew into admitting themselves ac- all mother had to do was to oppose his wishes. It had become a fixed habit the yoab when the case came before the chief provincial authorities on reto see it. By and by when the boy gets pet, they considered it so unsatisfac- bigger, mother will not be troubled with his noise. It will not be his presence that will annoy her, but his ab sence, and perhaps the time will come when she would gladly permit him to tear the whole house down, if he would only spend his hours with mother. Oh, parents, while the warm welcome of the saloon comes pouring from so many doors, don't turn the boy's face toward it; don't sharpen his ears to hear; don't create in his soul a longing for some place, for any place except home. Bear with his noise; let him have his liberty as long as it does shakes the nervous system a little it is only for a little time. He will not be a boy long anyhow. Those soft sweet cheeks will soon lose their boyish freshness, but while they harden with age, let mother and father do nothing in the direction of wrinkling them with vice.

ing influence.-Western Rural. A KENTUCKY VENDETTA.

make him a better man, and the influence of such a home will follow him all

The Origin of the Howard-Turner Warfare Due to Whisky. Wicks Howard and Bob Turner had been drinking moonshine whisky in a doggery in the village of Harlan, which is the county seat of Harlan, in the State of Kentucky. Turner became drunk, then sleepy, and he slept. While he was sleeping a fellow named Little struck a match and set his hair on fire. Turner woke and demanded to know who was burning him before his appointed time. Little said that Wicks Howard had applied the match. This him and dance the beautiful hornpipe was nearly ten years ago. Turner and Howard fought, with pistols, of course, I can do it again whenever he gets the and Turner was killed. Howard was tried, and, according to the custom of

Then, it now being 1882, Turner's surbecause it is cut the wrong way of the grain. If it is cut across the grain in Howard. Both Turner the second, whose name was Will, and Howard were wounded in this second duel, which grew out of the joke of a drunken man. Will Turner fled to Texas, but soon returned. Then Turner the third, whose cross rib. It is an inexpensive piece, but when cut properly it is an excellent that "Bulldog Will" was on his native heath again, and defied the clan of ishment as a rib roast, though possibly Howards to do battle with the clan of not quite as fine in flavor. The best Turners. The battle was fought and Bulldog Will was slain. Twenty Turners and twenty Howards took part in this of veal that may not be made tender and third fight, which had occasion in a Mrs. Phipp's possession, although it has been almost dismantled.

Of veal that may not be made tender and drunkard's jest. Wilson Howard was been almost dismantled.

Tribune. wilson (commonly "Wils") Howard was not kith or kin to Wicks

Wilson to Wilson (commonly "Wils") Howard was not kith or kin to Wicks Howard; he just fought against marked devotion to duty." the Turners because he did not of the country. After this "Wicks" in "Sir," replied the landlord, "our table Howard drops out of the roster of fight- throughout the rest of the world. It is eral of our best boarders, who died of Hewards, though alien to the tamily. probably die drunkards.

Wicks, however, had killed Turner, the fourth, whose name was Robert, on March 7, 1882. The Howards defied the law; Sheriff King tried to arrest the leaders of the clan, but in vain. While "Wils" Howard was on bail for the killing of Will Turner, he shot at George Turner, who returned the fire, but neither was hurt. In July, 1886, five years after the perpetration of the drunkard's joke, "Wils" Howard shot and killed James McKnight. McKnight was a friend of the Turners; he had ome to Harlan to pass an examination for the place of school teacher. His crime was that he boarded with some of the Turner tribe. The same day "Wils" shot and wounded Charles B. Turner, he ran amuck, shooting at women and children, and fled beyond the stream of Clear Fork. This was on Monday. On Tuesday he shot and killed Alexander Bailey, who was a friend of the Turners. After that he shot and killed George Turner. Then he fled to Missouri.

Will Jennings was with "Wils" Howard at the killing of Baily; he has been arrested, and the whole clan Howard, with its numerous allies in Harlan County, is in arms to overawe the jury impaneled to try him, and to rescue him if convicted. Three regiments of the State troops of Kentucky have been called on to send parts of their forces to suppress the clan Howard. Six of the State troops have been shot by the Howards; no Howard has been shot by the State troops. All this in Kentucky in the year of our Lord 1890.—Chicago

Inter Ocean. ALCOHOL IN HOSPITALS.

Gratifying Reports Made by the Medical Authorities of England. A very interesting report has been resented to the British Medical Temerance Association by Drs. Morton Moir and Pearce on the administration of alcohol in hospitals. The committee have drawn up a series of tables full of instructive figures, instituting a comarison between the amount expended under this head in 1863 and in 1888. The remarkable fact is noted that in these twenty-five years there has been, from the returns made by 113 hospitals, an increase of 300 per cent. in the charge for milk and a decrease of 47 per cent. in the charge for alcohol. A second table gives returns from 60 hospitals of which no previous record could be found. On the basis adopted by Dr. Fleetwood general prevalence of bribery, the as he wants to; he can kick up his heels difficulties attending appeals, and the and dance if he chooses, and he can hospitals show a decrease of 39 per tive alcoholic charges per bed in 1863 and 1888 respectively. In 73 hospitals was getting the best of just as steadily there had been an increase of 2,108 beds, and a decrease of an increase in the quantity of alcohol cloth on the junk, and so procured the arrest of all on board. The magistrate torthwith employed torture—tortured to the gray into admitted the consumed of the gray into admitted the still," until the little fellow felt that milk has risen from $150 to $30 per cent. annum, the disbursements for alcohol were at the rate of only 15s. 2d. per per bed in 1863. In St. Bartholomew's Hospital the milk bill has gone up from £600 to over £2,000, while the alcohol bill had gone down from £1,446 to £953. These statistics prove that there has been a gradually increasing rational medical administration of alcohol, the credit of which must be awarded to the medical staffs of the hospitals, a fact which affords yet another proof of the lively interest in the promotion of Temperance taken by the medical profes-sion.—British Medical Journal.

STRENGTH OF WHISKY. An Amusing Yet Instructive Paragraph

from "The Old Still House." Strength, is it, it gives to men! And which needs it most, thin, I'd like to know-Pat, with his great stout frame and a fist that would send me a rod if he liked; or me, that weighs but a hundred pound, and am only four feet six in the slippers my mother put on me? Strength it gives, does it? I'll tell ye the strength it gives. Didn't he come permit him to have his fun. It will home last Saturday night as drunk as a baste? Well he did. And hadn't I the beautiful supper for him? And what does he do, the first thing, but to throw through life and be a softening, inspir-my taypot beyant the back-log? I wasn't so to be put by, so I sint his brown jug to keep it company. Faith, but it was wroth thin he was, and up he gets in his strength and puts me out of the door, a-shtaggerin' all the while, and bangs it on me, lavin' the children screamin' like mad. But you know, my leddy, I'm spry as a cat; so I jumps in at the back windy, and jist while he settled hisself on the stool ferninst tho fire I switched it from under and laid him a-sprawlin' on the floor, flat on his back; and he was jist that strong with his whisky he couldn't get up at all, at all. And didn't I set the table over a-top in spite of him? Troth, I did; and strength of the whisky in him. That's the strength it gives, my leddy-I know; and Nora chuckled with delight at her own exploit.-The Old Still In regard to the movement for the protection of soldiers in our army from temptations to drink, Secretary of War Proctor writes: "I am glad to say that I heartily sympathize with the efforts in behalf of Temperance in the army and navy and shall do every thing in my power to aid the good work. I am not prepared to admit that the soldiers of our army are more intemperate than other classes of men. If a soldier has drank too much his very uniform makes it noticeable, and we may do them as a

According to Dr. Norman Kerr there like them; one of them had whipped him when he was a boy. "Wils" also country, 5,000,000 in England, 3,000,000 escaped justice, according to the custom or more in France and an equal number Germany, besides a vast host ers, and "Wils" becomes leader of the estimated that one-tenth of these will

JAS. A. HAYDEN,

Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year.....six months..... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 50 cents per square for each additional inser-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and private guarantee of good faith. Reject communications will not be returned. SATURDAY, MAY 31, 1890.

Counting the People.

The Eleventh Census of the United States will be taken during the month of June. The census enumerators Where a soldier or sailor re-enlisted or served in more than one organization and ask questions concerning every person and every family in the United States. The questions that will be ask of service in each instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and to cover each energy family in the United States. The questions that will be ask instance, and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the conflicting interests and the problem by a completion of the claims of conflicting interests and the conflin asked call for the name of every person residing in the United States on the first day of June, with their sex the arm of the service, as infantry, and of the immense interests demandand age, and whether white, black, cavalry, artillery, etc., and if a person ing the McKinley Tariff bill, shill mulatto, quadroon, octoroon, or Chi- served under an assumed name, his adopt the bill that has to-day passed Friday in support of his bill to loan nese, Japanese, or Indian. Inquiry will be made also of every person as both the name under which he served to whether they are single, married, and the true name by which he is widowed, or divorced, and, if married, whether married during the census year. The place of birth of the father and mother of each per- this special census to them, and they son, will also be called for, as well as should aid the census enumerators in Silver legislation of this memorable looking manwho has occupied a seat a statement as to the profession, getting true statements in every way trade, or occupation followed and possible, Without their co-operation the number of months unemployed correct results can not be reached. labor will find well-paid employ- ways as hels in appearance. It will during the census year. For all per- This personal appeal is made to sons ten years of age or over a return them, therefore, in the hope that must be made by the enumerator as their attention may be specially to the number able to read and write, directed to the importance of this and also the number who can speak work and the necessary information English. For those who can not may be promptly supplied to the speak English the particular lan- census enumerator when he calls guage or dialect spoken by them will be ascertained. For children of school age, also, the number of months they attended school will be recorded by

In the case of mothers an inquiry statement injurities will be called for concerning the most of the debate will recognize the first as who have read the official physically defective in any respect. The second or special inquiries concerning such of the debate will recognize the population as may be mentally or physically defective in any respect. The population of special inquiries concerning to the population of special inquiries concerning to the population of special inquiries will also be made concerning immates of prisons and reformations and preformation and the population of the debate will recognize the fact that the Democratic members of the population of the population object of the debate will recognize the fact that the Democratic members of the population of the debate will recognize the population of special inquiries will also be made concerning immates of prisons and reformation and programs of the debate will be concerned in the population of the population of the population object of the debate will be concerned in the population of the population object of the debate will be alled for concerning immates of prisons and reformation in the population of the popu cerning the ownership of the farm. to support the bill as a whole.

June special provisions has been made by Congress for ascertaining the names of surviving soldiers, sailors, and marines who were mustered into the service of the United States during the war of the rebellion, and of the widows of soldiers, sailors who have died. In connection with this special census of yet
The outlook for the McKinley bill in the Senate has been improving every day during the debate. It has been the fond delusion of the Free marines who have died. In connection with this special census of yet
The outlook for the McKinley bill in the Senate has been improving every day during the debate. It has been the fond delusion of the Free marines who have died. In connection with this special census of yet
The outlook for the McKinley bill in the Senate has been improving every day during the debate. It has been the fond delusion of the Free marines who were mustered into the service of the United States during the debate. It has been the fond delusion of the Free marines who have died. In connection with this special census of yet
The outlook for the McKinley bill in the Senate has been improving every day during the debate. It has been the fond delusion of the Free during of the Washington county report that the prospects for a good wheat crop were finer. Much rain between this the Senate will take up the bill subjecting imported liquors to the wheat. The mild weather during the provisions of the laws of its several states and continue its consideration with this special census of yet
The outlook for the McKinley bill in the Senate has been improving on special occasions.

Sects And the Farmers from different sections of Washington county report that the prospects for a good wheat crop were finer. Much rain between this the Senate will take up the bill on the feel of and pald over to the subject of the laws of its several provisions of the la tion with this special census of yet- nullify all the good Republican work ation until disposed of. This bill is that county will be one of the largest that the enumerator is placed in pos- platform of 1888, The Convention similarly honored-Morrill, of Versession of the necessary information that adopted his platform recognized mont. concerning his own service. If he him as the leader on that issue and Repretentative Morrill, of Kansas, can not be at home when the enu- he held that position during the author of the Morrill service pension merator calls he should leave a prop- campaign. The Republican House bill which recently passed the House er memorandum in the hands of his wife or other member of his bouse- and it has given him a support with- tion. This Congress is the fourth in hold, so that the work of the census may not be delayed, and also that variety of differing Republican views when he retires the old soldiers will there may be no doubt as to the and conflicting interests that had to lose a steadfast and hard-working accuracy of the statements concerning his service which may be given to to be covered by this memorandum, the Senate to amend a House Tariff it may be well to state that the spec- bill. But the Republican Senate will ial inquiries to be made concerning not, we believe undertake to criticise veterans of the civil war include the or amend the essential features of the listment. In giving the organization to accept such a bill if the Republican is quite ill at his res. lence here. He statement should be made to cover the House.

now known, Veterans of the war generally will recognize and appreciate the value of country, assured of the continuacne, ceed the late 8. J. Randall, has arsome time during the month of June.

A Magnificent Campaign Gloriously Ended.

will be made as to the number of memorable in the history of Congress commerce is attracting attention, and byterian General Assembly was children they have had, and the and of the country as the day on it looks as if something was really practically a unit in the adoption of number of these children living at which the debate on the fairest, most to be done in that line at last. For the present time. This inquiry is to symmetrical and most thoroughly more than twenty years this ques Innter-Ocean says it should be rebe made of all women who are or American of all Tariff bills was closed tion has been more or less promt garded as a great advance in ecclesihave been married, including all who and on which that bill passed the nent. President Grant, in a special astical common sense. This is true, Foreign-born males of adult age, ing debate, remarkable for the coherthat is, 21 years of age or over, will ence of the Republican forces and for be asked as to the number of years | the variety and ability of their replies they have been in the United States, to Democratic assaults and objections. and whether they are naturalized or The immense prominence given by one to the other of the great oceans have taken out naturalization papers. | the Free Trade organs to a few criti-Of the head of each family visited cisms by Major Butterworth on one telligent, energetic population, must the question will be asked as to the or two features of the McKinley bill number of persons in the family, and shows how impressed and frightened whether his home is owned or hired; they were by the Republican unity what the cost. Delay will only inalso, if owned, whether the home is in the House. And even Major But- crease this cost and enhance the diffifree from mortgage incumbrance. If terworth rejected with scorn the cuity of attaining the result. * * * cant. - Wheeling Intelligencer. the head of the family is a farmer, democratic applause that greeted his As a general rule, where it can be similar inquiries will be made confree talk, and avowed his intention adopted, I believe a direct money

THE REPUBLICAN. of each participant in the late war are so admirably embodied in the a high honor, the places on that comconciliated and harmonized.

It is the peculiar province and Thus two great national and Re- at 2 per cent. The bill has been republican measures will be enacted, ferred to the finance committee. ment, and the Republican party will be strangelf he doesn't make some be given a stronger hold on the con- fun for the boys before long. Adence of the people.-N. Y. Mail | The Fouse Committee on Elecand Express, May 21st.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, May 27th, 1890 .-The President's anxiety to have something done by the present Con-The 21st of may, 1890, will long be gress towards increasing our foreign statical common sense. This is true, for the harmonious conclusion arrived at was the end of a great aging interior resources of the Unied States, extending, as it does, form one to the other of the greatoceans of the world with an industrious, intelligent, energetic population, must one day possess its full share of the commerce of these oceans, no matter what the cost. Delay will only increase this cost and enhances the difficulty of attaining the result.

As a general rule, where it can be adopted, I believe a direct money subsidy is less liable to abuse than an indirect aid given to the same enterprise. In this case, however, my ments concerning the military record issue the Protective doctrines that on the Finance Committee. This is escaped.

should not be underestimated. It McKinley Tariff. It was Major Mc mittee being usually given to the should be the duty, moreover, of Kinley who formulated these doc- oldest Senators in length of service. every veteran soldier or sailor to see trines in the Republican national Only one other Senator was ever > made him its leader on this issue has declined to accept a renominaout precedent, when we consider the which Mr. Morrill has served, and friend. The House committee on the Judithe census enumerator. That there function of the House to originate clary has decided, by a vote of 8 to 7 may be do question as to the points Tariff legislation. It is the right of to report favorably a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment giving the right of suffrage to women. The same committee has decided name, the company, and the regi- House bill, and it certainly will not to report favorably the bill making it ment or vessel in which they served, defeat that bill by substantial chan- a felony for any election officer, or their late rank, the dates of enlist- ges that would endanger its enact- any person officially connected with ment and discharge, the length of ment as a law. The Senate, on the an election, to change the returns of service in years, months, and days, other hand, is admirably qualified to elections. In certain States, notably and their present post-office address. solve the dangerous and complicated West Virginia, the county clerks, will begin their work on Monday. Where a soldier or sailor re-enlisted silver problem by a compromise bill who are charged with the duty of > care should be taken to distinguish Senators, mindful of party pleages has quinsy, and an old wound is also causing him a great deal of pain. money to the farmers of the country the party pledges will be fulfilled Representative Vaux, of Pennsyland the business interests of the vania, who has been elected to sucfor at least a decade, of the Tariff and rived here, and he is about the oddest session, will receive a new and inspir- in the Hoise for some time, and ing impulse, capital will feel secure, they say that he is as unique in his

> of seathy two Rebublican contestants, bith colored men-Langston, of Viginia, and Miller, of South Carolia. When these two are seat ed thee will be three colored men in the House.

Speaking of the fact that the Presbyterian General Assembly was practically a unit in the adoption of the scheme for revision, the Chicago Innter-Ocean says it should be regarded as a great advance in ecclesisatical common sense. This is true, for the harmonious conclusion ar-

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 610. AN ACT

AN ACT
O enable the qualified voters of Garrett County to determine by ballot whether spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold in said county, and to regulate the terms and conditions on which the sale thereof may be made in case the majority of the voters of said county shall petermine said question in the affirmative, and to regulate the sale thereof by druggists and pharmacists.

and pharmacists.

WHEREAS, Much doubt exists in the mind of slarge portion of the voters of Garrett county whether the law known as the Local Option law of said county, passed at the session of the Legislature in eighteen hundred and eighty-six, Chapter three hundred and ninety nine, and

whereas, Numerous petitions have been forwarded to this Legislature, signed by parties who voted for the said law as well as against it, and it being deemed advisable, on amount of said uncertainty, to resubmit the question and to grant another election, in order that it may be definitely determined by ballot whether Local Option shall exist as it now does in said county, therefore, shall exist as it now does in said county, therefore,

Section I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland. That the question whether or not any person or persons, house, corporation, company or association may be licensed in Garrett county, by whom or in which spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be soid, shall be submitted to the registered voters of said county at the next general election to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, and the Sheriff of said county shall give notice of the time and purpose of this Act by advertisement inserted in all the newspapers published in said county, and by hand-bills posted in each election district in said county, at least ten days before said election, in which notice a copy of this Act shall be inserted.

Sec. I. And be it enacted. That all the tick-SEC. I. And be it enacted. That all the tick-

SEC. I. And be it enacted. That all the tickets or ballots prepared for said general election in said county shall have printed or written on them these words in the following order: "For Liquor License," "Against Liquor License," and every legally qualified registered voter offering to vote at said general election and desiring to vote either for granting liquor license, or against granting liquor license, and said erase from his ticket or ballot as he may elect either the words "For Liquor License," or the words "Against Liquor License," and the ballots so east shall be carefully counted by the judges of said election, and the return judges shall make a return of said votes to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, and said Clerk shall immediately make proclamation of the result of said election.

SEC, 3. And be it enacted. That if it shall be vania, who has been elected to succeed the late 5. J. Randall, has arrived here, aid he is about the oddest looking manwho has occupied a seat in the Hoise for some time, and they say that he is as unique in his ways as hels in appearance. It will be strangeif he doesn't make some fun for the boys before long.

The Fouse Committee on Elections has decided to report in favor of seathy two Rebublican centestor fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters, then the same shall be sold as allowed under the icense laws of this State, subject to the provisions hereinafter mentioned or provided,

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That if any personer process company, assequent son or persons, house, company, association or body corporate shall sell, directly or indirectly, any spirituous or formented liquors or alcoholic bitters within the limits of said county, if a majority of ali the votes cast shall have been against the sale of liquors or bithave been against the sale of liquors or bit-ters, after the fourth day of November in the tion with this special census of veterans the organization or yessel in which they served, the term of service in each case, and present residence will be taken by the census enumerators. In the case of widows, information regarding the service of their (deceased husbands is also required.

The importance of accurate state
The importance of the service of the united states of intoxicating liquors contrary to the reriginal pack
The importance of the united states of intoxicating liquors contrary to the united states in the intended to offsett the "original pack
The united states of intoxicating liquors contrary to the united states in the intended to offsett the "original pack
The united states of intoxicating liquors contrary to the united states in the intended to offsett the "original pack
The united states of intoxication of the largest spathered there for years.

The united states of intoxication of SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That whoever, by SEC. 10. And be it enacted that every hus SEC. 10. And be to enactes that the band, wife, child, parent, guardian or oth person injured in person or property, means of support, by any intoxicated y son, or in consequence of the intoxicat habitual or otherwise of any person, a babitual or otherwise of any person, as son. or in consequence of the intexteation, habitual or otherwis of any person, shall after the giving and uring the existence of the notice provided in in the next section, have a right of acts in the next section, have a right of acts in his or her own name, severally or inity, against any person or persons or bee corporate, any person goriving inoxisting ilquors have by selling or giving inoxisting ilquors and the ware of any building or premises, and the erson renting or leasing the same, having knowledge that inoxicating ilquors are to a sold therein, or who having leased the same for other purposes, knowingly permits atoxicating ilquors to be sold therein, that has caused the intextection in whole or in part of such person, shall be liable severally cojently, with the person or persons or body coporate selling or giving intoxicating ilquors as aforesald, for all damages sustained, as well as exemplary damages.

ages sustained, as will as exemplary daminages.

SEC. 11. And be it spacted, That any husband, wile, child, parent, guardian or other person liable to be so injured by any sate of intoxicating liquors to any person, and desiring to prevent the saje of intoxicating liquors to such person, shall give notice either before a witness, or in writing to the person or persons so selling or giving intoxicating liquors, or to owner or lessor of the premises wherein such intoxicating liquors are given or sold, or file with the nearest justice of the peace in the town or district wherein such intoxicating liquors may be sold, notice to all liquor dealers not to sell or give to such person any intoxicating liquors from and after the giving or filing of such notice, and the said justice of the peace shall immediately inform the person or persons to whom the notice or notices are given, such notice flied with said justice of the peace shall be entered by him in a book to be kept for such purpose which shall be open for the inspection of all persons interested; and any notice entered in such book shall, by the justice of the peace having charge of the same, be erased and so obliterat de sont to be tegitic upon the demand of the person by whom such notice was filed, and thereafter such notice shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of ten cents for the filing and entry of every such notice.

SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That such notice their entret or the given or filed with return of the peace of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of the

SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That such no-tice whether served personally or filed with the justice of the peace as aforesald shall, during its existence, inure to the benefit of paid either to such minor or to his or her par-ent, guardian or next friend, as the Court shall direct.

estate until it is paid.

SEC. 16. And be it enacted, That after the passage of this Act it sha fore whom such person shall be convicted, to suppress his or her license in addition to the penalties imposed for violation of any of the provisions of this Act.

as aforesaid, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this act, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than filly dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense; and if the buyer shall obtain a prescription by misrepresentation he shall likewise be deemed guilty of a violation of this Act and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to the same fine as the physician who shall violate the same; the one half of said fine to be paid to the informer and the residue to the Board of School Commissioners of said county, for the benefit of the public schools thereof, and said violaters shall be committed to the County Jail of said County until such fine and costs are paid.

Sec. 18. And be it enacted, That all prose-

SEC. 18. And be it enacted, That all prosecutions for violations of this Act may be either upon presentment, indictment or by trial before a justice of the peace, who shall have jurnaliction original and concurrent with the Circuit Court for said County, and the said justice shall have power to issue all process, and to do all acts which may be necessary to the exercise of his said jurisdiction, and may try and determine all cases whereof he may have jurisdiction and may pronounce judgment and sentence to the same extent and manner as the Circuit Court for said county ment and sentence to the same extent and manner as the Circuit Court for said county could do in such cases if they were tried before said Court without the intervention of a jury; provided, however, that if any person when brought before any justice shall before trial pray a jury trial or if the State's Attorney for said county shall pray a jury trial for the alleged offense on the part of the State, it shall be the duty of said justice to commit said offender for trial or hold him to bail to appear for trial in the Circuit Court for said county, at its then session if it be then in session or at its next session if it be not then in session, and to return the commitment or recognizance with the names and residences of the witnesses for the prosecution endorsed therein, forthwith to the Clerk, and it shall be the duty of said justice to inform the person charged of his, her or their right to a jury trial in all coses.

or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court, Sec. 20. And be it enacted. That if a majority of the votes cast at said election are in favor of granting license, then the Clerk of the Circuit Court be and he is hereby directed to issue such license in accordance with the pro-Sec. 21. And be it enacted, That nothing in SEC. 21. And be it emacted, That nothing in this Act shall give permission for the grant-ing of license by any authority for the sale or barter in any way of spirituous or mail liq-uors, whie or cider on the grounds of the Mountain Lake Fark Association, or within one mile thereof contrary to the provisions of section six of the act of eighteen hundred and eighty two, entitled "an act to grant additioneighty two, entitled "an act to grant additional power to Mountain Lake Park Association of Garrett County," a corporation incorporated under the General Laws of Maryland.

SEC. 22. And be it enacted, That all Acts or parts of Acts inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING. to sell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expenses and Steady Employment Guaranteed. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY,

LOCAL NEWS.

-Several of our people celebrated Decoration day in Grafton.

-Highest cash prices paid for hides, at C. R. Savage's Butcher Shop.

-A new pavement is being laid in Oak street.

land and Mt. Lake Park, The finder A. Dunlap. will please leave at this office.

-A fine cottage for rent at Mountsin Lake Park.
tf J. C. PEDDICORD. -Will McFann, of Littleton, W.

George Kildow, on Monday. -Go to Howell's for green and fancy groceries. He keeps the best that the market affords.

-I you want a first-class plow at Store, Oakland Md.

-The finest and largest line of -Great slaughter in Wall Paper! Reduced to 4c! Gilt at 8 and 10c, at case. Children's clothing a speciality. Mayers', Druggist.

-We issue one day early this week so as to afford the employes of this oration day.

tand. -Have you seen the latest shade in Dress Goods? If not go to Offutt's and you will go wild over them. He has them all. -Our Paints are made of purest Linseed Oil. Beware of cheap, worthless, benzine Paint. MAYERS, Druggist. -- William Welling caught a German carp in the dead pond, near town, on Monday, which weighed eight pounds.

-A force of hands are at work cleaning the Oakland Hotel, and getting it ready for visitors by the middle of June.

-Lots of Rain and more to come, so go to Offutt's and buy a good Umbrella, for they have a big lot of them, from the cheapest to a fine silk.

WANTED. - Fresh butter, eggs street, Oakland, Md.

ed to succeed him. -Mrs. Mary Kildow, who has hopes of it getting well.

been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Henry Leuthke, of Grafton, since last September, returned home last Saturday. -The Rev. B. Ison filled the M.

who was near Terra Alta holding quarterly meeting for Presiding Elder Sharpes. -Garthright has just received a dozen.

car of nice Corn, to go at rock bottom price. Paying highest cash best stock of clothing and fine shoes in the county. 21.

-Great reductions on Wall Paper at Mayers'. Brown back 4c, Antiseptic back, 5c; White back, 5 to 8c. Gilt at 8 and 10c. Extra heavy Gilt and Embossed Paper at correspondingly low prices, at

H. J. MAYERS. -A man named Frank Caton was R. F. Walls, of Preston County. The telescope was found in the possession of the grand Jury.

East with everything nice and cheap States. price. Shoes almost given away.

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 10} A front of Ralph Thayer's residence on M. and 7 P. M., by Rev, C. E. Clark. Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching -Lost- A Shawl between Oak- at 102 A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. J.

St. Mathew's Church-Preaching every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. S. Hipkins, Rector in charge. St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching every Sunday at 10; o'clock A. M., Va., was visiting his sister, Mrs, except the second Sunday of each month.

Clothing at City prices.

Messrs. Hamill & Little have taken the agency at this place for the celea low price, call at Davis' Hardware | brated Clothing House of Mabley & Carew, now doing business in nearly every City and town in the Union. Neck Ties and Four-in-Hands, at Prices are the same as city prices; goods and make up are the best, and a fit guaranteed in each and every Census Enumerators.

The lists of census enumerators for office an opportunity to observe Dec- the Second and Third Maryland Districts including Baltimore City and for labor, including board: weeks of Dissolution of Co-Partnership. -Colonel Pearre, of Cumberland, county, were approved by Superin- hired labor, white or black. 11. will hold an inspection of Company tendent Porter Friday of last week.

reliable, at Felty's on R. R. st., Oak. Sell, Geo. E. Bishoff, David A. Ste- of each kind of grassland cu. for hay phens, J. W. White, P. E. Finzet, or pastured; tons of hay and straw Johnsons.

Mrs. Johnson who was reported ill is convalescing slowly.

The appearance of the genial sheriff in this section was a surprise to the people, as he is a fellow that is seldom seen in this part of the country. especially near the line. Mr. G. W. Blocher returned from

Oakland, where he was attending Court as a juryman. Mr. Samuel McKenzie, of Mongo, Indiana, is visiting friends and relatives here. Mr. Enoch Winebrenner, who was suffering from dropsy, is able to be about again. A son of Mr. Patrick McKenzie, who resides just across the line in Pennsylvania, met with a painful chickens and produce of all kinds accident. He filled a quart can with for Cash, at Felty & Co.'s, Railroad lime, then poured boiling water over the lime, and as he picked the can -We understand that Capt. P. A. up and walked to the door the can Chisholm will resign his commission exploded and the line burned his as captain of the Garrett Guards, and face and eyes. He will lose the that Professor Newman will be elect- sight of one of his eyes, and the other is very sensitive, but they have some

The funeral of Mr. John Layman. at the Mt. Zion Church, was the largest known here for some time.

A certain gentleman accompanied by his niece took a ride to Frostburg in his buggy. His horse became E. Pulpit last Sunday morning and frightened at a wagon and the genevening, in the absence of the pastor, tleman, in his efforts to get the horse under control, gently placed his foot in a basket containing ten dozen of eggs and made a mash-mashed four or factory; used on farm, including

There is talk that an oil company is going to lay pipes from Green Co., price for wool. Has the largest and Pa., to New York, along the Mason and Dixon Line.

· Continental Consequences.

history of events relating to the two produced, sold, and value in 1889. brought to Oakland last Saturday by halfs of the continent was likely to 33. Bees: Number of stands, pounds Sheriff Casteel, charged with the effect to so serious an extent the of honey and wax produced, and stealing of a telescope belonging to trade relations between them as the value, 34. Onions: Field croppassage of the new United States number of acres, bushels produced, tariff.

-West Virginia was represented sections of the act now before the and sold. 36. Market Gardens and in Oakland last Monday by a young Senate as against Canadlan products Small Fruits: Number of acres in M. Davis "made 'em one," and they departed for their home, near Parkersburg, on the accommodation.

The Kingwood Bicycle Club are talking of visiting Oakland, in the fine roads centering in this place. The club has a membership of about twelve years of age. Come over, the club has a membership of about twelve years of age. Come over, the club has a membership of about twelve years of age. Come over, gentle, and our boys will see that you enjoy yourselves.

The Althude of the roads centering in this place. The club has a membership of about twelve years of age. Come over, gentle, and our boys will see that you enjoy yourselves.

The Approved April 5, 1890, and to use alticle years of the county be and the small truits, and other small truits, and total value of products in 1889. 37. Vegetables and other small truits, and total value of Garrett County he and the small county be and the increase of Garrett County has a few of the Circuit County of Garrett County he and the increase of Garrett County has a few of the Circuit County of Garrett County he and the small county be and the increase of Garrett County he are not beginning to Maryland, That the Sheriff of Garrett County has a remove of Garrett County has a remove of Garrett County shall of Sartett County and the small truits, and to the said county. Sec. 2, And be it enacted, That the County of Garrett County shall find the county of the county of the county of the said county. Sec. 2, And be it enacted, That the County of Garrett County shall find the county of Garrett County shall find the switch of the Circuit County of Garrett County shall be leveled by the County of Garrett County shall be seen to the County of Garrett County shall be county of the said County. Sec. 2, And be it enacted, That the County of Said County, of Carrett County shall be county of Said County. Sec. 2, And be it enacted, That the County of Said County of Garrett County shall be county man and woman who sought and entering into the United States for yegatables, blackberries, cranberries, and will have a grand opening next Its chief aim as reflected in the real in young vines not bearing; products Saturday, May 31, at which time he and true wishes of the people would of grapes and raisins, and value in will give special prices. Will sell be to create trade relations between 1889. clothing at cost. Straw hats at half the two countries so intimate in re- Besides these questions on the reg--Terra Alta's quietude was broken products the whole continent would Superintendent Robert P. Porter has last week by a cutting affray. Three be open for the products and manuyoung men—Fred Pullman, Frank factures of the United States, while in the interests of agriculture, among young men-Fred Pullman, Frank factures of the United States, while in the interests of agriculture, among Fogle and Notley Benson-were at the same time a duty would be which are Viticulture, Nurseries. GARRETT LODGE to 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Like View, every Wed-playing marbles and quarrelled, and tures from Great Britain. A policy Semi-tropic Fruits, Oranges, etc., "Lud," Benson, a brother of Not- tures from Great Britain. A policy Semi-tropic Fruits, Oranges, etc. ley's, assaulted Pullman with a club. such as this voted upon by the Cau- Live Stock on the great ranges, and In "defense," Pullman stabbed Ben- adian people would startle the Eng- in cities and villages; also the names son three times with a pocket-knife. lish government, and to insist upon and number of all the various far-Benson will recover. Pullman was a consent to such a discrimination in mers' organizations, such as Agri placed under bond to awalt the action favor of the United States might cultural and Horticultural Societies. future political alliance with the Wheels, Unions, Leagues, etc.

-Shartzer just returned from the in entire harmony with the United chard broducts sold. 39. Vineyards:

Farmers and the Census.

The census year beg in June 1, 1889, farmers will cheerfully co-operate and ends May 31, 1890. Each state with the enumerators and other offihas from one to eleven supervisors' cials in promptly furnishing the cordistricts. There are 175 supervisors rect figures more comprehensive rein all. There are 42.000 enumerators, turns regarding our greatest industry who in all parts of the country will begin their work Monday morning, June 2, 1890. Every farm will be visited before June 30, and the follow-farm. 2. Are you owner, renter for money, or for share of the crops of the farm? 3. Are you white or black? 4. Number of acres of land, improved or unimproved. 5. Acres Irrigated, 6, Number of artesian wells flowing. 7. Value of farm, buildings, implement, machinery, and live stock. 8. Finces: Cost of building and reparing. 9. Cost of between the hours of 2 and 5 P. M., and 7:30 t fertilizers. 10. Labor: Amounts paid Products: Estimated vaue of all B., in Armory Hall, on Saturday evening.

-We have a full line of garden seeds, seed potatoes, onion sets etc., all reliable, at Felty's on R. R. st., Oak Sell, Geo. E. Bishoff, David A. Ste
Thouces: Estimated value of all forcat from a productions sold, consumed or on hand 1889, 12. Forestry: Amount of wood cut, and value of all forest products sold, 13. Grasslands: Acres of each kind of grassland cut for hay sold; clover and grass seeds had land and sold; siles and their capacity.

14. Sugar: Cane, sorghum, maple, and beet; sugar and molasses; acres, product and value of each. 15. Casproduct and value of each. 15. Castor Beans : Acres. 16. Cereals : Barley, buckwheat, Indian corn, oati, rye, wheat; acres, crop, amount of each sold and consumed, and value. 17. Rice; Acres, crop, and value, 18. Tobacco: Acres, crop, amount sold, and value. 19. Peas and Beans: To pro Bushels, and value of crop sold. 20. Peanuts: Acres, bushels, and value. ber foaled in 1889. 25. Sheep: Number on hand June 1, 1890, of "fine wool," "long wool," and "all

> 1889; "spring lambs" sold in 1889 other than "spring lambs:" slaughtered for use on farm in 1889; killed by dogs in 1889; died from other causes in 1889. 26. Wool: Shorn spring of 1890 and fall of 1889. 27. Goats: Number of Angora and common. 28. Dogs: On farm June 1, 1890. 29. Neat Cattle: Working oxen, milch cows, and other cattle on hand June 1, 1890; number of pure bred, grade and common; calves dropped in 1889; cattle sold in 1889, slaughtered for use on the farm, and died in 1889. 30. Dairy: Milktotal gallons produced on farm; sold for use in families; sent to creamery for butter or cheese; used on farm in raising cream for sale, including for creamery or factory. Butter-pounds made on farm and sold in 1889. Cream-quarts sent to creamery or WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER factory; sold other than to creamery or factory. Cheese-pounds made on farm and sold in 1889. 31. Swine: WATERLOO, ONT., May 26.-The Number on hand June 1, 1890; sold continental consequences of the Mc- in 1889; consumed on farm and died Kinley tariff were discussed by Mr. in 1889. 32. Poultry: Number each Erastus Wiman at the celebration of of chickens, turkeys, geese, and the Queen's birthday here to-day. It ducks on hand June 1, 1889; value was stated that no event in the whole of all poultry products sold; eggs and sold, and value. 85. Potatoes : The enforcement of the agricultural | Sweet and Irish, bushels produced

Number of acres in vines bearing and turn for a free market for Canadian ular Agricultural Schedule No. 2, well be regarded as the first step to- Poultry and Bee Associations, Farmward independence and possibly to a ers' Clubs, Granges, Alliances,

In no part of the census work have the lines been extended more than in the direction of agriculture, and if will be obtained than ever before.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

visited before June 30, and the following questions will be asked, keeping in mind that the figures you are to give nearly all pertain to the crops of 1889, and not to the growing crops of 1890:

1. Your name as occupant of the form 2. Are you owner replace for the control of the form 2. Are you owner replace for the case of the control of the form 2. Are you owner replace for the case of the case o E. C. TILSON, Proprietor.

APPEAL NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, To the property owners of the town of Oakland, that the town Council will be in session to hear

Monday, June 2nd, 1890,

The Co-partnership heretofore existing

JONAS E. GNAGEY, JONAS J. DURST.

JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., May 1st, 1890.

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 313. AN ACT

21. Hops: Acres, nounds, and yalue, 22. Finers: Cotton, flax, and hemp; acres, crop, and value. 23. Broom Corn: Acres, nounds, and value, 24, Live Stock: Horses, mules and asses; number on hand June 1, 1890; number feeled in 1889, 25. Sheep. SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

5 24 3t Approved April 8th, 1890. other;" number of lambs dropped in TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN

GARRETT COUNTY. OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1890. OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1890. I

TAKE NOTICE. That the roads under your charge shall be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year; and in working said roads it is incumbent upon you, wherever practicable, to cut gutters on either side and work high in middle of road. You are also required to notify air persons traveling the roads with steam threshers or other heavy machines that they will be held responsible for all damage done to roads and bridges over which they pass.

By order. By order,

Clerk

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER Will sell Real or Personal Property.

Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887. --WANTED--Also White Oak Timber Land.

W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md Office 30 Baltimore Street. 2 15 90 13 CURED BY Mitchell's Rheumatic Plasters. DEFEAST RELIEF FOR ALL RESURATIO PAIRS.
THE CHART FOR THE PAIR AND THE PAIRS.
THE CHART FOR THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS.
THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS.
THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS.
THE PAIRS OF THE PAIRS

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 285.

AN ACT To authorize and empower the Sheriff of Garrett County to employ a warden for the County Jail of said County:

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

-GO TO-Henry J. Mayers'

> COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger,

> > IF YOU WANT

AND MEDICINES.

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in

RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. "Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto."

-Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks Poems, Bibles, Buckets, Baskets, Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands, Razors, etc.

Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Var-nishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere. German and English Spoken.

Now ready to give you the closest prices on

AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL.

H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

TREASURER'S TAX SALE.

Under and by virtue of Sec. 53 of Art. 12 of the Code of Pub. Local Laws entitled Garrett County subtitle "County Treasurer," the un-derstend, Ross Compton, as County Treas-urer for Garrett County aforesaid, will offer at Public Sale to the highest responsible bid-der for cash, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Cakland, Garrett County, Maryland

ON TUESDAY, THE 10TH DAY OF On the 10th Day of JUNE Next, JUNE, in the year 1890, at the hour of 11 o'clock A. M., all that piece, parcel or tract of land lying and being in the Fourth Election District in said Garrett County, known and designated as an one-undivided half-interest of, in and to a certain tract of land known and designated as which said tract of land is contained within emetes and bounds, courses and distances lowing, to-wit: Beginning for the entire ct at the end of the third line of Lot No. 7, ng westward of Fort Cumberland, and run-ny thence, rayersing tha third line of the the metes and bounds, courses and distances following, to-wit: Beginning for the entire tract at the end of the third line of Lot No. 7, lying westward of Fort Cumberland, and running thence, reversing the third line of each of Lots Nos. 7, 8, 9 and 19. North fifty-five degrees, West three hundred and ninety-three perches to the first line of Lot No. 11, and running with it and the second line thereof North twenty-three perches, North sixty-seven degrees West fifty-seven perches to the first line of Lot No. 13, and running thence with it and the second line thereof North forty-eight perches, North sixty-seven degrees West eighty nine and one-haif perches to the end of the second line of Lot No. 16, and reversing it as corrected North eighty-eight and one-quarter degrees West one hundred and thirty perches to the beginning of Lot No. 19, and reversing part of the given line thereof, North two degrees East forty perches to the seventh line of a tract of land called "Glory," and reversing it and the sixth line thereof South forty degrees East three-hundred and nincteen perches to the seventh line of a tract of land called "Glory," and reversing it and the sixth line thereof South forty degrees East forty-three perches to the end of the 28th line of a tract of land called "Mill Seat," and reversing the line thereof South twelve-degrees West one-hundred and sixteen perches, South forty-seven degrees East stree hundred perches, South twelve-enty-seven degrees East twenty-six perches to the end of the 28th line of a tract of land called "Mill Seat," and reversing the line thereof South twelve-degrees West one-hundred and sixteen perches, South seventy-one degrees East six perches, then North seventy-one degrees East six perches,

"Saint Clair,"

The said one-undivided half interest in said tract of land called "Saint Clair," hereby intended to be sold, having been conveyed to a certain William A. Brydon by Jeanet and George A. Clark by deed bearing date the 17th day of March, 1875, and recorded in Liber W. H. T., No. 1, folio 718, &c., one of the land records of Garrett county, Maryland, and being the same property which is assessed upon the Assessment Books of the County Commissioners of said Fourth Election District of said Garrett county to the said William A. Brydon, Said land will be said for the payment of Said land will be sold for the payment of the State and County Taxes due and in arrear thereon for the years 1885 and 1889.

ROSS COMPTON, Late Tressurer.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 803. AN ACT

To add an additional section to Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland title "Garrett County" sub-title "County Commissioners," authorizing the County Commissioners to levy money to the Mayor and Counsil of Oakland, said section to follow section forty-one and to be numbered forty-one and a-half.

one and a-half.

SECTION I. Be it enacted by the general Assembly of Maryland, That an additional section be added to Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," sub-title "County Commissioners," to follow section forty-one, to be numbered forty-one and a-half and to read as follows: 41%. They shall have power to levy annual-ly to the Mayor and Council of Oakland such sum as in their judgment may be proper to aid the Mayor and Council in keeping the public roads and streets in said town in re-

SEC. 1. And be it enacted. That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage. 5 24 3t Approved April 8th, 1890.

CHAPTER 329. AN ACT

AN ACT

To provide for recording mortgages in Garrett County in a seperate book, and authorize the Clerk of the Circuit Court to purchase an index book, and to index all mortgages in said county in said separate index book, and to require the County Commissioners to pay for said Index and indexing.

SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett county be and he is hereby authorized and required to purchase an index book such as are now used in his office, to be kept for the sole purpose of indexing mortgages in said office.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County he and he is hereby required to index all mortgages and bills of sale in said county in said index book, and to use said index for the purpose of indexing mortgages and bills of sale only.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the County

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

ARE YOU IN WANT?

If so call upon or write us: The Farmers' Hardware Association,

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Som= erset County, Pa.

Dealers in all Rinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC. HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D, M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING; (all steel frame harrows.) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known n Garrett County, will call on every farmet and solicit orders for anything they wish in

Yours, respectfully, FARMERS HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree passed qy the Circuit Court for Garrett County as a Court of Equity in a case wherein Chas. W. Boucher is complainant and Jos. Wheistone and others are defendants, the undersigned was appointed Trustee to make sale of certain real estate therein decreed to be sold, in pursuance of said decree I will offer at Public Sale at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., in front of the Mellinger House, in Grantsville, in hald county, the following real estate, to-wit: A tract of land called

"SMOOTH VALLEY, ontaining 106 acres except so much as was onveyed to Casper Schram by a deed from Sarah and Phillip Durst, dated July 9, 1868 recorded among the land records of Allegany County, also a part of "STANTON'S PURCHASE.

adjoining said "Smooth Valley,," containing for said part 3½ acres, as described in a deed to Sarah Durst from Jacob Blocher and others dated July 25, 1868, recorded among the land records of said Allegany County. These two parcels of land lie in a body and are pleasantly situated about two mites East of Grantsville on the National Road, and contain about 100 acres and are improved with a DWELLING-HOUSE, Stable and out-houses, TERMS OF SALE—As prescribed by said TERMS OF SALE—As prescribed by said decree: One-half the purchase money to be paid in Cash on the day of saic and the balance in two equal installments at six and twelve months with interest. The deferred payments to be secured by the purchaser with bis notes and surety to the satisfaction of Trustee.

PHINEAS C. BOUCHER, 5 17 4t Trustee.

EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the undersigned, appointed by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, to view the lands through which the new public road; from a point on the Hutton Switch road, near James Dodge's, and running thence through or on the lines of the lands belonging to James Dodge, Edward Teats, John Connell, Jr., Thomas Spahr, John M. Browning, and Sylvester Rinard to the West Virginia line; near the Thomas place, and examine whether Sylvester Rinard to the West Virginia line, near the Thomas place, and examine whether the said new road should be opened, will meet on Saturday, the 31st day of May, 1896, for such purpose, and to determine whether the public convenience requires the said road, and if so, to locate the same, and perform their duty in the premises.

ISAACHIVE ON THE STATE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE P ISAAC KUYKENDALL; ISAAC LAYTON, JOHN HARNED, Examiners.

4 26 5 Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 179. AN ACT To repeal section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Pub-ile Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurors." SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title, "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurors," be and the same is hereby repealed. SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage: Approved March 22, 1890.

VALUABLE FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oakland, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young ortherd.

There is also after foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvement scort more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md.

As Observed in the Lowest Forms of Life.

How the Words "Irritability" and "Discrimination" are Used to Bridge Perplexing Problems-Sensitive Plants and Sponges.

If the green scum which accumulates on roofing tiles and other exposed surfaces be washed off and the water examined under a microscope, it will be found to teem with an organism either entirely green or partly green and red. This organism is known as the Protococcus (that is, "first berry"), and is one of the lowest and simplest forms of true plant-life. Its color indicates the presence of chlorophyll, and consequently the power of assimilating carbon from the carbonic acid of the atmosphereone of the marks of a true plant. The chief end of the protococcus' life seems to be to multiply, and this it accomplishes by dividing itself in pieces, each iece forming a new individual, which in turn divides up, to form a further crop. This method of reproduction is common in the lowest forms of life, and but hardy protococcus flourishing and

"change"), and by pushing out fingeritself. When a smaller organism comes | ing days for ever. amœba and digested, so far as it will digest, to form new protoplasm. When never seems to fail, is waxing too fat for its own comfort, the protruding fingers now and again drop off, and set- finest lace. ting up on their own account as new individuals, repeat the life of the parent. From the foregoing, it will be seen that the amœba is to a considerable extent alive to what is going on around it, and were its structure unknown, it might be affirmed that it traction of the amœba when struck by another body resembles the contraction of muscular tissue under sudden irritation; but again, the amœba has no tissue of any kind. The parting with pieces of itself would seem to be a deliberative act. Yet the amœba has no nerve or brain center where such deliberation could be carried on.

Notwithstanding all these negations, the fact still remains that the amœba is sensative to outside conditions, and some term or terms are required to de- to larger ones which ultimately open to scribe this particular form of sensitiveness. Biologists appear to be agreed that the contractile motion of the current through the whole system, beamœba is sufficiently described under the term "irritability" or "excitability," and the other movements are covered out associating with it a certain amount terms may to a certain extent be satisfactory; but their value will be better understood when actions similar to that of the amœba are considered in one or two of the higher classes of plants. When a tiny insect alights on certain parts of such plants as the sundew or Venus' fly-trap, a contractile movement is at once set up, which usually costs a few times by the point of a pencil or a sharp instrument, the plants seem to Drops of rain falling with presumably greater force than that exerted by the alighting of an insect produce no effect. The sundew, moreover, is so sensitive to the presence of ammonia that it will indicate its presence in a solution so dilute as to be beyond the recognition of the ordinary laboratory tests.

might be surmised that they possess in some measure the special senses of touch and taste, and in the case of the sundew, also smell, to say nothing of an intelligence to make use of these But the anatomy of the sundew and Venus' fly-trap shows neither nerve nor muscle, far less any special organs of sense. As with the amœba, biologists write down the whole phe-nomena as due to "irritability" and "discrimination." These terms, no doubt, form a very convenient bridge for getting over such problems as the movements of plants; but they evidently fall short of explaining the phe-

The amœba being to all intents a oneto understand that an act of irritation should affect the whole mass; but in the case of the sensitive plants, where the cells directly acted upon have to pass the irritation on to some millions of parent. Again, the term "discrimination" no doubt pretty accurately describes the actions of the sensitive plants in closing on an insect which will form food, and refusing to close repeatations. The old deacons went up behind him, and, putting his hand on his shoulder, shouted: "Say Amen and run, Joe;" and Joe did, all following his example.—Chicago Herald.

edly at the touch of a pencil. But while t describes what takes place, it explains nothing; and one can not help thinking that there is a further field for discovery behind these convenient but unsatsfactory terms.

The second division in the scale of animal life includes the great family of sponges. The sponge differs from the amœba in being composed of many cells, instead of a single one, and presents the first indications of division of labor in the animal kingdom. One set take of cells are told off to look after the field. supplies, while another set see to the digesting and building up of material.

When first cast on its own resources, covered with minute hairs or lashes, by the movement of which it roams about in perfect freedom. By and by the why an article, wholly unsuitable, is roving life; or perhaps the continual dread of being swallowed by one of its enemies more than counterbalances all the joy of its youthful pleasures. At all events it manifests a desire for "set-tling down;" and some root-looking processes having meanwhile appeared at one end of its body, it attaches itself by these to the spot where it is to spend the remainder of its days. This is usually is known as fission, or splitting off. Lit- the solid rock; but it may be the surtle can be said about the inner life of face of a pebble, or the back of a crusthe protococcus; but from the fact that tacean. By some newly-acquired vital the rapidity with which it multiplies is affected by conditions external to itself, commences to separate lime or flinty commences to separate lime or flinty it may be assumed that these conditions | material, either from its food or directin some way or other influence the vi- ly from the sea; and the fibrous tality of the organism. This is perhaps | structure, characteristic of the mature as much as can be said about sensation in this lowly form of life; yet, while occupying a position very near the bottom the scale, the protococcus is not now drawn inside, just when one would without a touch of romance. When imagine that their presence outside Arctic or Alpine travelers meet with would be all the more required for the what they describe as "red snows," it is increasing wants of the growing sponge. nothing more nor less than the humble But the lashes have only been removed to a position of greater safety, multiplying on the surface of the virgin | not of less usefulness. Chambers are formed at intervals in the minute canals From one of the lowest of plants to which everywhere irrigate the growing one of the lowest of animals is but a fibrous structure, and in these lies the short step, and in some roadside ditch future work of the lashes. By a vigoror stagnant pool the Amaba finds a ous concerted movement of all the lashes The amœba is a mere speck of in the various chambers, water is drawn jelly-looking matter, possessing neither in through the small canals, and passed structure nor organization. When this on to a larger canal in the center, which simple matter is found in connection with life, whether plant or animal, it is with some force. By this arrangement known as protoplasm; and protoplasm is food is drawn in all around the sponge, found at the beginning of every form of life, from the lowest plant to man himself. The amœba is ever changing its an extra lively organism be drawn in and form (hence its name, which means show an inclination to fight the fibrous matter acts as a protection; and the would looking processes is able to move about be fighter must either be content to through the water. It seems also to be pass on and be ejected by the funnel, able in some mysterious way to avoid or run the risk of being absorbed in the collisions which might be disastrous to digested slime, and thus end its fight-

Although the fibres of an ordinary contraction of the protoplasm takes sponge do not appear to form any reguplace, and an opening is made where lardesign in their structure, there is a to the Mainzer Journal says: "Among iffeation inder various heads and in difthe organism struck. Soon the luckless wanderer is engulfed in the body of the borhood of the Philippine Islands which does produce a sponge of remarkable beauty and design. This production is the amœba, whose sense of hunger known as Venus' flower-basket, and so exquisitely is the pattern worked out that it may fitly be compared to the

From the few features of sponge-life just mentioned, it seems difficult to believe that the sponge can display so much apparent intelligence without any organs of special sense. Specially wonderful is it to contemplate the fairylooking lacework of Venus' flowerpossessed the special senses of at least | basket, and know that it has been contouch and sight. But it does not possess structed by an organism possessing the ghost of any sense-organ. The con- not even the most rudimentary form of

The settling-down of the free swimming spongeling might possibly be induced by the slimy matter acquiring a more solid, and consequently heavier condition, at the end by which it ultimately becomes attached. The preference for solid rock as a permanent place of abode might be accounted for simply by the prevalence of rock in the parts of the sea where sponge-life abounds. But the formation of small canals, leading the outside, the small chambers, with the movement of the lashes, causing a tokens an adaptation of means to ends that can scarcely be conceived of withby the term "discrimination." These of intelligence. The sponge, however, possesses no nervous system or any of the features on which intelligence is usually understood to depend. Again, the terms "irritability" and "discrimi nation" seem quite inadequate to meet the case, and recourse is had with reluctance to the doc-trine of "natural selection," or the "survival of the fittest." This theory the luckless insect its life. If irritated teaches that 'some bygone age all sponges perished except a few who conformed to the made of life that obtains discover the fraud, and cease to act. with sponges of the present day. Of the families of these few, only those survived who conformed to the same rule of life. With each succeeding generation the tendency to conform would become stronger, until now the tendency to perform certain operations is transmitted from one generation to another, just as truly as the individ-From the behavior of these plants it uality itself. Granting that this is the true explanation of the sponge's mode of life, the question arises, how did the first sponge manage to strike out this line of conduct? If we assume that the first sponge had a dispensation of some special power-whatever name it might be called by-could the same power not be granted to every succeeding generation? As in the case of the sensitive plants already referred to, there seems to be some mystery in the life-history of the sponge which biologists have not yet solved, and possibly never will.

The next group to the sponges in the animal scale includes the sea-anemones and jelly-fishes, and it is in these curious creatures that the first appearance of a rudimentary nervous system and celled animal, it is comparatively easy organs of special sense are found to appear. - Chambers' Journal.

young convert was called upon to offer prayer. In the midst of his prayer the other cells, the satisfactoriness of the bells commenced ringing for fire, but term "irritability" is not quite so ap- the young man kept on praying until

MISCELLANEOUS.

-An Opelousas (La.) gander has learned to turn the faucet of a cistern with his bill, and when the water begins o flow he sits under the stream, flaps his wings, takes a bath and has a good time generally.

-It is estimated at the War Departnent that if any foreign power should tackle this country it would be conronted by the enormous total of 7,000.-000 fighting men. Of course it would take some time to put that host in the

-"Spiffs" are premiums placed on certain articles, not of the last fashion indicated by a marvelous hieroglyphic the young spongo is a small slimy body put on the price-ticket. These marks are well known by the salesmen, and the almost invisible mystic sign explains spongeling seems to grow tired of a foisted on the jaded customer as "just the thing.

-The largest beer barrel ever made in the world is the attraction of a St. Louis salcon. It is twenty-three feet high, twenty-two feet wide, and has a capacity of 54,400 gallons, or 1,700 ordinary beer barrels. A dining table is set up in the interior of the barrel, and many people have enjoyed the novelty of taking their luncheon in the big barrel. It was made in St. Louis ten

-In gratitude for their recent deliverence from the perils of the voyage in the Inman liner City of Paris, the passengers, before landing, subscribed £000 as a thank offering and appointed a thank offering and appointed som-mittee to decide upon its application. It is understood that the committee have decided to hand over £400 to the Seamen's Hospital, Liverpool, for in general purposes, and to endow with tion for sick American sailors. large building chiefly of paper has been beautiful silken fiber can be obtained, successfully made at Hamburg, Germany, where an immense hotel, with its goods, closely resembles Irish poplin. facade and other important parts composed of that material has been erected. cating it is found, it is thought this fiber It is claimed that the building is abso- will command large commercial attenlutely fire-proof and also impervious to tion for the manufacture of textile the action of the elements which results brick, stone or wood unsightly or unsafe purposes.

—Says a broon-corn dealer: "A few —Says a broon-corn was so bleached he action of the elements which render goods, as well as for paper and other don't like your answer," said the man.

"Nor I your question," was Lamb's re—Electricity is applied to

-Mrs. John G. Curtis, of New York, is the founder of one of the most remarkaposed of men and women, girls and boys, gathered from poor families. The few who can aford it pay a small fee. Theodore John, formerly conductor of the city orchestra of Freiburg, has trained the performers so thoroughly that at the end of three years many of his pupils are able to take places as proessional performers. Mrs. Curtis' drawing room is their practicing hall, and, at her desire, they play occasionally in public for charities.

-It is seldom that the trivial cause which lead to the overthrow of thrones receives so clear an illustration as the following statement by ex-King Thee baw, of Burmah: "My late father, the royal Mindoon Min, the golden-footed lord of the white elephant, master of a thousand gold umbrellas, owner of the royal peacocks, lord of the sea and of the world, whose face was like the sun, always smoked the Esoof cheroot while meditating on his treatment of the bullfreed, earth-swallowing English. Had I done the same I should never have left my throne, but I used the opium-drugged cheroot from Manila, and the trash solace was sent me from San Francisco, and I fell."-Chicago Journal.

EMMA ABBOTT'S WEALTH. The Snug Fortune Acquired by the Ambi

tions American Songstress. Few American songstresses, says New York paper, can prove the substantial success that is the lot of Emma Aband perseverance of the American girles of on.

At the age of eighteen she was a soptation in Dr. Chapin's church in New York the rig, who hadn't lifted a pound himand known to the communicants as a self. very pleasing singer; and an operatio very pleasing singer; and an operation future she had never believed possible, but through the interest of friends she was induced to go to Paris and complete her studies. She was even at that time the studies of the the betrothed wife of Eugene Wetherell. He urged her to accept the proposition and she went abroad and studied with tion of Adelina Patti.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Within ten years the woolen-mill operty of Maine has increased from 1,262,000 to $3,076,665. -Artificial ice can be manufactured. so it is said, at a retail cost of about eight dollars per ton, or forty cents per andred pounds. -The yew tree seeds and leaves have lately been made of use in the shape of an oily product called taxine, which solidifies on cooling and possesses considerable narcotic properties. -From many different points comes the news that machines for making ice have been set up, and that these artificial ice companies are taking orders to supply ice in any quantity. necessity once more proves itself to be the mother of invention.

-An apparatus of iron and glass, in which a pressure of 1,000 atmospheres can be developed for the purpose of studying the influence of great pressure on animal life, has been exhibited to biologists in France. With it deep-sea animals can be observed under their natural compression.

-- In making charcoal for gunpowder it is always kept for three or four days in air-tight cylinders before picking over and ten days to a fortnight before it is ground. This, it is said, is done to counteract the well-known tendency to fire if exposed too soon after it is made. -The preparation of levant leather is peculiar and laborious. It is first

"struck out" in warm water on a mahogany table, "blacked" with logwood and iron liquor, then polished by revolving rollers and "grained up" workman with a "corking board" on a table. The grain is set into the leather on a hot stove, and after this it is oiled with cod oil.

-Attention is again being directed to the utilizing of the banana. From the -The experiment of constructing a stalk and leaf of this plant, it is stated, which, when manufactured into dress When suitable machinery for dec

-Charles Lamb had a horror of no- years ago, all brom corn was so bleached oriety, and of being "lectured" in pub- with sulphur fimes as to make it so lic places. Impertinence or offensive white that it rearly destroyed its pliainterference of any sort he could not bility, and it smetimes broke to pieces brook. An overbearing head of adepart- much more residly than it should have ment in the East India House approached done. Now to broom-makers have gone him one day, when Lamb was busily en- to the otherextreme. They dye their gaged, with the Paul Pry question, broom corn o green that housekeepers "Pray, Mr. Lamb, what are you about?" are afraid to break off one of the splints "Forty next birthday," he replied. "I to test a cale with, for fear they may be

-Electrity is applied to a device for the complication and tabulation of cen--The age of the high hat is under in- sus and oher returns of a similar navestigation. A correspondent writing ture which require summation and class-Emperor Maximilian, there is a man lating to each person by printing holes wearing a high hat, and in a book of in sheets or strips of paper and then crests and escutcheous of Josi Ammann, | counting or tallying these data either published in 1589, a high hat forms the separately or in combination by means crest of a nobleman. Had these hats of mechanical counters operated by elecnot been worn at the period, great art- tro-magnets, the circuits through which ists like Durer and Ammana would are controlled by the perforated strips. certainly not have painted such miserathly ugly things, which are the most present ene, and it is estimated that its use will sightly pieces of furniture the world has save nearly $580,000 in compiling the returns of the next census.

A PRACTICAL DARKY.

Trying Circumstances. Out about four miles from Natchez I came across a colored man who had headed for town with a jag of wood on a one-mule wagon. At a narrow spot in the road, where the mud was a foot deep, his old mule had given out and the wagon was stalled. The man sat on a log by the roadside, smoking a corncob pipe and enjoying a sun-bath, and after viewing the situation I asked:

"Well, what are you going to do?" "Nuffin', boss," he answered. "Going to leave the rig right there until it sinks out of sight?" "O, she's dun gone slown about as fur as she kin."

"And you are in no hurry?" "No, sir. Ise got all dis week to get to town.' "Well, you take things pretty cool, I must say. "Say, boss, jist sot down heah half an hour an' see de filosophy of de thing," he answered. "I'ze working a common sense plan on dis difficulty." I got down and took a seat, and it wasn't ten minutes before a cotton team with four darkies perched on the bales, came up from the rear. "Yo', dar-what's de rumpus?" demanded the driver as he checked his

"Dun got stuck fast." "Oh-ho! Come along, boys, and git dat ole mewl outer his trubble.' They all got down, each took a wheel, and with a "heave-o" the wagon was bott. She is an example of the pluck lifted out of the mud and was ready to

Her Grace of Mar!borough. Yesterday afternoon I encountered the Duchess on a tour of a picture gallery. such ardor that she inside of a year had completely lost her voice through overin spite of the adulation of the tribe of work, but by careful medical attention Jenkins. She represents a very usual she was enabled to regain her former type of the well-bred society woman, vocal capabilities, and returned to this with brown hair, the standard blue-gray country, where she was introduced to American eyes, regular features and C. D. Hess, and a coalition was formed somewhat ennuied expression. She is by Wetherell, Hess and Miss Abbott to rather above middle height and weighs took a fresh grip, put his foot on my star the latter with the Hess English from fifteen to twenty pounds less than stomach and pulled. At last it came ou Opera Company. Last Saturday she she did when she was plain Mrs. Ham-walked into the Treasury Department ersley. This, however, is an improve-stretched out a foot and hasn't gone at Washington with an ordinary package ment, rather than otherwise. She wore clear back yet. But the old tooth of brown paper, about eighteen inches a tailor gown of chocolate brown with thick, carried carelessly in her hand. General Rosecrans had one of the clerks examine the package, and it was found She chatted with her two companions Well, I hope you will successful. to be $135,000 in Government four per with considerable animation, and her with considerable animation, and her to be size of the considerable animation, and her to have them registered. This is making herself very pleasant in New amount represents the partial profits of her stage career, and it is safe to say that no other prima donna can match that no o Miss Abbott in wealth, with the exception of Adelina Patti.

woman who was especially happy in her day and generation.—N. Y. Letter.

ling on the corner and listening.—A. W. Bellaw, in Light.

SUICIDE BY FREEZING.

A Reminiscence of a Boston Woman Sug-gested by a Cold Spring Day. nehow the raw chill brought to his aind the case of Aunt Mehitabel Coffin, who, not nore than a short generation ago, lived in a cold old house down on the cold side of Cape Cod, with a houseful of rather frigid maiden ladies, her sisters and nieces. Becoming a little unsettled in her mind, Aunt Mehitabel resolved that she would battle no longer with an incloment world. She announced to the family one particularly cold morning that she had made up her mind to commit suicide.

"Law's sakes!" exclaimed her younger sister Abigail, incredulously, "how do you think you're going to kill yourself, Mehitabel?"

"The most nat'ral way 'round here. said Aunt Mehitabel, with a shiver, "is to freeze to death. An' that's the way

The rest of the family laughed her to corn. But when she had made all her preparations to go, and had even given away her Paisley shawl and her string of gold beads, their skepticism turned to alarm. It began to look as if she were actually in earnest. The next night the thermometer went down almost to zero. Aunt Mehitabel told them all a wailing good-bye at about nine o'clock in the evening, and went up to the spare room, which was of course the coldest room in the house. She put up the window, sat on the sill, and hung her feet out into the icy north wind. There was no man in the household and no woman strong enough or brave enough to compel Aunt Mehitabel to get back into the room. So the sisters and nieces gathered about, shivering in the intensified cold of the spare room.

By and by the suicide began to show signs of uneasiness in her perch at the window. "Wal," she said, "I guess it's 'bout's easy to freeze to death on the floor as tis out here."

She crept back into the room and crouched down upon the hard floor, noaning and complaining. By this time the other women of the household had fled back into the passage-way, and stood waiting in the darkness.

"Beats all," they heard Aunt Mehitabel murmur presently, "how hard this 'ere old floor is! I guess I'll sit on the rug."

She moved to the rug and set up a new series of world-weary lamentations but after she had sat there for some time and had experienced none of the positive symptoms of freezing to death, she rose and sat down on the foot of the

"This damp old bed always was 'nough to freeze anybody, and I guess it'll fetch me," she exclaimed, "if any thing will." Presently, almost without her own onsciousness, she sank down upon the bed, and then one of her nieces glided into the room and softly covered her with a quilt. "O, dear! oh, dear!" Aunt Mehitabel shrieked, "I'm goin' to sleep, an' that's a sure sign that I'm freezin' to death Good-bye to a cold, cruel world-goodbye, good-bye!" Aunt Mehitabel slept soundly until proved mental condition. She did not renew her attempt at suicide, and never made any reference to it as long as she To people who are born to commit norning, and awoke in a greatly im-

suicide Aunt Mehitabel's method of shuffling off is perhaps to be recom-mended.—Boston Transcript.

REGARDING DENTISTRY.

How the Old Man Expects to Find Els Nephew's Office in Chicago. MY DEAR NEPHEW: I learn that you have recently graduated from the Dental College. I congratulate you, and would almost let you pull a tooth for me for relation's sake. I must observe that I am not on the best terms with members of your craft. They have hurt my feelings more than any other people, and given me much pain. I am not on familiar enough terms with them to loaf around a dentist's office and loll in his chair much, and encourage him with a job-when I can avoid it. I can't feel at home there some way. Last week I had a mouth full of tooth ache, and it bulged out my jaw about a foot. The pain could not be told though I had it right at the end of my tongue. People could hear it ache clear across the street. I dreaded to get it pulled for the dentist said it would be necessary for me to be there in person, and it could not be done by telephone and I could not send a hand, or I would have sent my mother-in-law gladly. The family said if that tooth growled half as much as I did it must hurt awful. Its very heart throbbed for me wildly, but I could not encourage the attach ment. I wanted to get away from that tooth.

When I was forced to go to the dentist he told me to take that seat and put on one of my sweetest smiles and he would take the tooth in a second. I was in hopes he could take it with a camera, but he did not have one by. I feared he would get the wrong one, but he said he could see it aching as if it was being paid. I asked him if it was necessary for him to be in the neighborhood, and he said it was. I was in hopes it would jump out itself, it was such a jumper. When he got hold of it he only succeeded in pulling a yell out of my mouth half a mile long. He told me to shut my mouth or I would wake up all the babies on the block. I told him if I did shut my mouth he could not get at the tooth. Then he spit on his hands and looked like the forks of the road. It was a wisdom tooth; but it was very un-

Well, I hope you will succeed in making Chicago howl. I am nearly out of

ONE ENJOYS Both the methodand results when Syrup of Figs is teen; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Bermuda Bottled. "You must go to Bermuda. If you do not I will not be responsible for the consequences." "But, doctor, I can afford neither the time nor the money." "Well, if that is impossible, try

SCOTT'S

OF PURE NORWECIAN COD LIVER OIL.
sometimes call it Bermuda Beed, and many cases of CONSUMPTION,

Bronchitis, Cough or Severe Cold

I have CURED with It; and the advantage is that the most sensitive stomach can take it. Another thing which commends it is the stimulating preparties of the Hestimulating properties of the Hypophosphites which it contains You will find it for sale at your Druggist's but see you get the original SCOTT'S EMULSION."

To Restore Tone

and Strength to the System when weakened by La Grippe or any other Illness,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is positively unequalled. Get the BEST. Prepared by

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Tutt's Pills

THE REMEDY

must act on it. Tutt's Liver Pills act directly on that organ, causing a free flow of bile, without which, the bow-els are always constipated. Price, 25c. Sold Everywhere. Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

BILE BEANS KISSING at 7. 17. 70: Photo-gravure

J. F. SMITH & CO., Makers of "Bile Boans." St. Louis, Mo.

MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE. BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA

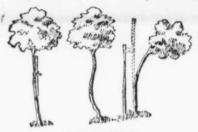

LANDS BITTER ROOT VALLEY

DO You Live in a Housef If so, you want a FARM ANT GARDEN. FREE TRAINING.

Methods of Making the Crooked Grow

Many fruit trees at they come from the nursery have cooked trunks, and if these are no made straight may be greatly improved. If the trunk simply leans to one side in a gradual curve drive a strong stake into the ground about twenty inches from the tree; connect the top of this with the tree near the branches, drawing the tree so that it will occupy an upright position, as indicated by the dotted lines (b) in figure shown. A band of wire, leather or cloth can be used, but the place where it comes in contact with the tree should be padded with cloth or a twist of hay to prevent injury to the bark. When a bad crook occurs along the trunk, as shown in the middle figure, instead of using two stakes simply follow the plan shown at the left-hand figure. A strip of seasoned wood about one inch square or large enough not to bend readily and long enough to span the crook is laid on a few thicknesses of cloth where it touches the tree; the crooked portion is then pressed up close to the stick and retained in position by a leather band. One season's growth is usually sufficient to correct any of the irregularities named, and then the guide may be wholly removed.

Remember, all these corrections of malformations will add to the tree's beauty as long as it stands-in many cases for several generations.-Rura New Yorker.

THE HORSE'S ENEMY.

Worms And How to Remove Them-Some Good Hints. Of all enemies of the horse, worms apis where the mucous membrane of the estines is in a morbid condition. This must be corrected before any permanent advantage can be derived from treatment of worms. Many preparations expel worms, but this physical imperfection continued, more of these pests will soon be developed and the animal's condition worse than

With a view to correcting the un-healthy condition above alluded to, see that the animal's teeth are in good order, attending in the colt's case especialy to the unshed crowns of the grinders. Place salt where it may be had when wanted by the animal, feed only good sound oats, hay and roots, and let exercise and grooming be regularly attended to. Begin internal treatment by giving a purgative dose of raw linseed oil-say one quart-before breakfast, a bran mash having been given the night before. After the oil had ceased acting, begin giving a pow-der containing dried sulphate of iron two drams, powdered barbadoes aloes one-half scruple, powdered gentian four drams; this powder to be mixed with the feed and its use continued until the animal is in a satisfactory condition. If the powder induces constipation, it must be corrected by feeding mashes,

After continuing the foregoing treatment for a few weeks, it may be well to give a half-ounce or an ounce of powdered santonine. This should be given mixed with a pint of linseed oil, and be fore breakfast. With an occasional repetition of the santonine- the tonic powders being continued, cure is but a matter of time. Indeed, the santonine treatment may be dispensed with altogether, as when the horse is put in a healthy condition .- Farm and Home.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES. Do not cramp the roots of trees or plants when re-planting. Dig a hole big enough to receive the roots in their fruit, though it is a fact that the apple cause for a strike on the part of a hired serves the most purposes.

do it, some one says. The idea looks most valuable part of the manure, and feasible.

it is out, we ought not to be surprised at our failure to make it grow.

THREE GOOD DEVIGES.

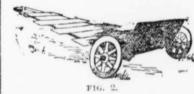

Some Home-Made Appliances That Every Farmer Should Have.

We show this week cuts of some of the devices seen at the farm of Isaac Hicks & Son. They are not exact reproductions, but are as nearly such as scriptions without seeing the implethey are liable to grew into deformed | ments, and are sufficiently accurate to trees. The proper time for doing this show the principles of construction.

tongue is fastened solidly, and a seat for the driver, and is used for a variety of purposes. Fig. 2 shows the structure of a silage cart. It is about sixteen or eighteen feet long; the axle-tree is six feet long, and on the under side are bolted, close to the wheels, two strong bed-pieces, approaching each other to a distance of perhaps a foot apart at the front end. Boards are nailed across these, each alternate one coming out flush with the bed-pieces, the others projecting some distance. A ladder behind, to hold the load in place, completes the rack. Two small, broad-tired wheels are used. When needed for use, the narrow end of the rack is chained under the towand hind wheels changed about. The rack is but a foot above the ground, and the alternate short boards allow a per- ing a new overcoat, passed near a house son to walk close to the center of the load to deposit his armful of corn or ling of heavy silage corn a comparatively easy matter. In unloading, the wagon is driven alongside the cutter, and the unloading is easily accomplished. There are many purposes for which such a wagon might be used about a farm in moving heavy materials which can be loaded on a high wagon which can be loaded on a high wagon able. The most favorable condition for their increase and injury to the animal can be constructed by any one having their increase and injury to the animal can be constructed by any one having their increase and injury to the animal can be constructed by any one having the can be co ordinary mechanical ingenuity. The Messrs. Hicks have a large silo built of height in the form of a round cistorn. sixteen feet deep, but they do not use it, as the milkman to whom they sell their

is a now carried in the early of the carried by an axis-tree and wheels far enough apart to allow the graph of the early of the carried by an axis-tree and wheels far enough apart to allow the graph of the early of the carried by an axis-tree and wheels far enough apart to allow the graph of the early of the carried by an axis-tree and wheels far enough apart to allow the graph of the early of the carried by an axis-tree and wheels far enough apart to allow the graph of the early for pumping feloed with a valve controlled by the deriver, by the carried with a valve controlled by the deriver, by the early of the carried of the early of Destroying wormy fruit that drops is a good thing, but it is only part of the warfare that must be waged against insect enemies.

Now comes a writer who says that Now comes a writer who says that watermelons would not be good in winter. Never mind, they will never be ping it up with pails, and allowing it lenty at Christmas.

It makes little difference what kind after the field was reached. He regardof fruit we grow, so that we grow good ed such a dirty job as this sufficient man. The large cistern had been emp Cur a hole in a potato and insert a tied but a few days before our visit, the flower bud that you desire to preserve, liquid being spread upon the meadow and there will be moisture enough to land. Mr. Hicks considers this the if he were to build another cistern he It is trying to a tree when it is re-moved from the ground; and if no care New-Yorker.

is taken to protect it at the roots while Scraping Off the Bark of Old Fruit Trees. A correspondent writes from Westfield, Ill., of the success he has had in A WRITER practically rejoices in the renewing the growth of his old fruit fact that some fruit growers grow poor trees by scraping off all the old bark fact that some fruit growers grow poor trees by scraping on all the branches fruit, as that prevents the market from from their trunks, from the branches being overloaded with good fruit. That man has a great head on his shoulders! 21, 1880, and scraped the bark from his which WE see a steel trap recommended to Seckel pear and apple trees, which WE see a steel trap recommended to be set in the fruit tree to catch thieving birds. If a greater blunder can be made than killing birds, because they get. birds. If a greater blunder can be made than killing birds, because they eat a little fruit, we do not see how it can be made.

The produced fine crops of fruit since, and he did not lose a single tree, by the process. We know that a Washington Star. peaches again. We never knew Dela-ware when she expected any peaches. to some extent in France to renew

FRENCH AND ENGLISH.

The Contrast Existing in the Manners of the Two Nations.

Mr. Hamerton, in his comparison of French and English manners, says the English way of behavior stands for dignity, the French for grace. The Enour artist could draw from imperfect de- glishman wishes to convey the idea that he is a dignified gentleman; the Frenchman that he is a witty and accom-plished man of the world. An Englishwork is when the treeshaye been transplanted, but it is too often neglected, yet crooked trees not more than two consists simply of two broad-tired about his dignity, and is afraid of comparations of the property of two promising it by being incautiously amia-

A Frenchman's manners represent his ambition to be thought brilli .nt; he is, therefore, lively and amusing. He takes trouble to make his conversation interesting. To an Englishman he seems to lay himself out too much for admiration, while to a Frenchman an Englishman appears to be destitute of called cast iron notes. It seems as though manners. The Englishman is anxious it would be hard to forge them. Englishman appears to be destitute of not to be troublesome; the Frenchman tries not to be dull.

Mr. Hamerton says the best popular English manners are to be found in certain rural districts, the worst in thriving and energetic Lancashire, where the mill-hands are aggressive toward well-dressed ladies and gentlemen.

A lady, a neighbor of Mr. Hamerton's, happened to be walking in a muddy street in Lancashire, She lifted her skirts a little, while near a group of factory girls, and their sharp eyes noticed her stockings, which were of some unbleached material.

"Well," cried out one, "afore Oi'd don stockin's na better washed nur them theere!" (Well, before I'd put on stockcart, which has high wheels, giving the ings no better washed than those!) The appearance of a wagon with the front general explosion of laughter caused the lady to drop her skirts.
One day, Mr. Hamerton, while wear-on which several masons were at work: One of them shouted out some coarse reother fodder. This renders the hand- mark about the overcoat, and Mr. Hamerton replied: "Way can't you let my coat alone? I came by it honestly: it is paid for."

"Paid for, is 't?" he sneered. "It waddn't 'a' bin if th' 'ad 'id t' addle th' brass." (It would not lave been if thou hadst had to earn themoney.) So Mr. Hamerton walked away defeated, amidst the jeers of the other workmen. amidst the jeers of the other workmen.

Mr. Hamerton has long resided in France, where he is known to hundreds of poor people, but he has never once been insulted, nor jeered by them because he had a good coat on his back. On the contrary, numbers of people, whose names he did not know, habitually lifted their heaten meeting by Draing out their hats on meeting him. Drving out

The Most Wonderful Invention.

There is said to be a decline in the reading of fiction; but the weather probabilities are still industriously printed every day.—

A crawfish lover is the name given to the defendant in a breach of promise suit. He is generally a bluefish after the judge names the figure of the damages.

Society is a place where people who were poor twenty-five years ago tell of the plebeian origin of their neighbors and con-ceal their own humble beginnings.—Boston Gazette.

No MATTER how plain-looking a drug clerk may be, in warm weather his fizz is always attractive to the girls.—Berkshire News. Three removes are equal to one fire, but a man has to be removed from a political office but once to realize that he has been fired.—Rochester Post-Express.

"A PRETTY good hitching post," as the preacher exclaimed when the morning's mail brought him three applications to perform the marriage service.—Light.

peaches again. We never knew Delaware when she expected any peaches. Still she generally makes out to produce about as many as she can hold inside of her little self.

similar plan to this has been employed to some extent in France to renew the life of old elm trees, and to destroy the eggs of insects which were lodged in the old bark.—Farm and Fireside.

"I'LL have to adjourn this police court," said the mistress of the house, as she descended into the kitchen. And in a few minutes Officer Mulligan was twirling his club in the street and the housemaid was dusting the furniture.—Washington Post.

Catarrh Can't Be Cured

Catarrh Can't Bo Cured with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they can not reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free. F. J. Chener & Co., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, price 75c.

One of the most depressing facts that has recently come to light is the possibility of a crank going over Niagara Palls without losing his life.—Norristown Herald.

ALWAYS avoid harsh purgative pills. They first make you sick and then leave you constipated. Carter's Little Liver Pills regulate the bowels and make you well. Dose, one pill. In commercial circles they have what are

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U. S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar. Some men have a dislike for their work

The probate lawyer is not of that class; he usually works with a will. For any case of nervousness, sleepless-ness, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, relief is sure in Carter's Little Liver Pills. penniss girl explained that he had taken her a her face value.—Boston Courier.

Lines who possess the finest complexions are sarrons of Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50c. A correspondent desires to make it known that the compensation for fiction is a storied earn.—Washington Post. No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consump Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

Winking at sin-lowering the eyelid at the druggist.—Leadville Herald. PHYSICIANS recommend "Tansill's Punch." GENERALLY speaking-women.-Harvard PATENTED AUG. 16, 1887, IMPROVED JULY 30, 1889.

DR. OWEN'S FLECTROGALVANIC BODY BEI TO AND SUSPENSORY will eure All Rheumatic Complaints, Lumbago, General and Nervous Debility, Costiveness, Ridney Diseases, Nervousness.
Trembling, Ex

POTATO PLANTER

WM. FITCH & CO.,

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 CANCER and Tu BREWSTER SAFETY REIN HOLDER CO., Holty, Rich.

"There was a frog who lived in a spring,

He caught such a cold that he could not sing." Poor, unfortunate Batrachian! In what a sad plight he must have been. And yet his misfortune was one that often befalls singers. Many a once tuneful voice among those who belong to the "genus homo" is utterly spoiled by "cold in the head," or on the lungs, or both combined. For the above mentioned "croaker" we are not aware that any remedy was ever devised; but we rejoice to know that all human singers may keep their heads clear and throats in tune by a timely use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, both of which are sold by druggists. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures the worst cases of Catarrh in the Head, no matter of how long standing, while for all laryngeal, bronchial, throat and lung affections, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is positively unequaled. It cures the worst lingering coughs and builds up the flesh and strength of those who have been reduced by wasting diseases. It is guaranteed to benefit or cure in all diseases for which it is recommended, if taken in time and given a fair trial, or money paid for it will be refunded.

Copyright, 1888, by World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors.

erce's Dr. Pierce's Pellets

THE STIVE PERFECTLY HARMLESS!

Smallest, Cheapest, Easiest to take. One tiny, Sugar-coated Pellet a dose. Cures rangements of the Stomach and bowels. 25 cents a vial, by druggists.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY, Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Afinnespolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sloux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado. VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN. CHICAGO. ILL. Qu'I Ticket & Pass. Agens

Best Cough Medicine. Recommended by Physicians. Cures where all else fails. Pleasant and agreeable to the taste. Children take it without objection. By druggists. CONSUMPTION

PATENTS I Invent something and make your FORTUNE! A 40-bage FORTUNE! A 40-bage FORTUNE! A 40-bage FORTUNE! A 40-bage FORTUNE! BOOK Address W. T. FITZGERALD, WASHINGTON, D. C. 62-NAME THIS PAPER every time you write. PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS.
Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. consion Burcau.
3 yrs in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, attly since. OF NAME THIS PAPER every time you write

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE

A Walk Under the Sea

Prof. Alexander Winchell, in a vivid description of a walk under the

We stand and gaze into the blackness and chill which rests against us like bodies imbedded in a wall of masonry. Days may pass, months of the solitude which imprisons us; no gleam reminds us that nature is not dead. We stand a century, and nothing stirs-nothing in those voice- ner's Magazine. less plains of death, though above us sweep the still majestic currents which bring frost from the pole. This mud is the dust of cemeteries, which has been gathering since the ocean great is the inconvenience which descended to take possession of its they cause to the perpetrators and to mysterious bed, shutting three-fifths their friends that one never hears of of the world's surface from the observation of man. Mingled with the clay are the relies of larger creatures ease, and fought against in every which have lived in the seas where the sunlight cheers its populationsteeth of sharks, ear-bones of whales -not the accumulations of yesterday or of a century. They are the reites of creatures whose race had died out -Tertiary whales, the representatory. Nothing changes here. Cold and darkness prevents decay. Here by the side of the wrecks of the last Winter are the hard parts of the creatures which dwelt somewhere in the ages before man.

Dead ruins of extinct types, we the realm is still inhabitated. Here spring lock. ure crinoids-prix zoid crinoidswhich have come down through all the ages of geologic history, lying the parlor where the family were here, sleeping here like inanimate organism through the centuries, chilled into changelessness like mammoth carcasses incased in ice, still dreaming of the middle ages of the world. Here are protesque articulates, perpetuated portraits of the quaint ancestors of the lobster and the grab-archaic fishes whose retardbehind in the march of progress. Few and widely scattered are these wanderers out of the world's antiquity, and they have not strayed to greater depths than three and onethird miles.

No ray of light, we said. But glow into the thickness of the solitude. This creature, then, has use His lantern-glow reveals the presence of other grotesque forms without starlight and without eyes. Fishes they are, but stranger than fancy ever pictured. One has a mouth of five times the length of the body's diameter. The mouth of another chair against it, and the clergyman, opens to twice the length of the animal's body, with a bag-like pouch, which would hold the entire body six times over, Another has glaring eyes like a tea-saucer, strained to take in the thin phosphorescence from his neighbor's lantern. Life is even here-antique, obsolute life, which the ages have sent by a devious path astray, arriving at our times a million | Doctor Blank. years behind its date.

Indians and Whisky.

They will drink whisky-and what Indian will not?-but even in this they observe a method and a degree of decency that white topers would will be sure of the best half of the do well to imitate. When a band or family decide to get drunk they send the first step in the wrong direction to the nearest market for one or more not only makes the second easier, but gallons of liquor. In spite of the law makes it almost inevitable; you forbidding the sale of intoxicants to Indians they have no difficulty in finding white agents willing to procure the stuff for them. It is indeed stuff, and that of the vilest character, break of sin. The latter warns and though for it the Indians are made arouses; the former chloroforms the to pay at least double the price of the best quality; but what frontier trader tion in the life of David, disclosing the liquid flames beneath ready to regards it as any thing but meritorious to cheat a red-skin?

the Indians retire to some remote and of Divise admonitions, floated spot where their orgies will not be calmly down the stream, amid the odor of flowers and the delights of witnessed by any save themselves, music and sense, towards the fearful and deliberately prepare for their cataract.-Zion's Herald. spree. They first set aside a share of the "fire water" for the squaws, who will not touch a drop of it until their lords have finished their debauch. All guns, knives and other weapons are then placed in charge of the squaws, or, if there are no women in party, they are all delivered to one of the men, for whom a certain While the rest are drunk this guardian of the peace must remain sober and keenly watchful of the actions of his companions. Should he prove unfaithful to his trust he will be exiled from the tribe, and no Indian will hold communication with him for the term of months or years dur- Is Pleasant, Safe and efficient. Price 25 cts. ing which his exile is enforced. While the debauch of his companions lasts he is absolute master of the situation, and is at liberty to use any Bi of life, to repel an attempt to regain possession of the weapons. If these amount of force, even to the taking are left with squaws the same rule holds good for them,

The preparations being thus completed, the Indians, using one small tin cup, which is impartially handed from one to another, proceed to get solemnly, furnily, furiously and stupidly drunk. The next day it is and years, and not a sound comes out the turn of the squaws or of the man The Farmers' who has stood guard, and they, too, taste the joys and sorrows of complete intoxication, -Kirk Munroe, in Scrib-

A Hopeless Case.

The freaks of absent minded people are often amusing to hear of, but so them without the feeling that absentmindedness is to be shunned as a dispossible way. An amusing instance of the plight into which an absentminded man may contrive to get himself occurred at an ordination in Maine not long since, when a number of clergymen were gathered to ordain one of their brethren.

The place was a county town, and the visitors, instead of being quartered at hotels, were distributed among the members of the society at whose church the ordination was to take place.

Dr. Blank, who was to preach the sermon, stayed with an old deacon, and, as it chanced, was quartered in said. Nay the forms are not all dead: a room upon the door of which was a

Just as the moment came for driving to church, Dr. Blank appeared in waiting, and announced that when he had come out of his room he had forgotten to put the catch of the lock down, and had left on the table within not only the key, but the sermon he was about to deliver.

For an Instant there was complete consternation, but fortunately the son of the family reccollected that ed development has left them ages there was a duplicate key, which was produced, and the doctor went placidly upstairs after his manu-

Three minutes later he reappeared with an expression of mingled contrition and despair upon his lace, and explained that when he got to phosphorescent gleam breaks through his room he could not remember the wall of night. In the distance what he had come for, and had star is a fish-like form bearing a curious ed to ask, but had been brought to appendage, which seems to serve his senses when the door once more him as a lantern. It sheds a ghastly swung to behind him, and the realized that it had again shut in his sermon.

There was no locksmith within for eyes. Shut out from nature's call and it would have been a despersunlight, he is a feeble star to himself ate case for the doctor had not the son once more come to the rescue by procuring a ladder, and climbing in at the window of the chamber.

He took the double precaution of taking from the table his own key, room. "I took the key instead!"

COMPROMISE.-Compromise with evil is always dangerious. The devil bargain. You are on his ground; must take the second to vindicate your conduct in the first. The slow drift from the course of duty is not less dangerous than the sudden outswallow him up, extorted the cry for with the liquor in their possession on the liquor in their possession of this terrible warning

> If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough ure. It is a sure and speedy cure for Coughs olds. Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness c. 25 ets, a bottle.

> For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, &c. Use Roger's Specific Liniment. It has no equal as a cure for Sprains, Burns Bruises, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentary, Rheumatism, &c. 25 ets.

amount of the liquor is reserved. D spepsia and Habitual Constipation Speedily cured by a few doses of Appetite, the Great Stomach, Kidney and Liver Rem-edy. Price 50 cts.

> Piles! Piles! Piles! Roger's Specific Cocaine Pile Remedy Will cure in a short time the most aggravated case of Itching, protruding, Bleeding, or any other form of Piles. Price 50 cts, a box.

Roger's Specific Worm Syrup For Chapped Hands, Face, &c., Use Frangipane Curative Balm, a delightful oilet article for the Hands, Face, Roughness of Skin, Face and Sunburn, Tetter, Pimples Blotches and Skin Diseases. Price 15 cts.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

If so call upon or write us.

Hardware Association,

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OHS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC. HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, FTC.

It will pay you to call and see a consider a consideration of the forming consideration of the forming communication of the second of the forming communication of the following the fol

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known n Garrett County, will call on every farmer and solicit orders for anything they wish in

FARMERS HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Mausger.

TREASURER'S TAX SALE. Under and by virtue of Sec. 53 of Art. 12 of the Code of Pub. Local Laws entitled Garrett County subtitle "County Treasurer," the un-derstened, Ross Compton, as County Treas-urer for Garrett County aforesaid, will offer at Public Sale to the highest responsible bid-der for cash, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland

ON TUESDAY, THE 10TH DAY OF JUNE, in the year 1896, at the hour of 11 o'clock A, M., all that piece, parcel or tract of land lying and being in the Fourth Election District in said Garrett County, known and designated as an one-undivided half-interest of, in and to a certain tract of land known and designated as chair against it, and the clergyman, who was profuse in his thanks, once more went upstairs to get his sermon.

"SAINT CLAIR,"

When he came down, the family started for church, and just as they reached it the hostess remarked with a smile, that the congregation would not know how near they came to having no sermon. At the words a sudden paleness came over the face of Doctor Blank.

"I have left it at home after all!" the gasped holding out the key to his soom. "I took the key instead!" the leaving said Lot North forty-seven degrees East forty-seven degrees East three hundred perches, North seventy dedress East three hundred perches, North seventy seven degrees East forty-three perches of the end of the 25th line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it as they great the seventh line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing the line in the red, with line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and reversing it and the sixth line of a tract of land called "Glerg," and t

Said land will be sold for the payment of the State and County Taxes due and in arrear thereon for the years 1888 and 1889. ROSS COMPTON. Late Tressurer.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 303. AN ACT

one and a-half.

SECTION I, Be it enacted by the general Asembly of Maryland. That an additional section be added to Article twelve of the Publicocal Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett Courty," sub-lifle "County Commissioners," follow section forty-one, to be numbered to y-one and a-half and to read as follows: 4U<sub>2</sub>. They shall have power to levy annually to the Mayor and Council of Oakland such same as in their judgment may be proper to aid the Mayor and Council in keeping the public roads and streets in said town in repair.

SEC. 1. And be it enacted, That this Act ball take effect from the date of its passage. Approved April 8th, 1890.

CHAPTER 329.

AN ACT
To provide for recording mortgages in Garrett County in a seperate book, and authorize the Clerk of the Circuit Court to purchase an index book, and to index all mortgages in said County in sid separate index book, and to require the County Commissioners to pay for said index and indexing. sioners to pay for said index and Indexing.
SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett county be and he is hereby authorized and required to purchase an index book such as are now used in his office, to be kept for the sole purpose of indexing mortgages in said office,

SEC, 2. And be it enacted, That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County be and he is hereby required to index all of the Circuit Court for Garrett County be and he is hereby required to index all mortgages and bills of saie in said county in said index book, and to use said index for the purpose of indexing mortgages and bills of saie only.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted. That the County Commissioners of Garrett County shall pay for the index and indexing hereinbefore provided for in the same manner that other County enarges are paid for in said County.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted. That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage 5 17 31. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 179.

AN ACT Forepeal section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Pub-lfe Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurora." SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article tweive of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title, "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurors," be and the same is hereby repealed. SEC. 2. And be it enseted, That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage. Approved March 22, 1890.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 285.

AN ACT o authorize and empower the Sheriff of Garrett County to employ a warden for the County Jail of said County; SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That the com-

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

On the 10th Day of JUNE Next. at the hour of Po'clock A. M., in front of the

"SMOOTH VALLEY,"

"STANTON'S PURCHASE,

PHINEAS C. BOUCHER,

EXAMINERS' NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That

FAVORITE SINGER

OUR FAVORITE SINCER Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. Lith St.. Philadelphia. Pa-

FOR SALE!

Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park ontaining one hundred acres, fifty acres leared and in grass. The improvements ousist of a good 1½-story dwe'ling house, arn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c., the farm is well watered and nearly all un-ley fence. Signated about 2½ miles from was Park For terms, &c., apply to

JOS. G. NESBITT, Fairment, W. Va.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS.

Having used the above Fertilizers for about article, which can be depended upon to be as represented. Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself.

Wheeing, W. Va., I am fully able to intain Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home.

SALE. Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

Republican Office, Oakland, Ma VALUABLE

JAS. A. HAYDEN

FOR SALE.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, sy payments.

ements cost more than the price to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

> JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, containing 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story FRAME HOUSE. taining five rooms and a cellar, nicely

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

MASSET HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three courses ull. Special attention to collegiate require-ients, Number of Pupis strictly Limited, eference Library, REV. J. NEWMAN,

Principal. J. F. LEWIS, -MANUFACTURER OF-

TERING LATH!

J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va DR. E. H. BARTLETT,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity

Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church.

NEW AD TISEMENTS.

-GO TO-HenryJ. Mayers' OAKLANI PH RMACY

COR. MAININD RAILROAD STS.,

Successoro W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS AND

MEDICINES.

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all

"Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto."

-Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Buckets, Baskets, Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands. Razort, ète.

AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varnishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushez, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere, German and English Spoken.

H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

EVERETT & HARVARD BINIBOS! CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of self-ing the above named instruments, i decide to intern the citizens of this and adjoining ounties who may be destrous of purchasing really first-class instrument at a moderate where, to call and examine my line of instrucan also furnish all kirds of Musical

J. M. LITZINGER. Oakland, Md.

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST 6-Accommodation. 72-Accommodation. GOING WEST.

15-Accommodation.

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be pro cured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 t. 26

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager: C. K. LORD.

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN NEW FIRM. LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS- Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS

General Passenger Agent.

AND BUILDES. OAKLAND, - MD.,

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all ard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes om Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, veeney, Ring bone, Stifles, Sprains, all vollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by to of one bottle. Warranted the most won-

itch, Mange, and scratches on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist,

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will dractice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Md. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET,

Particular attention given to Conveyancing uvestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. icli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice it the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjecting countless of West Vs.

***Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Calms, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on coloralision. Office. Nydegger building, Main St., above drug store. 6 5 '86 tf.

EWD. H. SINCELE THUMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 10 6 J. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND

VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Countles of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

A, B. GONDER. ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY. Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., an i offers his services to those wishing Dental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. #$ Residence a' Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.−1y.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON OAKLAND, MD.,

is professional services to the people and and vicinity.

)R. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD. Files an i residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and illing the natural teeth. til work varranted to give satisfaction.

Br. I. D. Newman, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 h y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND.

Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles North of Oak-tand, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outbuildings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL,

The efficacy of the Microbs Killer in cases of con-imption invisces as off ctually demonstrated that we repeatured in citizing first curative powers beyond as in very metriculations. We do not claim for it the one to use, lion stone jugs. Price $3.00. It one month. Cheap; within the ician of 17 years experience in Sand for circular and information.

NOTICE.

Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, Philada, Po.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowle Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 264, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut iown.

THEOS. B. HORWITZ THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to doall kinds of blacksmithing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop mear"Browning House." DAVID LITTLE,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

We have opened

NEW STOCK YARDS

AT BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-

Mules for Logging —and— TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY.

W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R.,

MILLS

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newels, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings. Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-ng done to order at the lowest rates, ## Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work.

E. F. STANSBERRY.

Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD.

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghloghenly river.

This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. a good orenard, and a young orenard just coming into bearing.

The farm is we!! watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and !wenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Call on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oaktard, Md.

ALEXANDER & CO.

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets. CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Betting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys-wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice, Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagons, Buggles, &c. 622

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND First - Class Tailor,

FROM SALTIMORE, Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3 15 90 NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Wolff's ACME Blacking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best

Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is indorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other diseases of the blood.

"Aver's Sarsaparilla has won its rep Druggist, 212 Merrimack st., Low Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn. "In my practice, I invariably pre-Ayer's Sarsaparilla for caronic dis-Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts.,

Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in aumerous instances, and I find it highly of the blood."

I. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O right and rear, and as I started off on the retifies: "Alver's Sarsapacific has always been a life as always been a life as allowed puriner equal to the result of the reader and to be alone and always been a life as always been a life as always been a life as allowed puriner equal to the result of the reader and as I started off on the reader and as I started off on the result of the reader may harshiv criticise. While I could have steept away I would not. I could not have settired find the reader may harshiv criticise.

While I could have steept away I would not. I could not have settired find him no. He has been allowed in that country meant suffering and asked me how I dared to start alone.

came so bad the dieters advised amountains taking Ayer's Entsaparilla and soon saw in approvement. After using about two or zen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each oled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-phrifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Don't fail to get

Ayer's Sarsapārilla DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

FARM FOR SALE!

Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reas-mable rates.

Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

FEES.
OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE C.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agracies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST thas those remote from Washington.
Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable of not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Pstent Office, Washington, D. C.

CAUGHT BY COMANCHES.

hostile at that date, they had been said, in Comanche: sadly reduced by small-pox and driv- "It is easy enough for a squaw to wish me to hear, I arose and stepped en to the north, and the old frontiers. track a horse after sunrise, and even backward out of the light of the fire; men stated their belief that the party a boy could make prisoner of a sleep- and I believe I was a hundred feet would not even see one. When I ing man." left camp I was four days behind the party. As all were mounted and in three of them. tended to push right ahead, this "When your people at home heaf last seen: meant a matter of eighty miles to me. of your brave deed they will sing I had meanwhile dropped to my However, I had a hardy mustang, songs in your praise!" I continued, hands and kness and was crawling was well armed, and when I rode speaking in tones of contempt. "Here to the left toward the guns. As the away from the camp I had about re- I have the claws of a grizzly near rush came I dropped beside a loggained my strength. I felt a bit of which I shot a few months ago. Take and one of the redskins leaped square dizziness as I galloped along over the them, and you can secure further over me as he cleared the log: I trail, and soon discovered that my praise by claiming to have killed the heard them scatter and beat about; eyes were weak. The party had left beast yourselves." a plain trail, and as my mustang had had a long rest he kept to his gait with hardly a break up to high noon. Coolness and nerve are what count them, and it had been left behind Along the banks of the stream the country was wooded. A mile to the west it was plain and prairie mixed, sometimes badly broken and then as level as a floor for several miles. and watered and bated my horse and er of the band: ate my luncheon. I had just mounted for a new start when I heard a of endurance.

greatest fear is overdoing the matter. fast : will be felt after the first ten miles. to see your country." RICHA. D CUSTER, Indians did not stop to inspect it or respect." had visited the spot before. They amazement, and I continued : warpath, but too weak to attack the white men, avoid them, as I do not when he gave me his story. larger party. As the sun began to wish to be seen." checkmated this.

creeks, my horse got a little water, tended just for that purpose.

THE RESERVE WE THEN A STREET A SHOW WHAT THE PROPERTY OF THE P

a 1869 a hunting party composed ed on, I led my horse toward the more as a curlosity than a prisoner; reral prominent citizens of St. timber, and reached it without hear- and this very fact bred a new dans. Cincinnati, Louisviille and ing anything further from the In- ger. After eating I sat apart from go, and numbering about thirty dians. We pushed through the tim- them to smoke and meditate, and to all, entered the country of the ber to the river, and here were both give them opportunity to compare anche Indians in that elbow of grass and water. I had a cold bite notes. It did not take their long to s lying between New Mexico in my haversack, and after disposing satisfy each other that I was a "bad the Indian Territory for a four of it I stretched out and went to medicine," and that if they carried k's stay. There was a temporary sleep, hoping I had given the red me to their village my presence p of soldiers at the junction of men the slip. I opened my eyes the would bring disaster. They urged Big Wichita and the Red Rivers next morning in astonishment. Seat- that I be killed; but then came the hat time, and as we reached it on ed in a circle about me were the five question of who should do it. Each way into the country, I was bit- Comanches, while their ponies were was afraid that the deed would bring on the leg by a rattlesnake, and feeding with my horse. There was wrath dpon his head, and so far as I up for five days. I was with the a fire, and the Indians had evidently could make but, each one refused the ty'in the capacity of scout and eaten breakfast. They were smok- task. While they were taiking I iter; but as it was a strong one, it ing as I awoke, and there was a grin moved carefully backward to the decided not to wait for me. They on each face as it was turned toward earth, and by and by I had twenty me the fellows took this for nerve. I could not hope to reach them: Just While the Comanches were bitterly looked from man to man, and finally when the five got their heads togeth-situation I knew that I was in for it. was a Winchester and a new thing to dian off his balance. I sat up, rub: I crept away out of the circle of the bed my eyes, reached for my haver: fire and then got the shelter of the sack and got some meat and bread, tree. The Indians beat around for a and as I toasted the meat at the fire, good half hour, and then all came in

' Had I known you were Coman-"Yi! yi! yi!" on my right, and I ches I should not have run away. 1 turned my head to see five Comanches coming out of the timber on stolen horses. I shall be ready to go their ponies. They were about half a mile away, and had evidently just discovered me. They were to my

by mustang in his present fresh asked me how I dared to start alone petil. I had been a scout for several years. I had been ambushed, shot as I moved away, but after going a him that I had trapped the mountain at, pursued and wounded. Two of mile I looked back and saw that the lion and cut out and eaten his liver my comrades had been hacked to red men had settled down to busi- While still alive, and therefore feared red men had settled down to busi-ness. They were strung out in line, nothing living. I could see that I could that night they would be and adapted their pace to mine, they were greatly puzzled, and that likely to overhaul me next day, and That meant a long chase and a test they had no idea of offering me vio- if again capture I they would burn When a man rides for his life, the by saying, as I finished my break- guments in my defense as I lifted my

If he pushes too fast at the start he "Come! It is time to go. We He went down as my rifle cracked; will "blow" his horse, and the effects have a long ride and I am anxious and was followed by a second and a

I had been five years on the plains, "I whistled up my horse; and had comprehend what was going on. had a pretty fair stock of nerve, and him nearly ready before they moved. Neither stopped for his gun; but I rode to fayor my beast. He would They had taken my rifle and revol- both sprang away in the darkness. I have gone a third faster had I per- ver, and I did not seem to have no- fired after them, and, strangely mitted it, but I rode to keep my ticed the fact, but strapped my blan- enough, shot one through the hip: For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 30 distance and gain nothing. Every ket to the saddle, lighted my pipe, He traveled with his companion and waited for them. They battle traveled with his companion to the charge the first said waited for them. mile or so I shifted my weight for- and waited for them. They came twenty miles before he lay down to Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables ward or back, to relieve the burden together out of earshot and had a die. The fifth warriof headed to the on him, and so the afternoon wore confab, but apparently did not arrive East, until he got among the mounwere some rambling party out on the "And If we should encounter any Chickasaws, and was with them

ten the distance and bring me within peg. When we set out two rode in two who had escaped had no idea of rifle shot, but a word to the mustang front and three behind, and no In- returning. After a scanty breakfast dians were ever more puzzled. In I caught up the six animals; packed Had I been able to keep the trait later years I met one of them, and he up everything of value, and then after three o'clock, I should have told me that their plan was to tor- searched the dead. The three had counted or finding the party in their ture me as soon as I awoke. Even about $70 in gold and sliver among second camp by sundown, as we were the one who was to have the honor them, and one had a white man's getting over the ground at a rapid of scalping me had been designated, scalp which had been taken within rate, but about that hour I came to a and the plunder had been apportion- two days. When ready to start I rough, stony district, where the pas ed. And after they had concitted neaded toward the Southeast for the sage of the horses had left no trail, to take me prisoner to a village one river, and at three o'clock rode right seemed to be almost as fresh as at noon. It was to be a startight night, and as soon as dusk came I urged East, and I figured that they were my beast to a faster pace, and bore flatking the camp of the white party A child that goes to school instant more to the left. When I believed by their manosuvre. We rode to the after month, and can only say, "A SALES ME N more to the left. When I believed by their manogure, we rode to the after month, and can only say, "A East until nightfall, and then went for apple," write its companions are into camp in some timber alongside putting letters into sylables, words, To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or for forty rods, and then dismounted, a creek. Several times during the and sentences, is either lazy or Guil. workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY,

Mt. Hope Nurserles.

Established 1810.

Rochester, N. Y.

Established 1810.

Eatablished 1810.

Rochester, N. Y.

Established 1810.

of their ponies feet came very plain- camp I saw that I had them off ly to my ears. When they had pass- their guard. They looked upon me to follow up the Red River to me. I lay on my back, with my feet between me and the heafest mah: mouth of the Little Wichits, and hands clasped under my head, and doubtless overtake them ere such was my astonishment that I her id browse. The guns were on the hand decided on a permanent could not move. Fortunately for the other side of the fire where I er to discuss something they did not away when they infssed me. Every "Ugh! Ugh!" grunted two or man sphang to his feet with a yell and rushed for the point where I was and while they were hunting for me From the instant I realized my I crawled along and got my gun: It At noon I came to a small creek. I said, addressing myself to the leadtook place at once, one blaming the other for my escape. But something like peace was restored by the leader Saying I could not go fit on foot;

lence, and I increased their wonder and torture me. I had all these afgun and took fair aim at the leader. third, before the surviving two could and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear through the spot where the party had three behind. It is an honor due me, ions and of his entire outfit was through the spot where the party han three behind. It is an honor due the, lone and of his entire outfit was For particulars and terms, apply to or adcamped the first night, and as the and you cannot show me too much something he could not explain satisfactorily, and he was fearful of begive up the pursuit, I knew that they They looked at me in wonder and ing made the victim of the chief's anger. He therefore renegaded to the

> I stood guard all night, and when sink in the west they sought to shor. This last observation drove the morning came was satisfied that the sage of the horses had left no trail, and I went ahead at random; plan-ning to keep my distance from the river. Twice, in crossing small out of this by my queer remarks, inies a more can for take but and as the sun finally went down he We moved to the West about five found on each one a saver Gover

The Republican. JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

WHAT A WOMAN CAN DO. There's a poet who sings Of the wonderful things That man with his might and his knowledge gets through;
But I wish to rehearse,

In a jingle of verse,

A good many things that a woman can do. If distressed you appear, She can comfort and cheer, Dispelling the trouble that made you look blue She is born to console Any suffering soul:

This is one of the things a woman can do. She can talk like a book, She can wash, sew or cook, She can take shabby garments and make then And to keep a house neat,

Cheerful, healthy and sweet, Is another good thing that a woman can do. She's a wonderful trick When she nurses the sick, And as mute as a shadow her tasks she'll As an angel to cheer,

She can stand without peer; Is one of the things that a woman can do. In a good many ways She's entitled to praise;
ood many others—to give her her dueShe's a little bit wrong.

To continue my song I will name other things that a woman can't do I suppose you will own That she can't throw a stone With a possible chance of her aim being true

And the pencil she'll point Will look out of joint; It is one of those things that a woman can't do If she goes to the play, In the night time or day, The hat she will wear hides the stage from your

And to think those behind To look on are inclined Is one of the things that a woman can't do.

If she goes out to spend A few hours with a friend
She can't keep her tongue still a minute or two And no note she'll address Is without its P. S .-For that's one of the things that a woman can't -"Clover Club" Poem.

THE CLAIM-JUMPER.

Why the Rightful Owners Failed to Plug Him Full of Lead.

"Fellers, I reckon we've struck it at last. "Reckon we hev, Dock, an' purty doggoned rich, too," "Bet ye'r right, Jim. That thar claim is jest lousy with gold, an'ever' blamed one of us 'ill git rich offen it. Tell yer | Don't you guess it mout be?" whut, I never see as fine a layout in my "Wal, fer my part," Jerry Dunkin remarked, in his drawling tone, "we can't git rich none too soon. I'm dog-goned tired o' diggin' fer nothin'." "Reckon Derry'd think it wuz mouty hard work if he jest had to pick the gold up," said old Dock Perkins. "I low I never seed his equal fer gittin tired. 'Pears like he gits tired of ever' thing but eatin'." "Bet he never gits tired o' eatin',"

Jim Buster cried, at which there was a general laugh at Jerry's expense. "You fellers kin laugh if you want to," Jerry replied, in an injured tone: "but when a feller ain't feelin' well I reckon he don't naterally feel much like "No: ner he ortent to feel much like eatin', nuther. But I reckon our mountain days air about over, boys, an' in a month or two Jerry an' all the rest of us 'll be gittin' for the East. I flower that we'll git at least five thousand dollars apiece out o' ther new mine, an' yer bet

if we do, I'm goin' back to see the widder an' the young 'uns." "Here, too, Dock. Blamed if I ain't hankerin' to see the ole 'oman an' the children wuss than I ever have in the seven year I've been away from 'em. 'Pears like the hope o' seein' 'em sorter makes a feller wanter see 'em." "Jerry an' me ain't got nobody to go back to," said Dave Rice; "leastwise no wives an' children, but I guess we'll go

'long o' the rest." "Reckon mebby yer won't be hankerin', Dave, to see that thar gal what you're allus writin' to. I 'low not." Just at that moment Jake Lane, who had been out to picket the donkeys, returned, and approaching the group

"Wal, fellers, there's a job fer us." "What sorter job?" Dock asked. "Job o' hangin' or shootin', I guess. "Whut in the dickens do yer mean? Who air we goin' to hang or shoot?" "I reckon we'll hev to do one or the tother to the feller that's jumped our claim. "Which-the new claim?" "Edzackly. A feller has squatted onto it an' 'pears to be makin' hisself at home.

"That shorely can't be, Jake," Jim Buster protested. "Wal, it 'pears like it kin be," Jake replied.

"Why, blame it all, Jake, yer shorely mistaken," said Dock. "Thar can't be anybody up thar." 'Gosh ding it, Dock, I 'low I know a thing when I see it, an' asides, the feller is thar to show fer hisself." For a moment the men smoked in silence, looking at each other in the meantime with an inquiring glance. At last old Dock broke the silence by saying: "Fellers, you hear what Jake says. What yer 'low to do?" "Guess thar ain't but one thing to do. Dock," Bill Nelson said, "an' I reckon

"Guess we do. Thar only question is shall we shoot or hang?" "Reckon it don't make no special difference. Shootin's a leetle the handiest, though.

we all know what that is."

"im and have it over with.

'Wal, we'll shoot, then. Air you ready to act now?" "S'pose now's as good as any time The quicker we git 'im offen the claim the better, an', asides, we won't have no time to fool with 'im to-morry. Guess we'd as well go right up an' fix started off up the gulch for the purpos of removing the claim-jumper.

The claim in question had been worked a very little, but it had the appearance of having been abandoned some months. A little log cabin had been erected by the former claimant, and this was now occupied by the new

mer. .
"That's the dog-gondest cheekiest piece er impudence I ever heerd tell of," old Dock remarked, as they clambered up the rocky gulch. "Think of a feller comin' an' squattin' down on a laim right under our noses. Blamed fool might 'a' knowed what 'u'd happen

"Wal, I sorter figger that he won't jump no more claims. Reckon this'll about let 'im out on that racket." A dim light was burning in the cabin and as the miners approached they could see through the open window the figure of a man sitting at a rough table with his head buried in his hands. On the table before him lay an open letter. "Humph," old Dock muttered; "wonler what he's a-doin?"

"Figgerin' up the profits he cakerlates to make out'en the mine, I jedge,' Jim Buster replied. "Mouty dog-goned nice show to drop 'im from yere. "Bet it is," said Jake, "an' I 'low we'd as well plug 'im."

In an instant Jake brought his gun to his shoulder, and the click of the ham-mer was heard. In that same instant the man in the cabin lifted his head slightly and drew his coarse sleeve across his eyes. "Hold on, thar, Jake," Dock cried. 'You ain't goin' to shoot yit."

"Why ain't I?" Jake demanded. 'Want to fool 'round yere till he diskivers us an' up an' blows the daylights out o' somebody?" "Reckon thar ain't no danger." "Reckon you'll think different if he lrops one of us directly," Jake grumbled, as he lowered his gun.

"What's he doin', anyhow?" Jim asked, rying to peer into the room. "That's what I've been tryin' to make out," said Dock; "but it 'pears like the blame candle makes sich a pore light that I can't tell nothin'." "Why, you darned fool," Jerry said,

"he's a-cryin'. Don't you see him a-wipin' the tears out of his eyes?" Dave. "Wonder what's the matter of "Dunno." Dock replied, thoughtfully. Seems like he's been readin' that thar etter, don't it?"

"Yes, it does," Jake assented.
"Say, fellers," Dock continued, after short silence, "wonder if that ain't a etter he's jist got from home? Mebby his wife, or some of his children, or somethin' is dead, an' he's just heerd it.

"I dunno," Jake replied: "an' fer that matter I don't keer. Hadn't I best drop im right now?"

"Guess ye mout as well," said Jim. "Yer won't do no sich thing," old Dock exclaimed, with warmth. "Yer ain't goin' ter shoot that feller if I kin help it, an' if yer do shoot, I'll put a hole through the feller that does it." "Wal, begosh, what did we come up yere fer, I'd like to know?" old Jake asked.

"Not to shoot a feller like that, by jux. Hain't yer got no feelin's?"
"Not fer them blamed claim-jump

"Claim-jumper or not," exclaimed old Dock, "I 'low he's er human in trouble. and dem me if I'll see him shot down. I hain't got no love for claim-jumpers but when I see them tears, dog-goned if they don't tech my heart. I'm goin' in an' find out what's up with 'im."

No matter what the others said or how independently they talked, when the whole matter was simmered down, old Dock proved to be the leader of the crowd and every man obeyed him. They might grumble and find fault, but after all they quietly submitted to old Dock's opinions.

The light tap at the door, after being repeated once or twice, elicited a weak, despondent "Come in," from the inmate of the cabin, and when the door swung back, leaving the miners standing face to face with the claim-jumper, they opened their eyes in astonishment and stood rooted to the spot. They beheld before them a pale, emaciated, sad-faced man, whose great hollow eyes shone with unwonted brightness. A man whose very looks proclaimed his inoffensiveness.

"Gentlemen," he said, in a feeble voice, "I hope you'll be so good as to come in. "Thankee," two or three said in a horus, and at the same time all six of them filed into the little cabin and ranged themselves around the wall with hats emoved, and a more quiet, demure crowd are soldom met.

For a little while nobody spoke or loved; then the stranger, drawing his hand across his eyes, asked:

"To what am I indebted for this visit entlemen?" The miners glanced at one another rather sheepishly, then all fixed their eyes on old Dock, who, understanding their meaning, said: "Wal, we heer'd you wuz up here, an" so we sorter 'lowed we'd come up an' see how you wuz fixed. Kinder like ter be neighborly, yer know. Reckon thar ain't nothin' we kin do fer ye?" "No; thanks for your kindness." Then followed an awkward silence, broken by old Dock, who blurted out: "See here, young feller, I'm blamed if ye don't need somethin'. Dog-goned if yer don't look awful bad. Yer do, shore.

Air ye sick?" "Yes. I've been sick a long time," the stranger replied; "but it won't last much longer.'

"Think you'll soon be well, eh?" The stranger shook his head. "Shuck!" old Dock cried; "you mus'n't think o' givin' in. Jist brace up an' work up courage, and mebby you'll pull outen it. Whar'd you come from?" "I came from North. I have a friend who wrote me four months ago that she'd meet me at Quimby, and I went over there to receive her, but either she didn't come or else I missed her, and after four months of waiting I returned The miners armed themselves and only wait for death."

"The friend you speak of was a relative, I jedge " old Dock said, softly. face betrayed who the friend was "Never mind," Dock said; "I under stand."

As he spoke, Dock drew near to the cast his eye down the page, and after considerable study made out the sig- ly approach in taste. nature at the bottom. "That's from her, I s'pose?" he asked.

shore. Dog-goned fort'nit we come." he turned his big, bright eyes on Dock. bean.

"Do you know any thing of her?"

and then stopping, Dock said: ever' dog-goned one of us. The idea of the sever' dog-goned one of us. The idea of the idea of the sever' dog-goned one of us. The idea of consumpted chap. Blamed if I was conduits through subterraneous rates consumpted chap. Blamed if I was conficul currents by wires charged ever so 'shamed in all my days. To be the property of the like I wanted a four property of the consumpted chapters and property of the conficulty of the conduits through subterraneous rates of the conduits rates of hard as he could lay it on. Blast my buttons, but I felt mean."

"Bet I did," said Jake. "Jest nachully felt like I'd been killin' sheep an' got ketched at it. I never felt so derned sneakin' in my life." "Wal, he needn't never know what we came fer, and after all I'm glad we did come," Dock said, "fer we kin githis gal to im. You know that gal over to Rickson's, at the post? Wal, that's the ne. She's his sweetheart, an' we must fetch 'er up yere to-night."

"Bet we'll fetch 'er, or bust a haimstring," Jim Buster cried. "Jake, me'n' you'll go after 'er." "I'm ergreed," said Jake. "I'm willin' to do any thing to make up fer wantin' to shoot that chap. Dock, I'm glad adopted for several reasons. As their you didn't let me drop 'im. Blamed if weight is only about one-quarter the "That's what he's doin', boys," said I wouldn't as soon shoot a ghost of a

> "Reckon the claim's his'n, anyhow," Jim said, "and we're a purty nice lot o' rascals from fust to last." "Wal, thar ain't no time for monkeyin' now, fellers," old Dock remarked, "an" if yer goin' to git that gal up yere afore the chap goes over ther range, you'd he's got more'n six hours o' life in 'im. Better hustle.' in the darkness, listening to the clattering of their horses' feet on the stony upon the market, and practically no road that led off down the gulch.

them coming back. It's all right."

Then he went in and sat down, and after waiting a moment, said: to help ye out'bout findin' of yer "Have you found her?" was the eager uestion that followed. "Wal, I dunno as I kin say we hev azactly, but I think we will purty soon, She may be yere afore mornin'. In fact, she may be yere directly." "Then you have found her?"

"No, I haint; but I s'pect some o' ther others hev. She'll be yere in a minute." They were already at the door, and a ment later the claim-jumper and his long-lost sweetheart were in each other's arms. The miners very considerately withdrew and left the young couple alone.

"Say, Dock," Jake called, when they were outside, "I figgered it out that them two would want to get married, mebby, an' so I fotched a gospel-feller along from the post, so's to be ready in case of er emergency. You'd best goin an' see if they want to be jined, an' tell 'em the preacher is ready fer 'em, an' will splice 'em up quicker'n a wink." Dock went in, and after awhile came back out. "Bring that preacher in yere, boys. It's all right." It was a solemn, weird wedding, away off in the Rocky Mountains at the dead hour of midnight, with none but a few rough, rugged miners, and they strangers, to witness the ceremony; but many times there is a bright future growing out of the dark present, and such was destined to be the case in this instance, and with this couple. Robert Ervin grew well and strong, and for five years he and his wife were neighbors and friends to the miners down at Pickett's camp. Dock and his party were considerably and never from that day did they once mention their true purpose in going to the cabin up the gulch.—T. P. Montfort, in Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

Great Men of Our Century

Our generation has been fertile in great men. On the threshold of the nineteenth century the great Napoleon still overshadowed the earth with the baleful might of his genius. America has had Abraham Lincoln and Ulysse S. Grant. France has rejoiced in the possession of the first compeer of Goethe in the person of Victor Hugo. To Germany has been accorded the greatest statesman of these later years, new Warwick, who was more than a King-maker, since he was the molder of an empire. He is the one modern figure that can vie in grandeur with that of Richelieu. But, unlike the mighty Cardinal, he has left behind him no monument amid the artistic and literary institutions of his country. Painting and science and poetry and music were beneath the scope of his gigantic intellect. But Richelieu chiefly lives in the world's memory as the protector of French literature, the patron of Cor-neille, and the founder of the Sorhere, having given her up, and now I bonne, the French Academy and the Comedie Francaise. - Lucy H. Hooper, Siftings.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Galvanized iron is ordinary iron which has been dropped in molten zinc, "No, not exactly that," was the reply, and the blush that crept to the man's and retains a surface coating of the zinc when removed.

-A new industry in Germany is the utilization of the young leaves of the strawberry plant as a beverage. Havtable where the open letter lay. He ing been carefully dried, they are used instead of Chinese tea, which they close--Artificial coffee is manufactured on an extensive scale in Germany, It is "Yes, her last letter," was the reply. made from linseed meal, roasted to a "Humph, that's quare-blamed funny, dark color and mixed with some glutinous substance before being passed "What do you mean?" the stranger through machines, which turn out the demanded, in an eager, excited tone, as compound in the shape of a real coffee he turned his big, bright eyes on Dock. "Nothin'," the latter replied; "nothin' mixed with the genuine product only an expert can detect the difference.

-A method of bleaching by electricity "Wal, I s'pect we may help you to has been introduced into Russia, where find 'er. Leastwise, we'll try. Dave, you an' Jerry stay yere while we go erto been largely used in the industry, down to camp an' look around a bit. We'll hev to give this fellow a lift toward findin' that friend o' his'n." Old Dock went out and the others followed, and no one spoke until they had taining the salt solution in which the passed a safe distance from the cabin, electrolytic apparatus is placed.

"Fellers, we're a pack o' derned ijots, stress upon the fact that it was dangersult. Many explosions from this cause are now occurring in Paris, and the newspapers of that city are reverting to Edison's warning. -An Engish medical commission made some experiments as to the effect of tight lacing. Female monkeys were They were put into a plaster of paris jacket toimitate stays, and a tight bandage was bound about the waist to imitate the petticoat band. Several of the monkeys died very quickly and all showed serious injuries resulting from the treatment. -Steel pipes as a substitute for cast iron now form an important item for the engineer's consideration in the conveyance of water. Such pipes are being weight of cast iron pipes for the same service, the matter of transportation forms an important consideration. They are also much less liable to fracture than cast iron .- Scientific American.

made to use the electric motor on the street railways. It has proved such an eminent success in every particular, better begittin' on, fer I swun if I think he's got more'n six hours o' life in 'im. either horse or cable power, that it is -A new fiber plant has been discov-"She's with 'em," he muttered. "I ered on the Isle of Trinidad which promat hearly all times of the year are easily detached from the woolen portion by simply stripping them with the band, is not required as for ramie. When it is known how readily the stems allow ing of bark and fiber it will be seen what an advantage this simple fact gives the new product over many of the fiber producing plants.

DISTINGUISHED MEN.

Their Personal Appearance and Their Modes of Life. Charles Louis Freyeinet, who has just become Prime Minister of France for the fourth time, is a furtive-faced, insignificant-looking. little man of enthusiastic manner. He is sixty-two. He is also the clever husband of an ambitious wife. He has perpetrated several works on mechanics and political economy, and his intimates call him the "White

Professor John Tyndall, the famous scientist, has a sparse, gray beard, but shaves his upper lip. He is a cantankerous controversialist, who does not care always to be polite, but lives in a comfortably contrived house, walled off tree and he is sitting at the foot of it, from the public gaze by ungainly fences and waiting for you to come down. comfortably contrived house, walled off the height of the house, constructed by himself of scaffolding poles covered with wattles and dead heath. He does not believe in miracles, knows more about the glaciers of Switzerland than any half-dozen other men put together, and are seventy-one. Edmund Clarence Stedman, the poet banker, wears a full beard, has a rare disappointed that they did not return collection of autograph letters, and gives home as they expected, but they gare sunday evening receptions to which the Sunday evening receptions to which the up all claim to the new mine cheerfully, elite of the literary world delights to reand never from that day did they once sort. He is a nimble-footed, bright-eyed man of kindly manner, and divides his time about equally between literature and banking. He can talk of books and ing and brings the double acumen of a student and a man of business to bear upon his analysis; but the idea never occurs to him of talking on any subject on which he is not thoroughly posted; else by mistake. His reading imper-

> a Week. Fruitfuf Soil. "The soil of California is so fruitful," said a native of the Golden State, "that of matches in his field, discovered the next year a fine forest of telegraph poles. "That's nothing to my State," said : native of Illinois. "A cousin of mine who lives there lost a button off his jacket, and in less than a month he I was guilty of base ingratitude;"

found a bran new suit of clothes hang night I staggered home tipsy;" ""

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Some Honest Answers to a Number of Inquisitive Subscribers.

We extract the following from the last issue of the Arizona Kicker: "New England Undertaker."-We of the artist. would not advise you to come West under the idea that you can make a cart-load of money in your business in a year or two. There are not only plenty of undertakers out this way, but owing to certain peculiarities the business is not as flourishing as it might be. Our people don't make much of funerals. The idea is that after a man is dead he isn't good for much, and it's wonderful how cheap you can cut the figures if you so desire. For instance, the last man we shot figured on us as follows:

Drinks for coroner's jury.

Box for remains.

Digging grave.

Head board. Services of dray

Total. You can't get things much below this figure, while the people here won't stand much of a raise on it. We'd like aware of it myself?" Doctor Bolessyour society and we'd like your aid to help build up the town, but when you ask us for facts and figures we have got either."-Terre Haute Express. to give them to you straight.

THAT DEPENDS .- A real estate man in Chicago writes to inquire what property is worth a front foot in this town. That depends upon circumstances. Two weeks ago Colonei Splinters sold forty feet on Apache avenue for $70 per foot, and two days later Judge Hampton sold a still better piece of property on the name avenue for $35 per foot. The Colonel was sober and the Judge was drunk. In a jack-pot the property is generally put in at about $85 per foot. In a bluff it has run up to $150. When the vigilance ommittee was going to hang Sage Brush Jones for stabbing Judge Wickham he offered them 300 feet of nice property in the center of town for $15 per Within an hour after they had let him go on his promise of future good behavior he jumped his figures to 895, and didn't care to sell at that. There ought | Miss Caustic-"I never noticed any reto be a permanent value placed on real estate in this town, but as things are now it seems to be impossible. ITS ACCORDING .- "J. B.," of Boston. writes to inquire if an educated and cultured man could find such society here as would help him to feel at home. That's according. If you come with your neighbor's wife-if you come to keep out of the way of the sheriff-if you leave your right name in Boston and come out here to take another, you will -Everywhere preparations are being find society which will fit you like an old shoe. But if you are a straight man and calculate to call at the post-office by daylight for your mail, and you intend to be visible when the stage comes in, destined to become the universal power you may be somewhat disappointed in Jake and Jim departed at once for the for street railway service. It is estipost, while old Dock walked to and fro mated that anywhere from 20,000 to peculiar. If the boys didn't happen to take to you it would cost your friends buyers for them, because there are no Four hours passed, and Dock heard places for them to fill.—St. Paul Globe. Writes that he is both surprised and pained because the Kicker has no weekly department devoted to agriculhear three horses anyhow, if not four, ises to be an improvement on ramie. It ture, and he wants to know the reason was found by an agriculturist named T. why. The chief reason lies in the fact J. St. Hill, who has called it "mahol- that we haven't enough agriculture tire waiting a moment, said:

"I ruther guess mebby we'll be able is Abutilon periplocifolium. The great make a three-line item in a newspaper. Efforts in that direction are limited growing a little corn, raising a few potatoes and taking cover under sand hills to shoot coyotes and jackass raband therefore a decorticating machine bits. We run such a department two weeks, with the result that quite a number of chaps who were talking of farmthemselves to be deprived of their coat- ing gave it up. They discovered that there was backache in it-a thing they had never suspected before.

Not Right Here .- "Peter G.," of Milwaukee, inquires if there are any grizzly bears here, and which is the best time for an Eastern Nimrod to come out and slay a few dozen. No, Peter, there are no grizzles in this neighborhood - this immediate neighborhood. Now and then some drunken cowboy rides in with a story of having seen the print of a grizzly's foot in the sand, but the same print always turns out to be the spot where som mule tried to roll his saddle off. While we can't promise you grizzly bears right around here, we'll go you a new hat that the boys will run you through the cactus, drive you into the sand, tie you to a bucking broncho or make it just as interesting in some other way. The best time to hunt the grizzly is when you have got to the top of a mighty tall

THEY EXAGGERATE.-"M. P." sends us an item clipped from a New York paper stating that we have killed fourteen men and been wounded eight times, and he asks if it is true. No, sir. It's a base exaggeration. We have been a base exaggeration. is married to a duke's niece, who is under the painful necessity of checking young enough to be his daughter. He off the accounts of four of our fellow is an Irishman by birth, and his years beings and have been hit twice. That's all, and we haven't even got the repu-tation yet of being a dangerous man. Don't believe all you see in the papers.

A WORD ABOUT DIARIES.

Why Won't Men and Women Be Sincer with Themselves? It is the custom of many persons to purchase, at the close of each year, 'diaries," in which they propose to set authors at length without being fatigu- down their daily thoughts and acts-to write, in fact, their own private histories in a series of annual volumes. As these autobiographical memoranda are only intended for the eyes of the parties who commit them to paper, it and when he quotes any thing, which is might be thought that they would be frequently, he does not quote something candid and authentic. But this is seldom the case. Few men are entirely ceptibly leaks out in his conversation, sincere, even with themselves. Few are for he has a great memory, and he is willing to paint themselves as they one of the most accurate men that ever really are and know themselves to be, capped a story. He is fifty-seven. -Once even though none but themselves can contemplate the picture.

Unquestionably, hundred of indi-viduals who keep diaries tell fibs, overreach their neighbors, are guilty of dea man who accidentally dropped a box traction, repay good with evil, put an enemy in their mouths to steal away their brains, use profane language, and in other way transgress the moral law. Yet were all the diaries in existence published to-morrow, no such entries as, "to-day I lied;" "to-day I cheated in business;" "to-day I slandered;" "to-day business: ing on a fence near the spot."—Texa: I blasphemed" would be found in any one of them.—N. Y. Ledger.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS,

-Nothing is lost in ivory manufacture. Scrapings and sawdust are burnt to charcoal and form the "ivory black"

-Rodd-"Hello, old boy, going out for a little pleasure trip, eh?" Hooker-"No, I'm going out fishing with my wife."-Detroit Free Press. -First Housekeeper-"What is your idea of the height of sarcasm?" Second Housekeeper-"Calling servants 'help." -Somerville Journal. -First boarder-"Don't you always have a stuffy feeling in this house?

Second boarder-"Not when we are in the dining room."-Burlington Free Press. -Customer-"Is it customary to fee the waiter here?" Waiter-"Yes, sir." Customer-"Then hand over your fee. "I've waited for you nearly an hour."-

$2 50 Racket. -Mudge-"Doctor, if I were to lose my mind, do you suppose I would be "You would not. And very likely none of your acquaintances would notice it,

> -Artist-"Oh! so you think the background's 'beastly,' " do you? Perhaps the cattle are 'beastly,' too, though I flatter myself ——" Friendly Critic— "Oh, no, my dear fellow; that's just what they are not."-The Jester.

> —Newwed—"How long does a man have to be married before his wife agrees with him in every thing?" Oldwed (mournfully)—"You'll have to ask somebody else, my boy; I've only been married forty years."—Epoch. -Visitor-"Tommy, I wish to ask you a few questions in grammar." Tommy—"Yes, sir." Visitor—"If I give you the sentence, 'The pupil loves his teacher,' what is that?" Tommy-"Sarcasm."-Texas Siftings. -Miss Simper-"Do you know, Mr. Upperton told me last evening that I reminded him, in looks, of Miss Daisy."

semblance, my dear; I always thought Miss Daisy pretty."-Boston Times. -First Senator-"I have a scheme to which I wish to give the widest publicity. What do you suggest as the best method?" Second Senator-"Discuss it in secret session, of course."-N. Y. Racket." -A Lesson in Language: "What are we waiting on, conductor?" asked a passenger from Chicago, when the train came to a standstill. "We are waiting on the track," replied the conductor, who was a Boston man,-Lippincott's Magazine. -A man having purchased an oil painting at an auction, asked a connoiseur to examine it. The latter said: "My dear friend, I wouldn't hang it if I were you; the sentiment of the age is against capital punishment. I would commute its sentence to solitary imprisonment for life. -Funny Man (to young woman reading his own jokes to him)-"There's one thing, Miss Fannie, I'm not vain, and. I am free to confess, it bores me to have any one read my jokes to me." Miss Fannie (putting down the paper)-"Well, if what I've been reading is a sample, I should think it would.'

Washington Star. -"Why don't you call me donkey, and done with it? You've hinted at it long enough," he snarled out, "It wouldn't be quite true," she replied. "I suppose not. I suppose I haven't ears enough for that animal," he retorted sarcastically. "O, yes, you have," she returned sweetly, "you don't need any more ears."
"What do I need, then?" "More legs." Leed's Mercury.

THE SENSE OF SMELL.

In Horses It Is Developed to an Extraordinary Degree. The horse will leave musty hay uncouched in his bin, however hungry. He will not drink water objectionable to his questioning sniff, or from a bucket which some odor makes offensive, however thirsty. His intelligent nostril will widen, gaiver and query over the daintiest bit offered by the fairest of hands, with coaxings that would make a mortal shut his eyes and swallow a nauseous mouthful at a gulp.

their pilot to it.

A mare is never satisfied by either sight or whinny that her colt is really her own, until she has a certified nasal certificate to the fact. A blind horse, now living, will not allow the approach of any stranger without showing signs of anger not safely to be disregarded. The distinction is evidently made by his sense of smell, and at a considerable distance. Blind horses, as a rule, will gallop wildly about a pasture without striking the surrounding fence. The sense of smell informs them of its proximity. Others will, when loosened from the stable, go directly to the gate or bars opened to their accustomed feeding grounds, and when desiring to return, after hours of careless wandering, will distinguish one outlet and patiently await its opening. The odor of that particular part of the fence is

The horse, in browsing, or while gathering herbage with its lips, is guided in its choice of proper food entirely by its nostrils. Blind horses do not make mistakes in their diet. In the temple of Olympus a bronze hors; was exhibited, at the sight of which six real horses experienced the most violent emotions. Ælian judiciously observes that the most perfect art could not imitate nature sufficiently well to produce so strong an allusion. Like Pliny and Pausanius, he consequently affirms that "in casting the statue a magician had thrown hippomanes upon it," which, by the cdor of the plant, deceived the horses, and therein we have the secret. of the miracle. The scent alone of a buffalo robe will cause many horses to evince lively terror, and the floating scent of a railroad train will frighten some long after the locomotive is out of sight and hearing.-Horse and Stable.

A Student of Human Nature. Blinks-By the way, I must introduce you to my friend Winks He's one of the best fellows in the world, a noble fellow, a glorious fellow. He's had a great many ups and downs, Winks has, Jinks-Judging from your enthusiasm, he is now on one of the ups .- N. Y.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

STRIKING EXTRACTS.

The Signs of Jntemperance Vividly Pict-ured By a Famous Preacher.

In the early stages of intemperance, reformation is practicable. The calami-'y is, that intemperance is a sin so deceitful that most men go on to irretrievable ruin, warned indeed by many indi- far behind the wreck of what he once cations, but unavailingly, because they understand not their voice. It is of vast importance, therefore, that the symptoms of intemperance should be universally and familiarly known; the effects of the sin upon the body and upon the mind should be so described in all its stages, from the besee and feel and recognize these harbinshow themselves upon him.

ciations of time and place. In the commencement of this evil all the system giving signs of woe, that habit, there are many who drink to excess only on particular days, such as arrive, they bring with them, to many, the insatiable desire of drinking. In every community you may observe particular persons also who can never meet without feeling the simultaneous desire of strong drink. What can be the reason of this? All men when they meet are not affected thus. But this is upon the principle of a common interest in these subjects, which have no slight hold upon the thoughts and affections. Whoever then finds himself tempted on meeting his companion or friend to say: "Come, let go and take something," or to make it his first business to set out his decanter and glasses, ought to understand that he discloses his own inordinate attachment to ardent spirits. 2. A disposition to multiply the circumstances which furnish the occasions and opportunities for drinking, may justly create alarm that the habit is be-When you find occasions for weather-because it is so hot or so cold, so wet or so dry-and in all the different states of the system, when you are vigorous that you need not tire, and when tired that your vigor may be restoredyou have approached near to that state of intemperance in which you will drink tions of the body, and will drink with these pretexts, and drink without them, whenever their frequency may not suf-

3. Whoever finds the desire of drinking ardent spirits returning daily at were interlacing nerves and arteries and stated times, is warned to deny himself | veins and joints which these membranes instantly, if he intends to escape con- inclosed, then you would have some im-

It is infallible evidence that you have already done violence to nature-that the undermining process is begun-that the overworked organ begins to flag and portunity which, if indulged, will become more deep-toned and importunate and irresistible, until the power of selfdenial is gone and you are a ruined

It is here then, beside this commend ing vortex, that I would take my stand, to warn off the heedless navigator from destruction. To all who do but heave in sight, and with voice that should rise and the public ought to know that of above the winds and waves, I would cry: all the diluents or solvents for the nu-"Stand off! spread the sail, ply the oar, for death is here!" and could I com- like water. It carries into the system mand the elements, the blackness of darkness should gather over this gate- hardly know of any more potent cause way to hell, and loud thunders should of disease than alcohol; it causes disutter their voices, and lurid fires should eased liver, which disorders the blood, blaze, and the groans of unearthly voices should ing consternation and flight in quent source of crime of all kinds. A who came near. For this is the parting point between those who day by day, poisoned by stimulants forsake danger and hide themselves, without it being known. Great injury and the foolish who pass on and are punished. Here is the stopping-place; and though beyond it men may struggle and retard and modify their progress. none, comparatively, who go by it, will return again to purity of enjoyment and the sweets of temperate liberty. The servant has become the master, and, with a rod of iron and a whip of scorpions, he will torment, even before their time, the candidates for misery in a future state.

7. We now approach some of those symptoms of intemperance which abused nature, first or last, never fails to give.

The eyes. Who hath redness of eyes? All are not, of course, intemperate whose visual organs become inflamed and weak. But there are few intemp perate persons who escape this malady; and yet, when it comes, they have no suspicion of the cause-speak of it without embarrassment, and wonder what the matter can be-apply to the physician for eye-water, and drink on.

Another indication of intemperance is found in the fulness and redness of the countenance. It is not the fulness and freshness of health. * * * Another indication of intemperance may be found in impaired muscular strength and tremor of the hand. Now the destroyer in his mining process approaches the citadel of life, and is advancing fast to make the keepers of the house tremble, and the strong men bow themselves. This relaxation of the joints and trembling of the nerves will e experienced especially in the morning, when the system, unsustained by sleep, has run down. Now all is relayed, tremulous and faint-hearted. The fire which sparkled in the eye the evening before is quenched, the courage which dilated the heart is passed away, and the tones of eloquence which dwelt the robbery practiced by boardingopium, or bitters, or both, are thrown into the stomach to wind up again the run-down machine.

Another indication of intemperance is the power of excitement by motives ad- strike and damning the country."

dressed to the finer feelings of the soul and of the moral nature, and left the man a prey to animal sensation. You might as well fling out music upon the whirlwind to stay its course, as to goveern the storm within by the gentler feelings of humanity. The only stim 1lant which now has power to move, is ardent spirits; and he who has arrived at this condition is lost. He has left was. He is not the same husband, or father, or brother, or friend. The sea has made a clear breach over him, and swept away for ever whatsoever things are pure and lovely and of good report.

As the disease makes progress, rheumatic pains diffuse themselves throughout the system. The man wonders ginning to the end, that every one may what can be the reason that he should be visited by such a complication of disgers of death, as soon as they begin to eases, and again betakes himself to the how themselves upon him.

1. One of the early indic it has of in the simple one of Temperance. For temperance may be found in the asso- these pains are only the murmurings and complainings of nature, through catastrophe-the sudden prostration of days for military exhibition, the anni- strength and appetite-an increased versary of our independence, the birth- difficulty of raising the ebbing tide of day of Washington, Christmas, New life by stimulants-a few panic-struck Year's day, election, and others of like reformations, just on the sides of the nature. When any of these holidays pit, until the last sinking comes from which there is no resurrection but by the trump of God and at the Judgment day.

And now the woes and the sorrows and the contentions and the wounds and babblings are over—the red eyo sleeps—the tortured body rests—the deformed visage is hid from human observation-and the soul, while the dust crumbles back to dust, returns to God who gave it, to receive according to the deeds done in the body.

Such is the evil which demands a remedy. And what can be done to stop its ravages and rescue its victims? -From Dr. Lyman Beecher's "Six Sermons.

MEMBRANOUS DISEASES.

One of the Namerous Allments Caused by the Use of Liquor.

If you strip up an orange, you find it divides into nice little sections, each about the right size to eat, and inclosed in a special membrane, apparently for drinking in all the variations of the that purpose. If you very carefully remove some of that inclosing membrane, you will find inside other little sections, each inclosed in a finer membrane; and these divided into cells by more delicate membranes still. Suppose, that, by some process, all these membranes were to be made tough, thick and leathin all states of the weather and condi- ery. Your orange would then be scarcely eatable. Occasionally we do come upon a thick-skinned, tough and dry specimen that approaches this condition. But if the orange could feel, and had life processes to carry on, and there age of a human body with its membranes thickened and inflamed by alcohol. Where the thickened membrane presses upon a nerve there is neuralgia or sciatica. Some organs are engorged, and cry out for adventitious aid, with an im- some are starved because the action of the inclosing membrane is perverted. Liver and kidney diseases are largely The celebrated Sir William Gull, late physician to the Queen, whose loss all Temperance people mourn, gave the following evidence before the House of Lords: "Alcohol interferes with the conveying of the food into the system, tritious parts of food there is nothing the nutriment in its purest form. I causing diseased kidneys, heart and be heard, inspir- nervous system, besides being a frevery large number of persons are dying is done to health by the use of alcohol in its various combinations, (as wine, brandy, gin, rum, whisky or beer), even in so-called moderate quantities.' -Better Day.

NOTES FROM EVERYWHERE.

Or all the continental countries Dennak drinks most per head of the population and Norway least.

THE Secretary of the State of Iowa "Of the ninety counties in Iowa in 1888, there were fifty-five which reported no commitments to county jails." It is estimated that there are 120,000 total abstainers in Norway, and 200,000 nore who are friendly to the cause, which is making gratifying progress in that country. An earnest effort is being made. headed by Mrs. Temple, wife of the Bishop of London, to interest young women of the metropolis actively in Temperanco work.

London police district, the suburbs not included, has 13,955 dram-shops, which, allowing thirty feet front for each, would make a line side by side of nearly eighty miles.

SIR HENRY THOMPSON, the famous surgeon, is in his seventieth year, and has been eighteen years a teetotaller. He gave up drink because he found that it didn't do him any good.

THE chaplain of the United States Senate receives $900 a year for his service. The barkeeper of the Senate restaurant gets a salary of $4,000. This may be a measure of the comparative values set upon spiritual and spirituous refreshments by our legislative fathers. -Madison (Wis ) Mail.

SECRETARY WINDOM has stopped the sale of beer to immigrants at the new landing place which has succeeded Castle Garden. If he could also stop on the inspired tongue are turned into house keepers on the new-comers he pusillanimous complainings, until would accomplish another reform which is sadly needed .- America.

A BRIGHT young Chicago workman told a reporter the other day that if he would take the trouble to look around to be found in the extinction of all the he would see hundreds of women and finer feelings and amiable dispositions children "hacking bricks" every day of the soul; and if there have ever for twelve cents a thousand, and added: seemed to be religious affections, of "You will probably find their men folks these also. The flery stimulus has at home rushing the growler, or at raised the organ of sensibility above some saloon drinking beer, talking MISCELLANEOUS.

-A Philadelphia jury awarded five cents damages to a young woman whose affianced husband changed his mind. -A lad of seventeen years died lately at Pomona, Cal., from the excessive use smoked in one day sixty cigarettes and two or three strong Mexican cigars. The doctors say he died of narcotic

-Mr. Edison is criticised by the London Court Journal as not having brought and the Fly," which is "quite anti- of the world. quated, even for children nowadays."

-A gentleman who lives near Washtioned the Emperor for leave to retire they live. on account of the health of his grandmother, which required his personal attention during the rest of her life.

was painful in the extreme. - Providence

The biggest ruby in he world is found in the Czarlof Rusia's crown, finest ever worn by any overeign. In shape it resembles a bisho's mitre, and superb diamonds, which support the biggest" ruby. A foliated arch, comosed of eleven magnificent diamonds in the world.

-The ward "hurrsh" comes from the people of the East who emigrated to Europe. The original is found in the "harri" used by the Hindoos as a designation of God. When they have any thing difficult to accomplish they shout "Harri!" "Harri!" and this as equivalent to our modern phrase, "God help civilization.

Fresh Water Fishes," a noted scientist a few ornaments, and bead necklaces fluencing one another by sounds and spicuous articles of women's dress. A action. He had observed a shoal of carp very curious fact about them is that they following the lead of a single one, have the decimal system of enumerawhich conducted them to a quantity of tion, though they can count only to ten. food at a considerable distance away. They have pebbles each of which repre-He had also noticed that certain fresh water fish, such as trout, were subser- they wish to count are represented, for vient to a ruler, which might be seen instance, by three pebbles, it means same was possibly the case with some thirty units. marine forms, like the herring and bass.

The foreign tuba player who per against a snag in the shape of a New York custom house official, who decided pete with our native talent, has triumphed after all. The tuba player undertook to plead his own case before | venerable person. - N. Y. Sun. a higher authority, who examined him in melody, harmony, counterpoint, composition, instrumentation, execution etc. He played "Annie Laurie" on his tuba without an accompaniment and so entranced the obdurate customs officer that he was adjudged an artist and eligible for admission to our shores.

THE LADIES' LUNCHEON. It Frequently Rivals in Elegance the Dinner of Ceremony. By a process of evolution, almost as that instead of the old formula of breakfast, dinner and tea, we have the modern and dinner, the old-fashioned supper being almost a thing of the past.

For many years after the luncheon became an established institution, it what had been left over from the dinner. famille, has but little affinity with that of the past, often being as ceremonious lady's meal, for few men possess suftheir own houses. America can claim the honor of in augurating the lady's luncheon, with its that the shyest girl in the world doesn't ten courses, its hand-painted menus and mind going back there to play for every its flower-bedecked tables. worn at all.

of tact, she can readily turn the tide of familiar to them all; and every channel. To discuss the short-comings of one's servants and the cute sayings of one's little ones is both uninteresting and in very bad taste, when there are so many matters of current interest upon which one can converse. -Jenness-Miller Magazine.

KINGS OF THE JUNGLE.

A Strange and Little Known People Who Scene in the Great Cock Pit at Manila Live in India. Only about twenty miles north of Cape norin, the most southern point of venture down to the coast towns, and in a few parts of India, and who are his new phonographic doll up to date.

It says the first of these dolls which has in the jungles of Africa instead of dwell leep, dark eyes passing over you in lanspoken in London, recites "The Spider ing in one of the most populous parts guid surprise.

-A young gentleman called at the When they wish to make a purchase home of a friend to spend the evening. they must deposit their money on a While there he asked for a glass of stump or a stone, and then retire until however, an easy way to win their friendship. All he had to do was to their good friend. They would then inthese curious natives sleep on platforms supports this cross, and on each side of built in the fork of trees, and over the leather scabbard. the arch is a hoop of thirty-eight pearls, than which there are none handsomer are thus out of reach of wild elephants, who are apt to be uncomfortably inquisitive in the night time. The Kanikaras are great hunters, and their weapons are commonly bows and arrows, though some of them have very poor matchlocks. All elephants are the property of the Maharajah of the Travancore province, where they live, and the Kings of the Jungle are required to ment to the vociferating crowds of our some of the temples, but render no In a recent lecture on "Marine and nothing but a narrow loin cloth and can judge amid the deafening clamor. sents ten units, and if the articles swimming at the head of his tribe. The that the articles number three tens, or

Living within a few miles of civiliza-tiving within a few miles of civiliza-ages all make a fire by revolving a stick of hard wood in the hollow of a that he wasn't an artist and therefore dry bamboo. The bamboo, by the way, couldn't land in this country to com- serves to indicate the age of a kanikara. Any man who has seen a bamboo blossom three times is regarded as a very

THE OLDEST GIRL.

She Knows Best How to Make Life Pleas. ant in the Household. There is a certain ring of pride in a man's voice when he introduces one of oldest girl." It's a ring that comes from satisfaction. He has found that that oldest girl of his has known how to is.—Henry Norman, in Washington Star. make all life pleasanter in the household, and there is nothing which delights him so much as for her gradual as that of the development of to have some sort of an enterthe human species, the early dinner has tainment where the other girls and become merged into the luncheon, so the young men are asked. Then he hasn't got the room so crowded with so as to interpose a screen between riedly eaten, and mostly composed of furnished, home-like and cheerful. The lamp shades are as bright as only glasses the table are the illustrated papers, and as carefully prepared as the late some photographs and some books. dinner. It is, however, essentially a Not stiffly piled, but laid about ficent leisure to enjoy this repast in up and talked about. Some pretty pictures stand on top of the piano, and there is a vase filled with flowers, so lunches frequently rival in elegance and rodest girl is considerate. Then the ostentation the dinner de haute cere-monie, the sole difference being that light cake, the daintily-cut sandwiches, the ladies do not come in full dress. On the chocolate in its thin cups and the both my brother and I have imported these occasions they wear handsome lemonade in its small glasses are served. visiting toilettes, retaining their bon- Your oldest girl and the other girls arnets, although, of course, removing the ranged all this, and then, so that there gloves. Dresses of heavy texture should might be no confusion, had plates and heads become turned almost immediatebe eschewed, as the apartments in this napkins piled on the table, and, in addicountry are generally overheated; the | tion to your own one obliging maid, got | smaller and lighter the bonnet the more in her sister for the evening, so every tions of master and servant, and they comfortable one is apt to be, and there body was served. She had hard work to seems really no reason why it should be convince the maid that all the ladies thing outside of the beaten paths of were not to be attended to first, but at their duties. American servants must As gentlemen are excluded from all last she did make her understand that have an all-around efficiency. An Enparticipation in the ladies' luncheon, a each group was to be served, and so the delightful absence of formality is the chatter and talk was not stopped. She quently abused. Often a choice dish of scandal is served up with a sauce scandal is served up with a sauce to a question of singing she preferred to difficulties which English servants that wheever could would give them hostess frowns upon all unkind and dainty little ballads, and eventually the flippant remarks, and if she is possessed evening was wound up with a song conversation into some less dangerous old and young, joined in the chorus. You're right. Say it with pride always. Look at her lovingly and appreciate at her full worth "your oldest girl." Ladies' Home Journal.

> -The bee has managed somehow to get credit for industry, but it's a regular bum bug. -Binghamton Leader.

A RAIN OF DOLLARS

Where Roosters Clash Spurs. The olive-skinned mestizas, half-caste India, live a very curious people known native Indian, are the natives of Manila, as the Kanikaras, or "Kings of the Philippine Islands. They step daintily of tobacco. He was known to have of tobacco. He was known to have and Jungle." Hidden as they are among the along on bare feet encased in chinelas, fastnesses of the southern Ghauts, very embroidered heelless slippers, with gay little is known of them, for they seldom fluttering garments of just, a woven mixture of silk and pine fiber, their explorers have neglected them. They loose, jet-black hair reaching sometimes are one of the tribe of savages who live almost to the ground—one woman was pointed out to me whose hair was said

The native men are a community Mr. George Cadell, while engaged in which has forgotten to tuck its shirt surveys for the Forest Department of into its trousers. Their costume conington Village, Me., and deals in sewing India, recently had occasion to visit the sists of a pair of white trousers, machines ran upon quite a mine of Kings of the Jungle. They are a hundled by the place of the sists of a pair of white trousers, elaborately plaited and starched shirt, wealth recently. In tearing to pieces ble sort of Kings and are compelled to be sort of Kings and are compelled to be yery careful not to offend against the one is smoking a cheroot, and every possession for some time, he ran upon a possession for some time, he ran upon a laws of caste, for they are regarded as secret cavity containing fifteen $20 bills. the lowest of the low, and it is a part of his arm, a constant companion and -Filial piety in China does not die their duty to keep at a very respectful chief treasure, and sometimes chief out with the advance of Western ideas. distance from all the other people who source of income, too, until the deadly A provincial governor recently peti- inhabit the little native province where spur on the heel of a stronger or pluckier rival turns all its pride and brilliance They are not allowed, for instance, to approach within twenty paces of any of the shop-keeping or trading classes.

The great cock pit of Manila at the 'Fiesta del Pueblo" is one of the most While there he asked for a glass of water, which was given him. He noticed that his friend's wife was watching him the hid have bargained for. Their draught the lady sighed as she said they can away into the jungle when solemnly: "It does me good to see a girr they saw Mr. Cadell coming, though he did not put on any airs like the box of the farmer, the leading Chinaman drink a glass of water like that he did not put on any airs like the box of the farmer, the leading Chinaman drink a glass of water like that his friend's wife was watching him the money has been replaced by the huge circus with an arena raised to the height of the faces of those standing behind them tier upon tier gradually risling; above the arena, which is enclosed with fine wire netting, the red-draped by the huge circus with an arena raised to the height of the faces of those standing behind them tier upon tier gradually risling; above the arena, which is enclosed with fine wire netting, the red-draped box of the farmer, the leading Chinaman drink a glass of water like that once more." The silence that followed Brahmins, who despise them. He found, man of Manila, named Palanca, and a packed audience of four thousand people. Squatting on the earthen floor of the hang a small tin of gunpowder at their ring, inside the wire netting, are the door post, and as soon as the natives saw habitues, half Chinese and half Meswhich has the distinction of being the it they were always certain that any one tizos, while the officials walk aboutwho made them so fine a present was the "juez de justica," or referee; the on its crest is a cross composed of five vite him to the best entertainment they dor," go-between or betting-master, and "sentenciador," or umpire: the "casacould provide and would build him a several others. Then two men enter hut among branches of the trees; for the ring, each carrying a bird whose spur is shielded for the moment in a

One wears his hat-he is the owner of the challenging bird, called "llamado" the other, hatless, is the outsider, or 'dejado," who takes up the challenge. An official calls out the sum for which the "llamado's" owner backs it and how much is still lacking to make up the

Then comes the most extraordinary scene of all. The moment the words lent to our modern phrase, "God nelp us." It is, however, needless to remark that the expression, "Hip, Hip, Hurthat the expression, "Hip, Hip, Hurhat the expression, "God nelp help hunt the elephant when his Highness wants a little ivery. They are also required to furnish wax for apparently from everywhere, dollars pour in, without method, without owner other service to the State. They wear ship, without a bargain, so far as one said that fish have the power of in- and leaden errings are the most con- the betting master shouts "Cassada." When the sums on the birds are equal "matched." literally "married." the farmer from his box on high yells "Larga!"-"loose them," and the fight begins. Sometimes it lasts ten minutes, sometimes only a second, the first shock leaving one bird a mangled corpse. No use to describe it--every one knows how a game cock fights and that it is the very gamest and pluckiest thing

The fight over, the betting master goes around handing money back reckessly, so it seems, to anybody who holds out a hand. Each one asks for or takes the sum which belongs to him. But if anybody should put out his hand for another's money? That is never done, and if anybody were detected doing so he would probably have a dozen knives in his body on the spot. In the course of the afternoon I witessed 105 cock fights. The authorities make a large revenue from the cock pit. For this and one other Senor Palanca pays $68,600 a year, and there are five his own friends by saying: "This is my other farmers. As I said, it is the chief interest of the people, and their frantic excitement tells how deep the interest

FOREIGN SERVANTS.

An Exploded Fallacy Touching the Do mestic Service Business. "The theory that a great many house or her in to suit the requirements of the ribbon-trimmed chairs and untidy tidies exploded by this time. I have experimented upon it three times during the was the informal meal of the day, hur- everybody; but she has it looking well- last five years, and I shall never be caught by it again. It takes about eight The lunchoon of the present, even en can be, and you know whose busy hands Swedish girl her business. After she keeps them in order the year round. On has thoroughly learned it she usually requires from ten days to two weeks to make up her mind about the exact hour of her departure. Then she disappears carelessly that they may be picked and takes service in another family, and her instructors are left feeling vaguely about for the object of their creation. It is a curious thing that some of the most valuable servants in Europe become utterly worthless when These body because her face is hidden. Your they are imported into this country. Like many other Americans I have been frequently struck by the efficiency of servants in English households, and several women from London to act as waitresses and housemaids. We have never found them at all available. Their ly after they have arrived here by the different conditions governing the relaare nearly always unable to do anyglish servant, if she is a housemaid, would no more think of performing the -Warmed-over Beef, with Vegetables:

in size, rejecting all gristle, sprinkle with flour, and brown in hot drippings. Add dice of any cold vegetables, heat them, and serve.—Christian at Work. -A small boy of four summers was FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS

-Use a brush to wash potatoes. It is no trouble to keep one for this purpose, and it will save time and hands. -Hard-finished walls may be washed with soap suds and wiped dry. A bit of pumice stone will remove stains from

-Savory Oatmeal: One cupful of oatmeal, four cupfuls of water, one teaspoonful of salt, boil until well cooked, then season with salt, pepper and two tablespoonfuls of butter or dripping. Serve as a vegetable.—The Home. -Egg Salad: Cut the yelks of hard-boiled eggs in dice, and mix lightly with chopped chicken or lobster, fill the white cavities with the mixture, pour ovor them a little mayonaise dressing; serve on lettuce or cresses, garnish with slices of lemon. -- Boston Herald. -Nothing is comparable to egg for clearing soup stock. To a kettle of cold stock add the crushed shell and white of one egg. Heat this gradually, and stir it constantly until it comes to the boiling point; then put it back on the range and let it simmer until the scum has risen and settled; then strain through a cloth. -Country Gentleman. -Creole Chicken: Take two young chickens, cut up and stew; when done add a little minced parsley and onion. Soak four pepper pods in water, strain and pour in the juice, add salt, two ounces of butter, and a tablespoonful of flour mixed with a little cold milk. Fill a dish with boiled rice and pour the chicken on it.—N. Y. Observer.

-Baked Sliced Potatoes: Pare and cut in slices one-fourth inch thick raw potatoes. Butter well a pudding dish or baking tin, put a little water in the bottom, only just enough to prevent burning. Fill the dish with the sliced. potatoes, sprinkling well with salt, and liberally with bits of butter, cover closely, bake till done, which operation will probably consume from thirty to forty-five minutes.—The Household

-A warm salt bath is very refreshing to any one suffering from the exhaustion of travel or of a long shopping expedition-which is as trying to mind and body as any thing that can be undertaken by a woman. Away from the seashore a very simple substitute for seawater is a cup of rock-salt dissolved in warm water and added to the bath. When the salt is irritating to the skin, take a warm bath and sponge off with a mixture of violet or lavender water and alcohol, about half and half, and rub briskly with a warm friction towel. Such a method prevents the exhaustion and danger of cold which follows a warm bath.-N. Y. Tribune.

DECLINE OF COURTESY.

Why American Men Are Forgetting the Gracious Arts of Politen Your editorial on the decline of courtesy among men was a statement of by every citizen of New York who has occasion to use the various transportation lines from his home to business, society, etc. It can not be denied that man's courtesy toward women is declining among Americans, and it is likely to decline still more under present advantageous circumstances. But effect must be preceded by cause, and, seeing the effect, let us search for the cause. You attribute the decline of courtesy very largely to the widening of woman's sphere, making her more and more a self-reliant being, neither needing nor asking nor caring for the protection and attention of man. While this may be true to some extent, it is only a small part of the underlying cause of this decline of courtesy in man. For the main and true reason we must look further; we must look to woman to show the cause. As you aptly say, "A tree is known by its fruit," so let us judge men by their mothers. It is the mother who is neglecting the culture of courtesy in her children who is responsible for this lack of courtesy in man. It is a daily occurrence on the elevated railroads, in horse-cars, and ferryboats to see ladies placing their children in seats, to the exclusion of other women, who are compelled to stand. Or you can see a lady giving her own seat to a holders have," the head of a large fam- lady with a small child; and then, just thinks they see just what his oldest ily remarked yesterday, "that it is a as soon as the next seat is vacated, the girl is. She knows how to make this good policy to get a servant from the child is deposited from the lap into this one, which calls for breakfast, luncheon formal party a very pleasant one; she other side of the water and break him empty seat, even though the lady who gave up her seat may still be standing. decorated scrap-baskets, paper flowers, household ought to have been pretty well Is this inculcating the proper degree of respect, not to say courtesy and politeness in the young? Again, an American woman treats courtesy in man so much as her right months to teach a raw German, Irish or | that she often forgets to thank one for a seat or other courtesy, not even deigning to notice the giver. It is not the poor shop-girl, who generally smiles or bows an acknowledgment, who is at fault in this respect, but those richly dressed, with all the outward signs of a "lady." Is man her slave, or does she not appreciate his consideration?

Is it considerate for a lady to remain out, making her society calls, doing her shopping, etc., until the hour is at hand when the large mass of mankind is returning home, tired by a hard day's labor? Should she not be at home at that hour, if only to welcome her husband, father or brother from his work? Or is it any more considerate for a lady to saunter along the busy thoroughfares of our metropolis, preventing business men, with urgent affairs on their hands and minds, from passing ahead? Is it, indeed, so uncourteous to jostle such inconsiderate ladies aside in the rush and tear of business?

Further, when a man is so gallant as to hold a door open for the lady behind him the lady very frequently passes through without taking the door from him, compelling him to hold it for the next lady, and so on, until some gentleman takes it from him. This is done very often, regardless of the fact that the first gentleman may have a lady with him, waiting for him, Is a man treated in this manner apt to grow more courteous toward woman?

These are a few of the vital causes conducive to a decline of courtesy in man toward woman. A courtesy or an act of gallantry becomes an act of impudence the very moment it is not appreriding on a rocking horse with his companion. He was seated rather uncomfortably on the horse's neck. After a reflective pause he said: "I think if one of us rats off I could ride much better."

dence the very momer clated by the intended courtesies are not we edgement they are no —Cor. N. Y. Tribune. clated by the intended recipient, and if courtesies are not worthy of acknowledgement they are not worth receiving.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. one copy, one year ..... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 50 cents per square for each additional inver-sion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and ddress, not necessarily for publication, but a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1890.

The Missing Flag at Richmond.

Richmond in honor of the unveiling ago. It is obedience to the impulse of the Lee statue, one might be led to that brought him here that the believe that the world had moved American people have assembled toback about a quarter of a century and day to consider the mystery of buman that we were still fighting the battle destiny-death : and, yet, why should for the preservation of the Union. we assemble to scatter flowers above Those decorations are entirely of a the dust of the dead if they are gone Confederate character, and the Stars from us forever. We are under the and Stripes find no place among sentence of a tribunal from which them. It is respectfully submitted there is no appeal, no executive that the war is over and that this clemency. It is appointed to all men discrimination is all wrong. Though to die. Have we assembled here to Lee fought in what the vast majority honor these heroes because they are and that the South should wish to injustice of life has been expiated. perpetuate his memory in marble is something that the country, now reunited and in its full strength, can look on with equanimity.

General Lee fought against the flag of the Union: still he died under its protecting folds, which were broad enough to take in those who had the tribute of homage, respect and strayed away and raised their hands reverence to the dead that sleep here. against it. The idea that its pres- It is just twenty-five years since the ence on such an occasion as that of last shot was fired, twenty-five years to-day could in any manner jar upon since the hosts were marshalled for the ceremonies in honor of the dead the last review. They assembled is preposterous. He had served un- within the shadow of the dome of the der it once, and, after four years of capitol they had saved. The splendor bloody war, lived to see it once again of the vernal sun illuminated the the only emblem of .nationality rec- scene and shimmered on the flag as it ognized in this republic. When the glimmered in its glory above them-South hides the flag that all true the size of the rejuyenated republic. Americans honor, and displays in It was host without number welcome its place the one which at best can with tumultuous acclaim-the host only represent a memory, it is teach- of Grant, Sherman, Logan and Han- of the hour in the temperance move- amount of good in the briefest possi- and that one or more public building price and efficiency of tools, as all two million men offered their lives, heads of families are in the cost and strength and services for its protecutility of articles of household hard- tion we should have been celebrating ware and cutlery. Once all these the twenty-ninth anniversary of the were imported. Their home manu. Confederacy. The Constitution of factures has been fostered by a Pro- the United States would have been tective Tariff in the face of an oppo- like the laws of the Medes and Persition as vigorous as it was untiring, sians, and all the glories of our reuntil to-day the United States is well up on the list of nations exporting Bunker Hill, Yortkown, the achievecertain lines of hardware in which superiority of finish and durability in use are prominent recommenda- in the school books to-day like the

of the British Parliament, after care- epithet. Our past would have been ful investigation, enumerated forty. a catsastrophe. Our present would two articles of hardware and machin- have standing armies in every state ery in the selling of which Ameri- and custom-houses on all the borders. cans had largely superseded English manufacturers in certain markets, quest, ambition, revenge, dynasties including some of the British colon- and thrones, but no such passions ies. Many of these articles, such as animated our soldiers. They went axes, scissors, penknives, lamps, cof- for ideas. They endured hardships briety, law and order and public of West Virginia, were chosen. There fee mills, nails, clocks, watches, table- and death to saye our homes and our necessary to every family. The list states might be perpetual. Ideas are also included such farming imple- immoral. They cannot be annihilated ments as buckets, corn crushers, cul- I have sometimes thought what tivators, cotton gins, hay rakes, hoes, would have been our emotions had mowing machines, scales, &c.

statesmen and manufactures have to its base, suppose Robert Toombs found out that Protection in the fulfilled his insolent menace to count United States has not made prices his slaves within the shadow of Buntoo high for outsiders to buy, no ker Hill Monument, suppose the matter what their agents in this Stars and Stripes had gone down in country may contend in their efforts defeat before the stars and bars, what to have our markets opened to un- would have been our emotions? I restricted foreign competition. And confess for myself to have never ceasin its demonstration of economical ed to implore that all men might be production under Protection is to be free; to hope that some time by found the chief value of the fact cited some desperate battle the Union by the parliamentary committee, It might have been restored. I should must not be permitted to lure voters have kept in some secret repository from a recognition of the fact that some emblem of the Stars and Stripes, the foreign market is necessarily re- which I would have taught my chilstricted by the limited wants and dren to love and cherish. the poverty of buyers, as well as the We are told, "God alone knows desperation of those competitors which side was right." To make whose trade is thus menanced. No the Constitution of the United States foreign demand for American manu- the supreme law of free men millions factures can be made to compensate enlisted and thousands gave up their for the privilege of supplying the lives, wives were widowed, children home market. With a certainty of orphaned; and yet, one-half of the this home market, at prices con- rising generation is being taught that sistent with the payment of fair "God alone knows which was right." position to the liquor evil existing in sent to Congress the outlines of a bill wages to employes, competition be- "Carnage raged on hundreds of this country which, if developed, and the names of the commissioners tween American manufacturers will battle-fields. Now, the sun rises on always insure to American buyers no master and acts on no slave. The result, in the near future, in the comthe best of products on terms within shame of the republic is washed out. plete emancipation of the country ington Saturday night, and expressreach of all .- American Economist. Liberty is the law of the land, and from the liquor curse. How to de- ed himself as highly pleased with

A Great Speech

Senator Ingails was the orator of the day at Gettysburg, and began by saying:

"The battle field of Gettysburg! What a tumult of enthusiasm, of joy and grief, of triumph, of defeat, of final victory, rise in the heart at the repetition of that name! The high tide of the rebellion broke on the field and along these rocky hills in a flood of blood and flame that ebbed away at Appomatox. Three summer days changed this hamlet to an epoch, and gave to this locality an immortality equal to Marathon, Marston, Moor and Waterloo. The orator who speaks upon this anniversary, no matter how great his fame or name, will be dwarfed by the stupendous tradgedy enacted here, and will sink into insignifficance before that great man, who standing almost within hearing of this spot, dedicated Judging from the decorations in this place almost twenty-seven years

How sleep the brave that sink to rest, By all their country's wishes blest? When spring, with dewy fingers cold,

She there shall deck a sweeter sod Than fancy's feet have ever trod. It is thus that we have assembled twenty-five years after to again pay public would have disappeared. ment of our fathers, all that is inspiring in our history would be sentences legands of all that is dead. Had not A few years ago a select committee these men died liberty would be our Other wars were fought for con-

the rebellion been successful. Sup-It can thus be seen that British pose the dome of the Capitol stooped out significance; the war for the mendous problem it is.

ady of the body politic. tion, a duty we owe the future that ference will be a failure, a discourageour relations to that great conflict be ment to the friends of temperance, understood, and that our dead did and a cause of rejoicing to its foes. not die in vain. It is not necessary | The chief difficulty in the way of but have continued to hold daily sesto disparage the bravery of our adver- union will be the great diversity of sions. It is believed that the bill saries. Let them rear monuments to views as to the proper legislative will be reported to the Senate before their dead and cherish their deeds; remedies for the liquor evil. As a July. let them eulogize the lost cause; let starting point here, it may be safely The Senate has passed the bill placmatters of taste which they must their opposition to the saloon; that sold. decide for themselves. There is no is to the institution which depends | Congress after a holiday since and needs rebuke."

of Americans believed to be a bad dead? They have entered the democ- the greatest attention and frequently and as far as possible prohibited and eral Clarkson left here yesterday cause, all sides unite in admitting racy of the dead; are at peace in the applauded. The chair then closed suppressed. Beyond this point there morning for an extensive official tour that he was a brave and able soldier, republic of the grave; for them the the exercises with "Oh, Starry must be concessions and compro- of the West and the Pacific Slope. H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G.,

The Coming Temperance Congress.

be in the form of local option and high license, or in the radical shape of prohibition. The liquer interests were never so well and thoroughly organized as they are at the present time, never so well prepared for war both of the offensive and the defensive kind. They have boundless resources in the shape of money and political influence, and nothing in the shape of conscience or moral principle to prevent their using these resources in any way or for any purpose that promises to further their

To meet and successfully contend fact of being in the right, of being in the cause that has the moral and religious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A fact of being in the right, of being in also discussed and it was decided to adjoining said "Smooth Valley,," containing for said part 3% acres, as described in a deed to Sarah Durst from Jacob Blocher and other ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

containing for said part 3% acres, as described in a deed to Sarah Durst from Jacob Blocher and other ligious sentiment of the nation back

the senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee. A

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee of the nation back

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee of the nation back

the Senate Finance Committee of the nation back

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the senate Finance Committee of the nation back

ligious sentiment of the nation back

the senate Finance Committee of it, the cause that commands the pension bill also received some atearnest sympathy and enthusiastic tention, the unanimous sentiment support of every right-minded and being that some pension legislation right-hearted man and woman in the was necessary at the present session

That the temperance cause has not prevailed more largely, that it has tor returned to-day from Boston, often been baffled and defeated when where they went to attend the banit should have triumphed, has been quet of the Home Market Club, due mainly to the fact that the moral which was given Saturday night. and religious sentiment, the sym- The two worthy sons of New Engpathy and support, of which we have | land speak enthusiastically of the rejust been speaking, have not been di- ception they met with. rected to a common end, have not been expended in united and har- somebody has hatched up a rumor monious action. There has been too that Mr. Blaine intended to retire much confusion of counsel, too much from politics in order to become diffusion of energy, too much divis- president of the new International ion of forces. There is, as we believe, American Bank, for the incorporaan amount of active and latent op- tion of which the President last week combined and wisely directed would on the part of the United States.

the ring for the championship belt of vocates and workers. It is certain May Point. the world. If they were not right, to bring together many earnest and | The Senate Finance Committee is national morality is a fiction, loyalty ardent men and women, holding rad- working hard on the tariff bill, and a name, and patriotism a fatal mal- ically different views on some points. so far it has made no changes of any and unless a spirit of forbearance, of importance, notwithstanding the "This tendency of the South must concession and mutual good will pre- Democratic prophesies that the bill than to minister to the appetite for eral legislation. The Senator was listened to with strong drink should be as quickly First Assistant Postmaster Gen-

mises. The radical Prohibitionists Upon his return his resignation, to will have to yield at some points, take effect immediately, will be tenthe license advocates at others. Too dered to the President, Mr. Clark- TREASURER'S TAX SALE. much must not be asked on either son will engage in private business, The friends of temperance reform side. No man must be expected to but whether it will be the newspaper in this country are looking forward surrender what to him is a matter of he has not told. with hopeful and anxious hearts to conscience and of righteous principle. Senator Sherman denies that he the National Temperance Congress | The fruits of practical experience and has been or is trying to delay or hamwhich convenes in this city the week actual work in the field of temper- per the Senate Finance Committee after next. If rightly and wisely ance reform must be given full in its consideration of the tariff bill guided in its deliberations the Con- weight. The problems to be consid- by attempting to make a combinagress will mark a new era in the ered must be studied in the light of tion with the Democrats of the comprogress of temperance reform in this country. The primary object of the Congress, as we understand it, and certainly the first and most impormust go before mere sentiment; postant question which it will have to sibilities before impossibilities. The ing it. Mr. Sherman's denial was consider, will be the foundation and main question must be not how to unnecessary. Such rumors have been basis of union on which all sections capture the country before the next the principal stock in trade of the of the temperance party can stand sunrise, but how, under existing cir- Democratic opponents of this meas and fight together against the com- cumstances and conditions, to so di- are eyer since it was completed. mon foe. A union of effort and of rect the forces of temperance reform It is quietly hinted that the Presiinfluence is manifestly the great need as to secure the largest possible dent is getting his veto axe ready,

Senator Quay smiles and says: "Why dinner," when asked what was done at the meeting of the Republican sional cemetery, and Representative National Executive Committee Morse at Soldier's Home. which was held at his home Friday night; and that is all that he will say about the meeting. But your say about the meeting. But your correspondent has, from other sources, obtained the information which follows: The meeting was attended by Messrs. Quay, Clarkson, Conger, Fessenden, Dudley and Hobart, and Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 67-61. Henry C. Payne, of Wisconsin, who was elected a member of the Executive Committee to fill the vacancy with such an opposition as this, with made by the death of Colonel Goodan enemy so united, so powerful and loe, of Kentucky, was also present so unscrupulous, demands all the and took part in the deliberations of power, all the influence, all the re- the committee after his election. The sources of whatever sort which can committee decided to elect two new be brought together among all who members, and Hon. Powell Clayton, count themselves on the side of so- of Arkansas, and Hen. N. B. Scott, On the 10th Day of JUNE Next, morality. While the temperance was a general and free discussion of ware, &c., are those common and country from destruction, that the elements have no ties of selfish mercenary interest to bind them together committee decided to render all the in this struggle, while their resources aid possible to the Congressional in the shape of money and political committee; the question of the eninfluence are extremely limited, they actment of a Federal election law have on their side what must prove then came up and a majority of the have on their side what must prove then came up and to be opposed to ultimately to be far more valuable committee proved to be opposed to "STANTON'S PURCHASE, > of Congress. Speaker Reed and Secretary Proc-

> Political news being rather dull

yet 'God alone knows which was velop this opposition, how to com- his trip and his reception both at right.' If we were not right, if bine it and how to guide it is the Cleveland and at Pittsburgh. He nationality is not better than seces- chief problem which the coming has not decided where his family sion, then these ceremonies are with- Congress has set before it, and a tre | will spend the summer this year, although Mrs. Harrison has almost de-Union was the greatest crime of the Too much importance cannot be cided to accept the pressing invitacountry, and our soldiers rank with attached to the outcome of this nation of Mr. and Mrs. Wanamaker and the successful pugilists who fight in tional conference of temperance ad-

he resented. This is a day of instruc- valls from the beginning, the con- was to be torn all to pieces by the bers of the committee did not take holiday when Congress adjourned, them worship their leaders; let them assumed that all who meet together ing all imported figuors under the served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in them worship their leaders; let them assumed that all who meet together ing all imported figuors under the which it is wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all carry their stars and bars. These are on this occasion will be united in law of the State within which it is other country under the sun that solely and wholly for its existence Thursday, resumed business to day would permit such transactions, upon the sale of intoxicating liquors at the old stand, and if there were They are our countrymen, united to as a beverage. Those who do not members whose heads were a little us by a common heritage, so they subscribe to the doctrine of total absay; but when they assert that Lincoln and Dayis, Grant and Lee, sale of liquor as a beverage under certain circums. The Senate resumed consideration of the Jones silver bill and the that 'God alone knows which was stances, will gree that a business House, having passed the river and right,' it is sacrilege of the vilest type, which has no oher cause for being harbor bill, devoted the day to gen-than last Friday. Representative I only entertained a few friends at Boutelle was the orator at Arlington, Representative Mason at Congres-

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

By virtue of a decree passed qy the Circuit Court for Garrett County as a Court of Equity in a case wherein Chas. W. Boucher is complainant and Jos. Whetstone and others are defendants, the undersigned was appointed Trustee to make sale of certain real estate therein decreed to be sold, in pursuance of said decree I will offer at Public Sale at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., in front of the Mellinger House, in Grantsville, in said county, the following real estate, to-wit: A tract of land called containing 106 acres except so much as was conveyed to Casper Schram by a deed from Sarah and Phillip Durst, dated July 9, 1868, recorded among the land records of Allegany County, also a part of

"SMOOTH VALLEY,

TERMS OF SALE—As prescribed by said decree: One-half the purchase money to be paid in Cash on the day of sale and the balance in two equal installments at six and twelve months with interest. The deferred payments to be secured by the purchaser with his notes and surety to the satisfaction of

PHINEAS C. BOUCHER,

Dissolution of Co-Partnership,

The Co-partnership heretofore existing be The Co-partnership neretolore existing: between the undersigned, doing business under the firm name of Gnagey & Durst, has this day been dissolved by mutual consent. All persons knowing themselves indebted to the firm will please call on Jonas E. Gnagey, who has charge of the books, and settle their secounts by July 1st., 1890, as after that date the books will be in the hands of an officer for collection.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, JONAS J. DURST.

JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., May 1st, 1890.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

-GO TO-

Henry J. Mayers' DAKLAND PHARMACY

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

MEDICINES.

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and UHEMICAL labratories, and Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy.

"Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto."

-Also dealer in-Fishing Poles. Buckets, Baskets, Autograph Albums, Knives,

AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varnishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere, German and English Spoken.

Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

Under and by virtue of Sec. 53 of Art. 12 of he Code of Pab. Local Laws entitled Garrett the Code of Pab, Local Laws entitled Garrett County subtitle "County Treasurer," the un-dersiened, Bess Compton, as County Treas-urer for Garrett County aforesaid, will offer at Public Safe to the highest responsible bid-der for cash, in front of the Court House door, in the town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland

ON TUESDAY, THE 10TH DAY OF JUNE,

"SAINT CLAIR,"

which said tract of land is contained within the matter and bounds, courses and distances following, to-wit: Beginning for the entire tract at the end of the third line of Lot No. 7. of Grant, Sherman, Logan and Hanging its young men poor patriotism, to say the least. There is nothing its was the least. There is nothing in the two flags hauging side by side on such an occasion that need cause loyal people to blush for the Stars and Stripes. That banner loses nothing by the contrast, And the South will lose nothing by the contrast, And the South will lose nothing by the contrast. And the South will lose nothing by doing it honor.

Phila. Press.

Mechanics are interested in the price and efficiency of tools, as all it is place there would have been and its place there would have been and the price and efficiency of tools, as all who are concerned in the second into the temperance movement. There can be no question about the solidarity of the liquor into the second into the second in the tree second in the tree fag. It was their flag Had it not been for their sacrifices and that of th drees East three hundred perches, then North sevenly seven degrees East forly-three perches to the end of the 20th line of a tract of land called "Mill Seat," and reversing the line thereof South twelve-degrees West one-hundred and sixteen perche, South forly-seven degrees West wenty-six perches, South twenty eight degrees West sixteen perches, West twenty perches, South seventy-one degrees East six perches, then North seventy-one degrees East twenty six perches to the second line of Lot No.6, and running with part of the third line thereof by a straight line to the beginning, containing 394 acres more or less,

The said one-undivided half interest in said tract of land called "Saint Clair," hereby in-

The said one-undivided half interest in said tract of land called "Saint Clair," hereby intended to be soid, having been conveyed to a certain William A. Brydon by Jeanet and George A. Clark by deed bearing date the 17th day of March, 1875, and recorded in Liber W. H. T., No. 1, folio 718, &c., one of the land records of Garrett county, Maryland, and being the same property which is assessed upon the Assessment Books of the County Commissioners of said Fourth Election District of said Garrett county to the said William A Brydon. Said land will be sold for the payment of Said land will be sold for the payment of the State and County Taxes due and in arrear thereon for the years 1888 and 1889.

ROSS COMPTON. Late Tressurer.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware Association,

(LIMITED.) E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Desiers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC. HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL, PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also bave a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known in Garrett County, will call on every farmer and solicit orders for anything they wish in Yours, res

ARMERS' HARDWARE E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Mauages. LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday hights of each month.

ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each

M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sunday afternoon.

SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hallevery Monday night.

PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, meets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights of each month. GARRETT LOUGE, No. 118, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-besday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

-"Bunton" Merrill is confined to his room by fever,

Born, unto Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. White, last Friday, a son. -A fine cottage for rent at Mountain Lake Park. J. C. PEDDICORD. -W. M. Coddington has been taid up by a severe attack of rheumatism since last Friday. -Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rakes should see them before buying. -Howell, the green groceryman, Is having a fine delivery wagon built by Naylor & Enos.

-Quite a number of summer visitors have arrived in Oakland to spend the heated season.

-Great slaughter in Wall Paper! Reduced to 4c? Gilt at 8 and 10c, at Mayers', Druggist.

-Sam'l Lawton is baying a large awning put up in front of his resi--The old steps leading into the Presbyterian church have been replaced by new ones. -Will Browning and family have moved from Oakland to his farm near Cranesville. -Mrs. Bell Crop, of Bayard, W. Va., is the guest of her mother, Mrs.

Nancy Whetsell, this week. -Our Paints are made of purest Linseed Oil. Beware of cheap, worthless, benzine Paint. MAYERS, Draggist. -G. W. Delawder shipped seventeen pounds of fine brook trout to Washington City on Tuesday even--The "patent-right" man from Durchasers. -Just received at Davis & Son's, another car of Orchilla Guano, and Silver Gray Fertilizer, suitable for buck wheat and Corn.

negotating for the purchase of the formerly occupied by John O Michlivery business now being carried on aels, in the Mason building. Prayerby his brother George.

-Lineman Hewitt, of Terra Alta, same room on Thursday evenings. with his assistants, connected the telephone, this week, Mower on hand. DAVIS & SON.

relebrate Children's Day next Sun- of the lake. day morning by rendering an elaborate program. The public is cordially invited to attend, best stock of clothing and fine shoes in the county.

-"Madame Rumor" says that the Garrett County Bank will soon originated in the store room of Fox and solemn services of the two orders take unto himself a wife and occupy Bros., and it is generally supposed were performed. Presiding Elder the new residence of Jas. Leathers', that the store had been robbed and Sharpes pronounced the Benediction, on Water street.

workmen here sevaral days remoy- store was found open by those first evergreen showered upon his casket ing balfast from the tracks in front of on the ground, suggested the idea of by loving friends, until that mornthe depot, and will lay beards in its robberg. stead, thus making a better crossing between the two platforms.

-Great reductions on Wall Paper at Mayers'. Brown back 4c, Antiseptic back, 5c; White back, 5 to 8c. Gilt at 8 and 10c. Extra heavy Gilt ingly low prices, at

H. J. MAYERS. -On the 17th of this month Cumor not she will loan the B. & O. rail. S. Hipkins, Rector in charge. road company the $150,000 asked for St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching ly life upon the hearts of scores of berland the end of the division in- month. stead of Keyser. This change means thousands of dollars to Cumberland.

-Mr. Washington Fike, of near Eglon, W. Va., was in town Wed- the agency at this place for the celeand in his endeavors to check them, every City and town in the Union. fell under the wagon, the front wheel Prices are the same as city prices; and bruising his face and head.

-Mrs. J. Ed. Kildow is visiting relatives in Kingwood this week. -Mrs. Doctor Newman left Wednesday morning for Morgantown to visit relatives and friends.

-Miss Mattie Parks, of Kingwood, W. Va., was the guest of friends in Oakland last Saturday and Sunday. -A man was arrested in Rowlesburg last week by a Government officer for passing counterfeit money.

-Clerk Tower made three more West Virginia couples happy last Tuesday, by furnishing them with a permit to wed. -Photographer Pritchard has re-

Alder street, and is now living in his own residence on third street. -It is reported that another tin and stove store will be opened in the Bishop building, Second street, in a short time.

Ohio, brother of our fellow-townsman, A. G. Sturgiss, was in Oak- ate-James Daily and John J. Smith. Miss Ida Head, of Davis, is visitland a short time on Monday. -Married at Maryland Cottage, Oakland, Md., June 2nd, by Rev. C. E. Clark, Mr. Milton Steel and Miss Rose Michael, all of W. Va. -Hamill & Little are giving spec ial bargains in dry goods, notions, shoes, hats, and in fact everything they keep. All they ask is a comparison of prices and quality of goods. -C. D. Clark and family, cf Philadelphia, are now occupying Arthur Townshend's residence on Alder St ..

1st., at the bride's home, in Pocahon- the graves. tas, by Rev. J. Evans, Jonas M. Park and Miss Eligabeth Sass, both of Pecahontas, Somerset county, Pa.

Hamill & Little's.

Taylor county, W. Va., was in Oak- militia does not have a few doses of ble. He graduated at the Oberlin coal at a distance of about 200 feet. land on Wednesday, but found no the Brown-Sequard elixir injected (Ohio) business college when about We understand they will commence into it, and receive new life.

-A Sunday school for the colored people of Oakland was organized last Sunday afternoon by W. H. Myers, and will meet regularly every Sun--It is reported that John White is day at 2 o'clock P. M. in the room meetings will also be held in the

-John A. Robb, city register of Oakland and Deer Park hotels by Baltimore, and A. F. Drexel, agent for the Isiverpool Steamship com--We have made arrangements to pany, arrived in Oakland Wedneshandle the Champion Machine and day morning and are the guests of have a full line of repairs for the New Fish Commissioner Delawder, at "Lake Cleveland." Both gentlemen are expert fishermen and will have -The M. E. Sunday-School will fine sport with the finny inhabitants

-The large frame structure known pair. as the Cra e Building at Terra Alta, W. Va., was totally destroyed by Fellow's Cemetery, this place, on travel. -High prices and the Uredit Sys- fire Saturday morning. The first Tuesday afternoon. The Knights of Rev. Correll preached an excellent out by Hamill and Little with low rooms, one occupied as a general tions of Elk Garden, assisted by Mt. and attentive audience. prices and the Cash System. If you store by Fox Bros., and the other by Lake Park, Piedmont and Terra want to find the difference, get their B. DeWitt as a jewelry establish Alta lodges K. of P., and Oakland Sang Run, are visiting in Gorman. ment. The upper story was a double lodge I. O. O. F., took charge of their -Garthright has just received a dwelling occupied by Mr. DeWitt departed brother's remains and es- place, is in town. car of nice Corn, to go at rock bot- and Dr. George Hardy. The fire was corted them to the Auditorium at tom price. Paying highest cash discovered about 4:20 a. m., and it Mt. Lake Park, where the funeral tion will meet to-night at the Shoreprice for wool. Has the largest and was apparent from the first that it services were held, the Revs. Ison, ham. would be impossible to save either the Clark and Davis officiating. Euiobuilding or its contents. The people guims were pronounced by Revs. serious illness of Uncle Joseph who occupied the upper story had no Davis and Clark, after which the Friend. time to put on their clothes and bare- procession re-formed and proceeded Artie Fraley, the efficient teller in ty e-caped with their lives. The fire to the cemetery where the beautiful then set on fire. The fact that the and the mortal remains of Joseph T. -The B. & O. has had a force of wareroom door in the rear of the White were left to sleep beneath the

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 101 A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev, C. E. Clark, Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching and Embossed Paper at correspond. at 101 A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. J. A. Dunlap. Congregational meetlog directly after morning services. berland will say by ballot whether every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. millions of his countrymen, but he

by the company, in consideration of every Sunday at 10} o'clock A. M., which the B. & O. will make Cum- except the second Sunday of each Clothing at City prices.

Messrs. Hamill & Little have taken nesday with an ox team which start- brated Clothing House of Mabley & and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis & to a good coat of paint. ed to run away, on Second street, Carew, now doing business in nearly Son's. It will pay you. of which passed over his head, cut-goods and make up are the best, and so go to Offutt's and buy a good Um-postmaster again this year, and Mr. J. Lee Harne will be assistant postmaster again this year, and Mr. u. y g. st. above the left eye, a fit guaranteed in each and every brella, for they have a big lot of them, W. H. Bishop will be telegraph op-

Decoration Day in Oakland.

Decoration day was observed for under the auspices of Crook Post, G. lap, acting Chaplain, and W. R. Jar- Graham. large concourse of citizens of the men. moved from the "Felty" building on T. Browning and W. H. Hagans, acual were held, after which Rev. . advancement he has made unaided. A. Dunlap delivered a short and a)propriate address, and Miss Marien sometime, but is improving. Leary read a selected poem.

Moopes, Captain West. Confeder- place.

In the Catholic Cemetery-Union ing Miss Mona Tillson. - Michael Pendergast, Michael Burns, Christian Miner, Confederate-Michael Collins.

Hall, when a resolution of thanks J. W. Williams, and family, of Philwhich he has leased for the summer for their efforts in securing and pre- Piedmont; Mrs. G. W. Haulenbeek -Married, Sunday morning, June dies for their assistance in decorating H. G. Davis and family, of Balti-

Obilpary.

Joseph Thompson, youngest son -Dress Ginghams 10c, 8c and 5c, of the late Johnson and Asenath M. Challies 6c, soft-finish Calico 7c, In- White, was porn May 12, 1862; died digo Blue calicos Sc. all wool cashmer May 31, 1890. aged 28 years and 19 Monday night a tree standing near 25c, muslins from 5 to 10c, finest days. He was converted and joined the schoel house was struck by lightsheeting 25, and all other Dry goods the M. R. Church when about four- ning. at correspondingly low prices, at teen years old. Up to this age he was known and conceded to be a boy -Colonel Pearre, of Cumberland, of exceptional good and obedient inspected Company B. in the armsory disposition. From the time of his beg broken Thursday near Barritt, by Indiana. last Saturday night. The "boys" conversion he loved the Sunday forses running away. made a very poor showing and were School and church; his ambition The Spring Garden Coal and Coke lectured by the Colonel. We are was to do everything to elevate the Co., which has been boring for coal: sorry that the pride of Maryland's cause in every way that it was possi- have struck over eight feet of good on her dwelling house re-shingled 20 years old, since which time he has operating at once. been engaged in the mercantile busago when he settled in Elk Garden, pancy. W. Va., took stock in the co-opera-tive store of that place, and was ap-a finishing louse 120x45, three stor-June 7, 1890: pointed as manager. He resigned jes high. the position about the first of May on account of failing health. In his Joseph Shillingburg, is finishing his business, social and religious life he hotel in style. was capable, pleasant and very strict. L. L. McCrum is improving his He was married to Miss Mamie Def- store and residence with a coat of finbaugh on June 12, 1889. Their paint. the noble wife, together with rela- bin on Saturday eyening. Gorman to alleviate the suffering which he good time. bore with the same christian forti-

when he shall come forth in the brightness and glory of his Redeemer to hear the glad news of "Come, ye blessed of My Father, Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world." No words of ours could add one luster to the brilliant success he has made in his short life. He has not carved his name upon the tablets of his country, St. Mathew's Church-Preaching to be lauded for a brief season by the has left the impress of his pure, manthose with whom he associated, where his memory will be cherished until Time shall summon them to appear before the Bar of the Eternal Judge.

-Don't fail to see the Red, White case. Children's clothing a speciality. from the cheapest to a fine silk.

Deer Park.

Our town has put on spring attire the first time in Oakland, May 30th, and is looking unusually attractive. Mrs. E. F. Droege having rented evening. A. R. The Post met in Grand Army her house to Mrs Overman, of Wash-bearing broquets of flowers, and a Jankey, and C. H. Tillson, Councilcompanied by the Flower Commit- year has been in charge of the Chil- his mill. tee decorated the following graves: | dren's Home at this place, has ten-Caton, Eli Reams, Eli Truly, James will be a hard task to find another so man. We bid him welcome to our -Joseph Sturgiss, of Marietta, S. Johnson, Henry Heiskell, Isaac competent in every way to take her

We notice in the Frederick News s the U. B. Charch, and afternoon sketch over young townsman J. B. Rev. W. E. George, of the M. E.

Pantz. Mr. Bantz is a rising young After the graves were decorated man, and deserves great credit for the services prescribed by the Ri- his plack and energy, and for the in town on Monday. Mrs. Jos. Lashorn has been ill for

Among recent arrivals are: Major The members then returned to their N. S. Hill and family, of Balte. ; was unanimously passed, thanking adelphia; Mrs. A. Lott and family, of the ladies of Oakland and vicinity Baltimore; Mrs. M. H. Davis, of paring flowers, and to the young la- and family, of Baltimore, and Hon.

A number of our people spent Decoration Day in Grafton, Miss Alice Fundenberg is visiting friends in Romney, W. Va.

During a severe thunder storm

Gorman.

Mr. Camfer, a drummer, had his

W. A. Barritt is erecting a splen iness as clerk until about two years did dwelling-house for his own occu-

The proprietor of the "Shoreham," married life, though short, was full The Seymore Cornet Band furof senshine, and the loving hands of nished music at the concert at Dobtives and friends, did aff they could was well represented and report a W. A. Barritt, L. L. McCrum, J. tude and submission with which he W. Cropp, S. C. Baker and several tived until death separated the happy others are attending court at Petersburg, a distance of 35 miles from The deceased was interred in Odd here. They have a hot, hard road to tem have been knocked completely story of the building had two store- Pythias and Odd Feliow organiza- sermon here Sunday night to a large Miss Della and Maud Savage, of Wm. Faherty, ex-merchant of this

The Building and Loan Associa-

We are very sorry to hear of the Mr. James Browning, of Preston county, is visiting in Gorman and vicinity.

Mt. Lake Park. A gloom was cast over this entire this camp-ground," community hast Saturday night by which he was held.

This beautiful, warm weather is bringing out more of our people. Mrs. List is now at the Allegany Mountain Lake Park Hotel, Miss away down in old Virginia.

This year Mrs. Sawyer, of Mounds-House ready for guests.

week, but is better now.

Swanton.

Rev. Mr. Hipkins will preach in Anderson Chapel on next Sunday

Mr. C. T. Sweet, our nurseryman, Hall at I o'clock P. M., A. G. Stur- ington. D. C., has moved to the has set a vineyard of about 700 vines files, Commander, Rev. J. A. Dun- "Villa," formerly occupied by D. F. of different varieties of grapes. We that will help to make other meetboe, Officer of the Day, and marched At an election of town officers held and hope ere long that he may have to the Odn-Fellows Cemetery, follow recently, the following persons were an abundance of grapes. He has also ed by the Ladies' Committee on elected : Col. E. C. Tillson, Mayor, set several varieties of shrubbery Flowers, and a number of little girls W. E. George, Jos. Lashorn, W. near the place he expects to build his residence.

Lumber and shingle trade boomtown and surrounding country. On Messrs Mayer, Craycroft, Boucher ing. Mr. C. T. West has received a arriving at the cemetery the Officer and Thomas, of Oakland, were call- large bill for black pine, and will of the Day, assisted by Comrades R. ing on friends in Deer Park, Sunday. start up his mill in the glades. R. Miss C. B. Hayes, who for the past J. West, Esq., is busy cutting oak at

A. F. George bas quit railroading In Odd-Fellows Cemetery-Union dered her resignation as Matron, and is going to work carpentering. General George Crook, David Miss Hayes has filled this position in Mr. W. McGowan, of Sir Johns Run, Chambers, A. J. Stotelmeyer, James | the most satisfactory manner, and it | has the place upon the track as forecommunity, and hope he will be pleased with this part of Maryland.

Preaching here twice on Sunday last. Morning by Rev. Taytor, of the U. B. Charch, and afternoon by room for two horses, and carriage house.
There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, con-We noticed Robert Brown, Esq., and Mr. Kalbaugh, of Elk Garden, Fine prospects for hay. As good as we have had for years. HOOSIER.

Grantsville.

Weather pleasant. Crops growing finely. M. D. Yoder's infant son, whom we stated as being !!!. is about well again. Mr. Gil. Broadwater sold a horse last week for $165 and one before that for $200.

Mr. Pete Yost sold a horse for $162 recently. Mr. August Bonig's barn, several TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN miles west of town was blown down on Whit Sunday. Mr. A. L. Gnagey and wife are away from home on a visit to the Brethren's Annual Meeting at Wernersburg, Mo, and also to Mrs Gnagev's former home at Landoga, Lup. Frantz is pleased. He's census enumerator, you know. Miss Maggie Brown had the root recently.

List of Letters List of letters remaining unclaimed

Beckman, Famie I., Endier, Mrs. Ida, Henry, Miss Gertie, Haight, P. R., Heiskell, J. M., Heasley, Chas., Kurtz, H. C., Liller, Tom, McKinne, F. C., Neville, Geo., On Mountain Top, Odonneli, Michael, Yost, J. C., in the Post Office at Oakland, Gar-

Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

Pentecostal Gathering.

The Pentecostal gathering at Mountain Lake Park is to commence Saturday, July 5, and close M. nday, July 14: It is a camp-meeting, and yet so that it really seems more appropriate to call it "A Pentecostal Gathering." In one of the meetings Rev. William Stockton said : "For God's glory, I want it put on record that, in my judgement, this is the greatest meeting ever held on this continent." In the same meeting Rev. Socrates Townshend said : "I have attended many camp-meetings, but I have never seen it just on this fashion before." Another borther said : "Surely methodism and Quakerism, and other evangelical "isms," are becoming well and judiciously mixed on

The first year that Rev. Stephen the death of Mr. Joseph T. White. Merritt, of New York, attended this His feneral was preached in the Au- "Pentecostal Gathering," he said : ditorium Tuesday by Rev. J. M. "I have attended a great many camp-Davis, assisted by Revs. Ison and meetings, but I want to say that I Clark. The two hodges to which he have never attended a meeting where belonged, the K. of P. and the Odd. the Holy Ghost is honored as he is Fellows were well represented. The at this meeting." This, we think, large concourse of people was very is the secret of the special manifestaexpressive of the high esteem in tions of the power of the Holy Ghost that have been seen and felt on this "mount of transfiguration" of souls.

the meetings: "I beleive in this meet-House, and Mrs. Earlougher is at the ing we are as fully of one accord as they were on the day of Pentecost.' Harris arrived this evening, from I think there were ten denominations of Christians represented in Mrs. Howe is at the Fallon cottage this meeting without a discordant note

At all of our camp-meetings there ville, will soon have the Assembly should be this onensess of the heart, Grace Cottage is now being treated of the Divine presence as have been realized at Mountain Lake Park Mother Smith was much worse last | Camp-meeting. 30 all who expect to attend this meeting this year, we would say : such manifestations of the Divine presence as we have never known it this our day."

As Mountain Lake Park Camp. meeting is to be held at the early part of the season, there should go out from this meeting an influence think that the location is a good one lings seasons of remarkable power .-Christian Standard.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD, June 5th, 1890. The County Commissioners of Garrett county will meet in their office in the Court House Oakland, Md, on Tuesday, June 17th, 1890, for the purpose of transacting any routing or other business which may be brought be fore them,

By order, J. B. FAY,

4 26 td Clerk. FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season, -The West End of Wing, and Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, sitting Rooms, two Dining Rooms, two Kitch-wall all Misching Rooms, The Sleeping

E. C. TILSON, Proprietor

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 313. AN ACT To provide that section one of Article fifty-six of the Code of Public General Laws title "Licenses" sub-title "Mode of Issuing General Provisions," shall apply to Garrett

County.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the provisions of section one of Article fifty-six of the Code of Public General Laws, title "License" subtitle "Mode of Issuing General Provisions," shall apply to Garrett County as fully as if the said section in its terms, words and language, was herein contained and repealed and made to have tull force and effect in said Garrett County.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted. That this Act.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage. Approved April 8th, 1890,

GARRETT COUNTY.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1890. OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1896.

TAKE NOTICE. That the roads under your charge shall be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year and in working said roads it is incumbent upon you, wherever practicable, to cut gutters on either side and work high in middle of road. You are also required to notify all persons traveling the roads with steam threshers or other heavy machines that they will be held responsible for all damage done to roads and bridges over which they pass.

WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY,
5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y.

--WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Baltimore Street.

Mitchell's Belladonna Plasters Endorsed by every physician as a sure cur for Paln or Weakness in the Breast, Sid Back or Limbs; also for Liver Complain Weak Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Asthma Pleurist, difficulty in breathing, &c., in all , difficulty in breathing, &c., in a ses they give relief at once. Sold ists, or sent by mail for as cents different from most camp-meetings THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

D. E. OFFUTT, President G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted Prompt attention to collections. 112'89.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER. EVERETT & HARVARD

PIAMOS I CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

Another preacher said, in one of EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

> Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire > to inform the citizens of this and adjoining > counties who may be desirous of purchasing > a really first-class instrument at a moderate > price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going > elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—ne > better instruments are made for the money > than those I handie. This is no idle boast, > but a fact which time and observation has > abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and > do not charge two prices for my goods. A > reasonable profit on the investment is all f > ask. ask.
> I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line.

where I live feet, and they did it securely, too, After this they took the fireboard and placed dwelt a man named Sam Peait against the tree above his head, sebody - or at least, so I shall for that purpose. call him, for he is a good man a-goin' to leave me here?" now and might not like to have had your share of joking long enough, the evil deeds of and now we'll have ours. I would rathhis youth made er have you tie my wife as you are tied, known among than to have had her frightened as you strangers. Sam came near frightening her. Mind you,

was an invetmiles from child. He begged and prayed, but to no of a tree. They lashed his hands be hind him, then lashed his ankles to gether, and then they bound him to the tree at the shoulders, wrists, knees and curing it by nails which they had brought

"Mercy!" shricked Sam, "you aren't

"Yes, sir," answered Jerry. "You have Sam, we only mean this for a joke."

And with this the two men went away, taking no heed of the joker's cries and protestations. But they did not go

On the following morning Jerry set

"This is Sam Peabody, the great

Jerry took down the board and let

"Ha! ha! ha! Vot a joke!" cried one.

"Sam, how's beef?"

"What a long tail!"

THIS IS SUM PEABODY.

THE OREAT JOKER

afore?"

Smith.

see it."

said:

again?

ne God!"

"I never will."

you can help it?"

"He came out here in that rig to

"I say, Sam, can't you give us a horn?"

"Who ever seed a hox year boots

These, and like exclamations, issued

"In the name of mercy!" he groaned

"Can't think of it yet," returned Jerry

TREY LASHED HIS HANDS BEHIND HIM

pains to make that dress fit so nicely and I should think you'd want folks to

"By jingo!" screamed little Adam

Snip, going close to the victim, "you have a worse fit now than I ever had

At this the crowd laughed uproarious-ly. They would have had pity for any one else in town, to have seen-him in none, for they knew that for years he had been annoying all whom he could,

nearly all the inhabitants of the village were out there, and by this time Sam began to cry. Even Jerry was touched now, and going up to the victim, he never annoy a human being again, if

'Never-never! I never will, so help

So Jerry untied the cords, and in ew moments Sam was free. He was coo stiff to run, and for awhile he could walk with but difficulty. But Jerry gave him his arm and helped him to his he laughs more merrily than over the one wherein is contained an account of that practical joke which was so sum-think so." "In that case it probably went off of its own accord. They always do. you know, when you don't think they're loaded."-Philadelphia until the crowd had dispersed.

Shan't I send for a doctor?'

"Your joke is too good to be

You have taken a good deal of von't somebody let me go?"

erate joker, nominated a "practical joker," and though he never meant any real harm far away until they were sure that there yet he often caused much mischief by would be no more passing on that road his pranks. On one occasion, when he for the night. had gone out at night enveloped in a white sheet to frighten some girls, he the news a-going of Sam's present situstarted to the roadside at the approach ation, and in half an hour after sunrise of a chaise and frightened the horse so a hundred people were collected around that the chaise was smashed up and one the willow tree. There stood Sam, just of the occupants severely injured. as he had been left the night before,

Sam had been talked with and argued shaking and shivering with cold. The up the pedestrians; he would ring folks into the skin of the ox's legs, and his up in the night and ask them if they had plenty of bedding. Once he called the doctor out at midnight to come and attically above the whole. Just above him tend a man who had very bad fits. The appeared the broad fire-board, and it good old doctor arose and followed Sam bore the following announcement in till they came to Adam Snip's little characters which could be read with domicile, and here the joker called up ease, even at a great distance: the little bow-legged tailor, and the moment Snip poked his head out at the joker. And this is one of his own jokes window Sam cried: "There, doctor, is a in which he got trapped himself." man who makes the worst fits you ever saw!" and with this he ran away and | Sam read it, and then put it up again. left the doctor and the tailor to settle the matter. This was serious business in one sense, but it set the whole town frighten poor women," said Tyler. in a laugh, and Sam was delighted.

But Sam's last practical joke was near at hand. At the edge of the village lived a man named Jerry Smith. He was a stone worker by trade, and as strong as an ox. One evening Jerry's wife had been to see a neighbor, and in from the crowd, and all the while poor returning she had to pass over a place Sam was begging for some one to come where the road was built along upon a and take him down. sort of morass, with willow trees upon each side. When she entered her house she was pale and trembling, and sank into a chair almost out of breath. "What's the matter?" asked her husband. "I've been frightened," gasped the woman, as soon as she could command her speech.

"But how? Where?" by the willow trees. An ox with great horns and flery eyes, came out at us, walking on his hind legs.' "By thunder, it's Sam Peabody!" exclaimed Jerry. "He killed an ox this morning." "I knew it was Sam as soon as I had time to think," returned the wife, "for his voice was plain; but I was so frightened at first that I liked to have

Jerry was angry. It did not suit his fancy to see a defenseless woman thus treated. He took his hat at once and went over to a small house on the opposite side of the street, where lived his partner in business, another stout, ironcorded man named George Tyler. "Look here, Tyler," cried Jerry, "Sam

Peabody is out in the willows, rigged up in his oxskin, frightening poor women. Come with me and we'll punish

Tyler hesitated not a moment, but taking his hat he followed Jersy over to the other house. In the first place Jerry took a fire-board, and with some marking paint he painted out a flaming placard, with letters large and distinct. Then he got some of his wife's dresses. such a situation, but for Sam they had and bade Tyler put one of them on. "For," said he, "if he sees two men coming, he may run."

and now, since he was caught in a trap The dresses were thrown on after a of his own setting, they thought it fashion, and pinned to the other clothing, and then the men donned each one best to punish him. At nine o'clock a bonnet. . They then procured a lot of stout cord, and, taking the fire-board, they sallied forth. As they approached the willows, they began to giggle and titter in squeaking tones, and ere long the fearful nondescript made its ap-

AN OX WITH GREAT HORNS AND FIRRY

EYES. With a low, deep bellowing it walked into the road and stood directly in front of the two pedestrians. "Oo-oo-oo-oo!" bellowed Sam.

"Mercy!" screamed Jerry. "Ah-oua-oo-oo!" "Save me!" squeaked Tyler. The ox-hide approached another step, and Jerry leaped forward and seized it, and on the next moment Tyler was by "Now, Mr. Peabody, I reckon you're safe," uttered Jerry, giving him a grip lik a vise.

"Don't—don't!" cried Sam.

"Don't what?" "Don't hurt me!"

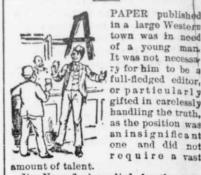

'We won't hurt you if you keep quiet but if you make any resistance, you'll run the risk of getting your head broken.

-A. -"What a wonderfully fast horse that Axtel is." B .- "Bound to be fast. Sam knew that it was Jerry Smith's Just look at the gang at the race track wife whom he had frightened, and he is obliged to associate with."—Texas knew that Jerry could handle him as a Siftings.

Press.

THE NEW EDITOR.

purpose. The two stone-cutters backed ip against one of the willows, and How He Came to Throw Up His then proceeded to bind him to tas trunk Position.

in a large Western town was in need of a young man It was not necessa y for him to be a full-fledged editor, or particularly gifted in carelessly handling the truth, as the position was aninsignificant one and did not require a vast

Jim Neverflush applied for the position. Jim was a worthless kind of a man, totally unreliable. He also drank like the star of a minstrel combination. complexion was similar to that of a and the work is not entirely in the lit hair was magnetic in its influence upon erary line."

'Oh, that don't make any difference to me," said Jim; "in fact I like to have those of a hoydenish maiden of the a variety of things to do-it kinder plains-untrammeled by the enthralbreaks the monotony."

"You'll get all the variety you want. Her hands were gems of fresco work, Sometimes you would be asked to write for on their alabaster surface the sun copies each week."

"Certainly, sir." "And never let the seissors get dull. Make it a point to see that they are kept his waist, full of pure gold. Nay, more, in good condition for writing the original humor column."

"I will, sir." "Can you set type?"

"I am sorry to say I don't." "That's too bad, for you could have made yourself useful setting up the

'I LIKE A VARIETY OF THINGS TO DO," SAID JIM.

"You can rely on me," said Jim, takto treat his friend Neverflush ton drink. and while there met an acquaire named Goode. "I've struck it rich, old man," said ing his leave.

paper business now." "You in the newspaper business?" "Yes, all brain work. I just signed a torial department. It won't be many reeks before I will be known all over the country. One of the conditions of the contract is that my name is to appear as the editor in large type. So that there would be no misunderstanding I had the size of the type mentioned in the contract."

"What size was it?" "Double great primer." "I guess this brain work business is one of your dreams, isn't it?" "Not much. Get a cool hundred bones a week, too. Two more beers, barkeep. [Scene in the Herald office about half an hour later: Business Manager (to managing editor)-Did you hire anybody to fill that position you were speaking of yester-

"Now, Sam, I'll let you down on one "Oh, yes. I got a fellow named Jame condition. Promise that you'll never Neverflush. He's to start-" attempt to perpetrate a practical joke "Great Scott! You don't mean that tank? Why, he'd be a disgrace to an anarchist paper!" "Of any kind or description? You'll

"I didn't know he drank." "Drink! That fellow actually drinks so much that he don't get time to eat. Bounce him! fire him! give him the owdy-dow as soon as possible."

Next day Goode again met Jim. "Well, how does brain work agree with you?" "The thing is off. I threw up the whole business this morning.'

own house and there let him remain "What for?" "They tried to impose on me. What Toward noon Sam went home, and do you think the slinking swindlers for over a month he stuck closely to his wanted to do?" shop, never appearing in the street save

"Give it up." when absolute necessity required it. He "Wanted to change the clause in the kept his promise faithfully, for to this ontract about my name being set up in day he has not attempted to perpetrate double great primer. They wanted to make it ordinary brevier. I refused to another of his practical jokes. And people love him now, for he is one of submit to it. Left the office indignantthe jolliest old men in the country and ly. Brevier, bah!"-Lewis M. Sweet, in his presence is sure to dispel any thing Texas Siftings. like the sulks or blues. And among all his stories there is not one over which

Useless Knowledge. Tourist-What is the name of that Peasant-I don't know. Tourist-And what is that mountain marily turned back upon himself .-Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., in Yankee Blade. "Hon't know." -"Somebody has taken my revolver "Oh, excuse me. I thought you beout of my desk," said the religious edonged to this place." itor, glancing around the room, "You "So I do, but I don't need to know all didn't know it was loaded, did you?" travelers' things."-Fliegende asked the snake reporter. "No, I didn't

His Honor's Joke. What's this next case?" asked the e prisoner was arrested for ogling sort of stare-case?" said the and the prisoner laughed so ously that the judge was very onicat-Jury

ANNABEL.

the Influences of Climate-How She Got of admiration, frequently engaged to be white horses. They seemed to follow her everywhere. Her manners were wrappers, as we send out many sample had deep impigmented those freckles "One of my strong points is society, who scorns the danger of exposure to the sample copies throughout the country.

"I am pleased to hear it. There are other things you would be expected to the clods and ruts of the country road. In short, she possessed all of the which come naturally only to the girl do. For instance, the paste would have fascing graces of a young lady grown to be mixed each morning, and the office up out of doors on the farm without ma-

ernal estraint or guidance. But, dack-a-day, her Uncle John came fron California with a belt around her Uncle John bore in his pockets big wads of bank notes of phenomenal value and owned cattle upon a thousand hills. Alack-a-day, as I was remarking, Annabel's Uncle John came home and died. He did not die immediately, but lingered for weeks suffering the pangs of mania a potu, that grim destroyer of youth and beauty, as well as of age and omeliness. Annabel's own hand administered the valerian et ammonia, which lone could soothe his pains and drive way the phantoms which pursued him. In due course of time, however, her dear Uncle John died and was buried. His will was brie! and very much to the point. He left all of his worldly goods to his beloved niece, Annabel Millard. But there was a proviso. Not one penny of it should Annabel have until she was twenty-five years of age, and had spent seven years in certain designated Eastern schools.

This was a cruel blow to her numer us admirers; but upon no other condition was she to be his heiress. Annabel mourned over her uncle, as she ought to have done, under the circumstances, and then she went to Chicago and was sentenced to six weeks with salary will be eight dollars a week, and the dress-maker. At the conclusion of if every thing is satisfactory you can her first absence from home, she returned to the old cabin, and her friends scarcely recognized her. The white horses alone were true to her and fol-Jim proceeded to the nearest saloon lowed her. Well, seven years of treat his friend Neverflush to drink, passed away, as seven or eight years will do; and Annabel came home to claim her fortune. Her hair was auburn, her hands had lost their health-Jim, slapping Goode on the back. "Oh, ful freckles, her face was becomingly it's a regular snap. I'm in the news pale, her feet had corns, her bustle was tremendous, her head upright as a thermometer, and her gait was wholly changed. Pebbles would hurt her feet five years' contract down at the Herald | She was a different girl. Climate and office to assume entire charge of the ed- soil had changed her. She got the for-S. D. F. tune.

AN UNPARDONABLE OFFENSE.

First Messenger Boy-I hear Cally is goin' to be expelled from the Messenger Boys' Labor Union. Second M. B .- What's he done?

F. M. B .- He was caught runnin'. UNDER A MISAPPREHENSION.

Mr. Grane (of Chicago)-Say, Elfrida, you've got t' break off with that Lord

Miss Grane-Why! P-p-papa!! Mr. Grane-A feller from Ottawa told me t'-day that I won't be any more of a duke after you're married than I be now. -Puck.

A Twig to Be Straightened. Mr. Bent-I'm sorry to see, Maria, that our Tommy is developing Anarchis tic tendencies. Mrs. Bent-Bless mel What's be been doing? Mr. Bent-Why, I heard him talking very ferociously to a small boy; but when the other put up his fists, Tommy ran away!--!'uck.

THE USE OF CAVALRY.

Two Versions of the Famous Ride" at Rezonville. The recent death of the Prussian Genral, Bredow, has given rise to some exggeration in several journals respect ng his famous charge, known as the Death Ride," at Rezonville on the 16th of August, 1870. The real facts in the case derived from oth French and German sources are interesting, principally in the illustration which they give of the part that ery young man cavalry may still be able to play in modern warfare, notwithstanding all County. She the modern improvements in the art of was a natural shooting. This "Death Ride" and other shooting. This "Death Ride" and other coquette, fond | cavalry engagements during that battle showed clearly enough that, in spite of given to flirt the chassepot and the needle gun, ations and mounted men in 1870 could still accom plish wonders with comparatively little loss. It is quite true that Bredow's married. Her brigade cut through the French line of infantry, reached the artillery, sabered "The position is not a good one," said whole town which has been given up to the gunners, and passed on toward the the editor to whom he applied, candidly, on election celebration over night. Her French cavalry, but it is not true that it struck that cavalry, which was massed in front of it. On the contrary, seeing that such an attack would be sheer madness, Bredow wheeled about, and once more passed through the lines which he had broken, and reformed at about the same place from which he started.

This charge has sometimes been severely criticised, but it is all blown to the winds by both French and German evidence of its marvelous result. "At about half past twelve o'clock," says a French writer, "our second corps was weakening, and Marshal Bazaine sent ut two squadrons of lancers and cuirassiers of the guard to cover the retreat. These troops came in contact with the Sixth division of Prussian cavalry. which was sent out in pursuit. In the shock our cuirassiers lost 22 officers, 208 men, and 243 horses. But reinforce ments came to us and the position of the enemy became critical. Their third corps in particular suffered severely and became separated from the rest of the army and from its reserves. It was then that General Alvensleben sent out Bredow's brigade, which saved the Third Prussian army corps and paralyzed for the rest of the day our Sixth corps, which up to that moment was on the advance, but afterwards never moved.'

On the German side Prince Hohenlohe says that the effect of the cavalry charges of the day, and especially late in the evening, was to demoralize the French, who retired "abandoning the field of battle that had been disputed all day, while on the other hand Marshal Brzaine could not understand such a daring movement except on the theory that his adversaries had received considerable reinforcements, and that is why he retreated at night and trans- gist two ounces of benzine and a small formed this undecided battle into a Germany victory. If, instead of allowing it is called at glove stores "Paris glove himself to be intimidated and discouraged Bazaine had attacked us with all his reserves, he would have won beyond a doubt a brilliant victory over the Prussian army, inferior in numbers and exhausted as it was by the fight of the

When it is remembered that Bazaine in this struggle was endeavoring to reach MacMahon, the importance of the cavalry action which really turned the tide of battle, can be easily appreciated. It remains to be seen what cavalry, can do in the future, with the increased difficulties in store for it, in the shape of smokeless powder and magazine guns.

THE WILES OF BEGGARS. One of the Professionals Reveals Some of

There was early mass at St. James' Church, on Wabash avenue, this morning, and the usual number of beggars were present. Among the wanderers who sought fruit in the Lord's vineyard was Jim Blood, hardly recognizable, but nevertheless showing unmistakable trademarks.

James was begging, and when corraled had secured several dollars from people whose hearts are longer than their purses. He was taked before Justice Wallace, told a penitent story, and that soft-hearted magistrate turned James Blood loose. He is now preparing for his Sunday skirmish, as he calls it. "There's more money in beggin'," said Blood, "than any scheme that man's mortal eyes have ever tackled. Now I know it, an' when a man nose a thing he nose it, doan' he? Well, I should. This is the first time I've been trapped; I've been doin' the professional beg act in Boston, Pittsburgh, St. Louis 'n' Detroit 'n'd ought to know something about it, but I hates to be takin' in. I believe the town's 'bout worked out, but wherever there's a church Blood'll git blood or money 'n' doan' ye forgit it."

"Is it customary for the Chicago churches to be worked for money?" "Is it? There are 400 professional beggars in Chicago to-day an' on Sunday every one of 'em 's good for $6. Now, Easter Sunday I made $12.50 at the Holy Name 'n' I did'n' half try. The other fellows made from $4 to $8. So you see it's pretty good business."

"Are there any schemes resorted to?" crutch act an' the ol' soger act; but the cent. of young people are married. best is the blind act. I had a sign made in St. Louis, 'n it's kept the gang from the rest of the week. I've worked 'em all over 'n' ought to know."

"Any disguises?" "I had a whisker made in a mattress factory in Detroit that you couldn't be worn, increasing the expense. The comb with a rake. When I put that on all the detectives in the world couldn't called when the ceremony is performed 'diagnoze' me, but I didn't have the whisker this morning so I got caught. trousseau, full-dress suits, bridesmaids whisker this morning so I got caught. Now, when I do the 'ole soger' act I and groomsmen, flowers in abundance, If I can't do $15 next Sunday I'll go West."

"What will the remainder do?" "O, the police 'll gather 'em in. Some of 'em are good, and some aren't, but the good 'uns 'll do as I do, go West. But beggin's a business, carried on diplomatically, is better 'n' labor, but you got to be a diplomat to do it."—Chicago Evening Journal.

AROUND THE HOUSE.

Hints and Suggestions of Interest to Every Housekeeper. Paint spots on glass can be removed by rubbing with a cloth dipped in alcohol or saleratus water. The luster of morocco is restored by varnishing it with the white of an egg.

Apply with a sponge. Kerosene will soften boots and shoes that have been hardened by water, and render them pliable as new.

If a dish gets burnt in using, do not crape it; put a little water and ashes in it and let it get warm. It will come off nicely.

A sure and safe way to remove a grease spot from silk is to rub the spot quickly with brown paper; the friction will soon draw out the grease.

Spotted Furniture.-Spots on varnished furniture are readily removed by rubbing them with the essence of peppermint or spirits of camphor, and afterwards with "furniture polish" or oil. To prevent tin from rusting, rub fresh lard over every part of the dish, and then put it in a hot oven. heat it thoroughly. Thus treated, any tin ware may be used in water constantly, and it will remain bright and free from dust indefinitely. Mending China.-Into a solution of rum arabic stir plaster of Paris until the mixture assumes the consistency of cream. Apply with a brush to the broken edges of china, and join together. In three days the article can not be broken in the same place. The whiteness of the cement adds to its value.

The following is a good receipt for ologne water: Take a pint of alcohol and put in thirty drops of oil of lemon, thirty of bergamont and half a gill of water. If musk or lavendar is desired, add the same quantity of each. The oils should be put in the alchol and shaken well before the water is added. Bottle

Mending Rubber Boots .- Cut native India rubber with a wet knife into thin slices, and with shears divide these into threads as fine as fine yarn. Put a small quantity of the shreds (say onetenth or less of the capacity of the bottle) into a wide mouthed bottle, and fill it three-quarters full of benzine of good quality, perfectly free from oil. The rubber will swell up almost immediately, and in a few days especially if shaken often, assumes the consistency of honey. A piece of solid rubber the size of a walnut will make a pint of cement. The cement dries in a few minutes, and by using three coats, will unite leather straps, backs of books, etc., with exceeding firmness.

To Clean Kid Gloves,-Get of a drug quantity of powdered soap-stone, or, as With a sponge or flannel cloth apply the benzine to the glove (while on the hand) lightly and evenly, and let the glove remain on the hand till dry (four or five minutes). Pin it up where the sun will shine upon it; and in about half an hour take the glove down, pull it out by taking each finger separately, holding the wrist in one hand. Then apply the glove powder inside and outside, rubbing very hard on the outside. If this be done according to directions, the grove will look as well as new .- Boston Commonwealth.

THE NUPTIAL KNOT.

Seven Separate and Distinct Ways in Which It Can Be Tied. There are seven separate and distinct ways in which the nuptial knot may be tied, the attending expense of the different modes varying from one dollar to one thousand dollars. The least expensive—and the one seldom adopted, except in cases of elopement-is that afforded by the justice's office. There a couple can be firmly united in the space of a minute for a small sum. It is cuscomary for a groom to dress as he may please when the marriage is to be performed by a justice, and a dress suit would be sadly out of place in the musty law-office. The one great advantage of the justice-shop marriage is its cheapness. As some people object to being married by a justice of the peace, preferring the sanction of the church in addition to that of the law, the young people may visit a parsonage instead of a justice's office with the same preparation. The ceremony may be fully as informal when performed at the minister's home, the only difference being that not less than three dollars, and, better still, five or ten dollars, should be paid for the service, although there is no fixed sum charged. The most popular ceremony among people who do not class themselves as in "society," and also among many who do, is a quiet home wedding, where the bride is attired in a suit of plain white or a traveling dress, and the groom in a plain black or brown business suit, where only a few friends and relatives are present. The affair is informal, perhaps a modest supper or lunch being served after the ceremony is performed, and the entiro expense to the groom being covered by twenty dollars, or even less. This is "Is there? I should say so. I work the most popular ceremony, and this is the blind act, the paralyzed act, the the way in which fully twenty-five per Next in point of favor and inexpensiveness is the informal church wedding, starvin' a dozen times. Any man that being similar in all things, except that wears the sign an' a soger coat can make the service is performed within the enough money any Sunday to keep him | portals of the church. If the affair is strictly private, the bride and groom may be unsupported, or have brides-maids and groomsmen, as they please. In the latter case, full-dress suits should "full-dress wedding," as it may be have crutches; but the town's worked. and a host of invited guests are the requisites, followed by a reception, feast or lunch, as the contracting parties may

The seventh, and last, and most popular, is the full-dress affair performed in the church. Among people who desire to create a stir in society this is the favorite. It is expensive, and in many cases unsatisfactory. - Ladies' Home in al as th exan in us floore heav these ble, i ical venice these eral terial terial mile floor inch for a feet year rels A pi are to le

the use but

FARM AND GARDEN.

CONCRETE FOR FLOORS.

A Farmer Who Thinks It the Best for Stables and Pig Pens. I am substituting concrete for plank in all my stables and hog houses as fast as the old floors give out, says a writer in the Country Gentleman. From an examination of stables which have been in use for six years or more, which are floored with concrete, and on which heavy, sharp-shod horses have stood summer and winter, I conclude that these floors are practically indestructible, and that they are the most economical that the farmer can put in.

The cost of such a floor will depend somewhat on whether the farmer is convenient to stone, sand and gravel, for if these must be purchased or drawn several miles, it will add to the cost materially; but I find that with these materials in abundance within less than a mile of my home, the cost of a concrete floor is rather less than that of good twoinch oak plank. The cost of the cement for a stable forty-four feet long and fifteen feet wide which a neighbor put in two years ago was $36, as he used eight barrels of common or Louisville cement for the foundation, costing $1.50 per barrel, and six barrels of Portland cement, costing $4 per barrel, for the finishing coat. A pig pen floor will cost less than a stable floor, for where sharp-shod horses are to stand stamping flies the finishing coat must be two inches thick, while for rub-

fter-rub

at it dust

until

to its tive

will ooks, small or, as glove

wder

cord-ok as difllar to expen

that af-here a

is cusmay

musty tage of cheap-

marerring

ddition people

a jus-formal home.

for the ed sum

mony

also quiet

a plain re only modest

entiro

red by d this is five per edding.

pt that affair is groom brides

please

may be formed laborate should

The

smaids ndance, are the on, feast ies may med in desire

s is the

in many

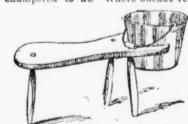

a hog house one inch is sufficient. In making this floor the first thing is to level up and establish your grade seven or eight inches lower than you wish the floor. If the spot is already too low and must be filled, I throw in loose stone and then with a sledge break them up so they can be leveled. For the foundation I use clean, sharp gravel with the sand sifted out of it, or fine broken stone, or a mixture of both with one bulk of common cement to five of it. Mix thoroughly and wet slightly, so that every piece of stone will be coated with the cement. Now spread it until perfectly solid. Use the straight edge and spirit level so as to have it perfectly level, and you are ready for is called. For this you want the best cement; I use the Portland, though I am not sure but in other localities the best cement goes by a different name, possibly the as wide as you can conveniently reach, the board to lay another, smooth off the cement with a trowel on what you have laid. Be very careful not to leave rough you had better get a mason to lay the last coat. The only possible objection I can see sawdust, or any thing to keep the hogs from lying directly on the floor. I find that coarse corn fodder will make a good

A Good Milking Stool.

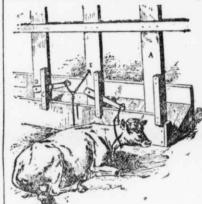

MILKING STOOL

it must be in width to correspond, and one-quarter inch. By-the-way, every farmer and dairyman should have a workshop and "kit" of tools, etc. This will enable them to make many convenient and serviceable articles and -Orange Judd Farmer.

they are hatched, and that is to get rid frost. of lice from the old birds by cleaning up their roosting places and dusting them well with insect powder. Hundreds of young turkeys die because of dreds of young turkeys die because of sult. All experiments should be made sult. All experiments should be made the large, gray lice that infest the heads, on a small plot, and the cost noted care-and as these pests never show themones, and the loss of young turkeys is often ascribed to some other cause than dom indulged in, yet the free use of the | wants leaner pork and besides that, that harrow will do more to increase the method of feeding will prevent a good crops than any other kind of work. method of disease.—Western Rural.

This Appears to Be an Execulent Device. I am pleading for the cow, writes O. H. Smith, of Cattaraugus County, N. Y., in the Rural New Yorker, in dearticle. The picture hardly needs any in which the lever is held in place while allowed to work up and down freely; D is a bolt fastening the lever City Journal. to the standard; E is a peg on which the ring on one end of the chain is hung.

NEW COW TIE.

o go around her neck. The chain from each lever is always to be hung on the next standard. The lever has the moion of the cow's neck-when she is up the lever is up; when she is down the lever is down. Mr. Smith writes as follows concerning his device, which, by the way, is not patented: I have used my device this an inch or two at a time, and tramp for two and a-half years for a herd of dairy cows. It is easily made, very handy and cheap. There is no kind of stationary stanchion which does not the finishing coat, or liquid stone, as it inflict cruelty on the cattle fastened in it. No cow can lie down in a natural way with her head or neck between two standards, however they may be arranged, and when an animal is in an unnatural position it is in more or less what you will need. Use with it a clean, sharp sand, rather coarse, and without any learn, sharp sand, rather coarse, and been her back as for called the sand of the sand been back as for called the sand of the elean, sharp sand, rather coarse, and without any loam. I save the sand that makes his cow mangers according to is screened out of the gravel which is his own fancy; but this device is adapt used in the foundation, and mix three parts of the sand to one of cement; mix thoroughly by shoveling it back and I like an open manger best because it thoroughly by shoveling it back and can be kept clean more easily than any forth, and then rescreen it, and it must then be wet up and tempered, a little at a time as you need it. For a stable floor between the cose, to prevent them from between the cows, to prevent them from one inch will answer. Lay it in sections pulling and pushing each other's ration of hay; but they will not do this if properly fed. When I see my cows with your knees on a board just as thick pushing and mussing their feed around as you wish the cement to be laid, and with a short, straight edge you can keen it level.

In the manger I take it away; they don't want it until they have a keener appetite. Until then they will do better lying down and chewing the cud, When a section is laid, before moving taking care of what they have stored places or trowel marks, for it ought to is light, set another and let the lever be left perfectly smooth, and can be almost as smooth as a pane of glass. If not accustomed to the use of the trowel standard are fastened, can be very much wider, that is, higher than for stationary stanchions. Mine are fourteen inches to a cement floor for a hog-house is that high or wide. The bottom of the it might be cold in winter; but the hog is a hot-blooded animal, and, besides, it bevelcd edges to give the right slant is easy to furnish a bed of straw, leaves, and so tightly fitted together that feed can be given without waste.

One Farmer's Garden.

bed, as the hogs will eat the leaves and shred the stalks fine, so they will make a very comfortable bed.

He prepares a piece near his potato patch, far enough from the farm-yard to be safe from the shields. patch, far enough from the farm-yard to be safe from the chickens. When he is marking his potato ground he marks his garden in the same wide rows; then puts fertilizer in the hills or in rows for the Our self-descriptive illustration shows a practical milking stool, readily made by anyone understanding the use of edge tools. The seat board should be made of two-inch material, at least two-feet long vates his potatoes it does not take many material. Our self-descriptive illustration shows a fertilizer in the hills or in rows for the two-inch material, at least two feet long vates his potatoes it does not take many and wide enough for comfortable seat-ing -say nine inches in width and a horse hoe, and as he goes through it champered to fit. Where bucket rests every time he does the potatoes the weeds do not get much of a start. When the tomatoes, peppers and cabbage plants are grown enough, he transplants them into the garden. Some would think of the waste land lying between the wide rows; but remember this is a farmer's garden, where there is plenty of land, and his time is worth more somewhere else than crawling on his knees weeding by hand. In a garden of weeding by hand. And when your melons, squashes, etc., spread you will not find more room between the rows than is necessary for the vines. If you go which can be secured by placing bucket is necessary for the vines. If you go into board and marking circle with pencil before sawing out in champer gather peas for dinner, you will find the style. The "rounds" should be made out of hard wood and about fourteen pleasant work. And you will be more IT must make inches long, end to end; make holes one than repaid for your five or three min-

Cutting Back Evergreens. Gardening Illustrated says that all thus save annually hundreds of dollars. evergreens, if they require much cutting back, should be pruned in spring, after all danger of severe frost is past Taking Care of Young Turkeys.

It will soon be time for the young turmay be done at any time, as this does keys, and as they are very tender, some-thing should be done for them before the leaves to let in the cold winds or selves, they are seldom seen. They producing extra large crops, yet they pass from the old birds to the young failed to secure profits because of ex-

lice, simply because 'the lice can not be found, though they are doing the injury. WHEN our people begin to make pork upon an abundance of bone and muscleforming foods, and very little of the fatforming, they will begin to make more Too MUCH harrowing of the soil is sel- money from their swing. The market

Killed a Monster Lizard. Two Mexican fishermen killed an ugly and vicious anolis of the lizard species yesterday on Padre Island, but not until a hard battle had been fought x., in the Rural New Yorker, in de-scribing the device shown in this article. The picture hardly needs are claws equal to a tiger. It contained description. A is a standard plank one twenty-four eggs. This monster is a native of the West India islands and the foot wide and two inches thick; B is a lever one inch thick, tapering in width, first ever seen here. During the com being two and one-half inches at the wide end and one inch at the "tie" end; C is the slat bolted to the standard color from green to brown and vice versa, a peculiarity of its tribe. Many with pieces inserted between the slat theories are advanced as to how it and the standard, so as to leave a space reached the island. The most plausible is that it came even in one of the house is that it came over in one of the huge mahogany logs from foreign lands that are frequently washed ashore.-Kansa

Colorado Cities and Places. when the cow is let loose the ring should be hung on the peg. When she is to be tied she puts her head and neck over the lever and the chain is handy

This is the title of a pamphlet just issued by the passenger department of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway. It comprises 60 pages of valuable information, relating to some of the principal cities and resorts of Colorado, with 52 Beautifful Lustrations of different scenic views and localities, engraved from original photographs, and which have never before appeared in any work of this kind. In the last two supplementary pages, a carefully revised lists given of the leading hotels, restaurants, etc., in the cities and places described, with the names of their proprietors, the rates per day or week, and the character of accommedations provided (Copies will be mailed free to applicants in any part of the world, on receipt of 4 cents each for postage. Address John Sebastian, Gen'l Tk t & Pass. Agt., C. R. I. & P. Ry. Chicago, Ill. This is the title of a pamphlet just issued

Chicago, Ill.

A PIRE-PROOF pecket book is one of the latest inventions. It is probably intended to prevent money from burning heles in the peckets of the owners. How's This!

How's This!

We offer One Hundred Dollars Teward for any case of Catarrh that car not be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cur.

F. J. Cheney & Co., Props, Toldo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last fifteen years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions, and financially able to carry out any obligations made by their firm. West & Truax, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Walding, Kinnan & Marvin, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, Ohio.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the bloodand muccus surfaces of the system. Testimonials free. Price, 75c. per bottle. Sold by all Druggists, A MAN can make himself decidedly un-

A MAN can make himself decidedly unpleasant by insisting on reminding us of what we thought last year.—Milwaukee pleasant by insisting on rem

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which the ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and boyels. and bowels.

A MUSICIAN is not necessarily a good base ball player because he knows how to execute a score.—Rome Sentinel.

Mr friend, look here! you know how weak and nervous your wife is, and you know that Carter's Iron Pills will relieve her. Now why not be fair about it and buy her a box! Honesty is the best policy, but there are very few policy-shops where it can be found.—Elmira Gazette. Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin &

Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar. The washerwoman has better luck than the farmer nowadays in getting a living out of the soil. Ladies can permanently beautify their complexion with Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. Man is often fonder of his dogs than he is of his kin; but, then, a dog can never contest a will —Puck.

Never fail to cure sick headache, often the very first dose. This is what is said by all who try Carter's Little Liver Pills. Just about the time the legislators stop putting in their bills the pesky mosquito begins.—Yonkers Statesman.

BRONCHITIS is cured by frequent small doses of Piso's Cure for Consumption. The strained relations between milkmen and milk inspectors have never been entirely bridged over.—N. O. Picayune. A POCKET pin-cushlon free to smokers of "Tansill's Punch" 5c. Cigars.

A POPULAR soprano is said to have a voice of fine timbre, a willowy figure, cherry lips, chestnut hair and hazel eyes. She must have been raised in the lumber regions.—Norristown Herald.

STRANGE ideas of honesty prevail. It is surely wrong for a fruiterer to put all the big peaches on the top of the basket, but it is surely as right to build the front of the house of fine freestone and the back of common brick. A certain amount of sham is necessary to human happiness.—Exchange. A BANK is an institution into which you put confidence and money and draw out your confidence.—Philadelphia Times.

If the truth were known many a boastful soldier has never been under fire except when discharged from the army.—Bingham-

It must make a counterfeiter feel sick to see one of his bills examined suspiciously, and to hear it pronounced bad, when he knows there has been good work done on it.

"It's queer how often you read of actors' wives trying to commit suicide." "Yes," replied Muriatic, "but may be they sit out in front sometimes and look at the play."—Washington Post. It is not alone the medicine men among the Indians who go on the war-path for pill age.—Pittsburgh Chronicle. The time is approaching when you'll need your lawn-mower and more as the season advances.—Berkshire News.

LUMBAGO. SPRAINS. Neuralgia, Swellings, Frost-bites, BRUISES. THE CHARLES A. VOGFLER CO., Baltimore, Md.

"WHAT A LOVELY WOMAN"!

extended the Chief Justice, upon passing a beauty while walking down Penn. Avonue with a friend. "What an excellent Judge"! said the lady, when her sentitive ear caught the decree of the Chief Justice. How many women might receive such a compliment as the above, were they not prematurely robbed of the charms the other sex value so highly, and made old before their time, by functional irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to their sex. To such the bloom of youth may be restored by the use of a remedy acknowledged to be without an equal-Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for women guaranteed to give satisfaction, in every case, or money refunded. Read printed guarantee on bottle-wrapper.

As an invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic, or strength-giver. It promptly cures nausea, indigestion, bloating, weak back, nervous prostration, debility and sleeplessness. It is carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. Purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Copyright, 1888, by World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors.

Purely Vegetable and Perfectly Harmless.
Unequaled as a Liver Pill. Smallest, cheapest, ensiest to take. One tiny, Sugar-coated Peliet a Dose. Cures Sick Meadache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the stomach and bowels. 25 cents, by druggists.

KISSING at 7, 17, 70; Photo-gravure, J. F. SMITH & CO., Makers of "Bile Boans." St. Louis, Mo.

The sale of Tutt's Pills exceed those of all others combined. They are peculiarly adapted to mala-rial diseases. Our physicians all pre-scribe them." SOLD EVERYWHERE. Office, 44 Murray Street, New York.

Oh, So 'Tired!"

is the cry of thousands every Spring.

For that Tired Feeling Ayer's Sarsaparilla and recover Health and Vigor. It Makes the Weak Strong. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,

Ask Him! Who?

Lowell, Mass.

What? Why on Scales "He Pays the Freight.

DETECTIVE

PATENTS Invent comething and your FORTUNE! Address W. T. FITZGERALD, WASHINGTON, STAME THIS PAFEL STREET, USES THE PAFEL STREET, USES THE

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE AND $2 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN And Other Advertised Specialties Are the Best in the World.

> W. L. DOUGLAS, Brockton, Mass. GOLD MEDAL, PARIS, 1878. W. BAKER & CO.'S Breakfast Cocoa Is absolutely pure and it is soluble. No Chemicals are used in its preparation. It has more than three times the strength of Cocoa mixed with Starch, Arrowroot or Sugar, and is therefore far more economical, costing less than one cent

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

LANDS BITTER ROOT VALLEY tains the most fertile lands in Montana, 3,000 elevation, Healthful Climate, Pure Water of Scenery, Splendid openings for men of smal ge capital. The only valley in Montana where al

TIS THE LEADING FOOD IN 35 cents up. WOOLRICH ALL COUNTRIES. & CO., Palmer, Mass.

WM. FITCH & CO., PENSION ATTORNEYS

PENSIONS PATENTS How to get a PENSION QUICK. Send for Diges of Pension and Bounty Laws. HOW TO GET A PATENT SEND FOR INVENTOR'S GUIDE. PATRICE OFFARRELL, Attorney-at Law, WASHINGTON, D. C.

PENSIONS of The DELAY, the hands of Joseph H. HUNTER, ATTORNEY, WASHINGTON, B. C.

RUSSELL YEARDOOK SOLDIERS and Heirs write us for & CO.'s YEARDOOK SOLDIERS and Heirs write us for & CO.'s Later Justices of the Co. A Co. Solvers of the Co. Solve

ENGINES AUTOMATIC. PORTABLE
WESTON ENGINE CO.,
Paluted Post. Free $5 PER DAY Selling Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom, Sleave, Towel, Spool and Pillow Sham Helder. Sieeve, Towel, Spool and Pillow Sham Holders, erms free. FERGUSON BROS., CHESTER, CONN.

A. N. K.—C. 1293. to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15
FREE. Lines not ender horses' feet. Write BREWSTERS FETT REIN HOLDER CO., Holly, Mich. or NAME THIS PAPER refor the 3 pour write.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sloux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the bost facilities was a standard and control of the con

IBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, or of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and hes, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, mahs, with Free Reclining Chair Car to Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, mass City and Topeka. Splendid Dining sonable hours) west of Missouri River. In CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt reles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariorado.

en Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, Cars (FREE) to and from those points and and Sleeper between Peorla, Spirit Lake, The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Water-mmer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing

CA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to napolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. desired information, apply to any Ticket

JOHN SEBASTIAN.

The World's Sheep.

The growth of the sheep industry beyond the Missippi is one of the proper for the one is equally so for prodigious features of the great West the other. A clergyman should which will do everything on a grand always be careful and circumspect as scale. Mr. R. R. Bowker gives the to his associations and manner of life following interesting facts about the -so should the layman. A place sheep population of the world at unfit for a clergyman to be seen in h large and of the United States in par- equally unfit for a communicant of ticular:

sheep-possibly over 600.000,000- ness in a place where he would blush propucing about two billion pounds to see his pastor present.—The Rev. of wool. The world's crop of wool Dr Parkhurst. can only be guessed, but it is certain that the humble sheep contributes at least $300,000,000 annually, in woo!, being able to be happy even on bread to the wealth of mankind. Our own and water. - Seneca. wool crop, greatest in 1834, when it was estimated at 308.000,000 pounds, was in 1888 265,000,000 pounds, so called, without victory over our-Nearly half the wool we wear is of selves; and that which costs nothing foreign growth, the figures of 1887 is worth nothing. being a crop of 269,000,000 pounds, an import of 114,000,000 pounds, and the contents of 133,000,000 pounds woot in imported goods.

The varations in the number and geographical distribution of sheep in the United States are very notewor-thy. Previous to the war, 1840-1860. the census showed about 20,000,000 Rheumatism, &c. 25 ets. sheep, nearly all east of the Mississip- D spepsia and Habitual Constipation pi river; the sheep in New England, nearly 4,000,000 in 1840, were but half this in 1860, and the same was true in New York, but the new West more than made up the balance. The agricultural report for 1883 gave 50,-900,000 (probably an over estimate), of which but 21,000,000 were east of the Mississippi, over 9,000,000 of the balance being on the Pacific coast. The current report estimates for 1889 42,599,079 sheep, valued at $90,640,-369. The great majority of sheep raisers in this country, even in the raisers in this country, even in the wool state of Ohio, are the farmers of Garrett and adjoining countries. who keep from twenty-five to fifty. or even a hundred head, as a help to the farm. East of the Mississippi the number of flocks reaching a thousand or more is not large. The sheep is one of the small farmer's best servants. It not only produces wool and mutton, but it keeps his fields fertile with manure, cleans them of stubble and weeds, and by causing vegetation to grow on the hillside, caunteracts the waste of soil "by quartered on government lands, supplying an exclusive occupation to hundreds of ranchmen. The census of 1880 reported twenty-one sheep ranches in Texas, New Mexico and California, aggregating 3,000,000 therefore, California, aggregating 3,000,000 head, an average of 140,000 to the ranch. It is reckoned in California that two and one half to four acres are required per sheep, while on the small farms of the east ten sheep may be fed to the acre of pasturage. The California sheep, largely of French Merino stock, are of unusual size, known as "rustlers," because they must rustle about for their food. Many of them are from the flock of W. W. Hollister, who in 1852, re-W. W. Hollister, who in 1852, recognizing the adaptability of this new country for sheep growing, returned to Ohio and procured 6,000 of the best sheep he could find of which but a third reached the coast. But the increase was so rapid that in a few years he had over 150,000 and sold about $100,000 worth of wool a year. The long midsummer drought compels a spring migration up into the Sierra Nevada mountains, and one Sierra Nevada mountains, and one may be sure to see great flocks of from 4,000 to 8,000 head making their month's or six week's ascent to the heights. The great sheep runs be come a Botany bay for all sorts and conditions of men—"diggers." "greasers," and college graduates together. One flockmaster employed one year "a bishop's son, a banker, an editor, a civil engineer and a book-keeper," harvesting their "wild oats" while the sheep were cropping theirs, for it the sheep were cropping theirs, for it is on this plant that the sheep graze. Shearing is done twice a year, largely by Indians, who are said to be "more patient and gentle than Americans," though they shear only three sheep while the Americans shear five. the sheep were cropping theirs, for it sheep while the Americans shear five. These travel largely in clubs or companies, under command of a captain, who offer their services at five or six cents a fleece with board, or seven to the cents without. The great wheat sughs more merrily than over the farms and vineyards of California wherein is contained an account of gain by having sheep turned in to practical joke which was so sumglean and graze after the harvest, ly turned back upon himself.— leaving the fields enriched by their anus Cobb, Jr., in Yankee Blade.

ONE RULE FOR ALL.—I think there is something of meanness on the part of laymen who seem to believe that because they are laymen of its own accord. They also the part of laymen who seem to believe that because they are laymen of of its own accord. They also the part of laymen output of output of laymen output output output output of laymen output ou they can do things clergymen ought | do, you know, when you don't not to do. A woman of my congre. t they're loaded."-Philadelphia gation said to me the other day, after describing the performance at a theatre she had visited the night before:

| Axtel is. "What a wonderfully fast horse Axtel is." B.—"Bound to be fast look at the gang at the race track "Oh, I wish you could have seen it; obliged to associate with."—Texas but then I should have been sorry to aga. see you there." Christian character, Christian duty, and Christian bearing in social, political, and moral life is a single rule for all Christian people alike, whether clerical or lay. What is wrong, immoral, or imthe church, and an act which is im-It is roughly estimated that the moral in a clergyman is equally so in world contains at least half a billion a layman, A layman has no busi-

> It isn't the living on bread and water that is the happiness, but the

> There is in effect no virtue properly

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough Cure. It is a sure and speedy cure for Coughs Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness &c. 25 cts, a bottle.

For Sprains, Burns, Bruises. &c.

Speedily cured by a few doses of Appetite, the Great Stomach, Kidney and Liver Rem-edy. Price 50 ets.

Piles! Piles! Piles!

Roger's Specific Worm Syrup Is Pleasant, Safe and efficient. Price 25 ets. For Chapped Hands, Face, &c.,

Use Frangipane Curative Balm, a delightful toilet article for the Hands, Face, Roughness of Skin, Face and Sunburn, Tetter, Pimples Blotches aud Skin Diseases. Price 15 cts. All the above preparations are for sale at

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 610. AN ACT

majority of the voters of said county shall petermine said question in the affirmative, and to regulate the sale thereof by druggists and pharmacists.

which the farmer feeds the rivers from the heart of his pocketbook."

In the far West, on the contrary, the sheep are in huge flocks, often year eighteen hundred and ninety, he, she, they or it shall on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, or instead of such fine, imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days, or both in the discretion of the Court. SEC. 5. And be it enacted. That in addition of the respective amounts to be paid by any berson or persons, house, corporation, company or association for the lower bases.

Somebody has taken my revolver f my desk," said the religious ed-

How He Came to Throw Up H Position.

PAPER publish in a large Wester town was in nee of a young man It was not necess of a young mar

It was not necessary with at least two sureties to be approved by add clerk, in the penal sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned for the payment of all tines, penalties, cois sand damages to which the person or persons obtaining the said liccontrol to the penalties of the penalties of the person or persons obtaining the said licstand Clerk is heeeby prohibited from approving any bond under this section unless it shall appear to him by good evidence that the suretles in said bond are worth in real estate double the amount of the penalty of said sell such article or the Subbuth day and commonly called Sunday, and for the violation of this provision such person, natural or artificial, shall be subjected to the penalties provided for in section four of this Act.

Sec. 7. And he it enacted, That it shall be the duty of said clerk of the Circuit Court for court for license, as aforesaid in addition to any requirements of the General License Laws of this State, a written affidavit to be filled in his office in which said applicant shall state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the connection therewith, at or in which the sais to be authorized by said license, may be, or are proposed to be made, the rate of rent or annual value thereof, and the owner of ald house or place of business and premises; also that each of the pertitiones' signing the said clerk miles of the said proposed place of business of said applicant; and no petitiones' said Clerk for the peritiones' signing the said clerk more than one applicant of this Poshod Commissioners of said county, on the first day of January and July of each and every year, and the said Clerk shall be liable for all said sums on his official bond, and shall in addition to the iese now allowed the provisions of this section of the granttoning the provi

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That whoever, by SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That whoever, by the sale of intoxicating liquors contrary to the provisions of this Act, causes the intoxication of another person, shall be liable for and compelled to pay a reasonable compensation to any person who may take charge of, and provide for such intoxication person, and one dollar per day in addition thereto, in consequence of such intoxication; which sum may be recovered in a civil action before any Court or jusice of the peace having jurisdiction thereof, and said suit may be brought upon the bond of any person obtaining license under the provisions of this Act, and shall be liable for the sum 'recovered in said suit, in case the sale is mide by a person who has obtained license under the provisions of this Act.

Act.

SEC, 10. And be it enacted that every husband, wife, child, parent, gnardian or other person injured in person or property, or means of support, by any intoxicated person, or in consequence of the intoxication, habitual or otherwise, of any person, shall after the giving and during the existence of the notice provided for in the next section, have a right of action in his or her own name, severally or jointly, against any person or persons or body corporate, who by selitions or giving intoylegating innover have constituted. such person, and the owner of any building or premises, and the person renting or leasing the same, having knowledge that intoxicating liquors are to be sold therein, or who having leased the same for other purposes, knowingly permits intoxicating liquors to be sold therein, that have caused the intoxication in whole or in part of such person, shall be liable severally or jointly, with the person or persons or body corporate selling or giving intoxicating liquors as aforesaid, for all damages sustained, as well as exemplary damages.

and so colliterat d as not to be legible upon the demand of the person by whom such no-tice was filed, and thereafter such notice shall cease and end, and said justice of the peac shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of ten cents for the filing and entry of every such notice.

SEC. 12. And be it enacted, That such notice whether served personally or filed with the justice of the peace as aforesaid shall, during its existence, incre to the benefit of all persons interested, the same a-if a notice during its existence. Intre to the bench of all persons interested, the same as if a notice had been served by each; and if any justice of the peace fail or refuse to make such rec-ord as herein provided, he shall, upon con-viction thereof, be fined not more than ten nor less than five dollars.

SEC, 13. And be it enacted, That a married woman shall have the same right to bring suit and control the same, and the amount recovered as a femme sole; and all damages recovered by a minor under this Act shall be paid either to such minor or to his or her parent, guardian or uext friend, as the Court shall direct.

SEC. 14. And be it enacted, That any sale Sign. 11. And be it enacted, That any saloon keeper, grocer or other person who published the fact of any notice having been given, as provided in the foregoing sections, by posting such notice in any saloon, grocery, or other place, or by printing or causing the same to be printed in any newspaper, circular or in any other way gives publicity to the fact that such notice has been given, shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars for each offense.

more than fifty dollars for each offense, Sec. 15. And be it cuacted, That for all lines costs and damages assessed against any person in consequense of the sale of interior strength of the provided for in the forgoing sections, suit may be brought upon the bend filed by said person, according to the provisions of section six, if said person has applied for and received license under the provisions of said section; but if he or she has not filed such bond, then the real estate and personal property of such person, of every gind without exception or exemption, shall be liable to execution on any Judyment receivered, and said judgment shall be a lien upon such real estate until it is paid.

Sec. 16. And be it enacted, That from and spate until it is paid.

Sec. 16. And be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this Act it shall be the duty of the grand jury in and for Garrett compared to the grand jury in and for Garrett in the second of the seco penalties imposed for violation of any of the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 17. And be it enacted. That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the compounding or sale of any such liquors for medicinal purposes by a pharmacist and druggist, who shall or may obtain a license under the license law of this State, and upon a written bona fide prescription of a regulur practicing physician, whose name shall be signed thereto, and all such prescriptions hall be signed thereto, and all such prescriptions hall be for more than one purchase; but no physician shall make or sign any such prescription unless the person; for whom it is made is actually sick and such liquor is deemed by such physician necessary as a medicine; any physician necessary as a medicine; any physician necessary as a medicine; any physician necessary as a foresaid, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this Act, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than finy dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense; and if the buyer shall obtain a prescription by-misrepresentation he shall likewise be deemed guilty of a violation of this Act and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to the same fine as the physician who shall violate the same; the one half of sald fine to be paid to the informer and the residue to the Board of School Commissioners of said county, for the uenefit of the public

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

chools thereof, and said violaters shall be committed to the County Jail of said County ntil such fine and costs are paid. until such fine and costs are paid.

SEC. 18. And be it enacted. That all proseentions for vio ations of this Act may be either upon presentment, indictment or by triabfefore a justice of the peace, who shall have larisdiction original and concurrent with the girenit Court for said County, and the said ustice shall have power to issue all process and to do all acts which may be necessary to the exercise of his said jurisdiction, and may eve and actermine all cases whereof he may

SEC. 22. And be it enacted, That all Acts or parts of Acts inconsistent with this Act are hereby repealed.

Approved April 8th, 1899.

CHAPTER 329.

To provide for recording mortgages in Gar To provide for recording mortgages in Garrett County in aseperate book, and authorize the Clerk of the Circuit Court to purchase an index book, and to index all mortgages in said County in a diseparate index book, and to require the County Commissioners to pay for said index and indexing.

Section I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett county be and he is hereby authorized and required to purchase an index book such as are now used in his office, to be kept for the sole purpose of indexing mortgages in said office.

Sec. 2. And be it enacted. That the Clera ing mortgages in said once.

SEC, 2. And be it enasted, That the Clera of the Circuit Court for Garrett County be and he is hereby required to index all mortgages and bills of sale in said county in said index. book, and to use said index for the purpose of lexing mortgages and bills of sale only. SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the County Commissioners of Garrett County shall pay for the index and indexing hereinbefore pro-yided for in the same manner that other County charges are paid for in said County. SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That this achali take effect from the date of its passage Approved April 3, 1890,

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 285. AN ACT

To authorize and empower the Sheriff of Garrett County, to employ a warden for the County Juli of said County;

SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Sheriff of Garrett County be, and he is hereby authorized and empowered to emyloy some suitable person as warden to the County Jail of Garrett County, whenever a prisoner or prisoners ett County, whenever a prisoner or prisoners by be couldned in said fail, and the services of such warden are, in the judgment of said sheriff and the State's Attorney for said county, necessary for the safe keeping of SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That the com-pensation of such warden shall not exceed the sum of one dollar per day for the time so employed, and shall be levied by the County ners at their annual levy for taxe or sald County.

Approved April 8, 1890 FAVORITE SINGER

OUR FAVORITE SINCER Prop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

FOR SALE!

Small Farm Near Deer Park.

f desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park.

For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS.

Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and testing many other popular varieties. I flut that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as represented. Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices and terms.

We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season. Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express, Address A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE.

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the beer Park road quite near them. They adjoint the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Raiph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four countries. o the satisfaction of the owner. For further information apply to

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland ontaining 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard f 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-stor;

FRAME HOUSE. containing five tooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plustered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is heavily I med and an abun-dance of limestone is on the place. Two and one-built tons of hay to the acre produced this year For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner,

MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three courses outlined—Arademic, Scientific or Commer-cail. Special attention to collegiate require-ments. Number of Pupis strictly Limited. Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN,

Principal. J. F. LEWIS, -MANUFACTURER OF-

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a "HINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the 524 3t Approved April 8th, 1890. J. F. LEWIS.

33'881y Cranesville, W. Va DR. E. H. BARTLETT

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakhand and vicinity. ### Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church 17 296 Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 179.

AN ACT

o repeal section one nundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Pub-lie Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurors." County," sub-title "Jurors," Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That section one hundred and twenty-seven of Article twelve of the Code of Public Local Laws of Maryland, title, "Garrett County," sub-title "Jurors," be and the same is hereby repealed. SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That this act shall take effect from the date of its passage.

5 24 3t Approved March 22, 1890, ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Blemish Cure ever known. ITCH. MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human

HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist,
Oakland, Md.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY,
Rochester, N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD CLOUGH & WARREN

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

ORGANS.

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY

GUARANTEED! Having decided to make a specialty of self-Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle bonst, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask. ask.
I can also furnish ail kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reas-onable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line.

€ Place of business - Railroad street, next o B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md. J. M. LITZINGER,

Oakland, Md. B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890: GOING EAST

72-Accommodation GOING WEST. 71—Accommod 47—Express.....

The fast trains, with the exception of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be pro cared before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25

WM. M. CLEMENTS.

C. K. LORD. General Passenger Agent.

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN MEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS

AND BUILDES OAKLAND, · MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

Public Local Law.

To add an additional section to Article welve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland title "Garrett County" sub-filie "County Commissioners," authorizing the County Commissioners to levy money to the Mayor and Counsil of Oakland, said section to follow section forty-one and to be numbered fortyone and a-liaif.

SECTION 1. Park. CHAPTER 303.

one and a-haif.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the general Assembly of Maryland. That an additional section be added to Article twelve of the Public Local Laws of Maryland, title "Garret County," sub-title "County Commiss.oners," to follow section forty-one, to be numbered forty-one and a-haif and to read as follows: ty-one and a man and to read a solvent of 4114. They shall have power to levy annuously to the Mayor and Council of Oakland such sum as in their judgment may be proper to aid the Mayor and Council in keeping the public roads and streets in said town in re-

VALUABLE FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young orch; rd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md

LOCAL OR TRAVELING,

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1890.

NUMBER 17.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD. ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia.

Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW

AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing avestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. ieli-ly J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW

ATTORNEY AT LAW
AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

37 Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Tains, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission. mission.

Office, Nydegger building, Main St., above 6 5 '86 tf. drug store. EWD. H. SINCELL

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia.

V. W. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND WEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, M.D. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Of Office in the Court House.

A, B. GONDÉR, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND JUSTICE OF THE PEACÉ. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, M.L., and offers his services to those wishing bental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Erk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

ar Residence a Commercial House, . I. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

ARLAND MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING.

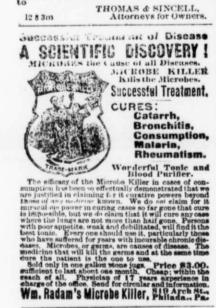

in processor I services to the people ed with streets, to DR. S. POWNSHEND. RESIDENT DENTIST.

OAKLAND, ML Office and residence on Oak screet, betwee First and Second 'articular attention paid to cleaning and the distribution the control tooth. All work varranted to give satismetion.

Dr. I. D. Wewman OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. Office and residence on Milistreet, opposithe Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to. 3 5 y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outsuildings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young rchard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply

COTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting flown any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 281, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees so cut lown. THEOS. B. HORWITZ am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-ing Tamers' work a specialty. Prices as

BLACKSMITHING.

DAVID LITTLE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES!

We have opened NEW

STOCK YARDS AT

BARRITT STATION Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-Mules for Logging

-and-TRAM ROADS constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station,

On W. Va. Cen. R. R., 4 19 6m between Gorman and Bayard.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters ing Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-Er Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work.

E. F. STANSBERRY.

Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD.

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a larm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghiogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings, Also a good orchard, and a young orchard Just coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Cail on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXANDER

office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

Lumber brokers

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logding and River Driving tools; Betting, Oils, Cordage, Laib Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of M*! Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagons, Buggles, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM. A PRACTICAL AND

FROM BALTIMORE, Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where h will be pleased to re-eive the patronage of the public, 3 15:90

Mt. Hope Nurseries, Rochester, N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AGAINITATION TRY IT.
WOLFF & BANDOLPH, Philadephia.

Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, prevent-ing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this prep-aration has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-furnished toilet.

furnished toilet. "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing."—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.
"Some time ago my wife's hair began to "Some time ago my wife's hair began to # come out quite freely. Ayer's Hair Vigor not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to the statement before a justice of the peace." H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa. "Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my pluy-sicians ordered, but falled to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists, and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than used eight bottles in two years; more than used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."

—Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind.

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists and Perfumers

FARM FOR SALE!

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables boastful. Listen while I unfold my and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bearing. ing.
For particulars and terms, apply to or M-RICHARD CUSTER,

FIRE INSURANCE.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me. I am now per pared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reasonable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property. Insure your property in good companies those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

"He is not half so agreeable as out faking further notice of my persuance." State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. F. A. THAYER.

Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all busoffice. We have no sub-agencies, all bus-iness direct, hence can transact patent busi-ness in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with de-scription. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE. First - Class Tailor, To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest workers. ELLWANGER & BARRY, LOOKING FORWARD.

had never read Bellamy's my mind. this story would never have written. As it is, I have a tale fold, Right here I will say no of getting married ?" er how many "Looking Back-"," or books of like ilk that I read in the future, I never, no r, will be influenced in a like er. Fred says that he will take care that I am not swayed that ho is Fred? Well, 1 will tell later on. Just now I want to after reading Mr. Bellamy's

Sinclair's beau, Havelock ruson, had read the book before pompously. "This one is good ways feel more interested when reading of wars or adventures that call Miss Gray, addressing me, "that I am a descendent of some of the Scottist chiefs." "Lovestories are for girls and women," te continued, even more pompously, "True, this book of Bellamy's deals with certain great reforms which the writer thinks will surely be effected before the close of the twentieth century. Now, if hibook had been of a little more stir fighting or runors of war. You know that I come of a fighting ancestry."

I here remarked that the Scottish chiefs as ancestry were not much to boast of, as their principal occupation by and why should that make any seemed to be that of appropriating difference!" other people's possessions. Ada hereupon looked at me very reproachfully, and, as a matter, of course, I desisted from further argument.

if she did not cherish a profound respect for his ancestors he hoped that "Consider how proclivities, he thought injustice had drunk." been done these dead and gone freebooters by the historian.

Well, Ada and I read Bellamy's book, and pronounced it splendid. Especially that part where the author thous that young ladies will be accorled more freedom in the choice ofhusband. Ada was disconsolate. She could not propose to Havelock for he had anticipated her in the matter.

"Break the engagement," I suggested. "Afterward confess how sorry you are, but don't give time for a second proposal." "That will never do," said Ada,

"you know the blood that flows through his yeins." "Oh, bother the blood," said I, goose as you. To think," I continued, "of the rights that will be yours if we can only live long enough However, I shall be tuning my harp time by the forelock." "Nell Gray, you are just horridly boastful. I don't believe you have one whit more courage than I have." tion, which do you consider the most that much," eligible? As friends, I esteem them very highly, but can not really decide which I like best."

"Propose to Fred by all means," suggested Ada. "He is handsome, band and be stingy besides." "Oh, you think so, do you ?" said will let you know what decision I have arrived at." Before Joe Adair called upon me me in his strong arms. that memorable evening I had made "No, Fred, I am not fit," I replied up my mind that I liked him the meekly, "but I am an awful fool," fear that made my heart bound so

For a while we talked upon indif- Fred," wildly."

ferent subjects, then I felt constrained "Never mind that, Nettie; Tell to broach the subject uppermost in me, will you be my wife?"

"Mr. Adair," said I; in a tremu-

Mr. Adair seemed a trifle surprised at my interrogation, but answered frankly that he had considered the evening he did not seem to think L question and had concluded to get had committed such an awful blunmarried as soon as he could find a der. nice little woman that would have

"Dear Joe," I exclaimed, at the same time sinking upon my knees better be married soon; about the dreadful experience I before him in truly masculine style; "I am so glad that you are willing ; I love you devotedly. My life would be a barren waste without you! Will coming events." you, my darling, consent to make ad ever heard of it, and he ad- me happy, and name the day when me to follow suit. "I have better books," said Havelock. bant ?"

"I have long known," I continued through, but that I was a very perenough in its way, however. I al. "that you regarded me assomething verse creature. Fred is satisfied-so more than a friend, and although I am I .- Inter-Ocean. may have taken you by surprise I forth great daring. You are aware, hope you will not be afraid to give vour answer now." "What do you mean, Miss Gray?"

said Joe, in a surprised and dignified "Surfly you understand. I am ofering you my toye; I also promise to try and make you happy by a life of devotion, if you will promise to be mine." "Consent to be yours. Are you eray, Mi-9 Gray ? Do you think that ring nature, for instance, a little I would consent to marry a woman who so far forgëts herself as to usurp the privileges of a gentleman and a lover---" "Joe." I pleaded: "I love you defir-

"The woman I marry must be a womanly woman, with so much selfrespect and consciousness of her own preacher is a true man-true to himworth and dignity that will ever deter Havelock afterward told Ada that her from making any foolish breaks true to his people, true to his Godor mistakes,"

"Miss Gray, the subject is becomposal with thanks. If you threaten evening."

"Joe, Joe, come back !" I shrieked. "Do not leave me thus." For answer I received a mocking smile and a courtly bow, then the Napoleon's army while retreating door opened and closed and Joe was gone. Did I feel sorry over the loss of my all safe," said the mother, "God will lover? Well, rather. Against Mr. not forsake us, He will build up a Bellamy my anger knew no bounds. sure wall of defence." The more I thought over the matter the higher rose my wrath. Womanirreverently. "I wouldn't be such a like, I took refuge in tears, and cried asked the boy. until my head ached so badly that I could not sleep or rest throughout the houses or dismantled them. The old entire night.

When Ada came over in the mornby that time, and I just mean to take ing to hear a report of my success as a wooer, I refused point blank to tell her the state of affairs.

"How dreadfully cross you are. Nellie," said Ada, sweetly. "When "Don't be silly, Ada; I'm not Havelock proposed to me I was all tears and smiles. I told you that Joe plan. To-night Joe Adair is to call Adair was a bear. Fred, I am sure, the evening before: Through the at our house; to-morrow night Fred would make a far nicer husband. will be there. Now, in your estima- Did he accept you, Nell? Tell me

"I shan't tell you anvthing, Ada ginclair," replied I, in a very ungracious manner.

"Well, good-by, then, Nell; we won't quarrel, will we, dear? said agreeable, and wealthy. I have heard Ada; still smiling sweetly. "I am

Fred," asserted Ada: "I believe he turbed state, she departed, singing prayer was not answered until he would made a perfect hear of a hus softly as she went down stairs an old prayed with his feet. Many Chris-Scotch song.

When Fred McArthur called my en, for church enterprises, for the I, somewhat loftily. "I must be go- head was still aching and my eyes spread of learning, for prohibition; ing now come over to-morrow and I were heavy with tears yet unshed. for God's kingdom to come-but "Nellie, my darling are you fit !" cried Fred, at the same time taking until they pray with their pockets best, and that he would make a good "A fool, and why such a name for husband for any girl. When the my little girl. I don't think so at state of being is required, but in orlingle of the door-bell announced his any fate," continued Fred. "I think der to see into mankind, into life, afrival my heart gave one great you are an awful nice little woman. and still more, into ourselves, sufferbound. I attributed this action on I have been thinking about you all fng is required. the part of that member of my inter- day and have arrived at no other hal organism to excessive affection, conclusion. Oh! I say, Nellie, can't I have since concluded that it was you guess what I came to night for." us, but they are always good to us: "Guess what, Fred."

"Don't you know, Nellie, that I My greeting was rather warm; in love you dearly and that I want you to be my wife."

Calumniators are the asps of socilloked surprised.

Calumniators are the asps of socilloked surprised.

Calumniators are the asps of socilloked surprised.

"Yes, if you want me very bad. I must tell you; however, how next lous voice, "have you ever thought you came to losing me and what a silly goose you will have for a wife." After I told Fred my inferable experience and rejection of the previous

> "It was a pretty narrow escape; Nellie, and for fear you will read any more fool books I think we had

> "The present century is good enough for me." continued Fred; "and I don't believe in anticipating

> Ada and Havelock are to support Fred and I through the ordeal; Add confidentially informed Fred that she had advocated his cause all Speak Unto Us Smooth Things.

This was the request made to the prophet Isalah by those who are described by God as "a rebellious people, lying children; children that will not hear the law of the Lord," We fear there are many in our day who desire the pulpit to speak in it similar strain to the pew; And there are not wanting indications that the pulpit is more or less disposed to accede in some measure to the request. There seems to be a cruze for plaining tools in the theological and preaching world. The surface must be made easy for progress; eyen though there is beneath a slumbering volcano; yet there must be no liint of the volcano, lest the reelings should be ruffled and the false peace should be disturbed. But if the self, true to his sacred obligations; he will cry aloud and spare not; showing to the people their trans she would not hurt his feelings by Joe, I shall go mad if you refuse me. gressions and their sins, and warntelling him so. As to their stealing I will do even worse, I will get ing them "to flee from the wrath to come," even though his people at the close of the service may be in a state ing painful. I hope you will not of mind similar to that of the hearers press it further. I decline your pro- of Jesus when He closed His first sermon at Nazareth; Of those hearto get drunk before marriage you ers it is recorded, "And all they id might do worse after the knot was the synagogue, when they heard tied. Allow me to bid you good these things, were filled with wrath." -Treasury.

A little invalid boy lay in a village that was on the line of march of from Moscow. Everyone who had the strength to fly, fled, "We are

"But what can help us? Who can defend us from the wild soldiers?"

Some of the villagers burned their were placed in wagons and the young hurried their families away with them.

The morning came of the day that was to bring the dreaded enemy. The mother and children opened their eyes to find that a "sure wall" had indeed been built for their defence. The snow had begun falling night it had collected rapidly. A high wind had blown the snow in drifts against the low house; so that it had entirely covered it.

Every house was ransacked; all the wealthier ones deprived of their luxuries, and the poorer ones robbed of their necessities. But the lowroofed cottage lay sheltered beneath its wall of snow, which in the night God built around ft,

Fred Douglass used to say that he often prayed for freedom, but his tians pray for the poor, for the heaththeir prayers will not be answered books.

To love all mankind, from the greatest to the lowest, a cheerful

Dark seasons are never pleasant to A cloudless sky could never produce a rich and abundant harvest.

troon which they feet:

The Republican. JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THE MAIDEN AND THE BIRD.

A bird sat singing a carol clear On the bough of a budding tree:
Oh! life is rare, and the world is fair,

And sweet is my life to me!
Oh: life is sweet, and the world complete,
And dear is my love to me!
And an angel near smiled down to hease
That song so glad and free.

A maiden fair came singing there
As she passed 'neath the blossoming tree
*Oh! the world is fair beyond compare, And sweet is my life to me!

And sweet is my life to me:
Oh: love is sweet and the world complete,
And dear is my love to me:"
But the angel smiled not, though well he heard
The witching melody.
For the maiden was decked with the selfme bird

That had sung on the blossoming tree!
To please her pride, the bird had died,
And hushed was its eestasy! And she never heard a low, sad note

From a lone bird on a tree:
Oh! life was sweet—with love to greet— And dear as thy love to thee

Was the mate by my side, whom, to pleas thy pride

Thy love hath torn from me!"

—Agnes M. Machar, in Santa Claus.

A NIGHT ADVENTURE.

How I Won a Wife and a Position in Life.

change money between it and the Bank of Mutual Redempthey did business in the city. It was not a very interesting employment, and one which gave me but a small salary, but just then times were dull and work scarce, so I was glad to get any thing to do, especially as I had an aged mother depending upon me for support. One dark, drizzly November nightand nearly all November nights are dark-the stage for Raybury broke down hopelessly, fifteen miles from its destipened in just the worst part of the road, where it was next to impossible rude log-house, dignified by the name of Mr. Griggs, the landlord of the tavhis opinion that the passengers had betmined to go on, there was no alternative but to get out an old express wagon, which was stacked away in a remote shed, and dispatch them on their way. The stage horses were made available, and the passengers piled in with selfish reach the wagon, it had rumbled off and left me, with a half-dozen more, behind. It was absolutely necessary that I should be in Raybury that night, else I should cause serious inconvenience at had about me, and it seemed very posthe bank the next morning. And as I had been so often congratulated on my promptitude in my business, I felt very loth to be behindhand now. I spoke to Mr. Griggs about it, and asked if it were not possible for him to let me have a horse for Raybury. I would pay him liberally and return the animal in good condition the next day. But he only shook his head. He had only one horse in his stable, he said, and Mrs. Griggs was subject to dreadful spells of the colic, and might be taken at any hour. and he made it a rule of his life never to let Digby go out of the stable for fear Mrs. Griggs might be seized and die before the doctor could be brought. Under the circumstances, of course I could not urge my request for the use me to get to Raybury until the eleven o'clock stage next day, unless I footed it, and that I should not for a moment have hesitated to do, had it not been for the fact that the road to Raybury was the vilest in the country. I always felt like swearing when I rode over it, and doubtless I should have yielded entirely to the sin of profanity if I had attempted to walk it. "Go to my house and stay to-night,

WAY TO GO ON TO RAY BURY?"

Mr. Marsh," said the landlord. "I can give you some venison pie and a pot of down before the kitchen fire." "Pray, sir," said a sweet voice at to Raybury? "Not to-night, my dear," said Griggs, softening, as the light of his lantern such accommodations as my house of-

and have been summoned thither by can not delay here, for the dispatch said my father was dying."

was too dark to see whether they least. dimmed her eyes.
"It's too bad!" said Griggs; "but I couldn't let Digby go on any account; because, you see, if Mrs. Griggs should be took, she'd die afore we could git Dr. Lumston here on foot. You see, she has these spells she's awful! Hello!

"Well, you'll get your house filled tonight, if you're the landlord of the place back yonder," said the stranger. 'Any gentleman here that would like to go on to Raybury? We would take one down." I stepped quickly forward, and said I should be greatly indebted if they would give me a seat. And then I introduced myself-Henry Marsh. "And here's a young woman as is going, too," said the landlord; "her pa's sick, and she must git there, and I wouldn't think of having Digby out on account of Mrs. Griggs' uncertain health. Miss-Miss-what's your name, my dear?" "Axtell," said the girl, "Madeline Axtell. My father is Howard Axtell, of the Raybury bank."

The president of the bank for which I worked. I knew Judge Axtell very well, and was able to tell Miss Made line that his illness was not considered dangerous. But still she insisted upon going on, and at last, after some con siderable conversation between the two strangers, inaudible to us, they consent ed to take us both. I assisted Miss Axtell into the carriage and took with her the back seat, our companions occupying the front. Only one lamp of the carriage was burning, and that gave a very dim light, and the farther we went the deeper seemed to grow the darkness. It was a lonely road at any time to Raybury. but now it was particularly gloomy, and nation. Of course, the accident hap I was confident that Miss Axtell showed to some degree the vague forebodings which I could not prevent myself from to get a carriage of any kind, and where experiencing, for she drew closer to me, the only place of entertainment was a and once she asked me how long it would be before we reached Monvillethe next village.

We came at last to Hemlock reach-a ern, was soon on the spot, and gave it as long stretch of timber which intersected the country at that point, and was some ter go to his house for the night, but as three miles wide. There was not a house for the whole three miles, and both sides of the road were wooded almost to the wheel rut.

As the horse plunged into the blackness of the place and panted and strugwas confident that the two men spoke haste; and long before I could get my valise out of the ruins of the stage and together in subdued whispers, and that I distinctly caught "D- the girl!" and "Fifty-five hundred." I grew cold with dismay, Fifty-flye hundred dollars was just the amount I sible that these fellows had got information to that effect, and that I was to be robbed-perhaps murdered. If I had been alone I should have felt no fear, for I am naturally what is called a daredevil sort of a fellow, and I had confidence in my courage and strength, as well as in the pair of trusty revolvers I carriel in my breast-pocket. But Miss Axtell? What would bethey were what I took them to be-then God help her!

We had traveled about half the distance through the woods when the horses were stopped abruptly, and one of the men rose up in his seat and faced Miss Axtell grasped my arm, and I knew that she was terrified by the quick way in which her breath came, but she did not cry out, as most women would have done. "There is no need of mincing matters," said the man, with admirable coolness, "and I will come to the point at once. You have $5,500 in your possession, and my friend here and myself are in want of it. We planned the accident to the stage by sawing the axle half in two, and we happened along expressly to take you down to Raybury. The lady we did not reckon upon, but could not well be ungallant enough to refuse so much beauty in distress. And now the question is, will you or will you not give us this money?"

"Most decidedly I will not!" was the "Then we must use force," said the be left at the next village, safe and unmolested. cent of it, unless it is taken from my dead body!" As I spoke, the man flung off his coat as thought I leaped out of the carriage, the struggle.

"Don't use the pistols," said the vil-Griggs'elbow, "is there no way to goon lain who was taking care of the horses; "they would be heard too far; knife him if you have got to stop his wind!" My antagonist was a powerfully-built shone over the pretty face of a young fellow and exceedingly strong, but I girl whom I had scarcely seen before, was lithe and athletic, and we were she having been an inside passenger. very nearly matched. Over and over gaining an advantage, sometimes the other man to the spot.

They beat me and crushed me with the illness of my father. Indeed, sir, I their weight, but they never once such ceeded in pinioning my hands, and I flatter myself that I gave them some There were tears in her voice, but it blows that they felt sensibly, to say the times now lives than General F. E.

But after a time I felt my strength giving way, and I knew that I could not hold out much longer. How Miss Axtell guessed it I do not know, but just as the larger man of the two had planted his knee on my breast and was raising a kuife to strike it to my heart with General Spinner's. She has these spells she's awful! Hello! Who's coming now!"

A close carriage drawn by two dark horses had come up and halted by the horses had come up and halted by the line to strike it to my hear. I saw by the dim light shed by the carriage lamp that the young lady had got down from the vebicle and was hurry-on the farm in the summer and taught line to strike it to my hear. I want to my hear. I want to my hear with General Spinners. "And now 'the master;' he was, as a riage lamp that the young lady had got down from the vebicle and was hurry-on the farm in the summer and taught he was too much occupied to notice her presence. And now the brave girl was pens from quills out of the wings of tugging away at the scarf with all her might, and the man was choking and swearing at a tremendous rate.

to the ground. Breaking loose from the other man, I was tving Miss Axtell's hards. She was between me and him, and I called out

THE BRAVE GIRL WAS TUGGING WITH ALL HER MIGHT.

"Miss Axtell, drop your head and do not move until I tell you to."

She obeyed, and simultaneously I fired one of my pistols at the exposed breast of the man. He dropped instantly, and before I could turn to his companion I felt his grasp again upon my throat and the cold touch of steel upon my forehead. It was no time to indulge in questions of right and wrong if I would save my life and hers, and without pausing to argue the morality of tents of the other barrel of my revolver. of which the pupils had no me It settled his business for him so ef- tion of than Nicodemus had of the fectually that he caused us no more second birth. trouble; and, having ascertained that both men were dead, I lifted Miss Axtell into the carriage and drove as fast as I could to the next village where I gled through the mud under foot I roused the proper authorities and placed them in possession of the facts. Then I took Miss Axtell home and was gratified to find that her father was out d all danger and in a fair way of a specity convalescence.

The two robbers were recognized as old offenders; they had each been at one time in the State prison and were well known as very desperate characters Considering every thing, my escape was early next morning, Ernest Kontz was nost providential.

Perhaps the reader will be interested able night I fell desperately in love home, now." with Miss Axtell, and so successfully did we both plead with her father that rich old nabob as he was, he consented to our marriage, and now I am cashier come of her? If they conquered me she of the Raybury bank and Madeline is would be wholly in their power, and if my wife, God bless her!-N. Y. Weekly.

THE KAFIR IN NATAL He Is Treated With the Same Justice s

the European Settler. Here there is none of that evil talk so common in our Eastern possessions, of the "damned nigger." a sign of cuffing or bullying; the natives are on the whole treated with the same justice and impartiality as the Europeans-a righteous principle, which excites certain unrighteous Dutch Boers to fury. There are few more pleasing sights than the crowd of Englishmen and Kafirs assembled in the public park and listening with a common pleasure to the military band. The natives, unlike most savages, seem perfectly entranced with civilized music, and their expression when "God Save the Queen" is played is that of admiring awe.

These Kafirs are really stalwart, well-looking, fine fellows. They would even look dignified but for their extraordinary costume, which, to a newcomer, excites unbounded amusement They represent a museum of almost man, and I warn you now that I will every uniform in the British army-murder you before I will allow you to gunners, sappers, riflemen, linesmen escape with the money! Give it up and dragoons; but three or four of them peaceably, and I pledge you my honor are required to illustrate a complete that both yourself and the lady shall turnout. Here is a big, black fellow, whose entire costume consists of a lancer's tunic, buttoned tightly across "I will never give up a cent of the his otherwise naked body, and leaving noney," said I, feeling my indignation visible a pair of splendid legs of a rise at the scoundrel's coolness; "not a shining mahogany color, which, in a dining-room table, would be quite beautiful. Another is coatless, but wears a pair of trews; another has on and seized me by the shoulder. Quick an artilleryman's trailing great-coat, and another has on nothing particular beer for your supper, and a nice shake- dragging him with me, and then began at all. These tunics (brightened and cleaned up) are sold in numerous slonshops at the current price of twenty. seven cents each, and very proud the wearers seem of their finery. Their wives-for their plurality is on the Mormon principle—would be, on the contrary, displeasingly ugly, with their repulsive busts, their coarse, oiled horse-hair locks, and their skewered "I guess you'll have to take up with we rolled in the mud, sometimes one ears and noses, were it not that this is almost redeemed by their dignity and fers. I shouldn't wonder if Sally-that's other, but ne'ther giving up the strug- by the grace of their walk. Driven in girl I've seen to-night, by jove. my darter, miss-will let you have half | gle. Once I had him by the throat, and | single file in front of their lords, they of her bed, seeing as you've been un- his gurgiing cry for help brought the bear heavy pitchers on their heads with an upright, classical gracefulness re-"I must go on," she said, earnestly
"I must go on," she said, earnestly
"I must go on," she said, earnestly
"I have been some months from home, odds, but I felt no disposition to yield. at the well.—Blackwood's Magazine,

OLD-FASHIONED SCHOOLS.

Seneral F. E. Spinner's School-Days in the Mohawk Valley

No more interesting character of our But after a time I felt my strength nearly ninety years old he preserves all side of the overturned coach. It was just light enough to show me that there were two men in the carriage, and that they wore caps with the visors well down and were muffled well about the throat; but it was a chilly, raw evening, and one needed to be muffled.

"What's the difficulty?" asked one of the men, in a hoarse voice.

"Stage upset," said the landlord; "axle-tree broke, and every thing went to thunder."

"It ried to shout to her to escape while she heard she did not heed. She came straight on and the men to heard a cry of rage and pain, and the man on my breast tumbled off violently and lar briefly and lar briefly and a two-bladed pocket-knife, the larger blade used for the cutting and trimming of rods and switches, and the smaller one, wherewith to make presence. And now the brave girl was school in the summer and taught school in the winter; not for the quantity of his brains, but for his superior muscular development.

"His equipment consisted of a stout pair of cow-hide boots wherewith to discipline the big boys, a lot of rods, a heavy ferule and a two-bladed pocket-knife, the larger blade used for the cutting and trimming of rods and switches, and the smaller one, wherewith to make presence. And now the brave girl was Suddenly he twitched the scarf fron "Teaching in those early days was her hands, and then, with a wild oath principally by induction, and it was inhe sprang upon her and both went down to the ground. law that governed the old-time common rushed to the spot and saw the villain schools in the Valley of the Mohawk. "Spare not the rod' was the edict at he home and in the school. 'Spare the and spoil the child' came from the rayst, the school-room and the nursery.

"Perhaps this is the reason why I did not spoil, and that I am now, at the age of eighty-eight years, so well preserved. The rod was never spared on me at home or in school, and now, with grown-up great-graidchildren, I can truthfully say I have never, in all my long life, struck a child a single blow.

"I was liked enough to last through the whole four generations of self and my posterity. I have found it safe through life to practice the reverse of what was taught me to do.

"Farm hands in those days received eight dollars amonth and board. When employed in the winter as teachers, they sometimes managed to get a little more, but they were obliged to 'board round' with the parents of their pupils. "The board usually consisted of johncablage, or pork and sauer kaaut, for dinger, and sepawn and milk for supgarret. "Webster's Spelling-book, Columbian Reader, English Reader, Dabuld's Arith- by special mechanism. metic and Lindley Murray's Grammar were the books mostly in use in those far-off days.

A PATHETIC SCENE. The Last Hours of Alexander Stephens, the

Georgia Statesman There was a pathetic and interesting little incident about the last hours of Alexander Stephens that has never been

Mr. Grady, in the Constitution's account, says that the last words of the great Georgian were "Nearly home." They were uttered in unconsciousness. Now, for several hours of the evening and night before Mr. Stephens died and most of the time alone with him in the room. Mr. Stephens frequently repeated to know that during that uncomfort the words. "Almost home," and "Nearly "We're nearly home."

"Alex, getready. We're almost home. "Where's Alex? We're nearly home, Now."

And from then until his voice was stilled eternally, that was its burden. Within the hour before his death, Dr. Steiner, of Augusta, and Mr. R. P. Zimmerman, of Atlanta, were together in the room with the dying statesman. All knew that the end was coming, and could no be far off.

Then Dr. Steiner retired. Mr. Zimmerman sat by the bedside, watching the pale face on the pillow and listening for a word. Finally a still change came, and he knew that death was at hand. He hastily summoned the friends gathered in an adjoining room, and they stood there with bowed heads or knelt at the bedside until the end

It was only three or four minutes, and the Vice-President of the Confederacy does not require much water, two or was dead.

The silence that followed was awful. Each man feared to look at the face of another, and each felt awed as in the presence of his Maker. Finally Mr. Zimmerman looked up am around him, and slowly repeated the beautiful verse of Montgomery's: "Forever with the Lord. Amen! So let it be. Life from the dead is in that word; "I'is immortality.

Here in the body pent,
Absent from Him I roam,
Yet nightly pitch my moving tent

A day's march nearer home The effect was indescribable. Many of those present were moved to tears, and the feeling of awe and restraint was gone. After this the conversation was natural. Mr. Zimmerman had not heard th words spoken in delirium the night before, nor had he caught the whispered last words, "nearly home." The thought came to him like an inspiration .- Atlanta Constitution. The Major Lost.

Major Bragg-I say, Leighton, there's Miss Sweet. I'll bet you a V you can't get her to dance with you, after the cut she just gave you. Leighton-I'll take you, Major. Leighton (five minutes later)-Ab,

Miss Sweet, can you tell me who that charming girl is over yonder. Prettios: Miss Sweet-Why, you are looking at my reflection in that bevel mirror. Leighton-Ah! h'm, may I have you for the next dance, Miss Sweet?-The

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-An Austrian sculptor has discovered process for molding marble fluid preisely as bronze is molded. -French scientists have analyzed a uart of water taken from a typhoid in eted district, and found 15,000,000 to 0,000,000 typhoid germs therein.

-Dr. Charles M. Cresson, of Philadelphia, states that he has more than once found the typhoid bacilli in the juice that he has squeezed out of celery grown near Philadelphia .-- Annals of Hygiene. -Last year there were received in New York 5.747,558 cans of milk. As each was a 40-gallon can, New York reeived more than 200,000,000 gallons of milk, in addition 4,460,000 gallons of cream and a large quantity of condensed

-The trade of electrician, one of the ery newest, begins to be crowded. In Philadelphia there are 200 graduates of a polytechnic institute on record as hav- tion of being reasonably sensible pering offered to work as electricians for 80 cents per day. -Those interested in astronomy will have an opportunity to observe a total eclipse of the sun, under favorable conditions, in the year 1900. It will occur in the early morning of May 27th and will be visible from Virginia to Louisi-

-Dr. Dixon, professor of hygiene at the University of Pennsylvania, has been making some experiments with air and dust obtained in street cars. He has found in them the germs of many diseases, contageous and otherwise. -Winds occurring in the vicinity of large rivers partake of the good qualities of sea breezes, but do not contain so auch ozone or saline matter. These breezes are said to be rarely higher than four hundred feet above the surface. -A new wooden pulley has been contrived, the center being of cast iron and the rim of wood, the device being in two parts. It is claimed that by its use better bell friction is obtained and a lying in power is realized, the spokes being formed in such a manner as to times in succession in one particular offer but very slight resistance to the motion; keys and set screws are entirely done away, and the grip upon the shafting is said to be perfect.

-In phonographs, graphophones and similar sound recorders use is usually made of cylinders, covered with tinfoil or wax, for receiving, as the cylinders nie-take for breakfast, corned beef and revolve, the impression made by the scribers. A new sound-recording apparatus operates on an entirely different per. The lodging a 'shake-down' in the principle. The cylinder is replaced by a flat surface, which is made to oscillate and move downward at regular intervals

-"The importance of placing compressed air as a motive power within the road, but at last without any appareasy reach of the small manufacturer "The routine of the school exercises has been recognized at Birmingham," They took it to the top again and rolled of that day was to commit to memory says a London exchange. "A local it and it stopped again at the same spot. the proceeding I gave this man the con- passages from the books, the meaning company obtained an act of Parliament This was done the third time and the to lay thoroughfares to convey compressed air | began. They made quite an excavation at forty-five pressure for the use of subscribers. The first installation has now been made and there are some four were at their rendezvous again and beand a quarter miles of main already laid, the whole being controlled from a central station, at which there is powerful machinery. No less than twentysix consumers are said to be taking the air and using it for working engines, japanning, etc.

TOBACCO RAISING.

Still a Great Industry in Cuba, But Con-

"Tobacco raising is yet one of the chief sources of wealth in Cuba," said Senor Don Nicholas Garrido, a rich land owner and planter of the great Spanish great a scale as it used to be, however. For a long time it was supposed that the celebrated Vuelta Abajo region, which is situated between the 22d and 23d degrees of latitude, was the only spot on earth where the very best grade of tobacco could grow, but lately there has been a strong competition from different parts of Spanish America, where just as good tobacco as ours can be gathered, if properly planted and cared for. The first condition that has to be fulfilled is that of proper climate. Tobacce thrives best in the temperate climes, for its period of vegetation lasts only three months, and requires an average tem perature of 75 degrees during the development of the plant. The Havana species, which is so appreciated through out the world, is so delicate that it per ishes whenever the temperature falls below sixty degrees, which, however, happens very rarely in Cuba. Tobacco three showers being quite sufficient for its growth in Cuba; but, then, dew in our climate is quite copious, and the moisture is received by the leaves and runs along them to the upper ring of roots. Be it on account of the soil or climate conditions, our tobacco is en-tirely different from that of North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky; but I see that much of the weed sold here under the name of Havana is far from being genuine, and in many instances the to bacco is grown in this country or South America."—N. Y. Star.

Lace Mantles for Summer. Stylish and very simple mantles for summer are shoulder capes made of a flounce of black lace attached to a jet yoke, with a flaring Medicis collar either of lace or of jet. The jet is any pretty open branching pattern set on strong black net in a pointed yoke shape; the lace flounce should fall to the elbows, and may be accordionplaited. More elaborate mantles of Maltese or of Chantilly lace have a color introduced as gold net, or a gold-wrought Figaro jacket, or else velvet of rather bright green, or the new aubergine or violet shades. All are made very high on the shoulders, and quite short in the back, but many have graceful long scarf fronts. A girdle of jet and some trimmings of jet rain fringe falling from the collar or over the shoulders or below the girdle are on some of the prettiest of these little capes. The black corded net like fine passementerie is effectively used as yokes and flaring collors.-Har per's Bazar. -The butterfly is a greedy creature;

no sooner does it come from grub than it goes for grub.-Texas Siftings.

A MIDNIGHT EXPEDITION.

How Treasure Hunters Found a Box and Then Lost It.

To the west of the village were two hills, which were known to us boys as the big hill and the little hill. The big hill was the furthest off, and it was the rendezvous of all the village boys in the winter time for coasting. We used to slide down that big hill on our sleighs and frighten horses and get thrown off into the ditch ourselves and have a good time generally. To the right hand side of the road as you come from the village, and a few hundred feet from the highway, about half-way down the hill, there was an excavation and a lot of earth thrown up as if somebody had started a mine on the side of the hill. It is the story of this excavation that I now have to tell, and the remarkable thing about the matter is, that the men who were engaged in it were leading citizens of the town and men who had the reputasons. As these gentlemen are still living and are model citizens, and as one of them has held a high official position in the county, I shall mention no names. One of the men had a singular dream, and the curious thing about the dream was that he dreamt it three nights in succession and each time dreamt exactly the same dream. He took two friends into his confidence, told them the dream, and they discussed the matter and agreed that there was something in it. Accordingly the three of them put up a certain sum of money and the dreamer came to Detroit to soothsaver. He related his dream, after paying his fee, and the dream was that there had been hidden on the big hill a remarkable treasure. The witch of Detroit told the dreamer that he was perfectly correct in his surmise that a great treasure was hidden on the side of that hill. She gave him a large rubber ball, which she said he was to roll down the hill, beginning at the road and moving about ten feet inland every time until this rubber ball stopped for three spot, and at that spot they were then to begin digging. They were to take no one with them except the original three who were in the secret, and they were to dig only between the hours of twelve o'clock at night and one o'clock in the morning. This gave them one straight hour of digging at midnight.

Another proviso was that from the nour of twelve to the hour of one not a word was to be spoken by either of the three. The dreamer came back to the village and at twelve o'clock the three of them took the rubber ball and started to locate the treasure. The ball rolled down the hill for quite a distance from ent cause, stopped half-way ball again stopped half-way down. A pipes throughout the public stake was driven there and the digging the first night, but nothing came of it. They second night at twelve the three gan their digging, and that night nothing happened. The affair seemed to run by threes, and each one felt that the third night was going to tell the tale.

At about half an hour after midnight, when the three were industriously digging, the principal man of the crowd drove his spade down and struck the top of a box. As he tore the lid open the three saw, by the light of their lanterns, glittering array of jewels and gold. The man who first struck the treasure cried: "My God, boys, we have got it." The three agreed afterward in stating that the moment that this exclamation colony, while in this city a couple of had been made the box disappeared, and days ago. "It is not carried on upon as there was a wild rattling of chains and a general smell of sulphur, with, I believe, a local accompaniment of thunder and lightning. Anyhow, the three were so frightened that they left their implements on the spot and rushed away to the village at the top of their speed. They dug again for some nights afterward in the hope of finding some trace of the treasure, but nothing ever came of it, and the last time I passed the spot, some years ago, the excavation was still there. - Detroit Free Press.

A TERRIBLE WEAPON. It Will Make War More Dangerous Than-

It Has Hitherto Been The new gun with which the German infantry is to be equipped bids fair to revolutionize infantry tactics and to make war so dangerous that enlistment will be a matter of difficulty. The new instrument is the small-caliber repeating gun of the model of 1888. Its caliber is but 8 millimetres and its range is. 12,500 feet, or 1,600 feet greater than that of the weapon whose place it takes. It is very light and is constructed for the use of the new smokeless powder.

Earth breastworks less than 21/4 feet are no protection against this terrible weapon. A description of it says:

"From now on even the stoutest trees will give the foot-soldier in battle but little protection, for the balls from the new guns will simply pass right through the trunks. Six men in a column, each seven paces from the man behind him. may be shot through with one bullet, provided that it comes in contact with no metallic substance on the persons of any of them. The advantage that the bullet of the new gun leaves only a small hole behind it is comparatively insignificant. Moreover, should an enemy, as has often happened, defend himself behind a village or courtyard walls, he will be protected only in case the wall is remarkably stout, for balls from the new guns have repeatedly penetrated with ease walls a brick and a half thick."

With a range-finder attached to such weapon as this, making every bullet that it fires effective, its murderous qualities will be so complete that no one exposed to its fire could live. But when wars get to be as dangerous as this, and recruits know that the chances. of escape are not more than one in 100, where will the governments get their troops?-St. Louis Republic.

-There are 110 different varieties of strawberries growing in the experimental gardens at the Kansas Agricultural

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

NATURE OF ALCOHOL

Even the Moderate Consumption of Intoxicants Is Decidedly Harmful.

The first question we are led to ask is, whether in the course of the variation from the natural standard of vital in which he is inclosed." actions which follow the action of alcohol to and through any degree, any good, useful or necessary thing has been done? The admitted answer to poets and musicians, have been given to accepted now by all authorities that the phenomena of alcoholism manifested in the freedom, not of the heavens, but of the maker of these incongruities. Pull-lasting periods of viller places than those which they left the primary and stimulating periods of its action are the only phenomena that behind. It followed that "they were can be productive of service. These are punished for the advantage they had

is certainly very bad practice. The like "apples of gold in pictures of sil-heart that wants to be called into more action requires invigoration by reasona-country could learn to know and to love ble exercise in which the other muscles | them. consumers of alcohol feel so acutely at first the withdrawal of alcohol. They feel as if they had lost blood, and numbers of spiritual refresh-It takes the place of exercise without performing the proper duty. It produces derangement just bordering on disease of the heart; it often lays the foundation of actual disease of that organ, and it leads to inactivity of other functions of the body and to general in- liquor on lots controlled or sold by the aptitude for the active duties of life un-til a stimulant has been taken. We action of alcohol as a good action.

induced by the primary action of alco- in the consumption of alcohol. Is that good? This warmth is al- Ar the close of a masterly Temper ways ephemeral, and is always fol- ance address in Calcutta, by Canon creased heat of a fire under the action eight hundred pledges were taken. of the bellows; it quickens the glow, but it does not sustain the steady burning of the fire. On the contrary, it pirate upon every citizen, a peril of life really causes the fire to burn out more and limb to every individual and a genquickly without adding a grain to the eral wholesale pauperizer of the comfuel. It is impossible, consequently, to attach any value to alcohol as a warmer. It is positively a cooler of the blood and tissues, and combined Movement:" "There is nothing of his with cold it expedites in the most de- own manufacture which has such power terminate manner, as my researches on over the body and soul of man as that upon the monkey portion and carefully the action of alcohol on pigeons showed, mysterious substance to which has been the fatal effects of extreme coid. The given the name-alcohol. Indeed, so introduced some hairs down upon the experiences of Arctic voyagers have subtle and canny are its methods of as- fish portion. Barnacles were fastened proved the same in man.

way by alcohol, this is considered not imaginations of men.' only as good but as a necessity. The best that can be truly said of it, however, is that it is an acquired good, an of delirium tremens at sixty years of because the greatest benefits which it confers are poor indeed when compared those who, being untouched by the habit of relying on wine, are accustomed to depend purely on natural have done, and asked for a dose of some agencies for their maintenance of vital labors. In a word, it may be accepted there was alcohol in the dose, and that with absolute certainty that whenever one drop aroused the old appetite, and a person habituated to alcohol feels he entered the first liquor store, and that he is unable to perform any work stayed there, until thoroughly under the which he wishes to perform unless he power, he entered his home a raving far under its influence for evil as to be from his presence, until he was taken in positive danger from it, and from its to the city hospital to die. The combusinterference with his natural vitality.

Summing up all the effects produced by alcohol during the primary and least spark ignited the conflagration. Rehurtful stage of its action, there is no member that a wall may be one hundred either good or necessary for the healthy by more natural and better means; that is to say, by the aid of natural food and claim to be .- B. W. Richardson, M. D., F. R. S., in N. Y. Voice.

THE TRUE ELIXIR. Counterfeit Excitement Which Some Con

sider True Inspiration Almost all persons who have reached maturity are subject to depression of counteract vital depression. "My systhe sodden earth.

"why lords love wine, mead, narcotics, coffee, tea, opium, the fumes of sandalwood and tobacco, or whatever other theaters, traveling, war, fires, gaming, ling but drink."

politics, or animal intoxication, which are coarser substitutes for the true nectar. For these are auxiliaries to the centrifugal tendency of a man, to his passage out into free space, and they help him to escape the custody of that body in which he is pent up, and

For this reason the philosopher declares a great number of the profession may have been effected. It is indeed bondage to earthly conditions is not libthe phenomena of stimulation, and as won by a dissipation and deterioration. they are well defined, we can study them one by one, and ask their value.

1. There are the phenomena of quickworld, the great, calm presence of the ened circulation of the blood and quickened Creator comes not forth to the sorceries may be good to call a languidly-acting vision," that is the intuition or insight heart into more vigorous motion, but to which clearly sees truth, "comes to the do this with the rest of the body in re- pure and simple soul in a clean and pose, by means of an internal stimulant, chaste body." These are words to be set of the body can share, not by exercise in which it alone is engaged. The heart stimulated alone, soon begins to feel by narcotics. A high order of mind, the habitual necessity of the special not one low and ignorant, is often made stimulant, and, learning, in time, to de- victim of the drink habit through just pend upon its artificial support, lives, the desire to escape the tedium and as it were, upon that support, and be- monotony of "the custody of that body coming over-active and out of harmony in which he is pent up." He has a joy-with the rest of the organs of ful sense of freedom, followed in due the body so long as it is supplied with course by corresponding depressions. its stimulant, fails in the most lament- Like he who drinks the salt water of able manner if by any accident its the sea instead of the fresh fountains stimulant be withdrawn. Here is the upon its bank, his thirst is not slacked reason why even so-called temperate but intensified, and any succeeding bers who try to abstain are driven back ment open to him as to all, one which from the trial of abstinence, because uplifts his soul into an atmosphere of they have not the resolution to perse- buoyancy and strength, and that this vere until the heart learns to work soul power is translatable into physical without the artificial spur to its action. force, and he will seek only the higher The spur all through is deceptive and elixir. He can no more crave alcohol. -Hester M. Poole, in Union Signal.

> NOTES FROM EVERYWHERE. PETER ILER, the Omaha distiller, is secretary of a Western land company that absolutely prohibits the sale of company. BELGIUM is said to have a public can not, therefore, count this part of the house for every forty-three inhabitants. The increase in suicides, lunacy and 2. There is the phenomenon of warmth crime has kept pace with the increase lowed by a corresponding fall of tem- Wilberforce, dusky Mohammedans and perature. It is like the temporarily in- Hindoos crowded to the table, and nearly WHATEVER may be one's relations to the dram-shop, it is a robber and a went to work on scentific principles.

serting its influence, so commanding is here and there and a great cut was left 3. There is experienced in those who its control over the spiritual as well as are accustomed to alcohol a sense of physical structure, and so direct do its strength after taking it, and of firmness relations appear to be with the eternal which seems to be a good preparation essence as well as with the material for acts requiring precision, strength or parts of human nature, that from time Is that good? To those immemorial this strange drug has mainwho rely on the assurance given in this tained a personified existence in the

In Youth Prepare for Age. One of the best friends I ever had died acquired necessity. In itself it is bad, age, though he had not since twentyone years of age-before which he had been dissipated-touched intoxicating with the precision, the strength and liquor until that particular carousal the endurance which is experienced by that took him off. Not feeling well in thing to make him feel better. And resorts to alcohol for assistance, is so maniac, his wife and daughters fleeing tible material of early habit had lain quiet nearly forty years, and that one effect from it that can be pronounced feet high, and yet a deflection one foot from the foundation affects the entire body; no effect that can not be supplied structure. And if you live a hundred years, and do right the last eighty years, you may nevertheless do something at neither of which alcohol can twenty years of age that will damage all your earthly existence. A man beenough sin to last him a lifetime.-Talmage, in N. Y. Observer. The Drink Evil in Africa. Mrs. Mary Clement Leavitt, the around-the-world W. C. T. U. mission-Tides of melancholy, restless- ary, now in Africa, writing from Baruness and languor overwhelm the nervous system. No matter why they come, dressed to the late Mrs. Margaret come they will. But for some fault of Bright Lucas, of London, and published the victim or of his environment, they could not be. But this is not a faultless Journal, says: "I have heard that from all whom I have met which makes me The use of stimulants in some form the more earnest to do something tohas been thought necessary, in order to ward stopping this fearful tide of drink, more fearful than one can imagine untem needs toning up," is the plea made | til one has really seen, as I have done, to himself by the tippler. The mind, the steamers full of the vilest spirits, like a balloon, wants to be loosened much of which is simply alcohol disfrom the trammels that tie it down to tilled from the cheapest substances that will produce it, brought out in this form "This is the reason," says Emerson, to be reduced with water, flavored with anise-seed, and so sold at an enormous profit. Missionaries have told me that whole villages-men, women and chilprocurers of animal exhilaration. To dren-are often drunk, and that they that end," he continues, "men avail have been obliged to give up preaching themselves of different means to add places after the people had begun to send this extraordinary power to their nor- for the drink. I saw one caravan-that mal powers. To this end, they prize is, a large company of men-go out of a conversation, music, pictures, dancing, trader's premises with drink and noth-

A MERMAID FACTORY.

An Old Artificer Tells How the Monkeys' Bodies Joined to Fishes' Tails with Cunning and Dexterity-A Favorite with Showmen-Even Doctors Deceived.

"Mermaids made and repaired." Such termined to make the acquaintance of a little old man crowned with a square a little old man crowned with a square quently, and, while unable to say that paper cap came to the door, and after her story was untrue, doubted it very eyeing me suspiciously for a moment invited me in. There was the "beggarly array of empty boxes;" vials containing strange animals; curious stuffed birds, which peered down from high shelves and were laced together by cobwebs laden with dust, while nany other objects strewn about told of the trade of the taxidermist.

PARENTS OF THE SIREN.

"Yes," said the old man is reply to my questions, "I am a mermad-maker, and I flatter myself that I have produced ome of the most artistic nermaids ever placed upon the market. Why, sir," continued the speaker, varming up un-der the recollection of his triumphs, "I produced one that fooled even the doc ors. You see, mermaids have been made as long as any thing. The Chinese manufactured them centuries ago, and so well that a large number of people believed in them; and if the work is fairly done the production is one of the best cards a show can have.

"One day a man came to me, and I knew the moment I saw him that he was a showman. He said he had mermaids, but that on the last trip a man had offered to wager him five hundred dollars that he would not dare to allow the mermaid to be cut open; so he wanted something that would bear intingency. I told him I could do it, and Drs. Charcot and Ball, well-known sporeceived the order to go ahead. "Generally in cheap work I stuffed the kind and let them go, but in this case I took the skin of a monkey and separated it at the waist; then allowed it to dry as a mummy would, all of which I helped along by the application of heat. I now took a fish, common in the China one that would not be familiar on in the China Seatreated it in a similar way, and finally I joined them together. I fastened scales graded them up among the hairs, then pen up and down the abdomen, through which any one could readily see the ribs and the joining of the vertebræ. "The face had been given an agonized look, the hands were clenched, and, all in all, it was one of the most disagrees ble sights I ever saw-even though Idid produce it. "Yes, it gave complete satisfaction. When they exhibited it a cloth was thrown over the body, and when the question was raised the proprietor would say that he would leave it to a committee of medical men, thus being confident of obtaining some notoriety. case a number of provincial docawere completely deceived, and signed a retracting certain statements which they had made to the effect that fore thirty years of age may commit the mermaid was a sham.'

THE SIREN COMPLETE.

Didn't Pay. A lecturer that had for several minutes harangued his audience on the beauties of politeness, was interrupted by a man who arose and said:

"That's all very well, cap-mighty fine talkin' an' all that, but in this town politeness don't pay." "You are mistaken, sir," the lecture:

answered; "politeness pays in any and all towns.' "No, you are wrong," the interrupter persisted, "it don't pay here. I'll tell you why. For some time I have been eating at a lunch-counter'round yonder, and I noticed that every man sat up to the counter with his hat on, and as I wasn't brought up that way, I concluded to take my hat off, and I did so." "Well, but did any one object?" the lecturer asked. "Oh, no, there was no objection, but, rou see, some fellow stole my hat." Arkansaw Traveler.

No Encouragement. "What made you tell me a lie Johnny?" angrily inquired Mrs. Brown. "Because," pleaded little Johnny, "1 knew you would lick me if I told the truth."-Time.

A MARVELOUS FASTER.

Without Food For Nine Years The little town of Bourdeilles, in Sirens Are Made.

erigord, France, is becoming famous, says the New York Sun, through a woman named Zelie Bourivu, who pretends to have fasted for nine years and who is now actually undergoing a sixtylay fast, under scientific precautions gainst fraud. The woman is the widow of a farmer of Paussac-Saint-Vivien been done? The admitted answer to this question must on all sides be, that after the effects of the first degree have been obtained, no good thing can have heen done, while some amount of evil But such a manner of escape from heen done, while some amount of evil But such a manner of escape from heen done, while some amount of evil But such a manner of escape from heen done, while some amount of evil But such a manner of escape from the street in a large Eastern city, I described to make the acquaintance of the first degree have been done, while some amount of evil But such a manner of escape from the street in a large Eastern city, I described to make the acquaintance of the first degree have been given to poets and mugicians, have been given to poets and > duce her to submit to a systematic course of observations that would scientifically test her claim. She always refused, and this conrmed the doctor in his suspicion that the woman was merely an ordinary hysterical, and perhaps unconscious, fraud. last month, however, she voluntarily offered to submit to the closest sureillance the doctor might wish to plase tpon her, and the present tests were be gun. The doctor declares that he took every precaution against trickery or de-For three weeks the woman has nafned under guard in a place where no one is allowed to bring solid food of any sort. She has drank only a little much, and endeavored frequently to in-water in which toast has been dissolved, which she rejected at once, and has sucked, once a day, a bit of orange to take the bad taste from her mouth. Dr. Lafen proposes to keep her under guard for sixty days. He does not attempt to explain the case, but has referred it to cialists in nervous diseases. The opinion of the neighbors of the skins with cotton or something of the faster is divided concerning her. Some believe implicitly that she is as she pretends to be, under Divine inspiration, and are expecting other miracles from her in due time. Others believe her. rather, to be possessed of the devil.

The Last Word. It was in the sleeping-car, and they thought that every one else was asleep. Probably every one had been, but they

When I was enough awake to know what was going on. I heard her: "Well, I don't care. I think you're real mean. All I want-"Yes," broke in he, "all you want is the last word, same as you always have, ain't it?" "Yes; and I'll have it, too!" spitefully. "You won't!" 'See if I don't." "All right."

"All right it is." "Have to mock every word I say, don't you?" "Heavens! no! You never say any thing worth repeating." "Why do you echo me, then?"

"You do!" "I don't!" "Shut up!" "I won't!"
"Ugh!" And there was a noise like a man tumbling into his berth. Then we heard, rather softly, as if talking to herself: "I said I'd have the last word, and I did. 'Ugh' don't count, 'cause I don't believe it is a word."-Harper's Bazar.

AND THE OLD MAN CAME DOWN.

"Is that young man gone, Matilda?" cried her father from the top of the stairs. "Oh, awfully!" returned Matilda .-Puck.

Almost Caught. Mrs. Newmarried-James, I want this room re-papered. What is your favorite color? Newmarried-O, yellow, I guess.

Mrs. Newmarried-That is funny: I thought it was red. Newmarried-Indeed! Where did you get that idea? Mrs. Newmarried-Why, in yoursleep last night you kept saying: "Give me some more red! I want some more reds" -Light.

THE music of the waters may be a Neptune, as is suggested by a corresp dent, but we had always supposed it to something of a dew-wot.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

French Widow Who Says She Has Been Mints on a Variety of Subjects of Interest to Lady Readers.

Blazers, cutaway jackets and dartless open bodices of every description are to rage all summer, and natty shirs waists and fancy blouses and waistcoats accompanying these, are in every possible style, and made of nearly every sort of material. Some of white silk are tucked -horizontally, perpendicularly and di-agonally-into most striking and graceful forms, all of which are very chic and novel. Others are thorn-stitched, silkembroidered, beaded, braided, galloontrimmed, or they are laid in soft folds and crossed in front over a deeply pointed neck piece or plastron, made of some particularly rich and elegant material. Less expensive blouses and shirts are made of cream-white clairette and other sheer wools which can be cleaned when soiled. These have a deep plait just in front fastened with shirt studs, with tucks each side of the plait. Striped and polka-dotted washing silks also make serviceable and pretty blouse fronts and waistcoats. The stiffly starched English shirt, with shieldshaped bosom, made of plain or fancy percale, is supplemented by a four-inhand scarf, a belt and buckle, or a soft Turkish or tennis scarf at the waist.

"Beaconsfield bonnets" is the title applied to some of the beautiful primose-trimmed models sent out this year. Hot-houses and hedges in England have been rifled to decorate the homes and and persons of admirers of Lord Beacons-

It is a gratifying thing to know that although the tendency both here and abroad is decidedly towards lengthening the skirt of street gowns, there are not a few leaders of fashion who are taking a most decided stand against the innovation. Why any stylish, sensible, artistic or even tidy woman should ever wish to give up a neat, graceful and ladylike mode of wearing the skirt of er street gown, for one that is wholly the reverse in each of these respects, is past compachension. A lady well known for her elegant and fashionable style of gowning last week quietly requested er dressmaker to remove the dressskirt she was fitting upon her, and with her own hands pinned up the hem of the over-lengthened skirt. "There," she said decidedly, "thus far and no further. My skirt is now a happy nedium between the demi-train and a bloomer,' and I will not have it a hairbreadth longer. It clears the ground all around, and every street dress of nine shall as long as I live to wear one.' And the dressmaker quietly said "Amen," and went on with her fitting.—

DRESSES FOR SUMMER.

Charming rabrics and Garnitures That Vill Be Worn Everywhere. The lovely fabrics of silk, wool and otton, which are woven with special reference to summer uses, are so numerous and so various that the veracious thronicler of Madame La Mode's dictates is dismayed at the idea of reviewing them. In dainty all-wool and silk-and-wool fabrics, there are exquisite tints of the custom of our ancesters, or to go in artistic greens, heliotrope, old-rose, soft debt for garments which make us hot and unhappy?" The answer of the misare made up for evening wear in various | sionary is not given, but probably it was bons arranged in all the fanciful ways imaginable. Among these materials are Henriettas, summer cashmere, veiling and albatross, which may be made up alone or in combination with silk or pulled according to its plane of adhesion, moire or surah, either figured or plain. a force exceeding sixty-two pounds to Figured challies are favorite materials for summer wear, and are usually made with a rather full skirt trimmed eighty-four times its own dead weight. with many rows of narrow velvet-ribbon, and with draped waists also trimmed

For morning wear, zephyr ginghams | the shell-less creature. in pink-and-white, blue-and-white, helibling the tailor-made dresses, for the sea-shore. Lovely creations of colored with fairy-like parasols to match; but it of which surrounding objects can be is a little too early to see them in all photographed. their varieties. The simple hem-with ribbon.

quite dressy. Summer church-dresses are of black dine, surah, or silk-and-wool mixture. Jet is very much used again, and pretty capes with high shoulder-puffs and deep V's reaching to the waist, back and front, are deeply fringed with jet beads, as well as covered with them. These are pretty completions to almost all snmmer toilets. Very stylish dresses for the promen- Tribune. ade are the French pattern-robes embroidered in Vandyked points around the skirt, or that portion of the material which is to be made up into the skirt, and an embroidery to match for the corsage, often in the shape of a Figaro jacket. These robes are in fine qualities of wool in all the fashionable colors, in ginghams, Chamberys and mulls, and usually are accompanied with a parasol and fan to match.-Demorest's Family Magazine.

A Scapegoat. "We had a monkey at our house for a pet, but pa gave him away, an' I'm awfriend.

"Did you love the monkey?" asked his companion. "Nah," said Jimmy: "but the monkey used to get blamed for every thing that went wrong, and now I do."-Harper's Young People.

Young Smith-You didn't stay very long at The Poplars last evening, where went to see the Pipps girl. Young Brown - No, I didn't. Old of it. - Texas Siftings.

Rapid Transit Illustrated.

What did he say? He opened the outside door and asked e what I thought of rapid transit. What did you do? I gave him an immediate illustration

MISCELLANEOUS.

-A year ago two Davison (Mich.) men vent to court over an $18 item. The case was finally decided by the Supreme Court, and the costs were an even $600. -While two fine coach horses were biting at each other, in their stable in Springfield, Ill., recently, one of the animals bit its companion's tongue entirely off, maining it so badly that it had to be killed. -An extraordinary number of fires have occured within the past few years in institutions committed to the care of nuns. It is suposed that women are less careful, or less competent in their inspection as to the danger of fire, than men.

-The homes of rich Mexicans are said to be palaces, and the grounds around them are gardens. There is an oriental splendor around them that is not found in the United States. There is an expanse about every thing and a retinue of servants that is bewildering.

-Some missionaries in Africa are greatly troubled by the fact that the natives are not at all eager to adopt the dress of white men. Not even the converts are willing to wear the amount of clothing which, according to missionary ideas, is essential to respectability. -Amateur magicians complain that they are no longer in demand. There is a general tendency to frown on some of the young performers nowadays, and the craze that set in some time ago over this particular form of household amusement has quite disappeared. -An immense squid or devil fish, which was recently stranded upon Achi'll island, off the west coast of Mayo, Ire., had arms which measured thirty feet in length, and the body and short arms sixty feet in circumference. Some of the short arms were four feet in circumfer-

-The largest load ever hauled over the Sierra Nevada Mountains by one team consisted of 50,000 pounds of merchandise, 10,000 pounds of barley for feed, 450 pounds of hay, three bales, and 160 pounds of bran, three sacks. This immense load was safely delivered on time at Austin, Nev., the other day. -Among some paper rags in a Plainwell (Mich.) paper mill, there was lately found an order allowing one Stephan Stillwell to carry cloth and trimmings for a suit of clothes from New York to Brooklyn. The order is signed by the "Superintendent," and dated "New York, Oct. 7, 1732—" about thirty days before the British evacuated New York. -One of the smaller country towns of Maine that has been greatly changed by time is Fayette, in Kennebec County. Fifty-seven years ago, according to the Augusta Journal, at Fayette Corner there were three churches, four stores, two hotels, a post-office, and nearly thir ty dwellings. Now only one church, the Baptist, remains, and the stores and hotels have burned or fallen down. -A native convert to Christianity in Equatorial Africa recently asked a missionary the following question: "Which is more contrary to Christ's commandments, to go about naked according to simple styles and ornamented with rib- in the line of a wise compromise-if compromises are ever wise. -A common seashore limpet, which without its shell weighed a fraction less than half an ounce, required, when remove it from its grip upon the local rock, or upward of nineteen hundred and The force required to open an oyster appears to be thirteen hundred and nine teen and one-half times the weight of

-The photographing of caves or other trope-and-white, check mixtures, and chambers underground, where a portaall varieties of fancy broken plaids, are ble camera can be easily installed, effers made up in easy washing styles for no particular difficulty, and it is a comcountry wear, and in something resemous and interesting views under such circumstances, illuminating the bowels lawn and lace, remotely resembling tea- of the earth by burning magnesium tape, gowns, will be worn at watering-places, which gives a brilliant light, by means stitched white lawns with deep em-- "Josiah," said Mr. Chugwater to the for all day-wear, and a flat, wide sash of ny is turning over a new leaf and is ribbon is all they need to make them going to be a better boy. He asked me family Bible up to his room for an hour or two." At the same time a boy of fish-net draped over surah, or of grena- Johnny's size was seen to enter a cigar store in the vicinity, open a big book and lay it on the counter. this entry?" he demanded, addressing the proprietor in thunder tones. "You said I wasn't sixteen. Look at this: 'John, born May 5, 1874.' Gimme me five boxes of cigarettes and be quick about it, blame your gizzard!"-Chicago

-A friend and admirer of Keely, the motor man, has this to say about the mysterious alleged invention: "It costs nothing more, after the machinery is made, than the vibratory concordant impulse which associates it with the polar stream. The twanging of a taut string, the agitation of a tuning fork, as asso ciated with the resonating condition of the sympathetic transmitter, is all that is necessary to induce the connective link and to produce this costless motive power. As long as the transmitter is in sympathy with the sympathetic current of the triune polar stream, the action of fully sorry!" said Jimmy to his new the sympathetic instrument or engine continues."-N. Y. Tribune. -The first culprit brought before Humorist Peck, the new mayor of Milwaukee, was a fourteen-year-old boy. 'What's the charge?" asked the mayor. 'Malicious mischief, yer Honor," replied the officer. "The prisoner went into a tore, poured coal oil into the molasses barrel, upset the cracker boxes, scaped the steps, emptied sand into the sugar, piled a dozen tin cans over the door, which fell on the head of Sockheimer, Pipps broke in on us and gave me a hint to go.

The proprietor, and committed other depredations." "Is this true, boy," asked the mayor, in a severe tone. "It asked the mayor, in a severe tone. is, yer Honor," whimpered the lad. "I was only imitating 'Peck's Bad Boy,' who made people laugh, and I didn't know it was wicked, sir."-Norristown Herald.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year..... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines cents per square for each additional inver-on. Special contracts for advertising longer

Correspondents must enclose full name and diress, not necessarily for publication, but a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

SATURDAY, JUNE 14, 1890.

The appointment of Mr. Wellington as assistant United States Treasurer at Baltimore is very gratifying to the Republicans of this State. It is a recognition of brains and merit, and of the progressive young men of patrimony, we learn, is swept away the Republican party. Mr. Wel- in the general ruin. We can hear lington is admirably equipped for the of no speculating, no gambling, no place, and he carries into the office years of experience in financial affairs .- Baltimore American.

The tollowing from the Boston Traveller contains in a nutshell the real reason why the importing class is found in alliance with the Free Trade Democracy. Let the wageearners paste it in their hats:

The value of our imports for 1889 was $770,000,000, of which amount gives some coloring to the charge. $509,000,000 paid duty, and goods to increase their business and their profits. If the duties on articles now dutiable should be materially decreased or removed the importations purpose others besides Archer must would reach $1,000,000,000 or $1,200,- be implicated in it or have been 000,000. These would have to be paid for in eash or in the products of the country. The duties encourage the manufactures here at home the articles we would otherwise import. They build up diversified industries and give employment to an army of wage-earners who themselves furnish market for American products. Home manufactures and home markets go together, but they restrict the importing business. It is clearly apparent why importers denounce the McKinley bill.

posed in the Fifty-first Congress is a living soul can dare to say that the ing to the tenth census, was 50,155,even more restrictive than any pre- same wrong, or any other, is necessry 783. vious legislation, and that, if carried for Caucasian supremacy in the Unout, it will amount to little less than ited States. In fact, transferred to Dakota, South Dakota, Washington a "Chinese wall" around our coast the broader arena, the struggle is be- and Montana have been adouted line. The bill pending in the House, tween the proud Caucasian and the Whatthe population is we shalkhow on the basis of last year's importa. Caucasian who is not so proud. If it in about a month. The percentage of tions, places upon the free list im- be a race question, is there any reason increase in the decade 1870-1880 was ports to the value of $109,232,080, why the white man in the South 30.08. At the same rate of growth upon which the Government last should have two votes to my one? there would be now in our borders year collected in duties $60,936,536, Is he alone of morals to eat his cake about sixty five and a quarter milwhich, added to the free imports of and have it, too? Is he to suppress lions of people. There is a good reacharges. the last fiscal year, reduces the value his negro and have him also? Among son to beleive that the increase has of the dutiable imports to $875,624,- all his remedies, he has never yet been greater than this, however, so 687. The pending legislation, there- proposed to surrender the represen- that the enumeration is likely to fore, will make free, without restraint tation which he owes to the very disclose a population in the United or burden, $366,806,710 in value of negro whose vote he refuses. The States of more than sixty-six milthe dutiable importations from $484,. sented, but not human enough to The work of the Census Bureau in 431.308 to $375.623687; which will have his vote counted. Suppose it actual enumeration begins to-day, make an average duty upon all im- were a fact that the negro domination but a large amount of preliminary reduction of tariffs to the amount of honest voting in the Southern State cipally that relating to valuation of about 10 per cent, instead of a large elections; suppose it were a fact that property and reports of different inincrease, as seems to be the popular disregard of law and complete viola- dustries. The bureau is better organ-Jr., in North American Review for supremacy and of good government

Let Justice be Done.

out boldly and says:

Treasury Relief bonds. Mr. Archer Review. desired to purchase them for the sinking fund. He first thought the thing over $2,000.

his accounts straight."

The checks thus endorsed were in those the last campaign, and one of the and unable to be insured.

checks bears the endorsement of the Treasurer of the State Central Com-

This gentleman can doubtless explain tow his endorsement got on the check, and the quicker he does so the better, for as the matter now stands it has a very ugly look for the managers.

Another check of $5,000, obtained by Mr. Archer in the same way, to buy Treasury Relief bonds, was used by him to pay off his individual notes in the Mechanics' National Bank and to redeem bonds already belonging to the State, which had been pledged by him as collateral security.

These discoveries swell the amount of the defalcation considerably beyond the generally accepted amount of $132,000.

Up to this time we have been unable to learn how Mr. Archer spent so much money. The attempt to attribute it in any degree to an extravagant family does gross injustice to a noble woman, whose entire old debts except the appropriation of one trust fund to make another good.

The Republicans do not hesitate to charge that the money went into the Democratic campaign fund in Baltimore city, and the facts we have already given and the further fact that the disclosure was made just after and not until the failure to realize anything from the lobby, The Democratic party should not the amount of $261,000,000 came in rest day or night until the matter is free. Importers naturally want to thoroughly investigated, and if it is unhappily true, then punish the rascals. If the money was used for that > privy to it. If they are the welfare of the party demands their punishment and dis-

Suggestions on the Race Question.

gro. No federal control is within his ed a population of 38,115,641. er. If all this wrong at the ballot It is said that the legislation pro- Caucasian supreme in the State, not 1875, and the total population, accordforeign products, and will diminish negro is human enough to be repre- lions. portations of about 27 per cent, and a and barbarism would follow from work has already been done-prinimpression. It will be seen, accord- tion of the rights secured to the negro ized than ever before, and there is ingly, that about 50 per cent-on the by the constitution were absolutely good reason to hope that the final rebasis of the importations of last year necessary to preserve the civilization sults will be ascertained and publish--will be free and 50 per cent duti- of the South; what has that to do ed much faster than they were after able: while the proportion of free with the federal elections? Violation the tenth census.-N. Y. Mail and imports under the Mills Bill (had it of law and disregard of statute are Express, June 2d. become a law) would have been not needed to save the United States. 40 per cent .- Hon. Wm. McKinley, Evidently, then, the question of race in the South has nothing whatever to do with that other question which For the fourth time the Republican was needed, He is giving the log- tal there. A month ago Michael concerns our whole people whether representatives were in caucus to rollers in Congress some very strong Lane assaulted his wife with a pistol Under this caption the Hagerstown States shall receive and have counted election law. The attendance was A very funny incident occurred her brain, and another her jaw. The of Harford county held $10,000 of _Speaker Reed in North American sult of the talk when Speaker Reed not be forgotten soon.

amount was $8,000. He drew up a grippe may be formed from the losses tion of the features or principles of the joint resolution providing for a bitterly, and he replied in the cowcheck for that amount which he got paid by insurance companies on ac- each which were unobjected to. The prohibition amenndment to the con- ardly manner above detailed. But the comptroller to countersign. After count of the death from that cause of proposition was unanimously accept- stitution of the United States. finding that the amount was $10,000 those insured. The figures given for ed, and Messrs. Powell and Lodge The Republican Senators are to woman did not die. When the surhe drew up another check for some- the first quarter of the present year, were instructed to formulate a com- hold a caucus to-morrow evening to geons reached her she was exhausted at a recent meeting in New York at promise bill. Its features will be an decide upon a successor to Sergeant- from loss of blood, and the exudation But instead of paying for the bonds which 29 of the leading life insurance enlargement of the supervisory sys- at arms Canaday, whose resignation of brain matter amounted to nearly with these checks he abstracted companies were represented, show tem so that the supervisors shall is to take effect July 1. B. & O. car trust bonds from the an increase of losses by grippe, pneu- participate in the registration of vot- Senator Quay has returned to hopelessness of the case the doctors State's strong box and paid for the monia and bronchitis, over the same ers and canvassing. To carry out Washington from a fishing trip, but went to work, removed splinted bonds he had bought with them. period for 1889, of 146, 6 per cent, fully the national idea the supervis- nobody has heard him tell any fish bits of skull, cleansed the bullet Then he asked Mr. Cairnes, the secand in money paid, the losses from ors returns are to be prima facie eyiretary of the insurance company, to great the right of a money paid, the losses from ors returns are to be prima facie eyistories. His example might be folwith such skill that doubt gave place, and HARNERS FACTORY with such skill that doubt gave place, and HARNERS FACTORY retary of the insurance company, to grip alone were $1,018,460. This dence of the right of a member to his lowed by other people who go fishing. with such skill that doubt gave place the endorse the checks "in order to keep startling exhibit, it must be remem- seat, and to prevail in making up the Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, caused to hope and hope almost to certainty. Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH so well known Mr. Archer's hands available as cash. known the disease did more of its State canyassers may be used to al-This transaction took place during work among those who were feeble low the House to form its jndgment nothing but black, by appearing on —was overcome, and Mrs. Lane, in-

The Eleventh Census,

The enumeration of inhabitants of the United States that begins to day is the eleventh in our history. The first was taken in 1790. There were only thirteen States-the original ed to the city to-day from a three thirteen - but the population of days trip to Chesapeake Bay where Maine, Kentucky, Vermont and they went on the U. S. Dispatch for Tennessee was taken also. Theenu- a short rest. number was then 5,308,483, lation then was 7,239,881.

020 inhabitants.

17,069,453.

23,191,876. sas, New Mexico, Utah and Wash- much before July. ington were organized. The census showed a population of 31,183,744. From 1860 to 1870, four States-Kansas, West Virginia, Nevada and rill led off with a speech in opposi-Nebraska-were admitted, the Ter- tion and he was followed by Senators in the United States. No federal Idaho, Montana and Wyoming were taxes will ever be imposed by the ne- organized. The uinth census show. the bill.

Between 1870 and 1880 the country local State government, to keep the State of Colorado was admitted in

Since 1880 the new States of North

Federal Elections.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) The President and his family return- probably felt so.

meration was begun on the first of Speaker Reed has again displayed March, and the returns showed a his ability as a statesman in a most now under way will be full of surtotal population of 3,929,326. Ia1800 marked manner, and there are few the last three mentioned had become men now in public life who would States, and the population was num- have had the courage to risk as much bered also in Indiana (which then as a failure would have cost him in Eastern States less. The Middle Stat- that will be used is estimated to be included all the "old Northwest" ex. this case. A short time ago the Re- es and Onio will begin to show the 100,000,000, and it is said that it will cept Ohio), Ohio, Missippi and the publican House caucus endorsed the shrinkage which the New England require 260 tons of manilla paper to District of Columbia. The total Win lom silver bill and it was re- States exhibited in 1880, as New Jer- furnish these cards. Under a formet ported to the House. There were sey, New York, Pennsylvania, Mary-contract 20,000,000 sheets for the pop-In 1810, Ohio had become a State, quite a number of Republicans who land and Ohio have had a heavy ulation schedule will be furnished, Louisiana had been acquired by pur. were opposed to certain features of Western emigration in the last ten which is said to be the largest single chase, its boundaries including nearly this bill, and in deference to them ali our new Northwest, and Illinois another caucus was called last week and Michigan had been organized as to consider the question. At that with here and there an exception.

separate Territories. The total popu caucus Representative McKinley, This is the result of almost every being filled by two of the largest pawho is an able lieutenant to Mr. census in Western States.particularly per mills in the country. Already By 1820 the States of Louisane, Reed, proposed a new silver bill as a those West of the Mississippi, will orders have been sent out for 14,600 Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, Ala. compromise and it was accepted by surpass expectation. bama and Maine had been admitted, the caucus, although there were still and the Territory of Arkansas ogan- a few Republicans who were not en- pecting a great increase. It is doubt- price, 9 cents per pound, will cost ized. The returns showed 9,63,822 tirely satisfied. The next day Speaker ful if the seabord shows such an one. S52,560.

Reed called a meeting of the Com-Missouri was admitted as a State mittee on Rules and a rule was in 1821. Florida was acquired in 1822, adopted to call up the new silver tain to do so. This is also true of and the census of 1830 showed 12,866,- bit at once, and fixing upon Satur- Texas. dayafternoon at three o'clock as the The four leading cities of the coun-Before 1840 Arkansas and Michigan time for taking a vote upon it. This try will be New York, Philadelphia, were States, and Wisconsin and Iowa wentthrough with a rush in spite of Chicago, and Brooklyn. In 1880 Territories had been organized. The the keking of the Democrats, who Brooklyn was bigger than Chicago. population returned that year was saw all their hopes of a Republican It will be a bitter disappointment to In 879 it was impossible to work in Florida, Iowa, Texas and Wiscon- into nathingness. Saturday after- fifth city in 1880, and St. Louis the sin were States before 1850, and Cali. noon the bill was promptly passed sixth. St. Louis expects to lead fornia, Oregon and Minnesota had and another diamond was added to now, but the chances favor Boston. been organized as Territories. The Mr. Reed's already brilliant diadem, The total population that year was as a party leader.

as States, and the Territories of Kan- that it will be reported to the Senate past the total will be 65,000,000 .-

The Jones silver bill has lately received some very hard knocks from Republican Senators. Mr. Mor-

Pension Office to buy stock in a cor- ity pension bill. poration in which he is Interested and that he has favored a certain firm cidedly opposed to staying in Wash- The air was pregnant with the elecwith no favor on the House side.

the next session of Congress.

It is expected that the river and arms returned. harbor bill will be reported to the Senate this week.

Mail of week before last admits that the votes which belong to it by vir- small and as it was understood that during the debate on the silver bill skull was fractured by blows in four the charge made by the Republicans tue of the constitution of the country. a vote was not to be taken before 2 in the House. Mr. Walker, of Mass places, and the scalp on the back of that the Democratic campaign fund If you tell us that these are ignorant o'clock, to decide between the Lodge sachusetts, was making a speech and the head was laid open for a distance shared in the proceeds of the Archer votes and ought not to be counted and the Powell bills, the first two the got so warmed up that he, seem of four inches. Having inflicted defalcation is given some coloring by we answer -and the answer is con- hours were devoted entirely to a distingly unconsciously, removed his these injuries. Lone choked his wife recent disclosures. The Mail speaks clusive-that ignorance is every. cussion, which served but to accentue coat and finished in his shirt sleeves, until he thought the last breath had where, and that the Democratic par- ate the preference of the Southern to the great amusement of his col- left her body. Then he leveled the "The latest revelations in the ty never failed to yote its ignorance Republicans for the Lodge plan. The leagues and the galleries. It was murderous pistol at his own head Archer matter are more sensational to the uttermost verge of the law. feature was a speech in favor of that probably the first time that a Con- and committed suicide. The tragedy than any since the original disclosure. Why should they, of all partisians, measure by Cheatham, the colored gressman ever made a speech in the was the sequel to a bitter quarrei be-It seems that the Mutual Fire Co. claim that only scholars should vote? member from North Carolina, the re- House in that condition, and it will tween husband and wife. The Leading Hardware and bered, only includes the deaths of roll of the House. In cases of con- a shiver to run down the spines of The great difficulty encounteredwho were insured, and pre-div healthy, while it is well flicting returns the certificates of the those conservative old Senators who that of draining and cleansing the our line. of qualifications of the contestant, the floor of the Senate Saturday in a stead of dying, showed promise of

A 100

The Census and Its Results.

Judging from the results of the census in 1870 and 1880, it may safely be predicted that the enumeration prises and disappointment.

grown more than was expected, but lating cards. The number of cards years.

The South is an enigma. It is exand the Mississippi and Texas is cer-split upon the silver question vanish | Chicago if it is now. Boston was the

The grand aggregate will reach 67,-000,000 if the birth-rate has been as The Serate Finance Committee is high since 1880 as from 1870 to 1880. land. The heat in the year 1014 dried During the next decade California, working sleady upon the McKinley If the population has only made the Minnesota and Oregen were admitted tariff bill, but no one now expects average of advance for thirty years Pkitadelphia Press.

Agreement on a Pension Bill.

tracted negotiations between the sent tense heat. In the year 1303 the wa-Every Southern man knows that ritory of Alaska was acquired and Sherman and Hiscock and neither of ate and House respecting the differthere is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, there is no possibility of domination the Territories of Dakota, Arizona, the territories of Dakota, are also as a second to the terr measure. Senator Plumb defended ments to the Morrill pension bill over on foot. The crops were burnt were brought to a successful conclus- up in the year 1594, and in 1548 the Representative Cooper, of Indiana, Ion to-day by a final agreement of Seine and the Loire were as dry land. has presented in the House a resolu- the conferees. By the terms of the In 1556 a great drought swept over What the Revenue Bill Will Accom- box be needed to preserve a proper grew as never before. The new Pensions to investigate certain news- its insistence upon the dependent the disches were dried up. Not less paper charges against Commissioner pension feature, and the House the ditches were dried up. Not less Raum. The charges are that Gen, agrees to drop the service pension hot were the years 1646, 1679, and Raum has compelled employes of the provision, leaving the bill a disabil. 1701. In the year 1715 from the

> A most remarkable phenomenon is of pension attorneys here in the business of his office. The whole thing districts about Lockport, N. Y., reis simply a Democratic attempt to garding the electical display during manufacture political ammunition to the recent severe rain storm. A far- the places of amusement had to be be used in the coming Congressional mer named Jasper Bacon, and his closed,-New York Sua. campaign, and there is not the slight. family, residing fifteen miles northest proof in existence of the absurd west of Lockport, were singularly affected. The house se med to be Some of the Senators who are de- enveloped in a biutsh, hazy light. ington all summer are talking up the tric fluid, and balls of fire danced idea of taking a recess from early in along the tops of chairs and slid over July to October. The idea meets mantels or chased each other up and down a hanging tamp shade. It was It is now apparent that there is a a terrible sight to the members of the deficiency of $9,000,000 in the pension household. There were no lights in apprepriation for the fiscal year end- the house, and the terror of the ining with this month. No appropri- mates was greatly increased by the ation will be made at the present total paralysis of their muscles. They session of Congress to meet this. It were unable to move and sat like will be paid out of the regular ap- mummies, fearing that their end was propriation which becomes available near. The storm lasted four hours, and as it departed the electricity vanished and the use of their limbs and July 1, and will be provided for at and as it departed the electricity van-

A WONDERFUL CASE, - A San The President vetoed a bill for a Francisco dispatch states that a wonpublic building at Hudson, New derful case is occupying the attention WASHINGTON, D. C., June 10 .- York, because he did not think it of the physicians at the City Hospion discovering that the former had pointed out now the differences be- The prohibitionists are to be given drawn from the bank $3,000-the tween the adherents of the two bills a joint hearing by the Senate and savings of a lifetime-and lost the Some idea of the ravages of la could be adjusted by the combina- House committee next Saturday, on sum in speculation, reproached him the wonder of the affair is that the two ounces. Despite the apparent natty suit of white flannel. He did ultimate recovery. After days of not look very dignified but with the delirium she has become quiet and thermometer dancing around ninety docile. There are indications that WASHINGTON, June 9th, 1890 .- he looked very comfortable, and her mind will remain at least partially a blank, but her physical health may be fully regained. Mrs. Lane is 52 years old and the mother of nine children.

A Big Paper Contract.

One of the largest contracts for furnishing paper for the use of the cen-Eastern cities will be found to have sus office is the one for manilla tabuorder for writing paper given No Western cities will be disappointed, single mill in this country could meet the demand, and the order is now reams of paper, which will weigh 584,000 pounds, and at the contract

A Record of Hot Summers.

It will perhaps assuage the discomforts of the coming summer to read some past experiences with heat, compiled by a German statistician, In the year 627 the springs were dried up and men fainted with the heat. the open fields. In the year 993 the nuts on the trees were "roasted" as if in a baker's oven. In 1000 the rivers in France dried up, and the stench from the dead fish and other matter brought a pestilence into the up the rivers and brooks in Alsace-Lorraine. The Rhine was dried up in the year 1132. In the year 1152 the heat was so great that eggs could be cooked in the sand. In 1227 it is recorded that many men and animals WASHINGTON, June 10 .- The pro- came by their death through the in-In 1614 in France, and month of March till October not a drop of run fell; the temperature rose to 38° Reamer, and in fayored ond time. Extraordinarily hot were the years 1724, 1746, 1756 and 1811, The summer of 1815 was so hot that

> The oldest pensioner in this country is 103.

> > NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

The Co-partnership heretofore existing be The Co-partnership heretofore existing be-ween the undersigned, doing business under ne firm name of Gnagey & Durst, has this may been dissolved by mutual consent. All-ersons knowing themselves indebted to the crawill please call on Jonas E. Gnagey, who as charge of the books, and settle their ac-monts by July 1st., 1880, as after that date the nocks will be in the hands of an officer for oliection.

JONAS J. DURST.

Having purchased the interest of Mr. Jonas JONAS E. GNAGEY.

If so call upon or write us.

Hardware Association,

(LIMITED.) E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

Implement House of Som-

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STO PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTI ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RA HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

erset County, Pa.

It will pay you to call and see us. To will pay you to can and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line o goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIRS, WHITELY and DM, OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL, PLOWS EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING (all steel frame harrows.) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO, and BISSELI n Garrett County, will call on every farmer nd solicit orders for anything the wish in

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall octs in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in nme Hall 2d and 4th Thursdaynights of each Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the Hall Friday night of each week and Sun-ay afternoon.

HEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, J. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hall lst and 3d Thursday nights GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nos ay evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

38 inches wide, at 60 cts per yard. -A fine cottage for rent at Mountain Lake Park.

J. C. PEDDICORD. 13" -Mrs. Robinson, of Cumberland. will spend the summer in Oakland with her mother, Mrs. Dunlap.

reasonable prices. -Don't fail to see the Red. White and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis & Son's. It will pay you. tha Carpets and Matting and get his

-Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rak s should see them before buying.

eish for Chickens, Wool, and all good produce. -Married, at Friendsville, June 4th, by the Rev. Henry E. Friend. Mr. Elmer Galleptine and Miss Kate

King, both Fayette Co., Pa. -Cline will open a grocery and confectionary this week in the Wm. Smouse building on R. R. Street.

'Call and see him. -Just received, at the Oakland Mill, 3 car loads containing Flour, Feed, Oats and Corn, all for sale at a reasonable price. -Married, June 2rd, at New Glades Hotel, by Rev. B. Ison, Mr. Ord Childres to Miss Hattie Johnson, both of Davis, West, Va.

-Just received at Davis & Son's, another car of Orchilla Guano, and Silver Gray Fertilizer, suitable for month. buck wheat and Corn.

-Married, June 4th, at New Glad es Hotel, by Rev. B. Ison, Mr. John Henry Larew to Miss Lummie G. Squires, both of Preston, Co., West,

We have made arrangements to handle the Champton Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New Mower on band. DAVIS & SON. -Shartzer is taking orders as follows; Oats, 40c; Meal, $1.10; Chep, $1.25; Bran, 85°; Flour, $4.75.

Leave orders early. Car will be in Saturday or Monday,

Fourth of July. -Married, June 1, 1890, at the res

at the residence of Henry Sisk, in the town of Deer Park, by Rev. W. book, like pearls on a royal robe. In bis duty as reporter from Accident, E. George, William C. L. Sisk, of fact, the entire book is a wonder of as the readers of the REPUBLICAN Garrett county, and Miss Ella M. value and interest, such as was never will see in this week's issue. The Houston, of Piedmont, W. Va.

-There will be a Lawn Fete at Deer Park Saturday evening, June 14th. The Oakland Independent Band will be present, also other music. Proceeds for benefit of Lutheran church.

-The boarding houses and cottages in Oakland are filling up much earlier this season than usual, and the applications are more numerous. The season promises to far surpass any of the past.

- Mr. J. A. Wagner, formerly of Frostburg, Md., has rented the Bishop building, where he will reside. and will in a few days open a tin and the basement.

-The young ladies of the Oakland and ice cream festival in Offutt's robbers has been obtained. On last keeper and gauger. Hall Friday and Saturday evenings, Saturday morning, before daylight, June 13th and 14th. The public is the large block owned by C. C. Crane cordially invited to attend.

-General McCook's family occupy W. P. Townshend's handsome cottage. As the General is Secretary of $15.000 with about $5,000 insurance. the United States Senate, he can only be here on Sundays until after the adjournment of that body, when he and the building fired. Sufficient will be with his family for the remainder of the season.

-A railroad accident occurred on the Ohio River Railroad last week in which Mr. J. F. Legge and a number of B. &. O. Railroad officials were more or less injured. They were traveling in the car "Mary- er of the Maryland Sunday School barn painted. Mr. Valentine Kahl build a church has been adopted by a land," which was thrown from a Union, will preach at the following is doing the job, bridge to the bottom of a rayine, points on Sabbath next (15th inst.) : twenty feet below. Mr. Legge had White Church, (Ryan's Glade,) Sunhis arm broken, and was otherwise day morning, at 10.30; Oak Grove, is owned by Senator Stanford, and is which is to be applied on the debt as injured. From last aregards he was Sunday afternoon at 2.30; Gorman, in Tehama County, Cal. It covers fast as death ensues. able to walk about.

-Children's Day was observed in the M. E. Church Sunday morning Annapolis, Mp., June 1st, 1890. last. The church was profusely and evorgreens. The services were under the direction of the Pastor, Rev. C. E. Clark, who was ably assisted School. The charch was densely packed with a delighted audience.

is of the Stradivarious model and question in these words: "Hiram P. probably the only one of the kind in Tasker as agent for the Commissionthe State of Maryland. It is full of ers of Allegany and Garrett Counforce, fire and brimstone, and will be | ties"; and that Act, in terms so plain -Shartzer sells Henrietta, all wool, used at the pic-nic in Mrs. Kil- that all who read can learn, shows bourn's grove on the 4th of July.

-William Taylor, living at Hambleton, on the West Virginia Central Railroad, accidentally shot his 18 year-old daughter Sunday afternoon while handling a revolver. The ball entered near the left eye, taking a -Buy your Paints of Shartzer. He course almost around the skull, comwill mix any color you want, and at ing out near the right eye. The physician says the wound is not necessarily fatal.

-At 12:55 o'clock Saturday afternoon the private car "Gladys" of the the matter of searching up the titles from -Just go to Shartzer's and see all St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas railway arrived at Central Station from New York, en route for Elkins. W. Va., having on board Hon, S. B. Elkins, three of his sons, and Mr. Kerens and family. The private car "West Virginia" was attached here -Remember, Shartzer is paying and the party left for Elkins at 2:45. order in regard to fees at the Land Tuesday evening to find quite a num-Mr. Elkins and his guests spent a portion of their stay here in viewing Garrett county directed me to go to grounds, enjoying the scenery and glory. the near-by attractions of the city while the three boys took a tour searches, and thus recognized, con- They were Baltimore and Washingabout the town in a cab. - Cumber- firmed and established my agency to ton delegates en route to St. Louis to land News.

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 101 A.

M. and 7 P. M., by Rev, C. E. Clark, Ev. Lutheran Church- Preaching at 7 P. M., by Rev. J. A. Dunlap. Deer Park 101 A. M., by Rev. J.A. Dunlap.

St. Mathew's Church-Preaching every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. S. Hipkins, Rector in charge, St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M., except the second Sunday of each

"The Road to Heaven."

the beautful manner in which the sioners along with the other data. book is written. Its facts which are drawn from Religion, Science, Art, Pailosophy, History, Literature and Tradition, are embellished with every grace. Its morality will recommend it into every household, for it nobility of character and with maryelous wisdom reveals the true man. -Miss Ella Dewitt, of McHenry, hood and womanhood, divested of will preside at the organ at the all sham and deceit. No one will be Cathotic pic nic at Oakland on the in danger of intellectual dyspepsia from reading "The Road to Heaven," for lovely anecdotes and vivid temperance, stimulate the discourage able for the task. ed, guide the anxious, solace the aged and comfort the mourner. C. A. Combs, Agent,

Mt. Lake Park, Md.

Burglary and Fire.

TERRA ALFA, W. VA., June 6 .and occupied by a number of merchants, together with the entire contents was destroyed by fire, Loss There being indications of burglary It is thought the stores were robbed reasons are assigned to show the two acts were done by the same parties who are thought to reside near this place.

Maryland Sunday School Union, Rev. Geo. H. Nock, State organiz-

Sunday night, at 8 o'clock.

A Card

tastefully decorated with flowers and Democrat of the 30th ult. an effort to as 80°. injure my official position as agent of Garrett and Allegany Counties in cism says: "It would give us satisfaction to know whose agent Mr. -Rev. Father Mattingly is the Tasker really is." The Act of 1890, possessor of a C. F. Albert violin. It Chapter 543, line 8, answers this this agency to be the very wise and useful work of ascertaining ownership "to secure the payment of State will remain during the summer. and County taxes thereon." For personal reason-, a few may oppose izen and tax-payer will approve the fully. meagre outlay that will return an annual and permanent revenue to Medary arrived here Monday eve-Garrett and Allegany counties and to ning. the State itself. The County Commissioners o Garrett passed no order "dispensing with my services" in board wik across part of the Glade of unassessed lands. They made an order that they would not be respon | Tuesday evening from Baltimere, to sible for fees at the Land Office; and occupy their beautiful new cottage. in time the State righted this (chap- Miss Lizzle Dorty came Tuesday ter 513, Acts of 1890.) by remitting night from New Jersey, to take past charges and the usual fees for charge of the Dennett Hoter. future searches. Subsequently to this Office the County Commissioners of her of people rambling over the Allegany county to continue these plucking the beautiful wild flowers. discover the titles to these unclaimed attend the conventian of the Chrisand unassessed lands. The present tian Endeavor Society. Their special Board of Allegany county have re- train stopped and gave them an hour cently passed an order "renewing here for recreation and pleasure. Just chief food of the people, and where > vious Board." The "abstracts of titles" that I am grounds. compiling in a permanent record book, is under a bona fide contract with the Commissioners of Garrett county, whose provisions in no way, have been broken by me, and therefors I take it that the agreement to do a certain thing by parties lawful to make a contract will, in due time, be found in law as well as in morals, worth a consideration.

My name was added to the "spec ial notice" simply that the parties The above is the title of a book interested might have some certain just published, which should be in place to make their claims known, every home. One of the remarkable and that these claims might be given features of "The Road to Heaven" is to the respective County Commis-

As no other person could determine the exact status of these claims, without referring to my abstracts. notes. &c., it is right and proper that my name should be attached to the Lake Quartett will have charge of notice. The Democrat is the only furnishes the splendid frame work of paper in the State that has failed to

Very Respectfully, Yours, &c., HIRAM P. TASKER.

Accident. The Accident correspondent to the idence of John L. Fitzwater, North descriptions are woven with precious REPUBLICAN had been silenced by Glade, by Rev. Wm. E. George, Ja- truths and ripe experiences, on every sickness, and there were, therefore, cob Roderick Kimmell and Emma page. The Anecdotes, fresh, thrit- no items from Accident for a number B. Lee, both of Garrett county, Md. ling and delightful, bring out the of weeks. Pneumonia was the trog--Married, Sunday June 8th, 1890, Author's meaning most beautifully, ble. Though hot able to do any work and are scattered throughout the yet, he nevertheless resumes again seen before. While the Book is Accident correspondent had hoped sparkling and brilliant, it is also fas- that during the time he had been along the county roads. cinating as fiction. Its teachings so silenced by sickness, some one else beautifully brought forward, are cer- from our quiet little hamlet would tain to strengthen the intellect, purify assume the duty of reporter; but it Head, Me. She was built at Amesthe morals, ennoble character, awak- seems that our Accident focks are en the heedless, save the lallen, en- either too modest or too much afraid courage the struggling, fortify the for such an undertaking, yet we have weak, cheer the faithful, promote some who are both competent and

Rev. Mrs. W. M. Spangler had also been sick, but is at present able to go about her household duties.

Mrs. Dr. Glotfelty is also among the sick of our village, but is again convalescing.

Mr. George Ault seems well pleased. A plowboy came to his home stove store in the large store room in Last night the store of Chas. Mayer & some time ago entirely hatless. He Son was burglarized, and over $500 is going to stay and run the farm worth of various kinds of dry goods while Mr. Ault attends to his duty M. E. Church will hold a strawberry were taken. So far o clue of the at the Miller still-house as store-

Mr. John Gnagev and wife left on last Saturday morning for Mechan- public place or in the streets smoking icsburg, Pa., where they attended a a cigarette. love-feast of the Dunkard church. They took in Meyersdale on the way home, arriving on Tuesday evening, catcher," who receives the modest

Mr. E. H. McMillen and Miss Nellie Glotfelty left for Salisbury on last Tuesday morning, where they attended the Somerset county Sun- had to be opened the other day, as it day School Association, which open- was badly chocked up. When the ed its sessions on Tuesday evening workmen dug into it they found that and closed Wednesday evening. Mr, Phillip Miller, of Keyser's Ridge, is sick. He has dropsy. Mr. Martin Rush is having his Mountain Lake Park.

ED. REPUBLICAN:-I find in the late. The murcury has been as high Va. It covers about four acres, and ascertaining the titles to unclaimed number being Mrs. Blake, Mrs. and human beings. by the young ladies of the Sunday lands within their limits. Its criti- Hank and W. H. Gilbert's family. pying Mr. Sperry's cottage. Rev. J. G. Fallon is here for a few sermon for us Sunday night. Rev. J. W. Cornelius and daughter are with us to-day (Monday.) Mr. M. Z. Dawson and family have returned from Washington, Pa., and this work, but the right thinking cit- applications are coming in plenti-

Rev. C. W. Baldwin and M. S.

The Community Council decided yesterday (Tuesday) to put a new

Mr. G. T. Cecil's family arrived and confirming the order of the pre- before leaving they were supplied with illustrated circulars of the the greater the attitude at which the

By applying early cottages can seliable to the disease, and at 9000 J. A. E. still be rented.

List of Letters

List of fetters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Garrett county, Ma., for week ending June 14, 1890:

Orendorff, Mrs. Chas, Chisholm, Mrs. N., Howard, Adam, Marion, Mrs. H.,

Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

The Ohio Valley Temperance Asembly will be held at Moundsville, W. Va., Joly 4th to 14th, 1890. Among the speakers announced are Ex-Goy. St. John, Rev. Sam. Jones and Rev. Sam. Small. The Silver the music.

Curious Facts.

Portugal was conquered by the Moors in 713. In parts of India dentists charge $7 for pulling a tooth. The most popular bull fighter in Spain gets $10,000 a performance. In England in 1868-69 there was one known thief to every 1000 per-Trade marks were known in ancient Babylon. China had them as early as 1000 B. C.

A citizen of Calusa, Cal., has given away 5000 walnut trees to be planted The oldest wooden vessel affoat is said to be the schooner Polly, of Owl's bury, Mass., in 1804. Jacob Tuttle, of Alton, N. H., and his sister, Mrs. Sallie Kennett, both cetebrated their 83d birthday recently. They are twins, Professional florists of England are cultivating old-fashioned flowers, such as the daisy, the columbine, larkspar, hellyhock and Canterbury Caleb Leongood, a wealthy resident of Pottsville, Penn., is probably the greatest peanut eater in the world. He has been known to eat six quarts at a sitting. Conneticut has placed a law on her statute book which imposes a fine of $7 upon any minor found in any Among the employes in the service of Queen Victoria is the "Queen's ratremuneration of $375 a year for keeping the palace free of vermin. A large sewer in Portland, Gre., the roots of a tree had forced a passage through the watts and formed a solid mass for fifty feet.

A novel way of raising money to congregation in an Iowa town. They borrowed $180,000 and gave life in-The largest vineyard in the world surance on a number of the members,

The site of a prehistoric village has been discovered on the banks of the The weather has been very nice of Ohio River, near Parkersburg, W. the earth is thickly intermixed with Several more of our families have fragments of pottery, streaks of ashes returned for the summer, among the and fragments (of bones of animals

According to the statisticians there Mr. J. J. Hetzell, of Cumberland, is room on the earth for seven times is here for the first time, and is occu- as great a population as it now conof the globe were as thickly populated as China, Belgium or India the population of the earth would be 10,000lation of the earth would be 10,000cond Bodes, as follows to-wit: tains. If all the habitable countries days, having his cottage painted and as China, Belgium or India the popupapered. He preached an excellent lation of the earth would be 10,000-

A lady in Americus, Ga., is using a lamp chimney she has had and used daily for the past eight years, and she expects to use it for many years yet. The says she boiled it in salt Nearly all the hotels and boarding and water when it was bought in 1882, houses are ready for guests, and the and no matter how large a flame runs through it, is won't break.

Words of Wisdom.

He who talks sows, he who listens

Every utterance creates some kind of an impression. The error of a moment may be th sorrow of a whole life. Our acts make or mar us; we are then children of our own deeds. Politeness is as natural to refined natures as perfume is to flowers. The cruelty of the effeminate is more dreadful than that of the hardy. Avoid shame, but do not seek glory. Nothing is so expensive as

A deep moral hurt leaves its traces as surely as a deep wound leaves a

It is an interesting fact that in Columbia, where potatoes form the potato disease runs riot very often, feet above the sea it grows in a perfectly healthy state. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of one Home-Grown Nursery Stock.

WANTED, MOST LIBERAL TERMS.

Unequaled facilities. One of the largest. WANTED MIDST LIDERAL TERRITOR.
Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-stablished and best known nurseries in the country, Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery, Geneva, N. Y.
67 ft Established 1846.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING. OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., June 5th, 1890.

The County Commissioners of Garretteonn will meet in their office in the Court House Tuesday, June 17th, 1890, for the purpose of transacting any routing or other business which may be brought be

By order,

J. B. FAY, Clerk. 4 26 td

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 537. AN ACT

To create a new election district in Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District, or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett County or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett County.

SECTION I. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That a new election district be formed and laid out of portions of the first, third, fourth and fifth election districts of Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District, or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett county, whose metes and bounds shall be as follows:

Beginning at the Ridge road where it intersects the Meadow Mountain Road at Mary Otto's then with Ridge road by way of Yommer's Mill, to the Grantsville road at Benedict Beachy's, then to the top of Negro mountain by Rush's Mill and John Spiker's former place, then with the top of said mountain to the Ceunty Road leading from John Harman's farm, then to the forks of the Oakland and Swanton road on east side of the mountain by way of Jeremiah Dursts, then to head of North branch of middle fork at Buck Mason's, then with said north fork to the mount of Black Hawk, at Steinple's mill seat, then to mouth of Monroe's run by way of O'Haver's Mill, then to James Resh's in back woods, then to Horse Pond run by way of Ashford Warnick's at old lumber'camp near Perry Broadwater's, then with said run to the beginning at Mary Otto's.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That the veting place or polls in said district shall be at or near the village of Bittinger.

SEC. 3. And be it enacted. That the Governor shall appoint one Justice of the Peace, and one Register of Voters for the said new district. TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN

trict.

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the inhabitants of said new Election District Number Twelve, shall be entitled in all respects to all the rights and privileges held or enjoyed by the other election districts in said County of the other election districts in said County of Garrett.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County shall farnish proper books for registration, such as may be required by law to be delivered to the Register of voters for said new District Number Twelve; and the said Clerk shall sho at the same time, deliver to said Register a full list, under the seal of his office, of all persons appearing on the registration lists of said Districts Numbers One, Three, Four and Five, and the said Register of voters for said new District Number Twelve shall transcribe from said list of voters, and enter in alphabetic order in the said new registration book, or books, the names of all voters living within the limits of, and entitled to vote in said new District Number Twelve, and likewise to register therein the names of all persons who shall become entitled to vote in said District, according to the laws of this State.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That the Officers of Registration for Districts Numbers One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the lists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the lists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the Bists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the Bists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the Bists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the Bists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the Bists of qualified voters of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular sittings, shall strike from the Bists of Qualified voters of said Districts One, T

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That the Registe

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That the Register of voters for each of the said Districts, One, Three, Four and Five, shall furnish to the Register of voters for said new District. Number Tweive, at least five days previous to their last days sitting, a list of all voters stricken from the Registration Books of their respective districts, on and by reason of said voters so stricken off, living and being entitled to vote in said New District No. Tweive, led to vote in said New District No. Twelve. SEC. 8. And be it enacted, That the County Commissioners for Garrett County shall ap-count one constable for said new Election District Number Twelve, and also judges of Election, as in the other Districts of Garrett County.

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage. Approved April 8th, 1890 6 14 St

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Under and by virtue of an order of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, passed on the 7th day of June, 1899, in the attachment case of Thomas J. Stanton Vs. Courad Hodes, be-log No. 5 Originals for July Term, 1899, the undersigned Speriff will,

ON SATURDAY, THE 5TH DAY OF JULY, 1890,

Two Cloth Nappers, one Presser, one Card and Stand, one Presser, five pairs Winding Blades, one Spin-ning Machine, one wool Picker, one Loom, four Carding Machines, one Coarse Picker, about five hundred Spools, one Spooler, fourteen large Spools, one Table, two Water Tubs and one large Loom.

Said property will be sold at the Woolen Factory formally operated by the said Con-ad Bodes, about two and a-nulf miles north-west of Grantsville.

E. N. CASTEEL, 6 14 td Sheriff. FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.-The West End of Wing-and-Wing, at Deer Park, containing a Parior, Sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping rooms will be furnished with everything necessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two barses and carriage house.

E. C. TILSON, Proprietor. 5 24 Mitchell's Kidney Plasters Absorb all disease in the Kidneys and restore them to a healthy condition. Old chronic kidney sufferers say they got no relief until they tried MITCHELL'S KIDNEY PLASTERS.
Sold by Druggists everywhere, or sent by mail for 50e
Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President, G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted.

#2-Prompt attention to collections. 112'89. EVERETT & HARVARD

CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrumen Z and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask.

reasonable profit on the investment is all ask.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musicak Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line. Place of business-Railroad street, next to B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md.

J. M. LITZINGER, 9 21 '89 Oakland, Md.

D. E. BOLDEN NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES,

OAKLAND, . MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

GARRETT COUNTY. OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1880.

TAKE NOTICE. That the roads under your charge shall-be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year;
and in working said roads it is incumbent upon you, wherever practicable, to cut gutters on either side and work high in middle of road. You are also required to notify all persons traveling the roads with steam threshers or other heavy machines that bey will be held responsible for all damage done
to roads and bridges over which they pass.

By order,

By order,

WANTED. LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY,
5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y. NOTICE.

to sell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expenses

All persons are warned against cutting All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 264, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees "so cut lown.

THEOS. B. HOR WATE.

THEOS. B. HORWITE

You may talk about your furnace fires That warm your city homes, And tell me how the heat aspires, And through the building roams; Tis handy, I'll admit, to push

Tis handy, I'll admit, to push
A little iron wheel,
And let the ghost of summer out
About the room to steal.
But oh, I'd love to see once more
My father's big fire-place,
To hear the old logs sing and roar,
And watch the dedging sparks outpour And up the chimney chase.

When full of anthracite,
It lends the room a pleasant air
On any winter's night. The glowing coal's a flower-bed-Lilies and crimson pinks, And 'mong them many an effin eye Peeps through and winks and blinks.
But oh, I long to see once more
My father's old fire-place;
To watch the shadows flicker o'er My mother's whitely sanded floor,

Your modern grate's a nice affair;

And round the ceiling race! These patent parlor stoves are fine, And charm away the chill
With windows whence the light may shine
The room with cheer to fill. Some people love to boast about Our stylish modern ways, And thank the Lord who cast their lines

In these progressive days.

But oh, that I might be once more Beside the old fire-place! To see the fleet-winged flames upsoar And watch the flashes on the floor Entwine and interlace.

Hearty and jovial fires were those I loved so when a boy. They tinted darkness like the rose And warmed the heart with joy. They chuckled in an undertone, They cackled, whistled, laughed, They burned so bright, the cares of life Flew upward in the draught! And oh, I'd love to be once more Beside the old fire-place To drowse upon the sanded floor
And find my mother bending o'er
With love-light on her face!

-George Horton, in Chicago Herald.

A TRUE WIFE.

What She Did to Tide Her Husband Over Hard Times.

It was at the close of a day in midsummer. Chester Hilton was putting on his hat, preparatory to leaving the office, .. hen his employer asked him to step to the desk for a few moments. "I am very sorry, Chester," said the senior partner of the firm of Gardner, Whitbeck & Co., "to be obliged to tell you that we can not afford to keep you after this month. As you are aware, our business has fallen off to such a degree that we are scarcely making our running expenses." Chester Hilton received this announcement in a cool, collected manner. He had been expecting a crash for two months past. Nevertheless, at heart he felt depressed and anxious. It was just the season of year when business was at its lowest ebb. Where and when would he get another situation? He had nothing put by to live on during the time he might be out of employment. His salary had been only sufficient to pay his family expenses. The outlook was certainly a dark one. He usually rode home in the horse cars, as he lived at the outskirts of the city, where rents were moderate, but that night a nickle looked as large to him as a silver dollar. It was later than usual when he got home, and, as he drew near the gate, a black-eyed baby, with a face illuminated by a sight of "papa," toddled out to meet him. In her haste she would have fallen upon the broken plank over which she picked her way had not her father reached out his arms just in time to save her He held her tightly to his breast and bending down kissed the baby face and whispered: "Papa's little darling.

A girlish figure at the open gate, as he passed through lifted up her fresh. young, happy face to be kissed, too. "What made you so late to-night, Goldie?" she asked. "Daisy and I have been watching for you for ever and ever so long."

"The cars were crowded, and it was so hot that I walked home. "It has been terribly hot all day," she replied. "Baby has suffered so much with the heat. Do you know, Goldie (the pet name she always called were not for leaving you, I would think seriously of going to Fernside Springs. Mrs. Hunter says this is such a sickly season for babies, and Goldie I saw a little white hearse pass the house twice to-day." "You wouldn't leave me alone, darling," he said. "You know I'm such a poor stick if left to myself. But perhaps it will be best for you to go."

After the baby had gone to sleep, the father and mother went out on the porch and sat down in the cool evening air. It was dusk, and the husband put his arm around his wife and drew her so close to his side that she rested her head upon his shoulder. He was thinking whether it was best to tell her of his dismissal. A number of times the words came to his lips, but he as often checked them. No, he could not.

The month soon passed, and Chester Hilton was out of business. No situation had been found, and the outlook seemed darker than ever. So many business houses had reduced their forces. But every day he went off at the same hour in the morning and returned the same time in the evening. His wife supposed he was still at his old place, for he had not yet made up his mind to tell her. Surely he would find another place, and then it was time enough to let her know he had left Gardfortnight after his dismissal, Mrs. Hilton had occasion to go down town, and his illness. she stepped into the office to see her hus-As she came into the door, Mr. Gardner looked up from his ledger and bade ber "good morning." "My husband is out, I suppose," she said, looking toward the empty desk in the corner. "Your husband?" replied Mr. Gard-"He has not been in this morning." "Not been in?" she exclaimed. "You know, of course, that Chester is not in my employ now," said the gen-"He has not been with us this tleman. month." A vague anticipation of somothing wrong filled the wife's heart, but the was reassured by hearing the senior partner say: "We esteem your husband vory highly, and were sorry to dispense with his services, but we were obliged | - Clothier and Furnisher.

to do so on account of the dullness of the season."

"My husband has not told me," she replied. "I respect his motive-he was afraid it would trouble me. If he comes in, please do not say a word about my having been here.'

"Certainly not," replied Mr. Gardner, as the young wife went out of the office. A nickel had become as large as a dolhome. In spite of the large sun umbrella and the thin lawn dress, she was very warm, and the perspiration stood in large drops on her face. "Poor £450,000. Goldie," she said to herself, as the tears came into her eyes. "He is so proud he couldn't bear to tell me that he was out of employment. Of course I shan't speak of going to Fernside again. I'll stay at home and take the best care of baby that I can. I'll watch her every minute. I'm paying Ellen large wages. I must let her go and do the work my-self. I wonder if I could? We can buy our bread, but Goldie hates baker's helpers and storekeepers. bread. I must have Ellen show me how she makes hers." And full of the project of doing her own work, she walked toward home, forgetful of the heat and not expected to handle a single newsdust. She did not have to give Ellen warning; the event, as events in our got home. Ellen's sister had been there now to make the excellent bread and rolls, and the heroic little wife sur- the table. prised her husband with some, which he said was even better than Ellen's. A month passed by, and whenever her husband said, as he often did: "I'm afraid you are working too hard, my dear," she always answered with a merry laugh: "I'm just as happy as I can be doing my own work, and baby really helps me every day, she is so good." Not a word had been said by either husband or wife about leaving Gardner & Whitbeck's office. One morning, after Goldie had looked over the advertisements in the column of "Wanted" in the morning paper, and had put it down with a hopeless look on his face, his wife took it up and her eye fell upon this advertisement 'Wanted-First-class home-made cakes and pies, also bread and rolls, at No. 57 Ralston avenue." "It's the Women's Exchange," she said to herself They've just opened it. I read about it yesterday in the paper. I'm going to try it. I know I can do it," and the little wife, in her culinary enthusiasm, afternoon, with a basket on one arm and the baby on the other, she took the horse-cars for 57 Ralston avenue. "Very nice cake," said the lady who 'We will take the thre loaves." As she spoke she opened the cashier's drawer and handed Mrs. Hilton the price paid for such a cake. "Can who serve by turns a fortnight at a time you make good cookies and gingersnaps? There is such a demand for them that we can't half supply our customhugged the baby so hard that the little one protested loudly against such clos quartered demonstration. Early in the

ers. "I'll being some to-morrow," replied Mrs. Hitton. They were pronounced excellent, and as the days passed by there was such a demand for Mrs. Hill The blankets on the Queen's bed are ton's cookery that she was obliged to get made from the wool of Australian sheep; Ellen back again. "I really can not get along alone."

she said, "and Ellen is so good." "Of course you need her," replied her husband. When the second month was passed, Chester Hilton had only a little palace the rooms are kept at the same money in his pocket. The month's bills were coming in. It was the first time that he had ever had to humiliate wood is burned instead of coal. himself by asking the "butcher and the baker and candlestick maker" to wait for their pay. His wife had kept the year. Perhaps of all the long list of grocery book hidden, because it was her stock in trade and there had been a larger bill than ever entered against her husband that month. But when Chester asked for the pass-books the last day of the month, she laid them with a cun-ning smile on his desk. As he glanced through the long list of groceries, a frown gathered upon his face for an instant-"was his wife so very extrava gant, when doing her own work?" But when he got to the bottom of the page and saw the word "Paid," written across it, he said in a tone of surprise:

"Who is paying my bills?" "Nobody but your own little wife, Goldie, dear," she said, putting her arms around his neck. "You know you kept a secret from me, and so I kept one from you.' Then followed such a burst of elo quence as only a husband in the same situation can appreciate. "I know, Goldie, you have a theory against money-earning wives, but just this once you know you must change you opinion. It was so much better than having bills carried over." "You precious darling," he said. "But you won't have any more of your husband's bills to pay, because I have just been engaged by Hunt & Slocum to begin work there to-morrow at a higher salary than I ever had before."-Mrs. Susan T. Perry, in Interior.

The Ruling Passion.

Minister (consolingly)-Don't weep, Mrs. Smith. I hope your dear husband is in Heaven.

Widow Smith-I don't know, whether he is in Heaven or not, for his tombstone is not engraved vet and I have not read his obituary in the newsgh to let her know he had left Gard-Whitbeek & Co. One morning, a I'll have a card of thanks published, thanking those who assisted him during Minister-That is unnecessary. was simply an act of humanity. It was their duty. Never feel obliged to any one for any thing, unless it be for som thing that duty and humanity did not require any one to perform.

Widow Smith-But it's the fashion to publish a card of thanks, and now that I am a widow it behooves me to follow the fashions pretty closely for the next year or two. And won't I give him a dandy funeral?—Arcola Record.

-Working Up a Sensation .- Reporter -"I have a great scheme." City Editor (eagerly)-"What is it?" Reporter -"Let me have twenty-five dollars and I'll write up three-column sensation on 'How It Feels to Have a New Suit.'

THE QUEEN'S HOUSEHOLD. The Daily Routine in the Royal Palace of

Of all the principal courts of Europ that of England is the simplest, and yet the household maintained by the Queen ries paid at any court, and in return ex-

Her habits are quiet and unostentatious. She rises at eight a. m., and her breakfast consists of a dish of oatmeal, some fish and a cup of cocoa. The lords and ladies in waiting, thirty-five in number, breakfast in the most sumptuous style, and it is principally for these important personages that the following kitchen staff is maintained: one kitchen clerk, a chef, six cooks, and fourteen

At ten o'clock her Majesty receives her letters and news. In accordance with strict court etiquette the Queen is paper, magazine or periodical; neither does she receive any written comunicalives often are, was ordered before she tion except family letter. The newspapers are read through by one of the and told her her mother was ill, and she secretaries to the private seretary, who must go home the following day. The next morning Ellen showed her mistress makes cuttings of any ness likely to interest her Majesty, and these are fastened to a piece of silk and tad upon

It is strictly forbidden to any member of the royal family or to any one in the household to convey any newspaper or periodical to her Majesty, or to her attention to any news in the daily papers. No political news is clipped from the dailies. The principal attendants upon the Queen are six Pages of the Back Stairs, whose offices have certainly not an honorable name, but who receive the tolerable salary of $2,500 a year apiece. One of them is in constant attendance at the door of her Majesty's apartment. from early morning until she retires at he has frequently to carry the Queen's reprimand to some member of the household who may have incurred her displeasure.

Dinner at the palace is served at seven o'clock, and the setting and arranging of the table is a most artistic erformance, and occapies about two hours. For this service a table decker is maintained at $1,000, who occupies a suite of rooms in the palace, and three assistant deckers, besides a wax-fitter to arrange the candles and three lamplighters to light them. The Queen retires at ten o'clock, excepting on special occasions, when she res as early as she can manage to without disturbing her visitors. There are eight Ladies of the Bedchamber, These ladies are all of the highest families, and rarely rank under a Duchess. There are besides eight bedchamber women, also persons of quality, who really do the work of ladies' maids, and receive $1,500 a year. These wemen serve by turns in couples a month at a time and they are beautifully soft, warm, and light of texture. The sheets are also of the same wool, and no liner sheets are ever used. The ventilation of the room is perfect. Throughout the cool temperature, no overheating is per mitted, and in all the private rooms

There is a complete sanitary estab lishment, supported at a cost of £2,700 a appendages to royalty no one earns his wages more fairly than the obscure per sonage who figures at theend of the payroll - the Queen's rat-catcher - whos duty it is to keep the royal premise from "all rats and mice and such small deer," and who in return for this service receives the modest stipend of £75 a year .- Chicago Tribune.

CRUSTY MARK TWAIN.

The Humorist Is Sour, But Worth All of Two Million Dollars. Mark Twain's success in life seems to have made him crusty and sour. Years ago, when he was struggling for fame and fortune on the Pacific coast, those who knew him said he was warm-hearted and cordial. But he is certainly far from that now. When he comes to New York, as he often does, he evades newspaper reporters, and if by any chance these industrious gentlemen manage to waylay him and seek an interview on any topic, the great humorist is not only reticent, but ugly and disagreeable. Perhaps to those he knows he is more friendly. At any rate, the reporters now steer clear of him. They never bother him when he comes to the city, and he is left alone in his giory.

I saw him on the street a while ago dressed in a dark business suit. He has an attractive face, a splendid head, set upon a pair of strong shoulders. His eyes are clear and his mouth denotes great firmness. His hair is silvering gradually, although there is an abundance of it. His mustache is reddish and his eyebrows are heavy.

Mr. Clemens lives in style in Hartford, Ct. His home is on Farmington avenue. It is a house luxuriously furnished and filled with rare pictures and books. The occupant of the house ad-joining is Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, and not far away is the home of Charles Dudley Warner. Mr. Clemens never talks about his books except to those whom he knows intimately. But there is one topic that he is willing to discuss at any time, and that is international copyright. In fact, it may be said that he is a crank on the subject. His books sell well. "Innocents Abroad," the most successful of all his literary ventures, has a steady sale, and his fortune is estimated by those who know him to be considerably over $2,000,000. Sometimes fun pays .- N. Y. Mail and Ex-

-Clerical Advice -A rather plain lady asks the opinion of her minister: "Is it a sin to feel a trifle of vanity when I am called handsome by a gantleman?' "Not a sin for you, my child, but a ter-rible responsibility hangs upon the gentleman."—Philadelphia Times.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT. Senator Ingalls' Views on the Infliction of the Supreme Penalty. We are all under sentence of death. By some mysterious and inexorable law it is appointed for all men to die. Other consists of over 1,000 persons. The dis- incidents may or may not occur, but cipline is strict and admirably carried death is inevitable. There is no reout. The Queen pays the highest sala- prieve, no new trial, no pardon, no executive clemency. Life, the most sacred lar in her eyes, for she in turn walked acts the most unswerving integrity, the of all natural rights, is the one of which greatest discretion and most faithfu! all are deprived by an arbitrary decree service. For her household expenses of nature. The verdict is pronounced

> The right of man to live is sacred and incontestible, and yet it may be renounced. If I am attacked, I have the right to kill my assailant, if his death is until you are great, I shall be quite connecessary for the preservation of my own life. This is not denied by any code of morals or of laws. Life may be a man ninety-two years old who brings legally taken not only in self-defense but in the protection of property, of honor, and the State. If the right to slav exists, then the right to live is forfeited, because two contradictory Citizen. rights affecting the same individual can not exist. Civil governments are established. among other objects, to dispense with private vengeance, and to punish crimes quishes his right to kill the man who has slain his father, his brother, his wife or his friend, upon the agreement that society shall avenge the wrong, and punish the offender. This seems to be the rational justification of the death penalty, which has been universally recognized from the step on my left foot; the right one has beginning of history.

And yet it can not be denied that as the conscience of nations become sensitive and the sacredness of life more apparent its infliction grows more repulsive. Tribunals, juries and legislatures are perceptibly reluctant to enforce the fatal right of retaliation. Limitations are imposed. The condemned criminal becomes the object of excessive and inexplicable sympathy. Philanthropy strives to devise less ternight. His position is no sinecure, and rible methods of execution. The barbarous torture of the stake, the gibbet, the wheel, of beheading and mutilation, once deemed essential to the safety of society, are regarded with horror, and have been definitely abandoned. Humanity shudders at the contemplation, and inquires whether the sacrifice of life is not indefensible if the isolation of the felon is sufficient for the protection of the State from the repetition of

> The public sentiment for the abolition of capital punishment is evidently growing stronger in all parts of the civilized world. For political offenses, except in actual war, it has been finally suppressed. Had Waterloo occurred two centuries earlier Napoleon would have been sent to the block instead of to St. Helena.

the crime.

The right of government to inflict the death penalty must be conceded. The objects of punishment are to reform the offender and to protect society. The idea of vengeance has been eliminated. No gentleman can be considered as reed by being hanged, and the only remaining consideration, therefore, is that of social utility. This is debatable ground, and is not susceptible of demon-There are some incorrigible and predestined criminals, the wolves, tigers and cobras of the human race whose execution gives general satisfac tion; but the victims of heredity, of want, of sudden rage, of ungovernable impulse are regarded with compassion. The indications are strong that society will ultimately be reinforced with sufficient intellectual and moral guarantees to enable it to dispense with this supreme penalty. At present the general conscience would probably reflect the sentiment of the challenged juryman in Montana, who declared that he was opposed to capital punishment, except when inflicted by a vigilance committee.

The Legislature of Kansas has adopted the ingenious device of ordering criminals condemned to death to be confined for one year after sentence to the penitentiary, and then executed at the pleasure of the Governor. The result is an accumulation of a job lot of convicted felons, whose lives having been judicially forfeited, instead of being abbreviated, are indefinitely prolonged by improved diet, scientific sanitary regulations, and enforced good habits, at the expense of the State.-John James Ingalls, in N. Y. Sun.

TOM SMITH KICKED. A Denver Man Who Knew How to Fight for His Reputation. One day in the years gone by, when I was on the editorial staff of a struggling Denver daily, a man came tramping up stairs with a copy of our last issue in his hand, and said:

"Gentlemen, I want to know who writ this piece about me.' It was an item copied from a San Francisco paper in regard to the hanging of a man named Tom Smith by a vigilance committee, and the edito looked it over and replied:

"This wasn't writ about you. It is about a Tom Smith who was hanged in California."

"That's me. I'm Tom Smith. "But you are not that Tom Smith. It tells how he was cut down and buried." time in singing and praying. "Makes no difference to me; I'm Ton Smith, and it is all a lie about my being hanged," growled the visitor. "Can't there be any other Tom Smith besides you?" demanded the editor. "Never heard of any. That was writ to slur me.' "You are mistaken, man. Can't you see that we copied it from a San Fran-

"Well, that's all the same to me. Th idea was to ruin my reputation in this town, and I've come up to lick both of He was proceeding to do it when a lam compositor came in and shot him through the left leg, but even after that he chewed the old man's ear to a pulp and broke two of my fingers. -N. Y. Sun He Could Go Oat But Once. First Woman-You ought to get your husband to take you to the -- Theater

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Cholly Peachblow-"Ow! I say, bah bah, that razor pulls." Barber (con temptuously)-"Pulls what?"-N. Y -She (after a conjugal tiff)-"I won-

He -"It is sad to think, dear, that this will always be a matter of conjecture with you."—Philadelphia Press.

—"You may charge this," said Jaysmith, indicating a watch he had se lected. "You seem to mistake it for a gun," replied the jeweler, as he placed it back in the case. -Judge. -He(pathetically)-"All great men have smoked, my dear." She (with animation)-"O, if you will only swear off tent."

—Wife (reading)—"Here it tells about up all the coal and chops all the wood used in the family. What do you think of that?" Husband (contemptuously)-"Well, he must be a fool!"-Lowell -At the boarding house.-Miss Betterdaies-"Mamma, I wish Mr. Margin would not help himself with his fork. Mrs. Betterdaies (consolingly)-"Don't mind it, dear; he never eats with it."against individuals as offences against Detroit Free Press.

the social compact. The citizen relincomplimentary to me. They all say that in my last performance I deserve a word of praise." Gall—"Yes, so I see; but I notice that none of them give it to you."-Boston Transcript. -Lady-"Sir you should introduce little change in your style of dancing. Gent-"How do you mean, Mademoille?" Lady-"You might occasionally had enough."-London Tid Bits. -At a Soiree. -Miss Gushlere-"How torturing, how fearful the thought must be for a great singer to know that she has lost her voice!" Mr. Praclere—"It is much more torturing when she doesn't know it."-Harvard Lampoon.

-Physician (reflectively)-"H'm! The case is one, I think, that will yield to a mild stimulant. Let me see your tongue, madam, if you please." Husband of patient(hastily)-"Doctor, her tongue doesn't need any stimulating. -Chicago Tribune.
-Miss Nuborder-"I believe I will work a nice motto and present it to Mrs. Hashcroft to hang up in the diningroom. Can't you suggest something, Mr. Billings?" Billings-"Open your mouth and shut your eyes."-Terre Haute Ex-

"I will be a sister to you," she said. "No," he replied sadly; "I've got one sister who wears my neckties, borrows car-fare, loses my hair brush, puts tidies all over the furniture in my room, and expects me to take her to the theater twice a week. I think I'll go out into Post.

-"Mr. Scribbleton, I have a compliment for you." "Indeed?" "Yes; a friend of mine, Miss Belle Pepperton, says that you are developing very marked literary tastes." "O, indeed," said Scribbleton, with a sad smile; "it wasn't more than an hour since that I told Miss Pepperton that I hadn't written any thing for over a month."

A NIGHT OF HORROR. Imprisoned Miners Watch a Wall o

Water Creep Upon Them. The Egypt coal mine, near Egypt Station, N. C., is the only coal mine in North Carolina and has usually forty laborers employed in it.

The pit is 450 feet deep, and there is only one cage used to draw out the men During one afternoon this cage was caught by a slight cave-in about midway between the top and bottom of the only shaft, thus rendering useless the only means by which the laborers could get out. At first nobody knew what to do. Wives, mothers and children of the imprisoned men gathered about the mine, and their cries of agony could be heard a mile away.

It was known that the water rose very rapidly in the mine, and with the machinery blocked there was no way pos sible to pump it out. The miners would, therefore, soon drown if not rescued. No voice could penetrate the depths, and no sound could be heard from below.

Night came on, but there were no prospects of rescue. At last Samuel A. Henzsey, the president of the coal mine company, got some men to work, and throughout the long hours while they tried to loosen the machinery mothers walked up and down weeping and carrying babies in their arms.

Midnight came, but nobody thought of sleeping. Just before daybreak some men were lowered down to the fastened cage and cut a hole in it. The glad tidings were sent up that the men were alive. Soon ropes were let down, and one by one they were pulled out. All were alive, but had the rescue been delayed a few hours all would have been drowned, as the water in the mine had risen four feet and would have soon covered the head of every man. were all wet, cold and half-starved. "We did not expect to be rescued at all," remarked an old man. sure that the mine had caved in at the top, and not a man of us ever expected to be taken out of that pit alive huddled close together, and spent the

"We knew at the rate the water was rising on us that it would only be a matter of a few hours before we would all drown," he added, "and it required a lot of talk and persuasion to keep some of the men from lying down in the water and drowning before the water was three feet deep. We then made a bargain to stand on our feet just as long as we could, and when we could stand no longer we had agreed to all lie down in the water at the same time and die. It was an awful time, and I think we all suffered the horrors of a hundred deaths.' -N. Y. Morning Journal.

Out for Keeps. Mrs. Rambo-Is your mother at home Thomas? Tommy Dodd-No, ma'am; she's out. Mrs. Rambo-How unfortunate! Tell per I shall call again to-morrow, will Second Woman—Is it a four-act play?

First Woman—Not only two.

Second Woman—Then he wouldn't that she was always out when you called —Lippincott's.

The Division of Clouds.

For practical purposes clouds are divided into four classes, cumulus, stratus, cirrus and nimbus. Meteorologists, however, recognize many differences of form in each class. Abercromble gives these ten principal varieties, with their der if there are any men in Heaven? mean height in summer at Upsala, Sweden: Cirrus (pure wispy cloud), 27,000 feet; cirro-stratus (thin, high, wispy, or striated sheet cloud of all sorts), 27,600 feet; cirro-cumulus (fleecy cloud at high level), 20,000 feet; strato-cirrus (a similar cloud to the cirro-stratus, but at a low level), 15,000 feet; cumulo-cirrus (fleecy cloud at low level), 12,000 feet; strato-cumulus (extended lumpy cloud), 6,000 feet; cumulus (pure rocky cloud), 4,000 feet at the base; cumulo-nimbus (rocky rain cloud), 4,900 feet at the base; nimbus (low rain cloud), 4,500 feet; stratus (pure sheet cloud), 1,000 feet.-Boston Budget.

Extraordinary Phenomenon, An extraordinary phenomenon popularly called kamaitachi is reported from Kitakomagori, Yamanashi Ken, in Japan, says the Nichi Nichi Shimbun. Scientists assign its cause to a vacuum due to atmospheric changes, while the villagers think it to be the work of devils. The circumstances giving rise to the above theories are as follows: A man suddenly falls down while walking in the open air or in a house when a slit in the flesh from one inch to one inch and a half in length and about an inch in depth is found, the place principally attacked being the legs. At the time not much pain is felt, but half an hour afterward the pain increases as the blood begins to flow. The wounds are said to be very difficult to cure.

The Dilemma Old Mr. Singleton-Now, remember, my boy, don't let that young wife of yours get the upper hand. "Just as soon as a woman can manage a man she begins to despise him," you know. Young Mr. Doubloon (wearily) -Ye-e-es, I know; but just as soon as a woman finds she can't manage a man she begins to make it hot for him. -Puck.

"Mother's Friend" is growing in favor throughout the Scath and is highly recommended by physicians. We consider it indispensable to those who know they must pass through the ordeal of child-birth. Write Braddeld Reg. Co., Atlanta, Ga., for particulars. Sold by all druggists.

Says the Southern Medical World:

Woman is man's superior in a great many ways, and the worst of it is she knows it. Somerville Journal.

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada, Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins: Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar. ALWAYS discount what a man says when mad. About temper sent will do.—Smith, Gray & Co.'s Monthly. M. L. Thompson & Co., Druggists, Cou-dersport, Pa., say Hall's Catarrh Cure is the best and only sure cure for catarrh they ever sold. Druggists sell it, 75c.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the sys tem effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Tonic, Alterative and Cathartic Properties. Tutt's Pills possess these qualities in an eminent degree, and Speedily Restore to the bowels their natual peristaltic motion, so essential to regularity.

Sold Everywhere.

KISSING at 7, 17, 70: Photo-gravure J. F. SMITH & CO., Makers of "Bile Boans." St. Louis, Mo.

DO You Live in a House? hysicians and U. S. Government. SendaRTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Falla Pa FARM THE Best Methods

The ewes o in warm we season for suc it, they are tu watered pastu ration daily fo ing the ram w kept at good of cold weath in winter q mediately. ment will an should be ba on the outside paper inside. to slide. Th floor above to also answers By means of opening, the be kept at the The fold is square, and ewes each. An alley 4 fe ing racks ar tween the per the alley for c alley fences a wired loosely ground. Aperingress of la ewes, are left racks and loo the alley for kept well bed the racks and up by pushin dry the manu the sheep ren the racks and a vehicle run

When place ewes should fodder in alt the roots th ration now n not corn. Aft sweet ensilag roots, and the oil meal, mix weight, given pails. The l plied continu rations. Bet the lambs sh ty-five to forty are fit for n wanted at any

Lambs are them up by knife through not cutting t trails only are back and extending ac or omentum abdominal car posed surface short wooden are wrapped in forward legs this is sewed similar cover over the mu ready for shi produce commies handle the POU · from Take a barre on, and cut a about one hall bottom. In fr the hen jum nest. The al

very narrow-Fill the barr

then make t a hen usually eat eggs, she this nest, espo across the bar the top of the hen from st The top of th movable to fac The barrel place, with t from the light

The United riculture is Rupervision pomological full report eties of fruit This report actual exper growers in al and in order hensive as po Van Deman, tical fruit gre their experie lar of interrop him their ni postal cardpomologist C those who ass port in the ceive a copy

Use a little when there eracking.

ulus, stratus, eorologists, lifferences of mble gives s, with their Upsala, Sweoud), 27,000 gh, wispy, or sorts), 27,600 cloud at high irrus (a simiatus, but at a umulo-cirrus ), 12,000 feet; umpy cloud), rocky cloud), mulo-nimbus feet at the cloud), 4,500 cloud), 1,000

menon, menon popu reported from Ken, in Japan, bun. Sciencuum due to the villagers devils. The to the above man suddenly g in the open lit in the flesh and a half in h in depth is ally attacked me not much our afterward blood begins said to be very young wife of nd. "Just as age a man she ou know. (wearily) st as soon as a nage a man she him.-Puck.

w, remember,

dical World: know they must of child-birth. Atlanta, Ga., for uggists.

rin agreat many s she knows it. ent by Cragin & one in the U.S. or on receipt of 25 appers. See list and each bar.

man says when will do.-Smith, for catarrh they it, 75c.

JOYS d results when n; it is pleasant taste, and acts on the Kidneys, leanses the sysels colds, headd cures habitual of Figs is the kind ever prohe taste and acnach, prompt in beneficial in its v from the most ole substances. qualities comhave made it medy known. for sale in 50c ll leading drugle druggist who hand will profor any one who Do not accept rative and roperties.

G SYRUP CO. OO, CAL. NEW YORK, N.Y.

Restore rywhere.

FARM AND GARDEN.

THE EARLY LAMBS.

Best Methods of Rearing and Marketing Them The ewes of course have to be served in warm weather, out of the usual season for such service. To accomplish it, they are turned into a shady, wellwatered pasture, and fed a light grain ration daily for two weeks before placing the ram with them. They are then kept at good pasture until the approach of cold weather, when they are placed in winter quarters and are shorn immediately. A well-lighted barn basement will answer for quarters. This should be battened or double-boarded on the outside, and lined with sheathing paper inside. The windows are made to slide. There is an opening in the floor above to throw down fodder, and it also answers as an escape for foul air. By means of the windows and this opening, the temperature of the fold can be kept at the required fifty degree.

The fold is divided into pens 16 feet square, and these accommodate 16 ewes each, or 16 square feet to a ewe. An alley 4 feet wide extends through the center of the fold. Movable feeding racks are the division fences between the pens. These racks open into the alley for convenience of filling. The alley fences are made of boards and are wired loosely to posts driven in the ground. Apertures for the egress and ingress of lambs, but excluding the ewes, are left between the fences, and racks and loose troughs are placed in the alley for the lambs. The pens are kept well bedded, and as they fill up the racks and fences are raised and held up by pushing straw under them. If the surface of the bedding can be kept dry the manure is not removed while the sheep remain. When they are gone the racks and fences can be moved and a vehicle run in to haul out the manure.

When placed in their quarters, the ewes should be fed clover hay and corn fodder in alternation, together with all the roots they will eat. Their grain ration now may be barley or oats, but not corn. After the lambs are dropped, sweet ensilage may take the place of roots, and their grain ration from this time on is whole corn, wheat bran and oil meal, mixed in equal proportions by weight, given twice a day, all they will eat. Salt is kept by them, and water in pails. The lamb troughs are kept supplied continually with the same grain rations. Between four and eight weeks the lambs should be fat, and weigh thirare fit for market. Poor stock is not wanted at any price. Lambs are slaughtered by hanging them up by the heels and running a knife through the throat crosswise, but not cutting the gash clear out. The entrails only are removed, the flanks drawn or omentum spread entirely over the forward legs to the gambrel joints, and this is sewed fast with long stitches; a in Country Gentleman. POULTRY HINT.

How To Build a Nest To Prevent Hens from Eating Their Eggs. Take a barrel or keg. Leave the top on, and cut an extrance, 10x12 inches, about one half or two-thirds from the bottom. In front is a board upon which the hen jumps before entering the nest. The alighting board should be very narrow-not over two inches wide. Fill the barrel partly with earth and then make the nest on the earth. As Fruit Growing. The United States Department of Agriculture is preparing, under the supervision of the chief of the pomological division, to issue a very full report on the many varieties of fruits grown in this country. This report will consist largely of the actual experience of practical fruit growers in all sections of the country, and in order that it may be as compre hensive as possible, the pomologist, Mr. Van Deman, will be obliged to all practical fruit growers willing to contribute their experience and reply to the circular of interrogatories, which he has preceive a copy when published.

NEST TO PREVENT EGG-EATING.

A BAD PRACTICE.

Many Farmers Who Sell Their Crops in the Raw State. It is the custom with most farmers to run their farms to their fullest capacity and sell the crops in the raw state, thus reducing the soil from whence all this material comes. If the farmer could realize that he is a manufacturer and the farm his factory, and to sell the crops off the farm is selling the raw material which always brings the lowest price, that he is thus losing more than half the profit he should obtain from the farm, there would be less poor rundown farms; less run-out fields; less heard of hard times; less poor bankrupt farmers; and that farming is after all, a vain delusion and does not pay.

The farmer should consider that the farm is not only a factory, but it also produces its own raw material from which to manufacture articles of sale. Thus he has the advantage of most every other manufacturer. The soil and air are the sources from which the farmer draws his supplies of raw material, and the plant and animal life are the machines by which he works up this raw material into useful manufactured articles, such as milk, butter, cheese, pork, beef, mutton, wool and cotton. Instead of the farm being adapted to a single crop or a single occupation, it is really a combination of a great many pursuits. The implements and machinery are varied, and the products are not limited to any particular article. Let us look at some of the farmers' machines and see what advantages he has over other manufacturers. The cow, which is the machine for convertcheese, is unlike other machines, is done.-Rural New Yorker. self-sustaining and self-repairing. Now the purpose of assisting to further in- free of any fatty substance. crease the amount of raw material.

The ewe, another farm machine, them into a greater variety of salable this valuable machinery is to the farmty-five to forty pounds live weight, and head of sheep upon them, who buy their family supplies of wool and mutton, and dig up the briars and sassafras bushes with elbow grease, while much of the by the sheep.

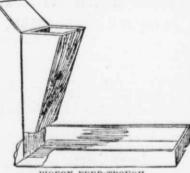

The sow, another valuable machine, enables the farmer to cultivate crops extending across the back, and the caul that are rarely salable except at low prices, and manufacture them into pork are wrapped in white muslin from the independent and farming more profit-

Then comes the mare, that gives us similar covering of burlaps is placed the power with which to perform the over the muslin, and they are then work required, and adds her offspring ready for shipment by express. Most produce commission houses in large cities handle these lambs. - Galen Wilson, to work their farms, but how many avail themselves of this advantage of keeping a mare as a machine and working farmer will give the mare a chance she do not sell at prices much above cost of production, and manufacture it into the share of colts that will make him independent of the market and fill his pockets with money. Then comes the hen; though but a small part of the whole, she is an effective and capable machine to pick up all the wasted seeds of every crop and manfacture them into ready-selling carcasses and eggs.

Thus we see the farmer ought not to sell his crops in their crude or raw state, but feed them to the various farm animals and birds which act as so many machines, performing their work by different methods, manufacturing the crops of the farms into a variety of manufactured products which are salable at all times and seasons of the year. Farmers, consider yourselves manufacturers, your farms your factories, and work them to their fullest capacity. Sell nothing off of the farm until it has been utilized by the farm machines, unless wisdom points out that the most profit would be in selling the raw material .-Thanas D. Baird, in Ohio Farmer.

Feed-Box for Pigeons. The feed-box depicted herewith was designed by Harry M. Dore, of Calia hen usually stands on the ground to fornia, who writes to the American Ageat eggs, she will be unable to do so in riculturist that he finds it very conthis nest, especially if a board is nailed renient and economical. It consists of you; but they bit like a trout. They paid across the barrel, inside, on a line with a shallow trough, twelve inches long, the top of the entrance, to prevent the six wide and four deep, to one end of hen from standing up in the nest. Which is attached a chute eight inches The top of the barrel or keg should be high and four inches wide with an openmovable to facilitate cleaning the nest. In square at the top and tapering to a in town lots an' then my wife hopped on The barrel should be in a secluded narrow outlet at the bottom. A lid is me. She 'lowed that I never did have PIGEON FEED-TROUGH. of wire or string. This chute is filled to investigate an' lo and behold the pared for the purpose, who will send with grain or other food, which espared for the purpose, who will send him their name and post-office on a postal card—address H. E. Van Deman, pomologist United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. All those who assist in the work of this report in the manner indicated, will report in the manner indicated in the manner play the inside of the chute. The himself. Now, my wife 'jows that I am structure is made of half-inch pine or the biggest fool in the world an' has Use a little mutton tallow or vaseline other soft wood, and can easily be made gone to town to git a divorce from me, when there are signs of the cow's teats by any one who can handle a saw, plane an' here I am tryin' to sell pies fur a and hammer.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Cranberry jelly, current jelly or tomato sauce are nice with roast veal; cranberries have excellent tonic properties and should be freely used when the market affords them.

-To a pair of shoes that have become stiff and uncomfortable by constant wear in the rain, apply a coat of vaseline rubbing it in well with a cloth, and in a short time the leather will become as soft and pliable as when it was taken from the shelves of the shoe-dealer.

-Asparagus Sauce: Stew one pound of tender asparagus heads, in barely enough water to cover them. When tender drain off the water and cover them with sweet, rich cream, mashing them up thoroughly. Add a large table spoonful of fresh butter, salt and pepper to taste. Simmer gently for a few moments.-Ladies' Home Journal.

-Wilted Lettuce: Stir together one well-beaten egg, one-half cup of sour cream, one teaspoonful of sugar, onehalf teaspoonful of salt, and one-half cup of vinegar; melt one tablespoonful of butter in a sacepan, stir in the mixture and heat; when hot, add lettuce, cover, steam only for a moment or two and serve.—The Household.

-Jellied Apples: Peel ten or twelve tart apples, core, leaving them whole. Pour a pint of cold water on two teaspoons of gelatine, when dissolved add a cup of white sugar and let it boil five minutes. Grate the rind of one lemon and squeeze in the juice, stir well and pour over the apples in an earthen pudding dish, then cover tightly with a dish bottom side up so it will not touch the ing the farm crops into milk, butter or apples. Bake half an hour or until

-All ordinary china or earthenware the farmer finds a great deal of matter is porous, and the fine pores will fill up produced on the farm which has cost with grease or fatty substance, which in him something to make, that there is time becoming rancid will give an offenno sale for and would be lost, but by the assistance of the cow he is enabled such vessels. Soap should not be used to manufacture it into a form for which | for washing such ordinary china or he can find ready sale; while at the earthen vessels (the solution of soda is same time she returns a portion of the better), and all vessels should be after original cost in the shape of manure for | wards well rinsed with clean, hot water,

-Beef Stew with Peas: Take three pounds of beef, let it boil four hours in comes to help the farmer dispose of his salted water, remove the scum carefully crops at a good profit by manufacturing as it rises; when the meat is about half done add one onion, one small carrot, products in the shape of wool, mutton, one-half a turnip and two large potatoes lambs and manure, besides keeping cut in small pieces; cook one pint of down briars and other pests of the farm. peas in a separate saucepan in liquor Notwithstanding the great advantage taken from the meat; add them when done to the meat and vegetables, with a head of sheep upon them, who buy their the meat into small pieces and serve it in the stew.—Boston Herald.

-In any good household, lard should be rendered in the kitchen from the best production of the farm that is not sal- healthy pork. For small families in able in its present form could be eaten cities who can afford it, it would be advisable to keep leaf-lard, in summer for a few days in the ice-box, in winter in any cool place; and never more than a supply for a few days should be laid in. abdominal cavity and all the raw, exposed surface, and fastened there with short wooden pins. After cooling they Fresh leaf-lard and beef-suet can be cut rancid fat used for cooking .- Good Housekeeping.

EXCEEDINGLY SMART.

A Tennessee Man Explains Why He Has Taken to Peddling Pies. "You wouldn't take me for a very sharp fellow, would you?" asked an old man who lives in a "boomed" district of her to her fullest capacity? If the Tennessee. Several men were sitting on the platform at a railway station will take much of the farm crops that waiting for a train. The old fellow had come up with pies, made of dried peaches. and had offered in vain to sell out for

"No," answered one of the men, "I'd not take you to be very sharp."3

"Well, I'll just tell you how sharp was. Two or three weeks ago, atter the boom sot in over yander at Cardiff, I noticed one mornin' that a lot of fellers was pokin' round in my field. I went over an' found that they had a lot of chains an' three-legged things, an' was a takin' sight at nothin' in particular. But I soon seed that they must 'a' had somethin' particular in view, fur they didn't want to tell me what the'r business was an' finally they worried me so with the'r draggin' of chains an' takin' of sight that I told them that if they didn't move on away I would set the dogs on them. That brought them to time, an' one of them draw'd me to one side an' asked me what I would take for that field. Wall, I didn't know. It was a putty fa'r piece of land an' I wa'n't itchin' to sell it, still I mout be dragged into partin' with it. They didn't seem very anxious about the price-all they peared to want to know was if they could git the land. Finally I told then that they mout have it for one thousand dollars, a putty high mark, I can tell me the money an' I went home about as happy a man as thar was in the county. place, with the entrance turned away attached to the top by hinges or loops no sense nohow, an' swore that them from the light.—Farm and Home. under our very noses an' sell the lots for big money and that we would have dollars an' see a city with great blocks of buildings grow up. I seed the point, an' the next day I got a feet to sinches diameter.

LCOMIS & NYMAN,
TIFFIN, - OHIO.

S-NAME THIS PAPER may the possible point, an' the next day I got a feet to sinches diameter. point, an' the next day I got a feller to Flip around an' buy up the lots. I borred ail the money I could an' wife she borred all she could, an' after investin' nearly four thousand dollars we were masters of the situation. We had hearn of the new railroad that was comin' in an' we waited an' waited, but it didn't come; so after while, seein' that the men had stopped takin' sight an' draggin' thar chains, I went around fellers had left the neighborhood. I TIS USED by CHILDREN.
DREN'S CHILDREN.
DREN'S CHILDREN.
Houseasts of young men and women in the U. S. A. owe their lives and their health aga their baspiness to Ridge's Food their daily diet in Infancy and Childhood having been Ridge's Food. By Drugsitts. the biggest fool in the world an' has livin'."-Arkansas Traveler.

WOMEN, like poker-players, raise the blind to see what the neighbors have got.—

ALL cases of weak or lame back, backache, rheumatism, will find relief by wearing one of Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache Plasters. Price 25 cents. Try them. Work-our street railway equines can be classed as horse chestnuts.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

FRESHNESS and purity are imparted to the implexion by Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents.

It is when he is brought to trial that the swindler regrets that he is not a nonest man.—Elmira Gazette. For twenty-five cents you can get Carter's Little Liver Pills—the best liver regulator in the world. Don't forget this. One pill a dose

A STABLE government must be established by good horse sense.—N. O. Picayune.

The best cough medicine is Piso's Cure for consumption. Sold everywhere. 25c. yune.

The burning love of two young hearts is a case of spontaneous combustion.— None equal "Tansill's Punch" 5c. Cigar. A MAN of morbid tastes—the auctioners. Harvard Lampoon.

Manya man who objects to carrying a bundle home from the provision store goes home from the bar-room loaded.—Boston A BILL to abolish suits for breach of promise of marriage has been introduced in the British Pallament. It is believed that such a law in this country would increase the sale of pistols, and induce many young women to have a different aim in life.—Norristown Herad.

Two segators from a photographer do not make secretive. They only make it more difficult which to select to have your dozen made from.—Pittsburgh Chronicle.

Which a prize-fighter draws first blood in a fight is it permissible for the reporter to say that he has given his opponent a claret panch?—Somerville Journal.

Before a man is married and he has asked the fatal question, he sometimes has to beg her to break through her shyness and only give him one little word. But he never has occasion to beg for a word after marriage.—Philadelphia Times. WHEN an editor lacks backbone it must make him feel uncomfortable to have peo ple refer to his "want column."—Yonkers THERE is nothing makes a man so mad as when he is trying to call another man some particularly opprobrious name to find that he can not pronounce it.—Lawrence Ameri THE only genuine original package was filled, not with liquor, but with original sin.

And it is still doing business at the old stand.—Philadelphia Press.

The eight hour plan is right. That gives a man eight hours for work, eight hours for sleep and eight hours in which to clamor for six hours as a working-day.—

Men dress to please the women, and the latter, dear creatures, array themselves gorgeously that other women may be a prey to envy.—Milwaukee Journal

It takes a man of sand to secure his de-

For Fifty Years

Standard Blood-purifier and

Tonic, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has no equal as a Spring

Medicine. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

PATENTES AUG. 16, 1887.

PATENTES AUG. 16, 1887.

PATENTES AUG. 16, 1887.

DR. OWEN'S FLECTROGALVANIO BODY BELT

GALVANIO BODY BELT

Costiveness, Kidney

Disserved.

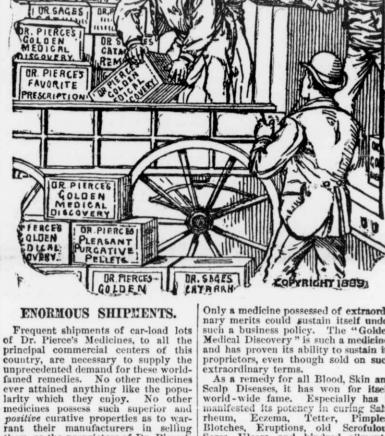

The Braid that is known the world around.

& CO.'S YEAR DOOK

Only a medicine possessed of extraordinary merits could sustain itself under such a business policy. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is such a medicine, and has proven its ability to sustain its proprietors, even though sold on such extraordinary terms.

As a remedy for all Blood, Skin and

As a remedy for all Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, it has won for itself world-wide fame. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Saltrheum, Eczema, Tetter, Pimples, Blotches, Eruptions, old Scrofulous Sores, Ulcers, and kindred ailments.

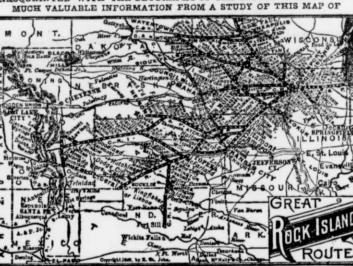

As a remedy for the peculiar weaknesses, distressing irregularities and them, as the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Medicines are doing, through druggists, under a positive guarantee of benefit or cure in every case, on fair trial, or money refunded. nesses, distressing irregularities, and painful derangements incident to women, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Pre-There are scores of sarsaparillas and other blood medicines advertised, but the "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce is the only one ever backed up by Pierce is the only one ever backed up by promptly refunded.

a positive guarantee from a well-known and thoroughly responsible house. The conditions are, that, given a fair trial, it sold on such fair and liberal terms.

They are manufactured by the World's will do all that is claimed for it, or money paid for it will be promptly re-funded. A Certificate of Guarantee Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., a house whose financial wraps every bottle.

To attempt the sale of an inferior, or even a fairly good, blood-purifier under standing and reputation for fair dealing is well-known to every publisher, as conditions as these, would | well as to every druggist, throughout mean bankruptcy to its proprietors. the civilized world.

MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY,

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoris, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterest, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sloux Falle, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Orcek, Kingfisher, Fort Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and free from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to North Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver, and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Hotels (furnishing meals at seasonable hours) west of Missouri River. California Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Salt Lake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, spirit Lake, and Sioux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Water-town, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO. ILL. General Manager

PISO'S CURESFOR Best Cough Medicine. Recommended by Physicians Cures where all else fails. Pleasant and agreeable to the taste. Children take it without objection. By druggists. CONSUMPTION

$75,9910$250,90 A MONTH can be made terred who can furnish a horse and give their whole time to the business. Spare moments may be profitably DENSION JOHN W. MORRIS,
Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. "ension Bureau.
3 Frin last war, 15 adjudicating claims, atty since.
co-NART WILLS PAPER every time you write.

A. N. K.-C. WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in this How Indians Fight.

Wonder is often expressed that our army, with the resources of the Government at its back, is habitually compelled to make a long, difficult and costly campaign in order to subdue even a few score Indians upon sweetest music we had ever heard. the warpath. The explanation is Joyously the reply rang out from our furnished by General Wesley Merritt corral, and the men, rushing from in an interesting description and discussion of three such campaigns furnished to Harper's Magazine. He shows that making war on American Indians is unlike any other war making in the world, and that a great part of the advantage which the army would have in contending with an equal number of white men is neutralized by the Indian's mode of fighting. The chief difficulty in an Indian war is to find the enemy. The theatre of operations in any campaign, grows heavier by being shared with whether in Wyoming, Dakota, Texas or Arizona, is "about as large as the New England States, with New York added," and this area, although an uninhabited wilderness and unknown to the white man, is "to the Indian as familiar as the paths of the home orchard are to the farmer and his children." There are other things to be noted about these theatres of Indian warfare. They are "without D spepsia and Habitual Constipation roads, and often impenetrable for hundreds of miles because of arid deserts or impassible mountain ranges." The Indians has no fixed habitations in these trackless wilds, and on finding the white troops at hand the direction of his flight is a matter of indifference to him. "Where Is Pleasant, Safe and efficient. Price 25 ets. night finds him is his home, and his subsistence and clothing are always with him." In war, too the Indian whatever his previous advance toward civilization, resorts to sayagery, as can well be understood, since war under any refinement is savage enough.

General Merritt dces not hesitate to say that it is a mistake to suppose that Indian wars now arise from inherited hatred of the whites:

"It is worse than nonsense to urge that the Indian regards the white intruders as the descendents of those who, two centuries or more ago, came to this country and by might deprived the Indians of their lands and hunting fields, and are through their children pursuing the 'red men toward the setting sun.' The Indian's knowledge of history scarcely extends beyond one generation. His white enemy is served in war as is any other enemy, and for the same is any other enemy. extends beyond one generation. His white enemy is served in war as is any other enemy, and for the same reasons. He has no inherited animosities dating from the time of the Pilgrim Fathers, nor does he feel constituted for kind pages shown to therefore.

gratitude for kind usage shown to his ancestors or to himself."

While Indian campaigning has always been difficult, it has become much more so, in General Merritt's opinion, since the civil war, because while formerly it was "an unwritten law of the frontier, religiously observed, that arms and ammunition should never at any price be furnished to the Indians," now the trader's cupidity supplies them with the best of both. The result is that "the Indians of the Indians," and the sherifor said county, at least ten days before said election, in which notice a copy of this Act shall be largered. Sec. I, And be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the question whether or not any person or persons, house, corporation, company or association may be licensed in Garrett county, by whom or in which spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold, shall be submitted to the registered voters of said county at the next general election to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, and the Sheriff of said county, and by hand-bills posted in each election district in said county, at least ten days before said election, in which notice a copy of this Act shall be Inserted.

SEC. I, And be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the question whether or not any person or persons, house, or portation, company or association may be licensed in Garrett county, by whom or in which spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold, shall be submitted to the registered voters of said county at the next general election to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, and the Sheriff of said county and the Sheriff o eq to the Indians," now the trader's cupidity supplies them with the best of both. The result is that "the Indian to-day is a more dangerous foe than would be a like number of veteran soldiers." He adds the most approved breechloader to the advantages in his mode of fighting already spoken of.

Although for the most part hostilities with the Indians are a record of constant labor and watchfulness, and sometimes great privations, now and then ending in a massacre tike that of Custer's command, or in capture and a horrible death, yet it has occasional features of romantic glory, pleasant to dwell upon. One of these was furnished by General Merritt's march to the relief of Captain Payne in the Ute war of 1869. The news reached Fort Russell that Major Thornburg had been attacked and killed on Milk Creek, that many of his men had perished, and that the remainder under Captain Payne, were surrounded by the hostiles. There was a distance of 170 miles to be marched after going by rail to the station nearest the scene, and no one could say whether the menaced command might not meanwhile be destroyed. For five terrible days and nights Payne's men held a rifle pit son or persons, house, company, association or body corporate shall sell, directly or indirectly, any spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters within the limits of said county, if a majority of all the votes cast shall have been against the sale of liquors or bitters, after the fourth day of November in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, he, she, they or it shall on conviction thereof, forfeit and pay a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, or instead of such fine, imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days, or both in the discretion of the Court.

Sec. 5. And be it enacted. That if any person or persons, house, company, association or body corporate shall sell, directly or indirectly, any spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters within the limits of said county, if a majority of all the votes cast shall have been against the sale of liquors or bitters, after the fourth day of November in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, he, she, they or it shall on conviction thereof, forfeit and pays a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars and costs of prosecution, or instead of such first and pays and or the court.

Sec. 5. And be it enacted. That if any person on oversons, house, company, association or body corporate shall sell, directly or indirectly, any spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters within the limits of sold county, if a majority of all the votes cast shall have been against the sale of liquors or better the sale of liquors or bette stroyed. For five terrible days and nights Payne's men held a rifle pit which they had hastily constructed. Once the Utes set fire to the dry grass to windward, and made a furious attack under cover of the smoke, but were repulsed. Then they settled down to watch their prey and starve them out, occasionally fighting the detachments sent to the creek for water. Meanwhile the relief column drew near, and when the guide, after a long night's march with the advance, was satisfied that it must be near the right spot, a bugler was ordered to sound with his trumpet the call known as officer's call, as a sign of recognition to preyent Payne's men, on hearing the tramp of their horse's, from mistaking them for foes. The result is given in Captain Payne's words:

"Believing it just possible for help stroyed and in ghts of the county in the county is and business than a print, or by the dirink, that such applicant or applicantes shall, in addition to the amount to be paid the State of Maryland, and if any person or persons, house, corporation, company or association for taking out license under Article fifty-six of the Code of Public General Laws, and the supplimentary Acts thereto, relating to spirituous or fermented liquors or alcoholic bitters or ail combined, in quantities more than a pint, or by the didnish the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use of the public schools of said Garrett county the further sum of twenty-five dollars for the use the alert for the expected signal. And so he was. Just as the first breaks the bridge over which he must pass himself; for every man has need to be forgiven. Poverty is the only burden which those we love. If You Have a Triffing Cough

Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough Cure. It is a sure and speedy cure for Coughs Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, Hoarseness &c. 25 cts. a bottle. For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, &c. Use Roger's Specific Liniment. It has no equal as a cure for Sprains, Burns Bruises, Colle, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentary, Rheumatism, &c. 25 cts.

Speedily cured by a few doses of Appetite, the Great Stomach, Kidney and Liver Rem-edy. Price 50 cts.

Piles! Piles! Piles! Roger's Specific Cocaine Pile Remedy Win ure in a short time the most aggravated case f Itching, protruding, Bleeding, or any other orm of Piles. Price 50 cts. a box.

Roger's Specific Worm Syrup For Chapped Hands, Face, &c., Use Frangipane Curative Balm, a delightful toilet article for the Hands, Face, Roughness of Skin, Face and Sunburn, Tetter, Pimples Blotches and Skin Diseases. Price 15 cts.

All the above preparations are for sale at A. G. Sturgiss' Drug Store, Oakland, and by druggists and country merchants in all parts of Garrett and adjoining counties.

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 610. AN ACT

AN ACT
To enable the qualified voters of Garrett County to determine by ballot whether spirituous or rermented liquors or alcoholic bitters shall be sold in said county, and to regulate the terms and conditions on which the sale thereof may be made in case the majority of the voters of said county shall petermine said question in the affirmative, and to regulate the sale thereof by druggists and pharmacists.

said clerk, in the penal sum of two chousand of oliars, conditioned for the payment of air fines, penalties, costs and damages to which the person or persons obtaining the said iterative person, and the said clerk is hereby prohibited from approving any bond under this section unless itsails and the said clerk is hereby prohibited from approving said clerk is hereby prohibited from approving said clerk is hereby prohibited from approving self such article on the Sabatah day and common this provision such person, and to return the common of this provision such person, and the said offender for it aid or the State's Attorney to said county the person when brought before any justice shall before osel such article on the Sabatah day and common this provision such person, and to return the common of this provision such person, and to return the commitment or any requirements of the General License Laws of this State, as written addayt to be a filed in his office in which the county of the said applicant is said and the owner of said which the county state the situation of the house or place of business and premises, including all the county of the said applicant is such afree-holder as is required by section six, and lives with three miles of the said proposed place of the said clerk of the Curt.

SEC. 8. And be it enacted, That all sums technical state of the person that ore places the person of the particle of the said proposed place of the said clerk shall be accounted for and pall over to the pattlets, to be filled, that office is as is required by section six, and lives the said office and the said clerk shall be accounted for and pall over to the county School Commissioners of said shall be accounted for and pall over to the county school commissioners of said the said of the said the said that the said and the said clerk sha

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That whoever, by the sale of intoxicating liquors contrary to the provisions of this Act, causes the intoxication of another person, shall be liable for and compelled to pay a reasonable compensation to any person who may take charge of, and provide for such intoxicated person, and one doilar per day in addition thereto, in consequence of such intoxication; which sum may be recovered in a civil action before any Court or jusice of the peace having jurisdiction thereof, and said suit may be brought upon the bond of any person obtaining iteense under the provisions of this Act, and shall be liable for the sum recovered in said suit, in case the sale is made by a person who has obtained license under the provisions of this Act. SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That whoever, by

Act.

Sec, 10. And be it enacted that every husband, wife, child, parent, guardian or other person injured in person or property, or means of support, by any intoxicated person. or in consequence of the intoxication, habitual or otherwise, of any person, shall after the giving and during the existence of the notice provided for in the next section, have a right of action in his or her own name, severally or jointly, against any person or persons or body corporate, who by selling or giving intoxicating liquors have caused the intoxication in whole or in part of such person, and the owner of any building ages sustained, as well as exemplary damages.

SEC. II. And be it enacted, That any husband, wile, child, parent, guardian or other person liable to be so injured by any sale of intoxicating liquors to any Person, and desiring to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors to such person, shall give notice either before a witness, or in writing to the person or persons so selling or giving intoxicating liquors, or to owner or lessor of the premises wherein such intoxicating liquors are given or sold, or file with the nearest justice of the peace in the town or district wherein such intoxicating liquors from any after the giving or filing of such notice, and the sald justice of the peace shall immediately inform the person or persons to whom the notice or notices are given, such notice filed with said justice of the peace shall be entered by him in a book to be kept for such purpose which shall be open for the inspection of all persons interested; and any notice entered in such book shall, by the justice of the peace having charge of the same, be erased and so obliterat d as not to be legible upon the demand of the person by whom such notice was filed, and thereafter such notice shall cease and end, and said justice of the peace shall be entitled to demand and receive a fee of ten cents for the filing and entry of every such notice.

such notice.

SEC. 12. And be it enacted. That such notice whether served personally or filed with the justice of the peace as aforesaid shall, during its existence, inure to the benefit of all persons interested, the same as if a notice had been served by each; and if any justice of the peace fall or refuse to make such record as herein provided, he shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than ten nor less than five dollars.

SEC, 13. And be it enacted, That a married woman shall have the same right to bring suit and control the same, and the amount recovered as a femme sole; and all damages recovered by a minor under this Act shall be paid either to such minor or to his or her parent, guardian or next friend, as the Court shall direct.

Sec. 14. And be it enacted, That any saloon keeper, grocer or other person who published the fact of any notice having been given, as provided in the for egoing sections, by posting such notice in any saloon, grocery, or other place, or by printing or causing the same to be printed in any newspaper, circular or in any other way gives publicity to the fact that such notice has been given, shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, more than fifty dollars for each offense,

Sec. 15. And be it exacted, That for all fines costs and damages assessed against any person in consequence of the sale of intericulating liquors, as provided for in the foregoing sections, suit may be brought "which all bond filled by said person, according to the provisions of section six, if said person has applied for and received license under the provisions of said section; but if he or she has not filed such bond, then the real estate and personal property of such person, of every kind without exception or exemption, shall be liable to execution on any judgment recovered, and said judgment shall be a lien upon such real estate until it is paid.

Sec. 16. And be it enacted, That from and after the passage of this act it shall be the duty of the grand jury in and for Garrett county, at its several sessions, diligently to enquire into, and present and indict all persons violating any of the provisions of this Act, and it shall be the duty of the Court before whom such person shall be convicted, to suppress his or her license in addition to the penalties imposed for violation of any of the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 17. And be it enacted. That nothing better the person shall be convicted.

penalties imposed for violation of any of the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 17. And be it enacted, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the compounding or sale of any such liquors for medicinal purposes by a pharmacist and druggist, who shall or may obtain a license under the license law of this State, and upon a written bona fide prescription of a regular practicing physician, whose name shall be signed thereto, and all such prescriptions shall be fled and kept by such pharmacist and druggist, and no prescription shall serve for more than one purchase; but no physician shall make or sign any such prescription unless the persor, for whom it is made is actually sick and such liquor is deemed by such physician necessary as a medicine; any physician mecessary as a medicine; any physician who shall make or sign any prescription for such liquor, except as aforesald, shall be deemed guilty of a violation of this Act, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than two hundred dollars for each offense; and if the buyer shall obtain a prescription by misrepresentation he shall likewise be deemed guilty of a violation of this Act and upon conviction thereof shall be subject to the same fine as the physician who shall each of the same shall of said of shall of sha Payne's words:

"Believing it just possible for help to reach us next morning, I had directed one of my trumpeters to be on

And so he was, Just as the first gray of dawn appeared our listening ears caught the sound of 'officer's call' breaking the silence of the morning and filling the valley with the sweetest music we had ever heard. Joyously the reply rang out from our corral, and the men, rushing from their rifle pits, made the welkin ring with their glad cheers.

This dramatic incident in our Indian campaighing recalls the famous story of the rellef of Lucknow, and like it, is worthy of the attention of painter and poet.

He that cannot forgive another the must.

The least two sureties to be approved by said bond, and that in no event shall any person or persons obtaining the said license may become liable for any violation of any of the license laws of this State, and the said like it, is worthy of the attention of painter and poet.

He that cannot forgive another the must.

Sec. 7. And be it enacted, That all proses committed to the County Jail of said Clerk in persons, house, corporation, company or association, shall be recommended to said Clerk by seven respectable free-holders living within three miles of the place where said liquors or alcoholic bitters are to be sold, as a fit person to traffic in the article, nor until such person or persons applying for such license hall be recommended to said clerk by seven respectable free-holders living within three miles of the place where said liquors or alcoholic bitters are to be sold, as a fit person to traffic in the article, nor until such person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit person or persons applying for such license hall have proven to fit pe ourier in any way of spirituous or mail it uors, wine or cider on the grounds of it Mountain Lake Park Association, or with one mile thereof contrary to the provisions section six of the act of eighteen hundred at sighty two, entitled "an act to grantaddiffo il power to Mountain Lake Park Associatio of Garrett County," a corporation incorpo-nted under the General Laws of Maryland, Sec. 23 And he it constant. This sile to SEC. 22. And be it enacted. That all Acts of Parts of Acts inconsistent with this Act ar hereby repealed.

Approved April 8th, 1890. -GO TO-Henry J. Mayers' OAKLAND PHARMACY

COR, MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a omplete course both in the PHARMACEU TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store Wheeling, W Va., I am fully able to fill all Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy.

Purity. Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto " -Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Books, Reels, Lines, Hooks Buckets, Baskets, Bibles, Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands, Razors, etc. AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the c osest prices on rishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere. German and English Spoken.

H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

FAVORITE SINGER

Warranted for Five Years. LOW ARM ONLY

OUR FAVORITE SINCER rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Ring Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hommers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia. Pa-

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park

containing one hundred acres, fifty ac cleared and in grass. The improvement consist of a good 1½-story dwelling hou barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., The farm is well watered and nearly all der fence. Situated about 2½ miles from

Fairmont, W. Va. One of the BEST Tel- RESERVED IN the world, Our facilities are unequaled, and to introduce our

H. S. MILLER & Co's

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS.

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices and terms. We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season. Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express.

Address

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md. A Rare Chance to Secure a Home.

FOR SALE Several Tracts of Land in the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park and 6 miles from Oakland, Md. These lands are of excellent quality, each

These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the beer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhode-heaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHE.A Pand on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four equal yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For 'urther information apply to.

JAS. A. HAYDEN Republican Office Oakland, Me

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 215 miles south of Ookland, containing 20 perce; 50 acros cleared; orchard of 100 apple these beginning to bear; 2-story FRAM HOUSE. containing five or ans and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is beavily I med and an abun-larce of limestone is on the place. Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre

THOMAS & SINCELL. Attorneys for owner

MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year--Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three courses outlined—Academic, Scientific or Commer-cail. Special attention to collegiate require-ments. Number of Puphs strictly Limited, Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN, Principal.

J. F. LEWIS. -MANUFACTURER OF-

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a "HINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the State for the same price. J. F. LEWIS.

33'881y Cranesville, W. Va DR. E. H. BARTLETT

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity.

**Besidence and office two doors East o Catholic Church

**17.296

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most won-derful Blemish Cure ever known iTCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never falls. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTION EER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md. Feb. 2181, 1887

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER OUT TO Also Walta O

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PINNOS! CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and testing many other popular varieties, I find that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as represented.

Exercise 1. Exercise 1. Exercise 2. Exerc

Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument, and get prices on same before soing elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask.

ask.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line. n the musical line, ♣ Place of business—Railroad street, next o B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md. J. M. LITZINGER,

Oakland, Md. B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST GOING WEST.

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stor pages only at the First Class St tions. Tickets should always terre cured before taking the car sengers saving thereby crop

WM. M. Ch.Ebet N C. K. LORI General Passager Age

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLD MEWN FIRM.

Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES. OAKLAND. · MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN GARRETT COUNTY.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS,
OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1890.

TAKE NOTICE. That the roads under your charge shall be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year;
and in working said roads it is incumbent upon you, wherever practicable, to cut gutters on either side and work high in middle of road. You are also required to notify ali persons traveling the roads with steam threshers or other heavy machines that they will be held responsible for all damage done
to roads and bridges over which they pass.

By order, By order,

J. B. FAY,

VALUABLE STOCK FARM FOR SALE.

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oakland, and containing 465 acres. About 206 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings Tenant House, farm and other out-out-out-off and a young orch: rd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,600 tollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN. Oakland, Md

WANTED. LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER,

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1890.

NUMBER 18.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. 45 Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. Office on Alder Street, Particular attention gives to Conveyancing vvestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice is the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

#3-Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection seffciains, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on compulsion. Office, Nydegger building, Main St., abôve og store. 6 5 '86 tf.

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will gractice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Muryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginta. '88106

r. w. VEITCH. W. P. TOWNSHEND VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

33 Office in the Court House,
July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER.
ATTORNEY AT LAW
AND
JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY,

Will visit regularly through Garrett county, d., and offers his services to those wental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. ## Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.—1y,

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

OAKLAND, MD., offers his professional services to the p of Oakland and vicinity. 5: Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church.

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST,

OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cteaning and

All work warranted to give satisfaction.

Dr. I. D. Newman, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

Office and residence on Milistreet, opposite Helpig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y

FOR SALE,

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 131% acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak-land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outouildings; twenty acres ar dercultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply

Successful Treatment of Disease A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY! Successful Treatment. Cures: Catarrh, Bronchitis,

Consumption, Malaria, Rheumatism. Wonderful Tonic and Blood Purifier. The efficacy of the Microbe Killer in cases of con-amption has been so effectually demonstrated that we re justified in claiming for it curative powers beyond loss of any meriters known. We do not claim for it arraculous power in curing cases so far gone that cure impossible, but we do claim that it will cure any case there the lungs are not more than half gone. Persona tilt poer appositie, weak and doblitted, will find it the next tonic. Every one should use it, particularly those who have suffered for years with incurable chronic dis-Sold only in one gallon stans jugs. Price $3.00. sufficient to last about one month. Cheap; within the reach of all. Physician of 17 years experience in charge of the office. Send for circular and information.

Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, $19 Arch St., Philadam. Pa.

TOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting own any of the timber on my land on the Looppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowle ohnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty or cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 394, as for feloniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

i am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as tow as can be had for first class work. Shop mear''Browning House.'' DAVID LITTLE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES

We have opened

NEW STOCK YARDS

AT

BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-

Mules for Logging —and—

TRAM ROADS constantly on hand.

MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO. Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R., 4 19 6m between Gorman and Bayard

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings,

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates. ### Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds 9, '87,

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of Boots and Shoes.

Wagner's old stand, Railroad street. OAKLAND, MD. Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov. 21, 85.— y.

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghiogheny river. This is a very destrable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Call on or address I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acre

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXANDER & CO.,

office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

lumber brokers

-AND DEALERS IN-

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driving tools; Betting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wagnes Burgies, &c. 6 22

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Wolff's ACM EBlacking

Ask in Drug, Paint and House Fur. Pik-Ron, which WILL STAIN OLD & NEW FURNITURE
WILL STAIN GLASS AND CHINAWARE
WILL STAIN TINWARE
WILL STAIN YOUR OLD BASKETS

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bode may not cure "right of" a complaint of years; persist until a cure is effected. A a general rule, improvement follows shody after beginning the use of this medicae. With many people, the effect is immediaely noticeable; but some constitutions are ess susceptible to medicinal influences tan others, and the curative process may, terefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Preservance in using this remedy is sure at the verance in using this remedy is sure t its reward at last. Sooner or later, the nost stubborn blood diseases yield to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several years, in the spring nonths, I used to be troubled with a drows, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my being able to walk, the least suddenmotion causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated."—L. W. English, Montgomery City, Mo. "My system was all run down; my skin rough and of yellowish hue. I tried various remedies and while some of them care and remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did any permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusively for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely.

to say that it completely Cured Me. I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence.

I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was."—Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, Vt.
"For years I suffered from scrofnia and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health."—C. N. Frink, Decoral, Iowa.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are erected a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under tence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bearing. For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-

FIRE INSURANCE.

RICHARD CUSTER,

Having added another first-class co Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reasonable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property. Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire. The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county authorized to write policies. Garrett county, authorized to write p F. A. THAYER.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

> C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

SALESME N

Fletcher Webster's Death.

The battle was on, and the blue and e gray were at each other's throats. at the men in blue heard their bones follows: h under the leaden rain like glass brightened.

you know me ?"

glanced at the speaker.

Webster's son ?"

canteen.

him-I must go on to the front,"

the Georgian back to the tree.

pathetic had pressure. "Never!" replied Toombs, "Danferences, but there are happier days ahead for us both." "My wound is mortal," said Webmen, I thank you. War is a bad thing." Again the general took leave of the leaving a surgeon behind him. The Confederates cared for their but it was of no avail. Weaker grew the dying man' his loved ones, and said: "Tell Bob I loved him-God bless him !" hope and glory of a proud father-field with the sorrowful faces of his let loose, until some Napoleon by foemen bending over him. "A true man and a brave soldier," said General Toombs that night, as him through the lines with the honors of war."

New England mourned his loss, War is a bad thing !

unless you serve Christ heartily .-Dr. Cuyler.

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

Stabilished 1840.

Commission and steady work for earnest workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

Stabilished 1840.

Commission and steady work for earnest workers.

ELLWANGER & BARRY, on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

Most people would succeed in small them. It is to pay so dear for them paper to raise money for de minister.

Most people would succeed in small them. It is to pay so dear for them that the bargain is a loss.

Col. Ingersoli and the Bible.

Hon, William H. West, of Bellewas at Gainesville, and the Feder- last, as part of the exercises of the claimed it. After some years, when were getting the worst of the Western Theological Seminary, Alle- all but one had had judgment given tht. The heat of an August sun gheny, Pa, deliverd an address on the against them, that one was awarded eat flercely down into the long lines "Mutual Relation of Civil Govern- the estate, which he asked his attorglittering steel melting away in ment and Christianity." It was an ney to have appraised. "There is flercer heat of war. On the right able defense of Christianity but he nothing to appraise," said the attorearth trembled under thundering said nothing stronger than his altu- ney, pocketing his last fee. "Then," osts of charging cavalry; on the sion to Mr. Ingersoll which is as said the successful claimant, "what

Mr. Ingersoll assails the Divine in- me ?" "You have been a good client a hailstorm. Over all rose the spiration of the Bible. It is not the to me," the attorney replied, gathersphurous clouds beliched forth by purpose of this address to defend its ing up his books and papers, "but I deep-throated guns whose terri- Divine origin against assault, but must say you betray a surprisins igroar shook the rock-ribbed hills. only to present for patriotic consid- norance of the purpose of litigation." As the ranks of blue, shattered and eration the superiority and supreme A foreign nobleman who had mariken by the shower of shot and excellence of its teachings and in- ried a rich American girl was dis-II, slowly rolled back, a Federal fluence in molding character, incul- covered in the act of breaking her men, and then staggered and fell on common civilization. Of great purity cause, the blood stained grass. The fallen of life, adorned with and adorning man, "the law does not allow me to officer was a man of striking appear- every private and social virtue, char- break her head." ance. His grand face and form caught ity, and withat of extraordinary in- A rich American girl who had the attention of the rushing legions | tellectual force, Mr. Ingersoll is a liv- | married a foreign nobleman was seen of gray, and the men unconsciously ing exemplification of the fruits of weeping by the readside. "Why do swerved aside to avoid trampling these teachings and the influence of you weep, my good girl?" a passing him down. Desperately wounded, Christian training, which it is the traveler asked. "Because my husthe colonel painfully crawled to a purpose of this discourse to impress; band has broken my heart," answerree, and reclined against it with the for while intellectually parting from ed the rich American girl. "Inife current flowing from the bullet the faith of his fathers, the virtues it deed !" exclaimed the passing travhole in his breast. His anxious eyes implanted still cling about him. eler, absently, "and what, pray, did looked into the stern faces of the Con- What might have been his moral you expect?" "I expected," was federates as they charged on past status or the measure of his virtues if the reply, accompanied by a fresh him. In another moment his face reared under the influence of the burst of tears, "to break his." Egyptian Apis, or the Mosque of A bull-dog, whose master had put "Bob!" he shouted, "Bob, don't Mohammed, or of Brigham Young, a muzzle on him, met a mastiff. "I will probably never be known. General Tooms, riding at the head But millions of his countrymen, of to me," said the bull-dog, secretly of his brigade, heard the familiar convictions as deep and sincere as trembling, "it is the handsomest in voice. He rode up to the tree and Mr. Ingersoll's believe these teach- town." "Before we part." said the ings to be of Divine inspiration, and mastiff, closely scanning the muzzle, "Good God !" exclaimed the Gen- that an eternity of bliss will reward "you will think it too loose." "How eral, "it is Fletcher Webster-Daniel | their observance on earth. Than this | so ?" asked the bull dog. "If it had belief, this hope, as a political force been tighter," the mastiff replied, In an instant Toombs was kneeling there can be no more powerful in 'you would have had to keep your by the colonel's side. He placed the centive to that moral conduct, which mouth shut about it and I would helpless man in a more comfortable is at once the bulwark of social order not have observed it." So saying he position, and gave him water from a and the staunch pillar of popular in- set upon the bull-dog and thrashed stitutions, and which, to make strong him with impunity. "He is my old friend," he said to a and enduring, is both the desire and A famous pugitist who has refused staff officer; "poor Fletch Webster- duty of true patriotism; and surely to fight for a purse of $15,000 was Daniel Webster's son-stay here with this incentive, this political force, seen by a friend some years aftercannot be strengthened by inculcat- ward coming out of a low boarding

Webster, returning the other's sym- Mr. Ingersoll, abolish all religion and sal, and contemplate the moral chaos, iel's son must always be my friend, the social anarchy to result. Consider Just now we must fight out our dif- what this implies; God dethroned, the sun of Revelation blotted out. God's temples pulled down, his shrines overturned, his servants silenced, sanctuary, hope veiled in night. Is and that death ends all; deprive virtue of the incentive of eternal reward; this was his end-dead on the battle- emancipated, and chaos and anarchy Standard (Ohio). arms shall repress the reign of terror.

he wiped away a tear. "Let us send the New York Tribune, in the an- profit by it is not so plain. And then nouncement that a Budhist Ecumeni- we have this general advice to the cal Council is about to take place at happy people: "The man with a It was done. Fletcher Webster's Paris. The creed, incredible as it chronic grievance is a man to be pitdead body was sent with an escort to may seem, appears to be securing led, for he is miserable. He is also a the Federal camp. A funeral cortege numerous proselytes in France, and man to be reproved, for he is blameaccompanied it to Boston. It lay in according to M. Leon de Rosny, the worthy. And last, but not least, he state in old Faneuil Hall, and all illustrious sayant and professor of the is a man to be warned and encouraged Sorbonne, there are no less than 30,- for he may be reformed. Anywhere 000 tollowers of Buddha in Paris this side of the grave a moral agent alone. M. Villemin, the Vice-Presi- may change his course. God is There is but one way to become a dent of the French Academy of Medialways ready to help the soul in any thorough, happy and effective Chriscine, has followed M. de Rosny's ex- upward aspiration and movement." tian. Whether you are a pastor, ample in becoming a convert to the with a large flock and salary, or belief, which he declares is of all asked recently how many members shun any larnt sermont dat is relig-Let us not envy some men their there were in the church to which he jous, but for de Lord's sake touch accumulated riches. Their burden belonged. His reply was: "A little 'em light on de Ten Commandwould be too heavy for us. We more than two thousand; but dey ments."-Religious Intelligencer. To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or could not sacrifice as they do, health, don't seem to be so numerous as dat commission and steady work for earnest

Fables Without Morals. A man died leaving a large estate fontaine, Onio, on the 17th of May and many sorrowful relations who good has all this litigation done think this ornament very becoming

General Toombs mounted his horse ing the conviction that these teach- house, badly lacerated in the face and charged on with his brigade to ings are the precepts of philosophy and with several bald places on his annihilate the rest of Websier's regi- and not of the Gospel-of reason and head. "Well, John," said the friend, not of revelation; of Socrates, or of cheerfully, "the grass is pretty short be first full in the fray brought Seneca, rather than of Jesus Christ. with you just now, isn't it?" "Yes," be first full in the fray brought Seneca, rather than of Jesus Christ. with you just now, isn't it?" "Yes," On the other hand supplant this be- replied the famous pugilist, "prices "And so we meet as enemies," said lief, this hope, by the teachings of have fallen. I fight for my board, now." "With whom?" asked the make Atheism and Infidelity univer- friend, eager to see a match. "With my fandlady," the famous pugilist replied.

A member of a Methodist church "raised a row," "stirred up quite a breeze," by objecting to a theatrical ster, sadly. "God bless you, old his people extinct, no Sabbath, no exhibition gotten up in the interest friend, for your kindness. Gentle- song of Zion, no selemn anthem, no of the church finances. He was "a prominent member," and insisted the coloring too dark? Let the con- that the show was not suitable for a viction become rooted and universal, religious body, and if such perforsufferer and returned to the front, that there is no God, no resurrection, mances were persisted in he must withdraw. Hence the breeze. But where would he go? The thing is captive with brotherly tenderness, liberate vice from the apprehension common-too common. And the of Divine displeasure; take from the argument which was launched at the tenement of penury the cosolation of "prominent" objector by a lady is pulse and more fitful his heart throbs. the Christian's hope; convince the simply unanswerable in the minds of Quietly, and with a smile he passed toilers in the mill, the factory, and a good many: "It put over a hundred away. He whispered a message to the mine, that life is without purpose dollars into the church treasury." but to toil and die, that God-like Just how much folly and nonsense a man and her beast of the field have hundred dollars can condene for is a one common destiny, that death is nice question for an impecunious pas-Fletcher Webster was dead-the annihilation-sleep that knows no tor whose salary is in arrears, or for waking-then will hell be inaugurat- a stingy member who wants to minithe ideal soldier of New England- ed on earth, contending passions mize his subscription. - Christian

"The Man with a Grievance" gets some sensible advice from the Nash-There is something startling, thinks ville Advocate, but whether he will

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business of less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to netual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address

A colored brother in Atlanta was said that the trouble with some of the preaching of the most beautiful and practical school of thought now in existing regation. His reply was: "Well, a large flock and salary, or belief, which he declares is of all school teacher, or a philanthropist pushing an uphill reform, or a parent guarding and guiding the home flock, you will get no good, and do no good, unless you serve Christ heartily.—

A colored brother in Atlanta was said that the trouble with some of the preaching of the colored sexton to the new passence.

Somebody has said that the trouble with some of the preaching of the most beautiful and practical school of thought now in existing the colored sexton to the new passence.

A colored brother in Atlanta was said that the trouble with some of the preaching of the colored sexton to the new passence.

A colored brother in Atlanta was said that the trouble with some of the preaching of the one least difficult to religions the one least difficult to with some of the preaching of the one least difficult to religions the one least difficult to with some of the preaching of the one least difficult to religions the one least difficult to with some of the preaching of the colored sexton to the new passence over, the most beautiful and practical school of thought now in exist the colored sexton to the new passence over, the most beautiful and practical school of thought now in exist the colored sexton to the new passence over, the most beautiful and practical school of thought now in exist the colored sexton to the colored sexton to th Somebody has said that the trouble A colored brother in Atlanta was sah yer kin preach to dis yer con'ga-

The Republican.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THREE ROSES.

Together on a slender spray they hung.
Dowered with equal beauty, passing fair,
And blent, as though an unseen censer swung.
Their mingled perfume with the morning air Not theirs the fate to linger till decay ground;

For ere the close of that bright summer day Each sister rose another fate had found, Twined in the meshes of a beauty's hair One blossom faded slowly, hour by hour, Until at parting, some one in despair As a memento craved the withered flower.

One went an offering to a vain coquette, Who plucked its leaves, and as they flutter ing fell, Whispered a test that has believers yet, He loves me—loves me not—he loves me well

A maiden's form lies in a darkened room, In folded hands, upon a pulseless breast, One touch of color in the deepening gloom, The last of the three roses is at rest. ENVOY. O Love and cruel Death, so far apart. Rose-sisters fair, could I but change with thee

And choose the fate of either of the three, O happiest rose of all, my choice would be Thy place above the maiden's pulseless heart, —J. H. Symes, in Chambers' Journal.

THE TWO LOVERS.

How My Skeptical Views of True Love Were Removed.

I was tired. I had worked in the school-room until, now that vacation had come, I felt that I had earned a rest, and I determined it should be had where I would not be hampered by formal regulations and conventional rules. I wanted to ramble in the green fields, among the wild-flowers. I wanted to linger by the river-side and watch the ripples, or read my favorite books, or listen to the song of birds and feel as free as they. I would sketch a little perhaps, or catch fish if I could, I would forget care, be a happy child once more,

I knew just where to go. I had been there once, and two days after my school closed I was there again. It was a quiet country town. The surroundings were picturesque and romantic. There were bluffs crowned with trees on the north and east; rolling hills, adorned with wild-flowers, on the south and west, and a beautiful little river. fed by numerous springs under the bluffs, almost encircling the town. These were the general features, but there were numberless grassy slopes, mossy glens, rocky caves and cozy nooks. Here it was that I proposed to spend the greater part of my vacation. I had a passion for painting and sketching, and here brush and pencil would find use. But my two lovers! They were on the hotel piazza when I arrived, though I did not know then that they were lovers. I merely noticed the respectful attention with which a gentleman listened to some remark of a lady and the kindly smile with which he responded. I changed my dusty garments and sat by the open window of my room to enjoy the beauty without. were people on the piazza, but I did not heed them. I did not even glance at them until I heard the landlord mutter: "Two lovers!" He stood in the doorway, and I wondered what had oceastoned his comment. I looked around. Two gentlemen were smoking and talking politics in tones which precluded the idea of their being lovers. A group of school-girls were laughing and chatting with the host's daughter. "They may be lovers," thought I, "but there

Several little children were playing on the walk just beyond; of course, the landlord did not mean them, and I was about to conclude that I had mistaken his words or that they had no connec tion with what was transpiring on the piazza when my eyes fell on the couple I had noticed on my arrival. They were sitting a little apart from all the others conversing in low, tender tones and evidently very much interested in each other, and almost aloud I echoed the landlord's words.

Lovers are to me a very attractive class of people, and though I gazed with enjoyment at the bluffs, the trees and sunset clouds, thought and glance would turn involuntarily again and again to these lovers. The lady was beautiful, with a beauty that seemed increased at every glance. That broad, pure brow, those earnest, soulful eyes, that sweet, quiet smile, the whole face radiant in the rosy glow of light. seemed made to bless the beholder. What a beautiful face! O! that I might see it daily. What an inspiration it would be! No wonder he loves her.

I could not see her companion's face but my so well, but tone and attitude were eloglance again sought the lady's lovely face. A sudden determination seized charming. me. I would make a sketch of her face, and it should hang where I could livious to the fact that walking was see it always, and I rejoiced in the con-sciousness of possessing a gift which and rocks and bushes intercepted my rendered so precious an acquisition pos- progress, and I had not walked more long as I could see, but the results were was hot and I was thirsty, and in spite unsatisfactory. I could not obtain the of the beautiful views I heartily wished desired expression. I decided to take myself back on the level ground. But time to study her face. I did not see how to get there? Must 1 retrace my her again until the next afternoon. She steps? Was there no other way? I apwas sitting in the ladies' parlor, read- proached the edge of the cliff and ing; and, mindful of my sketch, I looked over. I noticed the jutting looked for the beauty that had so ledges, the projecting points and the thrilled me on the previous evening. To my astonishment, it seemed to have fall! One could not escape with life. I vanished. I could scarcely recognize drew back with a shudder. her. She looked quite ordinary. I had Looking down the river, I saw what an ample stock of friction; they bring seen hundreds of women fully as beauti- appeared to be an old stone quarry. ful. I was disappointed and puzzled, The stone had been taken out in large and I started for a ramble, almost ready quantities, and rejected stones and to adopt the theory that beauty was earth formed a sloping bank which ex- only in the fallow ground, but by the dust, our books become mildewed and merely subjective; not the quality of an | tended into the river. Could I but get object, but an emotion of one's own into the quarry from above, I was sure I harvests of the kind that are sown with bonorable dead shall be perpetuated mind. I concluded that I did not care could clamber down this stony slope joy but reaped with tears .- N. Y. Led- only in other and perhaps inaccurate

It was late when I returned and found the one I now occupied without the the lady sitting on the piazza. Present- labor and fatigue of returning as I had ly, I noticed her lover coming down the come. The excavation was broad and York Central shows that of 206 station street. She saw him, and her face lighted up with a wondrous glow, and as she rose to greet him it was fairly as she rose to greet him it was fairly fall in, if there is no other way," I expected the same way to get into it, of course, "I can women.

The farmers near Salt Lake City are transfigured. The puzzle was solved; the mystery was plain to me. It was love that made her lovely, and it was love that made him look so grand and noble, and I pondered over my discovery. I had seen school-girl and school boy love, and love, so-called, in other various phases, and I had seen the article transferred from one object to another with apparently the greatest ease. Never having had much experience of my own, and my observation of lovers after marriage being unfortunate, perhaps, I had come to regard true and lasting love as purely an ideal never to be realized, except in Heaven, and it might be that which made it Heaven.

Here was a love very different from was considering the matter, the sound of voices reached me. I knew well to whom they belonged. They might be considering the matter, the sound of voices reached me. I knew well to whom they belonged. They might be considering the matter, the sound of iron. The eggs are eaten as fast as produced, while the iron stays by the owners, and is subject to taxation as it accumulates from year to year.

Women inventors appear very often on the patent office records, and one of them who succeeded in pushing through an improvement in an eye-glass spring in said to have made a very comfortable for turn to all felt that I was falling. I clutched at the brink and grasped it, but I could observation. It had the power to transform, to glorify the human face, and love that had such power must of necessity be pure and true. O why are so many satisfied with a base imitation! Such a love as theirs is the most desirable thing in life, thought I, as I noticed the subtle interchange of sympathy and the appreciation each felt for the beauty of the sunset, which neither needed to express in words. Years could make no difference in a love like this, unless to increase its depth and fervor.

Thus I mused Scopt the sunset is the most desirable to structure that there are not over 500 buffaloes on the side written with a pencil: "S50reward.—The above will be paid for the arrest and solve will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the man who invented work, by Camp No. I, Sons of Rest, Keokarly all of the sunset, which neither needed to express in words. Years could make no difference in a love like this, unless to increase its depth and fervor.

Thus I mused Scopt the following notice on the side written with a pencil: "S50reward.—The above will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the man who invented work, by Camp No. I, Sons of Rest, Keokarly and the subtle interchange of sympathy and the appreciation each felt for the beauty of the sunset, which neither needed to express in words. Years could make no difference in a love like this, unless to increase its depth and fervor.

Thus I mused Scopt the following notice on the side written with a pencil: "S50reward.—The above will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the man who invented work, by Camp No. I, Sons of Rest, Keokarly and the vinegar into a basin and let it stand two days, then pour off the wines my bead ache, and I am amazed that either of you has With a mazed that either of you has Wit a base initiation!

Fortunately I was not much hurt, only a little stunned and much frightened.

For tunately I was not much hurt, only a little stunned and much frightened. Above will be paid for the arrest and conviction of the man who invented work, by

Thus I mused. Soon they strolled off onscious that the book I had been pretending to read was held upside down. The hostess came out just then, and I | nized, and the gentleman was slowly expressed to her the interest with which gathering them up. The sight restored these two people had inspired me. She became enthusiastic at once and told me He finished, and, turning toward me, many facts about them, which deepened | said: the feeling I had already had. Once more, I resolved to make a sketch, but we will assist you to get down from not of the lady alone; I would paint them both. One would be incomplete without the other. They were ideal deal of time over us, and you have rathlovers and my picture should express er flattered us, I think." my ideal of love, yet taken from life. I sought my room, and with more than my former enthusiasm began again the difficult work. I sketched from memory, for the impression on my mind was | wall, while they looked them over to vivid. Several days passed. This particular sketch was not yet finished for Tears were in her eyes, and as she reit was elaborate, and I worked on it only when inspired by seeing my two lovers

Meanwhile I rambled, read and fished, ometimes alone, sometimes with acquaintances. I made several sketches of landscapes in the vicinity of the town, but none seemed complete without the figures of my two lovers placed in the foreground, and they were in nearly every one, and I endeavored in each and every one, and I endeavored in each and me, and why had they the wondrous power to restore my faith in real and heirs objected at first, on religious the grain, and are boiled in a solution cupful of butter, worked in with the al confidence and love which so fascin ated me in the originals. What pleasant days those were! How keenly I enjoyed them after my months of work in the close school-room. One afternoon, sketch-book in hand, I started for a ramble, and after reaching the river wandered on along the bank until I came to a fallen tree. Here I seated myself on the trunk, where one limb made a convenient foot-rest and another formed a comfortable support stream, and in full view from the tree, a foot-bridge spanned the river. The bluffs, which were on the left of the out a handful at a time; sorting it three thousand years. The peas were stream, at this point were not so steep. They sloped down from either way and and throwing every defective grain ward planted. They soon germinated, formed something like a pass between into another basket. This done, the grew finely and produced a good crop. the two mountains, and though to reach | wheat is ground between two circu- It will be remembered that at various the top of the bluffs involved labor, it was often done, as a footpath testified. It wo thousand years ago, the requisite in the wrapping cloths of mummies, Just across the river from the fallen rotary motion being given by a blind-which, on being planted, have grown tree, a beautiful spring bubbled from under the rocks and flowed into the river. All these I had soon reproduced being attached to his neck which, as esting lesson regarding the Egyptians on paper. The rustic bridge, the sloping cliff, the bubbling spring, made a pretty and effective picture. Well pleased with my success, I was one within hearing. When ground, the earth in remote times, so that the blesssaw two well-known figures crossing the last one of these being so fine that man as well through the bounties of path between the foot of the bluffs and is made in the evening. It is mixed the transmission of the germs of life to the river, they soon reached the spring with sufficient water, with a little salt ages in the incalculable future, for they just opposite where I was sitting. Here in it, to make into dough; a very knew that the repose of the dead was they paused, and the lady producing a small quantity of leaven or yeast sacred among the people of the passing silver cup filled it with water and in one batch of household bread, generations, and that only chance and offered the gentleman a drink. He as in Spain, would last a week for natural changes and causes would reveal returned the cup: From fairer hand was never quaffed."

This incident filled me with a sudden oven. The dough made, it is put into sacks and carried on the donkey's back to the oven in the centre of the village. inspiration. What an addition they to bake it immediately after kneading. with costly burials, they took care that would make to my picture! I seized my pencil and began to put them into my sketch. I worked rapidly and soon each. Two long, narrow wooden tables mental stone and the fulsomeness of euhad a fair representation of her as she presented him with the silver cup.

They passed on down the river out of sight and I soon left the tree and, crossing the foot-bridge, climbed the bluff. intending to sketch the town. With some difficulty I gained a good position, but my exertions in climbing had renmy nerves somewhat unsteady, quent, and I remembered the gentle, and I concluded to postpone sketching, kindly expression of his face when I and enjoy a walk along the edge of the had noticed him first. Just the ex- bluffs, which commanded a view not pression one would naturally acquire in only of the town but of the surroundsuch a presence, I thought, and my ing country for many miles to the south and west, which was beautiful and

But all this could not render me obthan half a mile before the unwonted I began immediately and worked as exercise had made very tired. The sun and reach a more desirable position than ger.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ransfigured. The puzzle was solved; claimed aloud; and I walked on followed by large flocks of seagulls, boy love, and love, so-called, in other was considering the matter, the sound of of iron. The eggs are eaten as fast as

Here was a love very different from at the brink and grasped it, but I could West Chester, Penn., Monday con--A freight car which passed through look about me. There lay my sketch. Twenty-five are known to be in Texas, book with all the sketches fallen out is in Colorado, 26 in Wyoming and Montoward the river, and I suddenly became and spread around to view, no less than tana, and 15 in Dakota. The big herd seven of them representing these two said to be in the British possessions is people too accurately to be unrecog--A short time ago the Government ssued by mistake two bank notes, the ice representing $10, while the reverse me, and I rose up with a nervous laugh.

"When you are sufficiently recovered, here;" and then, as he pointed to the sketches: "You must have spent a great

This interested the lady, and she herself. I could not refuse, and I sat down and leaned back against the rocky gether. The lady was greatly moved.

placed the last sketch she murmured:

"Every one speaks eloquently of love."
"Love true and exalted," added the

"The landlord called you two lovers,"

They had been married fifteen years

DELICIOUS BREAD.

Bakers of Southern Spain.

and knocking about with all his might who does the same, and so on success-ively until all have kneaded it, when it shape the loaves for the oven, and some of them are very small. They are baked immediately.-Confectioner.

icious; it is as white as snow, close as rentleman.

I began, apologetically.

sinterested human love?

bread is as follows:

-Belle Warner, in Housekeeper.

sae represented $20. One of the notes vas subsequently returned by the cshier of the First National Bank of Vashington, N. J., and the other came telight in New York. It is held by the click of an insurance company, and it is sad that he has refused a large sum for

-At a recent meeting of the London begged permission to examine them for Zological Society, A. D. Bartlett comminicated some observations on wolves. jarcals, dogs and foxes, based mainly upin his experience of those in the Zological Gardens. His remarks tended to rove that all the varieties of the dometic dog owe their origin to wolves andjackals, the habit of barking having beer acquired under the influence of domesication; and that the dog is the mos perfectly domesticated of all animals

"We are two lovers," said he with -In old lady in Vienna ordained in her last will and testament that a Why was this so remarkable? Why Stras waltz should be played at her for producing cloth from wood. Thin were these two lovers so fascinating to funeral, for which each member of the boards or laths, free from knots, are cut power to restore my faith in real and heirs objected at first, on religious the grain, and are boiled in a solution but the provisions of the will without endangering their own claims; so Strauss and his musicians were engaged and placed in a circle around the dried in the open air, and when dried How the Staff of Life Is Made by the grave, and while the coffin was being lowered they played the favorite waltz The bread in the south of Spain is de of their late lamented admirer.

LIFE FROM DEATH. cake, and yet very light; the flour is the most admirable, for the when it good and pure, and the bread well trated by the Egyptians. for the back. A short distance up the kneaded. The way they make this A package of peas was once found in From large, long a fold of the wrappings of an Egyptian panniers filled with wheat they take mummy, where it had lain undisturbed carefully and expeditiously, at once soaked in tepid water and afterlar stones, as it was ground in Egypt times kernels of wheat have been found folded mule, which passes around and and flourished finely. around with untiring patience, a bell The above facts teach us a very interlong as he is in movement, tinkles on, of the years far, far back. It is this:

by the shout of "ar a mula" from some for the continuance of the fruits of the drank, and gallantly exclaimed, as he the six or eight donkey loads of their good works-reproducing for othbread they send every day from their oven. The dough made, it is put into sacks and carried on the donkey's back If the Egyptians honored the dead On arriving there the dough is divided life should have the benefit of death in into portions weighing three pounds something more durable than monuon trestles are then placed down the logy. How much nobler, how much higher room, and a curious sight may be seen. the economic morality of this, than the About twenty men, bakers, come in later custom of placing marble memoriand range themselves on one side of the als over or beside the dead, and inscribtable. A lump of dough is handed to ing upon them, not always the true the nearest, which he begins kneading character of the occupant of the tomb, but a supposititious one which wealth for about three or four minutes, and could purchase-perhaps a lie to the then passes it on to his next neighbor, generation then passing onward, and only a description of that which should come after. The Egyptian priests tried omes as soft as new putty and ready their dead in solemn court and with an for the oven. Of course, as soon as the imposing ceremonial, and they gave first baker has handed the first lump honorable burial to those only who had over to his neighbor, another lump is been honorable in their lives. Why may handed him, and so on until the whole we not believe that those dead in whose quantity of dough is kneaded by them custody were left seeds for the reproall. The bakers' wives and daughters duction of fruit in after ages were persons of peculiar sanctity of lives or distinguished by the noblest virtues? We may venture to suppose that these things were confided to their ghostly keeping so that the blessings of the in-

We all know them; they are in every community, in every church, in many families. They are always uncomfortheritance might be magnified to us. The world is every day learning by able themselves, and they inflict dis. sharply presented contrasts to respect comfort on every body else. A really more and more highly the wisdom and aggressive and well-developed specimen religion of those mighty men of Egypt will overshadow a locality like a ban- whose histories they have so carefully yan-tree, yielding the whole year handed down to us. Their monoliths through all manner of fruit bitter to and tablets, thus inscribed, now thouthe taste, and not to be digested with. sands of years old, if left where they be out serious injury. These people supply long-under the burning heaven of the East, and enveloped by a pure, clear at out the latent possibilities of general mosphere-will be fresh, comparatively, unpleasantness in a large or small as though newly hewn, when our shafts circle; they sow seeds of discord, not and memories shall have crumbled into wayside, and are followed by abundant worm-eaten, and the memories of our histories. - Washington Post.

TWO AMERICAN FABLES.

Their Per al Ought to Benefit Persons Afflicted With the Big Head. THE GOOSE AND THE DUCK. A Goose who was sunning himself on bank was much put out by the Imrtant airs assumed by a Duck, and finally Observed: "Thank Heaven that I wasn't Born with such a Waddle as you've got."

"Nor with my Good Looks, either!"

Retorted the Duck. "Bah! your Colors fade in the Wash!" "Your Voice is Cracked!"

"It is, eh! Let us go to the Gobbler and Settle this matter. We will ask him to Decide between us.' When the Gobbler had looked them both over and heard each one Sing, he picked his teeth with a Straw, looked very Wise for a time, and then said: Well, now, but up to this moment I had Credited both of you with good Looks and Common Sense. Now that you Particularly draw my Attention to yourselves I find you both so Homely

"Behold the Eagle! What a noble Bird!"

Filled with Conceit, the Magpie began to Chatter her satisfaction at these it. Rub into the flour thoroughly four Words, but she had scarcely Opened her Mouth when one of the travelers Exclaimed:

"What Fools we are! I know from what I have Read that this Bird is only a Common Magpie!" "And let her Begone!" added his friend, as he picked up a stone and sent it Whizzing at her head. Moral.-A Crow, who had heard and seen all without being noticed himself, now Scratched his Ear and murmured: "If some Folks would only keep their Mouths shut what Credit they might get for what they don't know.—Detroit Free

CLOTH FROM WOOD. A Detailed Description of the Process by Which It Is Made.

A detailed description has appeared of

Mitscherlich's most interesting process were distinct, and could not be violated | boiling effecting disintegration without the strips being reduced to very small The wood, after boiling, is the fiber becomes comparatively strong. The damp masses on the frame are transferred to a traveling endless cloth, which leads them to a pair of rollers, which may be plain or provided with corrugations in the direction of their length, the ribs of the one roller being made to gear into the recesses of the other one, whereby they effect a simultaneous strong bending and squeezing of the masses. The cutting material in passing through the rollers is avoided by having the endless cloth to pass over the lower roller, and by placing a canvas covering around the upper roller. The pressed masses fall from these rollers on to a second endless cloth which conveys them to a second pair of rollers, from which they are conveyed to a third pair-and so on, for six times. By continued treatment of the wood the fibers become at length so pliand when it stops he is urged to his duty Their religion taught them to provide able and isolated from each other that they can be employed directly for coarse filaments; but to obtain a long about to leave my cozy nook, when I wheat is sifted through three sieves, ings of God might be made manifest to fiber, the boiled and pressed masses are completely dried, then combed in the the bridge. What a joy this was to me! only the pure flour can pass through it;
They reached the shore, and, taking the this is of a pale apricot color. The bread And thus they made use of death for larly to the operations for combing flax, cotton, etc. The separation of the extractable matter from the fiber produced by boiling the gums and soluble organic matter can be effected at any time, though it is preferable that this be effected after the fiber has been spun into threads, etc.-Mechanical News.

RUSSIAN PIPE LINES. Their Construction Will Keep American Oil Out of Europe.

American petroleum will, in a short time, be a thing of the past on the continent of Europe, as the Rothschilds, the owners of the Russian oil wells, will, in a short time, award to an American firm, the contract for the building of a pipe line 497 miles long, to run from the oil wells at Baku, on the Caspian, to Batoum, on the Black Sea, the loading port. The project has been shelved for a long time, owing to the attitude of the Russian government, which owns the railroads which now carry the oil, and which the pipe line is bound to ruin, oil being the only business done on the road. The pipes will be of cast iron, eight inches in diameter, and there will be sixty-four intermediate stations. The pipes must be buried at a considerable lepth to guard against cracking in the intense frost and cold. The entire petroleum shipments from this port sinca January 1, 1890, have been 40,718,077 gallons, while at the same time last year they were 42,603,560 gallons. The important effect which the construction of a pipe-line will have upon American oil interests is well known to the Standard oil Company and all others interested in petroleum exports. It is well known that transit by pipe is immensely cheaper than rail carriage, and the Russian producers will now be able to carry their oil to European markets from the wells at the very lowest prices. The fight with American oil has for late years been decidedly stiff, but with the added handicap that pipe lines will give the foreigners may score a decided victory.—Philadelphia Record.

-The roast beef of old England has been obtained for years in the United States: breeders are now sending over here for turkeys to improve the British

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Green grapes make most excellent pies. Stone the grapes, and use a cupul of sugar and a lump of butter to each

-Stewed Mushrooms: Let them remain in salt and water an hour, then over them with fresh water and stew them until tender; then add salt, pepper and a little cream. - Boston Herald.

-To cook fish in its own juice: After leaning place in a jar with a few cloves and sprigs of parsley, cover it close and set it in a saucepan of boiling water. Keep it boiling for half an hour. Serve with sauce.—N. Y. World.

Butter Cakes: Prepare a dough as for quick biscuit, roll it out quarter of an inch thick, and cut into small rounds. Roll each of these out until as thin as cookies, prick with a fork and bake in a quick oven. When done, butter well. Leave in the oven half a minute longer, and send hot to table.—Harper's Bazar.

—French Mustard: Slice an onion

stand until the juice starts, then put them into a preserving kettle and boil one of its Species before, one of them | rapidly for twenty minutes. Preserves may be kept in glasses like jelly, but one is much safer to put them in selfsealing cans, where they will keep for "How Beautiful! How Grand!" added | years .- Rural New Yorker.

-Velvet Muffins: Sift one quart of flour with a level teaspoonful of salt in ounces of butter. Mix it with one teacupful of good yeast and as much fresh milk as will make a very stiff batter. Beat four eggs separately, very light, stir these in and set in a moderately warm place to rise. In three hours it will be sufficiently light. Bake in oldfashioned muffin rings.-Ladies' Home

-Hamburg Steaks: Hamburg steaks should be made from fresh, uncooked meat, but the left-overs from steaks and roasts may be chopped, moistened with uncooked eggs, seasoned, made into cakes and cooked the same as Hamburg steaks. In Hamburg steaks, the meat being uncooked, the albumen in the juices holds the meat together. The uncooked egg added to the cooked meat answers the same purposes. - Troy

Times. -Coffee Bread: One-half cupful of sugar, one egg, one cupful of milk, onehalf cupful of yeast, enough flour for a make it soft, so that it can be patted down in a greased pan to be baked. When it is risen, put little specks of butter over the top, press them down in, and sprinkle sugar and cinnamon over it. Bake in a quick oven-twenty minutes when the oven is right. cold. Cut in strips about an inch wide; for breakfast o. lunch.—Exchange.

WOMEN IN MEDICINE.

No Direction in Which Female Aptitude Can Find Greater Usefulnes

It can not any longer be said that woman's sphere is limited to mere household economies, and that the employ ment of her skill and ability has no relation to the happiness and comfort of the world at large. Perhaps there is no direction in which her particular aptitudes can find greater usefulness than in connection with medicine and surgery. While it is scarcely forty years since the first woman graduate in medicine received her diploma in this country, the number of female practitioners in medicine is every year on the increase, and not a few of them have obtained high rank in the profession. We find women in all our hospitals equipping themselves not merely as nurses, but for the service of humanity as experts in the healing art, and the facilities for medical training are constantly increasing. A most significant movement in this direction is that which has taken shape in connection with the Johns Hopkins University and Hospital. The somewhat straitened financial condition of that institution has suggested to many prominent women of the country the possibility of contributing to its relief. and at the same time hastening the establishment of a medical school in which the benefits of the highest medical training shall be afforded. To this end they propose to raise the sum of $200,-000, which is to be given to the trustees on the distinct condition that women whose previous training has been equivalent to that of an ordinary preliminary medical course shall be admitted to the institution on precisely the same terms as men. Committees are at work in six of the principal cities, including Boston and San Francisco, and considerable contributions have already been made to the furtherance of the movement. It is not designed that this medical school shall take the place of the ordinary schools for women now in existence, but that it shall supply opportunities for that advanced medical training which they are now obliged to seek in foreign schools. The prominence of the ladies engaged in this enterprise, to-for doubt that it will be successful. We can see no reason why women should not be admitted on an equality with men in all our educational institutions, of whatever character. Whatever woman is able to do well and efficiently without sacrifice of the primal relation which she holds to society, she should be permitted to do and helped to do. Since her influence is the supreme factor in every great moral reform, and is rapidly becoming a prime influence in all social progress, it certainly is desirable that no obstacle should be placed in the way of the largest possible utilization of her capacities .- Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.

gether with the obvious desirableness of the school proposed, leave no room

-A lion cub at the Cincinnati Zoo is being raised with a black cat. It is very fond of pussy, and they play and frolic together most amusingly.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

THE DEMON ALCOHOL. Extracts from Rev. Dr. Talmage's Ad-

of the National Temperance Society. which we shall gather the very best audience there is a Temperance pledge; people, and start out for a new campaign and if some poor drunkard, seeing the you can have nearly all the ministers. They are for the most part a class of grand and glorious men, and they are Temperance pledge, we would have to nearly all on your side. Here and there | fly around and tear out a leaf from an you may find a minister who is afraid to old memorandum-book to get his speak upon this subject, because every signature. Sabbath in his pews before him in church there sit eight or ten rum-jugs, and he knows not at what moment the you, my friend. Here is a pledge. How corks may fly out and strike him be- glad I am it is not extinct!"] tween the eyeballs. [Great laughter.] Such ministers may be silent. Then the land the Temperance pledge is still there are some clergymem who have doing its work. Many years ago, at the misinterpreted a passage of Scripture which says: "Every creature of God is I saw a man in a pew near the pulpit good," ergo, rum is good. Why do they not go on in their argument and say: "Every creature of God is good;" ergo, ratsbane and nux vomica are good. Every thing the same four lovely children, and I is good for something, but not always have ruined them all by my dissipagood to drink. Whisky is good to preserve corpses and is good to kill potato- had great prominence, and if I should bugs, and good for mechanical purposes. tell you my name you would know it. Then there are a few clergymen I came here this morning, and this hindered from taking part in this evening, hoping you could do me some Temperance cause because Christ turned good, but you can't. No one can do me water into wine. But let me say to any good, but you can't. No one can do me water into wine. But let me say to any good. Yesterday, coming down on those gentlemen that last December I the Hudson River railroad, I feit that I was in Cana of Galilee, where that make the was performed, and I saw the evil habit, when a man seated next me way for the same of the same and very firkins which tradition says handed me a bottle of intoxicating contained the wine that the Lord liquor. It seemed as if the red tongue made, and I have to report that there is not one drop of that liquor left, and cork, as if it said: "Take me! take me!" there is not a drop of it in all the world. In horror I started out in the aisle of secured "to John Fitch the sole right [Laughter and applause.] The Lord the car to the platform, thinking I made that, the devil makes the rest. Then there may be some who do not speak aloud on the Temperance question. Then there are presented as the car to the platform, thinking I would jump off. But the train was going forty miles an hour, and I did speak aloud on the Temperance question. There are presented out in the aisle of the car to the platform, thinking I and advantage of using the steamboar lately invented by him" and in this and the following years his boats raining the following years his boats raining the car to the platform, thinking I and advantage of using the steamboar lately invented by him" and in this and the following years his boats raining the steamboar lately invented by him and in this and the following years his boats raining the steamboar lately invented by him and in this and the following years his boats raining the steamboar lately invented by him and in this and the following years his boats raining the steamboar lately invented by him and in this and the following years his boats raining the steamboar lately invented by him and in this and the following years his boats raining the steamboar lately invented by him and in this and the following years his boats raining the tion. They are really no more Temperance men than a man who made talk with you and pray with you." We much profession in that direction and entered the room where there were yet was found intoxicated. A gentle- five or six Christian men, and without fresh water pond called the Collet, man said to him: "Why, I am sur- any circumlocution we commended his near Canal street. prised; I thought that you were a great case to God. Then the poor man and I Cemperance man, and now you are started up Fulton street. Coming oppodrunk." "Well," said he, "I am a Temperance man, but I am not a bigoted "Doctor, can you give this man some-continent is concerned, adds another to ministers of religion who are not sym-pathetic with the Temperance cause, I of thirst for strong drink comes on?" here declare that if in the United States | The bottle was prepared. I said to the

there are sixty thousand ministers of religion, then fifty-nine thousand five hundred are on your side. [Great apsaid: "Perhaps two or three weeks." Confident in the result of his work, he struggled bravely against adverse including the said: "Perhaps two or three weeks." hundred are on your side. [Great applause.] Put them on your platforms! said: "Perhaps two or three weeks." cumstances until, in 1798, nameless grave in Kentucky. Bring also into this new campaign the best physicians. They can describe the started out on the street, and I said to fortunate and unappreciated invotor ravages of alcoholism better than any the poor man: "Put your trust in God, bad sown had begun to germinate and other class of men. Let them bring and when these paroxysms of thirst the work of experimenting was carried their maps and their diagrams and their come on take some of this medicine on by Morey, Rumsey, Rooseveldt, magic-lanterns, and flash upon great and God will see you through." [Great Stevens and Fulton, a boat built by audiences what rum has done for the applause.] A few weeks afterward Stevens coming from Hoboken to New for the nerves, for the digest- I ive organs, for the liver, for the brain, saying: "Inclosed are the two dollars ments in the early part of his career Put on your platforms allopathy, home- you paid for that medicine the other Let the doctors tell you how they have you also the Boston newspapers show- seems to have been fully aware, when, been compelled to help their alcoholic ing that I have been night after night, after his failures in France, he was patients kill snakes as big as cobras and to large audiences, preaching righteousbugs as big as hens. Doctors of America, ness, Temperance and judgment to by William Izmmington in his steam to the front! [Applause.]

homes. Fetch on some of those splendid women who only a few years ago moonlight, and wonder if somewhere teen thousand signatures to the Temperunder that glassy surface there isn't a ance pledge." [Renewed applause.] In place of rest for a broken heart. Fetch all our land give the Temperance pledge on the women and let them tell the a new starting. story. If they can do no more, let them show their wounds. Let them come on the platform with their pallid cheeks and their gashed foreheads and their broken hearts, their starving children following, and let such women tell of their home which was a heaven once,

Horace Greeley, one of the grandest ways. table a few months before his death, will be sure to throw them in the great document that has saved thou- than mere pleasure. not be ashamed to unroll-a document noble ambitions depends on you with tears-the old-fashioned Temperone sneer and say: "If they do sign the fluences whatever. - Ram's Horn.

Temperance pledge they will break it." Some of them may. But I don't believe all men are liars, if you are. [Laugh ter. ] There are thousands of persons who, having made a promise, will keep dress at the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary it to the day of judgment. Yet the old temperance pledge is so out of fashion What we want is a new platform, on that I do not believe in all this moral suasion. In the first place lights in this church to-night, should come in and at the close of the meeting want with his trembling hand to sign a > [Here a gentleman handed the speaker a pledge, and Dr. Talmage said: "Bless to boats as a motive power had been

Yes, I know that in some parts of close of one of my services in Brooklyn, who seemed to be weeping bitterly. I went to him and said: "You seem to be in trouble." "Yes," said he, "I am the tions. I live in the far West and have "come into this side-room, and we will talk with you and pray with you." We exhibition of a steamboat, a screw pre-But while there may be a few thing, without any alcohol in it, that hydropathy and eclecticism. night to help a poor drunkard. I send been already achieved, and of this he come. The thirst for rum has entirely yacht on the Firth of Forth (which Then put on your platform the best women of the land. They, better than drop of the medicine. God has seen me tons, on the canal in 1802). men, can tell the story of destroyed through." Years passed on and I heard nothing of that man. Some of my friends said: "Have you heard from plighted their troth, and when the ring the drunkard about whom you told me?" was put upon their finger the oath of They said: "No, I guess you won't fidelity was taken "till death did hear again; I guess he has probably them part." And now the man who gone back to his evil habits." You know took that conjugal oath is on the way there is a great deal of infidelity in the home in the midnight hour, and as the church. Years passed on, and one sumdoor is opened I see on the face inside mer, while I was attending a large outthe door the shadows of sorrows that are door meeting in Indiana, at the close passed and the shadows of sorrows that of the service a man came up and putare to come. Or in that midnight hour ting out his hand said: "Do you know I see her going along the road to the me?" I replied: "I have no knowlplace where he was ruined, and opening the door and swinging out a shriveled He said: "I am the man who was in arm from under the faded shawl and your church one Sunday night in great crying out with almost supernatural trouble about his habit of strong drink, eloquence: "Give him back to me-him and you took me into the side-room for of the coble brow and the great heart! prayers, and afterward took me up to the Give him back to me!" And a wretch drug-store for medicine. I am the man. rising from the table of the restaurant I have not touched a drop of intoxicatcomes forward and, with bloated hand ing liquor since that time. Even the wiping the intoxicant from his lip, temptation has disappeared. I have cries: "Put her out!" And then she will ever since been engaged in lecturing go out on the abutment of the bridge and preaching in behalf of the Temperand look off upon the river, glassy in the ance cause, and have secured over fif-

HOW TO SAVE BOYS.

Furnish Them Attractions and Occupation in the Home. Women who have sons to rear, and dread the demoralizing influences of bad associates, ought to understand the but is a hell now. [Renewed applause.] nature of young manhood. It is ex-Women can tell the story better than cessively restless. It is disturbed by men. If a man's home is ruined, he vain ambition, by thirst for action, by can go to the club-house. If a woman's | longings for excitements, by irrepres home is despoiled, where shall she go? sively desires to touch life in manifold If you, mothers, rear your sons and mightiest men this country ever so that your homes are associated with produced [applause] was seated at my the repression of natural instincts, you and I said to him: "Why is it, Mr. ciety that in any measure can supply Greeley, that you are so much more ve- the end of their hearts. They will not hement and eloquent on the Temper- go to the public house at first for love ance question than any other?" He re- of liquor; they go for the animated and plied: "It is because so many of my best hilarious companionship they find friends have been slain by intoxicants, there, which they find does so much to and many of my own profession have repress the disturbing restlessness in gone down, and I have an everlasting their breasts. See to it, then, that grudge against rum." So I have a their homes compete with public places grudge against rum." So I have a their nomes compete with public places grudge against this evil because it has in their attractiveness. Open your despoiled so many beautiful homes of blinds by day, and light bright fires by high titles and all over the land. * * * night. Illumine your rooms. Hang Oh, let us reconstruct our platform of pictures upon the walls. Put books and moral suasion and make a new start! newspapers upon your tables. Have Put upon this platform the right kind music and entertaining g ues. Banish of men and women, and in twenty demons of dullness and apathy that years this cause will be under such a have so long ruled in your household, boom of enthusiasm and power that the and bring in mirth and good cheer. Ingrog shops will have to sell beef-tea vent occupations for your sons. Stimand Apollinaris water to make an ulate their ambitions in worthy direc honest living. Having established a tions. While you make nome their deplatform, put upon it a document, a light, fill them with higher purposes sands and tens of thousands of people shall pass happy boyhood and enter -a document that an archangel would upon manhood with refined tastes and somewhat yellow with age and blotted not blame miserable bar-keepers if your sons miscarry. Believe it possible that ance pledge. Spread it on every plat- with exertion and right means, a form, on every pulpit stairs and on mother may have more control of the every communion-table. I hear some destiny of her boys than any other in"FULTON'S FOLLY."

So It Was Called By the Skeptics.

Some Interesting Reminiscences of Early Steamboating Days on the Hud-son - The First American Steamboat.

It is difficult in these days of rapid cean travel, says George P. Hasbrouck in Drake's Magazine, to realize that in the beginning of the century, people wondering over a strange thing in navigation, a boat moved by steam. That the application of steam considered by many minds as a matter ertain of accomplishment long before it became an actual fact, admits of no doubt, and just as the names of Trevethick, Hackworth and Stephenson must be bracketed together in connection with the locomotive, so must those of Fitch, Stevens, Fulton and others be associated with the invention of the steamboat. That the name of John Fitch stands preeminent at the head of the list, there can be no question, for while it must be admitted that numerous models were made of steamboats, accompanied by illustrations of their working, both in France and England prior to Fitch's time, there is nothing to show that he benefited by the work which preceded his, and it is an absolute fact that no boat moved by steam, of any practical value, ever existed until Fitch launched the first steamboat on the Delaware on the 20th of June, 1786. This boat made the then remarkable speed of seven miles an hour. In 1787 the Legislature pellor built by Fitch being placed on a

It has been the fate of pioneers to saw for others to reap, and John Fitch, tie continent is concerned, adds anotherto the list.

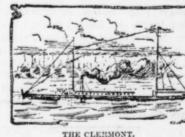

"The day will come," he said, sady, "when some more powerful man vill get fame and riches from my invention."

By this time the seed which theunreceived a letter from Roston Vork in 1804. Robert Fulton's emeriseem to have fallen far below what had taken at the rate of eight miles an hour dragged two vessels, each over seventy

That Fulton, whose name was after wards to be associated with the success ful introduction of steamboats, profited immensely by the work of others, can not be questioned; indeed, he was bitterly assailed by Captain Morey for adopting his ideas. Unlike Fitch, he was so fortunate as to find the financial support necessary to the carrying out of his plans, and in 1807 he launched the the firm was limited.

the owner on board. The boat, which all the time. resembled a Long Island skiff, was 150 From the Advance Sheets of "Damon and feet long and eight feet broad, her boiler set in masonry and her wheels un covered, her rudder being such as was used by sailing vessels, moved by a tiller. The Clermont made the journey to Albany successfully, at the rate of five miles an hour, in thirty-two hours; thus more than fulfilling the requirements of the Legislature when granting cortain exclusive rights and privileges to Livingstone and Fulton, "that the boat travel not less than four miles an hour and be of not less than 20 tons burthen. A few days later Stevens launched his boat, the Phœnix, a paddle-wheel steamer, on the Hudson, but as the rights held by Fulton prevented her running on that river, he took her to steamboat trip on the ocean. Before the close of the season the Clermont's rudder was changed to that now in use, and the wheels covered in, to the great regret of river skippexs, who now that their fear had worn off, delighted in running foul of the boat and denuding her of a wheel. In the following year she was rebuilt, her hull being lengthened and covered from stem to stern with a flush deck, with two cabins. The next boat was the Car of Neptune, followed by the Paragon, which afterwards exploded.

So rapidly had the steamboat grown n favor that we find the first steamboat race taking place in 1809, which appears to have excited far more interest than the contest between two ocean greyhounds at the present day. In 1812 the steam ferry boat between Paulus Hook, Jersey City and New York was established, which was followed, two years later, by one between New York and Brooklyn, from Fulton street, then a country lane with farm houses. That the growth in travel was rapid, we can gather from the fact that in 1818 THE FIRST AMERICAN STEAMBOAT.

the tax on steamboat passengers yielded the State $37,620, the gross amount being $41,440. Every passenger over one undred miles paid one dollar, under thirty miles fifty cents; shorter distances being exempt. For every dollar received by the State, it was estimated that seven were received by the steamboats. It is interesting to note that Fulton's last boat, the Chancellor Livngstone, was 496 tons burden, 125 heavier than any of her predecessors; one had 32 feet beam, am engine of 75 horse power, with an average speed of eight miles and a half an hour. Additions were subsequently made to her machinery, which, when she was broken ip, was placed in the Portland, lost finally in the Gulf of Mexico in 1848, when chartered to the Government. The Rutland was the first boat to burn anthracite coal successfully instead of wood for fuel, of which a boat would burn forty cords on a trip from New York to Albany. It was Fulton's idea that nine miles an hour was the maximum speed which could be obtained, out so great was the ubsequent progress, that we find the rip to Albany, which in 1822 took tweny hours, was made in 1826 by the North America in ten hours and twenty minutes. In 1832 this was reduced to nine hours and eighteen minutes; there being twelve stoppages on each passage. In 1840 the Albany had a record of eight hours and twenty-seven minutes, broken by the South America in the following year, with seven hours and twentyeight minutes. This seems to have been difficult to surpass, the highest time made in 1849 by the Alida being 7-45, and 7-43 in 1851 by the New World. In 852 the Francis Skeday came to the with 7-24, the Reindeer's time in the same year being 7-27. The nearest approach to this was the America's -42 in 1860. In 1864 the Daniel Drew, which was subsequently burnt, broke the record with 6-51, which in the same year was brought down to 6-42 by the Chauncey Vibbard.

Light Wires in Montevideo. Early in March one of the electric Clermont, which stands the twelfth on wires at the corner of Calle 18 de Julio the list of American steamboats, but the | broke and fell on the road. Two horses first to navigate the Hudson. The en- in a market cart passing by were thrown gines were of English manufacture and down by the electric current the mowere held for some time by the agent ment they touched the wire, which was for non-payment of freight, from which giving out sparks as it lay on the ground, it may be assumed that the capital of and the driver was thrown off his seat. A policeman attempted to clear the wire The progress of the boat was viewed from the horses' "feet" with his sword, with wonder and alarm; the bold stood when he was immediately knocked and openly down by the force of the electricity. He jeered at managed to get on his feet, but was what they again knocked down. Some of the called "Ful- lookers-on went and pulled him off the ton's Folly," wire, and in doing so one of them was while others knocked down, but managed to save fled in dread himself by rolling off the wire. Immeof explo-sion. It is three horses arrived, and all the anirecorded mals fell on coming into contact with that the the wire. By this time the men of the crews of cer- electric light company appeared on the tain sloops, scene. One of them was for a time prewho were vented by the police from touching the not prepared wire, but afterward one of them seized for the Cler- the wire with a tongs to try to cut it, mont's advent, were overcome with and was at once thrown on his back; but terror as they saw the strange-looking the tongs fell from his hands and he craft proceed against wind and tide, was able to get up again. Some more belching out fire and smoke, accom- of the company's men arrived shortly panied by the groaning of her ma- after, and the horses were rescued. The chinery. The sailors prostrated them- men then set about to repair the wire in selves as she drew near, believing her to order to get light in the Calle 18 de Julio be the car of his Satanic Majesty with and other streets that were in darkness

Pythias.' "I've seen plenty of cowboys in my chair and lighting a fresh cigar; "but there is one thing I never saw and never expect to see." "What is that, Major?" asked the his mustache gracefully.

"A boy-cow," replied the Major. This was the beginning of the end

A year later these two men met in the twilight of a summer evening. No look of recognition, no glad words of welcome passed between them. They were as strangers.-Puck. Not a Horrible Prospect. Ida Gotrox-Oh! darling, to think that and you and all that is yours will be star-shaped opening with torn edges mine, and I and all that is mine will be about 6 to 8 mm. wide. At a longer the bonds will not be distasteful to you! not shattered, but bored through in a Herman Grabber-Distasteful to me; clean hole or channel. Hence, according ocure and pay a higher rate of interest, but solid old Government bonds are cood enough for me every time. I—es that in all cases progress in the art of war leads to the diminution of human the Delaware, thus making the first Munsey's Weekly.

BIG LUMPS OF GCLD.

Some of the Most Valuable Nuggets Found in California.

The first nugget of any great importance, and which played a prominent part in the early history of California, was found by a young soldier of Stevenson's regiment in the Mokelumme river, while drinking from that stream. He hastened to San Francisco and placed his prize in the hands of Colonel Mason for safety, after which it found its way to New York, where it fanned the smoldering flame and caused the nations to realize the importance of California. The nugget weighed between 20 and 25 pounds.

In November, 1854, a mass of gold was found at Carson Hill, Calaveras County, which weighed 195 pounds troy. This is the largest piece of gold ever found in the State. Several other nuggets, weighing from 6 to 7 pounds, were found in the same locality.

On the 18th of August, 1860, a large piece of gold was taken from the Monumental quartz mine, Sierra County, which weighed 1,506 ounces troy. The nugget was purchased of the owner by R. B. Woodward, of San Francisco, and exhibited at Woodward's Garden. Mr. Woodward paid $21,636.35 for it, and afterward melted the nugget, realizing $17,654.94 from it.

A Mr. Strain found a large slab-shaped gold quartz nugget near Knapp ranch, half a mile east of Columbia, Tuolumne County, which weighed 50 pounds avoirdupois. After crushing and melting the gold was valued at $8,500. In 1849 a nugget was found at Sullivan's Creek, Tuolumne County, that weighed 28 pounds avoirdupois. In 1856, at French Ravine, Sierra County, a nugget was found which contained considerable quartz, but yielded $10,000, while another was found at an earlier date, in 1851, the gold from which was valued at $8,000.

In the year 1867, at Pilot Hill, El Dorado County, a bowlder of gold quartz was found which yielded in gold $8,000. Several other bowlders of smaller size were found in the same claim. The bowlders were found in what is known as the bowlder gravel claim, immediately west of the Pilot Hill post-office.

A Mr. Virgin and others found a nugget on Gold Hill, Tuolumne County, which weighed 380 ounces and was valued at about $6,500. In 1854 a mass of wood weighting 360 ounces and valued at $6,625 was found at Columbus, Tuolumne County. It has been reported that a nugget weighing 266 ounces, and valued at 85,000, was found at Minnesota, Sierra

In 1850 a piece of gold quartz was found in French Ravine, Sierra County, which contained 263 ounces of gold, worth $4,893.

It has been reported that a Frenchman found a nugget of gold in Spring Gulch, Columbia, Tuolumne County, more than $5,000. The finder became insane the next day and was sent to Stockton. The French Consul recovered the nugget, realized its value, and sent the money to the finder's family in

On the 4th day of August, 1858, Ira A. Willard found on the west branch of Feather River a nugget weighing 54 pounds avoirdupois before and 49% ounds after melting.

A gold nugget was found, date not given, near Kelsey, El Dorado County, which sold for $4,700. In 1876 J. D. Colgrove, of Dutch Flat. Placer County, found a white quartz bowlder in the Polar Star hydraulic mine which contained $5,760 worth of It has been reported that a nugget of re gold was found in the middle fork of the American River, two miles from Michigan Bluff, in the year 1864, which weighed 226 ounces, and was sold for $4,204. Another account of this nugget states that the weight was 187 ounces. -Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.

SMALL-BORE RIFLES. The Wounds They Inflict Far Less Serious Than Those Made by the Old Guns. The adoption of small-bore rifles by nost European countries-Switzerland now employing 7.5 and 6 millimeters (25 mm. being very nearly an inch), France 8, Belgium 7.6, instead of the hitherto universally used 11 mm.-leads to the consideration of what the effect on the human body will be of the increased penetration of these bullets, which can pass through iron plates of 12 mm. (nearly half an inch) and deal planks 1.1 meter (about a yard in thickness), a penetration five or six times as great as that of the projectiles hitherto employed in the German army. Prof. Paul Bruns, the well-known surgeon of Tubingen, has published a work which attempts to give an experimentally scientific answer to this important question. His experiments were made with the Belgian Mauser rifle, and the conclusion he has come to must be considered in all respects satisfactory from a human point of view. asserts that the hydraulic pressure in the wound is much diminished, partly on account of the smaller diameter of life," said the Major, rising from his the bullet and partly on account of the spring action of the thin steel coating which surrounds the soft lead core of the new projectile, so that the extensive tearing of the soft tissues of the clonel, filling his glass and twirling body, such as the old lead bullets used to cause-and which often gave rise to the erroneous idea that explosive bullets were employed-will not occur. The new projectile which, at 100 meters, passes through four or five limbs and smashes up three thigh bones placed one behind the other, makes a smooth cylindrcal opening of less diameter than itself through flesh. The wound where the bullet enters is generally of less o-morrow you and I are to be married. diameter than itself; the exit is a slit or yours. Oh! Herman, are you sure that range, 400 to 1,500 yards, the bones are What, bonds! Of course, dear Ida, to Dr. Bruns, the chances of healing notagages on real estate are perhaps a bullet wounds will, notwithstanding the little more profitable, as they are just as greater efficiency of the new rifle, be much more favorable than in the case of the larger bores. So it would appear suffering .- Ueber Land und Meer.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Census-taker-"How old are you, madam?" "I count twenty-five springs." C.-T.—"And how many do you not count?"-Fliegende Blatter. -Proud mother (piqued that her child's advances meet with no response from fair stranger)-"Why, baby dear, that's not your grandma!"-Punch. -Wife (reproachfully)-"You married me for my money!" Husband (suavely) "No, my dear, you forgot, you hadn't inherited it then. I only took the chances."

-Checkmate - Customer-"I should like to see some of your checks for this season." Tailor-"Yes, sir, certainly, and I should like to see some of yours for last."-Funny Folks.

-Major Blowitz-"The fellow tried to steal my reputation." Colonel Bluntly

"You have lost the opportunity of your life." "What should I have done." 'Let him have it."-Chicago Times. -Wife-"What did you ever see in me to make me your wife?" Husband-'Do you know I've asked myself the been married?"-Epoch. -"Faith," remarks a thoughtful exchange given to proverbs, "never goes home with an empty basket." Just let the editor of our esteemed contemporary buy a lottery ticket .- Merchant same thing a hundred times since we've Traveler. -Mrs. Fangle-"What is Mrs. Gadabout's reputation as a charitable woman based upon?" From behind the newspaper—"Upon her willingness to attend to other people's business without charge."—Bostonian.

—Damaging evidence—Editor—"You see, Mr. Pulpit, we have a Bible in the Clergyman (examining the Bioffice." ble)-"You keep it nice and clean, don't you? There are no finger marks on it."

-Boston Herald. -"Do you think," he asked in hesitating accents, "that you could learn to love me?" "Yes," she said coyly, "I could learn, but I'm afraid you'll have a good deal of trouble teaching father."

- Washington Post. -Mrs. N. Peck-"You just come right into the house here, I want to give you piece of my mind." Mr. N. Peck-"I'll be delighted, my dear, I'm sure. It will be the first time I have had any piece of of mind for many years."-Terre Haute Express.

"I see that coffee has gone up," remarked the boarding-house keeper. The star boarder sniffed at his cup suspiciously. "That won't make any difference to you, he remarked, with a grim smile."—Harper's Bazar. -His First Sensible Act -- Awkward Poet (backing away from the editor and falling into the waste basket)-"D-dear me! I'm always making blunders." Editor-"On the contrary, my dear sir, you have done a most sensible thing." Philadelphia Press.

-The story is told of a famous Boston lawyer that one day, after having a deliberately turned his back upon that personage, and started to walk off. "Are you trying, sir, to show contempt for Court?" asked the judge, sternly. sir," was the reply. "I am trying to conceal it."

-Mrs. Slimdiet (the landlady)-"Can you tell me the difference, Mr. Slowpeigh, between a beefsteak and a shingle?" Slowpeigh (flattered)—"Er, I can't say that I can, ma'am." Mrs. Slimdiet ontemptuously) -- "Mary, see that Mr. Slowpeigh is served with a broiled shingle each morning. There's no use wasting any more good victuals."-American REPORTORIAL ENTERPRISE. A Newspaper Man's Experience in a Rail-road Station Late at Night.

The reporter who has been an operator has a decided advantage in getting his copy to the office by telegraph. A year or two ago one who had a knowledge of telegraphy was sent to Dobbs Ferry late at night on an extremely important affair. He arrived there at leven o'clock, had to drive a considerable distance from the station, and it was one a. m. when he returned to the depot. The last train had gone and the telegraph office closed a long time before. A watchman or track walker at the depot said that the operator lived a mile and a half away, and that he was ill anyhow, and that there was no possibility of sending any thing by wire that night.

When the watchman had obligingly taken a walk up the track the writer tried the office window, found the catch rather loose, and with the thin blade of a pocket-knife soon removed the fastening. To open the window, crawl in and connect the wires in the switchboard was the work of a moment. "N. Y." was called and raised, and the loop to the newspaper office asked for. Twelve hundred words were sent in before two o'clock, without copy, it being necessary for lack of time to compose the story a it was telegraphed on the key. This was done in the dark for fear the watchman would see a light and come back and shoot the reporter for burglary. "O. K." having been received, the reporter went outside, closed the window and spent the remainder of the night gazing at the moon and throwing peb-bles in the Hudson.—The Message.

The Latest in Parasols. The new parasols for summer are formed of lustrous corded silks in handsome colors of gray, heliotrope, reseda and other fashionable shades, or covered with rich brocades, or striped, plaided or corded twilled surah. Dressy styles have silk muslin or net covers, with gold and silver designs like embroidery. Many of the handles are of natural woods - holly, white birch, bamboo, ebony or cherry-with curiously twisted knobs, rings and crooks at the end, or they are quaintly carved and silver tipped. For coaching, there are elegant designs in white and gold brocade, pink, lilac and silver, white and primrose, and other delicate color combinations. Rose-bued linings are popu lar, and silk or marabout fringes finish the edges. For garden parties there are wonderful creations in tulle laden with flowers with grasses for fringe, and fancy rush and willow handles. Many of these are transparent, and show the gilt ribs through the airy folds of lace, net, silk, muslin, tulle, gauze and lisle, accordion-plaited, shirred, puffed or gaffered.—N. Y. Post.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year......

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE. TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 50 cents per square for each additional inter-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and idress, not necessarily for publication, but a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

SATURDAY, JUNE 21, 1850.

Representative McComas called at the White House last week, accompanied by G. L. Wellington, the newly appointed sub-treasurer at Baltimore, and J. W. Shuck. the new postmaster at Cumberland. Both him for their appointments.

Will Have no Drinkers.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad company has sent to each employe a circular note of which the following is in part a copy: This company will not, under any circumstances, employ men who are in the habit of getting intoxicated. All employes known to frequent drinking places must be warned to discontinue the practice, or quit the company's service. Employes will be discharged if intoxicated either on or off duty. No person discharged for intoxication will be re-employed.

Democrats and the Farmers.

The following from the Pittsburg Times we cordially endorse, and com- by the board of public works, consis- will feel compelled to tender his res- duction of duty in 1883, and the low mend our readers, particularly those belonging to the farmer class:

that has been so much heard of late in the hands of these State officers as Lyman has wilfully done any wrong, only lost their employment, but also that the less dealers and men in general had to do with farmers the better it would be for them. With the provided for the redemption of the he has shown that he is out of place Nov Mr. Blumenthal and the other systematic discrediting of farmers public debt. The flances of the canal on the commission. Campbell, the importers in that trade apparently that has been going on of late, were have been controlled by the same brother-in-law of Lyman, and the expect to continue to be the only they all rich they would inevitably men who have controlled the flances man who stole the questions which people whose voice is to be heard be ruined. This attempt by Democratic leaders, echoing Cleveland's of the State and determined who were offered for sale, has already re- when a question regarding buttons stereotyped words, representing the should administer them. It is strik- signed. farmers of the country as at the very bottom of the ladder financially, is find the same evidences of mismanfound to react—is reacting. It is not true, in the first place. It is not likely to be true. The attempt to make it so appear is sure to prove a positive injury to the agricultural classes. The fact is that between the quacks, professing to be anxious for the financial health of the farmers, and the demagogues echoing Cleveland's vaporating, the farmers are actually in danger of having their credit and standing destroyed. It is time to call a halt in this busi- glect of duty and disregard of law

Ohio Canal.

receivers sav:

line of the canal, have found that the company as a transportation ing testimony going to show that there is a great deal of very valuable line." Why was it bought then? Commissioner McDonald has used property belonging to the canal com- Why retained? For whose private the clerical force of the bureau on his papers they control, or to interfer- Court, and consisting of three citition line. Much of this property is ed at a nominal rent, at a rent far be- in lucrative positions, he has made says, "with the present majority in whom are to be of the same political leased at a nominal rent; at a rent low the true value of the property." a practice of using the boats and oars Congress there is a political motive party. far below the true value of the prop- What wonder that the canal has been owned by the commission to carry which in their estimation, subordierty. From the books and maps a sink-hole for the State's money in pleasure parties composed of his famceivers by the officers of the canal com- managed it—if these are specimens Last week the President found it pany it has been impossible to ascer- of their management. Everywhere necessary to veto another bill providowns, what leases it has made, and ity, the same neglect of duty, the lie building. what rent it is entitled to receive.

whether any leases have been made It is impossible, in contemplating subjects of the day, there is no ill. pany. The mines have no railroad since the issue of bonds secured by the final wreck and ruin of the canal, will or hard feelings in the honest communications for shipping coal, the several mortgages, and if the not to see that scandalous misman- difference of opinion existing be- and the entire output of the mines is same are valid."

THE REPUBLICAN. abundant justification for the posttion taken by the Sun in opposition receivers, with full knowledge of like to see them out of the way. to the notorious canal-lease bill. which, with such indecent haste and freshets, in their estimate of the an- the Senate the same bill, for the Panby the use of such questionable nual expenses of operating the canal. means and tactics, was forced through the Legislatute at its last session. It repairs," They significantly state House. is a complete vindication, in fact, of that "former administrations of the all who opposed the transfer of the canal claim that they expended in canal and of the State's rights and extraordinary repairs, on an average interest therein to the socalled Wash. for each year, $72,6.0," and this for a ington and Cumberland Railroad period of twenty-three years !- Bal-Company, without consideration, examination or investigation, at a price fixed by the would-be purchaser or lessee itself. It is fortunate that the consummation of the plans of the canal-grabbers has been delayed by the proceedings taken by the bondholders of 1878 for their protection in the courts. But for the action of Judge Alvey in appointing receivers the condition of the canal, the facts developed in the portion of the receivers' report we have quoted would never have come to light. It was the object, as it was the interest, of the authors and promoters of the of the new officeholders were pre- canal-lease bill not only to get possented to the President, and thanked session of the canal and to acquire tible to the State's property for a totally inadequate censideration, but at the same time to smother and suppress all investigation and inquiry as to the real value of the property acunired and into their own past administration of the canal. The receivers very properly recommend that steps be taken before any sale. by order of the court, to ascertain the character and value of the property to be sold, and the people of the State when they understand the facts will be very apt to demand an investigation into past administration.

It must be remembered that though poration the canal is a State work. practically owned by the State, and Commissioner Lyman the scape-goat. New England, giving employment its entire administration controlled It is thought here that Mr. Lyman tomany people, but between the reting of the Governor, Comptroller ignation to the President, and there cot of buttons made in Austrian and Treasurer. The management of isn't the slightest doubt of its prompt prisons, all those factories were clos-One would think from the talk the canal has been just as completely acceptance. No one believes that Mr. ed and the employees in them not the management of the sinking funds but by his lack of tack and judgment lost their position as "the people." find the same evidences of mismanagement and the same sort of mis- tle upon the Cherokee lands until the on one small creek in New Jersey are management characterizing the action of the board of public works in both directions. We are not speaking now with reference particularly to the present Governor and comptroller or the late treasurer. Just as the evidence before the Archer committee shows ne-The Wreck of the Chesapeake and over a much greater period of time amount appropriated by the River the same sort. In the case of pur- House, to $25,000,000. The bill will receivers of the Chesapeake and Ohio chases for the State sinking fund, Canal, published in Tuesday's Sun, presumably made by the authority without being impressed by the care- and under the direction of the board pects to report the McKinley tariff which the receivers have performed no proper record was kept of the sethe duty imposed upon them by curlties purchased—a piece of neglect mittee shall wilfully delay the conwith disastrous rapidity, and the The supervisors are required to Judge Alvey's order, of investiga- which facilitated the treasurer's mis- sideration of the several schedules of Blumenthals of New York would make in cowns of 20,000 people and ting thoroughly the condition and use of the State securities and threw the bill which have been turned over have increased in wealth, influence upwards a thorough house to house prospects of the canal, with reference additional difficulties in the way of to them as fast as the Republicans to the feasibility of repairing it and the committee's investigations. In completed them, operating it successfully as a water- the case of the canal company the Pursuant to instructions of the way. Apart from the main question, receivers report that from the books House Republican caucus, the Lodge however, of the cost of repairs and and papers turned over by the officers and the Rowell Federal election bills prospects for future revenue, in re- of the company (the appointees of have been merged into one, with the empty mills will again be filled to govern, except that all ballots are gard to which the conclusions of the the board of public works) "it has some modifications in both, and to with wage earners, recsivers will be read with interest been impossible to ascertain exactly night the consolidated bill will be by all persons interested in the canal, what property the canal owns, what submitted to another caucus which and especially in the counties liable leases it has made and what rent it is will finally decide whether it shall be to be affected by its discontinuance entitled to receive." The Archer in passed at this session. as a water-way, there are certain vestigation has disclosed purchases General debate on the Jones silver other facts developed by the report for the sinking fund which ought bill in the Senate was closed this afwhich ought to receive the thought- never to have been made at prices ternoon, and the House bill, as ful consideration of every citizen of which ought never to have been amended by the Senate Finance comthe State. We refer particularly to paid. The canal receivers report "a mittee, was substituted therefor. that portion of the report where the great deal of valuable property be- The Senate sub-committee which longing to the canal company not is investigating the Fish Commission "We having examined the entire absolutely essential for the uses of has already taken some very interestpany and not absolutely essential for profit? Much of this same property, private work, and that besides putthe uses of the canal as a transporta- the receivers further report, "is leas- ting several members of his family the New York Commercial Bulletin repute, not more than the two of which have been turned over to the re- the hands of the people who have ily and friends. tain exactly what property the canal crop out evidences of the same lax- ing for the erection of a useless pubsame betrayal of the public interests "In case there should be a sale of and of a public trust, the same indi- that Mr. Blaine and Speaker Reed sion of damp gas occurred to-day in the canal, the receivers deem it abso- cations of favoritism, corruption and are jealous of each other, and that the Hill farm mine at Dunbar. All lutely essential that before such sale jobbery. And the responsibility for each of them is trying to shipwreck the men were in the pit. Fifteen the persons declared elected by the should be made they be empowered it all rests upon the same men—the the political bark of the other, This have been taken out badly injured. United States Canvassers, in case to ascertain and report to the court same party managers who have nomiss simply summer twaddle. Both The other fifty are thought to be dead, exactly the property which the com- insted and elected Governors and Mr. Blaine and Mr. Reed are too big but a volunteer party are digging for pany owns, both in Maryland and comptrollers and appointed treasur- and too sensible to be troubled with them. the District of Columbia, and also to ers at their will-and have run the that disease of small minds known | The Hill farm mine is situated ascertain and report what leases have canal as a political machine for their as envy or jealousy. While they may about two miles from Dunbar and is FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.-The West End of Wing and been made and on what terms, and own private and personal advantage. not be in perfect accord on all the owned by the Dunbar Furnace Com-

the force and frequency of Potomac timore Sun.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) to-morrow for Cape May wherethey have accepted a cottage from Postesque successor to the late Hon. See entitled to rank as the people? nel J. Randali in the House, man I to an unpleasent admission his maiden speech Saturday. It was it is undonbtedly true, that in some a eulogy of Mr. Randall. Speaker Reed says he is not a can-Speaker Reed says he is not a can-are all of the people. As for instance, didate for President, but that does Mr. B. Blumenthal, "a button imnot stop the rapidly increasing senti- porter," who objects very strongly to ment among Republicans that he the McKinley bill in general, and possesses all the necessary elements toubtless to that section of it which of a successful Presidential candidate ould not be introduced into the nor does it prevent many shrewd and tills bill, prohibiting the importalong headed men from predicting his ton of prison made wares, testified nomination and election in 1892.

The civil service committee of the vere made here, and he did not be-House has at last made its report upon leve they ever would be. He had the investigation of the charges mandoned manufacturing pearl butagainst the civil service commission. tens six years ago." Up to that nominally owned by a private cor- The report exonerates Commissioner | time there were factories for making Roosevelt and Thompson, and makes | parl buttons near New York and in been ratified by Congress.

Senator Evarts, from the Senate the possession of his descendants. The Senate Committee on Com-be reported to the Senate this week. The Senate Finance committee ex-

The Democratic press now has it elements and forces of nature. The party fears these two men and would eastern parties, no Pittsburgers being Senator Sherman has introduced in American bank, which Representa-

Who Are the People?

One of our esteemed Free-Trade contemporaries speaks of the visit of some 200 importers, importing merchants and brokers to Washington for the purpose of prote-ting against the McKipley bill, as an uprising of "the people." They were said to represent $500,000,000 in trade, which, if WASHINGTON, June 16th, 1890:- true, should give them more wealth, The President and his family leave and the influence which accompanies wealth, than as many brewers. Their protest was against those who "in master General Wanamaker. Mr. power have the barefaced audacity to and ordering an examination into Harrison will return in a few days propose measures which, if made but Mrs Harrison and the rest of the into laws, will seriously interfere family will not return for several with our foreign trade," as stated by months. During the warm weather one of their sub-committees which the President will pay them weekly "have no particular axe to grind." visits and spend as much time with This protesting delegation un-them as his duties here will permit doubtedly represented some 450 firms Representative Vaux, the pletur signing the protest. But are they

It is an unpleasent admission, but instances they are the people; they mout pearl buttons, "None of them is brought up. Up to 1883 many of Secretary Noble has announced the larger merchants were running that no person will be allowed to set | mills, now the mills are closed. Four agreement by which they have been standing idle, and the wage earners ceded to the Government, shall have are scattered, adding to the unemployed, or crowding into other trades for which they are not so well train-Library Committee, has reported a ed. The owners of those mills find-> work people. and numbers. On the passage of the canvass before election to inform votnates every consideration of public interest or public equity."-Amer- is to declare and certify the result of ican Economist.

Many Miners Smothered.

PITTSBURGH, June 16 .- An exploagement has had its share in productiween them, and such stories are told used by the Dunbar Furnace Com-In this single statement there is ing that ruin quite as much as the by Democratic papers because that pany, which is comprised entirely of 524 interested in it. Samuel Dickson, of Philadelphia, is the President.

DUNBAR, PA., June 16 .- This morning at 11:10 a sullen, shivering include $20,000 for "extraordinary tive Hill recently introduced in the roar shook the lowly miners dwelling on the Hill farm, in Fayette county. near this place, and hundreds of affrighted persons, who knew the sound too well, feared another mine disaster, and they were reassured far too well. In a moment the fearful news had spread that the Hill farm mines, owned by Philadelphia parties, had exploded. The low-browed hill from which the slope entered shook from mouth to pit, and the score of miners' houses lining the fatal hills shook for a moment, and then poured out their frienzied inmates by the hundreds. A rush was made to the mouth of the pit, but ingress was impossible, as smoke in dense volumes was issuing forth. Fifty-two miners had gone to work this morning, and were in the slope when the explosion occurred. Of these fifty-two, eighteen were in the left heading. Those in the left heading got out all right. The retreat of > the others was cut off, and not one escaped. Their names were: Joseph Brigner, married. Richard Brigner. Milt Farney, married, Barney Maust. Emanuel Maust. Pat Courtney, aged 40 years, mar-

George Courtney, son, aged 17 years. J. W. Mitchell, aged 40 years, married. Joseph Bigley, aged 30 years, wife and two children. Peter Egan, aged 44 years, married. Robert McGill, single. Martin Cayener, single, John Cope, married, Andrew Cope, son. Patrick Devlin, married. John Delanney, married. John Joy, married. John Devanney. David Davis, married. Thomas Davis, son. Patrick Cabill, married. William Canill. Patrick Courtney, married. John Courtney and son. Jack Mitchell, married. Daniel Shearn, single. William Hayes, aged 19. James McCleary, married. Thomas McClearn, married, Elmer Denney, single.

National Election Law.

WASHINGTON, June 16 .- The National Election bill, as framed by the bill appropriating $20,000 to buy the ing in the last half dozen years that House Republican Caucus Commitmanuscripts and correspondence of they can import those goods with a tee, has just been printed. The prin-Thomas Jefferson which are now in greater profit than they can manufac- cipal features of the measure are as ture them, have formed connections follows: Calef supervisors of elecwith foreign manufacturers and now tions in judicial districts are charged ment of the canal extends probably merce has, by additions, raised the ple," who denounce as "barefaced is to apply to Federal elections in -and mismanagement of precisely and Harbor bill since it passed the interfere with our foreign trade" by wards, and in entire Congressional setting those mills and factories in districts exclusively of such cities operation and re-employing their old upon application to the supervisor of 100 voters, or in counties or parishes If the Mills bill had passed, the forming a part of a Congressional ful and conscientious manner in of public works, as the law requires, bill to the Senate this week, unless elimination of wage earners from district, upon application of fifty

> McKinley bill and exclusion of pri- ers upon inquiry where and in what son made buttons, whatever Mr. Blu- box to c. posit their ballots, and to menthal may do, ships will again scrutinize naturalizations. In can- our line, bring pearl shells to our ports, and vassing the votes the State laws are to be counted by tens, first by an in-It is apparently because the major- spector of election, and second by a ity of our Representatives and Sen- supervisor, the local election officers ators prefer to legislate for the ad- and the supervisors keeping separate vantage of sixty-five or seventy mil- tally sheets, which are to be comparlion people, most of whom are citi- ed and the result publicly announced. zens of the United States, and to add Ballots deposited in the wrong box to the wealth and resources of this are to be counted. Returns are to be country, rather than for the four hun- made by the supervisors in duplicate dred and fifty wealthy and well or to the clerk of the circuit courts and ganized members of the Importers' to the chief supervisor, who is to Organization, without regard either tabulate and refer them to the United to their heavy contributions to cam- States Board of Canvassers of the paign expenses, the arguments and Congressional vote, which is to be denunciations of the mud-slinging appointed by United States Circuit

The Board is to convene on November 15 each and every year and of mill work. the election and send one return to the Clerk of the House of Representatives, one to the Governor of the State, and one to the proper Chief Supervisor of Elections. The Clerk of the House is to place upon the roll of members-elect the names of there is a difference in the result reached by them and by the State election officers.

rooms will be furnished with everything necessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two horses, and carriage house. There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, connected with the premises. Apply 10. E. C. TILSON, Proprietor.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER. AND PROPRIFTOR OF

GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll

Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General Building Material.

Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assort-ment of Cofflis, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance. It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices. Thanking all who have favored me in the past, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to merit their future patronage. All orders left at the mill promptly attended to.

* Correspondence solicited.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890 6 21 iy.

ORDER NISI.

Chas. W. Boucher vs.

Jos. Whetstone, et. al. Garrett County. Jos, Whetstone, et. al. ) Garrett County.

ORDERED, This 31st day of June in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, sitting in equity, That the sale made and reported in the above cause by Phineas C. Bouchess Trustee, be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 14th day of July 1890; provided a copy of this order be published in some newspaper published in Oakland, Garrett County, Md., once a week for three successive weeks before the 14th day of July, 1890.

The report states the amount of sale to be The report states the amount of sale to be $450.00.

E. Z. TOWER, Clerk, True Copy-Test: E. Z. TOWER, Clerk.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

The Co-partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, doing business under the firm name of Gnagey & Durst, has this day been dissolved by inutual consent. All persons knowing themselves indebted to the firm will please call on Jonas E. Gnagey, who has charge of the books, and settle their ac-

> JONAS E. GNAGEY. JONAS J. DURST.

Having purchased the interest of Mr. Jonas J. Durst in the Grantsville Planing Mill I will hereafter continue the business in my own name. Thanking all for past patronage I hope to merit a continuance of the same. JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., May 1st, 1890.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers Hardware Association,

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TINWARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVATORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC. HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D, M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS, BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. and BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRUCKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known in Garrett County, will eall on every farmer and solicit orders for anything they wish in

Yours, respectfully, FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in.

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newels, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Match-ing done to order at the lowest rates.

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of-Boots and Shoes.

Wagner's old stand, Railroad street, OAKLAND, MD. Repairing neatly and promtly done.

The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the game Hall Friday night of each week and Sunday afternoon, SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night, PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights feach month.

LOCAL NEWS.

- The Oakland Hotel opens for the season to-day (Saturday.)

-P. A. Fox, of Terra Alta, was in Oakland Monday for a short time on business.

-Rev. Shaw, of Rowlesburg, W. Va., was in the city last Monday for a short time. -Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing thirty-five doilars. The money will rakes should see them before buying. be used toward re-painting the par--A fine cottage for rent at Mountain Lake Park.

J. C. PEDDICORD.

Son's. It will pay you. -Percy Veitch, who has been away since last fall, is at home for the summer vacation, -WANTED - A good cook and children. Apply at Garthright's season. Mr. Rathbone's official duties ing up his business. -Just received, at the Oakland

Mill, 3 car loads containing Flour, Feed, Oats and Corn, all for sale at a reasonable price. -The Lutheran Sunday School will observe "Children's Day" the last Sunday of June, the 29th. All are cordially invited to be present. -Just received at Davis & Son's, another car of Orchilla Guano, and Silver Gray Fertilizer, suitable for buck wheat and Corn. -Compton Tasker, who has been away from Oakland for several months, is spending a short vacation here with his mother.

-Married, June 14th, in Cumberand, Md., by the Rev. R. Ison, Mr. Charles O. Miller, of Smithfield, Pa., to Miss Lavinia Budd, of West Newton, Pa.

-We have made arrangements to handle the Champion Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New Mower on hand. DAVIS & SON.

-Julius Scherr, one of the proprieters of the Oakland Woolen Mills, was in the city vesterday visiting friends and attending to business mat-ters - Cumberland News.

-The old soldiers of Preston counon the 3d, 4th and 5th of July, at invited and expect to be present.

-George Merrill, Jr., who has been lying at death's door for several days, is, we are happy to note, better at this writing (Wednesday morning), the large flour mill of Mr. Walter and some hopes are entertained of Rizer, at Keyser, took fire as it is his recovery.

-Artie Fraley, the accommodat ing teller in the bank here, will join was entirely enveloped, the flames the ever increasing band of Benedicts spreading to his adjacent dwelling. on Thursday of next week. Miss The loss on the mill is variously esti-Eva Shawen, of Terra Alta, is to be mated at from $10,000 to $12,000, his pardner in "double blessedness," upon the house is placed at $3,000 to marriage of Miss Susie Hamill. daughter of Judge Hamill, to Mr. Arthur Townshend. The ceremony will be performed in the M. E. Church on Wednesday of next week.

-Chris. Felty has moved into the house opposite the Lutheran church, 31st, 1890. on Fifth street.

-Some speak-thief stole seventeen young chickens from the hennery of little more evidence before he has the pose whatever. parties arrested.

-All loyers of a cup of good tea should call at Cline's grocery and get a sample of tea and compare price A large number of invited guests and quality. This tea was bought spent a very enjoyable day last Fridirect from importers at New York, day, at the residence of Mr. and for cash, and is guaranteed first qual- Mrs. William White, the occasion ity. Remember the place-William being the celebration of the fortieth was Mr. Jordon's first visit here for silver. about twenty-seven years. He is thinking of locating here.

-Garthright has just received nice and cheap black and white sattines, in the Post Office at Oakland, Gar. Goods. at 12c, worth 20c; plain black sat- rett county, Md., for week ending tines, at 16c., worth 25c.; 17 yards June 14, 1890; best prints for $1.00; 17 yards best card, Wilkins, Friend, Edmond, Friend, Jos. of Jno., prime muslin, $1.00 fresh and Harvey, Jennie, Russel, Charles, Taylor Mary Jane (2) each price paid for fresh eggs. Green Persons calling for them will please Castle grain cradles sold cheap. 6 21 2.

-All the hands employed in the REPUBLICAN office were on the sick

Ev. Lutheran Church Sunday morning and evening.

-Dr. E. K. Goldsborough and this office. -Miss Willie Robinson, of Parkersburg. W. Va., who has been spending the winter in the South, has been the guest of her cousin, Miss Neltie Ison, of Oakland. -The festival given by the young ladies of the M. E. Church, last Friday and Saturday evenings, was a success financially, clearing about

-Prof. Jacob Graeber will give music lessons on violin, guitar, zith--Don't fail to see the Red. White er, or brass instruments; also vocal and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis & music. Will take engagements for entertainments and parties. Orders may be left at F. G. Hyde's jewelry

-Hon. E. G. Rathbone, Chief P. O. Inspector, and family will occupy the housekeeper. Four in family. No Cullen cottage, on Oak street, this will keep him in Washington most of the time, but he will spend Saturdays and Sundays with his family.

> -Died, at Cumberland, Md., on the 14th of June, Judge Robert Bruce, in his eighty-fifth year. Judge Bruce commanded the 2nd regiment of the P. H. B., of loyal Maryland troops in the late rebellion, and served with distinction during the war. Mrs. General Kelley is a daughter of the late Col. Bruce.

-Rev. E. A. Snook, of Williams port, Pa., preached in the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning and at Terra Alta in the evening. The made he will be called to fill these appointments regularly.

road supervisor on the Capt. Mans. Tuank you!

-We understand that Mr. C. T. West's store, at Swanton, was broken into and robbed last Wednesday night. The thieves got several dolty, W. Va., will hold their rennion lars in cash, besides a quantity of goods for their pains. It is thought Kingwood. A number of orators are the same parties who went through C. W. Mayer's store, at Terra Alta, were the perpetrators of the theft at Swanton.

supposed from the engine room, and in a very short time the structure -Cards are out announcing the $4,000. A bucket brigade confined the fire to the mill and residence, though other buildings in the neighborhood were in great danger.

Excursions to Colorado.

Excursion tickets to Colorado brick house belonging to Robert Springs, Denver and Pueblo are now Porter, on Second street. Mr. An- on sale at all coupon ticket offices of fact, the entire book is a wonder of Last evening Mrs. Good and Mrs. derson, who formerly occupied the the B. & O. R. R. at reduced rates, value and interest, such as was never Grubt, both of Wheeling, arrived house, moved into John Shartzer's valid for return jorney until October seen before. While the Book is here with their families, and Mr.

Trespass Notice.

All persons are hereby warned not Bernard Freise, one night last week. to trespass upon my premises, known Bernard is pretty positive he knows as the brick-yard or slaughter-house who stole them, but is waiting for a lot, adjoining Oakland, for any pur-

6 21 3. A. NELSON.

Silver Wedding. Smouse building, Railroad street. anniversary of the marriage of the Benoni Jordon, of Kingwood, W. host and hostess. The large number Va., was in Oakland several days of friends not only enjoyed the hossince our last issue, visiting his pitality of Mr. and Mrs. White, but them after a big fire, daughter, Mrs. J. Ed. Kildow. This each presented them with a piece of

List of Letters

List of letters remaining unclaimed say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

Accident:

Miss Florence Speicher, daughter ways receives a warm welcome at Public, and they all also made a fine Accident from his many friends and impression socially. Mr. and Mrs. acquaintances,

Miss Bertie Boyer, of Oakland, laughter of Samuel Boyer, is visiting her grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Boyer, of Ac- consisted of solos, duets, quartettes cident.

Dr. R. A. Ravenscraft sports s grasshopper springs that draw from liberally patronized. The party rethe axle, manufactured by the Abthe axle, manufactured by the Ab-bott Buggy Company, Chicago, It thereing, much to the regret of the It is easy riding, and overcomes citizens. Rev. Mr. Hadaway and horse-motion as nearly as any cart the writer has yet seen. The doctor looks quite spry in his new rig. Quite a hard shower of rain passel over Accident on Monday. Dentist Lemuel Ritter, of Meyesdale, was in Accident last week look

Wm. H. Gnagey, Clara, Martia, Ada and Milton Gnagey left on Sat- and buckwheat, urday for Aurora, W. Va., to my their uncle, Mr. Benjamin Schrok, turned from their western tour on a visit, and returned on Monday ere- the 7th inst.

Mr. Dessie Boyer and his siter Lillie have gone to Connellsyille. a., to visit friends and relatives. Our Dunkard friends are bisily engaged in work at their new church.

A Card of Thanks.

Having lost my house, furniture congregations are pleased with Rev. people of Accident, and all others in last few weeks, some offering as high Snook, and if arrangements can be the community surrounding it, and as 41 cents per pound for lambs to be elsewhere, who have so kindly and delivered in September. -The Commissioners were in ses- me to rebuild and again to furnish mowing machine of the agent at sion this week. Among the proceed- my house, by giving me material, Meyersdale, which he brought from ings we note the following: The confurniture, household goods and the station at West Salisbury last tract to build the wood bridge over money wherewith to begin. I ap. Friday. Castleman river was awarded to preciate your help and kindness, M. D. Yoder bought a Deering self Fuller, John Foley was appointed God's blessing in your life work, received last Friday.

"The Road to Heaven."

just published, which should be in took a trip to W. Va. every home. One of the remarkable Miss Lillie Kurtz is at home on a book is written. Its facts which are ry business. drawn from Religion, Science, Art. Mr. John Anderson paid Grants-Philosophy, History, Literature and ville a visit last Sunday. -Monday morning about 4 o'clock Tradition, are embellished with There is to be a pic-nic at Halfevery grace. Its morality will recom- Way Hollow, about three miles west mend it into every household, for it from town, on the 4th. furnishes the splendid frame work of Frank McKenzie has been nobility of character and with mar- but is convalescing again. yelous wisdom reveals the true man. Several timber men have been hood and womanhood, divested of through here looking up timber, this all sham and deceit. No one will be week. in danger of intellectual dyspepsia from reading "The Road to Heaven," for lovely anecdotes and vivid To-day (Wednesday) we made a descriptions are woven with precious break on the old board walk which truths and ripe experiences, on every crosses the glade. We are making page. The Anecdotes, fresh, thril- it eight feet wide. ling and delightful, bring out the Mr. A. C. Sharp is now having his Author's meaning most beautifully, cottage nicely painted. and are scattered throughout the The first guests arrived here from book, like pearls on a royal robe. In St. Louis, Mo., last Friday night. cinating as fiction. Its teachings so from Morgantown. the morals, ennoble character, awak-bould be getting ready to supply en the heedless, saye the sallen, enweak, cheer the faithful, promote ply of ready cash. temperance, stimulate the discouraged, guide the anxious, solace the aged here this morning, and Mrs. Herand comfort the mourner. C. A. COMBS, Agent, Mt. Lake Park, Md.

Parasols and Sun Umbrellas. line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell them 40 per cent less than they can R. R. Co, and parties contemplating thing for summer wear. Be sure and see our 45c Corset.

You should come at once while our stock is still complete.

All the best and most desirable shapes in Hats. from 75e.

M. L. SCOTT. Baltimore Store, Deer Park.

On Monday night last a very pleasof Dr. Asa Speicher, of Salisbury, is ant entertainment was held in our Mr. Wm. Hinebaugh and his sons, who participated were Rev. C. E. school with great efficiency. He al- ings were much appreciated by the thieves. McCullough were guests of Mr. Wm. D. Hoye, and Mr. and Mrs. Hadaway were guests of Mr. Samuel C. and readings, was held in the Lutheran church. At the close the large fine rig. A new Perry cart with festival in the basement, which was audience were invited to attend a > Grantsville. Farmers are busy ploughing corn and preparing the ground for wheat Mr. A. L. Gnagey and family re-weeks ago.

Hon. Wm. R. Getty is having his house repaired, which was formerly occupied by Mr. Joseph Blocher as a residence and postoffice.

Frank Spicer moved his carpenter shop from its original foundation to the lot bought of the Miller heirs. Mrs. Jennie Livengood and Miss Mollie Wegman took a trip to Frostburg last Friday. and household goods by fire lastwin- There have been quite a number of ter, I take this way of thanking the sheep buyers in this section for the

Peter and Michael Nathan and E. B. friends, and wish you success and binder and also a mower, which he Mr. Samuel Beachy and wife are JOHN KOLB. away from home on a visit through Lancaster county, Pa.

Mr. M. D. Yoder took a trip to West Virginia over Sunday. The above is the title of a book Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Hershberger features of "The Road to Heaven" is visit from Meyersdale, Pa., where the beautful manner in which the she had been engaged in the miline-

Mt. Lake Park.

sparkling and brilliant, it is also fas- Herman Stetzer came last evening beautifully brought forward, are cer- A great crowd will be here in a tain to strengthen the intellect, purify very short time. So our farmers courage the struggling, fortify the that will bring them in a good sup-

Mrs. Warren, of Wheeling, arrived ring, from Baltimore, this evening. J. A. E.

Summer Exentation Book.

A handsomely illustrated book of summer excursion tours to all the We have just opened an elegant principal mountain, lake and seaside resorts has been issued by the B. & O. be bought elsewhere, as we bought a summer outing would do well to procure a copy of it before complet-Silk Mits 15c per pair. Just the ing their arrangements.

The book will be matied, post paid upon application to Chas, O. Scull, We can offer the best bargains in General Passenger Agent, B. & O. Hats, Flowers, and all Millinery R. R., Baitimore, Md.

Institute at Gormania.

The Maryland Sunday School Union proposes to hold a Sunday School Institute at Gormania on the 28th and Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced 29th of June. Rev. Geo. H. Nock will be present to conduct it, and will probably be assisted in the music by Rev. C. E. McCullough and wife. Oakland, Md. who are very fine singers.

C. T. West's store was robbed on last Wednesday night, 11th inst. The -Rev. B. Ison will preach in the visiting her grandfather and grand- fown. There was no admission ree, thief or thieves broke the shutter off mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eli McMillen. and the audience was large. Those in the rear end of the store and cut a hole and entered. It is supposed Arthur and Wade, of Oakland, had McCullough and wife, of Cumber- that they stole about two hundred family, of Washington, arrived in been circulating through our town land, and G. W. Hadaway, of Way- dollars' worth of goods. They tried Oakland Saturday evening, and will for about a week. Mr. Hinebaugh erly, Baltimore circuit. They were to get into the money safe, but not spend the summer in their cottage on spent Sunday in Accident. He at- friends of Rev. Geo. H. Nock, who understanding the combination, failtended Sunday-School, and gave the desired them to see the matchless ed. They tore off the money drawer -Lost-At Offutt's Hall, Saturday school an interesting talk. Mr. mountain scenery about Deer Park, and carried it out to the rear of the night, the gold ring from a watch by Hinebaugh had for a number of and knowing them to be fine singers store, but only got the small change which the chain is attached to the years been superintendent of the Acwatch. Finder will please leave at cident Sunday School before he moyed to Oakland, and conducted the visit and excellent singing and read in six months, and no clue to the

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. George were visiting relatives at Elk Garden Saturday and Sunday last. Constable McRobie was on a business trip to Oakland Monday. John L. Fitzwater has the biggest hog we have seen for a long time. Geo. Lee, from near Mt. Zion, has noved into Swanton. Preaching in the U. B. Church on next Sunday at 101 A. M., by Rev. Taylor.

The Ordinance accepting the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company's wife have been spending a part of proposition for the location of the their honeymoon with Rev. McCultermini of the Second and Third Dilough and wife at Cumberland, who visions of the main line and of the themselves were married about six Pittsburg Division here with the facilities upon the endorsement of the company's bonds for $150,000 by the city, was carried yesterday by a clear-cut majority of 1,196 in a total poll of 1,712. The fight was a straightout intellectual campaign and a warfare of arguments.

The friends of the movement may well feel proud of their triumph, while its opponents need feel no chagrin. Indeed, it is to be hoped all intemperateness of feeling and speech in both the victorious and defeated will be avoided and that the course of the city's life will move smoothly along .- Cumb. News, Wednesday.

If You Have a Trifling Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough are. Price 25c.

For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colic, Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no willingly come to my aid in assisting Jacob Miller bought a new Deering pleasant. Frangipan Curative Baim. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. Sturgiss Drug Store, and Country Stores.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

COUNTY TREASURER'S NOTICE.

To the Tax-Pavers of Garrett County Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts in said County, to collect and receive taxes at the times and collect and receive taxes at the times and laces following:

Grantsville, No. 3, July 14th. Bittinger, No. 12, July 15th, Accident, No. 5, July 16th Selbysport, No. 2, July 17th. McHenry, No. 6, July 18th. Gregg's Mill, No. 11, July 21st. Johnson's, No. 9, July 22d. Bloomington, No. 4, July 15th, Swanton, No. 1, July 16th. Deer Park, No. 10, July 17th, Gorman, No. 8, Suly 18th.

N. B. Office in Oakland will be closed July By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at its January Session 1990 By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at its January Session, 1890, all 'Jounty Taxes shall be due and payable on the 1st of September succeeding the date of levy, and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent. shall be allowed, but this discount shall not be allowed. to any person or corporate institution unless the whole amount of State and County taxes due by such person or corporate institution for the current year be paid when the same

URIAH M. STANTON, County Treasurer

CURED BY Mitchell's Rheumatic Plasters. INSTART RELIEF FOR ALL RHEURATIO PAINS.

BURN GURN for Rheumatiem, Neuralgia and Sciatica Soid by druggists everywhere, or by mail, 35 cents.

Novelty Plaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

6 21 3t

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK

OAKLAND, MARYLAND D. E. OFFUTT, President.

G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted.
Prompt attention to collections, 1 12 '89. JOHN A. WOLF,

CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN GARRETT COUNTY.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OARLAND, MD., May 7th, 1896. OARLAND, MD., May 7th, 1896.

TAKE NOTICE, That the roads under your charge shall be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year; and in working said roads it is incumbent upon you, wherever practicable, to cut gutters on either side and work high in middle of road. You are also required to notify all persons traveling the roads with steam threshers or other heavy machines that they will be held responsible for all damage done to roads and bridges over which they pass.

By order,

By order,

LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

to sell our Nursery Stock. Salary, Expense and Steady Employment Guaranteed. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 587. AN ACT

To create a new election district in Garrett county to be known as Biddinger D strict, or the Twelfth Election District of G rrett County. County.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That a new election district be formed and laid out of portions of the first, third, fourth and fifth election districts of Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District, or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett county, whose metes and bunds shall be as follows:

Beginning at the Bidge road where it income bounds shall be as follows:

Beginning at the Hidge road where it it tersects the Meadow Mountain Road at Mar Otto's then with Ridge road by way of Yon mer's Mill, to the Grantsville road at Bendict Beachy's, then to the top of Negro moutain by Rush's Mill and John Spiker's forme piace, then with the top of said mountain the 'County Road leading from John Haman's to the town of Accident, then with sair road to upper end of John Harman's farm then to the forks of the Oakland and Swantonad on east side of the mountain by way of Jeremiah Dursts, then to head of Nort branch of middle fork at Buck Mason's, the with said north fork to the mouth of Blac Hawk, at Stemple's mill seat, then to mout of Monroe's run by way of O'Haver's Mil then to James Resh's in back woods, then thorse Pond run by way of Ashford Warnick at old lumber camp near Perry Broadwater' then with said run to the beginning at Mar Otto's.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That the Officers of Registration for Districts Numbers One, free, Four and Five, when at their regular littings, shall strike from the lists of qualified

SEC. 8. And be it enacted, That the County Election, as in the other Distric

SEC. 9. And be it enacted, That this Act shall take effect from the date of its passage. Approved April 8th, 1890

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of an order of the Cir-cuit Court for Garrett County, passed on the 7th day of June, 1890, in the attachment case of Thomas J. Stanton vs. Conrad Bodes, be-ing No. 3 Originals for July Term, 1890, the undersigned Sheriff will,

ON SATURDAY, THE 5TH DAY OF JULY, 1890.

at the hour of eleven o'clock A. M. of said day, offer to sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, for cash on the day of sale, all the following pieces of machinery in the Woolen Factory formally operated by the said Conrad Bodes, as follows to-wit: Two Cloth Nappers, one Presser, one Card and Stand, one Presser, five pairs Winding Blades, one Spinning Machine, one wool Picker, one Loom, four Carding Machines. one Coarse Picker, about five hundred Spools, one Spooler, fourteen large Spools, one Table, two Water

Tubs and one large Loom. Said property will be sold at the Woolen Factory formally operated by the said Conrad Bodes, about two and a-naif miles northwest of Grantsville. E. N. CASTEEL,

6 14 td

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most wonderful Blemish Cure ever known. ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never falls. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, 451y*

-GO TO-Henry J. Mayers O AKLAND PHARMACY

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS MEDICINES.

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL isbratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY

RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy "Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes

My Motto." -Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Books, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands, AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, stc. Give me a call before going elsewhere.

H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL

German and English Spoken.

"I CAN NOT AFFORD IT."

Hurrah for the man who is able to say, In a manly, unblushing and sensible way:
"I can not afford it," when tempted to buy Whate'er will distress him when pay-day is Hurrah for that man. Though his way we neglect, He has our profoundest, sincerest respect; Unchecked admiration we all have to show.

And well he deserves it. He teaches the way Of boldly ignoring what people may say Or think in a matter which only concerns The one who, for reasons, extravagance spurns.

We honor him truly—though seedy his clothes; We love him—though little of fashion he shows; We trust him unquestioned—though poorer than We pray that our children may grow in his way.

And isn't he happy? Just look in his face, Of care or of worry there isn't a trace. His conscience is clear. All the riches on Can's give him the joy that right doing is

No statesman, no ruler, no great soldier brave Is prouder than he—who is nobody's slave. "I can not afford it." All praise to the man Who fearlessly says it and lives on that plan.

—H. C. Dodge, in Detroit Free Press.

CAPTURING A SNAKE.

A Thrilling and Hazardous South American Adventure.

South America one of which was particularly haz ardous. The sun had to prevent alarm as much as possible, lest the snake should glide off or attack just passed the us in self-defense. I carried the lance perpendicularly before me, with the neridian in a cloudless sky; point about a foot from the ground. The there was scarcely a bird snake had not moved; and, on getting up to him, I struck him with the lance on the near side, just behind the neck, to be seen, for the winged inhabitants of the forest, overand pinned him to the ground. That moment the negro next to me seized the lance and held it firm in its place, while I dashed head foremost into the den to grapple with the snake, and to get hold of its tail before it could do any mischief.

come by heat, had retired to the thickest shades; all would have been like midnight silence were it not that the shrill voice of the pi-pi-yo every now and then resounded from a distant tree. I was sitting with a "Horace" in my hand, when a negro with his little dog came down the hill in haste, and informed me that a snake had been discovered, ran away, howling. We had a sharp and that it was a young one called the bushmaster, a rare and poisonous breed. I instantly rose up, and laving hold of for superiority. The second negro an eight-foot lance which was close by me, started to have a look at the monnot heavy enough, and the additional I was barefoot, with an old hat and check shirt and trousers on, and a weight was of great service. I had now got a firm hold on the tail, and, after a pair of braces to keep them up. The negro had his cutlass, and we ascended | violent struggle or two, the snake gave the hill; another negro, armed with a in. While the first negro continued to cutlass, joined us, judging from our pace | hold the lance firm to the ground, and that there was something to do. The lit- | the other was helping me, I contrived got about half a mile in the forest, the negro stopped, and pointed to a fallen tree; all was still and silent. I told the negroes not to stir from the place where they were, and to keep the little dog in. and that I would go on and reconnoiter. I advanced up to the place slowly and cautiously. At last I made the snake out; it was not poisonous, but large enough to have crushed any of us to

On ascertaining the size of the serpent, out stopping to recruit our strength. As we proceeded onward with it it I retired slowly the way I came, and promised four dollars to the negro who fought hard for freedom, but it was all had shown it to me, and one to the othin vain. The day was now too far spent to think of dissecting it. Had I killed er who had joined us. Aware that the day was on the decline, and that the it a partial putrefaction would have approach of night would be detrimental taken place before morning. I had to the dissection, I thought that I would take it alive. I imagined, if I could I should want to dissect. I considered strike with the lance behind the head, and pin him to the ground, I this the best mode of keeping alive wild animals when I was pressed for daymight succeed in capturing him. When I told this to the negroes, they begged light, for the bag yielding in every diand entreated me to let them go for a rection to their efforts, they would have nothing solid or fixed to work on, and gun and bring more force, as they were sure the snake would kill some of us; but I had been in search of a large sera hole through it. I say fixed, for after the mouth of the bag was closed the bag pent for years, and now having come up with one, it did not become me to turn soft. So, taking a cutlass from one thing, but moved about wherever the of the negroes, and then ranging both animal inside caused it to roll. After the sable slaves behind me, I told them securing afresh the mouth of the monto follow me and that I would cut them ster it was forced into this bag, and left down if they offered to fly. to its fate till morning.
I can not say it allowed me to have

When we got up to the place, the serpent had not stirred. I could see nothing of its head, and I judged by the folds of its body that it must be at the furthest side of his den. A species of woodbine had formed a complete mantle over the branches of the fallen tree, almost impervious to the rain or the rays of the sun. Probably the

I COULD GET A VIEW OF HIS HEAD. snake had resorted to this sequestered place for a length of time, as it bore the marks of an ancient settlement. 1 now took my knife, determining to cut away the woodbine, and break the twigs in the gentlest manner possible, till I could get a view of his head. One negro stood guard close behind me with the lance, and near him the other with a cutlass. The cutlass which I had taken from the first negro was on the ground close by me in case of need.

After working in dead silence for a quarter of an hour, with one knee all the time on the ground, I had cleared all or any of these are more possible away enough to see his head. It apthan that a character worthy of respect peared coming out between the first and second coil of his body, and was flat on out being built, or without either care the ground. This was the very position or knowledge on the part of the builder I wished it to be in. I rose in of the materials he uses or the way in silence and retreated very slowly, mak- which to combine them .- N. Y. Ledger.

ing a sign to the negroes to do the same. We were at this time about twenty yards from the snake's den. I now Emerson probably had the highest ranged the negroes behind me, and told him who stood next to me to lay hold of dea of gift-making when he advised the the lance the moment I struck the snake, and that the other must attend my movements. It now only re-mained to take their cutlasses from value of individuality. People's houses are full of things that them, for I was sure if I did not disarm them, they would be tempted to strike the snake in time of danger, and thus forever spoil his skin. On taking their cutlasses from them, if I might judge from their physiognomy, they seemed to consider it as a most intolerable act of tyranny on my part. Probably nothing kept them from bolting and inartistic beautiful. but the consolation that I was to be between them and the snakes.

We went slowly on in silence, with-

On being pinned to the ground with the lance, it gave a tremendous loud hiss, and the little dog fray in the den, the rotten sticks flying on all sides, and each party struggling threw himself upon me, as I found I was to unloose my braces, and with then

We contrived to make his snakeship twist round the shaft of the lance, and then prepared to convey it out of the firmly under my arm, one negro supporting the body, and the other the tail. In this order we began to move slowly toward home, and reached it after rest ing every ten minutes, for the snake was too heavy for us to support it with brought with me into the forest a strong bag, large enough to contain any animal thus would be prevented from making itself was not fastened or tied to any loft just above him, and the floor between us half gone to decay, so that in his lodging and mine. He was very restless and fretful; and had Medusa more continued and disagreeable hissing in the bed-chamber that night. At day-break I sent to borrow ten of the negroes who were cutting wood at a distance, as I judged it most prudent to have a good force, in case he should try to escape from the house when he pened the bag. However, nothing serious occurred. We untied the bag, kept him down by main force, and then

By six o'clock the same evening he was

On measuring him afterward he was found to be something more than fourteen feet long. This species of snake is very rare, and much thicker, in proportion to his length, than any other nake in the forest; one fourteen feet in ength is as thick as a common boa of nake I could easily get my head into its mouth, as the singular formation of the jaws admits of wonderful extension.

Wrong Ideas of Moral Training.

and systematized before it can be carried on with efficiency on a large scale, and this will not be done until its importance is more fully felt than at present.

It is taken for granted, in a loose kind of way, that a good character will come of itself to most people. No one supposes that knowledge comes of itself, that mental power can be gained without trouble, that a trade or profession can be successfully pursued without previous systematic preparation. Ye and admiration should spring up with

Moral training has yet to be organized

After skinning this impletely dissected.

wenty-four.

-N. Y. Ledger.

tied up the snake's mouth.

the anniversary for a person who can not buy many books it should not be a spossible, for equal numbers of the popout moving our arms or heads, in order novel, or any thing else that, once read, has no further purpose. It should be bers and Osaka ten, out of three hundred. ne other work of the kind.

IDEAS ON GIFT-MAKING.

Always Be Considered.

hung. A good etching for the same year, so that to exercise the franchise a money, or a water color, or a print would have been valued and enjoyed.

he relatives whom she so remembered et the giver first sit in it and test its comfortableness. It is perfectly impost may be upholstered, all sorts of disof hiding places, to torture the spine of into the drawing-room of a friend to inspect les new furnishings. They were very handsome and very artistic-all ut one chair. This was a little hard, square Swiss rocker, upholstered in right red.

There in her own drawing-room district office of the I stood at its head and held it forced to "accept it as a gift."

> possible, what would be acceptable. Lastly-and this needs no comment tials of the central government have a young preacher was starting home for any connection with the business. The his Christmas vacation. His clothes greatest interest in these arrangements were threadbare, his flannels thin as is taken by the Japanese, who manifest paper, and his salary in arrears. His prospect of voting.—Tokio Cor. N. Y. Tribadelegation of deacons to his lockings. delegation of deacons to his lodgings on Christmas eve, with the love and esteem of the parishioners and—a large family Bible. - Chicago Inter Ocean.

A BOTANIST'S ADVENTURE.

Dr. Daniel Solander's Narrow Escape from Death in Terre del Fuego. botanist, who died May 16, 1782, accom- on, with song and rapid flutter of wings. panied Captain Cook on his first voyage | Suddenly the songs ceased and the work around the world. It was on this trip on the nest stopped. But it was not left that he probably saved a large party alone, for a band of miserable sparrows from destruction while ascending the attacked it and, if possible, were more mountains of Terre del Fuego. He himself narrowly escaped death. It appears had been in its construction. quiet night. My hammock was in the that Solander and Sir Joseph Banks had A few days later the robins began walked a considerable way through another nest in a tall maple tree near swamps, when the weather suddenly be by and the work was pushed rapidly. came gloomy and cold, fierce blasts of But a few days since it was evident that parts of it no boards intervened between wind driving the snow before it. Dr. something was wrong again. There was Solander, well knowing the effects of a great outery on the part of the robins been my wife, there could not have been cold, addressed the men, telling them and an unmusical chatter by pugnacious not to give way to sleepiness, but at all sparrows. The latter were again viccosts to keep in motion. "Whoever torious and at once proceeded to desits down," said he, "will sleep, and whoever sleeps will wake no more." This alarmed them, and they set out again, but in a little while ously about. This was not all, nor the the cold became so intense that they worst, for the male robin was seen hangwere all attacked with drowsiness. Dr. ing by a cord fastened to its neck and I cut his throat. He bled like an ox.

remonstrated; the man lay down in the ascend the tree to get the bird. snow, and his friends had great diff.

Being anxious to know the facts as to His flesh was so shrunk that the shoes ant and one other of the party perished from the cold.—Chicago News. Knew He Was an Artist. Miss Lakeside (of Chicago)-The gentleman you just bowed to is an artist tions. Not more than four nations acisn't he? Miss Gotham-Yes, a great artist. You chiseled features, I presume.

VOTING IN JAPAN.

Individuality and Appropriateness Should Curious Election Laws in Which the Natives Are Immensely Interested. An elaborate code of regulations has been promulgated for the management painter to give a picture, the writer a of the elections, which in these days of poem, or the artisan some bit of his own work, that the gift might have the added est to the electors of other lands. This this, I can only hope to strike a "happy code is supplementary to one issued simultaneously with the constitution, they do not want, but which they must in which the general scheme was laid keep and take care of simply because down, the details being reserved for the they are the gifts of friends. Now, love subsequent law. It was provided by and affection are doubtless indispensa- the former that for the purpose of reble in life, but love and affection of turning members, the administrative themselves have no power to invest use- divisions of the Empire into cities and iessness with utility, or make the ugly prefectures should be taken as a basis, each city and prefecture being sub-In buying a book for the birthday or divided into election districts on the high average, but not for a city bred something that will be of value-a vol- The qualifications for electors are that ume of classics, of poetry, or history— they must be Japanese subjects and that will be constantly needed and re- have attained the full age of twenty- genius in making over her own gowns ferred to. There are many people who five years before the day of voting; also and shows every thing to the best advanhave upon their shelves the silly novel that they must have their permanent which cost as much as a good dictionary residence in the electoral district, and of English literature or mythology, or have actually resided there for not less fortunately, for it covers a multitude of than one year previous to the date of Many people's gifts run to bad plet- preparing the register. The property ures, which are a source of discomfort qualification is high. An elector must and lingerie count up faster than the to the owner wherever they may be pay in land or income tax at least $15 a dresses themselves, and every one ought ures, which are a source of discomfort qualification is high. An elector must man must possess either land of the taxable value of $500, or an annual in- is laid away how convenient it will When the relative is the donor and a come of $1,000. In the case of land the come in next year when you may wish girl who earns her own living is the proter must have been paying the tax for cipient it is permissible—and kind—to a full period of one year, and in the case replenish a meager wardrobe. It is not of income for a full period of three years winter cloak must be had, which eats so proaching winter. It is quite possible grated only to qualified voters who to unite in the same gift something that hae previously obtained tickets indiis needed or which will be permanently caung their right. Should there be a lingerie, in the shape of collars, of value, and which is not unsightly. If coniderable crowd at any place, the a chair is contributed to the possessions | electors will be required to vote in regof young people beginning housekeeping | ularorder according to the numbers on thei entrance tickets. There will be no billot boxes in the ordinary sense of $1.50, one light and heavy flannel skirt, sible to know the merits of a chair by the erm. Each elector will give his its looks. No matter how deceitfully name to the presiding official, the headnams to the presiding official, the head- at home, $10; one wrap each year, altermanof the district, with whom are to be nating for the seasons, S10. An umguised angles and knots may come out assolated not less than two and not more thanfive witnesses, nominated by him. the unwary owner. A lady once went | Having compared the name with the electorallist, the head man will hand a voting pape to the elector, who will be requirel to inscribe theron the name of the prson he votes for, together with his own name and residence, and to affix he stamp. The voting paper will "I like it all but that," she said point- then le placed in a receptacle having ing to it, "and I would not accept it as two lds, each fitted with a different key, one key being in the custody of the "I do not like it either," replied the headman, the other in that of the wit-'riend, "and shall return it immedinesses. The polling being over, the box will be shut and forwarded in charge season for fitting basques, this costing The lady finished her call and went of one or more of the witnesses, to the her, say $6.00 a year. In buying your sat the very chair she had condemned. There it is to be opened by the chairman It had been returned, her husband of election, with whom will be assoand dropped into the dealer's a little clated a committee of not less than three while afterward, and by that perverse and not more than seven, chosen from ate which seems to delight in cross among the witnesses assembled from ourposes, bought it and sent it home. the different voting places. The chair-As it was a present from him--intended pen, like the superintending officers at the same price, for summer street wear, to be a pleasing surprise, the wife could the various polling booths, are to be losay nothing, and it stands in a corner of cal officials, who owe their offices to the best room to this day. She was votes of the people themselves under ced to "accept it as a gift." From this another moral may be de. Not until the names of the persons electluced—it is always wise to learn, if ed are communicated by the chairman to possible, what would be acceptable.

FEATHERED OUTLAWS.

A Gang of Sparrows Prevent a Pair of Robins from Nesting. A pair of robins, as has been their custom for several years past, recently commenced building their summer home in an elm tree on the sidewalk in front Dr. Daniel Solander, the distinguished of my house and the work went bravely

Solander was the first to find the incli- one wing, dead, and not ten feet from nation to sleep too irresistible for him, the place where the nest had been. The and he insisted upon being allowed to sight attracted the attention of passerslie down. In vain Banks entreated and by, but it was so high that none cared to culty in keeping him awake. One of the the reason of the bird's death, I spliced black servants began to linger in the my stiff trolling rod-with a knife atsame way. Solander, appreciating the danger, said he was willing to go on, and with the help of a ladder and the asbut he must first have some sleep. It sistance of a neighbor I succeeded in was impossible to carry the two men; reaching and cutting the string above they were, therefore, allowed to lie the bird. An examination showed that down, and in a few minutes they were fast asleep. Soon after, some of the men, who had been sent forward, cereating the men and with the walcome news that turned with the welcome news that a considerable patience was required to fire awaited them a quarter of a mile remove it, so that death was soon efahead. Banks then succeeded in awak- fected. The male being dead, and the ening Solander, who, although he had nest destroyed, the female has departed, not been asleep five minutes, had all so that we are no longer favored with ready almost lost the use of his limbs. their sweet morning and evening songs. The question now is: "Who killed cock fell from his feet. He consented to go robin?" Was it suicide from repeated forward with such assistance as could be defeats, or was he accidentally caught given, and was saved. The black serve in the string? Or was it premeditated murder on the part of piratical sparrows?-Forest and Stream.

-The legend as to the origin of woman is different with different nacept the legend that she was made from a man's rib. The Japanese believe that divined his profession from his finely she grew on a tree, the Laplanders that she was once a rabbit, the Persians that Miss Lakeside-No, I smelled the tur she fell from the heavens, and the Australians that she was first a toadstool.

A MODEST WARDROSE.

Valuable Hints for Young and Elderly Ladies in Moderate Circumstances. The question has arisen as to what constitutes the smallest array of clother necessary for the ordinary woman in medium," as no two may be situated exactly alike, and much depends upon the home being in a city or small town whether the person is fond of social life or a recluse, remains at home or is in business, as entirely different clothes are worn under these circumstances. I have taken an average of $200 for the income, which includes clothes and pin money, but not board. This may be a woman in moderate circumstance. I have the pleasure of knowing a young lady in a far western town, who, on $150 a year, dresses well at all times, is well supplied with reading matter, etc. tage, being stylish in appearance, which is not given to many of us un. defects.

The items of gloves, shoes, underwear to save something out of the yearly income, be it $200 or $2,000. If even $10 kind to give her jewels that put her before the day on which the register is quickly into $20. Unless very hard on shabby gown to shame, a silly diamond tade up. The most interesting features shoes, two pair will last a year—mine ring, a set of amber, or a pair of chased of the system, however, are the arrange- last eight months, walking in them pracelets, as a woman once did, when mints provided for securing free and three miles a day—and one pair of low oderly voting and honest returns. En- ties for the house; shoes, 84 per pair; eded shoes and a cloak for the ap- truce to the polling-places will be ties, $2; three pair of gloves, $3.00; two hats, $3.00 and $4.00; six new hose, $3.00; six handkerchiefs, $1.50; sleeves, and probably a lace jabot or lace ruffles for a dressy home gown, $5.00; mohair petticoat, $1.50; corsets, brella one year, and parasol or waterproof the next, as some things give out overy year, $2.50. We have now used up $48, and will alow $12 for reading matter, one's favorite journal, a weekly, a few good books gradually added, and stationary. To this $60 add $15 saved and $25 to remain for pocket money during the year, which in the city would easily go for car-fare, an occasional matinee, etc. Now we have $100 for actual gowns, which we suppose are made by the wearer, who has a dressrowns do not select striking colors or designs or extreme novelties, as they must be made over for the second year, when $25 should be saved out of the income. For a spring gown, select a striped cheviot at $1.00, which will cost about $12.00. Then have a mohair at which will be somewhat more elaborately trimmed and cost $14.00. Two pretty Parkhill ginghams, at 15 cents, will cost $4.00 with embroidery for the collars and cuffs. Six yards of hemstitched nainsook will cost $6.00, and be a delightfully dainty attire for warm summer evenings. A neat silk gown, at $1.50 a yard, may be contrived out of $30.00, and a blouse of striped flannel to wear with halfworn skirts, out of $1.75. A tea-gown or fancy wrapper is a boon to one when tired, and can be prettily contrived out of the eighteen-cent challie, and a few yards of ribbon, costing in all about $3.25. In the fall have a woolen suit of combination goods, cashmere or black Henrietta, costing $12.00, and with the remaining $11.00 invest in a light veiling trimmed with velvet-ribbon, which can be worn at any season for an evening gown to change with the silk, and in place of the silk, a gown of black net lined with satin Duchesse might be had, and worn for evening or visiting. As said before, much depends upon the position in life and the place of living; but a street dress for fall and winter, and a second one for spring and summer, a demi-toilette for the same seasons, a visiting and church dress, a blouse wrapper and cool-house dresses in summer seem to be absolutely indispensable. I am an advocate of buying good materials when few changes and long wearing are to be considered. Dark brown, blue and gray are good shades not to tire of; and black now is very stylish and always looks well, as it can be brightened up to become any complexion.-Ladies' Home Journal.

Do Not Like to Be Photographed. President Harrison has a particular aversion to having his photograph taken or his portrait drawn. A number of efforts have been made to persuade him to sit for a picture amid the surroundings in which he is daily found in the White House, but they have proved of no avail. He sat for some pictures to the regular Washington photographers when he came here first, but lately he has refused to give any sittings. Postmaster General Wanamaker is equally averse to being photographed. I believe he had a photograph taken just before he came to Washington, but it was the first in many years, and he has refused steadfastly to sit to the local photographers since his induction into office. The other members of the Cabinet are not so backward about having greatness thrust upon them .- N. Y Tribune.

Of Course He Did. Creditor-May I ask whether you ever expect to meet your indebtedness? Hardup-Meet it? Why, great Scott, man, I meet it every time I go into the street! Don't you throw it in my face often enough?—Harper's Bazar.

"That man yonder is the greatest swindler in the country."
"He must be very rich."
"No, he's poor. He lives faster'n he can swindle."-Chicago Times.

No Profit in It.

-No matter how prosperous the rest of New York State may be, there is one county that is always on the Wayne .-Dansville Breeze.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—The unusually large number of 112 species of migratory birds have been seen in the vicinity of Philadelphia this season, according to the Delaware Ornithological Club.

-A new red glass has been recently produced in Germany. Besides its use for the manufacture of bottles, goblets and vases of various kinds, it is applicable in photography and in chemists' and opticians' laboratories.

-Northern manufacturers are interested in the statement that the finest brick made in the South are from the refuse of slate quarries. They have a double resisting power and absorb only one-third as much water as ordinary brick.

-A new German water-pipe is made of glass covered with a coating of asphalt and fine gravel. The advantages claimed are resistance to ground moisture and to acids and alkalies, and impermeability to gases. -Professor Thompson, who was a teacher in Philadelphia, when he made the discoveries which have made him a millionaire, predicts that sooner or later the problem will be solved of getting electrical power from fuel direct, without the aid of steam. -A new disinfectant has made its an bearance under the name of Thiocamph. It is a combination of camphor with sulphurous acid, containing over sixty times its volume of sulphurous acid gas, which, upon its exposure in a warm room, is gradually evolved.

—M. Jablockoff, of electric candle fame, makes a strong argument in favor of going back to chemical reactions for the production of electricity as a metive power. The dynamo machine does not utilize more than ten per cent. of the fuel, while more than ninety per cent. can be obtained under favorable circumstances in electro-chemical combina-

-An employe in the office of the architect of the Capitol, Washington, has invented an electric musical machine. The keyboard is similar to that of an ordinary typewriter, and its keys are connected electrically with a number of electric bells arranged beneath the table. Pressure on each key closes the circuit of an electric bell, and when the keys are operated by an expertany tune may be played on the machine.

-There are at present 1,300 beet-sugar factories in Europe, and they consume 24,000,000 tons of beets every year. Their annual output of sugar amounts to 2,000,000 tons. It is said that over $80,000,000 are expended for labor and fuel, and that $100,000,000 are paid to farmers for beets. These figures are probably too high, but they serve to throw light upon the magnitude and importance of the industry. -The use of electricity as a motive power for street cars will be an important section of the census investigaor of the electrical industry. the many forms of the application of electricity has been developed more rapidly or been accompanied by more satisfactory results than that of the transmission of power for street car purposes. The plan of investigation that has been adopted is designed to make a comparison between the different motive powers employed-animal, steam dummy, cables, and electricity-to show the relative economic value of each.

-Professor E. L. Nichols foreshadows a very agreeable picture. He says that in all probability the day is not far distant when brine, cooled below the freezing point of water, will be carried under the streets in pipes, as steam is now, supplying from central stations a very convenient substitute for ice in the domestic household. By freezing in our own houses water which has been previously boiled it will then be possible for us to avoid contagion from disease germs contained in ice gathered from impure

ELECTRIC METERS.

Instrument Employed for the Measure-ment of Electric Force. A successful automatic electric meter has yet to be invented. Some of those now in use are thus described in the Chautauquan by Professor Edward L. Nichols, of Cornell University: "There are many ways in which the current may be made to do work and to record its rate of working. It may be made, for example, to heat a strip of wire or foil through which it is compelled to pass and the currents of heated air rising from the hot metal may be made to drive a tiny windmill, which, as it runs, records its own revolutions. Again, the currents may be set to k driving the liquid back and forth in a kind of electrical pulse glass, which being mounted upon knife edges, rocks from side to side, and, as it goes, makes record of its rate. Instruments based upon each of these devices are in practical use upon electric lighting circuits in this country and in Europe. More frequently the little motor is made to resemble in its essential feature some one of the larger forms which have come into use in driving machinery. A tiny armature revolv-ing within a coil, which has its motion controlled by some form of governor so constructed as to make the speed as nearly proportional as possible to the current that drives it, is made to turn the wheel of a set of indicator dials similar to those which are used upon gas Coloring Artificial Eyes. The art involved in coloring the crystal ball intended for the schleroctica, or white of the eye, in producing an artificial member has been reduced to a matter of great simplicity, at the same time attaining the desired perfection. In the best results the artisan applies to the glass ball enamels of different colors, which, amalgamating with that of the crystal in a pasty state, gradually give it the tint of nature's optic. This operation begins with the iris, which is formed by the use of several amalgamated enamels, and, the iris finished there is placed in its center a spot of black enamel; this is the pupil, which is to be encircled by the artist with its areola, the process being completed by drawing those almost infinitely small as well as exquisite fibers which are found in the iris. The globe of the eye being in this manner brought to its completed state of beauty and adaptation, all that remains is to place it in the center of the crystal ball .- Science.

meters."

THE HAY CROP.

and Stacking, Etc. have used or seen described, and much Let us look at this matter. scheme in feeding hay, and that is a nay. It is best to build it so as to make a fence, where the cattle do not have have seen some with rack all around, shown in engraving) to prevent the stock from pushing it in when reaching for hay. Spike two two-inch planks gleaning of the stubble fields and are the interesting and highly characteristic.

(b) one foot wide around the bottom. size to take well to pumpkins and re-Then bolt a 4x4 inch piece (c) or good heavy pole above the top of planks two, or two and a half feet, according to the necessary to provide any shelter other low o's and a's "(except that "mouthing," size of the stock, as full-grown cattle or young stock. This rail is necessary, as cattle are very liable to "box" one another into the rack, and falling on their backs if not found at once will get killed, as I know by actual experience: even after they were dehorned they would force a weaker animal into the manger. Let your cattle just eat the hay from the stack, making them eat it as near the bottom as possible, and then throw out the refuse that accumulates in feeding.

Then throw it down from one end just as you would if you were going to haul it to the rack, exposing no more of the and before feeding again throw out all the refuse, just as you do with your horses' mangers.

If you have good hay, well stacked, it is a pleasure to feed it this way, and an

this stack rack preferable to any other is because it is less labor and does not waste so much if properly used. In hauling it to the rack it has to be pitched on the wagon, requiring one man to build, and then it has to be pitched on the rack and tramped in. In this way, it is fed at the bottom of the stack, saving much unnecessary handling. With good snelter, plenty of good hay and 3 or 4 ears of corn per day, strips on the bottom pan. The projectstock cattle will winter in good shape. The money in hay lies in getting : large yield from a small amount of land, and in getting a good article and taking care of it. One therefore needs a shed, as it is much better than a stack. This need not be an expensive structure. Five tolerable straight poles twenty feet long, eight feet apar on each side with three in the middle Roof with boards. This will suffice for an ordinary eighty-acre farm. There should be four or five feet of fall in the roof, and the twenty-foot poles should set three or four feet in the ground. This, at the most, should not cost over twenty-five dollars, and if in a timber country where poles can be had cheaply and a man does the work himself, there need not be much expense outside the eight hundred feet of lumber which the roof requires.

ural Society, the boys and girls are en-He puts the filled boxes in a crate, and when this is full, it is carried by another boy to the cellar on a wheelbarrow crates of lath, nailed on to end boards of lumber of the right width. We drive to market on a walk. Each crate holds 16 boxes. The fruit is carefully taken it is sometimes abused by express agents. It takes seven laths to make a minutes. A 24-qt. crate can be made at

SUMMER PIGS.

Are They Profitable?-Views of a Farmer Who Thinks That They Are No effort is made, says Farm and Some Seasonable Hints for Cutting, Curing Home, to secure a lot of summer pigs usually. There is a feeling with breed-There are thousands of tons of hay ers and farmers that they will not do wasted by careless stacking and improper covering, but tens of thousands of tons are wasted and trampled under time and that the pigs will perish from time and that the pigs will perish from the control of the contro I have used such a rack for several would answer just as well—when the dangers of parturition are not so great work.

have hit upon what I consider a better tate on account of prospective heat, but my brother, who had recognized in him hay-stack rack (illustrated herewith). ful to know that the sows have an had for some years preceding been a Build your rack before you stack your abundance of shade, with pure, clear strenuous admirer and champion of water and clean wallows in reach. Care "Pippa Passes," "Sordello" and other access, to answer for one side. Then build your rack on the other side and ends, according to the size of stack. I keep up in flesh and gain some cas to be coerced into inquiry. Browning parturition approaches, without any felt sincerely indebted to my brother grain. It is unsafe to feed grain for for his advocacy, and acknowledged it fear the flow of milk will be too great in handsome and energetic terms. but think that this is more costly and Place good heavy posts (a) seven feet long, two and a half feet in the ground and eight or ten feet apart. Put short braces on the inside of each post (not braces on the insi at any other time in the year. The grass being plenty, the sow will do well "Fra Lippo Lippi," which, with somedtwith a small ration of grain without the pressing, he consented to do. The fuse fruit and early ripening grains. "Mort Arthur," has well described his than abundant shade. They can be car- as a term of disparagement, should will require a larger space than calves ried along till grass is done and the altered into some milder word)-his weather begins to get cold, without any grand, deep voice sways onward with a great care from the farmer. With September or October pigs it requires the might deem monotonous, but which best of care from the time they are far- gives noble value and emphasis to the rowed to bring them to winter quarters in good shape, while the summer pigs Browning's voice, which was it to the rack, exposing no more of the stack than you can feed in two or three weeks. Fill the rack around the side out burning out with corn, as many suppose, if an early spring pig is fed corn in abundance all summer. A pig can ing the preference should be accorded of the stack to the top of the planks, as the stock are liable to pull the hay olds without breaking down or burning out and trample it under foot if piled out the system. This is the way I out and trample it under footif piled out the system. This is the way I up to the railing. Give them just handle my summer pigs. Breeding enough so they will clean it up well, stock can advantageously be selected stock can advantageously be selected from summer farrowing. Sows so se-lected can be bred to farrow at fourteen months old, and they have more time in the grass field than a sow se lected from early spring farrowing. easy matter, too. The reason I think This is a most important point in the de velopment of breeding stock, and, be sides, they are more certain to do well with their pigs than a young sow bringing her pigs without grass range.

COLD WATER.

A Convenient Tank for the Poultry Yards.

It is important to give fowls fresh, lean drink. A tank which I berein. A Convenient Tank for the Poultry Yards. vented is well worth copying. The up per part may be a sirup can with the bottom cut off. In front at the lower edge a V-shaped notch may be cut, three-quarters of an inch deep. On the opposite side at the top a bucket ear may be soldered. At the sides of the bottom and near the corners narrow strips projecting outward should be soldered to slide under corresponding ing tins should be double to gain strength. Let the pan be an inch larger in front. It may fit comfortably at the sides and back to slide easily. Let the can be turned bottom side up, filled and inverted. It may then be hung up to What nonsense this is going the rounds of the press, that such and such woman has been the first to be admitted to the practice of the law in this country. Haven't women, and particularly married women, been laying down the law to men for centuries?—Philadelphia Times. When we begin picking, writes President Smith, of the Wisconsin Horticults sides and back to slide easily. Let the can be turned bottom side up, filled and inverted. It may then be hung up to gaged ahead. Each picker has two inverted. It may then be hung up to boxes—one to put perfect berries in, the suit the fowls, the ear soldered on at the boxes—one to put perfect berries in, the other for small ones. Then a boy whose business is to carry boxes takes the filled boxes and leaves the empty ones.

WATER TANK FOR FOWLS.

Suit the fowls, the ear soldered on at the top of the back slipping over the hook in the wall. Such a tank is best made of galvanized iron.—Farm and Home.

NEVER tella man he is in the heyday of his career. The heyday is frequently the day when man goes to seed.—Commercial Advertiser.

The questions, how many fowls to be very great as soon as they get well under way with their questions.—
Washington Star. with springs on it. They stay here until thoroughly cooled. We sometimes and how to manage profitably, come up use ice to do this. They are handled as little as possible. We make our own He should not enter a new field of enterprise hastily, anticipating more than he can make his stock produce for him. If he has suitable accommodations, one to the depot, but after leaving our hands hundred, or even fifty, blooded fowls are ample. They can be made to pay a larger net profit than double the num 16-qt. crate. A boy will put up one in 10 ber of ordinary dung-hill stock. For the farm, the Light Brahma, Plymouth a cost of not over five cents. We place three laths on the sides. I sometimes bribe the express boys not to steal the berries by offering them all they can eat.

Rock, Wyandotte and White Dorking are among the best. The white varieties look better about the barn. The Barred Plymouth Rock, Langshan, Laced Wyandotte, and Java are also executed by the content of the cellent. A farmer who carefully Good grades of stock are always in demand in the markets. When prices poultry is taught by his own observa-

BROWNING AS A READER.

ecollections of the Poet by One Who When I think of the career of Brownng as a whole, it presents itself before me in those words with which Shelley pened his "Triumph of Life:" Swift as a spirit hastening to his task

Of glory and of good, the sun sprang forth Rejoicing in his splendor, and the mask Of darkness fell from the awakened earth." teet by careless and improper feeding. A leat. It is also thought that such a little over a year ago an Iowa farmer sent lot of pigs will be too young to put on illumined the dark places of the world to the Orange Judd Farmer a sketch and the market before severe winter sets in and of the soul. If, in stripping the lescription of a rack to feed hay, which was illustrated in its columns. He says:

My personal acquaintance with Brownsuperior to the one illustrated in this If through losses of March or earlier ing dates back to a period now remote. Journal a few weeks ago, as I know by actual experience with both. But I bred for summer litters we do not hesi bred for summer litters farrowing we have sows that can be On returning for awhile to London from when farrowing time comes we are care- the anonymous author of "Pauline," and is also taken to have the sows in good noble poetic works, then mostly (I do

> suckling before time to breed for a spring that evening in 1855 at the temporary litter. The run of grass before and home of Mr. and Mrs. Browning, near after farrowing secures the best devel- Marylebone Church, when Tennyson opment of the milk-secreting organs | read aloud his recently published poet which is an important matter, and pears on the future usefulness of the sow. After farrowing, a sow and litter volume held high up to suit his shot can be cared for with less expense than sight. When Tennyson had concluded slop. The little family can also do the contrast between the two readers was Browning's voice, which was afonce come to cold weather large and strong. rich and peculiar, took much less account The majority of farmers do not think of putting March or April pigs on the market till February, which is a serious mistake. June and July pigs can be marketed in February at as good a weight as is usually made with the early spring pigs. It can be done without burning out with corn, as many supjured by the serious and the serious strong, and aimed to be strong, Browning was contentedly weak, and vice vertically cure by spepsia, Constipation, Sick W. M. Rossette, in Magazine of Art.

It is not so great a wonder, come to think,

It is not so great a wonder, come to think,

It is not so great a wonder, come to think,

It is not so great a wonder, come to think, W. M. Rossette, in Magazine of Art. that so many people are illiterate. Ever body was born that way.—Texas Siftings

The man who keeps getting deeper and deeper in debt is naturally a person of more owes tendencies.—Washington Post. To Dispel Colds, Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the sys. sluggish, to permanently cure habitual con-stipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

HALL'S CATARRH CURE is a liquid and is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and nucous surfaces of the system Write for testimonials, free. Manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O.

Just as soon as a man's head gets above the level of mediocre a crowd of high-kickers begin reaching for it.—Ashland Press.

HARSH purgative remedies are fast giving way to the gentle action and mild effects of Carter's Little Liver Pills. If you try them, they will certainly please you.

The report of a lawsuit is trying news even for disinterested parties to hear.— —Binghampton Republican.

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar. WHEN a man gets famous it would seem that every man in the country used toplay marbles with him at school.

TALE about word-painting! Where do you find the poet or novelist who can compare with the sign-writer.—Whiteside Herald.

A woman's indifference to her looks van-ishes at the sight of a man as quick as a boy's lameness leaves him at the sound of a fire-belk—Atchison Globe.

THE fatality among census enumerators

The average American citizen would turn his back on the greatest man that this world ever produced to look at a pretty eighteen-year-old girl with a new spring suit on and with a dimple in her chin.—Somerville Journal.

The fortunes of the politician and gambler are in the hands of their friends. Elmira Gazette. TEMPORARY insanity does a good deal GLENY'S Sulphur Soap is a genuine remdy for Skin Diseases. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. To keep your head above water, purnothing but water in your stomach.—Boston Transcript.

You can't help liking them, they are so ver, small and their action is so perfect. One pill lose. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Try the

WHEN a girl is too cold to talk fast she lets her teeth chatter.—N. O. Picayune. BEST, easiest to use and cheapest. Piso Remedy for Catarrh. By druggists. 25c. The thermometer is not only a measure of heat, but of the price of ice.—Puck.

A POCKET Cigar Case and five of "Tan sill's Punch," all for 25c. A SAUSAGE skin is a ground hog case.-

To Restore Tone

and Strength to the System when weakened by La Grippe or any other

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is positively

Illness,

unequalled. Get the BEST. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.,

Lowell, Mass.

BEANS

KISSING at 7, 17, 70: Photo-gravure J. F. SMITH & CO., Makers of "Bile Boans." St. Louis, Mo.

Dyspepsia, Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness And all diseases arising from a

W. BAKER & CO., Dorchester, Mass.

"Noo" Railway opens up large tracts of Pine, Hemlock and Hardwood Timber in Wisconsin and Michigan SPILES IF In Section 1997 (1997) A. W. SPILES IF IN SECTION 1997 (1997) A. W. SPILES IN SECTION 1997 (1997) A. W. Series III Section 1997 (1997) A. W. Section 1997 (1997) A. W. Section 1997 (1997) A. W. Secti C. H. SPRINGER, M. D., Pres. A. J. RUTH, See'y and Treas

THE SPRINGER MEDICAL CO. DISEASES BY THE USE OF THEIR REMEDIES.

RUSSELL YEAR BOOK

Ridge's Food. By Bruggists,
By THE LEADING FOOD IN 35 cents up. WOOLRICH
ALL COUNTRIES. CO., Palmer, Mass.

How to get a PENSION QUICK. Send for Diges of Pinsion and Bounty Laws, How TO GET A PATENT SEND FOR INVENTOR'S GUIDE. PATRICE O'FARRELL, Attorney-at Law, WASHINGTON, D. C.

PATENTS I Invent something and make your FORTUNE! A dors w. T. FITZGERALD, WASHINGTON, D. C. STRAKE THIS PAPER serry time you write. AUTOMATIC. PORTABLE
OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO.,
PAINTED PORTABLE
CATALOGUE FREE. but what would the lawyers do without it!

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15 FREE. Lines not under horses' feet, Write Brewster Safety HEIN HOLDER CO., Helly, Nich. A NEW company for the culture of cork has been formed in this country. It should have no trouble in floating its stock.—Binghamton Republican.

55 PERDAY Selling Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom, has been formed in this country. It should have no trouble in floating its stock.—Binghamton Republican.

gain something by increasing the them profitably.—American Agricult weight and quality.

Doctors and ministers are about the only people in this world to whom people pay liberal wages for telling them disagreeable things.—Somerville Journal.

Doctors and ministers are about the only people in this world to whom people pay liberal wages for telling them disagreeable things.—Somerville Journal.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

BE UP TO THE MARK

Not to Split! Not to Discolor! BEARS THIS MARK.

TRADE

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Selle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan, and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sloux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kaneas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Pond Creek, Kingflsher, Foit Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—and Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, in COLORADO. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Chicago, Caldwell, Hutchinson, and Dodge City, and Palace Sleeping Cars between Chicago, Wichita, and Hutchinson. Traverses new and vast areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS, peading all competitors in splendor of equipment, cool, well ventilated, and ree from dust. Through Coaches, Pullman Sleepers, FREE Reclining Chair Cars, and (east of Missouri River) Dining Cars Daily between Chicago, les Moines, Council Bluffs, and Omaha, with Free Reclining Chair Car to Corth Platte, Neb., and between Chicago and Colorado Springs, Denver and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Independent of the Corthological Colorado Springs Denver and Pueblo, via St. Joseph, or Kansas City and Topeka. Splendid Dining Independent of Colorado Springs Denver Splendid Dining Independent of Springs Denver Splendid Dining Independent of Missouri River. Splendid Dining Colorado Springs Excursions daily, with CHOICE OF ROUTES to and from Saltake, Ogden, Portland, Los Angeles, and San Francisco. The DIRECT LINE to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Garden of the Gods, the Sanitariums, and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE,

Solid Express Trains daily between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, with THROUGH Reclining Chair Cars (FREE) to and from those points and Kansas City. Through Chair Car and Sleeper between Peoria, Spirit Lake, and Sloux Falls, via Rock Island. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sloux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of the Northwest.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN,

CHICAGO. ILL. Gan'l Ticket & Pass Agens Illustrative Art Always Attracts Attention.

not attracting notice, or if you are at a loss to properly place some idea before the public in common wording, try the effect of a suitable illustration. We are prepared to meet any such emergency, if you will only write and give us an idea of what is required. Our perfectly complete collection of cuts of Farm Live Stock enables us to guarantee satisfaction in a representation of all the various breeds of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry. We have a very complete series of Business Cuts and those representing the various trades and mechanics, together with an immense line of Fashion Cuts, in both ladies' and gentlemen's stock of Portrail Cuts enables ficers, governors of states tors, congressmen, cabinet ofetc., and also those of a large number of the men and women of eminence in all parts of the world. In Comic and Humorous Illustrations we have the largest assortment to be found anywhere—a large proportion of these are in series. We also have a splendid collection of cuts suitable for illustrating a holiday number of a newspaper or serial stories; also, numbers of beautiful Initial Letters, adaptable to subjects of any nature. In fact, we can supply everything needed in the way of an illustration, as cur facilities enable us to even produce cuts to order. We respectfully solicit your orders. Zinc-Etching, Electrotyping, Stereotyping and Zinc-Etching, Electrolyphing.

Zylotyping done promptly and at low prices. in ordering, just give a hint of what is needed, please, and address letter to nearest office

A. N. KELLOCG NEWSPAPER CO., 368 & 370 Dearborn Street, Chicago, III.

401 WYANDOTTE STREET, KANSAS CITY, MO. 224 & 226 WALNUT STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO. 71 & 78 ONTARIO STREET, CLEVELAND, OHIO. 177 & 179 ELM STREET, GINCINNATI, OHIO 74 TO 80 EAST 5TH STREET, ST. PAUL, MINN

N. Y. TENSION Washington, B. occessfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS
e Principal Examiner U.E. Sension Eurenu in last war, 15 adjudicating claims, at

A. N. K. -C.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in this

An Omission.

A few days ago two men who were afterwards found to be Detroit. there is in this country of what peo- will, ers, arrived in a town about 50 miles ple call "money," how much in gold west, leading a pig. It was perhaps and silver coin, and how much in big enough and heavy enough to be greenbacks and other paper currency called a hog, but they termed it a pig, bearing the stamp of the United and as they turned it over to the care States Government? Very few. Inof the landlord at whose inn they quiry at the Treasury Department purposed to rest for the night, one of discovers the fact that there is, all the men explained:

land. We've sold him to a farmer States. Of this a little over one half anything to happen him."

and then began to think and cogi- two-thirds are in gold and one in siltate and suspect. When the stran ver. Of the paper about one-third is gers had gone to bed he called in in U. S. notes or greenbacks, onesome of the boys and said:

two fellows are sharpers, and that's tional bank notes, and the remainder a guessing pig. To-morrow they in various denominations. will gave you a chance to guess at

Next morning the pig was led off on his journey one of the owners remarked to the assembled crowd: "Gentlemen. I'm going to weigh than any one kind of paper. this pig directly. Maybe some of you and whoever hits it gets 50 cents." stock of winks and smiles, but no that any person could guess as many in the city of Washington. times as he cared to, provided a dime accompanied each guess. Then a rush 20 would do for him. Before there was any let up in the guessing about _ Washington Critic. six hundred had been registered and paid for. Every soul of 'em guessed at 170 pounds. It was curious what "The Maryland Legislature very unanimity there was in the guessing, nearly passed a bill to abolish the pleading for us, and feel the pulsabut the pig men didn't seem to no-obsolete custom of kissing the Bible tice it. When all had been given a chance the pig was led to the scales,

"You see, gentlemen," explained the spokesman, "while the animal eleven o'clock at night, we feed him about five pounds of oatmeal before weighing. You forgot to take this matter into consideration!" lord, and he kicked the justice and the justice kicked the merchant and in the reverence which should be custom has obtained in Switzerthe merchant kicked the lawyer, and paid to the Almighty name. The land. When husband and wife when the pig men looked back from a distant hill the whole town was out in this country is part of the machin- were required to enter a room and kicking itself and throwing empty wallets into the river.

some of the speakers aired their sacred things. Judge Arnold, of outside world cut off. If, at the end TICAL, and CHEMICAL labratories, and said: "When the miscroscopic search Bible, which is an enlightened inno- further ado. of skepticism, which has hunted the vation." heavens and sounded the seas to disprove the existence of a Creator, has turned its attention to human society and has found a place on this planet ten miles square where a decent man can live in decency, comfort, and security, supporting and educating his children, unspoiled and unpolluted; a place where age is reverenced, infancy respected, manhood respected, womanhood honored, and human life held in due regard-when skeptics can find such a place ten miles square on this globe, where the gospel of Christ has not gone first and cleared the way, and laid the foundations, and made decency and security possible, it will then be in order for the skeptical literati to move thither and there ventilate their views."-Christian Intelligencer.

Zeal in a good cause is good, especially if it be "a zeal according to knowledge." A highway surveyor in Germany was called upon to build a new road. He proceeded with his task in an industrious, methodical manner, and after much labor and painstaking the road was staked out.

It was Saturday night when this part of the work was finished and before going home the surveyor called upon the mayor of the parish. He explained what he had done, and added, "I must ask you to see that the poles are not stolen over Sun-

Monday morning the surveyor was on hand in good season to proceed with his job, but every stake had been carried off. He went in haste to the mayor's office.

"Oh, yes," said that intelligent public functionary, "I had them locked up for safety in the town half the difficulty is over.

Queer Facts About Money.

How many people know how much told, just a little over two billions, or "Be awful careful of that pig. He's between $30 and $40 apice for every a daisy-a new breed just from Scot. man, woman and child in the United out here for $50 and we don't want is in gold and silver coin, and a little less than one-half in paper of various be guarded is scarcely worth the sen-The landlord locked the pig up, kinds. Of the metal money about tinel. fourth in silver certificates, one-sixth "I've twigged the racket; them in gold certificates, one-fifth in na-

But the $2,000,000,000 of United its weight at ten cents a guess, and States currency are not all in circula. of flattery. you'll be cleaned out - only you tion among the people. More than won't! As the fellows sleep we will one third is locked up in the Treasweigh the pig and beat their game." ury building, and that is the normal Nobody slept until the pig was state of things. One-half of all the taken over to the scales and weighed. gold and three-fourths of all the sil-He pulled down 170 pounds to a hair ver is locked up in the Treasury. The and the villagers went home and circulating medium in use among fall. hunted up their nickels and dream- the people is three-fourths paper, the ed of pigs and scales and sharpers largest volume being in greenbacks. friend without discretion, through the remainder of the night. with silver certificates next, then national bank notes, then gold certifiaround in front, and before starting cates. But we would not be doing gold justice if we did not say that there was more gold in circulation

What a disproportion between the would like to guess on its weight? amount of wealth and the amount of I'll take all guesses at 10 cents each, money in the United States! All the money in the country, including This provoked a large and selected what is locked up in the Treasury, judged justly. would not be sufficient to buy the one walked up until the man said real estate and the personal property firmness is commonly successful.

worth $10,000, and there is only one set in. Three or four merchants put such note in existence. Of $5,000 fifty guesses each. A justice of the notes there are seven; and when you peace took 30. A lawyer said about come down to the ordinary every-day $1 000 note, "there's millions in it."

Observes the New York News: in taking an oath. The bill passed the Senate almost unanimously but causes, and of tendencies; the other and lo! his weight was exactly 171 failed in the House. This custom of is the world of harvest and results, binding force of the oath, and is usu- quences. only weighs 170 pounds along about irreverent mockery. It was propos. pleasure, if we improve the present. ing of the hand as a formal tunities of to-day, the future wil the man oath, and to strike out the pain. Then somebody kicked the land- words 'so help me God,' as being an unnecessary imprecation and lacking poraseology of the oath as it exists expressed a desire for a divorce they PURE DRUGS ery of mediæval customs for invest- live therein together for a fortnight, ing all such acts with the utmost im- during which time they were neither pressiveness. But in these times the to see nor to converse with anybody A CHALLENGE,—At a meeting in original purpose is lost sight of, and through a narrow opening in the London to do honor to Browning, the effect is too often a trayesty upon wall and all communication with the skepticism. Mr. Lowell who was Philadelphia, has substituted the of a fortnight of this confinement tothen American Minister to England, raising of the hand for kissing the gether, the couple still clamored for breeding in conversation which is of them, and that we should not be worth keeping in mind. He says blind to their good qualities when that he formed the habit of expres- we are so sharpsighted to their bad sing himself "in terms of modest ones. diffidence," never using the words "certainly, undoubtedly, or any others that give an air of positiveness to an opinion" on subjects that may possibly be disputed; saying, rather, "it appears to me, or, I should think it so, or, if I am not mistaken." This habit, he said, was of great advantage to him in persuading people to adopt his views, and also helped him to gather much valuable knowledge ON SATURDAY, THE 5TH DAY Small Farm Near Deer Park. which otherwise would have been withheld. For, as a rule, people did not care to impart information to one who is firmly intrenched in his own opinions. Young people are very apt to have a positive dogmatic Two Cloth Nappers, one Presser, one way of expressing themselves, and should be trained to a moderate, as well as graceful use of language. The use of slang has a tendency toward the error which Franklin tried

Simplicity in Speaking.

The man who objects to soldiery honors being paid by the G. A. R. to the Confederate dead is never a member of the organization himself, and if in the army at all, was more conif in the army at all, was more conspicuous about the sutler's tent than on the skirmish line. The honors are not paid the cause for which they fought but it is to their individual worth and bravery, and the objector has usually proven himself destitute. has usually proven himself destitute of both. - Wetzel Republican.

Things that are exceptional cannot be depended upon. For steady illu-When a resolution is once formed mination a lamp is better than a rocket -- Talmage.

Gathered Treasures. Character is a perfectly educated

The roses fall, but the thorns hang

A smilling face often hides an aching heart.

It is better to work for nothing than to do nothing. The earth is full of tragedy, but life is full of pathos. Leisure is a beautiful garment, but Obligation is thraldom, and thraldom is ever hateful. The best thoughts are ever swiftest winged, the duller lag behind.

Our greatest glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time we'l Nothing is more dangerous than a

In diving to the bottom of pleasure we bring up more gravel than pearls. Ceremonies are different in every country, but true politeness is every where the same.

Many prefer the smallest pleasure to the most important advantage. upon the earth could live where all

Freedom from pain is of itself pleasure, but to know this, one must have suffered.

What we know thoroughly we can usually express clearly.

When we put the ear of our faith to the veil, we hear an actual voice tions of a numan heart beating for us.

kissing the Bible adds nothing to the and of prefected and eternal conseally a perfunctory act, and often an To-morrow may prove unexpected ed to substitute for it the rais- But if we neglect the golden oppor-

recognition of the solemnity of hold nothing for us but remorse and Until within a rew years a singular else; ther food was passed to them

Charity does not require of us that we should not see the faults of oth Benjamin Franklin, in his autobi- ers, but that we should avoid all ography, lays down a canon of good needless and voluntary observance

NEW ADVERTISEM ENTS.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of an order of the Cir-Under and by virtue of an order of the Cir-cuit Court for Garrett Country, passed on the 7th day of June, 1890, in the attachment case of Thomas J. Stanton vs. Conrad Bodes, be-ing No. 5 Originals for July Term, 1890, the undersigned Speriff will,

OF JULY, 1890.

at the hour of eleven o'clock A. M. of said day, offer to sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, for cash on the day of saic, all the following pieces of machinery in the Woolen Factory formally operated by the said Conrad Bodes, as follows to wit:

Card and Stand, one Presser, five Winding Blades, one Spinning Machine, one wool Picker, one Loom, four Carding Machines. one Coarse Picker, about five hundred Spools, one Spooler, fourteen large Spools, one Table, two Water Tubs and one large Loom. Said property will be sold at the Woolel Factory formally operated by the said Con rad Bodes, about two and a-naif miles north west of Grantsville.

E. N. CASTEEL,

Sheriff.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The West End of Wing and Wing, "at Deer Park, containing a Partor, sitting Room, two King Room, two King Room, two King Rooms and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping essary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable com for two horses, and carriage house. Here is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, consected with the premises. Apply NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Public Local Law.

CHAPTER 537.

ocreate a new election district in Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District, or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett

trict of Garrett county, whose metes and bounds shall be as follows:

Beginning at the Ridge road where it intersects the Meadow Mountain Road at Mary Otto's then with Ridge road by way of Yonmer's Mill, to the Grantsville road at Benedict Beachy's, then to the top of Negro mountain by Rush's Mill and John Spiker's former place, then with the top of said mountain to the 'County Road leading from John Harman's to the town of Accident, then with said mountain to the forks of the Oakland and Swanton road to upper end of John Harman's farm, then to the forks of the Oakland and Swanton road on east side of the mountain by way of Jeremiah Dursts, then to head of North branch of middle fork at Buck Mason's, then with said north fork to the mount of Black Hawk, at Stemple's mill seat, then to mouth of Monroe's run by way of O'Haver's Mill, then to James Resh's in back woods, then to Morse Pond run by way of Ashford Warnick's at old lumber camp near Per y Broadwater's, then with said run to the beginning at Mary Otto's

SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That the voting have a rolled in mother in the secondary of the country of the secondary of the country of the secondary of t

trict,

SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the inhabitants of said new Election District Number-Pweive, sharl be entitled in all respects to all the rights and privileges held or enjoyed by the other election districts in said County of Garsett.

He who is only just is cruel; who ipon the earth could live where ali udged justly.

He who is only just is cruel; who ipon the earth could live where ali udged justly.

He who is only just is cruel; who is limits of, and entitled to vote in said new fistrict. Number Twelve, and likewise to regular the earth could live where ali decoration to the laws of this State. would not be sufficient to buy the real estate and the personal property in the city of Washington.

The largest greenback extant is worth $10,000, and there is only one

These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the beer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning. Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Raiph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four ecual yearly payments, with interest and seem ty to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to. trist.
Sec. 7. And bo it enacted, That the Register of soters for each of the said Districts, one. Three, Four and Five, shall furnish to the Register of voters for said new District. Number Twelve, at least five days previous to their last days sitting, a list of all voters struken from the Registration Books of their respective districts, on and by reason of said voters so stricken off, living and being entitled to vote in said New District No. Twelve. See, 8, And be it enacted, That the County Commissioners for Garrett County shall ap-point one constable for said new Election District Number Twelve, and also judges of Election, as in the other Districts of Garrett County

-GO TO-Henry J. Mayers' CAKLAND PHARMACY

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger,

IF YOU WANT

MEDICINES. MASSEY HALL

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill al Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy

Purity, Accuracy and Prompines My Motto." -Also dealer in-

Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Buckets, Baskets, Autograph Albums, Knives,

AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices or Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varnishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere,

German and English Spoken. H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

FOR SALE!

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Pa containing one hundred aeres, lifty ac cleared and in grass. The improvemer consist of a good 1½-story dwelling hou barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., The larm is well watered and nearly all a der fence. Situated about 2½ miles fr

For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT. 8 24 tf

LOCAL OR TRAVELING. CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS.

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself.

We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices and terms.

We will have all kinds of Flower and Vegetable Plants in the proper season.

Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express.

Address

A Rare Chance to

FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land . h

the Hooppole Road, 3

miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

Secure a Home.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

AN ACT

County.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, That a new election district be formed and laid out of portions of the first, third, fourth and fifth election districts of Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District, or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett county, whose metes and bounds shall be as follows:

Beginning at the Bidge road where it in.

SEC. 2. And be it enacted, That the voting place or polls in said district shall be at or near the village of Bittinger, SEC. 3. And be it enacted, That the Governor shall appoint one Justice of the Peace, and one Register of Voters for the said new district.

Garrett.

SEC. 6. And be it enacted. That the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Garrett County shall furnish proper books for registration, such as may be required by law to be delivered to the Register of voters for said new District Number Twelve; and the said Clerk shall also at the same time, deliver to said Register a full jist, under the seal of his office, of all persons appearing on the registration lists of said Districts Numbers One, Three, Four and Five; and the said Register of voters for said new Pistrict Number Twelve shall transcripe from aid list of voters, and enter in alphabetic orer in the said new registration book, or books, the names of ail voters living within lie limits of, and entitled to vote in said new inside the said new registration book, or books, the names of ail voters living within lie limits of, and entitled to vote in said new registration sooks are said new registration. Garrett.

Approved April 8th, 1890

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE! Situated about 21/2 miles south of Oakland

For further information apply to.

JAS. A. HAYDEN,

ontaining 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard f 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story

FRAME HOUSE. ontaining five rooms and a cellar, nicely ainted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is heavily limed and an abundance of lime stone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre vas produced this year. For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys for owner, Oakland, Md.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890.

Regular and elective studies. Three coursellined—Academic, Scientific or Common call. Special attention to collegiate require-ments. Number of Puphs strictly Limited. Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to

REV. J. NEWMAN,

Principal.

J. F. LEWIS, ---MANUFACTURER OF---

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

NGLES A SPECIAL'

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a 'HINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the

J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, offers his professional services to the people foakland and vicinity.

Residence and office two doors East of atholic Church.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all ard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes fard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes rom Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Spiints, weeney, Ring bone, Stifles, Sprains, all wollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save 590 by se of one bottle. Warranted the most won-ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on huma HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

--WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER. Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Office 30 Baltimore Street,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

EVERETT & HARVARD

PIAMOS ? CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and testing many other popular varieties, I find that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

> Having decided to make a specialty of self-Having decided to make a specialty of seliing the above named Instruments, I desire > to inform the citizens of this and adjoining > counties who may be desirous of purchasing
> a really first-class instrument at a moderate > price, to call and examine my line of instrumen 2 and get prices on same before going > elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no > better instruments are made for the money > than those I handle. This is no idle boast, > but a fact which time and observation has > abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and > do not charge two prices for my goods. A > reasonable profit on the investment is all I > ask.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS

AND BUILDES . OAKLAND, . MD.,

Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity. JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890: GOING EAST

GOING WEST. 71—Accommodation 7—Express

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 to 25

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD,

General Passenger Agent.

VALUABLE

FOR SALE. f am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state or cultivation. The improvements consist of on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 tollars, in easy payments.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Oakland, Md.

rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers

Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers, Save Canyassers' Commissions. Get New Ha-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, 269 S. 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

THE REP

VOLUME 14.

PROPESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Bailding, Oakland

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY OFFICE ON ALDER STREET. Particular attention given to Conveyancin avestigation of land titles and collection tlaims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW ATTORNEY AT LAW
AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

By Special attention given to Investigation of band Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of lains, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on com-

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Selicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. 88106

VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County, and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

**BOTTC in the Court House.

July 3-tf.

J. W. VEITCH.

A. B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. 'Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa.

Will visit regularly through Garrett county Md., and offers his services to those wishen ental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 8m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. er Residence a' Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885,-15, H. W. M°COMAS, M. D..

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his professional services to the peop sar Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas. Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two

R. S. FOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD. Diffee and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and liling the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction.

Dr. I. D. Mewman. OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY.

Calisday or night promptly attended to, 3 5 y FOR SALE,

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND. Of 13314 acres, situated 7 miles. North of Oak land, near the Yough River. The improve-ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn ments consist of two dwelling houses, barn stable and all other necessary outbuildings twenty acres under cultivation. A fine young rchard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for Owners and I atment of Disease SCHOOL DISCOVERY! MICROBE KILLER Successful Treatment. CURES: Catarrh Bronchitis, Consumption, Rheumatism. Wonderful Tonic and Blood Purifier.

Blood Purifier.

inary of the Microbe Killer in cases of central and the second of the

Wm. Radam's Microba Killer, Philada. Ph. NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 284, as for feloniously sicaling goods or chattelisto the value of the tree or trees" so cut down.

THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop mear" Browning House."

DAVID LITTLE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES! MULES!

We have opened NEW

STOCK YARDS

BARRITT STATION

AT

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-

Mules for Logging —and—

TRAM ROADS constantly on hand.

MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO.,

Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R., 4196m between Gorman and Bayard.

MILLS.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager. Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brace kets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates, Ea Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds mill work. 9, '87.

E. F. STANSBERRY.

-Manufacturer of-Boots and Shoes.

Wagner's old stand Railroad street OAKLAND, MD.

** Repairing neatly and premtly done, Nov. 21, 86.- y. WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING.

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y. FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acre

I am authorized to sell a larm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from, Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, mother 3 test and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The fraprovements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Afso a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. good orenard, and a young orenard jun-oming into bearing.
The farm is well watered, and is in every ray a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.
Cation or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md,

ALEXANDER & CO.,

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Betting, Olis, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggies, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM.

A PRACTICAL AND First - Class Tailor,

FROM BALTIMORE, Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3 15 90

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OAKLAND, MD., SAL

Wolff's ACME Blacking

Ask in Drup, Paint and House Furnishing Stores/ Pik-Ron, which

WILL STAIN OLD A NEW FURNITURE
WILL STAIN GLASS AND CHINAWARE
WILL STAIN TINWARE
WILL STAIN TOWN AND

THAIL STAIN BABY'S COACH AND

ANALYSE THAPONS,

WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelphia.

By All Odds

The most generally useful medicine is Ayer Pills. As a remedy for the various disease of the stomach, liver, and bowels, the Pills have no equal. Their sugar-coatig causes them not only to be easy ad pleasant to take, but preserves their mdi-cinal integrity in all climates and for ay reasonable length of time. The best farily reasonable length of time. The loss lathy medicine, Ayer's Pills are, also, unsurpased for the use of travelers, soldiers, salars, campers, and ploneers. In some of the most critical cases, when all other remdies have failed, prove effective.

Ayer's Pills

"In the summer of 1864 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with dironic diarrhea. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a medi-cine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but pered my nurse to get me some of Dr. Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the afternoon I took six of these pills, and by mid-night began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week. At the ond of that time, I considered myself and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had "o return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. C. Luce, Late Lieut. 56th Regt. Mass. Vol. Infantry. "Ayer's Pills are

The Best

I have ever used for headaches, and they act like a charm in relieving any disagre able sensation in the stomach after eating."

—Mrs. M. J. Ferguson, Pullens, Va.

"I was a sufferer for years from dyspepsia and liver troubles, and found no permanent relief until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills. They have effected a com-plete cure."—George W. Mooney, Walla Walla, W. T.

Ayer's Pills. DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Me

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 cres of which is cleared, and on which are

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables

and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER.

FIRE INSURANCE, old lady's hand, "he wouldn't know was blown out."

F. A. THAYER.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO., Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest

RDAY JINE 28, 1890

Old Mrs. Maple owned house and the logs all burned down to white and and had money out at interest: hands. And pretty Minny, albeit an mother ?" heiress in prospective, taught the district school, and took care of the farm dairy out of hours.

"It won't hurt her to work for her walker. tiving, if she is to be rich one of these days," said Mrs. Maple. "I worked shut that door. Is that you, Gilbert when I was a girl." night Mrs. Maple's swift knitting her old hands shaking as if palsyneedles gleamed like steely light stricken, "I've seen a ghost!" ning in the firelight; and Minny sat on a low chair beside her, mending a ton. table cloth, while ever and anon a darned spots like a glistening glob-

"But, grandmother, why?" burst side the hearth. out Minny, at last, with blue eyes ment-like face.

hey flew back and forth.

pleaded Minny. Old Mrs. Maple nodded.

tion of curlosities.

nodded.

the girl.

mity to Job Crofton !"" reconciliation ?"

head.

never will disobey him dead !" ny, with her fresh cheek against the that had drifted in, and the candle takes children from parents who

it, how could he?"

give up the idea first as last."

sleep that night. from a baby."

"Gilbert," said the little flance, ed it. Mt. Hope Nurseries. Rochester, N. Y. makes you so late ?"

"Why, grandmother," cried she whatever is the matter? Here are ashes and the candle-wick gutzering, jut she was a shrewd old lady and and you in such a flutter as never aked to keep her affairs in her own was! What has happened grand-Mrs. Maple turned her keen blue eyes upon her grand-daughter with an expression like that of a sleep-"Minny, come in." said she, "And Crofton, the great-grandson of Job? And upon this dreary December Come you in also, Children," with "Impossible!" cried Gilbert Crof-

"Dear grandmother, you must have hig drop would plash down upon the been dreaming," soothed Minny, have, creeping up to her side and drawing her down into the old arm-chair be-

"Dreaming !" shrieked the old wolifted up like forget-me-nets drench- man. "I was as wide as I am at ed in rain, to the old lady's parch- this moment. I had been over to see misery. Mrs. Muir's sick child, and it was "Because I say so," said old Mrs. close on to ten o'clock when I got Maple. And the fire crackled, and back. And the minute I crossed the snow clicked softly against the the threshold, I had the queer feelwindow-pane, and the knitting-nee- ing of some one being in the room iles made zigzags of light as creep all over me. And there, sure enough, in the chair opposite, where "But you say, your-eif, grand- he used to sit, thirty good years ago, mother, that he's a good young man, was your great-grandfather Maple, with his old cue wig and his suit of words intended to sting. butternut brown, and the very green "Without one bad habit in the spectacles he used to wear for his the judgment of a man who is not would over And he took his pipe posted on what he talks about. And again old Mrs. Maple nodded out of his mouth and tooked at me The preaching of others will never ike a Chinese mandarin in a collec- just as your grandfather Maple has get us into Heaven, as every person a thousand times. And says I: must make the climb for himself. "And forenanded with his farm." 'Reuben is that you?' And says he, For the third time Mrs. Maple 'Yes, Lois, it is I.' And says I; Oh, Reuben, what brings you back ing to sit on a nest full of worry "Then, grandmother, why won't to this world?" And says he: To eggs. you consent to our marriage?" urged wipe out the stains of a wicked world.' And says I; 'Are you hap-"Child," said Mrs. Maple, turning py, Reuben?' And he says: 'Yes, her spectacle glasses full upon Min. and that's the reason I want others ny's sweet, flower-like face, "child, to be.' And then I began to tremble I've told you why, half a hundred all over, and says I: 'Is it anything they have said something to make times. It's because your great-grand- I can do, Reuben?' And says he; their husbands feel sore and miserfather Maple and his great-grand. 'There's no more offending nor giv. able. father were mortal enemies. Because ing offense in the other world, Lois, your grandfather's last words upon and Job Crofton's soul and mine are man will never lay in wait with his death-bed were: 'I leave my at varience no longer.' Says he; 'Let words that burn or that are intended seel to Heaven, my money to my there be peace, Lois, and let the to humiliate. desr wife, and my everlasting en- young man Gilbert be your granddaughter's husband.' And then he porson whose talk is about his neigh-"But, grandmother," said Minny, knocked the bowl of his pipe on the bors, the better off and happier you with a shudder, "that was very edge of the andiron, as I've seen him will be. wicked! And surely, surely, the do so often, and he got up, and walkshadow of a tombstone should be a ed out of the room, just for all the world like a living creature. I've Old Mrs. Mapleton shook her white often heard as ghosts can go through ful to others in this. a key-hole, but your grandfather Ma-"Your grandfather was a very vin- ple's ghost opened the door, and fordicative man, Minny," said she. "I got to shut it after him into the barnever disobeyed him living, and I gain. So, when I roused up enough to know what was going on around "But, grandmother," coaxed Min- me, the floor was covered with snow

"Oh, grandmother! do you think

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now prepared to write policies on all kinds of property on short notice and at reasonable rates. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent me Garrett county authorized to w give good heed to his last words. No, pear he could, for he had obstincy no; Gilbert Crofton can never be enough for anything, rest his soul! passible roads alone treble the value your husband, and you may as well You may marry Gilbert Crofton if of the lands, but there is no doubt you want to to-morrow, Minny! that good roads to market in any will be easy then !" Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington. Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured.

Seleep that night.

"For I never, never can marry him without Grandmother Maple's consent," she sobbed. "I'll stay single for his sake until the day of my death; but I never can disobey the kind eld soul who has taken a moth-closed those keen, blue eyes of hers kind old soul who has taken a moth- closed those keen, blue eyes of hers er's place to me and brought me up upon the matters of this mortal world. But the next night there was an But one day, in turning over the apple bee at Deacon Dangerfield's, relics of the roomy old garrett, Minny and Minny Maple was there. Gil- came across a red chest, clamped SALESME N and Minny Maple was there. Gilbert Crofton did not make his appearance until late. came across a red chest, clamped with brass, and faintly odorous of layender and rose-leaves. She open-who sat reproachfully amid a crim- "Oh, Gilbert, look here!" cried ELLWANGER & BARRY, son avalanche of apples, "what she, "my great-grandfather's best suit laid up in camphor-gum and for none but yourself.

NUMBER 19.

And it never did .- The Ledy

Every good act man does is shake ing hands with God. Life is the best school, and conscience the best guide. Nine-tenths of man's itls come only as they are invited.

The man who is always sober is always on the right road. Persons who have dirty back yards eave dirty memories, Our best friends are not those who lways come with toffy.

Never ask a man for his advice unless you are willing to accept it. Retailing scandal and injurious reports of others is like drinking swill. One sure way to bring unhappiness is to quarrel with what you No man should expect more of good will from others than he has for them.

To neglect to train a girl to active usefulness is to land her in future

The sturdiest and tallest trees grow in the field of indifference to public opinion. The man whose wife does not know how to keep house neatly not fully benefited by marriage. When persons marry they should cease trying to offend each other with

Never accept the advice or rely on

Many a man has cured himself of sickness by going to work and ceas-

The dirtiest robber of all is the nerson who detracts from another's good name and thus robs his betters. Some wives are never happy till

The woman who really loves a

The less you have to do with any

Man's principal wealth as he starts in the next life will be his education and what he has learned that is use-

Place no reliance on the love of a woman whose great desire is property, or on the love of a man who loves only physical beauty. What a helper is death when it abuse and neglect them, and old people away from children who feel that "Child, child, your grandfather this was real?" cried Minny, with old age is burthensome. - Pomeroy's

And Minny Maple cried herself to And perhaps your grandfater's ghost section will pay their cost, and even a scalper's rate of interest, to the farmers living along them.

> Frog (to elephant)-"How high can you jump, you big lummix ?" Elephant-"I can't jump at all, froggy woggy." Frog (hoisting his shoulders)-"You're unlucky. When I see an enemy approaching with a few lumps I am out of danger." Elephant-"When I see an enemy approaching I don't have to jump."

> All our actions take their hues from the complexion of the heart, as landscapes their variety from light.

You will not be loved if you care

The Republican.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THE VANISHED YEARS.

The year! The vanished years! The cycles With their majestic sweep, and bear away nto the shoreless sea, where singers sing Endless ebb-songs, the years that would not

The years! How would their vistas seem to me If I could traverse them just as they were Bathed in the light that never was on sea Or shore! The blossom-garlanded parterre

Is but a lane all fennel-fringed that strays By meadows daisy-pied in memory; And through the silence the skylark's lays Drift to my heart in strands of melody

O bloomful, blissful orchard aisles, it seems The smell of lovely pink-white blossoms floats Through mists and distances athwart my dreams, Commingling with the oriole's woosome notes

O happy harmonies, that never let The dulcet strains droop to the minor key! O happy harp that has no string at fret, No plaintful strain in all its minstrelsy! The years! They dawned and waned with shift and shine,

And seem in retrospect o'ercanopied
With skies forever blue and smiles divine Beaming from Heaven with songs acc panied. O land that lies afar! O time that seems

A vision fair of blissful Arcady, Where I in childish moods and maiden dreams Found hidden lines, unwritten poetry! O years! No summoning song or yearning ple

Avails to stay their flight, or ransom one In holy avarice holds it for her own!

-Rosaline E. Jones, in N. Y. Sun.

ARCHIE.

The Sad Reminiscences of a Fond and Sorrowing Sister.

Without it was night. The soft, white snow clung to the gables and sills. The house was dark, except for a faint glimmer from a side window-the glimmer of flames on the pane from a falling - lazily sailing down in great white flakes, brushing the cheek of the passer-by, with a touch as gentle as that of a summer zephyr. The clear, sweet that I had realized it but vaguely. But tones of a violin floated out upon the now I could not shut my eyes to the air. Above, all was dark. Not a star fact that something, or some one, was was visible. Within, an open grate with exerting an evil influence over him. a cherry fire; the room lighted only by The more I pondered on it the more its flames. A pale figure is reclining in a large arm-chair, supported by pillows Twickham on the subject. and muffled in a gay afghan. A boy of perhaps fifteen summers stands upon poised lightly over the strings and his seized my opportunity and with a a slow graceful movement the bow glides over the strings. Oh, the sweet zephyrs! The fragrant odors borne on the summer breeze! The babblings of the merry brook yonder; the golden sunbeams dancing down; the gay; free song of the robin swinging on the leafy bough; the long grasses waving and bending over the mirroring pool; the fragrance of the dewy rose! All mingled in one tender strain. But an abrupt minor dispels the illusion, checking the tender memories stealing over the heart.

All is changed. We seem to hear the wind sweeping the rain in fitful gusts against the pane; hear the drip, drip from the eaves! We see the robin cowering 'neath the sheltering leaves; the swollen brook, rushing on with sullen gurgle; the fragrant petals of the rose lying scattered by the capricious Oh, 'tis a dreary wailing strain! But with a graceful sweep the music changes again. Into a slow easy movement with an undercurrent of sadness. Ah! what a painful picture it brings before the mind of the pale figure on the opposite side of the hearth. A low green mound in a distant church-yard. The white roses that nod over it, and the velvety turf that covers it. The setting sun's last lingering rays fall across it, flooding the plain white stone with the one word "Archie" cut in its glistening surface. Fainter, fainter, sweeter, slower, the music died away. For a moment there was silence. Then, with a weary sigh, the figure in the arm-chair spoke: "Enid, your music has aroused bittersweet memories. Bring your hassock a couple of cigars. There was no mis-and sit by my knee while I tell you of taking the flushed face, and the heavy sweet memories. Bring your hassock the sad fate of my only brother, Archie." The boy obeyed, and the gentle voice

"My only brother--the gayest, handsomest boy that ever brightened a household by his pranks. When he was but fourteen and I but sixteen, our dear mother sickened and died. How we missed her! Our father shut himold nurse, Twickham-the dearest old soul that ever lived-was established as house-keeper. She had cared for us from infancy, and loved us with a mother's love

"Archie was the light of the household. Our constant joy and vexation. As time somewhat dulled the keen edge of his serrow, father plunged into business again. We resided in the suburbs, and he rode to his office in the city every morning, and home at night.

find Archie about to enter a college, to return home every night, so father purchased a beautiful little pony for him to ride.

"Soon after this father began to remain in the city two or three days without returning home-he found the ride so wearisome-and sometimes two weeks elapsed before he would make his appearance at home. Every night I listened for the clatter of hoofs and the boyish shout as Archie dashed up We had many a gay romp in the old orchards during the early winter evenings.

"Archie speedily became a great faporite with both professors and stu- hastily summoned.

dents, and he was constantly regaling "I was in the hall wandering aimless ticular chums. They were 'jolly good in. After one glance, I fled to Twick-was brought to the door, and throwing again. the 'best sister on record.' Oh! the pain we might have been spared if father had only returned home that night! But he little dreamed of the danger lurking near, and did not return ome until two weeks had rolled by.

"After this, Archie galloped away every night, leaving me alone with the servants. Twickham looked grave as he returned later every night, and exressed her feelings quite freely one evening when I was anxiously watching for his return. But I flamed up immediately in his defense.

"There, now, Miss Nannie, you know l love the boy. But I has my fears, 1 has my fears,' she replied, with an ominous shake of her head. And the subject was dropped.

"'Archie,' I exclaimed the next evening as he was preparing to go, 'what do you suppose father would say to your going out every night?" "'Oh, bother! can't a fellow have a little fun without having the old gent brought up at every corner?' "'Archie! I am surprised at your lack of respect for our dear, kind father.' "'Nonsense, don't preach, for goodfire-place within. The snow was still ness' sake, Nan,' he answered, lightly, as he turned to go. "I had been conscious of a change in Archie for a day or so. So faint it was

"I was sitting in the housekeeper's room, idly turning the leaves of my the rug before the fire, with the bow book. She was stirring the fire. I eyes fixed dreamily on the fire. With quaking heart laid the subject before her. She dropped the oker with a crash and turning abruptly faced me squarely. " 'Miss Nannie,' she said, 'I'm glad you've spoken of it. It's been pretty neavy on my mind all day, ever since

> " 'Twickham!' I cried, 'What did you hear? " 'Well, there's two or three of the older students giving wine parties to the younger ones. They has wine and cigars, and they say they has had to carry some of 'em home more'n oncegot too much wine, you know. And that's where Master Archie spends his evenings.'

heard-

"I could not repress a sharp cry. " 'Oh, Twickham! No. no.

"'There's them as knows it to be true' she answered, firmly, as she came and put her motherly arms around me and soothed and comforted me like a mother.

"'He must never go again, Twickham.' I wailed.

"'No, h oney; he won't, if you as him not to,' she replied, reassuringly. "Ah, he never did go again! How we strained our ears for the least sound! Hours passed by. It was long past midnight. At last! I sprang up with a joyful cry as the familiar clatter of hoofs rang out on the still, night air. There was a queer falling sound. A shuffling step crossed the piazza. Some one fumbled at the latch. With a white face Twickham ran into the hall. I followed her as the door swung open and in staggered Archie, falling in a heap at her feet and fumbling aimlessly at his pocket from which fell stupor into which he had fallen. Something choked me and I could not utter a sound. "There was a heavy step on the piazza. The door swung open, and father stood on the threshold. With a lightning glance he comprehended all. He reeled as though he were shot. My heart stood still. Twickham burst into tears. I buried my face in my hands to self up in his room and refused to see hide the terrible, anguished look he any one, ordering his food brought to cast upon the prostrate form. Without He had idolized our mother, and a word, he gathered Archie up in his the blow well nigh crazed him. Our arms as though he were a feather, and carried him into his room and closed the door.

"All night long I lay, listening to his footsteps as paced his room. At length, as the rosy dawn struggled up in the east, I fell into a quiet sleep. I had wept until I was utterly exhausted. I awoke to find the sun high in the heavens, and Twickham sobbing by my side. There had been a stormy scene. Archie's brain was not yet cleared of and not lead. It must overtake you, the hateful wine. He was not account-"When I had finished my course at able for his actions. Father had talked school, and graduated with honors, at the age of eighteen, I returned home to Twickham, had pleaded with him, but says: "A contented mind is the first conhe had flown into a terrible passion and

> "He soon came to me, however, and soothed and comforted me with kind words. He took all the blame upon himself, and I could not doubt his love for Archie after seeing the misery of his set and haggard countenance. But Archie did not return. No, not until they brought him home on a rude stretcher, like a bruised and broken flower. Bernardo had stumbled and > fallen on him, injuring him internally. "'I will not deceive you. There is no hope. Positively no hope,' was the verdict of the family physician, who was me with a long winded description of ly around, anxiously watching for Art is Open Only to the Bold, the Energetic their games. Of course he had his parchie's return, when they brought him fellows' and 'regular bricks,' in his es- ham's room, and paced the floor and ut- to take advantage of any promising op timation at least. I was very happy in tered such strange heart-broken cries portunity to improve his fortune, enerhis success, and encouraged him to that she almost lost her self-control getically working to find that opportu his success, and encouraged him to study hard. How little I dreamed of the blow that soon was to fall on us like a thunder clap from a clear summer sky. He began to grow restless as the winter wore on toward spring.

"One evening after his lessons were that the series at the series a thunder clap from a clear summer sky. He began to grow restless as the winter wore on toward spring.

"One evening after his lessons were completed for the next day—I shall never forget that evening though I live to be a hundred years old—Bernardo to be a hun struggling with the terrible choking in well the right way, as well as to determy throat. The window curtain flut-mineproblems by thinking. To those, tered idly in the breeze. The warm sun therebre, who would succeed, whether fell across the foot of the bed. A tiny they have faith in tides or not, the adbird perched on a budding bough and nonition comes to be prepared to intrilled a gladsome song. It was mockery! rove opportunities. Make the opportunities. trilled a gladsome song. It was mockery! Bitter mockery!-these indications of world be bright, with this young life ebbing out so fast! Oh, so fast!

"'Nan, I've told father all. He is so kind, so kind! You will be lonely, Nan, es, so lonely without your Archie! But I shall be safe with mother. Dear mother, how anxiously she is watching for me! Oh! the joy and peace when my tired head can rest in her arms once more! How happy we will be, mother and I. And we will watch for you and father, Nan. Yes, we'll watch for you all. See the sun yonder. How warm it is! Spring is so near. How 1 long to stay and see the flowers, Nan. But mother The sun will soon set. See 'tis nearing' pain crossed the pale face.

"You must plant a white rose over quick--' bending over him beopened his eyes again.

opened his eyes again.

"There, it is gone; but has left me very weak. Come nearer to me, all of you. Father, lift me higher. I can not breather. Father, dear, you will be that has overwhelmed others. There breathe. Father, dear, you will be I was so easily led astray! Dear dd Twickham, forgive your boy for the pangs he has caused your faithful heart Just once, Nan. This will be the last. The very last!"

"Oh, how could I sing! The words at first, but gaining strength as I proceeded. "'Tired! oh, yes! so tired, dear! The day has been so very long; But shad wy gloaming draweth near, 'Tis time for the evening song.

" T'm ready for blest rest, at last: Ready to say 'good-night.'
The sunset glory darkens fast, To-morrow will bring light,

'Sing once more, "Abide with me," That sweetest evening hymn. And now "good-night," I can not see, The light has grown so dim! "Tired! ah, yes! so tired, dear!

I shall soundly sleep to-night, With ne'er a dream nor quaking fear, To wake in the morning's light. "All was silent as death when I ceased. Then with a gentle sigh he spoke: "'Kiss me, Nan, father and dear old Twickham. Mother and I will watch for you all. And now good-night.' We bent over him to catch the whispered words. "'And now good-night, I can not ee. The light has grown so dim!'-"His head fell back on father's arm.

Our erring boy was dead." The dying embers fell apart, scatter-The sad voice ceased, and a deep silence fell upon the room. Without the sund fell soft and still. The night was dark and the hour was late.

"Tired! ah. ves! so tired, dear I shall soundly sleep to-night, With ne'er a dream nor quaking fear, To wake in the morning's light." AGNES ROGERS.

The Secret of Happiness

"Happiness comes most to people who seek her least and think least about her. It is not an object to be sought; it is a state to be induced. It must follow and not you overtake it," writes John Burroughs in the Chautauquan. In the dition of happiness, but what is the first which was conveniently situated within two miles of our home. He was again paced steadily up and down his will be disappointed when I tell you will be disappointed when I tell you what this all important thing is, it is so ommon, so near at hand, and so many people have so much of it and yet are not happy. They have too much of it or else the kind that is not best suited to them. What is the best thing for a stream? It is to keep moving. If it stops, it stagnates. So the best thing for a man is that which keeps the currents going, the physical, moral and intellectual currents. Hence the secret of happiness is-something to do; some congenial work. Take away the occupation of all men and what a wretched world it would be. Half of it would commit suicide in less than ten days."

THE WAY TO FORTUNE

The bold and enterprising man, ready make the best possible use of it. The was brought to the door, and throwing aside his books he said, coaxingly:

'Nan, do you mind, if I go out tonight? Just a little party among the boys, you know.' He was so handsome as he stood there, whip and hat in hand, that I could not have the heart to say one word to mar his pleasure, though, I must confess, my heart sank at the prospect of the lonely evening before me. He was off with a gay 'good-bye,' and the emphatic declaration that I was the 'best sister on record.' Oh! the closed behind me. And I was alos poetic thought is that men should be fixed upon me so wistfully! In thus prepared if they are mere idlers. Preparation for successful work on tremble so.' The great any kind comes by faithful or which develops not only skill of welled up in his eyes and rolled slowly hand, but habits of industry, self-confidewing the pale cheeks. I was dumb lence, the ability to do things instinct. unities themselves, if that be possible, mke good use of them whether they bypatient endeavor. A financial panic | the race!-Van Dorn's Magazine. wreks firms that have not their resomes well in hand, closes milis and stamates business, but those who are read for the opportunity with money capial or with the reputation and skill to command help, may, in the reaction that ollows a panic, win a fortune. The histoy of every wide-spread business depression has in it this lesson: The unreadylose fortunes that are picked up by thee prepared to take advantage of busines conditions favorable to the is waiting and I must soon be gone. making of large profits. For the people must be clothed and fed, and only for a the horizon now! And night will soon short time can the demand for the neccome. But I will not be here. So essaries of life be curtailed. The mills different from last night!" A spasm of that are closed by the shock of a panic may be bought or leased at much less than ther value, labor is cheap because my head. Nan, I was always so fond of there are so many unemployed, and them, you know. Come and see the roses when they nod above me. There's a result of a depleted market. Those the terrible pain again. Call father who are ready to take advantage of the favorable conditions may win a fortune in the first few months of a revival of fore the sound left his lips. In a few moments the pain left him and ho kind of resources—it may be capital, it may be business skill and credit, or it breathe. Father, dear, you will be good to Nan when I am gone. She has been the dearest sister in the word. Always so kind and good to me, father. I was so easily led astray! Dear dd workman who has risen to fortune by starting the right enterprise at the right time. Always, however, it will be found that to feel. Now, Nan dear, sing to me. Fortune is seldom if ever thrust upon the man and the opportunity have met. my one. The man who wins her favors must have some qualities that make him deserving. He may be morally would choke me. But his eyes were bad, unscrupulous, unjust, and in that fixed so yearningly on my face that I could not refuse. And I sang; faintly in success are disclosed he will be ais success are disclosed he will be found to possess some good quality that has helped him to win fortune's favorenergy, industry, boldness, skill or high intelligence. There is no tide to lead on to fortune the lazy or the indifferent, but there is one that may be used to promote the interests of zealous, industrious, skillful and intelligent workers. and it returns to these day by day, month after month, as do the tides of ocean.-Baltimore Sun.

The Value of Sincerity. Though a man' must be sincere in order to be great, he need not be great in order to be sincere. Whatever may be the size of our brain, the strength of our powers, the talents of any kind with which we are gifted, sincerity of heart, or of belief, or of life is possible to us all. It is of itself a kind of greatness which, in spite of many other drawbacks, will make itself felt. The honest, upright man, who lives openly, fearlessly and truly, professing only what he feels, upholding only what he believes in, pretending nothing, disguising nothing, deceiving no one, claims unconsciously a respect and honor that we can not give to any degree of power or ability wielded with duplicity or cunng a shower of sparks upon the hearth. | ning. If we could correctly divide the world into the sincere and the insincere. we should have a much truer estimate of real worth than we generally obtain. -N. Y. Ledger.

A Terrible Disappointment. His manner was nervous and preoccu pied; he said little and his thoughts seemed far away.

"George," said Mabel, "have you any thing on your mind?" "O-er-no-that is, nothing in ticular, I assure you.' "But you seem to be thinking." "I often do. The fact is, I was about to ask you-but what's the use? You wouldn't be at all interested. "O, George, I'm sure I would."

"I was going to inquire whether you could-"Yes?" "Tell me what the score is. I haven't had time to look at an evening paper."

-Washington Post. A Busy Man. Master George-I want you to come and paint my wood shed to-day, Uncle

Uncle Tom - Carn't do it, Mass'r Geauge, can't do it. I habn't time. Master George-Haven't time? Why, you haven't done any work for the past three days, and you are doing nothing, to-day. Uncle Tom - You'm right, Mass'r Geauge, but that's cuz I've such a press ob work on han' I can't do nuffin .- Munsey's Weekly.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-Bronson-"Who shall decide when the doctors disagree?" Johnson—"The coroner generally has to do it."—Munsey's Weekly. -"I've changed my mind since I saw you last," said Cadley. "I hope the new one is better than the last," put in Cynicus, and Cadley got mad.-N. Y. -Mamma (sternly)-"Don't you know that the great King Solomon said, 'Spare the rod and spoil the child?" Bobby—"Huh! But he didn't say that until he was growed up. -Mrs. N. Peck-"Well, you need not look as if you were going to eat me."

would not agree with me."-Terre enabling the patrons of the schools Haute Express. -"You are unfortunate in having no sisters. They have a refining influence you were reared apart from them?" never can keep a secret, anyway!" He-"I can't! Suppose I had told that I kissed | There have been too many profits made you before we were engaged?" She off of school books, and in reorganizing (calmy)—"Well, I should say you were

-Pert Shop Girl (in defiance of every protest)-"It, is, precisely the shade, judge than you are, don't you think? You'll find they'll answer." Old Lady -"If they do answer, I hope they won't answer impudently."-Epoch. -What with the depletion of our youth, occasioned by the early demise of the good, and what with the ravages the coming spring. How could the the besure that you are prepared to due to the excessive smoking of cigarettes by the survivors, the prospect an gifts of fortune or are wrought out looks gloomy indeed for the future of -"Cornelius," said Mrs. Maddergrass to her husband, "I wish you would give me some instruction in pistol shooting." "You are not afraid of burglars, are you?" asked Maddergrass. "No; but I understand that a census taker will be along soon to ask women how old they are."-America.

-Wife-"George, before we were married do you remember that you promised me I should have every thing that heart could wish?" Husband-"And haven't I kept my promise?" Wife-"Yes, George; and it is for that reason that I often wish you had promised me all that stomach could wish, too. Aren't we ever going to give up boarding and go to housekeeping?' -On the Wrong Road.-Mr. Bullfinch -"No use; no use askin' about my son, he's gone to the bad. He's a professional swindler an' nothin' else; he's a confidence man in New York." Old Friend-"You don't say so? Doesn't he Mr. me home when he gets broke? Bullfinch-"Broke? Why, he makes money hand over fist. He could make a man believe black was white without half tryin'. The police say he's the most accomplished liar in the hull city.' Old Friend-"Well! well! What a pity he didn't go into politics!"-Puck.

THE LATEST SOPORIFIC.

It Is Called Hypnal and is a Composition of Chloral and Antipyrin A new narcotic has recently made its appearance on the scene. Its composition is the following: Chloral and antipyrin, when brought together, give rise to a third substance, of which the technical name is far too complicated to con vey any idea whatever to the mind of a person who is not a chemist. To facilitate matters, however, it has been called hypnal, thereby indicating the soothing oporific properties with which it is en dowed.

Hypnal has the same action as chloral. but it has neither its disagreeable taste nor is it at all caustic. When it reaches the stomach and is acted on by the gastric juice it resolves itself into its two component parts, chloral and antipyrin. It is, therefore, very satisfactory way of giving chloral and of avoiding some of the weak points of this drug. It should be furthermore remarked that hypnal, of which one gram contains 0.45 grams of chloral and 0.55 grams of antipyrin, produces at this dose an effect that is quite as soothing as if a much larger dose of chloral alone had been given.

This is, perhaps, due to the fact that the chloral is produced in the stomach itself; it is there at the moment when it is formed as a substance—that is to say, when its power of action is at its

The question of the increase of the therapeutical properties of drugs, according to whether they have just been formed as substances or not, seems to me one for which a great future is in store, and I would strongly recommend all who are anxious to make discoveries to follow up this subject, which they will cer tainly find a most satisfactory one, if I can judge from the unexpected result that I have myself obtained in a number of cases. - Paris Herald.

An Unlucky Man. A certain Western murderer, who had killed his partner during the progress of a heated discussion on business af-fairs, was convicted and sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment.

"What, can't I go out at all?" he inquired auxiously of the judge. "No."

"Then it would have been better all around if my partner had killed me. He always attended to inside affairs, while I worked on the outside. He was a man of sedentary pursuits, and would the instinctive coquetry and desire to have stood such kind of office work excite admiration and love, in a maiden, much better than I shall. Yes, it is very unfortunate that I am not now in his place. I really regret the serious turn affairs seem to have taken .- Texas Siftings.

It Brings Its Own Punishment, Sympathetic old lady-What is the ttle boy crying for? Small boy-He was kicked by three big boys who were playing ball. Sympathetic old lady-Did he do anything to the big boys to make them injure him?

Small boy-No; he was just umpirin' the game; that's all .- Judge.

SCHOOL BOOKS

A Subject of General Interest to Parents Others Having Children and cate. The four ,eading school book publish. ng houses of the country which have peretofore been known under the folowing styles and titles, viz:

Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., Cincinnati; Ivison, Blakeman & Co., New York; A. S. Barnes & Co., New York; D. Appleton & Co., New York, after a full and careful consideration of all the circumstances, have decided to form an incorporated company for the proseoution of the school book business. They realize that the time has come when something must be done and some Mr. N. Peck-"There's not the least means devised for reducing the cost of danger that I will. I'm dead sure you school books to the people and for to purchase their supplies of books direct from the publishers at net prices wherever they desire so to do. They over a man." "Have you a sister?" have felt that the future of their busi"Yes, three of them." "How is it that ness is seriously threatened by the popular prejudice which has been created -She (during a slight tiff)-"You by the exorbitant prices charged for school books by the local retailer. their business into this new stock company they do so for the purpose and with the determination to establish closer relations with the actual purchasers of the books and give them the benefit of the lowest possible prices. To accomplish this new departure in the manner of furnishing school books at reduced prices, a greater economy in manufacturing the books and in conducting the business must be practiced, and this is the object held in view by the firms above named in forming the new company. Under this new organization one plant and one force of clerks and agents will do the business which has heretofore required several expensive establishments. The saving of expense in this direction will be evident to any one, and beside this there will also be a material advantage to the new company in the fact that it will be able to get better terms in pur chasing the paper, printers' ink and other material used in the manufacture of the books.

It has been stated by the competitors and opponents of this new company that as soon as it gets control of the trade in a State it will at once increase the price of books. The falsity of this criticism can not be better proven than by the willingness of the new company to give guaranty with satisfactory bond in any reasonable amount, contracting as follows: First, that there will be no increase in prices for five, ten or even twenty years if desired; and second, that if at any time the new company's prices shall be reduced to a lower figure, that reduced price will at once become the To those who are informed in the matter it is well known that the majority of the school books now in use in the schools throughout the country are published by the four houses which have formed the new company. It is the earnest desire of the company to have these books contin ued in use in the schools, and it will aim to make it for the interest of the public to use them. By a generous policy the new company expects to increase its busi-ness and to secure the widest possible sale for its books, realizing that the only way in which this can be accomplished is by furnishing the books to the people direct and at lower prices than school books have ever been bought.

PLUCKING THE INNOCENT. Joseph Ady's Scheme of Swindling Within the Bounds of the Law.

It is now some forty or fifty years since Joseph Ady, the clever swindler, victimized the people of London. He was a decent-looking elderly man, a Quaker, with all the external tokens of respectability. His peculiar line of "work" was this: He examined as far as the means were afforded him lists of un-claimed dividends, estates and bequests waiting for the proper owners, and un-claimed property generally. Noting the names, he sent letters to individuals bearing the same apellatives stating that on their remitting him a guinea as a fee they would be informed of "some-thing to their advantage." When any one complied he duly sent a second let-ter acquainting him that in such a list was a sum or an estate due to a person of his name, and on which he might have claims worthy of being investigated. It was undeniable that the inormation might prove to the advantage of Ady's correspondent. Between this "might be" and the unconditional promise of something to the advantage of the correspondent lay the debatable ground on which it might be argued that Ady was practicing a dishonest business. It was too narrow a margin for legal purposes, and though he was often arrested he escaped punishment and continued to fleece the unwary. He was before Sir Richard Birnie at the Bow street police court on the 10th of May, 1830, and an amusing interview took place between the judge and the swindler. The latter stoutly maintained the legality of his business and referred to Mr. Doherty, Solicitor-General of Ireland, as one of his patrons. Ady escaped as usual.—Chicago News. Timely Attractions of Women.

The great art-not tuty-which women have to learn is, says a living writer, how to make the best use, in its own time, of the various kinds of attraction, the various sorts of charm praction, the various sorts of charm practicable by them—each beautiful in its way, but only perfect when in harmony with age and condition. For instance, the simplicity of a child is silliness in a full-grown girl; the unsuspecting frank-ness of a girl is loose-lippedness and un-dignified want of reticence in a woman; become folly and heartlessness and a fixed habit of inconstancy and, as time goes on, a ghoulish craving in a matron; and so on through the whole list.—N. Y. Ledger.

Her Way.

"I'll be home by ten o'clock, dear," said Mr. Clubman, a month after his marriage; "but if I'm not, don't wait for

"No, I won't, dear," said Mrs. Clubman. And she didn't. At one minute past. ten she went after her spouse, and brought him home. Since then he is me promptly every night at ten sharp.

GETTIN' ON

When I wuz somewhat younger, I had my fling at every thing

In a rollickin', coltish way, But times have strangely altered Since sixty years ago-This age of steam an' things don't seem Like the age I used to know

Don't suit me, I confess. As did the ways of the good ol' days-But I'm gettin' on, I guess.

I set on the piazza An' hitch round with the sun-Sometimes, mayhap, I take a nap, Waitin' till school is done. An' then I tell the children

The things I done in youth Au' near as I can (as a vener'ble man) I stick to the honest truth! But the looks of them 'at listen Seem sometimes to express The remote idea that I'm gone-you see! An' I am gettin' on, I guess. I get up in the mornin',

An', nothin' else to do,
Before the rest are up an' dressed
I read the papers through;
I hang round with the women All day an' hear 'em talk An' while they sew or knit I show

Sometimes, with twilight round me.

An' somehow, I feel sorry When they put away his dress An' cut his curls ('cause they're like a girl's) I'm gettin' on, I guess!

I see (or seem to see)
A distant shore where friends of yore A distant shore where friends of yore Linger an' watch for me;
Sometimes I've heered 'em callin'
So tenderlike an' low Thatft almost seemed like a dream I dreamed
Or an echo of long ago;
An' sometimes on my forehead
'There falls a soft caress,
Or the touch of a hand—you understand—

Or the touch of a hand-you understand-I'm gettin' on, I guess.

-Chicago News.

A RIDE WITH GABRIEL

How a Railway Mail Agent Was Saved by a Spring Lock.

T WAS long ago before the mail service was brought present perfecsaid the quiet-looking man with whom I was riding on a Western train, "that I was put in charge of one of the first | traveling offices. Cleveland to Chicasort not only the mail for the West. but sometimes as falo and other Eastern points. The kill me if you want to, though I'd department was working hard to save imo in delivery and the first great steps in that direction. I hadn't an entire car to myself. In those days the traveling offices were little cubby-holes, taking up about one-third of a second-class car. The forward end of the car was used for a smoker, and a narrow passage alongside my room led from the smoking-room to the rear door. I had no assistant, and used to lock my door on leaving Cleveland and work like a beaver till I reached Chicago, seldom completing the night's work till we were fairly inside the limits of the lat-It was hard work, but I soon got used to it and was fairly well contented with the place.

"It did not seem like a particularly dangerous post, and no such precaution was taken in those days to guard against possible attempts at robbing the mails as is now taken. I had a strong door, secured by a strong lock, and I had a heavy revolver that I kept lying on the table, but beyond that no special ar- yourself.' rangement was made to protect me or the mail. It was not considered possible that I would be attacked on a regular passenger train. One adventure that I had, however, served to quicken the apprehension of the Department, and soon after, I believe, a rule was esbe run without two or more men in the

"As I said, my door was secured by a heavy lock. It was a snap-lock and to after me and he was locked in. opened with a large and peculiar key from the outside, while on the inside there was no keyhole, and no key to be rushed for the platform to find the brakeused, but the pressure of a concealed spring pulled the bolt open. You have | bell-rope. That was cut. I rushed to the seen similar locks on office gates in forward end of the car and the door counting-rooms very often. They are

"T SHALL HAVE TO REPORT YOU FOR

THIS." body knows the trick of opening them but they were new then, and very puzthat lock saved my life.

the lock.

only one passsenger was in the 'smoker.' | ing at one time."-London Court Jour-What he did I learned afterwards. My nal.

first intimation of any thing wrong came from seeing this passenger ente my room with the key in his hand.

"'I shall have to report you to the department for this,' he said, sternly, olding up the key. 'I am an inspector, and have caught you in a flagrant piece of carelessness on my first trip. "'All right,' I said, bitterly. I recognized my fault on the instant, and knew it was likely to cost me my place. It did not occur to me at the moment to doubt his word, for he spoke in a matter-of-fact way that carried conviction. His next movement, however, undeceived me, for, stepping quietly toward me, he made a grab for my re-volver, and, before I knew what he was about, he had it in his hand.

"Something-I can't say what it was -told me on the instant that he was a maniac. He was a strong, big man, handsome and well-dressed. I saw that I was no match for him physically, aside from the fact that he was now armed and I was not. It was a mighty unpleasant situation, and I did a good deal of quick thinking just then. I have tried to figure out a good many times since then what the wisest thing would have been for me to do, but I don't know as I could have done any better than I did on the spur of the mo ment. "'You don't look like an inspector," said, pretending to take no notice of his having seized the pistol. 'Show me your

"He laughed, and then I knew I was right, No sane man ever laughed as he did. 'You are a very bright young man,' he said. 'I am not an inspector. but I'll tell you who I am, and then I shall kill you. Nobody can know that ecret and live.' " 'You'd better not tell me, then,' aid, as coolly as I could. 'I don't want to die now. May be you are a friend of mine, though. I am not an ordinary person myself.' "'I know it,' he said. 'You are St.

Peter, and I have come for your keys. I am the angel Gabriel. I have the first anywhere near its key and you must give me the rest.' "'All right,' said I, starting for the door. 'I'll get 'em for you.'
"Hold on,' he said, cocking the revolver. 'You can't go now. I'll tell you first and then you may get them.'

"'You're foolish,' I said, still trying o keep cool, though I was horribly frightened. 'If you kill me you can't make me do any thing afterwards, and I don't need the keys and you do. I can open any door there is without a key. go, and I had to sort not only the "Well, yes,' he said, rather doubtful-entire Cleveland ly, 'but how can you do it?' "'Try this one,' I said. 'You can't open this door, although you have the many as half a key, but I can go right out through it dozen large bags full of mail from Buf- and come back again. Then you may rather you wouldn't. Try the door for "He did so, and not understanding the lock, couldn't open it. 'You can't open it, either,' he said, standing aside. "'Oh, yes I can,' I replied, and putting my hand on the lock I pressed the spring without letting him see how it was done. Pulling the door open viotablished that no post-office car should lently, I struck him with it, hard enough to force him backward, and jumped through, just in time to dodge a bullet that he fired at me. I pulled the door

"He fired a second shot through the door, but that missed me, too, and I man. He wasn't there, and I seized the there was locked. I broke through the window and climbed out to the engine, and had the train stopped quickly.

"The engineer and I went back, and as we were chopping at the door to get into my room we heard another shot. When we got in we found the unfortunate man dead. He had shot himself. "The brakeman was picked up next porning where the maniac had thrown nim off the car into a heap of broken rock. He said he had been taken un-aware and suddenly pushed from the platform. Fortunately he was not killed, though he was badly hurt. There was nothing on the dead man to reveal his identity, and if that was ever discovered

I do not know it. "Of course I reported the facts to the lepartment, and of course I was reprinanded, but I did not lose my place. suppose the authorities thought I had been punished enough."—David A. Curtis, in Drake's Magazine. Spontaneous Combustion of Man. Dickens has been very much criticised for his apparent acceptance of the ling to the average man. I gave no fact of human spontaneous combustion, special thought to it after I had been but the late Sir William Gull testified shown the trick, but, as it happened, to a surprising case before the commit tee of the House of Lords on intemper-"My habit was, on entering my office, ance during the summer of 1886. A to put the key in my pocket, and then large, bloated man, who was suffering to shut the door and try it from the inside. One night, by some strange freak distention of the venous system, died of absent-mindedness, I forgot a part of at Guy's Hospital. At the post-mortem this proceeding and left the key on the of the following day there was no sign I slammed the door and tried of decomposition, but the body was disit, and finding it locked went on with tended with what was thought to be my work, entirely unconscious of the gas. "When punctures were made into fact that any one could enter from the the skin," said Sir William, "and a outside by turning the key that was in lighted match applied, the gas which escaped burned with the blue flame of "Presently some one did enter. It was carburetted bydrogen. As many as a a very stormy night, and as it happened dozen of these little flames were burn-

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

WHAT THE OLD MAN SAID. Come hither, child.

I am an old, old man, Yet once like thee I had a sunny brow, And curls of gold, and I was fair as thou, With gentle voice and spirit undefiled.

And so I grew Into a merry youth, And saw the finer side of all delights: My days were joyous all, and blest my nights, And love was mine and innocence and truth. One hour there came

A tempter to my side:
He held the ruby glass close to my lig,
And I, unwary, took the fatal sip,
And all my better nature crucified. For day by day

The tempter came again, Until the poison grew a nectar sweet. And nothing to my vision seemed complete Without its honeyed guile, its witching pain. My boy, believe Thou never can'st be safe,
If once that lurking poison fires thy veins;
Ask God to keep thee from its awful pains,

And be not thou a drunken, aimless waif. And boy, believe Even though at the last His wondrous love has dashed the cup aside, And given repentance, better I had died A child, uncursed by memories of the past, Mary A. Denison, in Phrenological Journal

TEMPERATE DRINKERS. They Not Only Neglect the Good, But

Encourage the Evil. The obligation to complete abstine and the injury to others. danger to the user would still remain sumer not only neglects the good, he even if it were decided to be feed rather encourages the evil. Every glass that ing quality. The result that should make every moderate drinker turn ple the community and make the use of with apprehension is the appetite which the cup prevalent and popular. How it engenders. Every draught taken is, without question, another step toward that abnormal condition in which dsire has passed beyond control, and the D., in Better Day. victim has become bond-slave to the habit. No medical testimony is neded as to this. It is matter of common observation. There are, no oubt. among moderate users those who scape. Some are saved "so as by fire." Ithers maintain to the end the mastery 4 their inclinations. But the number hat annually pass from the ranks of the moderate consumer to those of the drunkard is notorious, and if the truth lieved that Johnny Horner did such a tremble.

duty of men to incur risk. There are which said: "That is for you."

seful and praiseworthy callings the modeling had a great many which the risk to bodily nealth and sometimes to moral purity is constant.

Johnny smiled back, said: "Thank tion after a few years return to Italy." and often extreme. But needless expo- you!" softly, and put in his thumb and The man who recklessly leaps from for a plum. He bit it in two, chewed it in the eye of the law. His body, his plate. life, is not his own in the sense that he incurred is culpable in the degree in for the pudding, but will you please to which it is unnecessary. When the use take it away? I can not eat it. of opium to assuage great pain has entailed the opium habit the victim is less ished; "it's prime." censurable than if, in thoughtless selfindulgence, he has become needlessly a it?" said Johnny. The sin of the moderate drinker is, that for a passing gratification he it won't hurt you." is willing to imperil his body and his Johnny shook his head. "Yes, it will; soul. He can not plead necessity, for one drop would hurt my promise-I'm a the experience of the last seventy-five Loyal Temperance Legion.' I thank years incontestably proves that alcohol as a beverage is not necessary. Total no pudding with brandy sauce.' abstinence has passed beyond the stage of experiment. Thousands of individuals and of families and not a few whole should be proud of him. - Pansy. communities have lived happily and well without intoxicating drink. He can not plead that in his especial case the risk is not considerable. This no physical and moral resistance can never be known until the experiment has been tried, and no intelligent being in the presence of what is now known as to the nature and effects of alcohol can be justified in trying the experiment. It is but to cast himself from a precipice in the hope that God, or fate, will save him. Such temerity is no less a sin now than in the temptation which Satan brought to Christ eighteen centuries

The other consideration that imposes abstinence is the injury to others. This abstinence is the injury to others. This involves the effect of one's example 55,000 children in London go to school upon his family, friends and acquaint. upon his family, friends and acquaintances, and his relations to the drink evil as it exists in society at large.

Every moderate drinker not only imerils his own safety but he throws the weight of his example in the scale against the safety of others. When these others are known to be peculiarly susceptible to temptation or are, in any way, especially committed to his nensely increased. There is nothing upon which the righteous indignation of a community more heavily and justly descends than upon a man's teaching 'corrupted the youth." No moderate drinker is free from this sin against the be supernaturally assured of his own wine to one of her sons, will offer her a The power of example is more obscure sake of other women's boys."-Philaand subtle than a physicial cause, but delphia Ledger. Mexican toloachi, or weed of madness, a | Monthly.

few drops of the milk of which, secretly ntroduced into your friends' soup, act immediately upon the brain, producing at first violent madness, and then hopeless idiocy, is a fitting illustration of the fatal influence of the moderate drinker upon the young and innocent. not, as Satan's decoy to betray the weak and tempted to disease and death.

The same reasoning applies to society at large. The evil of intemperance stands to-day like the pyramid of Cheops amid the evils of the world. said: Especially in our own land, owing to climatic influences, the nervous temperament of our people and the skill and abundance with which alcoholic beverages are produced, the burden upon society has become vast and insupportable No one denies the unutterable woes that the curse entails. The only question is how they may be removed. Experience has developed one thoroughly practical and effective method, namely, the complete disuse of intoxicating drink. Alcohol as a beverage cu, if all agree, be driven from the lad. No great evil could come from suh a course. Neither the public halth nor wealth could suffer. To do wihout it has been proved over and our again to be perfectly feasible and circumstances the obligation to The obligation to complete abstiner would seem to be almost the contractor, we will say, 100 men at from intoxicating liquors rests upon two boundless. The moderate drinkers of $1.25 per day, and the contractor pays considerations, the danger to ourselves our land have power of themselves to the men S1 per day, and the padrone stanch this stream of sin and woe. The danger to one's self is apparent Without their patronage the traffic The poisonous effect of alcohol upon could not endure. To neglect such an monopoly of their trade, and his bills the human system, even when noder ately used, is now generally, by scientific authorities, conceded. Fut the justification. But the moderate conjustification. than poison. In fact, the direct phyte he takes tends to perpetuate and multical effect of alcohol is its least alariply these miseries. He does what he can to maintain the drinking habits of can he escape the disapproval of his own conscience and the condemnation of mankind?-Rev. William Kincaid, D.

NOT TO BE TEMPTED.

Hurrah! Say We, for "Johnny Horner" Number Two.
"Little Johnny Horner Sat in a corner

Eating his Christmas pie; He put in his thumb And pulled out a plum, And said: 'What a big boy am I "" That is the old story. I never bewere known, it is probable that there is silly thing. Did you? This, which I almost no one who, using intexicating tell you, is the new dress of the story, liquor at all, does not pass beyond the and it is true. Johnny-not Johnny limit that his own conscience and rea- Horner, but Johnny Wilbur-sat at a dreds as he could use. An inspector of son prescribe. Thus the risk that every lunch table in a large restaurant. The public works in New York testified bemoderate drinker incurs is extremely others were in the back parlor eating fore the committee that there were 8,000 great. When the doctrine of chances oysters, but Johnny wanted no oysters, Italians engaged on public works in that is candidly applied the odds he must and was allowed to go into the other see to be against him, and the thought room and order "buns and milk." The of the fate that awaits him if his waiters were flying about briskly. One chances fail, is enough to make him of them knew Johnny, and liked him, Ten years ago 90 per cent. of the cigars so on his way through the room he Now the immorality of moderate halted long enough to set down, not a by American workmen, but to-day 90 drinking turns largely upon this ele-pie, but a dish of pudding, close to per cent. are made by foreigners, chiefly ment of risk. No doubt it is often the Johnny's plate, with a nod and a smile Italians, and the wages have fallen from

"Look here," he said to the waiter as

"Why not?" asked the waiter, aston-"Yes, sir; but hasn't it got brandy in

"Why, only a few drops in the sauce;

you, because you were kind, but I eat Hurrah! say I, for "Johnny Horner Number Two. If he were my boy,

ITEMIZED FACTS.

GENERAL CROOK, the famous Indian fighter, who died recently, was a total man can say beforehand. The power of abstainer from both alcohol and tobacco. In 164 hospitals throughout the United Kingdom the use of alcoholic liquors has been reduced about sixty per cent.

A SOLDIER institute has just been opened at Woolwich, Eng., free from drink, and in every respect made most attractive. SENATOR DAWES recently presented over 240 petitions from Massachusetts against the liquor traffic with the native races of Africa. An English M. P., asserts that as a re-each morning unfed. GENERAL MASTER WORKMAN POWDERthe city of New York, judiciously placed, may make or unmake a President."

THE Total Abstinence Society connected with Mr. Spurgeon's Tabernacle, has, during the eight years of its exguardianship, his responsibility is im-21,655 pledges.

THE man who has never taken a drink, and who has resolved that he never will, is clothed from head to foot should stop short of being a brute in in: boose room, went out alone into the vice-to children for example. The in armor without a flaw, but the man most deadly charge against Socrates who has yielded has already been that malice could invent was that he touched by the sword point of Satan.— Ram's Horn.

THE wife of a distinguished Senator ouls of his fellows. Even if he could has stated that whose offers a glass of ecurity, nothing can relieve him from personal insult. She does not offer blood-guiltiness in the case of others. wine at her own receptions, "for the no less potent. If one could administer My young friends, avoid the saloon some material poison to a friend which as a most deadly enemy. "It stifles would unconsciously transform him in- progress, fosters pauperism, brutalizes to a dipso-maniac, such an act would be husbands and fathers, breaks women's to more culpable than to lure him by hearts, puts rags on the working-man's e seductiveness of personal example back, disease in his body and shame a drunkard's doom. The far-famed and despair in his hea... -Atlantic

THE PADRONE SYSTEM.

Slave Labor in New York and How It 7s Monopolized by Sharks. Your correspondent to-day had a talk with Mr. V. L. Ricketts, the clerk of the House Committee on Immigration, who wied as clerk and sergeant-at-arms for He is employed, whether willingly or the joint investigating committee, and who probably gathered more general information upon the subject under investigation than most of the members of the mm ittee. In the course of his talk he

"Probably the worst evil connected with our modern immigration is the Italian padrone system. Twenty-seven thousand Italian immigrants were landed at New York last year, and probably two-thirds of them are subject to a bondage almost as pernicious as the African slave system that prevailed in the Southern States thirty years ago. They are brought here by the Italian banker, who is also a speculator on the labor market. They are induced to come by a promise of higher wages than they can earn in Italy. A laborer accustomed to twenty cents a day is easily persuaded by an offer of a dollar, and so the ticket is sent. He reaches America prepared to answer all questions put to him by the authorities. He goes direct preetly safe. One thing only keeps the padrone or his agent. He is put to to Elizabeth street, if not met sooner by th destroyer in our midst, to-wit, the work on the streets, on a railroad, or sef-indulgence of the drinker. Under elsewhere, with an army of his fellowcountrymen. The padrone furnishes to gets 25 cents. In addition he retains the store or 'shanty' privilege, and has a are paid before the wages are paid. These privileges he usually sub-lets. Then he gets their savings and pays no Thus his profits are manifold -$2 or $3 on the steamship ticket sold to the Italian peasant, the rent of the apartment he occupies, sales of all he consumes, 5 per cent of his wages, and finally, if he is naturalized, the price of his vote. And all this time the padrone never betrays his slaves, keeps in good faith every promise he makes, and warns them against the wiles of the American. Naturally suspicious, they are trained to be doubly so; and, as they seldom learn English, they never open communication with an American, ex- frying pan with half an onion minced, cept through an interpreter, and then it and a half-cupful of good gravy. If you is never sought. of New York; 70,000 are herded in one there to-morrow and be unable directly to employ a hundred, but he could go to a padrone and employ as many huncity, all under the padrone system; and this comprised 90 per cent. of all the workmen so employed at that time. manufactured in New York were made per cent. are made by foreigners, chiefly with a few hundred dollars and live in sure to danger shocks the moral sense. finger exactly like the Johnny of old luxury the rest of their days. Some wise and thoughtful Italians here, like Brooklyn bridge or drifts over Niagara for a few minutes, then quietly took it Sig. Celso Moreno, of Washington, have Falls in a barrel commits a crime, even from his mouth and laid it beside his seen the tendency of this system and have made a vigorous war on the padrones, but so far with little result. may wantonly throw it away. The risk he came back, "I thank you very much They charge that the Italian Government or its representatives here and at home wink at this system and silently give it encouragement."-Indianapolis

Journal. AMONG THE BOERS.

Aversion If Not Matred. shanty, two Kafirs suddenly came for- just at this spot. ward and asked for places in our mail wagon to a destination about one hun- rich man in the Prattigau had two childred and fifty miles ahead, in payment dren, a daughter and a son. The daughfor which they tendered the required ter wheedled him into allowing her to sixteen sovereigns. They were rather marry some peasant who was poor and naked, exceedingly dirty, and redolent an unequal match in social station. indorsed the remonstrances of the other European passengers against being stormed, but the youth was true to his jammed up for days in a stuffy canvas- plighted troth. During a temporary abwho, flush with money from the mines, send the girl off to America with a round chose to discard their ordinary means of sum of money. transport-an ox wagon. But the six- On his return, after hearing what had invectives. assumed a fresh complexion. It was orphan. He had inherited a considerapalpable that one of these natives was | ble estate, and expected more from two smallpox, perhaps from some brain it prudently, would probably have made malady, probably from fever, and that him the wealthiest farmer in the neighthe sufferer's object was to reach his kraal—perchance to die. He lay fellow on whom nature had lavished all LY says: "One hogshead of whisky in his thirst out of a tin pannikin of water, uncles disapproved as a match for such and with every evidence of pair. He a youth of consequence. stirred not at our eating halts; he passed the night in the bitter open veldt; he tom here, he went to pay his addresses was becoming manifestly worse, and at by stealth to this maiden of his choice, last I was wont, becoming sorely smit- and returning early next morning he ten in my conscience, to bring him out was upbraided by his interfering uncles. from time to time a cup of tea and a crumb of white bread. "Dank, Baas" I do not know what he replied, but certainly he made no scene to speak of. (thank you, master,) he faintly mur- When his uncles left he unhooked his difference to the suffering of a black hu- copse hard by and put a bullet in his

My Boer fellow-travelers manifested scred."-Blackwood's Magazine.

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Smoked ham should boil fifteen minutes for each pound. - - Canned String Beans: String fresh butter-beans, break in two, and cook in slightly salted water till tender, pack boiling hot and cover well with the salted water, and seal. For use, drain them from the water, heat, and season to taste. - Farm and Home. -Orange Syrup: Use ripe, fine fruit, queeze out the juice, and to every pint add a pound of sugar, boil slowly ten minutes, skim, and when cold, bottle. Two or three spoonfuls of this are sufficient for a glass of water. This is also an excellent flavor for sauces.-The Household.

Some housekeepers keep a bottle of alcohol with which to rub their lookingglasses. This, applied with a soft cloth, and the mirrors afterward polished with a chamois skin, does make them look beautiful, but the wetted paper does about as well and is much less expensive.-Christian at Work.

-Cherry Nectar: Select nice cherries, pound well with the stones in them, press through a sieve, add a little water, and boil up, filter through a jelly bag, one made of flannel is best. Mix a little sugar, water, and lemon juice, then add cherry juice to suit the taste, but do not make too sweet .- The House keeper. An attractive way to serve cold mashed potatoes is to heat them over the fire with a little milk and stir until smooth, then add two well-beaten eggs. Butter an agate or earthen pie-plate; arrange the potatoes in a mound; rub over with the white of an egg, and bake in a hot oven to a delicate brown. -Cold beef cut thin can be warmed in various ways so as to have an entirely different flavor: Melt a heaping tablespoonful of butter and add to it two tablespoonfuls of any sour fruit jelly, and a teaspoonful of mixed French mustard, and salt and pepper. When all are thoroughly warmed together, dip the slices of meat in one by one, and when all are warmed place on a warmed platter and turn the remainder of the sauce over them.—Rural New Yorker.

-Minced Mutton with Poached Eggs: Chop cold boiled or roast mutton quite fine. Put two cupfuls of this into the have none, use instead a little hot water "There are 100,000 Italians in the city and a lump of butter the size of an egg. Just before taking the mince from the little district comprising only a few fire, stir into it a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce or two tablesquares in the vicinity of Mott and Worcestershire sauce or two table-Elizabeth streets. Jay Gould might go spoonfuls of tomato catsup. Heap the mince on small squares of buttered toast laid an a hot platter, and place a poached egg on top of each mound. Serve very hot.-Harper's Bazar.

THE SWISS PEASANTRY.

Stolid People Who Have the Passions That I will tell some stories which prove that the Swiss peasants, though they look so stolid, have in them the stuff of tragedy. There was a lad in a valley called Schanfigg, not long ago, who loved and was betrothed to a girl in the Hinter Rheinthal below Spliegen. She jilted him, having transferred her affections to another, and he went to take a formal farewell of his sweetheart in he home. Every thing passed decorously, so much so that the girl's brother put his horse into the cart and drove the rejected lover with his own sister down to Thusis. The three had reached that passage of the Via Mala, where the Rhine loses itself in a very deep, narrow gorge. It is called the Merlosene Loch, and is spanned by a slender bridge thrown at right angles over the river. Here, as they were spinning merrily down-hill, the lad stood up in the cart, sprung to the parapet of the bridge, and dashed himself at one bound into the grim They Regard the African Natives with death of jagged rock and churning waves below them. It was a stroke of imagina-When changing teams at a veldt tive fancy to commit suicide for love

And now a second tale of passion: A "bouquet de Kafir," and I cordially Then his son set his affections upon a covered vehicle with these two natives, sence of the son his father contrived to teen sovereigns were too much for our happened, the lad said nothing, but driver; the Kafirs were thrust in, the went down to the Landquart water in team started off at its usual wild gallop, the evening and drowned himself there. and we could only solace ourselves with And now a third tale: Last spring, in a village not three hours distant from By degrees, however, the circumstance Davos, lived a young man who was an miserably and gravely ill, possibly from uncles. Life, could be have managed crouched up in torment in a corner, mo- her gifts of health and comeliness. tionless, save occasionally to assuage Unluckily, he loved a girl of whom his

One Saturday evening, as is the custainly he made no scene to speak of. mured in surprise that any European gun from the wooden paneling of the brain.-Fortnightly Review. -It is said that one of the great ot merely surprise but sour disapproval | Eastern trunk line railroads deliberately -almost anger; and after the conclusion provides for a loss of many thousands of of our journey I learned that one of dollars a year upon the meals served in them, a member of the Free States Leg. its dining-cars, and charges the loss to islature, had indignantly held forth to the advertising account, in full knowlthe following effect: "Did you see that edge that the talk such prodigal outlay Englishman actually bringing out tea will create is as good as that amount of and bread to the Kaffir? That is the money's worth in printer's ink. A man way Englishmen behave! That is the had for breakfast in one of those cars, way they ruin the natives!" And then one day in April, a trout, a game-bird, -with an amiable wish to extenuate my frailty-he added: "However, apparent-besides coffee. rolls, butter and a glass ly the Englishman has himself been re- of milk. The meal cost a dollar, and cently suffering from a bad illness, so his wife told him she could not buy any perhaps that is the reason why he thus one of the principal dishes in the markets for that sum of money.

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year......

INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of fen lines 50 cents per square for each additional infer-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1890.

In addition to his other offers Mr. amount in 1891 if the Louisiana Legislature will submit the lottery bill to the people.

templated extension from Morganimportant because it connects the ley.

The Democratic Party and the Tariff. | trust and business anxiety.

In its treatment of the Tariff question the Democratic party always has been a party without intelligent principle. Its theory that government is a necessary evil, the scope of ert Ellis Thompson in Irish World. whose action is to be limited as much as possible, inclines it naturally to Free-Trade. But it has had enough it will stick to nothing.

Twice the party groped in the dark er topics for the time. to find a principle of Tariff revision, these down if their immediate conand the subtlest economic analysis which has controlled even the ma- Times-Democrat. jority among them. If we might the working classes and not to the fair elections?

employers of labor. The height of absurdity was reached when they attempted to defeat the bill to place to run their farms to their fullest caimports of worsted goods on the same pacity and sell the crops in the raw level with woolens, although this state, thus reducing the soil from ported to the last House by their the farmer could realize that he is a by stating to an old personal friend and had received the support of Col- tory, and to sell the crops off the apolis and resume the practice of law port, onel Breckenridge and others, who farm is selling the raw material at the expiration of his present term. now took the floor to denounce it. which always brings the lowest price This little statement spikes a good exactly the same as in the Mills bill down farms; less run-out fields; less for everything which the President most freedom of action.

ishes of the State, and the same the war. It now is making the same mistake as regards the Tariff. It refused to accept the popular verdict of criticism, but of resistance in the House, and only the courage and Officials of the Baltimore and Ohio firmness of the Speaker prevented railroad announce that the long-con- this from being successful. It pursues the bill with maligh prophecies town, W. Va., to Uniontown, Pa., and malicious hopes to the Senate, will be begun at once, and completed declaring that the jealousy of Mr. by October 1. The distance is about Allison and other Republican lead-50 miles, but the link is especially ers will rob Mr. McKinley of the honors of originating a new Tariff. West Virginia and Pennsylvania as It discovers evidences of Republican systems of the Baltimore and Ohio dissension in every step which has and gives the company a through been taken toward consideration, and line from Pittsburg up the Mononga- especially in the vote to discuss the hela Valley into Central West Vir- bill in the whole Fiance Committee ginia. When its projected extensions instead of by a sub-committee. And are completed the Baltimore and by the voice of Mr. Cleveland and Ohio will have a direct route, 400 Mr. Mills the party declares its purmiles long, running from Pittsburg pose to make the Tariff question an to Charleston in the Kanawha Val- interminable issue in our politics, and to convert every national election into a season of commercial dis-

> In fine, the Democratic party fails at every point to render the service

Not a Candidate

ions from the first-its theory inclin- for renomination under any consid- ble machinery is to the farmer, the committee when it reached him from them. Here also along the Sarkuru ing it to Free-Trade, and common- eration or circumstance. The presider many farms now without a head the Senate, and the fact was so record. River are the tree habitations describgan as Protectionists and ended as men that in the natural course of could be eaten by the sheep. eral inclination to Protection, Ev- ment was made yesterday in the that are rarely salable except at low Belden, the new chairman of the Re- stretches away for eight or nine the only thing certain about it is that friend yesterday at the White House ture quickly and reach a market in in getting the absentees here and the the more sparsely-timbered regions Tariff the Democrats have displayed was mentioned and the president eximg more profitable. the old vice of their party. They pressed himself quite freely. He have had no standing ground of prin-said, among other things, that he had us the power with which to perform had the bill all the while. When ciple from first to last. The Tariff made up his mind not to be a candi- the work required, and adds her off- the bill is reported back to the House laws they have proposed have been date for renomination, and that at spring to the revenue. There are the free coinage amendment is cera curious medley of contradictions the end of his present term he in- but few farmers, if any, who do not tain to have been struck out, and and absurdities, which even surpass- tends to settle in Indianapolis again keep horses to work their farms, but that will bring on another contest ed their masterpiece, the Tariff of and resume the practice of law. The how many avail themselves of this which will determine whether a 1846. A scientific economist, on reading one schedule, would have any now many avail themselves of this advantage of keeping a mare as a majority of the House favors free county Commissioners of Garrett County on ing one schedule, would have sup- relation to the next presidential machine and working her to her coinage. posed that its authors were the nomination, made as it was without fullest capacity? If the farmer will Senator Edmunds has offered, and staunchest of Protectionists; on ex- reserve, was soon in wide circulation give the mare a chance she will take the Senate has adopted a resolution before them. amining another he might have and afforded a topic for conversation much of the farm crops that do not for the appointment of a committee thought them extreme Free-Traders. that for interest subordinated all oth- sell at prices much above cost of pro- of seven to investigate the adminis-

and thought it had found it. The The Chattanooga Times inquired dependent of the market and fill his done to increase the efficiency and first was Mr. Morrison's plan of Hor- the other day into the nationality of pockets with money. izontal Reduction; the second, Mr. the members of the Chamber of Com- Then comes the hen; though but Mills's proposal of Free Raw Mater- merce of that city. The result shows a small part of the whole, she is an as an answer to the often reiterated ials. Both these, bowever, were how large the emmigration of North- effective and capable machine to pick discovered to be preposterous when ern and Western men into the South up all the wasted seeds of every don applied to the details of the Tariff, has been and how important a part and manufacture them into readyand both were partly abandoned by they play in business. There are 358 selling carcasses and eggs. their champions before their bills members of the Chattanooga cham- Thus we see the farmer ought not reached the House. What was real- ber, of which 175, or barely half, to sell his crops in their crude or raw ly before the minds of both was to were born south of "the line," 147 in state, but feed them to the various get the country to take "the first the North, and 36 in foreign coun- farm animals and birds which act as step towards Free-Trade," but neith- tries. Tennessee naturally leads with so many machines, performing their er of them had the courage to say so, 91 members, but Onio follows second work by different methods, manufacas they knew that their party would with 63, Georgia is third with 36; tured products which are salable at stand by neither that nor any other next come Pennsylvania, New York, all times and seasons of the year. In their criticism of the McKinley Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, in the order named. It is facturers, your farms your factories, Tariff bill the Democrats have been just as unhappy as in devising measjust as unhappy as in devising meas- condition would be found in other until it has been utilized by the ures of their own. They have shown cities of this section if the same in- farm machines, unless wisdom points the utmost readiness to stand by high quiry was made. The result shows out that the most profit would be in duties laid upon products of their how much the North is doing for selling the raw material. own section or district, and to vote Southern development and prosperstituents had no interest in them. here. It shows, moreover, how hosity, and how deeply it is interested Their vote has scattered on every pitably we receive newcomers, and important motion to amend the bill, how thoroughly false are the stories would fail to discover any principle Republican papers,-New Orleans territory canvassed to be almost a The Senate has provided in the

A Bad Practice.

It is the custom with most farmers

it also produces its own raw mater mittee of the Senate. Fortunately by defendant in the church in conand repairing in the different parof 1883. It declared for a policy not tured articles, such as milk, butter, tariff bill. Senator Blackburn, who The jury in the lower court cotton. Instead of the farm being committee, told Mr. Blaine that he the Supreme Court having overadapted to a single occupation, it is regretted that he was not a Senator ruled defendant's exceptions the pursuits. The implements and ma- he flow of the Senate attacking the 1y $2,000. will have to be paid. chinery are varied, and the products | Ill and Mr. Blaine with a wink, reare not limited to any particular ar- ried "so do I." The joke was fully the purpose of assisting to further in Senate to-day week,

The Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times published an exhaustive statement re- House behindhand, as during its garding the crops in Tennessee, Ala- continuance every thing, including bama and Georgia. It shows the even committee work, was at a standto the contrary told in some of the wheat crop throughout the entire still. complete failure. Corn, cotton and Consular and Diplomatic appropriatobacco are in splendid condition, the tion bill for all of the recommen judge from their speeches, many of If the Democratic party really yield promising to exceed that of dations of the Pan American Con. them would be ready to vote for the wants fair elections why should it so last year. Of fruits there is about gress, except that for the erection of highest duties, provided the advan- bitterly oppose a national election half a crop. Grasses of all kinds are a building for the proposed Latintage of these should accrue only to law whose only object is to insure good. The business toutlook is en- American Memorial Library. couraging.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, June 23rd, 1890 .-The President has definitely settled own Committee on Ways and Means, manufacturer and the farm his fac- that he intended to return to Indian-understood by all present: but that the purpose of assisting to further in crease the amount of raw material.

The ewe, another farm machine, of the House met with a temporary sut from the rest of the world, live WASHINGTON, June 19 .- A piece facturing them into a greater variety for free coinage which has been adopt- living in the sayanna regions outside. and the talk turned on the silver a short time, and thus makes the Democrats were beaten at every south of them, which were tegarded of the House to be referred to the > duction, and manufacture it into the trative service of the Senate and reshape of colts that will make him in- port what, if anything, should be PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING A economy of the service. The appointment of this committee is intended charge of extravagance against the Senate. Representative Lodge has offered a resolution to take up the Federal

The Democrats of the House are to hold a caucus to determine upon a line of action in opposing the Federa election bill.

The Senate committee on Commerce has made an averse report on very measure had been favorably re- whence all this material comes. If the question of his candidacy in 1892 the Lake Borgne outlet scheme for the Mississippi river. The committee voted unanimously for the re-

A DOCTOR'S SUIT AGAINST A But even this was parallelled by the that he is thus losing more than half many Democratic guns, and will PRIEST.-The full bench of the Suattempt to strike from the McKinley the profit he should obtain from the compel the newspaper fraternity of preme Court of Massachusetts has bill a number of duties which were farm, there would be less poor run- that party to invent some new motive sent down an opinion in the case of Louis O. Morasse ys. Rev. G. Ely Correspondents must enclose full name and didress, not necessarily for publication, but a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-communications will not be returned.

Brochu, which was tried in Worcestanders; and that farming is after all, a vain delusion and doss published here alleging to give the southbridge, Mess., and defendant not pay.

Brochu, which was tried in Worcestarders; and that farming is published here alleging to give the details of certain remarks derouters. Brochu, which was tried in Worces-The farmer should consider that to the McKinley tariff bill made by in that town. The action was one of whatsoeyer gave the captain the ut- the farm is not only a factory. but Secretary Blaine before a sub-com- tort, and arose from language used At no time has the Democratic ial from which to manufacture ari. your correspondent is able to present sequence of a second marriage of party shown that it knows when cles of sale. Thus he has the at- a statement of what really occurred plaintiff, who was divorced from his and where opposition should cease. vantage of most every other man. in that committee room. Mr. Blaine first wife. Among other things the Lottery Company, offers to advance It inflicted great injuries on the facturer. The soil and air are the was before the committee for the purpriest said was: "If any of you are RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. $1,000,000 in 1890 to levee building South and on the country by its failand the plant and animal life are be partment, and while there he and machines by which he works up to partment, and while there he and machines by which he works up to partment, and while there he and roof with him." Plaintiff charged raw material into useful manufat naturedly chaff each other about the cheese, pork, beef, mutton, wool and is the Democratic member of the sub- found for plaintiff in $1,500, and really a combination of a great many to that he might make a speech on amount with interest and costs, near-

The Great African Forests,

The great forest through which Let us look at some of the farmers' di not prevent its being made use of Stanley recently passed, which he esmachines and see what advantage by the Democratic press as serious timated to cover a quarter of a milhe has over other manufactures. The matter labeled "Blaine's sayage at- tion square miles, is only a small cow, which is the machine for con- tac on the McKinley bill." Mr. part of the great African forest which verting the farm crops into milk, Blane is not opposed to the McKin- extends almost unbrokenly from the butter or cheese, is unlike other ma- leybill, though he thinks there are west coast of the Gaboon and Ogowe chines, is self-sustaining and self-re- seveal important ways in which it regions, with a width of several hunpairing. Now the farmer finds a might be amended with advantage dred miles to the great lakes. This great deal of matter produced on the to tle country: he believes that we belt of timber, trending away to the farm which has cost him something should receive some trade concessions heart of the continent in a direction to make, that there is no sale for and for allowing sugar to come in free, a little south and east, is perhaps, the would be lost, but by the assistance and hat some amendments should greatest forest region in the world. of the cow he is enabled to manufactory the composition of the composi find ready sale; while at the same American countries as may desire it, river, and the country embraced $150.00. time he returns a portion of the orig. and he furnishes proof that they all within the big curve is covered with inal cost in the shape of manure for do. The bill is to be taken up in the a compact forest, shutting out a large comes to help the farmer dispose of defeat at the lands of the Democrats bundreds of thousands of people who his crops at a good profit by manu- on the amended silver half providing are almost unknown to the tribes experience of the practical exigen. of news that will be read with intense of saleable products in the shape of ed by the Schate, owing to the ab- Scattered through the big woods cies of the American Nation to make interest came from the White House wool, mutton, lambs and manure sence of a number of Republican within the Congo bend are little it hesitate as to the wisdom of acting yesterday. It is no less than a posi- besides keeping down briars and oth members of the House at an inoppor- communities of Batwa dwarfs, of Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scrollon this maxim. As a consequence, tive declaration by President Harri- er pests of the farm. Notwithstand- tune time. The Speaker, as is custo- whose existence the traveller has no it has been halting between two opin- son that he will not be a candidate ing the great advantage this value mary, referred the bill to the proper inkling until he suddenly comes upon sense drawing it in the opposite di- dent, it appears, made up his mind of sheep upon them, who buy their ed in the journal of the House. The ed by Dr. Wolf, where the natives rection. This finds illustration in some time ago not to seek the presi- family supplies of wool and multon, next day the Democrats observing live in buts built among the branches the lives of all its eminent leaders. dential nomination again. He did and dig up the briars and sassafras the absence of the Republicans made to escape the river floods. It was in Jefferson and Madison began as Free not think it necessary to make any bushes with elbow grease, while a fight on the approval of the journal great clearings made in these forests Traders to end as consistent Protec announcement of the fact, although much of the production of the farm and succeeded in defeating the Re- that Kund and Tappenbeck discovertionists. Calhoun and Cleveland be- it was assumed by thousands of party that is not salable in its present form publicans. Mr. McKinley voted with ed some of the most notable villages ed to. the Democrats, in order to move a yet found in Africa, where well-built Free-Traders. Jackson shuffled back things he would be a candidate for a The sow, another valuable machine, reconsideration; but the Democrats huts, with gable roofs, lined both and forth across the line with a gen. second term. Indeed, the announce- enables the farmer to cultivate crops again won. Saturday Representative sides of a neatly-kept street that ery policy in turn has been taken un- most casual way. The president was prices, and manufacture them into publican Congressional committee, miles. These villages are even more Dissolution of Co-Partnership. der the patronage of the party, and in conversation with an intimate pork and valuable progeny that ma- by able management had succeeded interesting than the street towns in In the recent treatment of the bill. Incidentally national politics farmer more independent and farm- point and the bill ordered, by a vote as very wonderful when they were farmer more independent and farm- point and the bill ordered, by a vote first discovered by Wissmann.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., June 24th, 1896, Tuesday, July 8th, 1890,

By order,

J. B. FAY, BRIDGE.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD, June 24th, 1890.

Scaled psoposals will be received by the county Commissioners of Garrett County, on Tuesday, July 8th, 1890, election bill on the 24th inst and debate it until the 28th inst., when a vote shall be taken. It has been referred to the committee on Rules, and, as the caucus has decided to pass this bill, it will probably be reported back and passed by the House this afternoon.

Sen ator Morrill spoke Saturday in favor of his bill to establish a fund for the endowment of agricultural colleges.

The House committee on Post offices has decided to postpone the question of a Postal telegraph until the paxt session of Congress.

The big silver fight has thrown the House behindhand, as during its continuance every thing, including

By order,

Tuesday, July 8th, 1890,

for building a bridge and its approaches on the Ashby road across Snowy Creek, according to the Equity of the Ashby road across Snowy Creek, and to be light form bed of creek, and to be 12 feet long, to be logio sneed white oak timber; the caps of resties loxiz; the floor 2-inch whi

By order, J. B. FAY, 6 28 td Clerk.

Noveity Plaster Works, Lowell, Ma Endorsed by every physician as a sure cure for the first of the first of the first of the Fleurist Cange, Coughs, Colds, Assimms, Pleurist, difficulty in breathing, &c., in all of Pleurist, difficulty in breathing, &c., in all of Pleurist, difficulty in breathing, &c., in all of which cases they give relief at once. Bold by Movelty Pleurist of the first of the Wovelty Pleurist of the first of the first Wovelty Pleurist of the first of the first Wovelty Pleurist of the first Wovelt of the first Wovelt of the first of the first of the first Wovelt of the first of the first of the first Wovelt of the first of the first of the first of the first Wovelt of the first of th Mitchell's Belladonna Plasters. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

-GO TO-

Henry J. Mayers' DAKLAND PHARMACY

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS., Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS

MEDICINES.

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a complete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY

"Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto."

-Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Buckets, Baskets, Autograph Albums, Knives,

Ink Stands, Razors, etc AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varnishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc. Give me a call before going elsewhere. German and English Spoken.

H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G., Opp. GLADES HOTEL.

ORDER NISI.

Chas, W. Boucher No 496 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Jos. Whetstone, et. al.) Garrett County. Jos, Whetstone, et. al.) Garrett County.

ORDERED, This 13th day of June in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, sitting in equity, That the sale made and reported in the above cause by Phineas C. Boucher, Trustee, be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 14th day of July 1890; provided a copy of this order be published in some newspaper published in Oakland, Garrett County, Md., once a week for three successive weeksbefore the 14th day of July, 1890.

The report states the amount of sale to be

E. Z. TOWER, Clerk, True Copy-Test : E. Z. TOWER, Clerk,

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER,

AND PROPRIFTOR OF GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL,

Manufacturer and dealer in Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General Building Material.

Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assortment of Coffins, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance. will be my aim to turn out only first-class Thanking all who have favored me in the ast, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to

Ar Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890

The Co-partnership heretofore existing be tween the undersigned, doing business unde the firm name of Gnagey & Durst, has thi day been dissolved by mutual consent. Al day been dissolved by mutual consent. All persons knowing themselves indebted to the firm will please call on Jonas E. Gnagey, who has charge of the books, and settle their accounts by July 1st., 1890, as after that date the books will be in the hands of an officer for settletion.

JONAS E. GNAGEY,

Having purchased the interest of Mr. Jonas.
J. Durst in the Grantsville Planing Mill f will hereafter continue the businers in 20 your name. Thanking all for past patronage. I hope to merit a continuance of the same JONAS E. GNAGEV. Grantsville, Md., May 1st, 1890.

ARE YOU IN WANT?

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware Association, (LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWAKE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OILS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAG-ONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS. BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS, EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING, (all steel frame harrows,) ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO, and BISSELL-& CO, STOVIES and RANGES, STRICKLER, HAY CARRIERS. Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known in Garrett County, will call on every farmer and solicit orders for anything they wish in

Yours, respectfully, FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manages.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday hights of each month. ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in same Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each The Y. M. C. A. of Oakland meets in the same Hall Friday night of each week and Sunday afternoon.

SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night.

PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H, meets in same Hall ist and 3d Thursday nights of each month. GARRETT LODGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wed-nesday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

-Corn meal $1.10 per 100 pounds at Shartzer's.

a large force of hands.

-Mr. Daniel Chisholm has rented his cottage for the season. -Shartzer's sugar king is wild and sells granulated sugar at 7c.

-Rev. Henry P. Hamill and wife were in Oakland this week. -Don't fail to see the Red, White

Son's. It will pay you. -WANTED - A good cook and housekeeper. Four in family. No children. Apply at Garthright's store. -Just received at Dayis & Son's, another car of Orchilla Guano, and Silver Gray Fertilizer, suitable for buck wheat and Corn. Kingwood Journal, was in Oakland over Sunday. Ben. expects to scon permanently locate in Oakland. -Mr. Daniel Chisholm, of Oak. land, attended the Wellington banquet at Cumberland, Wednesday night of last week.

-We have made arrangements to handle the Champion Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New Mower on hand.

DAVIS & SON. -We make special drives on water kinds in season. The cheapest place in Oakland for same.

FELTY & CO. Rail Road St.

-Mr. F. A. Thayer now occupies his handsome new cottage on third just published, which should be in reflects credit upon their workmanship.

-Died, at Keystone Mine, Pa., June 14th, 1890, Joshua Recknor, aged 15 years and 3 months. He was burried at Mt. Zion M. E. church near Shade Mills. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Evans, of Salisbury, Pa.

-Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and Melons at headquarters. You will always find there the best and cheapest. They receive fresh supplies from the gardens every morning. Don't forget the place,-on Railroad street, at Felty & Co.'s.

-The Carter house is about completed, and will be occupied by Mrs. Dr. Carter and family, of Philadelphia, Pa., in a few days. This is one of the most substantial dwellings in Oakland, and while its out-side appearance is not so striking, it is very handsomely finished within. Capt. J. M. Jarboe was the builder and was his own architect.

-Miss Jennie Johnson left for her home at Oakland last Saturday. tain to strengthen the intellect, purify Miss Johnson was one of the many the morals, ennoble character, awakcharming commencement visitors en the heedless, save the fallen, enwho added greatly to the several so- courage the struggling, fortify the cial events of the week by her pres- weak, cheer the faithful, promote ence and accomplishments. She pos- temperance, stimulate the discouragsesses an amiable disposition, refined ed, guide the anxious, solace the aged manners, cultivated intellect and and comfort the mourner. beauty of face and figure, and has gained for herself a large circle of friends in Morgantown .- Morgantown Dominion.

-Died, June 15th, 1890, at her near the church. A husband and John W. Avirett. five children she leaves behind. Not only was she beloved by her own family, but was held in high esteem by all who knew her. But our loss is her eternal gain. "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of from all stations on its lines east of his saints."

-Garthright has just received nice and cheap black and white sattines, tines, at 16c., worth 25c.; 17 yards return passage until July 7th, inbest prints for $1.00; 17 yards best clusive. check ginghams, $1.00; 16 yards of prime muslin, $1.00 Fresh and sweet roll butter wanted. Highest cash price paid for fresh eggs. Green Oakland. Castle grain cradles sold cheap.

-Twenty-four ready-made summer suits at cost, at Shartzer's.

hotels Saturday. -Rev. Josiah Beeghley, of Engle's Mills, paid our office a pleasant call this week. -Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rakes should see them before buying. -Rev. Shearer, pastor of the Luth. month's vacation in Oakland.

-While Mr. Stephens was at work was overcome with the heat, and is -The streets are being worked by not yet able to leave his house. -Oakland Lodge I. O. O. F., has > the Fourth of July at Terra Alta, week's sojourn at the shore. given by the Terra Alta Lodge. -On Tuesday, while Wm. Broderick was on the upper floor of his 1890. We give below a list of sta- to Oakland. The object of their trip fell to the floor below, sustaining and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis & severe injuries. A physician was called and done what he could for the injured man. -Mr. Arthur Townshend and Miss Susie Hamill were married in the M. E. Church Wednesday evening, by Rev. Henry P. Hamill, brother of the bride. The church was hand. somely decorated with evergreens and flowers. A large number were unable to gain access to the church, -Mr. Ben, Sincell, foreman of the owing to the large crowd present.

Church Services -- Sunday.

M. E. Church-Preaching at 101 A M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. C. E. Clark. at 7 P. M., by Rev. J. A. Dunlap. Deer Park 101 A. M., by Rev. J.A. Dunlap.

St. Mathew's Church-Preaching every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. S. Hipkins, Rector in charge,

St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching melons and cantelopes. Fruits of all every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M., except the second Sunday of each

"The Road to Heaven."

The above is the title of a book drawn from Religion, Science, Art, Philosophy, History, Literature and Tradition, are embellished with every grace. Its morality will recommend it into every household, for it furnishes the splendid frame work of nobility of character and with marvelous wisdom reveals the true man. hood and womanhood, divested of all sham and deceit. No one will be in danger of intellectual dyspepsia en," for lovely anecdotes and vivid descriptions are woven with precious truths and ripe experiences, on every page. The Anecdotes, fresh, thrilling and delightful, bring out the Author's meaning most beautifully, and are scattered throughout the book, like pearls on a royal robe. In fact, the entire book is a wonder of value and interest, such as was never seen before. While the Book is sparkling and brilliant, it is also fascinating as fiction. Its teachings so beautifully brought forward, are cer-

C. A. Combs, Agent, Mt. Lake Park, Md.

A Banquet to Mr. Wellington.

A banquet was tendered Mr. home in Frostburg district, Eliza, George L. Wellington, the newly apwife of Aaron Wilhelm, aged 58 pointed sub-treasurer of Baltimore, Bob, who is highly esteemed, will years, 8 months and 10 days. Mrs. at the Queen City Hotel Cumberland, Wilhelm was ill for some months. Wednesday night of last week, by a She bore her sickness with patience number of his friends, irrespective of and a christian fortitude. Forty party. The tables were set in the years had she served her Lord in east parlor of the hotel and covers the militant church. She was a were laid for seventy. Colonel George member of the Greenville Reformed A. Pearre was master of cermonies. congregation, in Greenville town- Toasts were responded to by Messrs. ship, Pa. The juneral services were H. W. Hoffman, William Walsh, panied by W. D. Hoye. They arconducted by Rev. Evans, of Salis- Mayor McKaig, Lloyd Lowndes, bury, Pa., in Greenville Reformed Collector Marine, of Baltimore; Senchurch, and amidst a large concourse ator Edward Stake, of Hagerstown, of neighbors and friends her remains C. J. Orrick, David W. Sloan, B. A. were laid to rest in the grave yard Richmond, R. W. McMichael and

Fourth of July Excursions.

The Baltimore and Ohio R, R. Co. will sell excursion tickets to and the Ohio River at reduced rate on account of the National Holiday. Excursion tickets will be sold for all trains July 3rd and 4th, valid for

For Sale or Lease. Lots binding on East LINES of

MRS. E. A. KILBOURN, 6 28 4t. Jessup's A. A. Co., Md. Spend Your Fourth at Atlantic City.

The announcement that the B. & -Prof. Jungnickel's orchestra will O. R. R. Co, have resumed their se- Fourth. be at the Oakland and Deer Park lect excursions to the most popular of our seashore resorts will be hailed the shape of building. with delight by the public, who appreciate the advantages offered in nessed the most sudden and rapid limit and the privilege of their best Youghiogheny; within the short bleaching from Saturday's and Suntrain service running on regular space of three hours the waters in- day's rain. schedule, composed of fast express creased from three to eleven feet, pertrains, elegant day coaches, Pull- pendicular height, and trespassed beman's best equipment and Vestibule | youd the limits of its banks. There eran church, Grafton, is spending a Limited Express trains are among were neither cloud-bursts nor rain the advantages afforded by the B. showers here of any consequence. & O., and the stop-off at Washington Evidently the out-burst originated on the hotel grounds, Tuesday, he on the return trip will allow the near the head waters of the Yough. sightseer an opportunity to take in the Capital before returning home, 27th. They will be conveyed by work-shop, on East Oak street, he tions showing the time of trains and is not merely to rusticate, but to deround trip rates of fare:

> Correspondingly low rates are made from other stations on the line.

> from day of sale, with the privilege of a stop-off at Washington, D. C. on the return journey.

> > Pompeitan Fete.

Baltimore has in the past presented summer attractions which have made the city very popular and drawn Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching thither very many people from this demonstrating the town's enterprise $1.150 per month. We have reasons and liberality!

eclipse all previous offorts in the shape of a spectacle, as the Pompeijar Fete is unquestionably to the bigget out-door event ever attempted there.

The most extensive preparations where a space upward of six hundred feet each way has been enclosed and street. Messrs. Spedden & Bolden every home. One of the remarkable of seating more than for the purpose of draughting plans were the contractors, and the cottage features of "The Road to Heaven" is twelves the contractors. twelve thousand people. A real lake book is written. Its facts which are over three hundred feet long and a hundred and twenty feet wide is being excavated, while the representation of the ancient City of Pompeii will exceed in dimensions the largest blocks of buildings in Baltimore. Everything will be upon the very largest scale, the number of people taking active part in the rendition reaching nearly four hundred. The fete will commence on the evenings of July 2nd and 4th, and from reading "The Road to Heav- continue thereafter every Tuesday, ings. Thursday and Saturday evenings, until August 5th. The B. & O., with Its characteristic liberality in the way of affording our people every opportunity of witnessing the splendid things Baltimore gets up every summer, will put on tickets at the very lew rate of one fare for the round trip at all stations west of and including Wilmington, Delaware, and east of and including Oakland, Md., and Staunton, Va. Information concerning definite days of sale and limit for return, etc., etc., will be furnished by B. & O. Ticket Agents.

Gorman. The heaviest rain of the season occurred last Saturday, causing considerable damage to gardens, fences. &c. bridge gave much uneasiness to those living in the lower part of the town. D. O. Perrin is erecting a dwelling house on Main street, to be occupied by J. E. Aronhalt. E. Poling, opposite the Depot, offers his stock of goods for sale, and soon leave us. A protracted meeting held by M. E. Church South has been in progress for more than a week, but will probably close to-night. Rev. Geo. H. Nock was in town a short time since and gave us a splendid lecture. He was accom- last. No damage. ranged to hold an Institute here the 28th and 29th, which is anxiously awaited by the good people of Gorman and vicinity.

A big day is expected here the 4th. The committee is making extensive preparations, and of course good order will prevail. Why not?

High Water.

The heaviest rain storm for years photographing and tin-typing. Give visited this section Saturday. A me a call. heavy rain began to fall early in the morning and continued up to noon, when their was a regular "pour" for about an hour. The streets were fred Lohr's, in Dist. No. 1, on or overflowed, and Factory Run, which about May 20, 1890, five two-year-old passes through the centre of town, heifers and two 2-year-old steers. An safe, stylish, sound, sure footed, a was higher than ever known before. under bit out of each ear. Any one last walker, and easy tretter, weigh-Second street was flooded for a hun-knowing anything of the above will ing 1100 pounds. From 6 to 7 years dred yards. Gardens and grain fields please communicate with were damaged, but the heaviest loss was on county roads and bridges.

Friendsville,

A Sunday School pic nic on the Improvements still continue in

On last Saturday evening we wit- here last Sunday evening.

The B. & O. R. R. and C. & O. R. the points of interest in and about R. fficials are expected here on the tinger, for $142. been invited to attend a pic-nic on and form a fitting termination to a special ar to Manor Lands, where through this section. ample provisions at the Club House The first of these select excursions will be made for their comfort. On Daniel Brenneman's house on Manais announced for Thursday, July 3d, Saturday following they will drive dier Ridge, last week. terminethe advisability of extending the C. do. R. R. to Oakland.

> Mr. V. Lee Coddington, we are glad to note, has lately accepted a possible the hardware business with T. Shipley, of Meyersdale, Pa, His first visit here in the sale of farm implements, though late in the The tickets are good for ten days Lees a good talker, a fine salesman seasor, was crowned with success. and a gentleman, and as he is represening a first class house, we not ony wish, but expect his efforts to becrowned with success.

> > The Friendsville Cornet Band, undr the instruction and leadership of .. Irven Beals, is making rapid prog-

Since the appointment of Mr. Beals are being made at Pompetian Pak State, are being made. Mr. Whet- rived it was so satisfactory that Rustone will go to Pittsburgh soon to dolph Yoder also gave his order to meet the Company in session there, Mr. Gnagey. bersof the Company are not only menof ability financially, but of experince as well, and when Mr. Whastone returns from Kentucky, whiher he goes as consulting engi neerupon a railroad there, he will stale out the works and begin operation. Three of the stockholders, M.J. J. Hoblitzell, Mr. J. M. Porter and P. J. Porter, were here last week and expressed themselves as > pects, location and general surround-Swanton being well pleased with the pros-

Daniel Beckman, Esq., one of the eading merchants of Elk Garden, ccompanied by his wife and sisterin-law, Miss Nethkin, were visiting relatives in this neighborhood Saturday and Sunday. The Fourth of July is coming and Swanton will have two pic-nics. There will be a dancing pic-nic near Truman Mosser's and a Sunday-School pic-nic in J. F. Friend's Grove, west of J. F. Friend's house. The Sunday Schools of the neighborhood and everybody else are cordially invited to come and have a good time. The committee is arranging to make it a pleasant day. Both Sunday Schools of Swanton and other schools will be there, and every-The jam against the Hoffman body is invited to come and bring their baskets and have a nice time, Mr.J. F. and master Charlie Friend were on a business trip to Elk Garden last week.

Mr. Thos. McRobie, one of our most enterprising farmers, raised his new barn last week. The size of the barn is 40x80 feet.

Masters Eugene and Landsdale West were in Bloomington last week visiting friends.

Mrs. Truman Mosser, who has been ill for some time, is, we are glad to hear, getting better. Very heavy rain here on Saturday

India Ink and Crayon at Pritchard's Gallery.

Not that I do that kind of work. It has never been done in Oakland, returned home last Monday. but have made arrangements with the United States, and can furnish ard. that line of work as cheap as can be had direct from the firm. I am prepared to do the common enlarging,

6 28 3t.

Strayed. From the Mountain range near Al-

JACOB GNAGEY. Grantsville, Md. Grantsville.

Weather is warm and sultry today (Monday.) Thermometer up to eighty-five in the shade,

Not much hay has been made yet, these trips. The low rates, long time rise of water in the history of the That which was cut received a

Will Stotler was in town on Monday last. Phillip Hay purchased a young horse of Aaron Beachy for $150. Louis Winterberg, of Meyersdale, was in town over Sunday.

Daniel S. Beachy bought a mare and colt of Geo. Beeghly, near Bit-

Wegmen and Kurtz were painting

A feather renovating company are at present located in Mellinger Hall, where they have their feather renovating machine, and the men stop at the Mellinger House.

The agent of the Deering Harvester was in this section last week setting up machines. A. L. Gnagey took a trip to Meyersdale to-day (Monday).

Jacob S. Miller has nearly completed his fish dam. Hershberger and Folk moved their saw mill from Mr. Lininger's- has been just put in the walk across where they had been sawing this the glade to the depct, eight feet spring-to D. D. Hershberger's. M. D. Yoder bought a buggy of A. L. Gnagey. Mr. Gnagey while on his western tour visited a buggy manufacturing company for the pur- her bringing his new bride. pose of engaging some buggies, but Displays, Exposition, and the like to the C. & O. Agency the freight rehave been strong cards in the way of ceipts have increased from $200 to getting "wind" of his intention, vis- excellent. The pupils acquitted themited the same firm before Mr. Gna- selves nobly, and the friends and to believe that business will still gey, and induced them to promise patrons were gratified and highly This summer however the city is to grow better, through the untiring efforts of chief engineer, Mr. J. J. else in this country but to the certain large patronage, as the teaching and Whetstone, who has been instru- individual who had sold them be- training are of the highest grade. mental in organizing a Fire Brick fore at Meyersdale, but the namesake Company here, and preparations to of "Honest Abe" wasn't to be daunterect the finest and best equipped ed by this, and bought from another Fire Brick Works in the United firm, Result-when the buggy ar-

Accident.

The German communion of the General Synod Lutheran Church at large and well attended. Miss Jennie Lohr, her sister Lillie, and Mr. Wade Lohr, of the Forks, stock is still complete. spent Sunday in Accident, Mrs. Dr. E. H. Glotfelty had a new springhouse built. Mr. Eli McMillen was the architect. Mr. Phillip Miller, living on the Weller farm, on Keyser's ridge, died on the 17th, and was buried in the Lutheran cemetery in the Cove on the 19th. Rev. F. Brand, of Braddock, Pa., officiated, Mr. Adam Sell, census enumerator of Accident district, was circulating through our town on last Tuesday for the purpose of taking the census of our village.

Mr, Charles Hoffman, eldest son of John Hoffman, of our village, was married to Miss Miece, of East Salisbury, Pa., and brought his bride to Accident on Saturday evening to spend Sunday with his parents. The boys gave him and his bride a serenading on Saturday night. Mr. Hoffman works in the vicinity of Salisbury, and returned again to his place of labor. The wheat is looking finely in the vicinity of Accident, and there is prospect for a good crop.

Quite a rain-storm passed over Accident and community Sunday eve-

Mr. G. F. Englehart, of our town, is still working at the new Catholic church near Johnstown. He is architect and expects to finish in two or three weeks.

Dobbin.

Mr. and Mrs. Glotfelty, of Accident, spent a few days with their daughter Mrs. Furguson, this week. Gen. Pumphrey and wife, who have been visiting at Mr. A. Clement's, returned to their home in Kenton, Ohio, last Wednesday.

Mrs. Wm. Chase of Gambier, Ohio, who has been visiting her parents (Mr. Rumbargers) for several weeks'

Mr. Stingley Clark, of Red Oak, one of the largest copying houses in spent Sunday with friends in Bay-Miss Buskirk, of Gosport, Ind., is visiting friends in Dobbin. Mr. Frank Ford, of this place has gone on a business trip to Gosport, Indiana,

Dr. Humbleshime, of Cumberland, was in town to-day.

Wanted to Purchase for Cash. A good saddle horse. Must be old. Bay or Sorrel preferred. W. McC. BROWN.

Near Fort Pendleton, Md.

Trespass Notice.

1

Notice is hereby given warning all persons not to trespass upon my farm either for the purpose of fishing, A heavy rain-storm passed through hunting or for any other purpose.

5 10 St NIMROD GLOTFELTY.

Trespass Notice.

All persons are hereby warned not to trespass upon my premises, known as the brick-yard or slaughter-house lot, adjoining Oakland, for any purpose whatever.

A. NELSON.

List of Letters List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Gar-The chicken-pox is sojourning rett county, Md., for week ending June 28, 1890 :

Cutter, Master Gifford, Marrow, J. W Crittenden, Gen Thos, Myers, W. D., Davis, Mrs. Rebecca., Parsons, J. C., Hosley, Lieut, H. H., Pumphrey, J. Hanill, G. N., Mansfield, Patrick,

Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

Mt. Lake Park. Mr. Frank Waldo and family, of Cincinnati, occupy for the season the Blake cottage, Dr. J. B. Van Meter his own on Wednesday of this week, and Mr. Cecil on Tuesday. Quite a section of new board walk wide, and other parts rebuilt and greatly improved, Mrs. Herring arrived last week. Her son, Frank Springer, came with

The closing servises at Briarbend Seminary last Wednesday were most Parasols and Sun Umbrellas. We have just opened an elegant line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell them 40 per cent less than they can be bought elsewhere, as we bought them after a big fire, Silk Mits 15c per pair. Just the hing for summer wear

Be sure and see our 45c Corset. We can offer the best bargains in Accident on last Sunday, was quite Hats. Flowers, and all Millinery Goods.

> You should come at once while our All the best and most desirable shapes in Hats. Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced from 75c.

M. L. SCOTT. Baltimore Store,

Oakland, Md. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK OAKLAND, MARYLAND,

D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier. A General Banking business transacted. 43 Prompt attention to collections, 1 12 '89.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes all Hard, Soft or Calloused Lumps and Blemisbes from Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring-bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted the most won-derful Blemish Cure ever known. ITCH, MANGE, AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

COUNTY TREASURER'S NOTICE.

To the Tax-Payers of Garrett County. Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts in said County, to collect and receive taxes at the times and places following:

Grantsville, No. 3, July 14th. Bittinger, No. 12, July 15th, Accident, No. 5, July 16th Selbysport, No. 2, July 17th. McHenry, No. 6, July 18th. Gregg's Mill, No. 11, July 21st. Johnson's, No. 9, July 22d. Bloomington, No. 4, July 15th. Swanton, No. 1, July 16th. Deer Park, No. 10, July 17th, Gorman, No. 8, Suly 18th.

N. B. Office in Oakland will be closed July oth to isth, inclusive.

By an Act of the General Assembly of Ma-By an Act of the General Assembly of may yland passed at its January Session, 1890, all County Taxes shall be due and payable on the stof September succeeding the date of levy, and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent, shall be allowed, but this discount shall not be allowed. o any person or corporate institution unless ne whole amount of State and County taxes

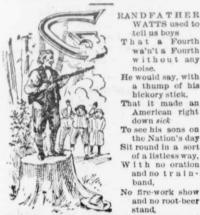

J. F. LEWIS,

-MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle han can be bought any where else in the

than can be bought an State for the same price. J. F. LEWIS. 3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va

> CARPENTER AND BUILDER. East End Oak St., Oakland, Md.

wa'n't a Fourth without any The Fle thump of his That it made an down sick

tell us boys

the Nation's day Sit round in a sort of a listless way, and no trainband. and no root-beer stand, grandsons, before they were out of Were ashamed-great Scott!-to fire off squibs.

And so each Independence morn Grandfather Watts took his powder-horn, And the flint-lock shotgun his father had When he fought undr Schuyler, a country lad. And Grandfather Watts would start and tramp Ten miles to the woods at Beaver Camp; For Grandfather Watts used to say—and

That a decent chinmunk or woodchuck or owl Was better company, friendly or shy,
Than folks who didn't keep Fourth of July.
And so he would pull his hat down on his And march for the woods, sou'east by sou'.

But once-ah! long, long years ago:

But once—an: long, long years ago;
For grandfather's gone where good men go—
One hot, hot Fourth, by ways of our own,
Such short-cuts as boys have always known,
We hurried and followed the dear old man
Beyond where the wilderness began,
To the deep black wooks at the foot of the And there was a clearing and a stump-

A stump in the heart of a great wide wood; And there on that stump our grandfather stood. Talking and shouting out there in the sun, And firing that funny old fiint-lock gun Once in a minute, his head all bare, Having his Fourth of July out there—

The Fourth of July he used to know Back in eighteen-and-twenty or so. First, with his face to the heaven's blue. He read the "Declaration" through; And then, with gestures to the left and right, He made an oration erudite. Full of words six syllables long:

And then our grandfather broke into song, And scaring the squirrels in the trees, Gave "Hail, Columbia!" to the breeze. And I tell you, the old man never heard When we joined in the chorus, word for word! But he sang out strong to the bright blue sky. And if voices joined in his Fourth of July, He heard them as echoes from days gone by

And when he had done, we all slipped back As still as we came, on our twisting track; While words more clear than the flint-leck Rang in our ears.

And Grandfather Watts! He shouldered the gun his father bore.

And marched off home, nor west by nor.

-H. C. Bunner, in Harper's Young People.

THE SHAM BATTLE.

A Fourth of July Hero Who Won One Victory at Least.

HE boys in the Springfield Milthree men walk drum. All Knyphausen. they wanted to make them hanstreet to march line of spectators to gaze upon them. There had been no processions in the town for six months, and they determined that on the Fourth of July they would have pearance-Herbert upon a spirited black

As it is a Revolutionary town, Springfield is all alive whenever the Fourth their armies in their march to Academy of July arrives. It hangs a flag from Green, where the school principal, Mr. the spire of a church and rings the vil- Dinwiddie, made a speech and astonishlage bells. The town folk talk of their ed the town by his eloquence. He told "independence," and spend money for of the battle that had been fought and fire-works. On the "Fourth" of which won in Springfield in the year 1780, and I write it was decided that the day how the stout hearts of the Jerseymen should have an unusual celebration, and, were shaken when they discovered that to their delight, the boys in the military they had no more wadding for their guns. academy were to be the principal actors | There was an American minister in the in the affair. They were to have a thickest of the battle, named James sham battle on the Revolutionary bat- Caldwell. He was a great soldier as tle-ground, and to beat the English over | well as a great preacher, and was called again. Half of their number were to the "Rebel High Priest." His wife had dress as the American soldiers dressed, been shot by a Hessian soldier, and one hundred years ago, and half were the terrible news was brought to him to wear such uniforms as were worn by while the battle was in progress, and at the Hessian yagers of that period. .

In the year 1780 the American army at Springfield was commanded by Gen- this good man did not stop one momen eral Greene, and the British army by a to vent his grief when the dreadful Hessian General named Knyphausen. It was decided that two he uttered one lament. A poem, by boys on horseback should impersonate Bret Harte, told exactly what he did: these great officers.

Of course all of the boys wanted to be American soldiers, and not one was willing to put on a red coat and call himself a Hessian. It became necessary to call the teachers in to settle this difficulty, and they wrote the words "American" and "British" upon a great many slips of paper, turned them face downward in a box and invited each boy to draw one. Every one who drew an "American" ticket went into the Jersey regiment, and every one who drew : "British" sicket joined the Hessians. own defeat. They did not know that a Then the teachers decided that Barry heoric preacher and the peculiar merit Cartwright and Herbert Fleming should act as Generals. Both boys could ride, them! and they knew more of military maneuvers than any other boys in the academy. Each of these two boys was then the sham battle began. fourteen years old, and it was astonishing how much information they had obtained the details of that bloodless war. I about artillery, cavalry, infantry, gun- would tell you how the scouts came out nery, etc. They seemed to know just to discover what the enemy was doing. how to attack an enemy, how to rout I would tell exactly how both armies him and all about it. Barry had drawn advanced and retreated. I would tell an "American" ticket and Herbert a how the old cannon boomed away on "British" one; therefore Barry was en- the hill, and how the rifles were loaded titled to represent General Greene and and reloaded with harmless blank cart-Herbert was expected to impersonate ridges. I would tell you all about the the Baron Knyphausen. Unfortunately real smoke, the real racket and the real for the day's pleasure, Herbert declined enthusiasm that accompanied this pre to act as British General, and declared tended battle. But I am no soldier that he wanted to command the Ameri- and therefore I could never do the subcans. He said that Barry had only lived ject justice. in Springfield for one year and was therefore not entitled to the highest of- Generals were anhappy, and this proves celebrates their work.

fice the town afforded. Herbert said that greatness does not always bring that he didn't care to stand up and be RANDFATHER beaten, even in play. He swelled him-WATTS used to self out and strutted and swaggered and thinking bitter thoughts about him. considerably over his own fancied im- Herbert's uniform was very handsome

The Flemings were prominent people | a little warrior. Why, he actually wore in Springfield, and when Herbert's fa-He would say, with ther learned that his son wished to play the part of General Greene in the sham battle he sent word to the teachers of the academy that Herbert's wish must sorrel after that. be granted or he would no longer patronize the school.

Barry Cartwright had been in an ec- conscience made him uncomfortable. He stacy of delight when he realized that knew that he had been selfish, and he With no oration he was to lead the American army on to was certain that Barry despised him. victory. He had fancied himself riding This thought made him so miserable his father's horse into battle, and had that he would gladly have changed imagined that staid old animal trans- places with him now if it had been posformed into a gallant charger, seething sible. Now that their uniforms were on with foam, and prancing to martial mu- | and the battle begun it was too late. sic! He had fancied himself, with sword at his side, shouting his commands in warrior-like tashion. He was a poor boy. His father had lost an arm while fighting for his country, and had to work hard to support and educate his black mare was struck by the wad of a family. Barry had been obliged to wear | blank cartridge and ran away. She had a suit of clothes that had been awkwardly remodeled from his father's old uni-Herbert Fleming had once ridiculed the cut of these garments, and Barry had been stung by the ridicule. I down the road at a pace that briffed am afraid that he had cherished a beholders. The boy and the apimal grudge against Herbert ever since.

THE MARCH TO ACADEMY GREEN.

When he discovered that he was to be the hero of the sham-battle he took considerable satisfaction in thinking that Herbert would greatly like to be in his thoes on that occasion.

Poor Barry was not to realize his trimph, after all. The teachers in the military academy did not dare offend Mr. Fleming, and they decided that Herbert should be given the coveted generalship. Barry was told that he oust command the Hessians!

Nobody knew what his disappointent was. Nobody knew how he shut himself into his room and fought a battle with his ugly feelings toward his schoolfellow and with his own disappointment. The boy's pride was wounded, and he felt that he had been defrauded. He had taken his chances with the itary Academy other boys, and had honestly drawn the fond of ticket that entitied him to the favorite processions. generalship. Why should he be forced to give it up? He would have refused declared that to take any part in the sham battle if it they would run had not been for his father. Barry did not want him to share his disappointment. He said nothing about the affair, behind a fife and and consented to represent the Baron

It was a bright spectacle-that little parade that marched through Springpy was a band | field on the Fourth of July. The wome of music, a broad folk had taken an interest in the affair and had made the boys' uniforms. The through, and a band played, and, dear me, what an impartial band it was! It played "Yankee Doodle" and "God Save the Queen" with equal enthusiasm.

The two generals made a gallant apmare and Barry upon his father's sedate old sorrel. The two officers preceded thestime that the want of wadding was discovered. Mr. Dinwiddie said that Baron news arrived. He did his duty before

They were left in the lurch For the want of more wadding. He ran to the

Broke the door, stripped the pews, and dashed out in the road With his arms full of hymn-books, and threw down his load At their feet: Then, above all the shouting and shots

Rong his voice: 'Put Watts into 'em-Boys, give 'em Watts!"

And they did! Mr. Dinwiddie declared that the British army was driven out of Springfield, thoroughly demoralized and thoroughly astonished at their Watts' hymns had conquered in Dr.

When the oration was concluded the band played "Hail to the Chief," and think we will like each other better aft-Were I a soldier I would give you all

On the occasion of which I write both of the same privileges on the day that MISCELLANEOUS.

contentment. The Baron Knyphausen

spurs, and when he pricked the beautiful animal she curveted and pranced in true martial fashion. Poor Barry could not feel satisfied with the patient old

Herbert was secretly conscious that he had treated Barry unfairly, and his

The battle proceeded. The twoarmies had advanced simultaneously and both officers had given the command to

"Fire!" when something occurred that was not upon the programme. The never heard the din of war untilto-day, and she ran like a mad thing awy from the smoke and the uproar. She bok the bridle-bit between her teeth and ran

were enveloped in a cloud of dus, but it

dle had slipped around and hung on er

side. The boy had lost the bridle-rea, and was clinging to her mane. He wa crying out for help and momentarily ea

sorrel across the fields, urging him to ump ditches and fences, and thus take effort and traveled faster than it had and was dragged from his saddle. The mare tried to shake him off, but he set forehead swelling almost to bursing,

she slackened but did not cease un-ning. She was furious at his fer-and tried to strike him with her front hoofs. She even tried to bite him, but he held on with wonderful courage and

Barry Cartwright was the hero of the day, after all. He was a somewhat damaged hero, for his shoulder was dislo-

cated, and his hands were terribly

bruised; but then a warrior must expect some bodily injuries. The boys flocked

THE OLD HORSE MADE A MIGHTY EFFORT.

about him and praised him until he was overwhelmed by his sudden popularity.

The teachers called him a hero, and that confused him all the more. Then that he scarcely knew the proud man in

The battle was never finished. The Baron Knyphausen couldn't fight, and there wasn't a soldier in Springfield who would have been willing to stand

Herbert went home with Barry, and staid with him all the rest of the day.

Barry," he said, "I've felt like a thief,

for I stole your generalship! I've been awfully miserable about it. I saw how mean I had been, and I knew you must despise me. And you saved my life!

You'll never want me near you, and yet

I'd be proud if you could only let me be

Barry held out both of his hands and smiled. "The war is over," he said, "and

And peace was declared .- Frances B.

"MERCY me! what is that noise?"

cried old Mrs. Bensel, as a huge cracker exploded beneath her window. "I don't know," said the innocent son and heir,

"unless it was sister Mary's bang you

OUR fathers fought, bled and died, and it's a pity if the boys can't have some who was responsible for the explosion

Currie, in N. Y. Observer.

heard."—Harper's Bazar.

up against him, even in play.

Mr. Fleming thanked him so fervently his sudden humility.

or this.'

safe! Then he fainted away.

She reared on her hind feet, cting to be dashed under her feet.

-A crowbar 100 years old is just as found himself envying General Greene pry as it ever was. -A tree recently felled in Oregon was 120 feet long, while the butt measured and be rode the spirited black mare like only one foot through.

-Broiled Sausages: Make the sausage into quite thin cakes with the hands, lay them on a gridiron, and broil them over a hot fire. -The Salt Lake Herald says marked result of Mormon rule is that that city of 50,000 had no debt and the smallest tax rate of any city in the United States-five mills a year. -It is believed by many that the seal fisheries of our northwest coast must be given up, and the seals destroyed on account of the injury that the seals do to salmon fisheries, now growing every year more valuable. -A little girl who is given to imitate her elders in words and ways, drew herself up in a dignified manner at breakfast recently, and said to her eider brothers and sisters: "Children, if you please, we will suspense with that perdiculous noise."

-Chipinone-"Who is that lordly get it or bust a lung. looking man on the other side of the aisle?" Ukerdek-"That is a newspaper man." "Why does he put on so much style and seem so haughty?" "He is a young one, and is riding on his first railroad pass."-Inter Ocean.

back. The battle was forgotten. Soldiers and spectators ran forward and -According to an interviewer, Carlyle surpassed himself when first introduced to Dr. Joachim. Shaking hands gentleman's name, nor to ask the occa-with the great violinist the sage obshouted, but the black mare only an served that he "hadn't a great opinion the faster. Now she stumbled and of musicians-they seemed such a vain, nearly fell; now she regained her Notvind-baggy sort of people.' ing and tore away again; now her ad-

-Seven of the supposed-to-be sharpest and wisest lawyers in the country have made wills, passed away, and the said wills have been broken all to flinders by heirs and other lawyers. An Barry Cartwright tried to save hi ignorant Missouri farmer wrote his will chool-fellow. For days he had been in four lines on a slate, and it stood set out to hunt up Prof. Monekton, who narboring angry feelings against three lawsuits and ten lawyers. -The most expensive thermo Herbert Fleming, but now they were forgotten. Almost as soon as the black in this country is in use at the Johns seemed to understand the situation. Valued at $10,000. It is an absolutely Barry knew that he could never over- perfect instrument, and the graduations skipped the town. He had seen us gotake the fleet black mare, but that he m the glass are so fine that it is neces- ing out to look up his tracks, and had must try to head her off. He rode the ary to use a microscope to read them. at once bolted into the sage-brush. -A farmer in the vicinity of St. louis, Mich., sent his wife to market shorter route than the mare was tak- and he went into the fields to plow. ing. The old horse made a mighty About noon the good wife returned and explained to her husband that it was

Sunday. Neither had remembered the gone for years. Every one shouted to Barry to come back, that he would be day of the week until Mrs. Goff found killed, but he heeded no warning. His St. Louis people going to church. father prayed for him and was proud of -Every time General Butler is asked for his opinion regarding the proper in-When Barry reached the road it was | vestment for an enterprising young man, at a point in advance of the black mare. he says that "rent-paying real estate" Herbert was clinging to her back, and is the safest investment in the world. she came on, frothing at the mouth and He always adds that no man who ex-her bridle as she tried to rush jast, to be mean about money matters. -The Young Man (rapturously)-"And now, Flossie, it only remains for his teeth and hung on, the veins it his you to name the happy day. Please make it soon, very soon, darling." The Young and his head swimming until he cold Woman (in the kitchen a few moments not see. His feet did not touch the later)-"Bridget, would it interfere with day evening?" -Lottery tickets seem to be very plentiful in Louisiana just now. The Southwestern Christian Advocate tells Kicker opened upon them without fear of a brother who got things so mixed or favor. They threatened us. We endurance. He realized that she was up that he presented a lottery ticket gradually becoming subdued, that she for admission to a love-feast. Professed was stopping, that his school-fellow was | Christians are coming to be among the a local paper.

-A few days ago three families of Finlanders settled on farms in the northern part of Beadle County, South Dakota. In one of the families there are nineteen children, in another seventeen and in the third nine, the parents of the last family having been married but ten years. These families will soon be joined by four others, all relatives, numbering forty-six persons, making a total of ninety-seven persons in nine families.

-A minister had traveled some distance to preach, and at the conclusion of the morning service waited for some one to invite him to dine; but the congregation dispersed without noticing him. When the house was nearly empty. the minister stepped up to a gentleman and said: "Brother, will you go home to Saloon, doesn't drop out of sight before dinner with me to-day?" "Where do you | Saturday he'll stand a prime show of a "About eighteen miles from grave in the sand pit. live?" here." "No; but you must dine with me," answered the gentleman, with a flushed face, which invitation the clergyman gravely accepted .- Argonaut.

-The president of the British Pharhaving adopted and recommended the following for the happy dispatch of poultry. A large, wide-mouthed, stoppered bottle is kept charged with an ounce of chloroform. When a chicken has received sentence of death it is held firmly under the left arm and its head slipped into the mouth of the bottle. A few deep inspirations follow, and the bird, without a struggle, becomes unconscious. Then, holding it by the legs, its neck is dislocated by a quick stretch.-Our Dumb Animals. -An intelligent dog in West Chester plays hide-and-seek with his owner, a little girl named Amy. She taught it the game, and they both, it is said, find much fun in playing it. Amy will tell the dog to remain in a certain place until she hides. She then calls and the dog starts on the search, finding Amy every time, no matter where she hides. Then the dog will wag his tail, show his tooth as though laughing, and hie away to the place originally designated for we won't have any more hard feeling. I him by Amy, while Amy hides again, only to be found in an instant afterward by the dog.

miles from New York City has recently been absent from home several months on business. Not long ago his wife received a letter from him, which she began to read aloud at the breakfast table. But she was somewhat interrupted by a young son and heir, who apparently found other things more interesting than the letter. "My child," she said in a tone of maternal rebuke, "don't used to live at our house."

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

ffice Yet But Lots of Honors Have We extract the following from the last sue of the Arizona Kicker: Nor YET .- In reply to "Anxious Inuirer," of Philadelphia, we would say that we hold no political or appointive office whatever. Right here it would be very appropriate for us to add that we want nothing of the sort, and that if the President would tender us a Cabinet position we should refuse it. We ought say so, but we don't propose to. have been ready for the last two years to take most any thing we could get our hands on in the way of an office, but the pportunity hasn't dropped on our side of the fence. While we are the editor, publisher and proprietor of a great weekly newspaper, and while we conduct a job office, newspaper, grocery, saddlery, hardware, butcher shop, millinery store, feed store and signal station under one roof, there is still an aching void. While our cotemporaries may play hypocrite and liar, we see no occasion to conceal our real feelings. We want office of some kind, and we'll

HIS HEAD IS LEVEL-Last Wednesday night, when returning home from a call at the two-story adobe of the Widow Glassfield's, and just as we were passing the ruins of old Fort Todd, we were fired upon three times in rapid succession. We didn't stop to inquire the mile of sandy road leading into town in something like five minutes. Next morning we went down to the ruins to e what we could see, and it didn't cost us three minutes' time to discover who fired those shots. There were the footprints of a bow-legged man-a man so ow-legged that no one could mistake his identity. We returned to town and has been playing an accordion in some of the first-class saloons, and who was 'gone" on the widow without our knowlmare had taken flight Barry was urging Hopkins University. It is known as the sorrel in pursuit. The old horse Prof. Bowland's thermometer, and is pocket for his private ear, but a brief search disclosed the fact that he had

TRY IT ONCE-Two month ago the postmaster of this town didn't care a cent whether our mail reached us or not, and every complaint we made was received with ill-disguised contempt. We brought matters to a climax by encouraging him to attempt to horsewhip As soon as he had struck the first blow we sailed in, and his friends say that he was the worst licked man ever heard of in Arizona. Since that date nothing is too good for us. He sends a boy over with our mail twice a day, and every one of our subscribers gets his of gas jets if necessary, while from the still in a frenzy of fear. Barry caight pects to accumulate property can afford Kicker so promptly that the paper feels tips of each rib incandescent bulbs hang,

Mem.-If your postmaster won't travel in the right bridle-path, baste him.

HAD TO BE DONE .- Six months ago this town was full of drunkards and black-legs and professional terrors. ground, and his weight was so light that any of your engagements if I should be Every one feared the crowd, and the married three weeks from next Wednes- sheriff himself got drunk so often that no help could be had from him. Where is the crowd to-day? Gone! Dug out! Disappeared! What caused it? The loaded our gun and went out and dropped Sam Barlow with a ball in the leg, winged Jim Sampson at long range strongest supporters of the lottery, says and split Tom Jackson's ear as he turned the post-office corner. We gave four of the gamblers a day to pack up in, furnished the rope that hung Jack Beavers, and it was our gun that went off when Deadwood Hank tumbled from the bridge.

Last night the representative citizens of the town tendered us a banquet and presented us with an ice pitcher as a token of their approbation. Readers may look for full report in our next issue. Thanks, gentlemen. We don't want to run the town, but we've got a sneaking notion into our head that it must be made safe for a mule to walk the length of Apache avenue day or night. Westward the star of empire takes its way, and we will say right here before we forget it, that if Charlie Thompson, bartender at the Gray Eagle

Lo, Poor FLY!-Our readers will bear witness that we refer to our contempor ary only at long intervals, and then in and which it has been suggested may the kindest manner. On the contrary, have been the axis of the ancient glahe devotes much of his space each week maceutical Conference is credited with to personal abuse of us. We have no line, that bowlders of extraordinary size quarrel with this poor old fly. We pity him. Whenever we see a man intended by nature to run a side show of wax figures taking up journalism instead, our heart goes out in sorrow. We realize thus far been recognized in this or any how he must feel. It is like a jackass rabbit trying to pass himself off as a buffalo. This poor old fly sent us word the other day to look out for ourself, as he intended to shoot us on sight. We borrowed a squirt-gun of a boy on the street, and went over to the "Lame Duck" office and stood in the door of the sanctum and squirted the poor old insect out of the window. He didn't even stop to argue the case, nor to throw a paperweight. Then we counted his subscription list, found he had 143 subscribers where he claimed 980, and went away feeling nothing but love and pity for him.-Detroit Free Press.

Cold Rolling of Wire.

A new industry which promises to beome of vast importance is the rolling of cold steel bars into wire. A few years ago wire manufacturers and metallur--Agentleman who lives not a thousand gists would have said such a thing was an impossibility; that cold rolling would destroy the fiber of the steel and render the wire so brittle as to be of no practical value. Experience, however, has proved these preconceived notions to be incorrect. The rolling of cold steel wire is now accomplished with ease, and in-stead of the wire being weakened by the process, practical tests have demonstrated that its tensile strength is nearly you wan't to hear this nice letter from papa?" "Papa, papa," was the puzzled reply, "O, yes, you mean the man who pounds .-- Chicago Economist.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Through errors in the triangulation of Hungary, the maps of Austria have peretofore made it out to be a much smaller country than it is in reality. The official maps show that it contains 3,247.12 square kilometers.

-Naval experts are of the opinion that the limit of efficiency in rapid fire ordnance is reached at'a 4-inch caliber, as above that the ammunition, which must necessarily be fixed, is too heavy to be quickly handled.

-At a late meeting of the London Zoological Society, Mr. A. D. Bartlett attempted to prove that the varieties of the domestic dogs owe their origin to wolves and jackals, the habit of barking having been acquired under the influence of domestication.

-The most striking exhibit in a collection of photographs before the Royal Meteorological society was a large number of exceptionally fine photographs of clouds and atmospheric phenomena reproducing in a most faithful manner the splendid contrast of white clouds and blue sky, to do which is so difficult a feat of photography.

-The American Metrological Society, at a recent meeting in Washington, advocated the adoption of the metric system by the Government for custom house and foreign mail service. The metric system is now used by twentyfour nations in invoicing goods for ship-ment abroad, and many of them use it for all purposes. -Scien -The excavations being pursued at Megalapolis, in the Peloponnesus, under the direction of the British School of Archæology, have resulted in some interesting discoveries. Besides uncovering the site of a Greek theater, the excavators have found in a tumulus a small cylindrical sarcophagus, containing bones and two pieces of a gold ornament similar to those discovered by Dr. Schliemann at Mycenæ and elsewhere.

-The true scientist seeks knowledge. and knowledge only, with the sole expectation of rising through nature up to nature's God and lifting mankind to a state of fuller happiness and broader enlightenment, taking no thought of individual gain. The inventor files a caveat or secures a patent and sits down in the enjoyment of wealth. The sisentist heralds his discovery and returns at once to test tube and crucible, seeking yet other secrets which bless mankind.-Galveston News.

-A novel arrangement for securing an abundance of soft light together with perfect ventilation has been installed in an opera house in Chicago. The device is, in form, similar to a large parasol, eighteen feet in diameter, the perforations in the cover permitting the escape of the vitiated atmosphere. The rod and handle are formed to permit the use giving a perfect and powerful circle of light. Another feature is the use of incandescent bulbs, arranged in a wire net, to indicate the name of the company playing.

-By a new method of cementing iron the parts cemented are so effectually joined as to resist the blows even of a sledge hammer. The cement is composed of equal parts of sulphur and white lead, with a proportion of about one-sixth of borax. When the composione-sixth of borax. tion is to be applied it is wet with strong sulphuric acid, and a thin laver of it is placed between the two pieces of ron, which are at once pressed together. In five days it will be perfectly dry, all traces of the cement having vanished. and the work having every appearance of welding.

-Modern physiologists, says a Berlin correspondent of the London Lancet. regard the pre-fontal part of the brain the seat of character and intellect. After the removal of this part in dogs and monkeys, no paralysis of any muscles or loss of sensibility occurs, but singular changes in behavior, emotions and character of the animals have been observed. They become livelier, restless, impatient, irritable, quarrelsome and violent. Their movements seem purposeless, and their attention to what is going on around them, and their intelligence, are diminished. These observations have been confirmed by similar phenomena in the case of human beings.

A GIGANTIC BOWLDER. an Evidence of Glacial Action in Southeastern Connecticut. But it is in the region to the east and west of the line of the Thames river, cier, and not very far removed from this occur most numerously; and among them is a rock which until very recently has been regarded as one of the largest, if not the very largest, bowlder that has other country. This rock-of coarse crystalline granite-is situated in the town of Montville, New London County, about six miles south of Norwich, and about a mile west of the Montville Station on the New London & Northern Railroad; and, under the Indian name of "Sheegan," has almost from the first settlement of the country been recognized as a great natural curiosity. Its position is on the edge of a gentle mound or knoll, on the northeast slope of a little valley; and its dimensions, according to recent measurements by Prof. Crosby, of the Boston Society of Natural History, are as follows; northwest side, forty-six feet; northeast, fiftyeight; southeast, forty-five; southwest, seventy. Maximum height, reckoning from the lower or down-hill side to the highest point on the upper side, approximately, sixty feet; approximate cubic ontents, seventy thousand cubic feet; approximate weight, about six thouand tons. The cavity or recess beneath the rock, which is said to have been occupied, at the time of the first settlement of the country, by a Mohegan Indian (from whom the rock undoubtedy derived its name) as a dwelling place. sufficiently capacious to admit of eing used as a place of shelter for the leds and other farm implements of the farmer proprietor. A rude ladder on the southern side of the rock affords facilities for reaching its top and ob-taining a somewhat extensive view of he surrounding country.-Hon. David A. Wells, in Popular Science Monthly able h No b sorts o a good weath under in codry, wastermy

They wet flafter make in a made ing a they floore wellcan ea glass, side, ing t close wirewith enab forta they eral when time. make chick for h

An to fee they feed-here mean mout ter-p each piece over the c roon pref and good and egreprovide also implements also implements

per the of fruit main con

tell us boys wa'n't a Fourth | portance. without any a thump of his

That it made an To see his sons on the Nation's day Sit round in a sort and no train-stand, grandsons, before they were out of Were ashamed-great Scott!-to fire off squibs.

And so each Independence morn Grandfather Watts took his powder-horn, And the flint-lock shotgun his father had When he fought undr Schuyler, a country lad. And Grandfather Watts would start and tramp Ten miles to the woods at Beaver Camp; For Grandfather Watts used to say—an

That a decent chipmunk or woodchuck or owl Was better company, friendly or shy, Than folks who didn't keep Fourth of July. And so he would pull his hat down on his And march for the woods, sou'east by sou'.

But once-ah! long, long years ago

For grandfather's gone where good men go— One hot, hot Fourth, by ways of our own, Such short-cuts as boys have always known, We hurried and followed the dear old man yond where the wilderness began, the deep black wooks at the foot of the Hump, And there was a clearing and a stump—

A stump in the heart of a great wide wood;

And there on that stump our grandfather stood, Talking and shouting out there in the sun, And firing that funny old flint-lock gun Once in a minute, his head all bare, Having his Fourth of July out there— The Fourth of July he used to know Back in eighteen-and-twenty or so.

First, with his face to the heaven's blue, He read the "Declaration" through; And then, with gestures to the left and right, He made an oration erudite, Full of words six syllables long: And then our grandfather broke into song, And searing the squirrels in the trees, Gave "Hail, Columbia!" to the breeze.

And I tell you, the old man never heard When we joined in the chorus, word for word! But he sang out strong to the bright blue sky, And if voices joined in his Fourth of July. He heard them as echoes from days gone by

And when he had done, we all slipped back, As still as we came, on our twisting track; While words more clear than the flint-lock Rang in our ears.

And Grandfather Watts? He shouldered the gun his father bore,
And marched off home, nor west by nor'.

—H. C. Bunner, in Harper's Young People.

THE SHAM BATTLE.

A Fourth of July Hero Who Won One Victory at Least.

HE boys in the itary were fond of a mile to see drum. All Knyphausen. they wanted to make them hapof music, a broad street to march line of spectators to gaze upon them. There had been no processions in the town for six with equal enthusiasm. months, and they determined that on the Fourth of July they would have

As it is a Revolutionary town, Springfield is all alive whenever the Fourth | their armies in their march to Academy of July arrives. It hangs a flag from Green, where the school principal, Mr. the spire of a church and rings the vil- Dinwiddie, made a speech and astonishlage bells. The town folk talk of their ed the town by his eloquence. He told fire-works. On the "Fourth" of which won in Springfield in the year 1780, and I write it was decided that the day how the stout hearts of the Jerseymen to their delight, the boys in the military they had no more wadding for their guns. academy were to be the principal actors | There was an American minister in the in the affair. They were to have a thickest of the battle, named James sham battle on the Revolutionary bat- Caldwell. He was a great soldier as tle-ground, and to beat the English over again. Half of their number were to the "Rebel High Priest." His wife had dress as the American soldiers dressed, been shot by a Hessian soldier, and one hundred years ago, and half were the terrible news was brought to him to wear such uniforms as were worn by while the battle was in progress, and at the Hessian yagers of that period. . In the year 1780 the American army at Springfield was commanded by Gen- this good man did not stop one moment eral Greene, and the British army by a to vent his grief when the dreadful Hessian General named boys on horseback should impersonate Bret Harte, told exactly what he did:

these great officers. Of course all of the boys wanted to be American soldiers, and not one was willing to put on a red coat and call bimself a Hessian. It became necessary to call the teachers in to settle this difficulty, and they wrote the words "American" and "British" upon a great many slips of paper, turned them face downward in a box and invited each boy to draw one. Every one who drew an clared that the British army was driven "American" ticket went into the Jersey regiment, and every one who drew a British" ticket joined the Hessians. own defeat. They did not know that a Then the teachers decided that Barry Cartwright and Herbert Fleming should in Dr. Watts' hymns had conquered act as Generals. Both boys could ride, them! and they knew more of military maneuvers than any other boys in the academy. Each of these two boys was then the sham battle began. fourteen years old, and it was astonishing how much information they had obtained the details of that bloodless war. I about artillery, cavalry, infantry, gun- would tell you how the scouts came out nery, etc. They seemed to know just to discover what the enemy was doing. attack an enemy, how to rout I would tell exactly how him and all about it. Barry had drawn advanced and retreated. I would tell an "American" ticket and Herbert a how the old cannon boomed away on "British" one; therefore Barry was en- the hill, and how the rifles were loaded titled to represent General Greene and and reloaded with harmless blank cart-Herbert was expected to impersonate ridges. I would tell you all about the the Baron Knyphausen. Unfortunately | real smoke, the real racket and the real for the day's pleasure, Herbert declined enthusiasm that accompanied this pre to get as British General, and declared tended battle. But I am no soldier that he wanted to command the Ameri- and therefore I could never do the subcans. He said that Barry had only lived | ject justice.

fice the town afforded. Herbert said that greatness does not always bring that he didn't care to stand up and be RANDFATHER beaten, even in play. He swelled himself out and strutted and swaggered and thinking bitter thoughts about him. considerably over his own fancied im-

The Flemings were prominent people in Springfield, and when Herbert's fa-He would say, with ther learned that his son wished to play the part of General Greene in the sham | true martial fashion. Poor Barry could battle he sent word to the teachers of not feel satisfied with the patient old the academy that Herbert's wish must be granted or he would no longer patronize the school.

Barry Cartwright had been in an ecstacy of delight when he realized that knew that he had been selfish, and he of a listless way,
With no oration be was to lead the American army on to victory. He had fancied himself riding This thought made him so miserable his father's horse into battle, and had that he would gladly have changed imagined that staid old animal transand no root-beer formed into a gallant charger, seething sible. Now that their uniforms were on with foam, and prancing to martial mu- | and the battle begun it was too late. sic! He had fancied himself, with sword at his side, shouting his commands in | had advanced simultaneously and both warrior-like tashion. He was a poor boy. His father had lost an arm while fighting for his country, and had to was not upon the programme work hard to support and educate his black mare was struck by the wad of a family. Barry had been obliged to wear | blank cartridge and ran away. She had a suit of clothes that had been awkward- never heard the din of war untilto-day, ly remodeled from his father's old uni-Herbert Fleming had once ridi- the smoke and the uproar. She bok the culed the cut of these garments, and Barry had been stung by the ridicule. I down the road at a pace that briffed am afraid that he had cherished a beholders. The boy and the apimal grudge against Herbert ever since.

THE MARCH TO ACADEMY GREEN.

When he discovered that he was to be the hero of the sham-battle he took considerable satisfaction in thinking that Herbert would greatly like to be in his shoes on that oocasion.

Poor Barry was not to realize his trimph, after all. The teachers in the military academy did not dare offend Mr. Fleming, and they decided that Herbert should be given the coveted generalship. Barry was told that he oust command the Hessians!

Nobody knew what his disappointent was. Nobody knew how he shut himself into his room and fought a battle with his ugly feelings toward his schoolfellow and with his own disappointment. The boy's pride was wounded, and he felt that he had been defrauded. Springfield Mil- He had taken his chances with the Academy other boys, and had honestly drawn the ticket that entitied him to the favorite processions. generalship. Why should he be forced to give it up? He would have refused declared that to take any part in the sham battle if it they would run had not been for his father. Barry did not want him to share his disappointthree men walk | ment. He said nothing about the affair, behind a fife and and consented to represent the Baron It was a bright spectacle-that little parade that marched through Springpy was a band field on the Fourth of July. The women folk had taken an interest in the affair and had made the boys' uniforms. The through, and a band played, and, dear me, what an impartial band it was! It played "Yankee Doodle" and "God Save the Queen"

The two generals made a gallant an pearance-Herbert upon a spirited black mare and Barry upon his father's sedate old sorrel. The two officers preceded "independence," and spend money for of the battle that had been fought and should have an unusual celebration, and, were shaken when they discovered that thestime that the want of wadding was discovered. Mr. Dinwiddie said that Baron news arrived. He did his duty before Knyphausen. It was decided that two he uttered one lament. A poem, by

They were left in the lurch For the want of more wadding. He ran to the Broke the door, stripped the pews, and dashed

With his arms full of hymn-books, and threw down his load At their feet: Then, above all the shouting

and shots
Rong his voice: 'Put Watts into 'em-Boys, give 'em Watts!"
And they did! Mr. Dinwiddie deout of Springfield, thoroughly demoralized and thoroughly astonished at their heoric preacher and the peculiar merit

When the oration was concluded the band played "Hail to the Chief," and smiled. "The war is over," he said, "and think we will like each other better aft-Were I a soldier I would give you all er this.' Currie, in N. Y. Observer. exploded beneath her window. "I don't who was responsible for the explosion, it's a pity if the boys can't have some in Springfield for one year and was On the occasion of which I write both of the same privileges therefore not entitled to the highest of- Generals were anhappy, and this proves celebrates their work. of the same privileges on the day that MISCELLANEOUS.

contentment. The Baron Knyphausen

found himself envying General Greene

Herbert's uniform was very handsome and he rode the spirited black mare like a little warrior. Why he actually wore

spurs, and when he pricked the beautiful animal she curveted and pranced in

Herbert was secretly conscious that conscience made him uncomfortable. He was certain that Barry despised him.

places with him now if it had been pos-

The battle proceeded. The twoarmies

"Fire!" when something occurred that

and she ran like a mad thing awy from bridle-bit between her teeth and ran

were enveloped in a cloud of dus, but it could be seen that as yet he clurk back. The battle was forgotten, Sol-diers and spectators ran forward and shouted, but the black mare only an the faster. Now she stumbled and nearly fell; now she regained her sot-ing and tore away again; now her addle had slipped around and hung on er

side. The boy had lost the bridle-rea,

and was clinging to her mane. He ws crying out for help and momentarily e

Herbert Fleming, but now they were sorrel across the fields, urging him to jump ditches and fences, and thus take shorter route than the mare was tak-one for years. Every one shouted to forehead swelling almost to bursing,

she slackened but did not cease un-ning. She was furious at hit ferference. She reared on her hind feet, vas stopping, that his school-fellow was

Barry Cartwright was the hero of the day, after all. He was a somewhat damaged hero, for his shoulder was dislo-

cated, and his hands were terribly

bruised; but then a warrior must expect

THE OLD HORSE MADE A MIGHTY EFFORT.

overwhelmed by his sudden popularity.

The teachers called him a hero, and hat confused him all the more. Then

The battle was never finished. The

there wasn't a soldier in Springfield

who would have been willing to stand

Herbert went home with Barry, and

staid with him all the rest of the day.

"Barry," he said, "I've felt like a thief,

for I stole your generalship! I've been awfully miserable about it. I saw how

mean I had been, and I knew you must

You'll never want me near you, and yet

I'd be proud if you could only let me be

Barry held out both of his hands and we won't have any more hard feeling. I

And peace was declared .- Frances B.

"MERCY me! what is that noise?"

cried old Mrs. Bensel, as a huge cracker

cnow," said the innocent son and heir,

'unless it was sister Mary's bang you

OUR fathers fought, bled and died, and

heard."-Harper's Bazar.

lifel

despise me. And you saved my up against him, even in play.

Mr. Fleming thanked him so fervently

his sudden humility.

your friend!"

ome bodily injuries. The boys flocked safe! Then he fainted away.

ecting to be dashed under her feet.

The

officers had given the command sorrel after that.

-A crowbar 100 years old is just as pry as it ever was. -A tree recently felled in Oregon was 120 feet long, while the butt measured only one foot through. -Broiled Sausages: Make the sausage into quite thin cakes with the hands, lay them on a gridiron, and broil them over a hot fire. -The Salt Lake Herald says on marked result of Mormon rule is that that city of 50,000 had no debt and the he had treated Barry unfairly, and his smallest tax rate of any city in the United States-five mills a year. -It is believed by many that the seal fisheries of our northwest coast must be given up, and the seals destroyed on account of the injury that the seals do to salmon fisheries, now growing every

year more valuable. -A little girl who is given to imitate her elders in words and ways, drew herself up in a dignified manner at breakfast recently, and said to her eider all brothers and sisters: "Children, if you please, we will suspense with that perdiculous noise."

-Chipinone-"Who is that lordly looking man on the other side of the aisle?" Ukerdek—"That is a newspa- HIS HEAD IS LEV per man." "Why does he put on so day night, when returning home from a much style and seem so haughty?" "He | call at the two-story adobe of the Widow is a young one, and is riding on his first Glassfield's, and just as we were passing railroad pass."-Inter Ocean.

-According to an interviewer, Carlyle surpassed himself when first introduced to Dr. Joachim. Shaking hands gentleman's name, nor to ask the occawith the great violinist the sage observed that he "hadn't a great opinion of musicians-they seemed such a vain, wind-baggy sort of people."

-Seven of the supposed-to-be sharpest and wisest lawyers in the country have made wills, passed away, and the said wills have been broken all to flin- prints of a bow-legged man-a man so ders by heirs and other lawyers. An Barry Cartwright tried to save hi ignorant Missouri farmer wrote his will his identity. We returned to town and chool-fellow. For days he had been in four lines on a slate, and it stood set out to hunt up Prof. Monekton, who narboring angry feelings against three lawsuits and ten lawyers. -The most expensive thermo forgotten. Almost as soon as the black in this country is in use at the Johns seemed to understand the situation. valued at $10,000. It is an absolutely Barry knew that he could never over- perfect instrument, and the graduations skipped the town. He had seen us gomust try to head her off. He rode the ary to use a microscope to read them. at once bolted into the sage-brush. -A farmer in the vicinity of St. louis, Mich., sent his wife to market and he went into the fields to plow. ing. The old horse made a mighty About noon the good wife returned and effort and traveled faster than it had explained to her husband that it was Sinday. Neither had remembered the Barry to come back, that he would be day of the week until Mrs. Goff found killed, but he heeded no warning. His St. Louis people going to church. -Every time General Butler is asked father prayed for him and was proud of for his opinion regarding the proper investment for an enterprising young man, When Barry reached the road it was he says that "rent-paying real estate" at a point in advance of the black mare. Herbert was clinging to her back, and is the safest investment in the world. she came on, frothing at the mouth and He always adds that no man who exher bridle as she tried to rush jast, to be mean about money matters. and was dragged from his saddle. The

-The Young Man (rapturously)mare tried to shake him off, but he set "And now, Flossie, it only remains for his teeth and hung on, the veins it his you to name the happy day. Please make it soon, very soon, darling." The Young and his head swimming until he cold Woman (in the kitchen a few moments not see. His feet did not touch the later)-"Bridget, would it interfere with day evening?"

-Lottery tickets seem to be very and tried to strike him with her front plentiful in Louisiana just now. The hoofs. She even tried to bite him, but | Southwestern Christian Advocate tells | Kicker opened upon them without fear he held on with wonderful course and of a brother who got things so mixed endurance. He realized that she was gradually becoming subdued, that she for admission to a love-feast. Professed dropped Sam Barlow with a ball in the Christians are coming to be among the leg, winged Jim Sampson at long range strongest supporters of the lottery, says and split Tom Jackson's ear as he a local paper.

-A few days ago three families of Finlanders settled on farms in the northern part of Beadle County, South Dakota. In one of the families there are nineteen children, in another seventeen and in the third nine, the parents but ten years. These families will soon be joined by four others, all relatives, total of ninety-seven persons in nine families. -A minister had traveled some dishim. When the house was nearly empty, the minister stepped up to a gentleman dinner with me to-day?" "Where do you Saturday he'll stand a prime show of a "About eighteen miles from grave in the sand pit. live?" here." "No; but you must dine with me," answered the gentleman, with a flushed face, which invitation the clergyman gravely accepted.-Argonaut. -The president of the British Pharhaving adopted and recommended the following for the happy dispatch of poultry. A large, wide-mouthed, stoppered bottle is kept charged with an ounce of chloroform. When a chicken has received sentence of death it is held that he scarcely knew the proud man in firmly under the left arm and its head slipped into the mouth of the bottle. A few deep inspirations follow, and the Baron Knyphausen couldn't fight, and bird, without a struggle, becomes unconscious. Then, holding it by the legs, its neck is dislocated by a quick stretch.-Our Dumb Animals. -An intelligent dog in West Chester plays hide-and-seek with his owner, a little girl named Amy. She taught it the game, and they both, it is said, find much fun in playing it. Amy will tell the dog to remain in a certain place until she hides. She then calls and the dog starts on the search, finding Amy every time, no matter where she hides. Then the dog will wag his tail, show his tooth as though laughing, and hie away to the place originally designated for him by Amy, while Amy hides again, only to be found in an instant afterward by the dog.

miles from New York City has recently been absent from home several months on business. Not long ago his wife received a letter from him, which she began to read aloud at the breakfast table. But she was somewhat interrupted by a young son and heir, who apparently found other things more interesting than the letter. "My child," she said you wan't to hear this nice letter from papa?" "Papa, papa," was the puzzled reply, "O, yes, you mean the man who used to live at our house."

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Office Yet But Lots of Honors Have Been Thrust on Its Editor. We extract the following from the last sue of the Arizona Kicker: Not Yet.—In reply to "Anxious In-uirer," of Philadelphia, we would say that we hold no political or appointive office whatever. Right here it would be very appropriate for us to add that we want nothing of the sort, and that if the President would tender us a Cabinet position we should refuse it. We ought say so, but we don't propose to. have been ready for the last two years to take most any thing we could get our hands on in the way of an office, but the pportunity hasn't dropped on our side of the fence. While we are the editor publisher and proprietor of a great weekly newspaper, and while we conduct a job office, newspaper, grocery saddlery, hardware, butcher shop, millinery store, feed store and signal station under one roof, there is still an aching void. While our cotemporaries may play hypocrite and liar, we see no occasion to conceal our real feelings. We want office of some kind, and we'll

HIS HEAD IS LEVEL -Last Wednes-

the ruins of old Fort Todd, we were fired upon three times in rapid succession. We didn't stop to inquire the sion of his hilarity, but covered the mile of sandy road leading into town in something like five minutes. Next morning we went down to the ruins to ee what we could see, and it didn't cost us three minutes' time to discover who fired those shots. There were the foot bow-legged that no one could mistake has been playing an accordion in some of the first-class saloons, and who was 'gone" on the widow without our knowl mare had taken flight Barry was urging Hopkins University. It is known as edge. We had some music in our hip the sorrel in pursuit. The old horse Prof. Bowland's thermometer, and is pocket for his private ear, but a brief search disclosed the fact that he had take the fleet black mare, but that he in the glass are so fine that it is necesing out to look up his tracks, and had

TRY IT ONCE-Two month ago the ostmaster of this town didn't care a cent whether our mail reached us or not, and every complaint we made was received with ill-disguised contempt. We brought matters to a climax by encouraging him to attempt to horsewhip us. As soon as he had struck the first blow we sailed in, and his friends say is, in form, similar to a large perasol, that he was the worst licked man ever heard of in Arizona. Since that date tions in the cover permitting the escape nothing is too good for us. He sends a of the vitiated atmosphere. The rod boy over with our mail twice a day, and and handle are formed to permit the use every one of our subscribers gets his of gas jets if necessary, while from the still in a frenzy of fear. Barry caight pects to accumulate property can afford Kicker so promptly that the paper feels tips of each rib incandescent bulbs hang,

Mem.-If your postmaster won't travel in the right bridle-path, baste him. HAD TO BE DONE .- Six months ago

this town was full of drunkards and black-legs and professional terrors. ground, and his weight was so light that any of your engagements if I should be Every one feared the crowd, and the married three weeks from next Wednes- sheriff himself got drunk so often that no help could be had from him. Where the crowd to-day? Gone! Dug out! Disappeared! What caused it? The or favor. They threatened us. We loaded our gun and went out and turned the post-office corner. We gave traces of the cement having vanished, four of the gamblers a day to pack up in, furnished the rope that hung Jack Beavers, and it was our gun that went off when Deadwood Hank tumbled from the bridge. Last night the representative citizens of the last family having been married of the town tendered us a banquet and presented us with an ice pitcher as a token of their approbation. Readers numbering forty-six persons, making a may look for full report in our next issue. Thanks, gentlemen. We don't acter of the animals have been obwant to run the town, but we've got a sneaking notion into our head that it tance to preach, and at the conclusion must be made safe for a mule to walk of the morning service waited for some the length of Apache avenue day or one to invite him to dine; but the con- night. Westward the star of empire gregation dispersed without noticing takes its way, and we will say right here before we forget it, that if Charlie Thompson, bartender at the Gray Eagle | phenomena in the case of human beings. and said: "Brother, will you go home to Saloon, doesn't drop out of sight before

Lo, Poor Fly!-Our readers will bear witness that we refer to our contemporary only at long intervals, and then in and which it has been suggested may the kindest manner. On the contrary, he devotes much of his space each week naceutical Conference is credited with to personal abuse of us. We have no line, that bowlders of extraordinary size quarrel with this poor old fly. We pity him. Whenever we see a man intended by nature to run a side show of wax figures taking up journalism instead, our heart goes out in sorrow. We realize how he must feel. It is like a jackass rabbit trying to pass himself off as a buffalo.

This poor old fly sent us word the other day to look out for ourself, as he intended to shoot us on sight. We borrowed a squirt-gun of a boy on the street, and went over to the "Lame Duck" office and stood in the door of the sanctum and squirted the poor old insect out of the window. He didn't even stop to argue the case, nor to throw a paperweight. Then we counted his subscription list, found he had 143 subscribers where he claimed 980, and went away feeling nothing but love and pity for him.-Detroit Free Press.

Cold Rolling of Wire A new industry which promises to beome of vast importance is the rolling of cold steel bars into wire. A few years ago wire manufacturers and metallur--Agentleman who lives not a thousand gists would have said such a thing was an impossibility; that cold rolling would destroy the fiber of the steel and render the wire so brittle as to be of no practical value. Experience, however, has proved these preconceived notions to be incorrect. The rolling of cold steel wire is now accomplished with ease, and instead of the wire being weakened by the process, practical tests have demonstrated that its tensile strength is nearly pounds .-- Chicago Economist.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-Through errors in the triangulation of Hungary, the maps of Austria have heretofore made it out to be a much smaller country than it is in reality. The official maps show that it contains 3,247.12 square kilometers.

-Naval experts are of the opinion that the limit of efficiency in rapid fire ordnance is reached at a 4-inch caliber, as above that the ammunition, which must necessarily be fixed, is too heavy to be quickly handled.

-At a late meeting of the London Zoological Society, Mr. A. D. Bartlett attempted to prove that the varieties of the domestic dogs owe their origin to wolves and jackals, the habit of barking having been acquired under the influence of domestication.

-The most striking exhibit in a colection of photographs before the Royal Meteorological society was a large number of exceptionally fine photographs of clouds and atmospheric phenomena reproducing in a most faithful manner the plendid contrast of white clouds and blue sky, to do which is so difficult a feat of photography. -The American Metrological Society.

at a recent meeting in Washington. advocated the adoption of the metric system by the Government for custom house and foreign mail service. The metric system is now used by twentyfour nations in invoicing goods for shipment abroad, and many of them use it for all purposes.-Scie

-The excavations being pursued at Megalapolis, in the Peloponnesus, under the direction of the British School of Archæology, have resulted in some interesting discoveries. Besides uncovering the site of a Greek theater, the excavators have found in a tumulus a small cylindrical sarcophagus, containing bones and two pieces of a gold crnament similar to those discovered by Dr. Schliemann at Mycenæ and elsewhere.

-The true scientist seeks knowledge, and knowledge only, with the sole expectation of rising through nature up to nature's God and lifting mankind to a state of fuller happiness and broader enlightenment, taking no thought of individual gain. The inventor files a caveat or secures a patent and sits down in the enjoyment of wealth. The sisentist heralds his discovery and returns at once to test tube and crucible, seeking yet other secrets which bless mankind.-Galveston News.

-A novel arrangement for securing an abundance of soft light together with perfect ventilation has been installed in an opera house in Chicago. The device eighteen feet in diameter, the perforagiving a perfect and powerful circle of light. Another feature is the use of incandescent bulbs, arranged in a wire net, to indicate the name of the company playing.

-By a new method of cementing iron the parts cemented are so effectually joined as to resist the blows even of a sledge hammer. The cement is composed of equal parts of sulphur and white lead, with a proportion of about When the composione-sixth of borax. tion is to be applied it is wet with strong sulphuric acid, and a thin laver of it is placed between the two pieces of ron, which are at once pressed together. In five days it will be perfectly dry, all and the work having every appearance of welding.

-Modern physiologists, says a Berlin correspondent of the London Lancet regard the pre-fontal part of the brain as the seat of character and intellect. After the removal of this part in dogs and monkeys, no paralysis of any muscles or loss of sensibility occurs, but singular changes in behavior, emotions and charserved. They become livelier, restless, impatient, irritable, quarrelsome and violent. Their movements seem purposeless, and their attention to what is going on around them, and their intelligence, are diminished. These observations have been confirmed by similar A GIGANTIC BOWLDER.

An Evidence of Glacial Action in Southeastern Connecticut.

But it is in the region to the east and west of the line of the Thames river, have been the axis of the ancient glacier, and not very far removed from this occur most numerously; and among them is a rock which until very recently has been regarded as one of the largest, if not the very largest, bowlder that has thus far been recognized in this or any other country. This rock-of coarse crystalline granite-is situated in the town of Montville, New London County, about six miles south of Norwich, and about a mile west of the Montville Station on the New London & Northern Railroad; and, under the Indian name of "Sheegan," has almost from the first settlement of the country been recognized as a great natural curiosity. Its position is on the edge of a gentle ound or knoll, on the northeast slope of a little valley; and its dimensions, according to recent measurements by Prof. Crosby, of the Boston Society of Natural History, are as follows; northwest side, forty-six feet; northeast, fiftyeight; southeast, forty-five; southwest, eventy. Maximum height, reckoning from the lower or down-hill side to the highest point on the upper side, approxmately, sixty feet; approximate cubic contents, seventy thousand cubic feet; approximate weight, about six thouand tons. The cavity or recess beneath the rock, which is said to have been occupied, at the time of the first settlement of the country, by a Mohegan Indian (from whom the rock undoubted-ly derived its name) as a dwelling place, s sufficiently capacious to admit of eing used as a place of snelter for the sleds and other farm implements of the farmer proprietor. A rude ladder on the southern side of the rock affords facilities for reaching its top and ob-taining a somewhat extensive view of he surrounding country .- Hon. David A. Wells, in Popular Science Monthly

No b Borts ( steadi

a good weath under in co dry, w storm stunts They wet fle after make in a made ing a they > can englass, side, ing t close wire-Suc with enabl

they eral when time. make chick for h An to fee they feed-here mean mout ter-p each piece over the can pose It s and good egro prot from also Till write for isha long reso mer as i gree read per and near per and roon prefe

the of fru ma con S fro ref be roo for all sou thr pre wit

FARM AND GARDEN. FEED TROUGH.

lation have much eality.

ntains

oinior

id fire

ber, as to be ondon artlett

ties of gin to rking

a col-

Royal

numphs of na re-er the cult a ciety,

ngton.

metric

istom

The

use it ed at under ne in-over-

e exitain-

orna-

Dr.

ere.

odere.

le ex-up to pader

ht of down

sisen-

turns manuring with device

grasol.

e rod

he use of in-com-

g iron tually

about nposiwith layer

ces of ether.

ished.

arance

Berlin

brain ellect.

les or ngular

char-obstless

and vhat is ntelliserva-similar beings.

South-

st and river, nt glam this them

y has est, if or any coarse ounty, h, and le Stathern

e first recoggentle slope

sions, nts by ety of north-

t, fiftyhwest.

koning

prox.

cubic feet:

s behave hegan

bted-er on

Lancet,

ventyis and

An Excellent Device for Feeding Chicks. It pays to have a good, dry, comfortble house for young chickens, whether well-ventilated, and easily cleaned out. It should rest on low runners, so that it can easily be moved about. A pane of glass, six by eight inches, set in each side, will admit light enough; an opening three inches square, at each end, close under the roof, and covered with wire-screen, will supply ventilation.

FEED-TROUGH FOR CHICKS.

fortable as long as they need a coop. If time. It is not a difficult matter to chicks raised in one of them will pay for half a dozen. Another thing that pays is a trough to feed the young chickens in. Whether they are kept in brooders or with hens, feed-troughs, like the one illustrated herewith, are almost indispensible as a means of preventing diseases of the mouth and throat. The base and center-piece are inch-board; the troughs on each side are tin. Over the troughs are a hen becomes broody the door of the nest she occupies is changed to the wires, which pass through the centerpiece, are bent downward and extend over the troughs far enough to prevent the chicks from getting into them. The engraving shows the form of the troughs so plainly that almost any o can make them. After feeding, the trough should be rinsed out and kept perfectly clean, which is an easy mat ter if attended to daily .- American Agriculturist.

A FRUIT ROOM.

It May Be Built in the Residence, for Convenience. For the use of a private family a fruit room may be built in the residence; by preference, in a position as little exsed to direct sunlight as practicable. It should have double walls, ceiling and floor, with "dead-air," or some good non-conducting substance between, and with double doors for incress and egress. Arrangements should also be provided for the admission of cool air from without, when the outer temperature is sufficiently low for the purpose; also for the displacement of warm or impure air above, when ventilation be- which put the feed. Build a platform comes desirable.

ishable summer or autumn fruits. For next the sitting-room should be 2 longer and more perfect preservation, resort may be had to the use of ice, by means of which, in a room constructed as above, a temperature but a few decided as a few deci grees above the freezing point may be and not already over-ripe) can be held nearly unchanged for an indefinite

Experience has, however, shown that there is an apparently unavoidable loss of flavor and aroma, when perishable fruits are thus retarded even while maintained in an otherwise unchanged condition. Since the warmer air always rises from expansion; when ice is used as the refrigerating material, it should always be placed in the highest part of the room, and means should be provided for carrying the drip from it, as well as all condensed moisture, from whatever

My own arrangement for such purpose has been nothing more than an carcass of a fine quality of beef. Occa-ordinary cupboard, built within an ice sionally one of beef shape—that is, house, with an entrance from without about as full in front as rear, and raththrough double doors.

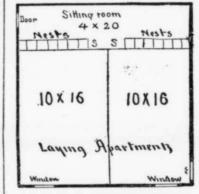

Quantity and Quality in Milk. Quantity and quality are not necessarily irreconcilable in milk, says the Western Rural. Many Jersey cows with large butter records are also noted as large milkers-not large as compared with Holsteins, but large for cows that put butter in their milk; but as a rule very rich butter cows are not great nilch cows. Nor is it desirable that hey should be, where the object aimed at is butter. In this case the smaller the number of pounds of milk necessary to make a pound of butter the better for the butter maker. By careful selection and persistent breeding for that purpose it is easily within the power of any first-class breeder to establish two distinct strains of Jerseys, one producing a moderate or small quantity of milk very rich in butter; the other giving a copious flow (forty to sixty pounds at flush) of milk containing a good per cent. of butter. There are condieral will find their interest lies in breed- quick maturity can only ing to increase the quantity of butter giving good attention, all the time from without increasing the flow of milk. birth until marketed.

POULTRY HOUSE.

It is a Good One and Can Be Built for Sixty Dollars.

The ground plan is 20x20 feet. A partition runs lengthwise four feet from the back or north side of the house, cutting the building into two sections-4x they are kept in brooders or under hens. | 20 feet and 16x20 feet. The larger room | No brooder that stands outside in all is then cut into two apartments, each to ground to prosorts of weather will keep little chicks | x16 feet. The partition should be tight | Railroad. The book is profusely illustrated, conthe ground to pro-No brooder that stands outside in all is then cut into two apartments, each 10 steadily warm and comfortable, though a good one will do it, when placed in a weather-proof building. Small chicks, under the care of hens, do well enough in common coops, set outside during dry, warm weather; but a week of cold, stormy weather invariably injures and stunts them to a greater or less extent. They can not sit on wet ground or on a wet floor, even under a warm hen, night after night, and remain healthy. Cheap, make-shift coops can, by being placed in a building or under a good shed, be steadily warm and comfortable, though | for 2 or 3 feet from the ground, to pre-In a building or under a good shed, be This will let the water run off and keep made to answer the purpose of protect- the floor dry. On these set the 2x4 ing a hen and her brood from cold, but studs four feet apart. On top of the they are far inferior to well-made, studs put the plate (2x4). The rafters floored, vermin-proof coops. A really are boarded with cheap, square-edged good out-door coop should have tight pine boards. If you wish to shingle and floor, sides and roof, so that rain or snow clapboard, put tarred paper under both, an not beat into it; be well-lighted, as it will stop all drafts should there be any cracks, and make the house enough warmer to pay. There is no danger of making a poultry house in this climate oo warm without artificial heat. The house should face to the south and have two windows in front and one in the east end. The bottom of the windows should rest on the sill. One sash may be hung on hinges, making a door opening into the yard, or two sashes may work with weights. Each apartment contains 160 square feet and accommodates 20 fowls. There should be a small opening cut for the entrance of the fowls, with a slide door. The nests consist of two boxes, each 8 feet long, 14 inches wide and 18 inches deep, divided into eight parts. These Such a coop, eighteen inches square, with run of the same size attached, will the sitting-room. To the edges of the enable a hen to keep fifteen chicks com- partitions which separate the nests tack a cleat projecting over half an inch, and they are well made, painted with minmiddle of the partition tack another eral paint and piled up under cover middle of the partition tack another when not in use, they will last a lifethe other edge, doing the same to each make such coops, and a single brood of partition. Then cut slides 11x12 inches to slide down between the cleats. A board six inches wide is nailed to each side of the boxes on which the slides rest, leaving an opening 11x12 inches on each side of every nest, one opening into the laying-room, the other into the sitting-room. One of these is always closed by means of a slide. When the hens are all laying the nests are kept open toward the laying-room, but when other side, thus separating her from the others without disturbing her. Eggs are gathered from the sitting-room by raising a board which is laid on top of

For feed-troughs, tack a cleat three inches wide to the edge of the sill, on 4 feet wide and 18 inches from the This arrangement will suffice, says a ground (so that the hens can walk writer in the Rural New Yorker, only under it to the nests), 8 inches for a slight or brief preservation of per- above which put the roosts. The one the platform. This platform helps to readily maintained, and even the most darken the nests. Such a house costs can be if desired .- Farm and Home.

Shorthorns for Milk or Beef.

The handsomest and most showy form for a Shorthorn cow includes a broad as well as deep chest, full crops, fore ribs so round as to leave no depression behind the shoulders; a straight line along the back to end of the rump; wide between the buckle bones, and well-developed quarters. This is the best shape for making beef. For milk the chest should be deeper and not so broad, fore ribs rather flat and long, crops less full than for beef, and the quarters quite broad, so that in looking source, out of the room, passing it at her in front her body will appear de-through a trap in the waste pipe, to cidedly wedge-shaped, the larger end to prevent the admission of warm air from the rear. But even thus formed, when without. quickly and cheaply, and make a good > have changed their nature in America, yielding richer milk generally than in Hoiland, and yet of a very abundant quantity. No doubt this change is owing to the difference of climate and quality of food. The summers in Holland are cool and wet and in Northern America comparatively hot and dry, with drier and more frosty winters, and the grass of our meadows is less rank and succulent. These have much influence in giving quantity and quality to milk and also er fat-proves a greatmilker of a highly excellent quality, like some Holstoin-Friesians. Many of the latter seem to mount, and the animals should be chosen from such as excel in what is most desired by the breeder to produce. -American Agriculturist. EVEN with a good pasture stock need more or less attention in order to secure the best results. Letting them look out tions in which the larger milkers for themselves may lessen the cost, but would be more desirable, because more at the same time it will lessen the posprofitable. But Jersey breeders in gen- sible profits. A steady growth and a be secured by in the formation-of flesh. Still, the difference in breeds of cattle is para-

WHERE TO SPEND THE SUMMER. If Undecided, Perhaps This Will Help

Where to go, what to do, how to do it, where to go, what to do, now to its and the expense invalved—questions agitat-ing so many households contemporary with the advent of Summer—are all answered satisfactorily in the pages of the handsome volume entitled "Health and Pleasure," just issued by the Passenger Department of the New York Central & Hudson River Raijroad.

THE Four Hundred of the National Capital is said to be made up of about one hunhundred and fifty.—Philadelphia Ledger. Maher & Grosh, whose advertisement appears in this paper, is a perfectly reliable firm, and the reader can feel sure that every representation made by them will be carried out to the letter. The Chicago In-carried out to the letter. The Chicago Inter Ocean says:

"In calling attention to the new advertisement of Messrs. Maher & Grosh, of Toledo, O., we are not recommending a new firm to our readers, but one that is well and favorably known already. Country neerchants have in conversation with us repeatedly alluded to the knives and other hardware specialties advertised by Maher & Grosh, and the testimony as to the quality of the goods and the treatment received has been always most favorable."

has been always most favorable."

What a darling world it would be if every body were as polite as a candidate!-Louisville Courier Journal.

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragn Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U.S. Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See of novels on circulars around each bar-

MILEMEN are poor people to interview. Naturally they do not like to be pumped.— Oil City Blizzard.

The woman who can refrain from saying "I told you so" sometimes gets a new silk dress.—Exchange.

J. C. Simpson, Marquess, W. Va., says "Hall's Catarrh Cure cured me of a very bad case of catarrh." Druggists sell it, 75c. Ir anybody doubts the dignity of labor, let him ask a $10 hotel clerk what time it is.-Van Dorn's Magazine.

Do not purge nor weaken the bowels, but act specially on the liver and bile. A perfect liver correcter. Carter's Little Liver Pills. COULD a man who became intoxicated on acrated beverages be said to be air tight!— Light.

No specific for local skin troubles equals denn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. It must have been a wheelwright who was first put in spokesman by his felloes.— Texas S.ftings.

No Opium in Piso's Cure for Consumption Cures where other remedies fail. 25c. A TITLE often sells a book, but not so quickly as a pretty girl book-agent does.— Boston Courier.

After dinner smoke "Tansfil's Punch." The "woman's club" craze is giving considerable currency to the question: "Does your wife carry a night-key!"—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

There is no particular difference between the shop-girl and the saleslady; but the dif-ferences between them and the floor-walk-er are often something awful to behold.

When a man considers how easy he finds it to lend money, he can not help wonder-ing sometimes that he finds it so hard to get anybody else to lend money to him.— Somerville Journal.

An English scientist is said to have discovered an insect with 11,000 eyes. It ought to make a good base-ball umpire.-Toronto

It is peculfar how soundly a man sleeps when his wife crawls over him on her way to the kitchen to make a fire.—Boston

There is really no tangible objection to perishable fruits (if in sound condition and not already over-ripe) can be held can be if desired.—Farm and Home.

darken the nests. Such a house costs violently plaid trousers except that they keep one constantly wondering whose move it is.—Washington Post. THE man who dies by touching an electric wire has added to the poignancy of his sur-prise the knowledge that his taking off is totally unconstitutional.—Judge.

When a man applies for a job where he is "certain to make fifty dollars a week" canvassing, he should wear one of the "forty-dollar suits, marked down to eight dollars." This will bring facts and figures somewhat more into harmony .- Puck. A RAILBOAD across the desert of Sahara is projected. As it does not strike an easis throughout the whole distance it will not be easy to water the stock.—Boston Globe. Half the men who complain of some one standing in their road eventually find that they didn't have any road. — Atchison

BEST TOWN to-day in the Southwest to invest your surplus earnings in Pittsburg, Kansas.

PITTSBURG TOWN CO., Pittsburg, Kan

BEANS KISSING at 7, 17, 70: Photo-gravus

Makers of "Bile Roans." St. Lo DO You Live in a House. If so, you want a DO HARTMAN Steel Wire Mat. Absolutely flexible. Endorsed by Physicians and U. S. Government. Send for prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Fu'ls, Pa RUPOFFIGS

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gentlyyet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constitution. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effect, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its may excellent qualities com-

th most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggits. Any reliable druggist who ray not have it on hand will proure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y. A Noted Divine Says:

WILL be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

ARE A SPECIAL BLESSING.

I never had anything to do me so much good. I recommend them to all as the best medicine in existance." Rev. F. R. OSGOOD, New York. SOLD EVERYWHERE. Office, 44 Murray St., New York.

THIS IS THE ROLL

Tie Braid that is known the world around.

MAKES CHILD BIRTH EASY

IF USED BEFORE CONFINEMENT. BOOK TO "MOTHERS" MAILED FREE.
BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
SPNAKE THE PATER WERE 100 POS WILL.

M. SPRINGER, M. D., Pres. A. J. RUTH, See'y and Tre THE SPRINGER MEDICAL CO DISEASES BY THE USE OF THEIR REMEDIES.

ANTI-RADDIN. cures Dandruff, and all diseases of the Scalp, where the smallest four is left it will grow healthy int. ANTI-RADORAROM is left in left grow beating int. ANTI-RADORAROM is left in left will grow be allowed to the state of the Timber in Wisconin and Michigan.

TIMBER IN CHANCES FOR SAW MILLS and FACTORIES. Timbered Farming Lands CHEAP and mostly on time. Hallway Co. Pays Cash for Cordwood. Address "SOO" RAILWAY, Minneapolis, Mine

55 free Lines not under horses feet. Write REENTREAFFT REIN HOLDER CO., Helly, Min.

Twept when I was born and every day shows why said Sapolio is a solid cake ofscouring soap used for all -> cleaning purposes #

"Ah! Ah!" Cried the housewife, "The Secret I know, no DIRT can resist

SAPOLIO,"

"Oh! Oh!" Cried the DIRT. "At length I must go, I cannot withstand SAPOLIO."

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY. Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine,

Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports. MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kanas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Buffs, St.

Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.
For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address JOHN SEBASTIAN, E. ST. JOHN, CHICAGO, ILL.

O OUR CUSTOMERS.

WE TAKE GREAT PLEASURE IN CALLING TO YOUR NOTICE THE FACT THAT, IN ADDITION TO OUR UNSURPASSED READY-PRINT SERVICE, THIS HOUSE CAN

ALSO FURNISH TO THE TRADE

IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

OUR FACILITIES FOR THIS VALUABLE AND HELPFUL BRANCH OF SERVICE ARE AMPLE, AND WHILE SOLICITING YOUR ORDERS IT IS GRATIFYING TO US

Our Work is Not Only Good, but Absolutely THE BEST! IN ORDERING BE CAREFUL TO SPECIFY EITHER WOOD OR METAL BASE, AS. WE AIM TO FILL ORDERS WITHOUT DELAY, BE THEY LARGE OR SMALL. OUR PRICES WILL BE FOUND CONSISTENT WITH THE HIGH GRADE OF MATERIAL

AND WORKMANSHIP FURNISHED. ESTIMATES CHEERFULLY GIVEN. A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO.,

368 & 370 Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill. 401 WYANDOTTE STREET, KANSAS CITY, MO.

177 & 179 ELM STREET, CINCINNATI, OHIO 74 TO BO EAST 5TH STREET, ST. PAUL, MINN. AT WHOLESALE PRICES to CONSUMERS.

Maher & Grosh 5 S Street

CONSUMPTION

PATENTS I Invent something and make your FORTUNE! A 446 page FORTUNE! A 400 page FORTUNE! BOOM

ENSION JOHN W. MORBIS, Successfully PROSCUTES CLAIMS.
Late Principal Examiner U.S. vension Bureau.
Tyrin lat war, 16 adjudicating claims, atty time.

71 & 73 ONTARIO STREET, CLEVELAND, OHIO.

& CO.'S

38 & 40 JEFFERSON ST., MEMPHIS, TENN.

A. N. K.-C. WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in this Mr. McComas on Pensions.

During the debate on Wednesday desired by me has not been obtained, more than the price of similar articles in the House restaurant to day drinalthough the service pension, for in neighboring bazars. which I voted, and for which the Re- "How much am I bid for this ex- his State, when an elderly and specnot been agreed to by the Senate, holding it above his head. yet under the lead and guidance and truest, noblest and best friend the the front seats. soldier has had in Congress on either the House or Senate applause on the fice ?" Republican side], we have gotten a

Mr. Yoder .- Mr. Speaker, if the me, I desire to state that after serv- there and allow it to be given away moved away. ing for four years with the gentle. for such a paltry sum?" man from Kansas [Mr. Morrill] on the Committee on Invalid Pensions, I most heartily indorse every word Major Morrill.

Mr. McComas.-We have here a measure that the people of this country who care for the helpless soldiers, widows, and orphans, want, because needy, will prefer it to hypocritical promises, deceitful pledges, and dis- box." appointing platforms. By it we will begin at once to take two hundred said. thousand men who served our counsoldiers who were getting from one figure." all the help that comes from $35,000. smiles of the audience. 000 paid out annually, and not simply an empty utterance of platform and deceit of party. Under this bill gratefully. The Republican party anything. He makes them because on the Republican side.]

Also in a speech before the House on Monday Mr. McComas, addressing the Democratic side, said:

You in your talk for years have promised pension legislation and have given none. We, after providing an appropriation for all the pensions that can be adjudicated at the Pension Office, have passed a general bill that will lift 100,000 widows from them from the alms-houses of the and was content. country-a bill which has already passed both Houses of Congress, has gone to the President for his signature, and will soon afford great, ers is to make it our own. much-needed, but by you long delay. ed relief to the soldiers of this country and those dependent upon them. us for our own.

Mr. Sayers,-Thegentleman knows just as well as he knows anything that the deficiency in the matter of pensions, of which he complains, is not to be attributed to the failure upon the part of this House in the last Congress to appropriate all sums of money which were estimated and asked for by the Commissioner of cf long suffering hearts, not amidst Pensions, The records and proceedings of Congress show the statement which I make to be true.

Mr. McComas. -Will the gentleman allow me half a minute? Perhaps I ought to be more explicit. Mr. Sayers.-Certainly.

Mr. McComas. - I will make amends to this extent: Perhaps the reason you did not pass any pension legislation in the last four years your party had control here, was that you were kept so busy in sustaining President Cleveland's vetoes of pension bills that you had not the time. Republican side.

day and the lock of the night.

She Got the Vase.

There was a large crowd present at of last week in the House of Repre- an auction sale of Japanese goods in facial resemblances in public life is sentatives on the general pension a store on Woodward avenue the that of Congressman Goodknight, of bill Mr. McComas spoke as follows: other eyening, and some goods were Kentucky, and Postmaster-General Mr. Speaker, although all that was selling cheap, while others brought Wanamaker. Mr. Goodknight was publicans of the House voted, has quisite yase?" asked the auctineer, tacled man approached him and ex-

"Two dollars and a half," respondby the devoted labors of the wisest ed an elderly lady, sitting in one of are you doing?"

"That's a shame," cried the man key," said the Congressman, side in eight years, the gentleman with the mallet. "This vase, as a from Kansas [Mr. Morrill], to whom work of art, is worth four times the Mr. Wanamaker?" gasped the old they owe a debt they can never pay, sum. Why, look at it! Will an in- gentleman. such as they owe no other man in telligent audience allow such a sacrisame woman's voice. "Well, well, well! Can't you see "the folks up in Philadelphia won't gentleman from Maryland will allow that this is a treasure, and you stand believe it when I tell 'em," as he

"Three dollars." Again it was the same bidder speaking. he has said. The soldiers never had a more sincere, earnest, hard-work- saw the like. Come, good people, Postmaster-General while taking a ing friend in the world than the what is the meaning of this? One of drink, and I have not exerted mypresent chairman of the committee, the Mikado's especial designs slighted self very much to correct the mison your taste!

solitary bidder. it gives immediate relief. The sol- man's answer. "It is too costly, too | Chicago Herald. diers who grow older while we de- precious and too rare in pattern. bate, the widows who grow more Wake up and take some action on the sale, or I'll put it back in the pretty ring you wear,"

"Three and a half," the woman

"Well, it doesn't seem as if I can try away from the edge of distress get any more, so here it goes. Three and poverty and give them a pension. and a half-once, twice, three times! By it we will succor thousands of Sold to the lady there at a shameful to two dollars a month pension, and The lady stepped up, paid for and we will have their pensions increas. received her parcel, and departed, ed to $6 a month. We give to them apparently without noticing the present things as both a look above

The Truth About a Boy.

He comes out at the front door, proper care will be taken of one hun- bright-faced and happy. He comes they will be brought. dred thousand widows of the soldiers out for no particular reason, save who helped to save the Government, that he wants to be moving about. and under this bill you will begin at He is full of physical action, and once to take ten thousand men out of must get some of it out of him before the alms-houses of the country, where they have been allowed to go carrying an honorable discharge in a ragged coat-pocket, a standing disgrace to my country and your coun- thinking independently of what we call consciousness. He stands on the all other men wanted, not all that looking for. Indeed, he is not look- is in our composition. some Democrats cheaply profess to ing for anything. He just looks with want here and then vote against. a sort of undefined hope that he will You gentlemen on that side of the see something suggestive to him of Chamber talk and we vote; you de- what to do. He jumps down the claim and we act; and we now give steps and goes to the gate, hangs on this large part of the revenue of the it a moment, makes a few sounds nation rather than debate and delay. with his voice such as nobody but a You do nothing and we do some- boy can make, and nobody else would thing, and we do it cheerfully and make if he could. They don't mean gratefully. The Republican party anything. He makes them because acts up fully to its platform, and all —well, because he is a boy. As if he Drug Store, and Country Stores. the good work that has been done had suddenly thought of something for our soldiers has been done by the to do, he bangs the gate open and Republican party, has been done in rushes down the middle of the street spite of the continuous opposition of yelling like a young Indian. But he that side of House. [Loud applause has not suddenly thought of something to do. He has simply done that because he couldn't think of anything to do, and must do something. Then he picks up a stone and fires it at a dog, and cringes and feels sorry if it hits the mark. He doesn't want to hurt the dog. He throws the stone because he and the dog and the stone are there, and it is handy to do so. For a few seconds he stands and looks up into a tree at-nothing. Then he breaks into a run again, and penury and want, which will take suddenly sits down on the curbstone 200,000 soldiers from distress, some of as if he had accomplished something

Gathered Treasures.

To rejoice in the happiness of oth-

The mission of suffering is often to fit us for God's purposes by unfitting If there be no enemy, no fight ; if no fight, no victory: if no victory, ing quality. It has been called the states the amount of sale to be fair weather of the heart.

Try to make enemies transient, and friendship immortal. God never inspires mortals with any sort of selfishness, not even religious selfishness.

The stimulating power and comfort of sympathy none can express [Laughter and applause on the save he who has realized it, It has a power like the magnet, unseen but potent, which draws to itself the Prayer should be the key of the wandering scattered particles that exist around it.

Looks Like Wanamaker.

One of the most striking cases of ing a glass of the famous beverage of claimed:

"Why, Mr. Wanamaker, what "Simply taking a drink of whis-

"Then-then you drink whiskey,

"Why, certainly." The stranger lifted his hands in "Two seventy-five," came in the holy horror, and apparently overcome by the discovery, muttered that

"That's the only way in which I can get even with Wanamaker for looking like me," said Mt. Good-looking like me," said Mt. Good-looking like me, between o'clock A. M. of said day, offer to sell at Public Austion to the highest bidder, for cash on the day of said, all the highest bidder, for cash on the highest bidder, for cash of the highest bidder, for ca "Three dollars! The very idea!" knight. "This is the third or fourth in such a manner! It is a reflection take. But I suffer through the resemblance of our faces fully as much "Three and a quarter," said the as Mr. Wanamaker does. People mistake me for him, and fail to ak "I can't let it go for that," was the me to 'take something' with them?

> She-"I would like to have that He-"What will you give me for

She(blushing)-"I don't know," He-"Make me an offer." She (blushing still more)- "Oh,

Nothing does so establish the mind amid the railings and turbulence of them and a look beyond themabove them to the steady and good Hand by which they are ruled, and beyond them to the sweet and beautiful end to which by that Hand

The sweetness of all temporal things falls short of the indefinite deliciousness of the eternal Word; honey itself is outstripped in sweet-

It is not uptil we have pased This is a good measure of help, Mr. steps and looks up and down the Speaker, not all that I wanted, not street. He doesn't know what he is made to know how much drowners.

> If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's SpecificCough ure. Price 25c.

For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Colic, Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Balm. Indispen-

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS COUNTY TREASURER'S NOTICE.

To the Tax-Payers of Garrett County. Notice is hereby given, that the undersigned, either in person or by deputy, will be in each of the Election Districts in said County, to collect and receive taxes at the times and places following:

Grantsville, No. 3, July 14th. Bittinger, No. 12, July 15th, Accident, No. 5, July 16th Selbysport, No. 2, July 17th. McHenry, No. 6, July 18th. Gregg's Mill, No. 11, July 21st, Johnson's, No. 9, July 22d. Bloomington, No. 4, July 15th. Swanton, No. 1, July 16th. Deer Park. No. 10, July 17th, Gorman, No. 8, Suly 18th. N. B. Office in Oakland will be closed July 15th to 18th, inclusive.

By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland passed at its January Session, 1896, all County Taxes shall be due and payable on the 1st of September succeeding the date of levy, and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent, shall be all lowed, but this discount shall not be allowed to any person or corporate institution for the current year be paid when the same is made.

URIAH M. STANTON.

URIAH M. STANTON, County Treasurer 6 21 3t

ORDER NISI.

Though we are not to despise the day of small things, we are satisfied with it.

Strength is born in the deep silence of long suffering hearts, not amidst joy.

The brightest lightning comes from the darkest clouds, and the purest faith from the severest trials.

Cheerfulness is an excellent wear-

E, Z. TOWER, Clerk, True Copy-Test:

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO SUPERVISORS OF ROADS IN GARRETT COUNTY.

GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., May 7th, 1890. Take NOTICE. That the roads under your charge shall be worked, on such days as it can be done to advantage, between this date and the first of July of the current year and in working said roads it is incumben and the working said roads it is incumbent to the current year. will be held responsible for all damage do to roads and bridges over which they pass,

J. B. FAY.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of an order of the Cir Under and by virtue of an order of the Cir-cuit Court for Garrett Country, passed on the 7th day of June, 1890, in the attachment case of Thomas J. Stanton vs. Conrad Bodes, be-ing No. 5 Originals for July Term, 1890, the undersigned Sneriff will,

ON SATURDAY, THE 5TH DAY OF JULY, 1890,

following pieces of machinery in the olen Factory formally operated by the sale rad Bodes, as follows to-wit: Two Cloth Nappers, one Presser, one Card and Stand, one Presser, five pairs Winding Blades, one Spin-ning Machine, one wool Picker, one Loom, four Carding Machines. one Coarse Picker, about five hundred Spools, one Spooler, fourteen large Spools, one Table, two Water Tubs and one large Loom. Said property will be sold at the Woolen hetory formally operated by the said Con-ad Bodes, about two and a-naif miles north-rest of Grantsville.

E. N. CASTEEL,

Public Local Law. CHAPTER 537.

AN ACT

Charlie, I couldn't do that, for it isn't leap year."

To create a new election district in Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett County.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General assembly of Maryland. That a new election district be formed and laid out of portions of the first, third, fourth and fifth election districts of Garrett county to be known as Biddinger District, or the Twelfth Election District of Garrett county, whose metes and bounds shall be as follows: bounds shall be as follows:

Beginning at the Ridge road where it interects the Meadow Mountain Road at Mary Ofto's then with Ridge road by way of Yommer's Mill, to the Grantsville road at Benediet Beachy's, then to the top of Negro mountain by Rush's Mill and John Spiker's former place, then with the top of said mountain to the County Road leading from John Harman's to the town of Accident, then with said road to upper end of John Harman's farm, then to the forks of the Oakland and Swanton road on east side of the mountain by way of

SEC. 2. And be it enacted. That the votin place or polts in said district shall be at o near the village of Bittinger.

Size. 3. And be it emeted. That the Govern-or shall appoint one Justice of the Peace, and one Register of Voters for the said new dis-trict. SEC. 4. And be it enacted, That the inhabi-

Register of voters for said new District Number Twelve; and the said Clerk shall also at the same time, deliver to said Register a full list, under the seal of his office, of all persons appearing on the registration lists of said Districts Numbers One, Three, Fourand Flye, and the said Register of voters for said new District Number Twelve shall transcribe from said list elvoters, and enter in alphabetic order in the said new registration book, or books, the names of all voters living within the limits of, and entitled to vote in said new District Number Twelve, and likewise to register therein the names of all persons who shall become entitled to vote in said District, according to the laws of this State.

Sige, 6, And be it enacted, That the Officers SEC. 6. And be it enacted, That the Officers of Registration for Districts Numbers One, Three, Four and Five, when at their regular stttings, shall strike from the lists of qualified voiers of said Districts One, Three, Four and Five, the names of all persons residing within the limits of said new District Number Twelve, and entitled to vote within that Dis triet.

SEC. 7. And be it enacted, That the Register of voters for each of the said Districts, one, Three, Four and Five, shall fernish to the Register of voters for said new District Number Twelve, at least five days previous to their last days sitting, a list of all voters stricken from the Registration Books of their respective districts, on and by reason of said voters so stricken off, living and being entitled to vote in said New District No. Tweive, SEC. 8, And be it enacted. That the Country of voters are remarked. SEC, 8. And be it enacted, That the County Commissioners for Garrett County shall appoint one constable for said new Election District Number Twelve, and also Judges or Election, as in the other Districts of Garrett County.

Approved April 8th, 1890 6 14 3t

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of on Mursery Stock WANTED. MOST LIBERAL TERMS.
Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-established and bed known nurseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 676t Established 1846.

FOR SALE! Small Farm Near Deer Park.

f desire to sell my farm near Deer Park solution set my arm near peer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres steared and in grass. The improvements onsist of a good Vy-story dwelling house, arm, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c., fee farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Oper Park. Deer Park.

For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT. Fairment, W. Va.

TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED BONE FERTILIZERS.

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-etable Plants in the proper season. Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express. Address

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE,

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from Oakland, Md.

pole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four ecual yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information and the on the B. & O. R. R., which went in-

JAS. A. HAYDEN Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely exinted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is heavily I med and an abuntance of limestone is on the place.

Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner

Oakland, Md. MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begins April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three courses utlined-Academic, Scientific or Commer-eail. Special attention to collegiate requirements. Number of Pupils strictly Limited. Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN,

J. F. LEWIS. ---MANUFACTURER OF-

Principal

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-TERING LATH!

Having had Fourteen years practice and experience as a SHINGLE SAWYER, I am confident that I can sell you a better shingle than can be bought any where else in the state for the same price. J. F. LEWIS.

3 3 '88 ly Cranesville, W. Va DR. E. H. BARTLETT,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property.

Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

--WANTED--WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md.

OR RENT --By the Year or for the Season.—The West End of 'Wing, and Ving,' at Deer Park, containing a Parlor, itting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchns and Six Sleeping Rooms. The sleeping soms will be furnished with everything necessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable nor for two horses, and carriage house, here is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, concected with the premises. Apply to E. C. TILSON, Proprietor, office 30 Baltimore Street.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PIANOS! CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

Having used the above Fertilizers for about EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desired so furchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boast, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hunds and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask, k. I can also furnish all kinds of Musical pooks, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

E. M. SPEDDEN. NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES .

OAKLAND, - MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY!

B. & O. R. R. Time-Table The following is the new time-table

GOING EAST 72—Accommodation ..

The fast trains, with the excel tion of those mentioned, make stop pages only at the First Class Sta tions. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, pas sengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25 cents. WM. M. CLEMENTS. Manager. C. K. LORD.

General Passenger Agent,

VALUABLE

FOR SALE. I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings

and a young orch: rd.
There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coaf on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county. JAS. A. HAYDEN, rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffer, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers, Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., SATI LDAY, JULY 5, 1890. NUMBER 20.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. office in Pritchard Building, Oakland,

GILMOR S. HAMILL AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing avestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Alle-any and the Court of Appeals Also in ad-lining counties of West Va.

Special attention given to Investigation f Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection Claims, Including claims against United ince, Nydegger building, Main St., aboy 6 5 '86 tf. WARING THOMAS.

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 10 6

J. W. VEITCH. VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

37 Office in the Court House,
July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER. ATTORNEY AT LAW AUSTICE OF THE PEACE.
Office in Pritchard Ruilding, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY.

Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m

DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT, PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. ## Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 3, 1885.—1y.

H. W. M°COMAS. M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON. OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his professional services to the poof Oakland and vicinity. 5 is office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church.

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second

Particular attention paid to cleaning and filling the natural teeth. Illing the natural teeth.

All work warranted to give satisfaction,
v3 n48

Dr. I. D. Newman, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. the Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to. 3 5 y

FOR SALE.

A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles North of Oakland, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outbuildings; twenty acres under cultivation. A fine young rehard is on the place.

For terms and further information, apply to 12 8 3m Successful Treatment of Disease A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY! MICROBE KILLER Successful Treatment. CURES:

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Bronchitis, Consumption, Malaria Rheumatism. Wonderful Tonic and Blood Purifier. selficacy of the Microbe Killer in cases of con-tion has been so effectually demonstrated that we striked in claiming for it cursative powers beyond of may herefore. Known. We do not elaim for it alone never in curing cases so far goose that cure possible but we do claim that it will cure any case a tine lungs are not more than haif gone. Persons to be a supported to the land of the property of the poor appeal to work and debilitated, will find it the one gallon stone juga. Price $3.00. ist about one month. Cheap; within the Physician of 17 years experience in office. Send for circular and information

Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, Philada. Par NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Rowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md.. without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 224, as for feioniously stealing goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down.

THEOS. B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES MULES!

We have opened

NEW

STOCK YARDS

BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any purpose.

Mules for Logging —and—

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station,

MILLS. PLANING

On W. Va. Cen. R. R.,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings, Seroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates. En Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work.

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of-

Boots and Shoes, Wagner's old stand, Railroad street. OAKLAND, MD.

Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov. 21, 85.— y.

WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING,

FARM FOR SALE. COAL& FIRE CLAY

I am authorized to sell a tarm of 250 acre Tam authorized to sen a harm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river.

This is a very destrable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.
The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing.
The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.
Cail on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Con Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

LUMBER BROKERS

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Belting, Olis, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or iron; Shafting, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggles, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First - Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE,

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES. OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT erences to actual clients in you ty, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

E PIRATES OF BORN O.

Wolff's ACME Blacking Ask in Paint, Drug and House Furnishing Pik-Ron, which WILL STAIN OLD & NEW FURNITURE
WILL STAIN GLASS AND CHINAWARE
WILL STAIN TINWARE
WILL STAIN TOUR OLD BASKETS
W/LL STAIN BABY'S COACH AND CAMANT THAN ONE TRY T.
WOLFF & RANDOLPH, Philadelpha.

PUBLIC SAFETY DEMANDS

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

That only honest and reliable medicines should be placed upon the market. It can-not, therefore, be stated too emplatically, nor repeated too often, that all wie are in need of a genuine Blood-purific should be sure and ask for

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that ofsome one Sarsaparilla. Your life, or that of some one near and dear to you, may deped on the use of this well-approved remedy n preference to any other preparation d similar name. It is compounded of Hondras sarsaparilla (the variety most rich is curative properties), stillingia, mandrak, yellow dock, and the iodides. The proces of man-ufacture is original, skilful, scripulously clean, and such as to secure the very best medicinal qualities of each ingredient. This medicine is not boiled nor heatel, and is, therefore, not a decoction; but it is a compound extract, obtained by a method ex-clustively our own, of the best and most powerful alteratives, tonics, and dureties known to pharmacy. For the last forty

Sarsaparilla

has been the standard blood-puriner of the world—no other approaching it in popular confidence or universal demand. Its form-ula is approved by the leading physicians and druggists. Being pure and highly con-centrated, it is the most economical of any possible blood medicine. Every purchaser of Sarsaparilla should insist upon having this preparation and see that each bottle bears the well-known name of

J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

In every quarter of the globe Ayer's Sar, saparilla is proved to be the best remedy for saparina is protected and the blood. Lowell druggists unite in testifying to the superior excellence of this medicine and to its great popularity in the city of its manufacture.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla PREPARED BY

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FARM FOR SALE!

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables

and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young or chard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER,

FIRE INSURANCE.

to those represented by me, I am now pre-pared to write policies on all kinds of proper-y on short notice and at reasonable rates. Special inducements and rates given on linsure your second farm property. Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. F. A. THAYER.

OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. ecured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, coun-

the island on the north, and for seven | ready. or eight years remained very quiet. Then, under the leadership of a Dyak brig's stern was toward the island. not been knocked to pieces by her called Riker they made three or four We vuletly tailed on to the spring shells was now on fire. We found captures in one year. England had which had been set and brought her about thirty dead bodies, men, womome international dispute about the

ed nothing. There was at this time taken so much pains to disguise the destroyed, and after the brig had islands, and John Bull fought shy of argued that it was for the purpose of good-bye we went on board. The complicating matters by opening a assisting us in our repairs. At any forest was now on fire in twenty war on people who even boasted that rate, at about 3 o'clock in the after- places, and the flames were not exthey were pirates. In this emergency the foreign trad- coming out. The sea was smooth ers on the peninsula, assisted by oth- and glassy, and we could see the craft twenty-five miles long by fifteen ers to Siam and along the China almost as soon as they left shore. wast, bought the brig Campa of her There were five of the native craft Scotch owners, and quietly fitted her called pranns. These are clumsyout as a man-of-war. She was a large, looking affairs to an European, but, stout and handsome craft, and was as a matter of fact, are light, buoyoutfitted at Pehang. She was armed ant and quite safe in a heavy sea. with nine guns on a side, with a None of those approaching us had "Long Tom" on a swivel, and when masts or sails, but were propelled she left Pehang she had 130 men by rowers. Each had a small iron aboard. This was crowding her cannon mounted on the bows, and somewhat, but as she was a clean, the rowing and steering was done new ship and well provisioned there from behind a screen or partition was no growling. Her crew had been which crossed the boat about a third picked up at half a dozen different of its length from the bow. As points, and were all sailors and they came nearer we could count bag more game. A man sent aloft white men. I am quite sure that the about twenty men in front of each with the glass reported a large vil-Captain and Lieutenant and fourteen screen. Some had muskets, and all English sailors aboard were quietly had the sword-like weapon called a natives running about in great exdrafted from H. M. S. Kildare, but kris. the others were runaway sailors from various American, French, German the ports ready to be dropped, the dropped anchor with a spring on the and Russian ships. When the brig most of our crew were out of sight cable. We could make out a great went out of Pehang she was a match behind the bulwarks. The prahns fleet of prahns riding at anchor off had a great plenty. guns.

ed, like a tea barge or a trader. It the five pranns dashed forward to the same crew returned with the was no use to hunt pirates with a board us. We let them come within man-of-war. They were altogether a quarter of a mile before we dropped too sharp to be caught under her the ports and run out nine guns, We cruised up and down the China grape. '.Bang!" "bang!" "bang!" Sea for a week, keeping well over to- went gun after gun, the muzzle of she would be sent to the bottom ward the Borneo cost, but met with each depressed for the short range, where she lay. Our first Lieutenant no adventure. Then we got the tail and, although we could see nothing did all the talking far us, and now end of a hurricane, which we rode for the smoke, we heard enough to he answered back that we refused to out safely, and after it subsided we satisfy us that great havoc had been surrender. The natives had perhaps limped along to the north with fore- wrought. While we waited for the expected this answer, for at a signal topmasts down and sails torn and smoke to lift some object dashed from the spokesman in the sampan a rent. A sailor looking at us from a against the brig, and next moment battery of six-pounders did open on distance of half a mile would have we were being boarded by about us at close range. Their gunnery was said that we had pulled through by thirty Dyaks. They belonged to a so poor, however, that only one shot the skin of our teeth. A dead calm prahn which had escaped injury, struck the brig in their half hour's usually follows a storm in that sea, and you can judge what manner of cannonade. We wanted to reply, but and as we were opposite Opokonoke, men they were. While they must the orders were to wait. Wait we or the westernmost island of the have realized that they had caught a did, and by and by the battery stop-Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C. | Phillipine group, we were not sur- Tartar, and while our broadside had | ped firing and four big prahns and as prised to find ourselves within five sunk or disabled the other craft, this many as thirty two-man sampans SALESMEN prised to find ourselves within five sunk or disabled the other craft, this many as thirty two-man sampens came sweeping out to us. The fellows was and without steerage way. This was dash. She'd have done it, too, had To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest very sultry morning and as the tide resched as ander cover of the smoke. very sultry morning, and as the tide reached us under cover of the smoke, easy victory, and they were within FROM BALTIMORE,
Ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work. Shop near "Browning House."

DAVID LITTLE.

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 31590

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 31590

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 31590

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 31590

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 31590

FROM BALTIMORE,
Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public. 31590

of pirates. The fellows made no se- doubtless coming as a scout to see finished the job. A dozen sampans cre of their trade, but practiced it how matters stood. He came straight had come out at the opening of the openly and holdly whenever oppor- on until within half a mile of us, and fight, some carrying one and some tunity offered. It was estimated by then halted and took a long survey, two men, and these picked up a few Lieutenant Cairn, of the English nas Our ports were up, yards askew, a stragglers and took them to shore. vy, that they numbered 15,000 able lot of raffle hanging over the stern. As was afterward known, the numbodied men. With the women and and it did not take him long to de ber of warrlors who came out was children and slaves the number could termine that we were a merchant 143. Of these only eleven escaped not have been less than 40 000. I in distress. To further this idea we death at our hands. We had no once saw a list of the ships captured | waved a white cloth at him, as if in- sooner disposed of the prahus than and destroyed by these pirates be- viting him to come on board. He four boats were dropped, each filled tween the years 1838 and 1850, and came no nearer, although he stood with well-armed men, and then we the number was over a hundred. As up and waved his arms, as if saying pulled for the beach. The anchor a rule everybody was put to death, that he would return to the shore and was lifted, and the brig drifted in but if exception was made the cap- bring us help, Back he went, pad- after our soundings until she was tive was doomed to labor as a slave. dling with all his might, and then brought by in four fathoms within In 1850 the English, with some as- we felt quite sure that the game was musket-shot of the beach. Then we sistance from other nations, opened a in our hards. The crew were called lay off for half an hour, while she crusade on the pirates and cleared the to quarters, shot, shell, and grape plied the woods with her shells, and islands. Those who got away fied passed up, and when cutlasses and when we landed it was to meet with to the northern end of Borneo and to pistols had been served out we were a scene of devastation. There had her hands pretty full at the time, and starboard broadside to bear. This en and children, and in the mouth of the single man-of-war sent out to manoeuvre might have aroused the a small river were three prahus and break up the new colony accomplish. suspicions of the Dyaks had we not about twenty sampans. These were brig. As it was, they doubtless noon, we caught sight of their fleet tinguished until they had burned for anything of her size ever floated, came on in line until about half a the beach, but these pirates had and no crew were ever under better mile away, and then they formed more tact and policy than those furdiscipline. She carried three extra in a line the other way. That is, ther down the coast. They did not boats, and, as I had helped to stow each was now bow on to us, with come rowing out to give us battle her ammunition, I knew that she an interval of not more than ten feet the first thing, but, a sampan in between them. You would have which were four men came out until There were men on the peninsula thought that they would play the within easy hail, and the one of the who were in communication with hypocrite a bit and try and get aboard men haired us with : the pirates, and to befog them we of us without any fighting or loss of ran off up the Gulf of Siam until we life, but that isn't Dyak nature. sighted Cape Campodis. Then we They didn't mean to spare a soul of headed to the northeast, and at once us, and they probably hoped for a our crew, and was then asked if it began the work of disguising the little shindy to make matters more brig. An old set of sails were bent exciting. They got it, sure enough. on, the paint pots brought out, and At a given signal each one of the In the course of twenty-four hours howitzers rent a solid ball whizzing we made the Relief, as she was call- at us. Every man raised a yell, and loaded with short fuse shell and been a good-sized village just oppo-As the tide was setting inshore, the site the brig, and such of it as had every tree and bush over a space broad. At about sundown we got a landbreeze and made an offing. We were not yet through with the pirates. We had simply dosed one batch of them. Standing to the northward all night under a light breeze brought us at daylight about opposite Aratora Bay, on the coast of this same island. We still held to our disguise, and as day dawned we holsted a flag of distress. This bay was known to be a piratical strenghold, and it was soon plain enough that we were going to lage on shore, with a great crowd of citement. We sailed in to within While our guns were loaded and half a mile of the beach, and then

> "What you ship want here?" He was informed that we had met with rough weather and lost four of were possible for us to ship half a dozen natives to help work the brig across to Saigon. He replied that he would see, and the sampan returned to the shore, After about an hour message that we should all come ashore in our boats and surrender as prisoners. He said that they had six guns in a battery upon the brig, and that if we did not obey the summons

The Republican.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

JENNY'S WHITE ROSE.

It was in the sweet June afternoon the busy house-wife sat All alone, save on the hearth-rug dozed the sleek gray household cat;
For the small feet, wont to patter on the spot-less kitchen floor.

In the sunny summer weather chased the daisied meadows o'er. Out of doors the nois /allows twittered un-derneath the eave., And a breezy joy had set a-quiver all the ancient poplar's leaves,

While the shining ripples chased each other through the tender wheat
And the breath of clover blossoms from the mowing fields came sweet. In the quaint old garden there were roses, white

There were ranks of gay Sweet Williams, and of pinks a showy bed;
Balm with cups of sweetest nectar that the vagrant bees loved well,
And a clump of fringy southernwood that gave a

By the open window, with her mending basket by her side, Wearily the shining needle long the busy housewife plied:
Wearily, with many a sigh, for Jenny's heart was out of tune

With the gladness of the sunshine of the rare June afternoon

Ah! it was the same old story! Woman's work was never done!

Always one dull round of labor from the dawn till set of sun! Weeds were choking up her flower-beds; there upon the shelf unread

Lay the precious book of poems she so long had coveted.

Lost in discontented musings, scarce did Jenny's listless ear Catch the sound of Robin's cheery whistle and swift footsteps near; When a brown hand playfully was laid upon her

Stroked it with a tender touch, and left a white It was but a simple white rose, and a brown

And her eyes grew dim and tender with a sudden, happy rain; somehow that white rose in her hair had made her young again! Yes!-had she forgotten?-it was when the rose her weariness:

Robin of his love had told her in that lovely "long ago:"
First, with hand a-tremble, stuck a white rose in her silken braid,
And with stolen kiss a blush rose of her fair. young cheek had made.

And the heart of Jenny smote her, for in those bright days long gone he had fondly thought to toll for Robin should loyal heart of his If so soon love tired of service, tired of humble

And she hummed a love song softly, while her needle flew apace;

For somehow that white rose in her hair had set her heart in tune With the music and the sunshine of the sweet June afternoon.
—Mrs. H. E. M. Allen, in Inter Ocean.

TWO LITTLE RUNAWAYS.

Their Grievances and What They Missed by Going.

ever have known anv but for Keziah. of it, of course. There are some er can keep any

She had to tell slaves." selves, and Keziah is one of them.

She washes for us every Monday, and she takes a great deal more interest in our family concerns than I like. She gives mother advice about me, too, and of course I don't like that. Lulu Fenwick says she wouldn't stand it, but I'd like to know how she'd manage Keziah. She couldn't even keep her from telling about that day we ran

You see, Lulu and I always have thought we were not treated the way we ought to be. Our mothers are so hard on us. Lulu has to do all the cham- Tom Briggs took me nutting last fall." ber work and help wash the breakfast maid-of-all-work at ours. But I attend to the baby most of the time, and when I tell mother I want push right on."

WE CLIMBED A GRASSY KNOLL. some recreation, she says I can weed out the flower-beds or go to the store on an errand. If our baby was like some babies have seen, and would take naps real you'll just tell me where we're going to often, I wouldn't mind so much having l to see to him; but he keeps awake all day long as a general thing, and he never is satisfied unless I am hunting butterflies for him, or rolling him around in a little cart Tom Briggs-that's Keziah's boy-made for him. But I wouldn't have made up my mind to run away just because of the baby. It was because mother and Mrs. Fenwick wouldn't let Lulu and me go to an exhibition of wax-works at Bromdrive, but we would have walked sooner for I'd been the one to propose running ship of about 350,000. than not go, for it was only six miles. rick and mother both said they she liked, but that she had been the tried on one of the roads, which can couldn't afford it. They wouldn't let one who had put the idea into my lead make, average time, ninety miles an

the admission fee of fifty cents to pay, Lulu cried, and so did I, but it didn't about it. do any good.

She said she knew there must be lots and lots of people who would be glad to adopt us if they only knew about us, and that we could look for some old peo ple living in the country, without chil- terror. dren, and awful lonely. She said there were plenty of 'em, if we only knew where to find 'em. We talked it all over one night at our gate, and we decided that if we were ever going, the sooner we went the better it would be, for we might miss some good chance of being adopted. So we left the very next morning. We each took a tin pail, so people would think we were going blackberrying; but in the pails were the things we wanted to take with us. Mother was upstairs with the baby when I left, and Keziah was out in the yard under the cherry tree, washing blankets. "Tell mother I've gone down in the pasture, Keziah," I said.

"You'd best tell her yourself," said Keziah. "You know she wouldn't let you go off this way, and not a stroke of work done in the house yet. And you won't find no blackberries. There's been Bromfield people pickin' in them pastures, and they've cleaned out every blackberry they could lay their fingers hand's light caress, Yet it cured so quickly all her heartache and takin' care of the baby, and it's ashamed you ought to be of yourself, too, and

> Of course I felt like answering back; but I didn't. She couldn't know that she was looking on my face for the last time, and I felt sure she would be sorry for her harsh words when I was gone, and she realized, as day afterday passed, and I was mourned perhaps for dead, that she would never see me again. Besides, I felt sorry for her because she ised such poor grammar.

your ma so delikit.'

I found Lulu down in the pasture sitting on an old stump. She looked dreadfully serious.

"It was harder to come away than I thought it would be," she said. "I wish I hadn't been obliged to do it."

"Well, we were obliged, and that is all there is about it," I said. "Things were getting worse all the time. The idea of our not going to the wax-works exhibition! It was mortifying. Every body I met asked me if I'd been, and I didn't know what excuse to make."

We climbed a grassy knoll, as they say in stories, and stood there, looking our last on our homes. That is, we thought it was our last, and of course we couldn't look into the future and see what really happened.

"I am glad I did up all the chamber work before I left," said Lulu. "Mother can't reproach me for any thing." "They'll appreciate us when we are gone," I answered. "Now they take all thing about it our sacrifices as a matter of course, and, without compunction, work us like Lulu said I talked just like a heroine in a novel. That is the secret of my inpeople who nev- fluence over her-she thinks I know so much more than most girls of my age. thing to them- And I suppose I do. We didn't dare go on the main road; so we struck for the woods and walked into the thick of it before we stopped. Then we turned around three times, with our eyes shut, and said some magic words I made up expressly. "This is the way," I said, pointing to my right.

And we walked off without the slightest idea where we were going. We talked about the future at first, vondering how soon we would come to some palatial residence, and on what sort of beds we would sleep that night. "We must get out of these woods, or we'll have to sleep right here on the roots," said Lulu, at last. "We won't find any palatial residences in this I went through most of it when wood. "People say it is twenty miles long," dishes at her house, and I am general I answered; "and there's no telling what we'll find when we come to the end of that twenty miles. We must

> So we kept going, but presently Lulu said she was hungry, and then we found out that neither of us had thought to bring any thing to eat.

> Of course there was no use worrying over it; we simply had to endure it; but we got hungrier and hungrier the further we went. "We must have gone at least twenty niles," Lulu said, at last, "and I'm so tired out I can't go any further." Well, if hadn't known how to talk to er, she would have sat right down tell. where she was, and starved to death, for all I know. But I kept my presence of mind, and told her she must go on whether she wanted to or not: that sitting down was not to thought of for a moment. Then she began to talk about home, and to wonder what her little sister Eva was doing, and if Bennie had cried after her. And I saw she was beginning to feel sorry she had left. "I don't believe I like running away, after all," she said, tearfully; "and if sleep to-night, Anna Sophia, I'd be

I didn't like her tone at all, but I ept my temper-for I am glad to say that I have it under good control-and I told her that we were at least fifteen or eighteen miles from home, I felt come to a house soon; there couldn't be any doubt about that. Lulu said it was very well to talk

Every body who had been to it said was nearly dark, and see was afra of the was just grand, and, of course, Lulu bears and snakes; and if she was killed in those woods it would be all my fuit. SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—There are 254 registered trade unions in England and Wales, with a member-away. us go alone, and it would cost three first, with her stories of rich old gettle- hour. dollars to hire a team, and there was men adopting girls and leaving tem —The effect of the electric light cur-

And so we decided to run away. Lulu then and we got along very well for the vessel's reckoning. said she had just been reading in a awhile, but the woods began to gow —Paper is made in H newspaper about a girl who had a dark and the owls and the whip-por- vines; and it is claimed that the fibre cats would come and kill us.

> Every time Lulu stepped on a not she screamed out, thinking it ws a snake, and once a bat flew right nto her face. But we didn't dare sit down, and would have to stop soon, we kept stuggling on.

perhaps imagine. It was a house at last, we felt sure. We were so tired we couldn't go any faster, and it seemed an hour before we stepped out at last into a little clearing,

PLEASE CAN WE SLEEP HERE TO-NIGHT? in the middle of which stood a small wandering Indian vine.

The door was open, and there was a ust staggered in. "Please can we sleep here to-night?" demonstrated.

I asked. "We have walked all the way from Bondville, and are worn out."

I told her I didn't think there was any its virulence until 204 and 252 days had once attacks and affects the heart, parthing to laugh at, and presently she elapsed. All trace of the other organ- alyzing it. stopped.

"You've been off on some foolishness, Anna Sophia," she said. "Runnin' away, I guess. Well, I reckon you've had enough of it, by the looks of you. Got turned round in the woods, I s'pose, and like as not been walkin' in a circle. Well, I never seen the beat! And you chose a poor day for your fun, too, for you hadn't been gone half an hour when your Uncle Solomon over to Bromport drawing in which the central figure was came by in a waggin and took your ma an' Miss Fenwick and Eva and Benjy all over to Bromfield to see them wax figgers. Your ma had me run to the day with a grin on his face and the pictpasture to see if you was there, but I didn't see no sign of you, so off they went. Your Uncle Solomon was goin' to treat, and they laid out to stay to some goin's-on this evenin'. I reckon they ain't come back yet." I thought right off that there was a chance for us to get home and go to bed, and no one but Keziah need ever know we had been gone all day.

So I asked her if she wouldn't please keep it to herself that we'd run away. She wouldn't promise, and so I told her I would leave it to her good nature and sense of justice, and she said that fur cider." sounded just like me, and she'd think it over and try to discover what I was driving at.

Then we went home, Keziah going ahead with a lantern; and the minute I had got something to eat, I went to bed. And I was never so tired in all my life.

Mother came home about half an how later, and she came up in the dark to Solomon's treat, and that she hadn't been able to keep me out of her mind

Then she kissed me and went down-

But she did. She was in the kitchen when I went down to breakfast the next morning, and I saw by the way mother looked at me that she knew all about it. She didn't say any thing, however, and I was thankful for that; but I think she felt that I had been punished enough, for I was so stiff, and my feet were so sore I could hardly get around. If it had only stopped with telling other I wouldn't have cared very much: but it didn't. Keziah wasn't satisfied until every body in Bondville knew that Lulu and I had run away, and the questions eople asked us were perfectly dread.

Lulu and I were the only ones who didn't see any joke in the matter. It seems a pity we made such a failure of that day; but, as Mrs. Fenwick sure, and if we pushed on bravely we'd told Lulu, I think we learned a lesson, for we haven't talked any since about leaving home, and Lulu doesn't tell any more stories about rich old gentlemen about pushing on, but her feet were liking to adopt girls just like us .- Florsore, and she'd torn her dress, and it ence B. Hallowell, in Golden Days

-A locomotive engine has been per-

It was no use to tease, for Mrs. Fen- I said she might blame it on me it fected in England, and was recently money. My feet were sore, too, and my rent on the compasses of some vessels dress was torn, but I wasn't going tory is so great that it becomes necessary to determine how many hours the dynamo Lulu was a little ashamed of hemelf has been running before working out -Paper is made in France from hop mother who abused her, and she ran away, and a kind old gentleman who lived in grand style adopted her, and when he died left her all his money.

I had ever heard about snakes and secured is the best substitute for rags bears and wildcats came into my mind. length, strength, flexibility and delicacy.

If we lay down to sleep I was sure wild—

In cases where there has been excessions and the scalamed that the fibre vines; and it is claimed that the fibre vines; and it is claimed that the vines; and it is claimed that the vines; and it is claimed that the vines; and it is claimed -In cases where there has been exces-It grew so dark after a time that we bolted to beams or girders of the upper couldn't see our hands before our faces, stories of buildings hanging heavy and we hung on to each other in dealy weights from the bottom of the engines has overcome the vibration almost entirely.

> tensive use in Germany for propellers and other fittings for boats. The alloy consists of 90 per cent. of copper and 10 though I was beginning to think we per cent. of aluminium, looks like gold, and has the same weight as iron. -Great progress is being made in

All at once we saw a light ahea of rapid photography. Lord Rayleigh has us. Yes, it was really a light, and wat shotographed a minute jet of water in we felt when we realized that yet the 100,000th of a second; and a new camera takes ten successive views a secold on the turning of a crank.

-Aluminium bronze is coming into ex-

-A new disinfectant has made its ap-It is a combination of camphor with sulphurous acid, containing over sixty room is gradually evolved. -Experiments have recently been ously with yellow and black.

madein Spain on the action of sunlight bottles on the roof for years.

It is preferred to metal, as it weird and wholly imaginary stories. The material is said to finish up in the familiar about the place, but I was too semblageof 300 persons. The pulsating the

The woman turned sharp around, and the light of the candle fell full on her face. It was Keziah.

"Good land," she exclaimed, "If it the animals killed were either buried that most incroses succumb soon after their victims have died. Tests were made with nine different micro-organisms and the bodies of nounce that the physiological action of nounce that the physiological action of the orice.

isms was lost in from three days to a

Asiatic cholera and lockjaw. BILL'S LITTLE MISTAKE.

He Could Size Up a Tin Peddler But Was A New York artist who was down on the Jersey shore sketching and painting The buyer took it away well pleased troubled. with his purchase, but returned next ure under his arm and said: "I've got a son Bill to home."

"He ain't but fifteen years old." "Yes." "He's got tow hair and a cataract eye, ut he's smarter'n chain lightning.

"Indeed, but I'm glad to hear it." "I hadn't this picture home five minits when Bill set up a-roarin' and laughing and pinted out-what d'ye think? You've a-mowing left handed. I might never have noticed it, but you can't fool Bill

"My dear man," answered the artist 'did you ever see Father Time?" "Of course not."

"Did your son Bill ever see him?" Sartinly not. He ain't to be sawed." "Well, then, how do either of you know whether he was right or

"By gum!" gasped the farmer as he see me and to tell me how sorry she was stood with open mouth, "you've got the that Lulu and I had missed Uncle voke on us. That's it, how do we know? I've had three different hired men who were left-handed, and I've knowed other folks to be. I jist jumped at it without takes it in, rolls it up for an hour or takening to think. When Bill began to two, and then presses it. An old cotton two, and then presses it. stairs, and I did hope Keziah wouldn't haw-haw and pint to the seythe, I jist sot in and agreed with him. Say, mister."

"Yes."

"I've got a son Bill." "Well." "He's smarter'n chain lightning a sizing up a tin peddler, but the biggest fool in the State on picturs."-N. Y. Sun. A Bit of Impudence. Cholly-Excuse my asking, but do you really enjoy talking to yourself? I have noticed you have that habit.

Dolly-I suppose I enjoy it, but why do you ask? Cholly-O, I didn't know whether you did or not. You see, I didn't know but that the enjoyment you took in talking to yourself was counterbalanced by the infliction of having to listen to yourself at the same time. - Terre Haute Ex-

And Chapple Ceased to Smile. "Clara Johnson says you and I are engaged, Ethel," said Chappie. "Clara Johnson always did say every spiteful thing about me she could think

THE GILA MONSTER.

Same Experiments with the Poison of This "Is he poisonous?" said a young man behind the newspaper stand at the Na-

"Well, I should say he was. It deau. isn't his breath, though. A man from Arizona said that the forked tongue was the sting.

"You're wrong," said a listener, "its breath is what kills people. I heard a woman say that a single blast of its breath was sure death. "That may be," said another, "but I saw a man die from the bite of one, and that is the secret of it. I'd rather have the great philosopher, let me make the a rattler bite me any day." "Where was it?" queried a startled listener.

"Over in Arizona," was the reply. "A friend of mine had one in a box just outside of a saloon, and one day a chap came along who was so drunk that he was ready to eat up the earth. He was afraid of nothing, and when he saw the box and the sign 'Hands Off-Poisonous,' he swore he could handle it, and before they could prevent him he ripped off the slats and made a grab at it. The thing twisted around and bit him on the finger, and to make a long story short, I saw him die in the middle of the street a short time after.' The subject of all this conversation was a pale yellow-and-black, blunt-headed lizard about a foot in length, that rested upon a bed of sand in a small wooden

box. It was the famous Gila monster of Arizona, the only poisonous lizard in the world, and as ugly and disagreeable petrance under the name of thiocamph. a looking creature as one could imagine. The head was long and blunt, the eyes black and beadlike, the tail half the times its volume of sulphurous acid gas, length of the body, thickset and clubwhich, upon its exposure in a warm like. The entire body seemed incased in a thinly coated armor, marked curi-

The Gila monster is sluggish and slow in maturing wines. Layers of new of movement, in this respect being enwine a bottles of colored glass have tirely different from the tribe in genbeen exposed to the direct rays of the eral. In its own country the animal sun, with the result that both flavor and shows more activity, especially in the quality have been improved. In the dry, hot regions continuous to the Gila south of Europe there has been a prac- river. In confinement it has the habits tice of rpening cognac by exposing the of a young alligator more than anygo ahead. You can't get blood out of a thing else. The interest which centers -A regular industry is being started in the heloderma, lies in the poison that in this cuntry in the manufacture of is supposed to lurk in its bite, and pergearing or electric railways out of raw haps no animal has given rise to so many makes far less noise and wears better. The natives and some ignorant whites suppose that its breath is poisonous. working is well as metal. The use of Others think that to have one touch the this materal indicates that very severe body is a bad sign. The heloderma is strains as brought to bear upon cogs simply a lizard, and the only one not capabe, if of metal, of standing the known that can poison other animals by its bite: a discovery made a few years ago -The dectric microscope promises to by some naturalists who were traveling cabin, covered with morning-glory and make some wonderful revelations in the through the country. The story was world of science. At a recent medical not at first believed, but several were congress in Europe microscopical prepar- sent east, where the poisonous properwoman sitting with her back to it, at a ations unler a magnifying power of 11,- ties were soon demonstrated. A naturtable. There seemed to me something | 000 linear were made visible to an as- alist at the Smithsonian was bitten, the ison taking effect so quickly that tired to pay any attention to it, and we heart of a dog and the heart beats pro- he had barely time to call for help. duced by suffocation were successfully Small animals soon died after being bitten, and it was shown that human be--Experiments recorded by the medi- ings, under certain conditions, might cal press indicate that most microbes easily die from the effects of the bite.

ain't Anna Sophia! All the way from a kept under water or exposed to the the poison is entirely different from Bondville, be ye? Well, that ain't but air. The bacillus of fowl cholera was that of snakes. The latter destroys life half a mile off," and she burstout laugh seldom found after three weeks, but by paralyzing the respiratory center, the tubercular microbe did not lose while the poison of the heloderma at

> Among the interesting experiments week, including those of typhoid fever, that of injecting the poison subcutaneously has been tried. There was no local effect, the heart being at once affeeted, slowly contracting, the spinal cord finally becoming paralyzed.

> It is probable that the condition of the victim or his general health would have much to do with the question of death. last summer sold a farmer a crayon If a man was in a poor condition and run down he would possibly die, while a old Father Time with his deadly scythe. healthy man would not be seriously

> Specimens sent to Europe were experimented upon by Sir John Lubbock. A frog bitten by the lizard died in a few seconds in convulsions. A guinea pig bitten in the hind leg passed away in three minutes, and other animals died equally as quick, creating in the minds of the observers a decided respect. If the teeth of the specimen at the Nadeau House are examined they will be found to have curious fissures, and a further and closer look into the mouth of the monster will show at the base of gone and drawed old Father Time the grooves small dents from which the poisonous saliva flows. The heloderma is an interesting creature, and while not always sure death, it is well to keep it at a distance and handle it with the care and respect due its unsavory reputation.

Los Angeles (Cal.) Tribune.

Take, for, instance, a shiny old cont. vest or pair of pants, of boadcloth, cassimere or diagonal. The scourer makes a strong, warm soap-suds and plunges the garment into it, souses it up and down, rubs the dirty places, if necessary puts it through the second suds, then rinses it through several waters, and hangs it to dry on the line. When nearly dry he cloth is laid on the outside of the coat, and the iron passed over that until the wrinkles are out; but the iron is removed before the steam ceases to rise from the goods, else they would be shiny. Wrinkles that are obstinate are removed by laying a wet cloth over them, and passing the iron over that. If any shiny places are seen, they are treated as the wrinkles are; the iron is lifted while the full cloud of steam rises. and brings the nap with it. Cloth should always have a suds made especially for it, since in that which has been used for white cotton or woolen cloths lint will oe left and cling to the cloth .- Hall's Journal of Health.

To Restore Worn Clothing.

-The remark of Walter Besant, in "The Bell of St. Paul's," that "this is an age of Apollinaris water," is forcibly illustrated by the statement that no less than 15,822,000 bottles were filled at the Apollinaris spring in the year 1889.

-It is much safer to walk in the path of a cyclone before it is made than while k is being made.-Kentucky State Jour-

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS

-The height of fashion and the height of folly are much alike. - Atchison

I've called her angel times a score: Now that we've wed I've seen her sleep, And, as I've also heard her snore, I ne'er can call her angel more.

-He-"Why does that Miss Jaundice always wear lilies of the valley?" She-"I can't imagine-particularly as flowers of the plain would be so much more appropriate."—Life. -Mr. Vox Populi-"In the words of songs of the nation, and I care not who makes the laws." Mr. Fiat Justitia-'But if you sing the songs, Voxy, I want to make the laws."-Once a Week.

learned man, my son, is one who is so firmly convinced that he knows more than anybody else, that it is less trouble to take him at his own estimate than to. undeceive him."-Van Dorn's Magazine. -Boston Girl-"Papa, Mr. Toney is coming here to-night to press his suit with you." Boston Papa-"Does the young man appreciate what an alliance with our house means?" Boston Girl-"Yes, papa, but Albert says he is bound to have me at any price."-N. Y. Ledger. -Blokson is a great fellow for recounting his exploits as a fisherman.

-"Pa, what is a learned man?"

'Do you believe," he asked a friend one day, "in the saying that truth is stranger than fiction?" "I don't know about its being stranger," was the reply, "but there are sources from which it is a great deal more unexpected."-Washington Post. -It cost the cigarette men $500,000 last year to supply the packages with do away with them. They have probably concluded to kill the boys without corrupting their morals with chromos and for this much the country should be thankful.-Detroit Free Press. -Tom-"Look here, Dick, enough oking about this. I'm in earnest now, and I demand, sir, that you pay me that ten you borrowed." Dick-"So you're getting on your dignity, are you? Well, pictures, and all have now combined to turnip, you know." Tom-"I'm not trying to-I am trying to get money out of a beat."—Munsey's Weekly.

—Miss Debut—"You know every lady is expected to wear her favorite flower at the reception Tuesday evening." Miss Oldmayd-"Indeed! And what shall you wear?" Miss Debut-"O, a rosebud, I think." Miss Oldmayd-"Dear me, I don't know what to wear. Can't you suggest something?" Miss Debut-

"How would a spray of elder flowers -Wife-"What is this mending and repairing company that is advertised in the papers, John?" Husband-"It is a company that has been formed to meet long-felt want. Garments in need of repair and buttons and things are taken in and fixed for a small sum." Wife-'A good thing for bachelors, I should Husband-"And for married men. too, my dear; for married men, too." Then, after attaching his pantaloons to his suspender with a safety-pin, he went out on the stoop to see what kind of a #### night it was.-Boston Courier. THE COLOSSUS OF RHODES.

What This and Other Famous Statues Have Probably Cost, The famous Colossus of Rhodes, which was made of bronze and was seventy cubits (or about one hundred and five feet) in height, was twelve years in making, and is said to have cost only 300 talents, or about £75,000, if we reckon the Attic talent, or £102,000 if we reckon the other talent, and probably the other talent is to be reckoned in this case. At all events, the so-called Colossus of the Sun, in the Capitol, which was a bronze figure of Appolla, only thirty cubits-or forty-five feet English-high, brought by Marcus Lucullus from Appollonia, in Pontus, cost five hundred talents, which, if reckoned even as Attic talents, would be over £125,000, and it would hardly be probable that the Colossus of Rhodes, which was twice its height, could have been executed for so much less. But this is a trifle compared to the price paid for a colossal statue of Mercury, made for the city of Averni, in Gaul, by Zenodorus. On this work he was engaged for ten years and the cost of it was £335,000.

What the gold and ivory Athena of Phidias in the Parthenon, or his Zeus at Olympia cost is stated by any ancient author. The gold employed on the movable drapery alone of the Athena was over forty talents in weight of unalloyed gold, according to Thucydides, whose exactness in such matters is above suspicious. This would be equivalent to some £116,000 in coin, while a single lock on the head of the Zeus at Olympia weighed six minæ, or about the value of nearly £5,000. For the famous statue of Diadumenos, which was a bronze figure of life size, representing a youth tying a fillet round his head, Polycleitus received 100 talents, or about £25,000.— Blackwood's Magazine.

BREAKING IT GENTLY. A Request Which Was Not so Bad as the Old Gentleman Expected.

Two soft white arms go stealing around his neck, and a fair, peach-like cheek is rubbed caressingly against his own. Faintly whispered "Dear papa," and "Darling old boy," and "Don't you love your own caramel?" reach his startled ears as he vainly attempts to pull himself together and avoid the loving, sugar-coated attack which he well knows is coming.

"Well, daughter mine," he finally asks, "what is it? Not another new dress, surely?" "O, no, papa darling." "H-m-m, that's good. And it can't be the milliner again?" "No, papa love." "H-m-m, better still. It isn't the florist?"

"No, you dearest papa."

Munsey's Weekly.

want a trip to Europe, do you?" "No, you lovely old dear." "Well, what in the name of goodness do you want, my little girl?" "Darling papa mine, I don't want any thing-ah-that is-Jack wants me,'

"H-m-m, great Scott! You don't

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

BROTHER JOHN'S OPINIONS. How One Home Came Near Being Blight-ed by the "Social Glass."

wavering, half-formed opinions, but ing his paper, and I keeping my hands great, strong, well finished ones, delivered with a promptness and an emphy.

With my box ered with a promptness and an empha- with my boy. sis that was at times truly exasperating to a contrary-minded person.

I had opinions, too, but years of con- the room, that he believed I was ruining every thing exactly right.

and deferred to him in every thing, and strike eleven — twelve— one— two-had left this world firmly convinced that three. What could be the matter! Har it contained but one wise and good man, ry had promised to come home early and and that one was John. With her last I had never known him to stay out so thetic Reflections. breath she had implored me to stay and care for her little Harry, then but two I could en promised to stay with her little one.

and seldom gave me any trouble; he was Harry. ror of my own; tried to impress upon wrong, and, above all things, to make three fear and loathe the drink habit. I endeavored to make him "Look not upon the wine," was as imperative in our day as it was centuries ago. Then it was that Brother John often came between us with his opin-

he was the idol of his family; but he, too, believed that a man could drink like a gentleman. It was the same old story; only a social glass at first, but thus the appetite was born and nourished which finally became his master and at last he died, a miserable drunkard. and I have often thought that I suffered almost as keenly as did my mother, for devotion of my childish heart.

I used to attempt to talk to John about Uncle Dick, but he always poohed at what he called my "foolish notions," and gave it as his opinion that Uncle happens when a boy is growing to manhood, that he looks upon father as his ideal. Mother or auntie are privileged past redemption, and that terrible very likely we will read of young lamind that they are only women, after wasn't a fool and that it was his "opinto look out for himself.

Days and weeks passed on until the ut where he spent his evenings. He had a latch-key and I knew Nettie H. Pelham, in Union Signal. that he often came in quite late at night, for, somehow, I never could go to sleep till I knew my boy was safe at home. I would have preferred to sit up and let him into the house, since it was useless for me to attempt to sleep, but it was John's opinion that the boy old enough to take care of himself and he might just as well have a latch-key and come in when he got ready. Some times when Harry came home I would hear him stop and fumble with the lock and often, when he entered, his steps sounded faltering and uncertain, and the next morning I would notice that he looked pale and haggard.

How I suffered those days! I was constantly haunted by the fear that the tempter was laying his snares for my boy, but it was useless for me to talk to John about it, and so I suffered alone; and Oh! the keenest agony the heart can bear is that which it must bear in silence. One night, I can never forget it, it was dark and windy, and the snow was steadily falling. I was strangely depressed that evening; I seemed to have a presentiment of some threatening evil. We had our tea at six and, as Harry was preparing to go down town as usual, I said to him: "Harry, why don't you stay with us this evening, it is so dark and stormy:" but he only laughed and Rural New Yorker.

said he guessed the storm wouldn't hurt aim any and he would come home early I could not have told why I so dreaded to have him leave the house, but I alost shuddered as the door closed behind him. John seldom went down town Brother John always had an opinion in the evening, and so we sat together Will never see the point until you diagram your

At ten o'clock John lighted his lamp

and went to bed, remarking, as he left

stant association with John had led me | my eyes working so much by lamplight. to keep mine pretty well in the back- So, knowing that it fretted him to have ground, lest they clash with his and re- me sit up late, I wearily prepared for bed, troversies in which I always came out second best, through sheer lack of breath to keep up the argument. John was a good man, though as the world the sound of 1 lay and listened for was a good man, though as the world the sound of 1 lay and listened for sult in one of those long, tiresome con- although I felt sure I should not sleep. was a good man, though, as the world the sound of Harry at the door. Every views it, honest and upright, and always noise seemed unnaturally loud, and ready to lend a hand to a brother in dis- scores of times I lifted my head from tress; he was conscientious, too, and, looking from his standpoint, he did What a noise the mice made in the garret overhead, and how mournfully the Brother John's frail, pretty little wife old tree beside my window creaked and had lived just long enough to strengthen bits belief in the infallibility of his own swayed it to and fro. How slowly the opinions and ideas. She had yielded hours dragged away. I heard the clock

I could endure it no longer and I rose, years old; and I, having no ties to keep dressed myself and went back to the me elsewhere, had listened to the plead-sitting-room. I lifted the curtain and ing voice of the dying mother, and had looked out; I could see by the light of the street lamp that it had stopped It was an easy matter to learn to love snowing, but what was that dark object the pretty, winsome child, and, day by that lay across the walk? Could it be day, he crept into my lonely heart and a human form partly covered by the grew nearer and dearer, till it almost drifted snow? I looked a moment eemed that God's sunshine would lose longer; yes, I was certain that it was a its brightness should any harm befall person lying there and then, Oh! the my boy. He was a good little fellow, thought came to me that it might be gentle and yielding, like his mother. I hurriedly called John, telling him I used sometimes to be fearful that he that there was a person lying out on I hurriedly called John, telling him was almost too yielding, and I used to our sidewalk, but I dared not tell him wonder how it would be when he should of the awful fear that had seized me. grow up and go out into the great world; He was dressed in a moment and when whether he would have enough strength he came he asked why I had not called of character to take him unscathed Harry: he looked surprised when I rethrough all its snares and temptations. plied that Harry had not come home I tried to make his mind a perfect mir- yet. I saw him glance quickly at the clock and an anxious look came over him all my convictions of right and his face when he saw that it was after

We hastened out through the deep snow; John reached the form just before see that there was no safety even I did, and as he lifted it in his arms and in tasting liquor, and that the mandate, the light from the street-lamp flashed across the face, I heard him cry out: "Oh, my God! it's Harry

Yes, it was indeed Harry who had fallen and lain there, we knew not how ions. John was what is known as a long. That he was intoxicated we

I was some years older than John and I could remember, in my early childhood, the death of a dearly loved uncle who died from the effects of strong drink. Young, handsome and talented, he was the ideal of the interval of the poor boy before the doctor came. I shall never forget the look of the market. It is also somewhat peculiars which its lower edge or surface will coincide they did not succeed in obtaining from the very humanity. It is a very femarkable fact, nevertheless, that a diminished demand for coal has no effect on shed demand for coal has no effect on the market. It is also somewhat peculiars which its lower edge or surface will coincide with the line of solder about the edge of the lid of the can. This construction will be understood by reference to find the market. It is also somewhat peculiars which its lower edge or surface will coincide with the line of solder about the edge of the lid of the can. This construction will be understood by reference to agony on John's face while we waited the market. It is also somewhat pecufor the doctor's arrival. Somehow, as I lcoked at him, I seemed to see the bigoted man, with all his wearisome opinfather with all a father's love and him to let go that part which does not As a child I was old beyond my years terrible anxiety written upon his face. When the doctor came he relieved arxiety by telling us that the boy was of ice, or rather ice two inches thick, tor. While the process described relates I loved this young uncle with all the not so badly frozen as we had feared, will support a man. In summer it sup-boen fatal." The weeks passed in tedious recovery, Dick must have been decidedly weak- he thought he was able to walk down- an inch of ice will support the ice-man, minded or he would never have allowed town again his father told him that he his family and all his relatives. woold like a few moments' talk with ly because a man drank there was no him; they went together into Harry's tion—how about the young man of limoccasion for making a beast of himself. room and the few moments lengthened ited means and his lady friend with the I cared but little how John expressed into an hour. I never knew what was unlimited yearning for the delicacy? If himself before me, but it hurt me when said during that hour, but I am sure the price of ice cream is to be increased, he carelessly expressed such views be- there were no angry words spoken, for It is not a bit too soon for him to quit fore Harry; for, somehow, it so often when they came out there was a gentle, the country or get married. softened expression on each face.

to guide the faltering footsteps and night's experience was his salvation, for dies fainting in front of ice cream salisten to the little troubles when he is never since then has he drank one drop a child; but too often, as he grows older, of liquor; and, as the years go by, he it dawns upon his swiftly maturing grows braver and stronger and more

all, and he is going to be a man like | And John? Well, brother John still father, and so it comes about that he has his opinions, and in many respects acts like father, talks like father and they differ widely from mine, but upon thinks like father. Once or twice I re- the subject which is nearest to my monstrated with John about expressing heart, the Temperance subject, we are such opinions before Harry, but he firmly united; for never since that fate-proudly told me he guessed his boy ful night when our boy came so near losing his life within the very shadow ion" that Harry was about old enough of his home has John had aught but condemnation for the social glass.

Oh, how many Johns there are to-day winter my boy was eighteen, then it who are carelessly giving their sanction seemed to me that his character was un- and approval to this death-dealing dergoing a subtle change; he seemed to traffic that is blighting the homes of losing something of his straightfor- our country, far and near? But wait, ward, manly ways and had a habit which only wait until the curse comes to their I scarcely liked, of evading my ques- own door, and then perchance they, too, will change their "opinions."

> Congressman Stewart and Temperance, Congrecsman Stewart, of Georgia, in a recent address in Washington, related the following touching story which, he said, led him to become interested in the cause of Temperance: "When a lad. living among the Georgia hills, he had a friend, bright and promising, who married a beautiful and wealthy girl. He fell a victim to drink, and coming nome once in a debauch, seized a little child who ran forward to meet him and dashed it against the wall. Not knowing what he had done he threw himself upon the bed and was soon in a drunken sleep. When told a few hours later by the crazed wife and mother that the child was dead, he dashed out of the house and no one saw him again. That day," Mr. Stewart said, "I looked up to God and swore that I would always fight the curse."-N. Y. Witness.

> VERY many farmers are thoroughly onvinced that the money spent for liquor ought to go for the purchase of ood and clothing. There is no way of telling the exact amount of injury done to the business of farming by the liquor traffic. We would better all confine our energies to a consideration of this truth: "Civilization must destroy the liquor traffic or be destroyed by it." --

THE MAN WHO CAN NOT LAUGH. are are scores of individuals we really can'

adore, and the chiefest of the number is the very trying bore Who, when you're feeling jolly and a little fun

th! it would be a pleasure just to write the low like a biting frost that chills the roses in their bloom tre some individuals who wear a cloak of and hide away the shadow of the man who can avoid the sun.

The deeper, sober thought within the heart should have a place,
But let glad laughter now and then the cares of way with him who cannot sift the kernels from the chaff;

This world could wag along without the man who can not laugh. -Chicago Post

SPRING THOUGHTS.

profession that offers an east life to the ind-vidual engagd in it, although that of the nan whose wife is an actress or keeper d a boarding-louse may be at exrule. All rades and line of business have their ntural and legimat drawbacls, so to speat, but

e mild winter has a most degressing ffect on more industries than ore. Even the plumber becomes ad-eyed and care-worn after a very mildwinter. He fails utterly to realize that the orms of adversity are whilesome. Though, like snow-storms, thei drift is tot always seen, let us shed a sympahetic tear; for this has been a warfully evere winter on plumbers. Just at this risis he can see less fun in these jokes sbout plumbers than ever before. Another class that can mingleits tears his place there stood the true more than his own. It never occurs to belong to him. A scientific paper says that two inches but he said: "Had he lain there until ports not only him but his entire family. drylight the consequences might have if we are to rely on the predictions of those who are supposed to be posted, the price of ice will be so high during and one day when Harry remarked that the coming summer that one-eighth of

Speaking of ice brings up the ques-

What an impetus the increased price of ice will give to the ice cream joke! loons, and being awful mad when carried nearly a block away to a drug We must also be prepared to store. read that while whistling makes girls mouths small, ice cream has a tendency to enlarge the mouth.

In fact, the situation is appalling. The newspaper editor who is anxious to earn the everlasting gratitude of that influential element, the unmarried men, will begin right now to publish horrible He, the journalist, might intimate editorially that such cases of poisoning lady is much more to be suspected than the one who doesn't. of ice will have a meaning and force ductor. this summer in New York that they never had before.

It will not be long now before Bridget will say to the ice man; "Av ye plaze sir, me missus says will yez put the ice in ther saucer here ivery marning, and cover it wid the tay-cup, so we can have minit ye lave it."

There is one young lady in New York by electricity. who is supposed by the papers to live in Harlem who will be numerously pop ular. She becomes deathly sick if she eats ice cream.

But in all seriousness, it is an unmistakable fact that epidemics of typhoid fever have been traced to ice cut from stagnant ponds. People do not hesitate to cut ice from streams or ponds that they would consider too impure to fur nish drinking water, because they think that freezing purifies. The freezing in my ear last evening? does not kill the bacilius of typhoid, nor such ice must be dangerous. ALEX E. SWEET.

A Warning Blast. Lord-What's that steamer whistling

Taylor-To warn other boats out of the way. It she didn't whistle she'd never do such a thing as that." have to stop. Lord-Oh, I see. Merely whistling to keep a wake .-- Puck.

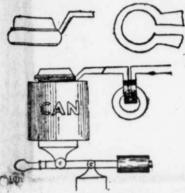

so for?

ELECTRIC WONDERS.

Recent Inventions in the Field of Electricity.

An Electric Soldering Iron - A Heatur That Promises Great Things-The Tailors' Goose and the Electric Wagon.

Announcements of electrical inventions follow so quickly, one after another, says the St. Louis Republic, that the eneral reader becomes incredulous, suspecting that he is being worked by the papers. Such is not the cases however, for electricity has become a very fruitful field for the inventor and for those who have a prediliction for the study of this imperceptible, unknown and unsolved energy. Electricity is now on top, so to speak, for all trades. It is a tireless and powerful worker when harnessed, and innocent of all harm. There is no danger in the street-car motor, none in the wire of the same, none in the telephone, none in the welding machine. In fact, in the thousand and one manners in which electric ity is now used there is no danger whatever. All these contrivances use a lowtension current that can be handled with impunity. A little shock is the worst that can befall the uninitiated investigator.

ELECTRIC SOLDERING IRON.

Among the most recent inventions, electrical soldering will be hailed with delight by the tinners and can manu-facturers of the country. The "tin soldier," the soldering iron, will be shorn of its former greatness, if not relegated to a back seat altogether. The following cut shows the workings of the electrical soldering apparatus:

The essential parts, where the alternating current is to be used, is extremely simple. It consists merely of a peculiar form of converter, with its primary connected as shown, and the temperate man; he never drank himself, still it was his opinion that a man could drink like a gentleman, and had we carried the unconscious form into the liquor still clung to him.

We carried the unconscious form into the warm winter. There are milling which warm winter. There are milling warm winter. The warm winter with those of the poor plumber is secondary made or very low resistance with those of the poor plumber is secondary made or very low resistance with those of the poor plumber is and shaped with a loop or ring-shaped to make the warm winter. There are milling warm winter. There are milling warm winter with those of the poor plumber is and shaped with a loop or ring-shaped to make the warm winter. There are milling warm winter was a stant of the poor plumber is and shaped with a loop or ring-shaped to make the warm winter. There are milling warm winter was a stant of the poor plumber is and shaped with a loop or ring-shaped to make the warm winter. In order to insulate the ring from the ious sinking into the background, and in however, generally manages to hold the proper temperature. The tin can, carried by the weighted lever, is then to the soldering of cans, the inventor has applied the method in other prothe employment of heat to fuse or melt ease, however severe the attack.

the uniting material. " been patented, which discounts all others giving heat. The following cuts will give an idea of the contrivance.

other cut, Fig. 2, the device is shown changes its position. exterior casing rewith the

ELECTRIC HEATER.

with a view of providing a simple elcocases of poisoning by eating ice cream. tric heater suitable for warming rooms, his train rocks the humble abode of his halls, etc. As will be noticed, the wire, which is heated by the passage of are becoming so frequent that the young the current, is wound on frames or supcottage he touches the bell a single man who offers ice cream to a young ports in such a way as to form a wire stroke. They signal to him by having network. This netting allows a free the light burning brightly in a particuhe one who doesn't.

The jokes about the diminutive lump arranged in circuit as a continuous con-

An Ohio man has invented a machine to blast rock by electricity. A Philadelphia party is running a wagon by electricity, and is making a success of it.

The tailor's "goose" is not knocked out, but hereafter the enterprising some of it lift if we don't get there the tailors, dress-makers and others using sad-irons will have a kind that is heated

The improvements in motors are very great. Some sixty types are made by that number of workers, and the demand exceeds the supply.

The famous Strasburg Cathedral is now lighted on the outside by arc lights, and the interior by incandescent lights. His Ears Were a Little Large.

you deliberately placed your umbrella Little Bifferton-Very careless of me, does it free the water from dead organic I'm sure. I wondered what became of matter. Ice cream manufactured from it, and-would it be too much trouble to ask you to return it?-Dry Goods Chrontele

> Only Held the Dog. "Ma," said Bobby, "is it wrong for little boys to tie tin kettles to dogs' tails?" "Decidedly wrong, Bobby; I hope you

"No, ma," replied Bobby, emphatically; "all I do is to hold the dog."-The

MISCELLANEOUS.

-It gives some felks peace of mind to give others a piece of mind.

-There has not been a prisoner in the Armstrong, Mo., jail for five years excepting an occasional tramp who is permitted to lodge there.

-Among the singular differences be tween the two sides of the face a German professor notes that the right ear, is almost invariably higher than the

-A tramp piled a lot of ties on the Northern Pacific track, near Portland,

Ore., the other night. and then gave visited him in prison, and interceded warning to an approaching train. He succeeded in being made a hero and in living high until close questioning elicited a confession. -A Spanish coin, bearing the date 1721, was recently found on the farm of John D. Antrim, near Burlington, N. J. eling into the country with £400 in their

when the coin was first issued. It is about the size of our two-cent piece. -A cat at Bristol, Conn., is an ardent 'fisherman," and has developed a taste for live bullheads, which it satisfies by daily resorting to a small pond and catching good-sized fish. In its eagerness it often gets into quite deep water and receives a thorough soaking, but it invariably secures its prey. -A gentleman who had an English to his own. "Yes, papa," said the child, as he finished. "You're American and I'm American, and so we understand Claude Du each other."-Youth's Companion. -A certain west end manufacturer re ing employes not to meddle with the machinery, etc., if out of order. When pay-day came around he deducted from each employe's wages ten minutes for time lost in reading the notices .- Cincinnati Enquirer. -- When the prime minister of the Chinese emperor has a grudge against one of the nobles, he advises his royal ask is perfectly reasonable. master to pay him a prolonged visit. This visit almost runs him; as the emperor usually travels with a retinue of ten thousand persons. A week's visit is likely to drain the host's bank account, and drive him to the verge of lunacy.

-Among the central European Hebrews the married women all wear wigs, no matter whether they be baldheaded or not. Indeed, the more beautiful the woman's hair the more necessary the wig, for it is worn upon the theory that a married woman should make herself unattractive to every man save her husband. The wigs are ugly, brown and cheap.

is said to be that of Herr Krupp, the famous gunmaker of Essen. The growth of this vast establishment has been workmen; in 1848, 74; in July, 1888, 20,lies of the workmen numbered 73,969 a bow that was almost worth the money souls. Of these 24,193 reside in dwellings provided by the firm.

for croup: "Collect from old walls sevswitched on until the ring is brought to eral nests of large-sized spiders, two of which, at least, should contain live spiders. Make them into a paste with pressed up against the heated conducthirty grains of alum previously dissolved. Then, after it is well mixed, reduce the paste to ashes, and apply it hot to the throat." This, it is said, will cesses where materials are united by effect an instantaneous cure of the dis-

-Card-players who have long thought Heating for domestic purposes here-tofore was confined to a flat iron plate with rows of raised a shuffling machine has been invented pieces of iron. Now a radiator has just by an Englishman named Booth. Two packs are used, and while the players are using one pack the machine effectually shuffles the other pack. In Fig. 1 represents the heater as it twenty seconds the cards are so appears when ready for use. In the thoroughly shuffled that every card

-A Glasgow gentlemen in escorting some ladies from a dance found a diamond hairpin in the bottom of the cab and handed it to one of the ladies. The owner advertised, and the young woman who had taken it from her escort received a reward of £10. Then the young man applied for a share of the money, and, she refusing, he carried the question to court. The court allowed him £5.

-In a quiet farm house by the banks of the Kennebec, near Fairfield, Me., dwells an aged couple whose only son runs on the Maine Central between Bangor and Portland, and each night the rattle of parents. To assure them that he is all right, whenever the engine reaches the lar window to tell him that they are not only in their usual health but bear him in mind. Every other night the signals are exchanged at three a. m. and ten p. m. respectively

-They are telling of a gentlemanly trustee of Vassar College who went there to visit the institution and was prevailed upon to remain over night in one of the guest's rooms. When he went to bed he left his shoes outside his door as if he were in a hotel. Some of good idea to do the bootblack act themselves. They did, and when they rehandsome bouquet of flowers. The sensations of the trustee on discovering his scribed.

-The famous St. Bernard dogs are Burly Party-Are you aware sir, that very carefully trained. A traveler, who visited some of the monasteries of the nonks of St. Bernard, a few years ago, found the monks teaching their dogs from the earliest stages of puppyhood. Not only is physical and mental training included in the teaching, but spiritual culture is by no means neglected. At meal-time, the dogs sit in a row, each with a tin dish before him containing his repast. Grace is said by one of the monks; the dogs sit motionless with bowed head. Not one stirs until the "Amen" is spoken. If a frisky puppy partakes of his meal before grace lover, an older dog growls and gently tugs his ear.-N. Y. Ledger.

GALLANT CLAUDE DUVAL. One of the Adventures of this Famous Gentleman of the Road.

In the days of King Charles the Secend there lived one of the most noted gentlemen of the road, Claude Duval, as gallant and pretty a fellow as ever danced upon nothing at all under "the three trees at Tyburn," upon the occa-sion of whose death the author of "Hudibras" wrote a Pindaric ode, and who had such a taking way with the women that in his last hours, as Captain Johnson tells us, "abundance of ladies, and those not of the meanest quality.

for his pardon, and not a few accompanied him to the gallows, under their vizards, with swollen eyes and blubbered cheeks." Of him it is told that one day, on hearing news of a Knight and his lady trav-It is in excellent condition, the letters and figures being as distinct, he says, as them, and by-and-by came up with them upon a lonely heath a little way out of the town. The coach was stopped, and when the Knight looked out of the window he saw a wicked-looking scamp in a vizard-mask at the horses' heads, another holding the cold rim of a pistol against his coachman's ear, and stillanother standing over the postilion.

A polite gentleman, most excellently well dressed, rode up to the coach upon a fine horse, and doffed his hat with an wife, one day told her that he under- air that was worth coming that distance stood their little girl's motive for a cer- to see; for, be it mentioned, the lady tain act, because she had traits similar in the coach was a "fine, sprightly

The polite gentleman was Monsieur Claude Duval.

"Sir," said he to the Knight, "I make no doubt that your lady dances excelcently had several notices posted warn- lently well. Will you be pleased to step out of the coach, and let me have the honor of dancing one courant with her upon the heath?'

"There is," said the Knight, lifting his hat with an air almost equal to that of the other-"there is no refusing such a polite request, sir. You seem to be a man of generosity, and that which you

Thereupon the footman was called. the steps were dropped, the door opened and the Knight clambered out. Duval himself handed the lady down.

"It was," burst forth the old chronicle hat speaks of this-"it was surprising o see how gracefully he moved upon the heath. Scarce a dancing-master in London but would have been proud to have shown such agility in a pair of dancing pumps as Duval showed in a great pair f French riding boots."

At last the dance was ended, and he handed the lady back into the coach again with all the gallantry conceivable. But as the Knight was about to -The biggest workshop in the world follow, "Sir," said he, "you have forgot

His worship pulled a long face, but there was no help for it. Out from unwonderful. In 1833 it employed nine der the seat of the coach he pulled a bag containing a hundred guineas, and 960 men were employed, and the fami- handed it to Duval, who received it with to see. "Sir," said he, "your generosity and -The following is the Chinese remedy liberality are only exceeded by your noble behavior, and have saved you the other £200 which you have in the coach with you." For the rogue had knowledge of every farthing of the money and where it was hidden, and might have had it all, had he not, by some sudden quirk of his crazy wits, been pleased to dance £300 of it away in a heavy pair of riding boots on a grassy heath with a fine lady of quality. Such is one of a legion of similar chap-book stories, all ringing with a certain feeling of open-handed generosity, and all of counterfeit metal: for as in this the poor good Knight lost one hundred guineas of honest money, so in them all some innocent victim suffers. But always he is rich or powerful, and so chap-book literature sees nothing of the smart he suffers; it is blind upon that side. - Howard Pyle, in Harper's Magazine.

NOT FOND OF AMERICANS.

Men from the United States Decidedly Unpopular in Buenos Ayres. Buenos Ayres is the victim of overproduction of sharpers, of paper-money, of mosquitoes and of fleas. I do not mean to imply that Buenos Ayres has no shadow of a right to its name of "Good Airs," or that all the Portenos, as its inhabitants are styled, come under the head of black sheep. But Buenos Ayres, for foul smells, can hold its own against any place I have visited, and its flock of half a million sheep contains an unrivaled percentage of black ones, writes a correspondent of the Illustrated American. It is the most cosmopolitan city in the world, not excepting New York. The boat that carries you from the steamer to the shore is wafted by breezes laden with odors that recall the perfumery manufactories of Hunter's Point. You have barely reached the end of the mole when Cologne, as it was some years ago, is forcibly brought back to your memory. As you walk along the narrow str ets, you might close your eyes and believe you were in St. Malo. When you reach your hotel, and the door from the patio leading into your windowless bedroom is opened, you are almost bowled over by a smell that the girls, who were up at an early hour, might have accumulated for a century, saw the boots and thought it would be a with manuscript and mice, in the garretof an old English country house.

As with its smell, so with its people, turned the shoes they stuck in each a It is full of declasses foreigners; full of natives who ought to be declasses, not omitting some of its most prominent shoes can be better imagined than de- citizens and many of the powers that be. Great Britain, having nearly 30,000 sons and daughters in the province of Buenos Ayres, is, of course, fairly well represented among those who came to Argentina for their country's good, and to play poker that would have made General Schenck cry: "Did I labor for for this?" But Uncle Sam can show a far larger proportion. Let by-gones be by-gones! It will add to no one's virtue to rake up old stories. I will, however, mention what a young American, who is trying to start a business in this country, said in my hearing the other day: "It is the most difficult thing for an American to get any standing here. His countrymen, with some notable exceptions, have got such a bad name that the natives won't trust a fresh arrival."

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Editor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 59 cents per square for each additional inver-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

Correspondents must enclose full name and dress, not necessarily for publication, bu a private guarantee of good faith. Reject communications will not be returned.

SATURDAY, JULY 5, 1890.

"The tariff is a tax," cries the freetrade Democrat, Let us see. In 1882 one million five hundred thousand kegs of wire nails were imported and was 11 cents per pound. Not more the tariff was increased to 4 cents per pound, and still remains at that figure No wire nails are now imported. Instead, two millions five hundred thousand kegs were manufactured in our own country, and the price, by the single keg, is about $3, Where does the tax come in? Not only is in the purchase of these nails, but employment has been given to about twenty-five thousand operatives, who have earned annually four to five millions of dollars in wages. Do American producers and consumers in the face of such a fact desire the abolition of the wire nail tariff?

Let the Farmer Turn Back a Decade.

It is a good time now, when all duty, for the farmer to look back ten the shift of prices is collated by the walking plow in 1880 cost him $28. while he can purchase it now for $14. His riding cultivator in 1880 cost In 1880 his walking cultivator cost him $35; he now can buy it for $20. A mowing machine in 1880, cost him $85; now it costs only $50. A Strowbridge seeder in 1880 could not be purchased for less than $35; now he can buy it for $13. Wood pumps in 1880 cost $15; now they are only $6. A farm wagon in 1880 could not be bought for less than $85; now it can be purchased for $75. Buggies and this act. carriages are reduced in cost about one-half from their price in 1880. The same is true with respect to har-10 cents; pie plates in 1880, 70 cents after the passage of this act.

ing at 12 ?" The New Dependent Pension Bill.

AN ACT, S. 320, granting pensions to soldiers and sailors who are incapacitated for the performance of manual labor, and providing for pensions to widows, minor children and dependent parents.

Be it enacted, etc., That in considering the pension claims of depend- An Interesing Sketch of Colonel Robent parents, the fact of the soldier's death by reason of any wound, casuality, or disease which under the

the consumer saved $3 to $9 per keg ably discharged therefrom, and who trained for high professional and habits, which incapacitates them with fidelity and efficiency. sorts of comparisons are made to do may provide, be placed upon the list favorite family names. Upton Bruce, duty. The office at that day was one years and see the remarkable change that has been effected in many articles he has necessarily been an extenand not less than $6 per month, proCumberland in its infant days, and William Christ, a foul murderer. Secretary Blaine has not the slightest economical it will be for the governsive purchaser of. Here is the way portioned to the degree of inability very prominent and respected in all The kind-hearted sheriff had arrang- idea of resigning, although the Dem-New York Press: "Let the farmer shall commence from the date of the lature in 1804 and three successive turn back a decade. He will find filling of the application in the Penthat in 1880 he paid $315 for a self- sion Office, after the passage or this phans' Court from 1810 to 1812, and binder which he can to-day buy for $130; that his corn planter and check $130; that his corn planter and che $130; that his corn planter and check then existed, and shall continue dur- say nothing of minor places filled by to him. We saw the official hand are shared by the President, every ported in the papers. At the office rower cost him $80 in 1880, while it ing the existence of the same : Pro- him; was the first president of the sever the tensioned rope and the member of the Cabinet except one, of the coroner this morning the scene is only $40 now. His steel beam vided, That persons who are now rehim $45, now he can buy it for $25. to the Commissioner of Pensions, in ed at the gloomy spot years ago; He was ensuch form as he may prescribe, showherein contained shall be so construmore than one pension for the same be purchased for $50. In 1880 a two- period. And provided further, That seated spring wagon could not be rank in the service shall not be conbought for less than $160; now it can sidered in applications filed under or more in the Army or Navy of the ments in common use by the farmer discharged, has died, or shall hereaf- banking business, When the late Lizzies," Bruce, Beall and Sides, all The vote on the bill will be taken highest temperature, the mercury the reduction in cost since 1880 runs ter die, leaving a widow without war came on he was not in any parwire for which in 1880 he paid 10 daily labor, or minor children under the Union Army soon as enlistments buy it for $24. The cost of his win- of sixteen. Provided, That in case which was one of great discredit to it other important enterprises, one day.

tion of the court.

ert Bruce and Other Members of His Family.

bellion and who have been honor- superior order, and in many cases disability of a permanent character, more official positions than any other poweful men in his own party not the result of their own vicious family in the country, and always from the performance of manual la- The most remote ancestors of the bor in such a degree as to render name in Maryland settled in what is them unable to earn a support, shalt, now Carroll county, long before the in every respect, strong and energetic upon making due proof of the fact Revolution. The place has been according to such rules and regula- known as Bruceville. There were ed, buthuman and forbearing whertions as the Secretary of the Interior Normand and Andrew, brothers, of invalid pensions of the United the father of our immediate subject, of far greater responsibilities and to earn a support; and such pension relations of life; elected to the Legistimes thereafter; judge of the Orgentleman. He left five sons Robert, en god. The sheriff took from his The debate on the Federal Election

SEC. 3. That if any officer or en- life; a skilled accountant, he could ard Beall and Meses Rawlings. counts with great precision and clear-

Bruce.

EDITOR SUNPAY CIVILIAN-Your much of that which is good can not ance. conditions and limitations of exist- many readers may not be unwilling be said or told. Normand Bruce Henry Bruce, another brother, was is not to begin until next week. ing laws would have entitled him to to hear something additional towhat was born in Cumberland, in 1807, but very prominent in his day; commismanual labor or the contributions of than historic facts and incident con- fort to be so. Elected to the Legis- of Thomas Thistle. sold at prices ranging from $6 to $12 others not legally bound for their nected with our ancient, or pineer lature in 1833 and 1834, though with Charles K, Bruce, the fourth brothsupport: Provided, That all pensions allowed to dependent parents under who do relish such literature. | families; at any rate there are but little taste for legislation or legister, was a merchant, and died some lative honors. The most popular twenty years ago. Upton, the younglative honors. The most popular twenty years ago. Upton, the young- ate bill to prohibit the importation than fifty thousand kegs were prothis act shall commence from the The Bruces were Scotch, of a very man really we ever knew, and not a est brother, still survives, an old man of liqor into States having laws date of the filing of the application hereunder, and shall continue no lon-learning against its sale, which includes all articles of traffic, articles of traffi ger than the existence of their de- and decision of character were traits from the disgusting practices of the Bruce, brother of Upton, Sr., was sent The Blair Educational bill, which always prominent in the phase of depagogue than he. In those days to Edenburg, splendidly educated, was some time ago introduced in the SEC. 2. That all persons who serv- their demeanor. Earnest and at east, a man could be popular and became a physician and then went to House by Representative Cheatem,

> (Whin) against him, yet he was tri- a whimsical manner, to strangers of umphintly elected. The upper end his noble race. of the county was nearly solid for whome er such qualities were need. drew Bruce and his progeny. ever suh would answer the ends of

THE REPUBLICAN. law, which has just been enacted. withhold from a pensioner or claim- F. Kelley; another daughter, the many other noble and generous qual- passed House and now on Senate This bill will, it is estimated, pension and the whole or any part of a pen- wife of Mr. D. J. Blackiston, a promities, that drew and held close so calendar with amendments; Sundry more than three hundred thousand sion or claim allowed or due such nent and esteemed member of the many friends! I never saw his gen- civil bill, passed House and now on soldiers, widows, minors and par- pensioner or claimant under this act, Alleghany bar, and another, the ial, and benignant face alive after Senate Committee; General Deficienshall be deemed guilty of a misde- deceased wife of Col. J. C. Lynn, this incident. He came home sick cy bill, not completed by House meanor, and upon conviction thereof The Judge was rigidly honest, reli and died in a few weeks thereafter. committee on appropriations. shall, for each and every such offense. able and straight-forward, steadfast His funeral was the largest and most Senator Chandler has gone to new be fined not exceeding $500, or be to the right, and true to friends and sympathetic that ever took place in Hampshire to remain until the Fedimprisoned at hard labor not exceed friendship, positive and candid, but Cumberland up to that time. Re- eral election bill comes up in the ing two years, or both, at the discre- not preemptory or obstinate. He member of none to exceed it since. Senate. could not be otherwise, and be a It is to be hoped these reminiscences The Senate has passed the bill to and suggestions may be of some in- admit Wyoming as a State, and has

of the subject just finished, still they this marked man, but such interest admitting Idaho. most willingly and gratefully turn to can not in any degree compare with Senator Morrill called up the tariff his brother Normand, for whom too the pleasure in giving them utter- bill in the Senate to-day; but it is an invalid pension, and the fact that has already appeared in your valuabecame a resident of the Glades in sloner for four years for No. 10 in the ciprocity amendment will be adoptthe soldier left no widow or minor ble journal in regard to the death of early life. His education was limited, early eighteen forties; appointed ed, but the majority seem to think children having been shown as re- the late Col. Robert Bruce, and his but he never suffered for the want of clerk of Allegany county court in that it will be. quired by law, it shall be necessary only to show by competent and sufficient evidence that such parent or over 100 years, I do not know of any carry that county for over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practice of the law and died soon over 100 years, I do not know of any early years—he always was a man of practi parents are without other present reading matter that ought to be of energy and force of character, Ever after the war. His wife (now a wid- Walker and Bland, The result will, means of support than their own more interest to the average mader a man of the people without any ef- ow) was Luvenia Thistle, daughter it is thought, be a compromise on the ed ninety days or more in the mili-tary or naval service of the United States during the late war of the re-He was elected sheriff in 1842 over came wealthy, returned to this count the House by the Committee on Ed-John M. Carlonton, a strong man, try a bachelor; died in Baltimore ucation. It is not known whether it who ad a party advantage of from long years ago, left a thousand dol- will be pushed to a vote at this sessuffering from a mental or physical full run of the past century have filled 100 to 200. Besides, Bruce had some lars to his needy brother and the sion or not, probably not, issue, giving a brief sketch of An-

June 20, 1890.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent,) WASHINGTON, June 30th, 1890 .silly rumor that he intends ed he concluded the unpleasant duty resigning if Congress does not do ed as to prevent any pensioner thereunder from prosecuting his claim and under from prosecuting his claim and ton, who still survives, and two handed them to "Mr. Christ," as he law goes merrily along in the House; this men will have held inquests in his men will have held inquests in handed them to "Mr. Christ," as he

Indiana State line to the northern receiving his pension under any other daughters, who afterwards became general or special act: Provided, the wives of Wm. Price, Esq., and for to-morrow?" "Oh, yes," was The talk has been quite lively at however, That no person shall receive Gen. Walter Gwynn, respectively. the cheerful answer. This was in times; but by no means as exciting The mercury at noon was still over Robert, the eldest son, was born in Nov., 1843. Afterwards be was as it was expected to be, although 80, but it is announced that a cool Cumberland. His education was elected County Commissioner- Representative McComas, of Maryplain, but sufficient for the times and about 1850. A most excellent sheriff land, who is considered one of the practical life. Beginning in the mer- he was, a model indeed, to be re- ablest of the Southern Republicans, the mercury down to 70 degrees. cantile business; was once in railroad membered and associated with Rich- had quite a spat with Representative Bland, of Missouri, Saturday after. listed man who served ninety days readily adjust and audit difficult ac- In the early part of his term atothe noon. Mr. McComas's speech was a that, although there was a slight fall age of 36, he was married to Eliza- red-hot broadside into the Southern enough to afford much relief. A rows and corn-shellers. It will thus United States during the late war of ness. In this line he was an expert. beth Bruce (only daughter of George Democrats and it is not surprising great many prostrations and a numbe seen that on the principal imple- the rebellion, and who was honorably He also had a large experience in the Bruce) one of the celebrated "Trinity that it should have stirred them up.

from 33 to 60 per cent. The barbed other means of support than her ticular business, and volunteered in grandmother Tominson. This marriage broke the unity of this much dependent pension bill Commissioner cents per pound, costs him now 4 the age of sixteen years, such widow cents. His fence staples costing at that time 10 cents, he can now buy band's death, without proving his cents. His fence staples costing at the time 10 cents, he can now buy band's death, without proving his cents. His fence staples costing at the age of sixteen years, such widow were in order in Maryland. He was admired little circle of charming structions to applicants for pensions. Sides was married to Wm, M. Macost him 6½ cents per pound; now he can buy it for 3½ cents per pound. from the date of the application resignation of Colonel Johns and can buy it for 3½ cents per pound. from the date of the application resignation of Colonel Johns, and N. Bruce still survives as the widow $6 to $12 per month to all soldiers The price of his wash boiler in 1880 therefor under this act, at the rate of served with zeal and great usefulness Dickinson, enjoying good health, on who served ninety days or longer was $2.25; now he can buy it for $8 per month during her widowhood to the end of the war. The Colonel this side of the Psalmists allotment. who are now, from any cause, unable $1.75. In 1880 his horse shoes per and shall also be paid $2 per month was a man of true courage, but not of It has often been asserted she and to earn a support; also to all widows keg cost him $8.00; now he can buy for each child of such officer or en- the demonstrative kind. We have her first husband were first cousins, of soldiers and to dependent parents.

them at $4.50 per keg. The steel out listed man under sixteen years of occasion to know how he chaled but not quite so near in blood. They The President intended to have of which his plows were made in 1880 age, and in the case of the death or under the orders which kept his were the respective grandchildren of spent yesterday with his family at cost 18 cents per pound; now he can remarriage of the widow, leaving a regiment from defending Cumber- the two most remote Bruce ancestors Cape May, but owing to the pressure buy it for 81 cents per pound. The child or children of such officer or en- land in 1863 when it was captured by in the county, Norman and Andrew, of business he was unable to get cook stove on which the free traders listed man under the age of sixteen the Confederates. He would not After the close of his three years away. He will go Thursday night claim he paid a tax of 50 per cent., years, such pension shall be paid have hesitated a moment to have sherifally, he embarked largely in if Congress takes the usual Fourth of cost him in 1880 $33; to-day he can such child or children until the age given up his life on that occasion, the grocery business, combining with July holiday, and remain until Mon-dow glass has been reduced 25 per a minor child is insane, idiotic or whoever prevented willing soldiers being an investment in a large coal In view of the attempts to predict cent, in the same period, and is now otherwise permanently helpless, the from defending their homes. The property in Somerset county, Pa., the date of the adjournment of Conone-third of what it was twenty years pension shall continue during the life Colonel was proud of his military now worth $1,000,000. No doubt that gress it is well to stop a moment and ago. Of what avail is the cry of of said child, or during the period of record, and cherished it more than he would have been a wealthy man consider the condition of the regular taxed tin ware in the face of the fact such disability, and this proviso shall his creditable judicial career of 16 had his useful life not been cut off so annual appropriation bills, which that such things as milk pans, which apply to all pensions heretofore years, which closed with his death. early, at 47. We ask pardon from must be passed before adjournment. years ago cost $2.25 per dozen, can granted, or hereafter to be granted He was elected to the Legislature readers for interpolating a little per- Only two of them-the Army and now be bought for $1.00 per dozen : under this or any former statute, and in 1836; and was a candidate for sonal incident that occurred in the the Military Academy bill - have covered pails ten years ago costing 20 and such pension shall commence comptroller in 1867, and elected to few last weeks of the life of the sub- become laws. The others stand; the cents apiece are now purchasable at from the date of application therefor the Orphans' Court in 1874, a place ject. Happening to be in Hagers- Agricultural bill passed the House filled by his father 62 years before, town in the latter part of September, and now in Senate Committee; Diper dozen, are now to be had for 85 SEC. 4. That no agent, attorney or For some years prior to his death, 1854, we met him there unexpected. plomatic bill, passed House and Sencents, and all pocket and table cutlery is reduced one-half from its cost in 1880. Is not the trace chain argument, which actually dropped out in the speeches of Democratic Free Traders last week, a little stale in face of the fact that chains in 1880 which were 22 cents, are to-day selllog at 12?"

For some years prior to his death, owing to his great age, he was very quiet in demeanor and life, but his much wis presenting or prosecuting any claim under the provisions of this act shall, directly or indirectly, contract for,
to the last. Strong will and vitality
to the last. Strong will and vitality
to the last. Strong will and vitality ference to Senate; Fortification bill, passed House and Sen.
HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

Is the and now in conference; District
of Columbia bill, passed House and sen.
HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

Is the and now in conference; District
of Columbia bill, passed House and sen.
HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

Is the and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, reported from Consideration bill, passed House and sen.

Is the life, beth will pay to call and see us. We are of Columbia bill, reported from Consideration bill, passed House and Sen.

Is the land now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, reported from Consideration bill, passed House and sen. We are the mile and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and sen. We are the mile of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of Columbia bill, passed House and now in conference; District of which were 22 cents, are to-day sell- than $10, which sum shall be payable leaving a wife with whom he had and requested it to be handed to his and in conference; Naval bill, passed only upon the order of the Commis- lived in real felicity for six years brother Robert, then cashier of the both Houses and in the hands of the sioner of Pensions, by the pension beyond their "golden 50," with a Cumberland Savings Bank. This President; Pension bill, ditto; Post agent making payment of the pen- family of most devoted and worthy was promptly done next morning. office bill, passed Heuse and Senate Messrs. Soule & Co., claim attor- sion allowed, and any person who children: Robert Bruce, Jr., a son The package contained $5,000, yet he and reported from conference to the neys, of Washington, D. C., send us shall violate any of the provisions of now living in Washington; the eld- did not say what it contained. What Senate and the conference report an advance copy of the new pension this section, or who shall wrongfully est daughter, is the wife of Gen. B. a confiding man he was, with so adopted; River and Harbor bill;

The mind and pen are not all weary terest to the few surviving friends of begun the consideration of the bill understood that the debate upon it lines of the original House bill.

The House Judiciary committee

Senator Manderson is determined if possible to secure the necessary legislation for a new fire proof build-If desired, a supplemental paper ing for the Government Printing ofhim. He made an excellent officer will be furnished for a subsequent fice this year to take place of the old rookery in which more than 2,000 men and women daily risk their lives and break down their health. There is an available site almost adjoining the present building which can be secured now, but it may be gone next year, that is, it maybe out of the market. The sooner the ground for a new building is bought

Deaths From Sunstroke

CHICAGO, ILL., June 30. - The was his and not the deputy's. The something towards carrying out his number of deaths from direct cases ceiving pensions under existing laws or whose claims are pending in the Pension Office, may, by application and was buried near Gorman. Let the had so much offended. Though and be had so much offended. Though a took is to the cell of the doomed see fit to carry them out by the nec- while the coroner and his deputtes such form as he may prescribe, showing themselves entitled thereto, receive the benefits of this act; and nothing
the benefits of this act; and nothing the benefits of the benefits when the day is over the coroner and Indiana State line to the northern border and from the take to the western boundaries of the county. waye, extending from Texas to Canada, is steadily sweeping Chicagoward, and when it arrives will drive

Dispatches from numerous points in Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin say of temperature Sunday, it was not ber of deaths are reported. Bloomhighest temperature, the mercury having registered from 100° to 104° in the shade in those cities vesterday,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware Association, (LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

Dealers in all kinds HARDWARE, TIN-WARE, PAINTS, OHS, GLASS, STOVES, PLOWS, WAGONS, BUGGIES, CULTIVAT-ORS, MOWERS, BINDERS, HAY RAKES, HAY TEDDERS, HARROWS, ETC.

Our Salesman, D. R. SMITH, so well known Garrett County, will call on every farmed isolicit orders for anything they wish in Yours, respectfully

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall meets in Sturgiss' Hall let and 8d Saturday hights of each month.

ALTA LODGE, No. 574, K. of H., meets in ame Hall 2d and 4th Thursday nights of each The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the same Hall Friday night of each week and Sunday afternoon, SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night. PATMOS COUNCIL, No. 386, A. L. of H. neets in same Hallist and 3d Thursday nights

LOCAL NEWS.

-Remember Mayers is the sole Obituary notice next, week. agent for Huyler's candy.

-FOR SALE OR LEASE-Hazelwood Cottage, - Inquire at Cottage. -The only place in the city to get gist.

-Mr. Thos. White and family of and relatives at this place.

land, on the Fourth. -Sole agent for Huyler's choice candies is Mayers. No other store and the worst of it is, he will proba--Don't fail to see the Red, White and Blue Horse, Rakes, at Davis & Kingwood Argus. Son's. It will pay you. -Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rakes should see them before buying. Oakland Division of County Normal housekeeper. Four in family. No Principal, Arrangements have been but have made arrangements with children. Apply at Garthright's made to furnish board, &c., at low one of the largest copying horses in -Go to S. P. Specht's and buy the Red Oil, the best on the market, Will neither smoke, smell or explode. -Ge to S. P. Specht's, Deer Park. Md., if you are in want of yegetables.

Green and fancy groceries, at low prices. -Just received at Davis & Son's. another car of Orchilla Guano, and Silver Gray Fertilizer, suitable for buckwheat and Corn.

very best goods. grocery, and it will be promptly and neatly done. - We have made arrangements to handle the Champion Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New

Mower on hand. DAVIS & SON. -Among the Oakland boys employed at a distance and home for the 4th, we notice: Rich. Sharpes, Chas. Sweeney, Jr, Calyin Crim. Alonzo Paxton and Wm. Hinebaugh

-We make special drives on water melons and cantelopes. Fruits of all kinds in season. The cheapest place in Oakland for same.

FELTY & Co.

Rail Road St. est. They receive fresh supplies from came by rail, and expect to remain tend the camp meeting which begins ersdale, Pa., are now encamped on forget the place, -on Railroad street, at Felty & Co.'s.

-All the living members of Co. A. 5th Regt., Md. Vt. Vols. who may tain, J. W. Gardill of Berlin, vicerespond with Chas. A. Foster, at 835 West 4th St., Wilmington, Del., or at Mt. Lake Park from the 5th to the 14th of July. It is important to R. C. Heffley of Berlin, L. F. Brinthem that he should know their whereabouts.

cottage on Water street.

land, Md., Monday afternoon, of and Mrs. Cyrus Truxal of Myersdale Consumption, after a long illness, were also among the visitors. The her age. Interment in the Odd-Fel. and the Accident correspondent was lows Cemetery Wednesday morning, the first to register his name. The after services at the house conducted boys say they had an excellent time by Rev. S. F. Hipkins, of the Epis- gunning and fishing and were treated copal church of which church deceased was a member.

-Miss Jennie Smith, the Railroad Evangelist, arrived in Kingwood on and David Hostetler had taken a last Saturday, and held services in business trip to Berlin, Somerset the M. E. Church on Saturday eyen. county, and on Sunday morning ing and on Sunday. She went back drove to Middle Creek church to atto Mt, Lake on Monday. Miss Jennie has many admirers in Kingwood who are always glad to see her and returned on Monday evening. hear her stirring and effective talks. She is certainly a remarkably earn- dent left for Myersdale on the 25th of est and gifted woman .- Kingwood June, and on the 27th was joined by Journal, June 26.

-WANTED.-Two men for general farm work. One to have care of horses. One of stock. Good wages and permanent places to good bands.

W. McCullough Brown, (near) Bayard, W. Va.

-Miss Stella Ohr, of Cumberland, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. George D. White, of this place residence of Joseph Woods, by Rev. William E. George, George W. Woods and Ada Pricilla Spiker, both of Garrett county.

-The body of Mrs. James Bell, of Pose whatever, Frostburg, for many years a resident of Oakland, was brought to Oakland for interment Wednesday evening. Sunday School Convention at Red House. attract a multitude of people to this

-Mr. Ben. Sincell, who has been foreman of the Journal office for sometime, has purchased the Oakland Huyler's candy is at Mayers', drugshort time to assume control of this able and influential paper. The price Baitimore, are on a visit to friends paid was $2,000. Mr. Sincell is one of the best printers in the State and -Remember the Catholic pic-nic a very bright and worthy young in Mrs. Kilbourn's Grove, near Oak- man and will make the REPUBLI. of Lewis Nyderger, at Gorman, on CAN hum when he gets a grip on it. We regret to lose him from our town a dun mare, about 15 years old. A Institute for three days, July 30th to bly carry off one of our prettiest giris too, if Madam Rumor is correct,-

Normal School.

Teachers who expect to attend the -Wanted - A good cook and should make early application to the It has never been done in Oafland, rates. Expenses need not exceed addition to a thorough course in County Examiner's requirements. Classes will be formed on request of teachers for evening studies in classics or sciences.

J. NEWMAN. Principal.

Accident.

Our friend, Mr. W. Lee Codding--If you wish to buy good goods at ton, was in town last week. He noon. On Saturday night be delivlow prices, go to S. P. Specht's, Deer Park, Md., who always handles the Park, Md., who always handles the park and the park are presented by the park are proposed by the Shoes repaired leave them at Cline's awake, enthusiastic young man, who and at this day. On Sunday morning round-trip tickets from all points at efforts may be crowned with abundant success.

Prof. E. Lee was in town on Saturday.

The farmers of our community have commenced making hay. The hay-crop will be large this season-The grain also is beginning to present a golden appearance.

On last Monday morning Rev. W. M. Spangler was presented with twenty fine carp by Mr. Alexander Lohr, of Meadow Mountain.

On the 26th of June, the members of "Camp Aurora" came from Myersdale to Friendsville for the purpos -Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and of hunting and fishing. They pitched Melons at headquarters. You will their tents at a short distance below always find there the best and cheap. the town towards Selbysport. They the gardens every morning. Don't till the afternoon of the 5th, when this Saturday. they will return to their homes again. The camp consists of the following members. Namely : A. L. G. Hay of Myersdale, President, and Cap-President, Dr. I. L. Ritter of Myersdate, Secretary, E. R. Flots of Myersdale, Treasurer, Rev. A. S. Glessner, chaplain. T. N. Hay of Myersdale, ham of Keystone Junction, E.S. Hay of Berlin, H. B. Philson of Berlin. -Married, Thursday, June 26th, F. G. Hay of Elk Lick, Wm. N. 1890, in the Presbyterian Church, Rupp of Myersdale. Tuesday July Terra Alta, W. Va., by Rev. McDon- 1st was ladies day, when the followald, of Kingwood, Mr. G. A. Fraley, ing ladies from a distance visited the of Oakland, Md., and Miss Eva T. Camp. Myersdale-Miss Mary Olin-Shawen, of Terra Alta. W. Va, The ger, Miss Mary L. Rupp, Miss Rosa happy couple have taken up their Apple, Miss Lydia Beachly, Miss residence in Oakland, and in a few Annie Younkin, Miss Annie Mordays will occupy a handsome new rell; Berlin - Miss Gertrude Kremer, Miss Minnie Floto, Miss Maggie -Died, at the Hoff cottage, Oak. Brubaker, Miss Mary Johnson. Mr. Miss Allie Mason, in the 18th year of boys are keeping a register of visitors.

very kindly by the people of Friends-tend a love feast on Sunday evening. They left on Saturday morning and Mrs. R. A. Revenscroft of Acci-her husband. They returned to Accident again on Monday.

For Sale or Lease. Lots binding on East LINES of Oakland. MRS. E. A. KILBOURN, 6 28 4t. Jessup's A. A. Co., Md. Trespass Notice.

Notice is hereby given warning all persons not to trespass upon my -Married, on June 15th, at the farm either for the purpose of fishing, hunting or for any other purpose. 6 28 3t NIMROD GLOTFELTY.

Trespass Notice.

-Married, on June 25th, by Rev. All persons are hereby warned not William E. George, at his Residence to trespass upon my premises, known in Deer Park, Richard Tasker and as the brick-yard or slaughter-house July 20th to August 12th. Victoria Peters, both of this county. lot, adjoining Oakland, for any pur-

6 21 3.

A. NEISON.

day School Union, proposes to hold ducted in the following departments Saturday night and Sunday, July Music, Amateur Photography, and 12th and 13th.

Notice.

Strayed or stolen from the pasture or about the 28th day of June, 1890. liberal reward will be paid for any 31st, and August 1st, at which great information leading to the recover of said mare.

WM. HINEBAUGH, Oakland, Mc.

India Ink and Crayon at Pritchird's Gallery.

Not that I do that kind of work. those formerly paid at Accident, that line of work as cheap as an be photographing and tin-typing. Give President G. E. Reed, and others. 628 31. me a call.

Sunday School Institute at Gormania. Union, held a very successful Institute at Gormania on Saturday and Sunday last, beginning in the after- the occasion. were pleased to learn of Mr. Cod- ously illustrated, contained many dington's success. He is a wide- good points and suggestions importmeans to succeed in the business in which he is engaged. Hope his future meeting in the afternoon and a Sunday School Conference at night, large will graduate Aug. 8. There will be numbers being present at each meet. special days of rare interest. Aug. W. D. Heye, of Deer Park.

Monntain Lake Park.

A number of families have been added to our community since last week.

Mrs. Beacham, Mrs. Wilks, and a part of the Armstrong family of Bal- of Oakland, Md., for a detailed prctimore; Mr. Frank Waldo, of Cincinnati: Rev. S. W. Divis, of Me-Keesport, Pa.; Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, of Wheeling, and J. A. Hayden of Cakland.

There are several guests at the varions houses. By the last of this week the Park | the first of May.

will be thronged with people to at-

Hoyes.

heaviest rain-fall of the season. The abundance of pasture, and the prospect of a large hay crop has caused a little stir among the cattle dealers, though not at advanced prices. Wheat is badly damaged in this section of country. The probable cause, too much rain.

Oats is recovering from its deadlooking color. quarterly meeting of the Brandonville circuit. He will fill Rev. Arnett's place the last quarter of this conference year. Prof. Alex. Dewitt, of Frostburg, enjoys a hunting and fishing tour as Fox. much as any other man. The Prof. spoke on the temperance lesson last Sunday, as presented to us by the international system. "The bottle, cigarette, and bad book" were shown

No pic-nic at Hoyes this 4th. We are holding off for the Circuit Sunday School Convention in August. Mr. J. E. Gnagy, David Bittinger Friendsville Circuit. He is looking says we must wait until they find out all the basement floor except what healthy again, after the severe attack of white swelling, resulting in the up in their true light.

amputation of a limb.

The Catholic church is nearing completion. Some of the road supervisors have failed to repair the roads.

Strayed.

From the Mountain range near Alfred Lohr's, in Dist. No. 1, on or heifers and two 2-year-old steers. An under bit out of each ear. Any one knowing anything of the above will please communicate with

JACOB GNAGEY.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK.

The Mountain Chautauqua.

On the breezy summits of the Alleghany Mountains, 2.700 feet above Assembly, Garrett County, Md., to Goods. he hereafter and forever known as 'The Mountain Chautauqua," will stock is still complete. hold its ninth annual session from

The superintendent of instruction, the Rev. Dr. W. L. Dayidson, has prepared a program which is excellent in every department, and should If there are no previously arranged unique and delightful summer remeetings to prevent, State Organizer sort. Class-work under the care of Geo. H. Nock, of the Maryland Sun- experienced instructors will be con-Eighth District, at Red House, on omy, Microscopy, Kindergarten, July 5, 1890 : Sunday School Normal in senior and junior grades. The Rev. Dr. W. M. Parkhurst, wellknown for his work in connection with the DePauw University, Indiana, will conduct the Minister's and grave questions will be discussed. Such meetings ought to be attended by pastors of all denominations within reach of Mountain Lake Park. lowing are underlined: Dr. P. S. Hensen, Professor J. B. DeMott, derful athletic powers stifled by the Leon H. Vincent, Peter Mamreoff intemperate use of liquor. His ath-Von Fihkelstein, Dr. C. O. Brown, Dr. Howard Henderson, G. W. est pinnacle of fame, where millions Loomis, Rev. C. C. Albertson, Rev. of admirers applauded his wonderful the United States, and can arnish E. L. Eaton, David D. Thompson, Bishop W. F. Mallatieu, Dr. M. M. his talent and robbed him of his gifts Special advantages will be offered in had direct from the firm. I so prepared to do the common energing, J. A. Fullerton, Dr. E. L. Moffatt, a lunatic asylum. Tuttle was born

During the entire session an orent. The chorus class will be under Rev. Geo. H. Nock, State organ- the direction of Professor Cecil, the and Madame Annie Roemer Kasper, tages. The B. & O. R. R. will sell ing. He was accompanied by Mr. 12 will be G. A. R. Day. A great gathering is expected. There will se ample opportunity for Croquet, tennis, base-ball and all pleasing amusements. Every indication points to this as the greatest and best season ever enjoyed by the pahe began the use of whiskey, which trons of the Mountain Lake Park Assembly, Write to J. M. Davis, grain.

Friendsville.

Fishing is in full bloom. We have been in constant visitation with fishermen from abroad since Eight jolly good fellows, of Meythe Bear Creek Flats. Mr. Ewing and three sons are here on a fishing tour. When their tents

This morning (Tuesday) was the arrive they will cast them on the camping ground. The foundation for the Campbellite Church is ready for the timbers | tions.

Foreman Jeffers' house is nearing completion. He will occupy it in a few days. Dan Turney's new house is a credit to the town.

Mrs. Susan Steele has the foundawork soon.

Mr. Elijah Friend is building a has been deferred. On the 2nd they'll ing. In any case, the exterior will be behere and will probably spend the but a fire-proofing, not bearing any "Glorious Fourth" in our midst.

Enumerator Stuck, of Selbysport, is about through with his work and ready to send in to the Supervisor. not his fault.

As we close we are sorry to note the serious illness of our friend Billy Brown, caused by a blow in the about May 20, 1890, five two-year-old stomach by a piece of falling timber while loading a car.

> Parasols and Sun Umbrellas. We have just opened an elegant them after a big fire.

from 75c.

thing for summer wear. Be sure and see our 45c Corset.

We can offer the best bargains in sea level, the Mountain Lake Park Hats. Flowers, and all Millinery

> All the best and most desirable shapes in Hats.

You should come at once while our

Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced

M. L. SCOTT. Baltimore Store. Oakland, Md.

List of Letters List of letters remaining unclaimed in the Post Office at Oakland, Gara Sunday School Convention, for the Election, Physical Culture, Astron- rett county, Md., for week ending

Griffin, Miss Kate, Minas, Miss Milrid, Speres, Miss Emma Taylor, Mrs. Emma Cross, Edward, Dent, J. A.,

Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

A dispatch from Milledgeville (Ga.) says: "The eventful career of Jerome Tuttle, well known throughout the country, ended in death at the insane aslyum Sunday. The Among theplatform talent the fol. story of Tuttle's life is a pathetic picture of a vanquished victor-of wonletic genius carried him to the highfeats. His love for whiskey blighted in Milledgville forty-two years ago, and the most of his life was spent in chestra of twelve pieces will be pres- and about this city. As a boy he was a bright, winsome fellow of fine intellect and as agile as a cat. When he was a mere lad he attracted the attention of John Robinson, the fama superb singer, will be the soloist of our showman, who employed him and put him under a course of training at once. His success was wonoutrivaled them all. He gave a new meaning to trapese-acting by introducing acrobatic feats that were never before attempted. He revolutionized somerset-acting by turning doubles PURE DRUGS over eighteen horses. He wrung applause from people everywhere by his daring deeds of bareback-riding, and in 1875, in the city of New York maniac's home."

he was awarded the prize for the foremost circus actor of the world.

When in the very zenith of his fame

A Great Masonic Temple. The taking out of a building permit in Chicago recently to erect a $2,-000,000 Masonic Temple at State and Randolph streets, in that city, the Chicago Tribune says, marked the practical beginning of a structure which gives promise of being the most notable of the great buildings of Chicago, and among the most notable in the world. The projectors announce their intention of putting up a building which of its kind shall be matchless. The plains, so far as matured will bear out their asser-On March 14 a block on the east side of State street was bought for $830,000. The plans for the building are not yet fully completed. Little more than the exterior has been drawn, and that may be changed. tion completed for a fine dwelling The most important point settled Rev. J. H. Enlow attended the house, and Messrs. Kolb & Neil, con- is that the structure will be the hightractors, will begin the carpenter est building in the world. It will have eighteen stories, and the roof will be 240 feet from the payement, spacious house on his lot opposite The ground dimensions will be 170 Prof. Alex. Dewitt, of Frostburg, Dear Creek bridge. It reflects great by 114 feet. The structure will be is now on his annual home visit. He credit on the architect, Mr. F. G. entirely of steel. What the exterior facing will be is not yet decided. It The expected visit of railroad offi- may be terra cotta, stone, or a special cials, as noted in our last for 29th, brick made for this particular build-part of the weight of the building. The novel feature of the interior will be the plan for having retail shops located on several floors. In Ed. won't tell-he won't even give the basement will be the largest iting friends in the bounds of us a hint-of how many we are. He restaurant in the city. It will occupy at headquarters and see fit to give us may be necessary for storage-rooms the desired information thence. He for the retail shops above. The thinks he has succeeded in enumer- restaurant will be finished elaborateating every man, woman and child ly in marble. The entrance to the within the limits of his territory, main building will be from State and if it turns out that we are not so street. It will be forty-two feet high numerous as we think we are it is and thirty feet wide. This will lead into a rotunda having an area of 3,700 square feet and open to the extreme height of the building, finished all the way up to the 240-foot roof with plate-glass and marble. There will be a tesselated Roman floor. At the back of this rotunda will be the elevators, eighteen in number, set in a semi-circle,

The seventeenth and eighteenth line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell floors will be devoted exclusively to Grantsville, Md. them 40 per cent less than they can Masonic bodies. There will be a be bought elsewhere, as we bought great hall in which the whole Grand Lodge may be maneuvred in drift, Silk Mits 15c per pair. Just the and there will be many lodge rooms, A gallery will extend around the large hall. The location is especially favorable to the erection of the tallest building in the city.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., June 24th, 1890. There will be an adjourned meeting of the ounty Commissioners of Garrett County on Tuesday, July 8th, 1890, to transact any business that may be brought before them.

By order, J. B. FAY,

Mitchell's Kidney Plasters restore them to a healthy condition. Old chronic kidney sufferers say they get no relief until they tried MITCHELL'S KIDNEY PLASTERS.
sts everywhere, or sent by mail for 504
laster Works, Lowell, Mass,

THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President. G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier.

A General Banking business transacted.

TOHN A. WOLF.

CARPENTER AND BUILDER.

-GO TO-Henry J. Mayers'

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS Successor to W. D. Nydegger,

IF YOU WANT

MEDICINES. Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a implete course both in the PHARMACEU TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and erved SEVEN years in a Drug Store in only ended when he was given a Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all

Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy. "Purity, Accuracy and Promptnee

My Motto." -Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Books. Bibles. Buckets, Baskets,

Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands. Razors, etc. AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc.

Give me a call before going elsewhere. German and English Spoken. H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G.,

Opp. GLADES HOTEL. ORDER NISI.

Chas. W. Boucher vs. No 496 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Jos, Whetstone, et. al.) Garrett County.

ORDERED, This 13th day of June in the year eighteen hundred and ninety, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, sitting in equity, That the sale made and reported in the above cause by Phineas C. Boucher, Trustee, be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary thereof be shown on or before the 14th day of July 1899; provided a copy of this order be published in some newspaper published in Oakland, Garrett County, Md., once a week for three successive weeks before the 14th day of July, 1890.

The report states the amount of sale to be

The report states the amount of sale to be $450.00. E. Z. TOWER, Clerk, True Copy-Test: E. Z. TOWER, Clerk,

PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING A BRIDGE.

OFFICE OF THE GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., June 24th, 1890. Sealed psoposals will be received by the County Commissioners of Garrett County, on Tuesday, July 8th, 1890, for building a bridge and its approaches on the Ashby road across Snowy Creek, according to the following specifications: The main span is to be 42 feet long, to be built on frame trestles 16 feet high from bed of creek, and to be 10x10 sawed white oak timber; the caps of trestles 10x12; the floor 2-inch white oak plank, and roadway to be 12 feet between posts. The cords to be 2-piy 4x12 inches and 42 feet long. There shall be 4 king-posts, 7 feet high above cords, and 9x9 timber, one cap and 2 king-braces to a side and 2 X-braces for middle span 6x6, about 18 feet in length, and all of sawed white oak or white pine timber. There must be seven sills, 3x10 oak timber to reach section, and the 2 cross-beams must be supported by king-rods of oak 8x12. From span on north end there shall be 3 main span on north end there shall be 3 or 4 spans 16 feet each in length and respectively about 12, 8 and 4 feet high with end on sill. On South end a 16-foot span to rest on mud sill. Four king rods of 1½ inch iron and about 9 feet long shall be used to support main span. About 100 pounds of iron, boits, &c., will be needed in addition. Also cast iron seats and caps for braces for main span. The bridge is to be built in a workmanlike manner, and be completed by October 1, and the County Commissioners reserve the right

By order,

J. B. FAY, Clerk.

FAMILY CARES.

Little Mabel Speaks. My sares are quite as many as The flowers on my gown,
And oft I have to sigh that things Are more than upside-down. Whenever I attempt to knit Belinda's airy sacque, I learn that Bertha's playing on The parlor railroad track.

Now Alice, who's a precious pet, Blue-eyed and sweetly fair, With roses on her china cheeks And sunbeams in her hair— Good gracious, she is in the rain, Upon the kitchen stoop, And just as like as not to-night She'll suffer with the croup

And then I have a cunning Jap. In broidered gown and shoon, With half-closed, dreamy, laughing eyes And face just like the moon; And now, to shatter my repose And give my nerves a shock, He's clambered to the mantel-pleor And perched upon the clock

When Arabel is bright and clean-A-soaking in the mud And when Maud's hat is shining now In ribbon and in rose From Arabella's button shoes Peep out ten tiny toes.

That's why my life is full of care
That should be bright and gay.
I have so much to worry o'er I haven't time to play But if I had a dozen dolls,

Like Evelyn Bartoo,
I can not tell you what in the Wide world I'd ever do. -Harper's Bazar

HETTY'S STORIES.

"Love Under the Lindens" Becomes a Reality.

"Father," said Hetty Plumer, wish you would let me go into the

"Into the factory?" said Mr. Plumer, dropping his pen into the middle page of his account-book, and staring up with eyes of round surprise. "Nonsense, child, nonsense! What do you want to go into a factory for?"

The rosy sunset was gilding the ancient roof-tree of Laurel Farm; the merry babble of the brook in the ravine sounded preternaturally loud in the stillness, and the grand blackbird, who always came to the milk-room window to receive his vesper meal from Hetty's own plump fingers, was swinging idly to and fro on the branch of the apple tree, uttering a flute-like note now and then; Mr. Plumer sat by the kitchen table, grim, bald-headed, worn to a skeleton by hard work; Hetty stood at the opposite casement, picking over jetblack cherries for the tea-table, a dimpled, fair-faced girl, with solemn blue eyes and brown hair curled in a knot at the back of her head.

"I should like a little money of my own," said Hetty, timidly. 'Don't I give you a dollar a week, as long as the city boarders stay?" demanded Mr. Plumer. "Yes, but you put it all into the savcomplained poor Hetty, ings' bank," "and I never have a penny of my own to spend. "All you need, all you need!" said the farmer, authoritatively, and he went on with those endless accounts, until poor Hetty felt as if all the world must be represented by numbers.

Mr. Plumer owned the farm, Aunt Jemima managed the household and Hetty was at every one's beck and call. The city boarders, to be sure, made a pleasant change in her monotonous life, but then she was afraid of them, of all except Hugh Allaire, who helped her with the sick chickens, picked blackberries with her of the dewy August mornings, and told her how to manage her camellias, pinks and drooping begonia plants. He had come down to Laurel Farm in charge of an invalid cousin, and Hetty soon began to miss him during his occasional absences, and to rejoice at his returning, in a degree which was by no means accounted for by the chickens and the pinks. And, truly, Hugh Allaire was a frank, honest young fellow, who would fully justify any girl's partiality.

Poor Hetty! She felt "hat she was shabbily dressed, and many a time she had stepped behind the lilac hedges to conceal the centrast, as the gayly-attired city damsels fluttered by, in search of ferns, or upon botanical expeditions into the cool woods.

"And yet," said Hetty to herself, "I should be as good-looking as any of them, if only I had their silks and ribbons and lace frills!" And when Farmer Plumer absolutely vetoed the factory question, Hetty's active mind turned in other directions. "Miss Edgett teaches in a Fifth aveone school," she pondered, as, mentally, the summer boarders passed in review before her. "They pay her liberally, people say. But I couldn't teach. am not wise enough for that Mrs. Arblay is an artist, and paints miniatures on ivory for fifty dollars each. I can't paint. Miss Folliott writes for could write for the papers?" But Aunt Jemima threw cold water on this scheme. "Stuff and nonsense!" said Aunt Jemi-oston magazines, I wonder if I ma, who was cutting up pigeons for a pie.

"Folks has to be born with a talent for that sort of thing." "But how do I know that I wasn't born with it?" queried Hetty, persistently. "I guess you'd have found it out before this;" said Aunt Jemima, packing her pie-crust-lined pan with the tonder legs and wings of pigeons and raining a liberal shower of salt and pepper over the layer thereby formed. And thus re-

Folliott herself. Mary Folliott, who made laborious translations for very little remuneration, smiled sadly on the young as-pulsed, Hetty carried her query to Miss

"You might try," said she. "The field is open to all. I would not willingly discourage any one, although my own experience has been trying."

So Hetty sat down, and wrote a little story-a story of country fields and sweet-smelling woods, with such simple over by mother love. No wonder Hagelement of love as her girlish experi- gards arise to plead for the blessings of ence had taught her; and she read it to barbarism and a return to nature, the Hugh Allaire.

"Do you think the Weekly Leader will publish it?" said she. "Of course it will," said Hugh. And so she sent it in. And, encouraged by Mr. Allaire's cordial interest, she told him all her hopes and fears with innocent openness.

"Hetty," said he, "it's all nonsense, your not looking as well as those puffed and painted city girls. You are a rose in a garden of poppies; a diamond in a heap of glass stones. You are prettier, at this moment, than any girl in the lot of 'em.

But Hetty laughed and shook her "I know better than that," said she.

'But if once 'Love Under the Lindens' is accepted, I'll have a new bonnet of white, split straw, and real French roses in it. And then you shall see!" In a week or so, a check for a liberal sum arrived, drawn to "Hester Plumer." "There!" cried triumphant Hetty.

"It must be a good story or it would not be accepted. "Of course," said Hugh, nodding his "Didn't I tell you so?" So Hetty wrote a second story and sent it, and this, also, was liberally paid for. Miss Folliott was a little surprised at the brilliant success of this entirely inexperienced debutante. Mr. Plumer stared. Aunt Jemima wished she had thought of writing for the papers before her knuckles had grown too stiff to hold a pen. But the venerable couple were still more astonished, one day, when Hugh Allaire asked pretty Hetty to marry "Me!" cried Hetty, turning pink and white. "Are you quite sure you don't mean one of the city girls?"

"Yes, quite," said Hugh. And he certain about it that Hetty questioned the matter no further, and confessed that she did like him "just a little, you know!'

The next day Miss Folliott's sister arribad from New York to spend a few days in the country. Hetty herself conducted her to her room and showed her the delicious view across the mountain crests.

"So you've got the young editor here," said Miss Georgina Folliott. "What editor?" said Hetty.

"Of the Weekly Leader, you know," said Miss Georgina. "No," said Hetty, her heart beginning to thump nervously at the mere idea. "But you have, though," nodded the new-comer. "I saw him smoking a pipe under the big chestnut-tree, as they carried my trunk upstairs."

"That was Mr. Allaire," said Hetty, blushing very red indeed. "Well," said Miss Georgina, adjusting her curls, "and that is the editor of the Weekly Leader!" Hetty stood still, in blank amaze-

"Is it really true?" said Hetty. "Of course it is," said Miss Folliott. And Hetty ran away to hide her burning blushes in the cool, little dell behind the house, where the spring bubbled up among the tall green ferns. There, a little later, Hugh Allaire

"Crying, Hetty?" he said. "My little love, what is the matter?"

"You have deceived me," said Hetty. "Never!" said Hugh.

"You didn't tell me that you were th editor of-of-" faltered Hetty. "You never asked me," retorted Hugh. "And it was you who sent me the checks for those stories?" sobbed Hetty. "Of course it was," said he. "Why shouldn't 1?"

"I never should have had courage to read them to you if I had thought you were an editor!" cried Hetty. "I knew that," said Mr. Allaire.

kept the dreadful truth to myself. Do you think, Hetty darling, it would be such a terrible thing to be an editor's wife?

Hetty looked up, laughing through her tears. "I don't know," said she: "but l think I shall try it.

She was married when October painted all the leaves with scarlet, and "Love Under the Lindens" became a reality in her own bright life. But she doesn't write for the paper any more. She says she hasn't time.-Amy Randolph, in N. Y. Ledger.

NEW ENGLAND MOTHERS. The Types Presented in the Literature of the Present Day. In direct contrast are the New England mothers of Mrs. Stowe-Mrs.

Katy Scudder, with "faculty," and Mrs. Badger, who mothered every body. black and white, within a radius of fifty miles. Their personalities are like electric currents, clean and stimulating. Mrs. Whitney is the portrayer of the mothers of girls. "With Mrs. Holabird it was always we girls in her heart, since girls' mothers never can quite lose the girl out of themselves." Goldthwaite, Mrs. Strong, Cousin Delight, Mrs. Gartney and Aunt Faith are fine examples of mothers after the flesh and spirit.

Howells, in "A Modern Instance, writes of a type possible only in this country. A silent effaced woman going into the kitchen when her daughter entered the sitting-room, and leaving her to manage the social affairs of the ily. In these delineations of unfortunate actualities Howells excels.

It is a relief to read "Little Men" and "Little Women." Jo and her mother are wholesome souls, and the family history issweet with true maternity. In "Work Mrs. Wilkins, though minus teeth and many freckled, has a face glorifled with mother love and a heart large enough to hold her own brood and all orphaned ones As we read modern fiction we are im pressed with the fact that the domestic novel is dying out. The spirit of individualism characteristic of the age gives us the novel embodying some scientific truth, some physiological problem or some spiritual struggle. The heroes and heroines, God help them, are incubated by man's invention, not brooded mother of the race. -- Harper's Bazar.

UNCLE SAM'S COAL.

Dealers Sell It to Him at Cost for the Sake of Advertising. "There is no money in supplying Uncle Sam with coal," said a big dealer in that article to a Washington Post reporter. "We who contract to deliver cite and bituminous fuel used in the departments figure on our bids so as to come out without loss, and that is all. Not a cent, as a rule, do we expect to Simply for glory. And yet, to be frank with you, it is not for glory in an ordinary sense. I shall be putting it plainer if I say that the award of Government contracts for coal gives a merchant prestige and advertises his regular busing For that reason it is that we are willing to sell goods to Uncle Sam at cost

"But you don't put in the coal at your own expense, surely?" queried the re-

"Hardly. We reckon that in as part of the cost. Suppose a ton of coil on inspectors see that it is of good wight and of satisfactory quality. Or may inspect the coal at the yard, if a more convenient. We have to pay the inspectors out of our own pocket. You can see that their work is not unprofitable when you consider the fact that the Government uses 50,000 tops of coal each year. This allows $10,000 for inspection. In fact, the inspectors are the people who make the money on the stuff.

"Which of the departments uses most oal? "The Department of the Interior-10,000 tons are burned up every twelvemonth. Next comes the District Government, which uses in its various buildings, including the public schools, 6,000 The navy yard consumes 5,000 tons. In the insane asylum 4,000 tons annually are burned. The building of the State, War and Navy uses 3,500 tons, and the Capitol 3,000 for both wings. Twenty-five hundred tons are consumed by the Quartermaster's Department and 2,000 by the Treasury. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing burns 2,000 tons, the Government Printing Office 1,500, the Post-Office 1,000, the Freedmen's Hospital 300, the Botanic Garden 300, and the War Department bureaus

500. Odds and ends here and there will make up the total to 50,000 tons easily."

"What is the average price paid by the Government for its coal?" "For hard coal $5, and for the soft, which comes from Cumterland County, Maryland, $3.25. Probably the Government pays $210,000 for coal annually. Soft coal is used at the navy yard, where it is preferable for running the machinery in the shops; also, in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and the Government Printing Office for the same reason. Three-fourths of the coal used in the Treasury building is soft, contracts with Uncle Sam on a sort of gambling basis. That is to say, we make our bid at the current market to offend, 'for it is a hazardous thing to price; if coal goes up five cents a ton we have a suit before an offended judge.

earn something. FEEDING HER YOUNG.

Interesting Observations Upon a Mother Humming Bird and Her Nestlings. In the Auk Mr. William Brewster records some novel and interesting observations upon a mother humming-bird and her young. The two eggs were hatched on the 4th of July in a gentleman's garden in Concord, Mass., and Mr. Brewster was taken to the nest three days afterwards. The young birds were then almost as large as their mother, although they did not leave the nest till they were exactly two weeks

The little ones' bills were about a quarter of an inch long-not half as long as the bill of an adult bird of the same species. Mr. Brewster took a position at a distance of about ten yards from the nest, and with a strong field-glass watched it for two hours. During this time the mother visited the nest three times. At her first coming she fed the young, and after brooding them for forty-five minutes, buzzed about in the tree--not once leaving itfor about a minute. Then she returned to the nest and fed the young again, one of them twice in succession Immediately afterward she flew off out of sight and was absent sixteen minutes. At the end of this time she came directly to the nest, fed each young bird once, brooded both for six minutes, and then flew away again, and did not return while Mr. Brewster remained.

Her manner of feeding her offspring was as follows: Alighting on the edge of the nest, her tail pressed firmly against its outer side in the manner of a woodpecker, her body erect, she first looked nervously around, then thrust at least three-quarters of the total length of her bill down between the upraised open mandibles of the young bird. Next she shook her head violently as if disgorging something; then, with their bills glued tightly together, both birds remained for several seconds perfectly immovable save for a slight, rapid, pulsating or quivering motion of the mother's throat. The actual contact of the bills lasted once four seconds, once six seconds and twice eleven seconds, the time being taken with a stop watch. The father bird did not appear at all. The young were perfectly silent. The mother in brooding them kept moving restlessly about, as if she were tramping on them.

The close and prolonged contact of the bills, the shaking of the mother's of marble and alabaster, all the rooms head, the subsequent quivering motion of her throat, and, above all, the fact after sitting on the nest for nearly an hour she fed the young a second time without leaving the tree, convinced Mr. Brewster that the humming bird's method of feeding her young is by regurgitation. That is to say, the humming bird, like the pigeon, transfers partially digested food from her own crop to the crop of her nestling.

THE OLDEST PENSIONER.

the is Over a Hundred Years Old and as Hale and Hearty as a Girl. Mrs. Betsey Averill celebrated the 03d anniversary of her birth at New reston, Conn. Mrs. Averill was born May 5, 1787, in the town of Southbury, portions of the vast quantity of anthra- Conn. The birth occurred before the assembling of the convention that formed the Constitution of the United States, and therefore before the first election of George Washington as Presi-Why do we accept the job, then? |dent. She remembers very distinctly the universal and deep mourning at the time of the death of Washington, which occurred when she was twelve years old. Her parents were Amos and Patience (Hickox) Johnson. She was married in 1818, and her husband died twenty-three years ago, aged seventy-seven. Mrs. Averill's ancestors, as well as those of her husband, were among the earliest settlers in New England. Her father and her husband's father served in the war of the revolution, and her husband served in the war of 1812. Mrs. Averill of the cost. Suppose a ton of col on s now a pensioner, receiving an annual the track costs $4, we add 10 cens for allowance from the United States Govputting in and 20 cents for inspection, ernment for the services rendered by making it $4.30 delivered. That 20 per husband. She is probably the old per husband. She is probably the oldcents has to be paid on every ton ofcoal est pensioner in the United States. She delivered at the departments, according | was the mother of five children, four of to law. Upon delivery the Government whom grew up and lived to raise famllies. Only two of her children are now living. She has had sixteen grandchiliren and thirty great-grandchildren.

The early part of her life was passed then the clothing, carpets, etc., for family use were principally home-made, and she did a large share of the carding, spaning and weaving flax, wool and zoton for her family before and after aer narriage. Ms. Averill's every-day life is much ike hat of any aged lady. She moves about the house and out-doors quite eadil, although a little lame at times from sme minor ailment. She takes are of her own bed, and to a considerable extent of her rooms, her fire and her She is busy most of the tim with the cares and duties of life, and. characteristic of her Christian character is always more ready to do for others than forherself. Her memory is nearly as good is ever. She can hear and un derstand ordinary conversation when addressel to her and can read good print in daylight. She is much interested in her church and community affairs, and keeps heself remarkably well informed In relation to her family, her friends and acquistances. Three years ago Mrs. Averill cele-brated her one hundredth birthday. The festive occasion was attended by fifty of her descendants, together with a large number of her friends. During the celebration of this event Mrs Averill was presented with a set of Henry Ward Beecher's sermons by the thildren of the Sunday-school connected with the church to which she belonged.

JUDICIAL QUALITIES.

idvice That Is Given for the Guidance of Lawyers, Young and Old. Durand enumerates sundry judicial the heating being done by steam. Hard qualities which counsel might praise coal exclusively is consumed at the and magnify; "but be careful about Capitol, both on the House and on the ittributing all to one person." In other Senate side. Sometimes we make our vords, keep a reserve stock of compliemntary phrases, suitable for other judges. Be careful not to say any thing to offend, "for it is a hazardous thing to lose, while if it goes down five cents we It might even be well to convey a hint that he knows every thing, while your knowledge is infinitesimal. Manner, also, is all important. It is well to rise gracefully, not arrogantly, and to put on an affable and pleasant look, even if the feelings be the reverse. "Do not move your head or feet awkwardly." One would almost imagine that some modern counsel must have been present, at any rate by a sort of anticipatory metempsychosis, when we read that certain advocates "rub the face, push their hair behind the ears, blow the nose loudly, clear the throat, examine their hands and their dress, alternately lift their eyes to heaven and bow their head, wrinkle the forehead, compress the lips, frown and fix their hands on their hips.

These old counsel had a trick, it appears, of keeping the advocate on the other side waiting so long in court as to wear out his patience. Or they would cunningly pretend to be asleep during his arguments. Durand disapproves of this. He also advises that the opposing counsel be not left behind, lest he should earwig the judge. The advocate of old standing was to beware of the younger ones. They had the law fresh and kept themselves informed on recent decisions. By diligence and a desire for barren honor, they sometimes won a victory over their seniors, who became idle and careless. "The junior is to order that his specious and experienced arguments may be better remembered by the judge. But both should agree on the course that their speeches take, and if one of them is making a mess of it the client should stop him, for an ox and an ass should not plow together." Finally the advice is given not take a ten fee for pleading, lest reputation low fee for pleading, lest reputation should be lost. "Undertake those causes only which you can conscientiously advocate. If a cause be desperate give it It will be seen that most of the types of legal character delineated by Durand are still existing. Much of his advice seems to be practised, and the remainder is not undeserving of careful reflection.-London Graphic

The Most Costly Mansion

The largest and costliest private mansion in the world is said to be that belonging to Lord Bute, called "Monstuart," and situated near Rothesay. It covers nearly two acres, and is built in gothic style, the walls, turrets and balconies being of stone. The immense tower in the center of the building is 120 feet high, with a balcony around the top. The halls are constructed entirely are finished in mahogany, rosewood and walnut; the fireplaces are all carved marbles of antique designs. The exact cost of this palace is not known, but it has never been estimated at less than $9,000,000. This proves the greater pur-Asing power of money in Europe, since the New York court house cost about that sum, and is a mere shanty in comparison. The Pittsburgh court house cost inside of $2,500,000.—Pittsburgh ANIMATION OF YOUTH.

ft Can Be Retained by Occupation of Mind, 9Heart and Hands. Few women realize that the secret of etaining the animation of youth is found in occupation of mind, heart and often hands. A woman without an object in life is the most wretched and restless of mortals. There is a perpetual glow about some women; they always impress you, as Helen Hunt said of one of her heroines, as having just heard some good news, their lives seem keyed to melodies unheard by the ordinary mortal. They are rarely sick, never sad and never idle. And it will be found that every day in the lives of this class has its appointed duties-not a mechanical routine, but hours filled with varied interests. The home claims a part of the time, the church another, ociety and some literary pursuit yet another. All of these things help to produce harmonious development of the entire woman. There are no moments for idle repining or morbid brooding. A woman of wealth and leisure be lieved herself suffering from nervous prostration and sought a famous physiian. "Madam, I can do nothing for you," was his reply to her appeal for "You need only a great absorbing interest in your days, something to ouse you into sympathy with life." Formerly it was believed that a woman's interest should be bounded by the four walls of her home, but the world is growing broader, and realizing that those women conscious of membership in the great human family are its valued helpers.

han their city sisters, because of their solation from centers of activity, centers not of locality, but of thought.
It was meant that heart and mind should develop through all the years of existence, yet how few realize the relation of such progression to health and happiness. Fashionable women are berinning to realize it, and to appreciate the importance of mental stimulus. Indeed, they are often more earnest than

Women in the country grow old faster

the class by whom they are regarded as frivolous and shallow. For the few years succeeding her de-but a modern belle may surrender herself to the dissipations of society, but few women past thirty spend their lives in one round of gayety. The society woman realizes that in order to maintain her populurity as the years go by she must possess versatility, and to this end she is an unflagging worker. Music, iterature, the study of the languages, nothing is neglected that can add to her attractiveness in the social world. And n consequence she wields at forty a power she never had at twenty-five, and has, withal, a physical beauty which is the wonder of the uninitiated. People who live upon the material plane, whose lives are void of all aniistless and aged before middle life is reached. The men and women who never grow old keep young because their pulses beat in sympathy with the world's great arteries; they are the ones remembered and honored in the social and literary world; and they are those who make all life richer for hav-mg lived .- Jenness-Miller Magazine. QUAINT DEFINITIONS.

Curiosities Contained in the English Dictionary of 1626. Many of the definitions in the English lictionary of 1626 are amusing, and some of them ludicrously absurd. The "pole" s described as "the end of the axle-tree whereon the heavens do move," a very primitive explanation. The "Hebridean wave" seems rather a poetical substi-sute for the Irish Sea; and a "badger" is a still more extraordinary equivalent for a corn merchant-"one that buys torne or other victual in one place to sell it in another." Still funnier are primitive may be the appointments, the some of the natural-history definitions. A "baboon" is said to be "a beast like an ape but farre bigger;" a "lynx" is "a ness of spirit that can estimate accisight, insomuch as it is said that it can see thorow a wall." The account of the 'salamander" reads like an elaborate joke-"a small venomous beast with foure feet and a short taile: ft lives in the fire, and at length, by his extreme cold, puts out the fire.' Turning to more general topics, we have the "alphabet" defined as "the cross rowe of letters," and "an abecedarian" is "one who teaches the cross rowe," According to Cockeram, "an idiote" is "an unlearned asse"; a "labourer" a "swinker"; and a "heretick" is sketched more roundaboutly, but with a clear assertion of the right of private opinion, as "he which maketh choice of himselfe what poynts of religion he will believe and what hee will not." Then from classic times the usual, the goddess of the sea, but the "sea" itself. "Mathematicks" and "mathematicians" are hardly dealt with. The latter means "a soothsaver." and the science, as defined, includes nearly all knowledge-"the arts of arithmetic, musick, geographie, geometrie, astronomy, astrology, cosmography," reminding one of the trivium and quadvirium of the schoolmen of the literal and interesting signification-"a woman doer," but at this decade of the term, the female parts being taken by boys or young men. Women actors first appeared in 1660.—Chambers Journal. Could Not Bear It.

The little Boston boy walked in and sat down with a grieved and disappointed look on his face. "Why, Osgoodson," said his mother,

"what is the matter? Have you quarreled with little Elliott Fields James? "I have not, mamma," answered Osgoodson, wiping his glasses thoughtfully, "but I can not associate with a separated and polished. An American person who chews gum."-Chicago Tribune.

-He wrote: "I luv you. You have throne a spell around me." And she re plied: "Why don't you use it?"-Boston Transcript.

-The Spiritualist hasn't a "ghost of a show" in this world .- Kearney EnterFIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-Beet root sliced with liquor poured ver it makes a fine red coloring for jel-

-Water Ice: Extract the juice from one quart of berries, add one pound of granulated sugar, the juice of one lemon and a pint of cold water; mix thoroughly and freeze. - Country Gentleman. -Early rising is commended by the British Medical Journal as an excellent oral discipline and as an eminently healthful habit. Early rising is synonymous in life-long histories with short sleeping, which means rapid recovery from fatigue, a sign of bodily strength. -Chicken Mince: From the bones of a cold roast, boiled or fricasseed chicken cut all the meat, and mince it fine with a sharp knife, chopping with it two hardboiled eggs. Stir this into a cup of gravy, or, if you have none, use instead cup of white sauce. Season to taste, fill a pudding dish or scallop shells with the mixture, and serve very hot .- Boston Budget. -Strawberry Omelet: Beat the whites of three eggs until very stiff; add the yelks and beat well again, and add three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one tablespoonful of flour, with onethird of a teaspoonful of baking powder mixed with it; mash one cupful of strawberries and add to the mixture; cook like an ordinary omelet; serve hot, buttered, and well dusted with powdered sugar. - Boston Herald. -To wash knit or crocheted silk articles use warm water and white castile soap. Squeeze the articles through the water until they are clean, then rinse in cold water, lay in a towel, roll up and wring until nearly dry; pull into shape and keep them in a dark room, but while they are still damp rub in one direction with a piece of soft flannel until they are perfectly dry. Don't iron.

-To separate honey from the comb, put honey-comb and all into a tin pail upon a moderately warm stove, adding tablespoonful of water to each pound of honey. Stir occasionally with a piece of wire until the contents of the pan are in a liquid condition. Do not allow boiling to begin. Remove the pan from the fire and set in a cool place. The cake of wax, to which all impurities will adhere, may then be carefully lifted off off with a knife. -Beefsteak is very easily prepared, and should not be cooked till the rest of the dinner is ready to serve. It should not be fried. A piping hot skillet, with no fat, the meat thrown in, seared rapidly on one side, and turned and cooked on that side, sprinkled with salt, put on a hot platter, dotted with bits of butter, set in the oven while the other things are placed rapidly on the table. The beauty of good beefsteak is to have it cooked quickly and served at once.-The Old Homestead. -Browned Rice: Wash well a cupful of rice, and dry thoroughly; then brown in the oven the same as coffee, stirring frequently to prevent scorching, and to preserve a uniform color. Put the rice thus browned into an earthenware or china dish, add one and a half cups of water, and steam until tender in a steamer over a kettle of boiling water. One hour will generally be a sufficient length of time for cooking. Serve hot, with cream and sugar.—Western Rural.

THE PERFECT HOME. It Is Pervaded by an Atmosphere of Love and Toleration There is a term rather vaguely used. and which yet holds in itself a peculiar significance, that of atmosphere, which is as important to the home as it is to the artist in his picture. The result of immaterial causes, it is potent in its influence on the practical and directive side of life. The atmosphere of a home does not depend for its charm on luxury, but on neatness, grace, harmony and sweetness of spirit. However plain or grace of cleanliness and arrangement may always be achieved. The cheerfulspotted beast-it hath a most perfect dents and mishaps at their true value, as not worthy any lingering regret, is a wonderful invigorator. Better lose even your favorite china pitcher than to lose your temper. There are ways of teaching children and servants the beauty of order and care in domestic handling; but this teaching is only well and wisely done in patience and good feeling. Nothing is so utterly to family peace as ill temper. Nothing is so useless and so corrosive in its effect on all the gold of life. of the early life of Harold Frederick, who is now making such a name in fiction, is fully suggestive. in peculiarly hard and limited circumstances, still held fast to hope and belief, and trust in better days to come. The future novelist, as a child of seven, was obliged to rise by daylight, attend speak first. The senior is to follow, in "Olympic games" are "solemn games of order that his specious and experienced activity," and "Amphitrite" is not, as and drive them to pasture, and carry the milk to the factory. He wore shabby clothes, and had scant time for study. But the wise mother made the most of every hour. The frugal meals were made to the children a beautiful time, in the fund of stimulating thought and information upon which she drew for her conversation; the essentials of the home life, in sunny sweetness, in courage and cheerfulness, were kept even in Middle Ages. "Actresse" has a very all their barren poverty. And so the atmosphere was favorable to the intellectual development of the boy, devoid seventeenth century there were no as it was of all luxury, and even of most actresses in the modern sense of the of the ordinary comforts of life. One reads the lesson between the lines, and realizes anew that the atmosphere of a home is its most potent charm.-Boston Budget.

An Important Invention. An invention has been perfected in the glass industry which, it is stated, will accomplish a complete revolution in that branch of manufacture. Until the present it has been possible to produce sheet glass only by blowing a hollow cylinder, which was then cut off. manufacturer has now succeeded in producing glass plates of great breadth and of any desired length by means of rolling. Glass thus produced is said to possess a far greater firmness and transparency. The rollers seize the sticky, liquid glass which is conducted to them from the bottom of a melting tub, without the intervention of any other ap paratus whatever .- N. Y. Journal.

FARM AND GARDEN.

TO SHEEP-RAISERS.

They Should Get Their Eyes Open-Some Interesting Facts. It is quite evident, says the Breeder's Gazette, that flock owners are yet far from understanding all that is valuable and interesting in the line of mutton production. This fact has recently found especial emphasis in experiments at the South St. Paul stock yards, which, though one of the newest, should not be classsed among the least efficient organizations. About three years ago the St. Paul Chamber of Commerce sent a committee to Montana to investigate and determine what might be done toward establishing a market nearer to the great Northwest ranges than was then found at Chicago or Kansas City. The outcome of this effort was the opening of union stock yards at South St. Paul in January, 1888.

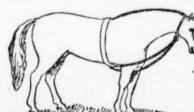

Report of the two years' business has recently been made by A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City railroad, showing an increase in the second year over the first of cattle, 104 per cent.; calves, 85 per sent.; sheep, 98 per cent; horses, 251 per cent, and a falling off in hogs of about 24 percent. Among other schemes inaugurated was a barn for sheltering and fattening cattle and sheep, which, though for some time left vacant, was later on occupied, and in connection with an adjoining distillery "utilized with great success and most satisfactory were turned out in 1889. Mr. Stickney

sheep, and the result has been most inches for inside cross strips top and gratifying as well as astonishing. The bottom, and two outside top and was made with a few sheep. The result upright strips 1/2 x21/2 x23 inches for each was so encouraging that the same parties last winter fed at the yards some- are fastened the side strips. The door thing over 10,000 sheep, and this winter is 1/2x8x23 inches, and is held firmly to additional buildings will have to be erected to supply the demand. Fully 20,000 are already contracted for, and it end are 1x2x23 inches, and on the inside seems probable that 40,000 sheep will of them is fastened a board 14x8x18 Stock Yards; the great point being that | board a feed space of 2 inches in width they maintain perfect healthfulness. in front end of crate. The board on the Probably the most astonishing state- inside comes within an inch of the botmate private business venture at Chicago Stock Yards, shipped to St. Paul and fattened and then returned to Chicago Stock Yards, shipped to St. Paul ready to ship, place crate in the wagon and back up to the drive-way door in and lattened and then returned to the and back up to the drive-way door in the hog-house, which is on a level with the wagon bed, and you can load or bave been received here, and I am informed that parties are negotiating for in the box at end of crate, and it will Minnesota to be fattened during the trough, thus affording plenty of food for winter and made ready for the spring the hog until the end of his journey.

growing sections more or less remote, O. K.-Orange Judd Farmer. that sheep had paid transportation from the ranges to Chicago, thence to St. | Kerosene Emulsion on Greenhouse Plants. larity.

Tethering a Breachy Horse.

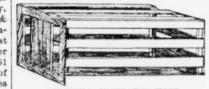

while at pasture. A rope nine or ten gle, and tied to the other end of the e, outside of one foreleg. The rope the horse from raising its head higher than the withers. It does not interfere with grazing or drinking, but keeps the on more straw and earth. In place of head so low that the horse will not try the tile for chimnies we put in two to jump a fence when thus equipped.

SHIPPING CRATES.

How to Make Them Strong, Light and Serviceable at Small Cost. The first thing necessary in shipping hogs, or pigs, is a good crate, without which no breeder is certain of his shipment arriving at destination in safety, and in as fine order as when placed on board of cars. The crate here illus-trated is made out of seasoned Linden wood, a material at once very tough. hard to break, and light, a requisite in shipping animals by express, especially when rates are inclined to be exhorbitant. This crate is 18 inches wide, 24 inches high and 4 feet long, and can be made in like proportion to suit the largest hog. The material used is sawed expressly for this purpose direct from the logs. Before working into crates it is sorted and ricked up, as other lumber, in a sheltered place to season; then when made into crates each one is treated to a coating or two of paint. The saw fuzz is removed by a sharp

SHIPPING CRATE FOR HOGS.

jack-plane. The crate is put together with wire nails. For the sides and tops use 1/2x4 in. x4feet, 11 pieces, and equally divide the space. The bottom is in one piece 1 inch thick, 18 inches wide Seven thousand fat cattle and 4 feet long, less 1 inch. Front end contains one piece 1/x10x18 inches, and two 1/2 x4x18 inches, each. The rear or "The next experiment was in feeding door end has two pieces 1/4x21/4x18 winter before last the first experiment bottom strips %x4x18 inches, with two side of the movable door, and to which place by a wire nail driven partially in at top end. The corner posts in front be fed this winter at the South St. Paul | inches, which forms with the outside ment which I shall be able to make to tom, where a trough is made by tacking you in this communication is the fact in a piece of board 1/2 x4x18 inches, at a that sheep are being bought as a legiti- slant of about the same degree as shown 30,000 sheep in Texas to be brought to drop down as it is eaten from the Water can be given in the trough at in-Now, when it is remembered that most | tervals by those having the animal in of the corn used in feeding these sheep charge. In this crate, bedded with was shipped from Iowa and other corn-straw, the hog reaches its destination

Paul, and back again to Chicago, and were then sold at a profit, it seems to the Gazette that the point has been sulpho-tobacco soap, and the red spider reached at which flock-owners can see can be controlled or routed, especially that something is at fault in a system in the greenhouse, where water can be permitting so much of the ultimate used in any desired quantity, by the price of mutton to go to men other than persistent use of it all over the plants, those who raise the sheep. The un-and the places where it breeds. But the wisdom of confining attention to wool-mealy-bug and the scale succumb to growing when the demand for mutton is more encouraging has dawned upon a fair percentage of those who have a writer in the American Agriculturist, shared in recent discouragements of but it is somewhat expensive, and often flock-owners, and happily the number of difficult to obtain. Having used kerothese is yearly growing less; but it is sene emulsion in the garden where it equally evident that the shrewd man-agement of the St. Paul Stock-Yards occurred to me that if it was useful has an eye on a goodly number who can there it might also be in the greenbetween lean and fat mutton carcasses that is so greatly needed on the farm to restore sheep husbandry to its deserved position of profit and covered to middlemen the profit habitation, and with most extracted with scale, and to hope and taken up its habitation, and with most extracted between knave and fool is scale, and to hope and taken up its habitation, and with most extracted between knave and fool is scale, and to hope and taken up its habitation, and with most extracted between knave and fool is scale, and to hope and the plants on which the mealy-bug had taken up its habitation, and with most extracted between knave and fool is scale, and to hope and to hope and the plants of the difference between knave and fool is scale, and to hope and taken up its habitation. position of profit and consequent popu- results. It rid the plants of the insects fought against and did not injure them in the least. I have since applied it Mr. William Gosnell, of Ontario, Can., if care is taken, it never injures them, to tender plants like the begonia, and, sends to the American Agriculturist a but, if more kerosene is used, some sketch and description of the method he damage will result to delicate foliage. employs for restraining a breachy horse The formula used is: Slightly sour milk, one-third; kerosene, two-thirds. feet long, according to the size of the Put in a pail and agitate rapidly, until horse; one loose end is passed through syringe, use it to churn the liquids, and the "butter" will "come" in a short the "butter" will "come" in a short time. Use one part of this emulsion to fourteen parts water. The water and comfort attending their use. Try them. emulsion will mix with a little stirring, and can be syringed over the plants.

Seed Potatoes.

For our seed potatoes last fall we dug a pit five feet deep, large enough to hold seventy-five bushels, and only filling to within two feet of the surface of the ground. As soon as thoroughly dry the ground. As soon as thoroughly dry Haute Express. after digging, we put them in the pit, filled and rounded it up well with straw, covering with a few inches of earth, beis drawn just short enough to restrain ing particular to leave it so no water could get in from the surface. At the commencement of cold weather we put compact bundles of long straw. We left them in this shape till our ground was ready for planting, the last week in April, when we opened, finding the po-President C. S. Faurot, in a recent ad- April, when we opened, finding the podress before the Colorado Horticultural tatoes as solid and fresh as when put in, Society, dwelt considerably on the sub-ject of picking and packing fruits for started. The field on which the seed ject of picking and packing fruits for the market. He said that he had heard a great deal of complaint from farmers growing apples for the market, that support of labor by hauling reither. A LITTLE tin makes the nutmeg grater. It also makes it finer. And it is the same around a pulse for the market, that amount of labor by hauling reither. growing apples for the market, that amount of labor by hauling, neither they found it difficult to sell their after digging nor before planting, was fruits. "In my judgment," said he, very considerable, and we never had "the trouble lies largely with the seed in as good condition by managing farmer himself. He does not take in any other way. We like our method pains in gathering or picking fruit. of planting potatoes, for the few acres
The grower should first know what conwe raise. Instead of an expensive postitutes a first-class apple. It should tate planter, we took our corn planter, not be over-ripe or undeveloped as those | removed the check-rower, placed a secoften are that grow in the center of tion of stove-pipe, pressed into a funnel the tree. In gathering them great care shape, down through the corn box so should be taken that they be not that the potatoes dropped into it will bruised; the fruit should be gathered one by one and laid in a basket or sack suspended from the shoulders and the potatoes in front of him drops the pieces apples should be sorted as soon as into this funnel. A smart lad will man-picked. A uniform-sized box should be age both sides, thus planting two rows, used in shipping and sacks should never but we are usually satisfied to put in one be used, for if you do you should never row at a time.—J. H. Reed, in Ohic expect to get a first-class price."

The other day when Noah McNaught

RHEUMATIC Pains are greatly relieved by wheel which was found buried high up on the mountain side and covered with Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents. two feet of earth. From appearances it No Language can express the feelings of a deaf mute who steps on a tack in a dark room—Elmira Gazette. had been there sixty years. The tire was wide, the spokes were rotted off at the point of intersection with the fel-

loes. The hub and felloes were tolerably well preserved. The root of a tree as large as a man's body had grown through and broken out three spokes.

There was no mark in the dense forest

You can easily fill the public eye if you only have the dust.—Terre Haute Express. existed in that neighborhood. In accounting for how this wheel could ever have gotten there, an India to do see of Piso's Cure for Consumption.

ALL masons are supposed to be "square" fellows.—Rochester Post-Dispatch. recites that a Government party took its wagon to pieces and packed them on the backs of mules, that one mule bearing this wheel on its back was precipitated from the mountain side and killed by the fall, leaving the wheel to be covered by the earth as the surface of

NEW TRANS-CONTINENTAL ROUTE Via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R'y and the Northern Pacific R. R. Commencing Sunday, June 15, 1890, there was established a through line of first-class vestibuled Pullman sleeping cars running daily between Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Helena, Mont. Spokane Falls, Tacoma, and Scattle, Wash., and Portland, Ore., making the fastest time to and from all points on Puget Sound and the North Pacific Coast, and affording an excellent through route for passengers destined to California points.

the mountain became invaded.-Washington Farmer.

A Relie of Territorial Days.

was at Hamilton he was shown a wagon alifornia points. West bound trains leave Union Passenge West bound trains leave Union Passenge Station, corner Adams and Canal street, Chicago, daily at 5:35 p. m., arriving 9. Paul 7:00 a. m., Fargo 4:55 p. m., Helma 1:15 a. m., Spokane Falls 5:00 p. za., Tacama 10:50 a. m., Seattle 11:45 a. m., Portand 6:30 p. m. These trains carry all classes of passengers and also provide the finestdining-car service between Chicago and the Pacific Coast. Trains of all lines from the East arrive in Chicago in amole time to ing-car service between Chicago and the Pacific Coast. Trains of all lines from the East arrive in Chicago in ample the to make connection with the 5:30 p. m. train from Chicago.

In addition to the foregoing, specal Pullman siceping cars for the famous Yellowstone Park will be attached to these trains, thus affording during the summer nonths a direct through car line to the 'World's Wonderland' and the Lake Park region of the Northwest. Time 48 hours to Manmoth Hot Springs Hotel.

The advantages to be secured bypurchasing through tickets via a route conposed of such favorably known and well established lines as the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and Northern Pacific Railways mast be apparent to all first-class travelers.

For sleeping-car reservations, through tickets, time tables and further information apply at City Office of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway at 207 Clark street, or Union Passenger Station, Chicago, or address F. A. Miffer, Ass't G. P. A., C. M. & St. P. R'y, Chicago, fill.

The diplomatic barber acts apart when he goes over the head of a bald-headed customer. -Washington Post.

The rate to the Annual Meeting to be held at St. Paul July 4 to July 11. 1840, inclusive, from all points on the Chicago, Rock ISLAND & Pacific Ry July 21. 1840, inclusive, from all points on the Chicago, Rock ISLAND & Pacific Ry July 2011. at St. Fail July 4 to July 11, 1890, inclusive, from all points on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific R'y (both east and west of the Missouri river), and Albert Lea Rotte. will be One Lowest First-Class ROUTE. Will be ONE LOWEST FIRST-CLASS FARE THE ROUND TRIP, plus $2 for membership fee—good for return passage (with stop-over privileges) after July 11 to Sept. 30, 1890. Special vestibuled trains of elegant Chair Cars, Pullman Sleepers and Dining Cars. Low excursion rates beyond St. Paul to all points of interest to tourists and pleasure seekers. Teachers and others who travel via the Rock ISLAND and ALBERT, LEA routes, will enjoy a splendid trip at the least possible cost. For tickets or further information, apply to any Rock Island representative, or address John Sebastian, Gen. Tkt. and Pass. Agent, at Chicago, Ill.

THE expenses of an electric compan-may be summed up as current expenses. Lawrence American. Syrup of Figs, Produced from the laxative and nutrition nice of California figs, combined with the juice of California ligs, combined with the medicinal virtues of plants known to be most beneficial to the human system, acts gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels, effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds and headaches, and curing habitual constitution.

Six Novels Free, will be sent by Cragin & Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U.S. or Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 25 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See list of novels on circulars around each bar.

RESTAURANT-keepers are always ready to steak a man when he has money.—N. O. Picayune. WE will give $100 reward for any case of catarrh that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.
F. J. CHENEY & Co., Props., Teledo, O.

A PRIVATE wedding and a "pat hand" are ALL disorders caused by a bilious state of

One of the most deplorable results of "man's inhumanity to man," is the demand which it creates for lawyers.—Van Dorn's Magazine.

"HERE, waiter, is a dollar for a tip. just been looking over the bill of fare. No tell me honest, what you can recommend Waiter (in a hoarse whisper)—"Go to so other restaurant."—Fliegende Blatter.

A MAN can not "rest assured" just be cause he has taken out an insurance policy on his life. He is compelled to hustle in countries on the face of the earth-

It is unfortunately the case that only too many people interpret the words, "day of rest," to mean the privilege of going to sleep in church.—Philadelphia Times.

The husbands who kick vigorously if their wives ask them to carry home a package only three inches square, will carry home a big, heavy "original package" without a murmur.—N. Y. Tribune.

"What I am trying to do now," said the man who has started the paper, "is to bring this thing to a successful issue."—Wash ington Post ington Post.

The man who boasts that he wants but little here below is always complaining when he hasn't plenty of room in a crowded railway carriage.—Jury.

It is not always proper to address the young man behind the soun fountain as doctor, even though he is a fizzician.—To ledo Blade.

fur dude has his greatest swing in society when the hammock season arrives.— A. O. Picayune.

Those who wish to practice economy should buy Carter's Little Liver Pills. Forty pills in a vial; only one pill a dose.

at 50 cents per ton for twenty years; $100,000 as a cash bonus and desirable locations, with railway facilities, at $100 PER ACRE, worth $500, as special inducements to

DANDS, MILITARY COMPANIES, * Wears a Uniform *

MILITARY OF FIREMAN'S CIRCULARS. Those WHO play Tennis or Base Ball or Ride the Bicycle should SEE THE SPORTING CIRCULAR sent to any F FLACS and BUNTING

Teachers' National Association at St. C. W. SIMMONS & CO., Paul, Half Fare Excursion Rates.

KISSING at 7. 17. 70: Photo-gravure, J. F. SMITH & CO., Makers of "Bile Roans." St. Louis, Mo.

CURED OF SICK HEADACHE W. D. Edwards, Palmyra, O., writes:
"I have been a great sufferer from Costiveness and Sick Headache, and have tried many medicines, but is the only one that gave me relief. I find that one pill acts better than three of any other kind, and does not weaken or gripe." Elegantly sugar coated. Dose small. Price, 25 cents.

SOLD EVERYWHERE. Office, 44 Murray Street, New York.

H. SPRINGER, M. D., Pres. A. J. RUTH, Sec'y and Trens. THE SPRINGER MEDICAL CO. DREASES BY THE USE OF THEIR REMEDIES.

JONES OF BINGHAMTON. What? Why on Scales

"He Pays the Freight." THRESHERS

SAW MILLS

For Pamphlets

write to

THE AULTMAN A

TAYLOR COMPANY, TAYLOR (Say where you naw this.)

ASTHMA - Swedish Asthma CURE Address, Will mail THEAL CURED never falls; send us your address, Will mail THEAL CURED, seckage FREE GPNAME THIS PAPER every time you write.

EVERY WATERPROOF COLLAR OR CUFF THAT CAN BE RELIED ON

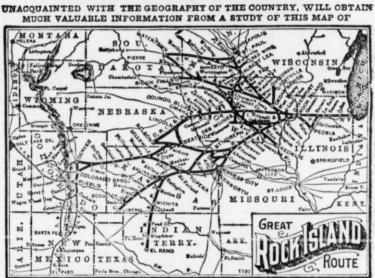

BE UP TO THE MARK Not to Split! Not to Discolor!

BEARS THIS MARK.

NEEDS NO LAUNDERING. CAN BE WIPED CLEAN IN A MOMENT. THE ONLY LINEN-LINED WATERPROOF

COLLAR IN THE MARKET.

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY. Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Jollet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St. Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and. intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports.

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS.

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE. Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paulemaking close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities totravel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Biuffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tiokets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN. JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL. Gen'l Ticket & Pass Agent.

WE TAKE GREAT PLEASURE IN CALLING TO YOUR NOTICE THE FACT THAT, IN ADDITION TO OUR UNSURPASSED READY-PRINT SERVICE, THIS HOUSE CAN ALSO FURNISH TO THE TRADE

IN ALL ITS BRANCHES.

OUR FACILITIES FOR THIS VALUABLE AND HELPFUL BRANCH OF SERVICE ARE AMPLE, AND WHILE SOLICITING YOUR ORDERS IT IS GRATIFYING TO US TO BE POSITIVE IN ASSURING YOU THAT

Our Work is Not Only Good, but Absolutely THE BEST! IN ORDERING BE CAREFUL TO SPECIFY EITHER WOOD OR METAL BASE, AS WE AIM TO FILL ORDERS WITHOUT DELAY, BE THEY LARGE OR SMALL. OUR PRICES WILL BE FOUND CONSISTENT WITH THE HIGH GRADE OF MATERIAL

AND WORKMANSHIP FURNISHED. ESTIMATES CHEERFULLY GIVEN. A. N. KELLOGG NEWSPAPER CO.,

368 & 370 Dearborn Street, Chicago, III.

224 & 226 WALNUT STREET, ST. LOUIS, MO.

177 & 179 ELM STREET, CINCINNATI, OHIO

401 WYANDOTTE STREET, KANSAS CITY, MO. 88 & 40 JEFFERSON ST., MEMPHIS, TENN.

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE
OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO.,
France Post, N. V.
France Cont. N. V.
France Cont. N. V.
France Cont. N. V.

Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS,
Late Principal Examiner U.S. Sension Bureau.
3 yrs in last war, 16 adjudicating claims, atty since.
57 NAME THIS PAPER every time you write. $5 PERDAY Selling Nickel Tidy Holder, Broom, Sleeve, Towel, Spool and Pillow Sham Holders erms free. FERGUSON BROS., CHESTER, CONN ETNAME THIS PAPER every time you write.

EDUCATIONAL. PENSIONS Write us for new laws.
Sent free, Deserters relieved, Success or no feewall through instruction. Suff pays expenses for works. S. METZLER Proprient, WAUSEON, C.
Waller of the control of th

$5 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15-FREE. Lines hot sender horses feet. Write Branch Test worth the holber CO., Holly, Nich.

A. N. K.—C. 1297.

WHEN WRITING TO ADVERTISERS PLEASE state that you saw the Advertisement in this canister range when we dropped the ports and began blazing away. Such men as were not needed to work the guns used muskets, and in ten minutes we had the crowd thoroughly licked. It seemed as if the surface of the sea for acres in extent was covered with black heads and the wrecks of their prahas and sampans. Plenty of the fellows were shot as they drifted about or swam for the shore, and when no one could longer be seen in the water the brig opened her guns on the town and the island. For two good hours she whaled away at them, driving every living thing beyond reach of her guns, and when she went out of the bay everything, on land seemed to be ablaze. It was a knockout blow for the stronghold, as the entire fleet and upward of 100 men were destroyed.-New York Sun.

Johnstown Redivivus.

prise is persevering, stubborn, and ted a great sin." not to be crushed by even extraordi- What a noble example to the cownary disasters, is clearly shown in ardly nominal Christians who throng the history of Johnstown, Pa. A the membership o our churches! which tore down the dam of the old South Fork reservoir and carried death and desolation through the Conemaugh Valley. As in the case of fire-swept Chicago, the wave of London sermon: "One of the greatdestruction cleared a site for the new and better city and made room for the church fell was the conception improvements of almost every sort. that the church's power is propor. shall go down by "the way to Gaza" The awful sacrifice of life by which tionate to wealth. When men's lives or the echoes of its shrill whistle be the new Johnstown was made possi- are brought into harmony with the heard through the hills of Moab .ble is almost forgotten in the present laws of God, worldly prosperity will Presbyterian Observer. prosperity of the place, except, in- always follow sooner or later; hence deed those who were bereaved by it has constantly happened—and will the flood.

was a straggling city of unsightly temporal prosperity, in which those two months," said the manager of structures, whose streets zigzagged who have been spiritually blessed an upper Broadway drug store, "is in every direction and in which arch- have had their share. The result of almost without limit. Here, for initectural beauty was everywhere con- this has been that spiritual power stance, are four remedies, all designed spicuous by its absence. To day it is has brought wealth, and that wealth, for this particular ailment, and every a city in which imposing and pretty in its turn, has robbed the church of one of them has been turned into our buildings are the rule, and there is a the spiritual power which called it hands for sale within the month." uniformity in the course and angles into being. It is important to notice He placed two bottles, a pill box and of its streets that could not have been that the greatest victories the church a tin can full of powders in a row on brought about except by the destruc- has ever won were won when her the showcase. They were all incased tion of the old town.

Prospect, Millville and Cambria. Of tribution of vast sums to the coffers to be made of special ingredients, but these sections of the new city. Mox-bam has been created since the flood. In grapedients will ever give the salts in one form or the other. We be the collect and receive taxes at the times and the control of the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and receive taxes at the times and the collect and the c ham has been created since the flood, ing expedients will ever give the salts in one form or the other. We places following: houses last year. Now it has a population of over a thousand. From the hill sides the valley shows red and yellow with new brick and new lumber. The bank well as of each separate branch of the simply have the same weakening efstatements show abundance of money. Real estate is held (and sold) higher than before the flood. The last vestige of the great ratt of wreck above the bridge is cleared away.

Johnstown has recovered from its great blow and is now more prosperous than ever. The output of the new Cambria Iron Works for the last six months has been greater than that of the same period last year, and the employment of labor has been proportionate. The Gautier Steel Works, operated by the same company, have been rebuilt and will be enlarged. The contract is let for an additional building, to be called the New Gautier, 1,600 by 400 feet, and an addition is being built to the company's store at a cost of $35,000. Pay day has been as constant as it was before the flood. The rebuilding of the town has gone on rapidly. Over $1,000,000 have been spent in the building of houses and bridges, and there are now in course of erection kisses." buildings costing upward of $141,000.

Long credit is seldom asked. People who are building are mostly paying cash. Many of the men who have recovered from their losses and are again prospering. The dwellings that have taken the places of the ones swept away are better in every lift of 10 feet at the point where the streams come together above the faa level at Market street, five blocks low."-Detroit Free Press. up. The filling is to be taken from the bed of the river, thus giving a double benefit of additional safety. As soon as the grading is completed new and substantial buildings will cover this flat. Altogether, Johnstown is a better city than it was. Instead of being lethargy of despair is largely due to the promptness with which the people of other cities responded to the

A Good Answer.

A young bride, of high social position, having just moved to the city that the Baldwin Locomotive Comwhere her husband lived, was called pany, in Philadelphia, received a for their courtesy, but she said :

converted I promised the Lord to verdant hills and vales. Crusaders abandon the dance and devote my- came, and the Mohammedan and self to His service. Besides, my hus- Christian met in deadly conflict without going to dances."

that made martyrs. The young wife esteemed venerable, are going strong tor, who remarked after leaving est of our modern achievements in That the spirit of American enter- the house, "I felt as if I had commit-year ago, on the last day of May, The worldly in her new home may 1889. Johnstown was practically shun her, but the godly should cherswept out of existence by the flood ish her as one of the Savior's brightest jewels .- Wesleyan Advocate.

Wealth in the Church.

The following is an extract from a est and most vital errors into which | marvellous will be the change from happen again -that great revivals of reduction of obesity which have been A little over a year ago Johnstown religion have been followed by great put upon the market during the past poor and not her preachers received in neat wrappers, and every one of The city is larger, too, for it now her gifts; and there is no fact more them had a name which suggested includes within its limits what used marked in the history of the church corpulency, but did not use the word to be the boroughs of Conemaugh, than this-that no great revival of fat. All of these remedies," said the Woodyale, Johnstown, Moxham, religion was ever secured by the con- old druggist, quietly, "are claimed To the Tax-Payers of Carrett County. It had a name and perhaps a score of church the spiritual power that it never recommend them, but we have needs. Money always flows into the to keep them on sale owing to 773 coffers of the church after revivals- steadily increasing demand for all seldom or never before; and in the menicines of this sort. It is not that history of the Church Universal, as church, there has been no greater curse than that of unsatisfied wealth."

Kisses by Mail.

The young postmaster of an Eastern village was hard at work in his office when a gentle tap was heard upon the door and in stepped a blushing maiden of 16, with a money order which she desired cashed. She handed it, with a bashful smile, to the official, who, after closely examining it, gave her the money it called for. At the same time he asked her if she had read what was written on the margin of the order. "No, I have not," she replied, "for I cannot make them out. Will you please read it for me ?" The young postmaster read as fol-

Glancing at the bashful girl, he all convene there this year, and more

"Yes," she said, "if he sent me any kisses I want them too."

It is hardly necessary to say that the balance of the order was promptwere in business before the flood ly paid and in a scientific manner. On reaching home, the delighted maiden remarked to her mother:

"Mother, this postoffice system of ours is a great thing, developing ly rejoicing.-Christian Visitor. more and more every year, and each The level of what is known as the new feature seems to be the best. flat is to be raised, beginning with a Jimmy sent me a dozen kisses along with the money order, and the postmaster gave me twenty. It beats tal stone bridge, and running out to the special delivery system all hol-

The more fully we come to understand the heart and life of any one, his motives and his aims, his purposes and plans, the more mysteries the end. we discover. So the more we know of ourselves, the more we find that is inexplicable and contradictory. Let appalled and discouraged by the any one who thinks he has fathomed wholesale destruction of their homes his own nature and sounded its and property, its inhabitants seem to depths watch his daily life closely, have acquired fresh energy from dis- and he will find a thousand fractures aster, and the anniversary of the fa- in the smooth and comprehensive tal 31st of May, 1889, found them ideal he has imagined to himself. more hopeful and in better condition He will be surprised at a heroism of every way than they were a year ago. That they did not fall into the capable, or he will be shocked at some appeals for aid sent out in their be-half, and the unparalleled generosity sohwn to them in their hour of need of an ability of which he had not dreamed, and there he will pause in wonder to see how far short he falls upon by one of the leading ladies of few days ago, an order for three locoa fashionable dancing-club and for- motives for the railway from Jaffa to mally invited to attend its dances as Jerusalem. These will be, if the an introduction into the society of story is correct, the first locometives her new home. With beautiful can- used in the Holy Land. Very dor and great firmness she thanked strangely are things changing in the the lady and those she represented old land of patriarchs and prophets. Abraham dwelt there in tents and "I am a Christian, and when I was David followed flocks through its

LOCOMOTIVES IN PALESTINE.-It

is announced in one of our exchanges

band is irreligious, and his soul's sal- around the walls of Jerusalem, Now vation will depend upon my life. I comes the nineteenth century with must work to win him. Then, I its intrusive noises and its fine proddare say, I can find much to do in ucts of industrial art or labor-saying this city in visiting the poor and machinery. From a land of which sick, so that I will find employment | the old Hebrew never dreamed, and from the heart of a cits -where that This reply was born of the spirit which has stood for two centuries is astounded her worldly-minded visi- and massive specimens of the chiefthe subjection of the powers of nature to the skill of man. Perhaps the interpreters have been giving themselves to strained imagings who have held that our great mod. ern steam carriages were spoken of by the prophecy of Nahum, foreshadowing the day when "chariots shall rage in the streets; they shall jostle one against another in the broad ways; they shall seem like torches;

they shall run like the lightning":

but surely we may say that very ancient ways when the locomotive

"The number of nostrums for the they are especially deleterious. They fect that Epsom salts have if taken every day for a month or two. Naturally they reduce the weight, but the flesh comes right on again as can imagine the prices the public pay for these things when you reflect that our profit on this bottle of stuff is 60 cents. It is sold for $1, and I have no doubt in the world that the manufacturer clears 30 cents on every bottle."-New York Sun. A FEW CHIKENS LEFT. - For some time Fort Worth has had a name for hospitality and capacity to entertain, but it seemed that every State meeting of the Sunday-school Convention. the Prohibitionists and the Southern lows: "I send you $3 and a dozen Baptist Convention, as well as the opening of the Spring Palace, would said: "Now, I have paid you the than all, they met and were in sesmoney and I suppose you want the sion at the same time. Many questioned the ability of Fort Worth to take care of all her visitors, but she did, and the extent of her ability is may seem, after all these meetings and the many, many preachers that had been cared for for a week, we saw on leaving two or three fryingsize chickens still alive and appare

> The poor editor was dying, and as the doctor placed his ear to the patient's heart, he sadly muttered. 'Poor fellow! Circulation has gone," The editor raised himself and gasped, "T'is false! We have the largest circulation in the county !" Then he sank back upon his pillow and died with a triumphant smile upon his face. He was consistent to

If You Have a Trifling Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough For Sprains, Burns. Bruises, Colic,

Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and Frangipan Curative Baim. Indispen-

You will find the above at A. G. Sturgiss' Drug Store, and Country Stores.

AGENTS to canvass for the sale of our Home-Grown Nursery Stock, WANTED MOST LIBERAL TERMS, Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-stablished and best known nurseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 676t Established 1846.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes a t or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes ses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, Ring bone, Stifles, Sprains, all Throats, Coughs, etc. Save $50 by bottle. Warranted the most won-ITCH, MANGE. AND SCRATCHES on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Lotion. This never fails. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, CONTRACTOR & BUILDER.

GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL

Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General

Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assortment of Coffins. and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance, It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices. Thanking all who have favored me in the past, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to merit their future patronage.

JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890. 6 21 iy.

PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING A BRIDGE.

GARRETT COUNTY COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD, June 24th, 1890. Sealed proposals will be received by the only Commissioners of Garrett County, on Tuesday, July 8th, 1890,

J. B. FAY,

Grantsville, No. 3, July 14th. Bittinger, No. 12, July 15th, Accident, No. 5, July 16th Selbysport, No. 2, July 17th, McHenry, No. 6, July 18th, Gregg's Mill, No. 11, July 21st, Johnson's, No. 9, July 22d. Bloomington, No. 4, July 15th. Swanton, No. 1, July 16th. Deer Park, No. 10, July 17th, Gorman, No. 8, Suly 18th.

By an Act of the General Assembly of Ma-ryland passed at its January Session, 1890, all County Taxes shall be due and payable on the 18t of September succeeding the date of levy and on all county taxes paid on or before said day a discount of 3 per cent, shall be al-lowed, but this discount shall not be allowed to any person or corporate institution unless the whole amount of State and County taxes due by such person or corporate institution for the current year be paid when the same URIAH M. STANTON, County Treasure

SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of an order of the Cir-uit Court for Garrett County, passed on the th day of June, 1890, in the attachment case f Thomas J. Stanton vs. Conrad Bodes, being No. 5 Originals for July Term, 1890, the undersigned Sheriff will, ON SATURDAY, THE 5TH DAY OF JULY, 1890.

at the hour of eleven o'clock A. M. of said day, offer to sell at Public Auction to the highest bidder, for cash on the day of sale, all the following pieces of machinery in the Woolen Factory formally operated by the said Conrad Bodes, as follows to wit: not found yet. Why, strange as it Two Cloth Nappers, one Presser, one Card and Stand, one Presser, five pairs Winding Blades, one Spinning Machine, one wool Picker, one Loom, four Carding Machines, one Coarse Picker, about five hundred Spools, one Spooler, fourteen large Spools, one Table, two Water Tube and one large Loom.

Said property will be sold at the Woolen actory formally operated by the said Con-ad Bodes, about two and a-nulf miles north-rest of Grantsville. E. N. CASTEEL,

FOR SALE!

Small Farm Near Deer Park.

I desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from er fence. Situated about ter Park. For terms, &c., apply to JOS. G. NESBITT

Fairment, W. Va.

Sheriff.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS.

table Plants in the proper season.
Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had n short notice, sent by mail or express.

Several Tracts of Land on the Hooppole Road, 3

miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from

Oakland, Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each

JAS. A. HAYDEN,

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys for owner.

Republican Office, Oakland, M

VALUABLE FARM

FOR SALE!

H. S. MILLER & Co's

AND PROPRIFTOR OF

Manufacturer and dealer in Building Material.

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. All orders left at the mill promptly attended to. We will have a car load in a short time of the different grades. Please write for prices 45 Correspondence solicited, We will have all kinds of Flower and Veg-

H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md. OFFICE OF THE A Rare Chance to

FOR

Tuesday, July 8th, 1890, for billding a bridge and its approaches on the Aibby road across $$ sno vy treek, according to he following specifications: The main span it to be $$2$ feet long, to be built on frame trestiel is feet high from bed of creek, and to be $$10 \text{Missued}$ white oak timber; the caps of trestiel [bx12; the floor 2-inch white oak plank, and roadway to be $$12$ feet between posts. The cords to be $$2-\text{Ply 4k12}$ inches and $$42$ feet ong. There shall be $$4$ king-posts, 7 feet high above cords, and $$00 \text{Umber}$, one capand $$2$ king-fraces to a side and $$2$ X-braces for middlespan $$60, about $$18$ feet in length, and all of sawed white oak or white pine timber. There must be seven sills, $$3x10$ oak timber to reach settion, and the $$2$ cross-beams must be supported by king-rods of oak $$x12$. From main span on north end there shall be $$3$ or $$4$ spans $$16 \text{leet}$ cach in length and respectively about $$12$ sand $$4$ feet high with end on sill. On South end a $$16$-foot span to rest on mud sill. Four king rods of $$1\frac{1}{2}$ inch iron and about 9 \text{leet}$ etcl bigh with end on sill. On South end a $$16$-foot span to rest on mud sill. Four king rods of $$1\frac{1}{2}$ inch iron and about 9 \text{leet}$ etcl bigh with end on sill. On South end a $$16$-foot span to rest on mud sill. Four king rods of $$1\frac{1}{2}$ inch iron and about 9 \text{leet}$ etcl bigh ounds of iron, boils, $$4c., will be needed in addition. Also cast iron seats and caps for braces for main span. The bridge is to be suilt in a workmanlike manner, and be completed by October 1, and the County Commissioners reserve the right for eject any or all bids not considered satisfactors.

reject any or all bids not considered sa

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, containing 30 neres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely painted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings. The land is heavily limed and an abun-dance of lime stone is on the place. Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre vas produced this year. For terms &c., apply to soon as the salts are stopped. You tan imagine the prices the public pay the salts are stopped. So the salts are stopped as the salts are stopped as the salts are stopped. So the salts are stopped as the salts are stopped

TERING LATH!

SHINGLES A SPECIALT

J. F. LEWIS.

-MANUFACTURER OF-

LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-

J. F. LEWIS. 33'881y Cranesville, W. Va

MASSEY HALL

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

Fourth Year-Trinity Term Begin

April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three courses outlined—Academic, Scientific or Commer-cail. Special attention to collegiate require-ments. Number of Puphs strictly Limited. Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to REV. J. NEWMAN.

Principal.

DR. E. H. BARTLETT. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

Offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity. 25 Residence and office two doors East o Catholic Church. tf 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property. Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887.

--WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md.

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.—The west End of Wing and Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor Sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchwand Six Steaning Rooms. The sleeping coms will be farnished with everything nessary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable tere is a grant of the company of the company

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

PINNOS CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

Having used the above Fertilizers for about four years, and testing many other popular varieties, I find that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as Having decided to make a specialty of sell-Having decided to make a specialty of selling the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing a really first-class instrument at a moderate price, to call and examine my line of instrument and get prices on same before going elsewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no better instruments are made for the money than those I handle. This is no idle boasi, but a fact which time and observation has abundantly proven. I buy at first hands and do not charge two prices for my goods. A reasonable profit on the investment is all I ask.

ask.

I can also furnish all kinds of Musical Books, Sheet Music, and Organ Stools, and Musical Merchandise generally at most reasonable prices. Give me a call for anything in the musical line. Secure a Home. © Place of business—Rallroadstreet, next o B. & O. depot, Oakland, Md. SALE.

J. M. LITZINGER. Oakland, Md. E. M. SPEDDEN. D. E. BOLDEN

NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES .

OAKLAND, - MD., Will contract for or superintend the elections of buildings in town or vicinity,

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

These lands are of excellent quality, each tract has a stream of water running through for cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hooppole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four equal yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information apply to. The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went into effect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST

GOING WEST. 71—Accommodation . 47—Express

The fast trains, with the excep tion of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 t. 25

WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager. C. K. LORD,

General Passenger Agent. VALUABLE STOCK FARM

FOR SALE.

LARGE DWELLING HOUSE.

Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young orch rd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 dollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

OUR FAVORITE SINGER Prop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings, Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hammers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers, Save Canvassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials, Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company, has not and never will be forgotten. of his own intentions.

THE REPUBLICAN.

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1890.

NUMBER 21.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Ap-Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMILL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing avestigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jeli-ly

J. B. FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW ATTORNEY AT LAW
AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY
Will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

33"Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection of Claims, including claims against United States. Real estate bought and sold on commission. Office, Nydegger building, Main St., aboy drug store. 6 5 '86 tf.

EWD, H. SINCELL WARING THOMAS. THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88 10 6

VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OARLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County and the adjoining Counties of West Virginia, and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

20 Office in the Court House.
July 3-tf.

A. B. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, back room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa.,

Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing Dental Treatment. Charges moderate P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6 22 6m DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.

OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.—1y.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D.. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his professional services to the people of Oakland and vicinity. 55 88

DR. S. TOWNSHEND, RESIDENT DENTIST, OAKLAND, MD.

Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and diling the natural teeth. All work warranted to give satisfaction.
v3 n48

Dr. I. D. Newman, OAKLAND, MD.

CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. Officeand residence on Milistreet, opposite Helbig bridge Calisday or night promptly attended to,

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND. Of 1314 acres, situated 7 miles North of Oaktand, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outsuidings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young rchard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for Owners

Worderful Tonic and Blood Purifier. The efficient of the Escape Killer in cases of con-munit in has been se effectually demonstrated that we are particle in elvirance if r it can always beyond it see of any new trans known. We do not elaim for it in resultant power in carring cases so far gone that curse tappossible but we do claim that it will cure any case where the lungs are not more than being one. Persons with some approximate the defilitated, will find it the mean transfer of the should use it, particularly those one gullon stone jugs. Price $3.00, a about one month. Cheap; within the Physician a 17 years experience in stor, Send for circular and information. Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, 717 15" Par

NOTICE.

All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 284, as for felonjously stealing goods or chat-264, as for feloniously stealing goods or chat-tels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut THEOS, B. HORWITZ

BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-I am prepared to do all kinds of the property of the patronage of the public.

FROM DALITATION BELLWA

BLUWA

On Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

ELLWA

On Oak street, where he will be pleased to receive the patronage of the public.

Established 1840.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES!

We have opened NEW

STOCK YARDS

AT BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any purpose.

Mules for Logging —and—

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY.

W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO., Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R., between Gorman and Bayard,

MT. LAKE PARK, MD.,

Alderson & Robinson, Props C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Manufacturers of and dealers in Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings, Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates, #3 Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work,

E. F. STANSBERRY. -Manufacturer of-

Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street.

OAKLAND, MD. A2-Repairing neatly and promtly done, Nov. 21, 85.— y.

WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING, CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y.

FARM FOR SALE.

COAL& FIRE CLAY.

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Ron road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghlogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing.

The farm is well watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and twenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Cail on or address

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXANDER & CO.,

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor

Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

CUMBERLAND, MD.

lumber brokers

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Belting, Olls, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or Iron; Shanling, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies farnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggles, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM. A PRACTICAL AND

FROM BALTIMORE,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Wolff's ACM EBlacking

Ask in Drug, Paint and House Furnishing Stores for Plk-Ron, which WILL STAIN OLD & NEW FURNITURE
WILL STAIN TINWARE
WILL STAIN TINWARE
WILL STAIN TOWN OLD BASKETS WILL STAIN BASY'S COGGH AND

AGAINST TANDOLPH, Philadelphia. Wonders

Are wrought by the use of Ayer's hair vigor in restoring gray hair to its original color, promoting a new growth, preventing the hair from falling, keeping it soft, silky, and abundant, and the scalp cool, healthy, and free from dandruff or humors. The universal testimony is that this preparation has no equal as a dressing, and is, therefore, indispensable to every well-tunished toile. furnished toilet.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for some time and it has worked wonders for me. I time and it has worked wonders for me. I was troubled with dandruff and was rapidly becoming bald; but since using the Vigor my head is perfectly clear of dandruff, the hair has ceased coming out, and I now have a good growth, of the same color as when I was a young woman. I can heartily recommend any one suffering from dandruff or less of heir to use Aver's Hair Vigor as a loss of hair to use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing."—Mrs. Lydia O. Moody, East Pittston, Me.

"Some time ago my wife's hair began to come out quite freely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor not only prevented my wife from becoming bald, but it also caused an entirely new growth of hair. I am ready to certify to this statement before a justice of the peace."— II. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa. H. Hulsebus, Lewisburgh, Iowa.

"Some years ago, after a severe attack of brain fever, my hair all came out. I used such preparations for restoring it as my physicians ordered, but failed to produce a growth of hair. I then tried, successively, several articles recommended by druggists and all alike fell short of accomplishing the desired result. The last remedy I applied was Ayer's Hair Vigor, which brought a growth of hair in a few weeks. I think I used eight bottles in two years; more than was necessary as a restorative, but I liked it as a dressing, and have continued to use it for that purpose. I believe Ayer's Hair Vigor possesses virtues far above those of any similar preparation now on the market."

-Vincent Jones, Richmond, Ind. Ayer's Hair Vigor

DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass. Sold by Druggists and Perfumers

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 acres of which is cleared, and on which are crected a Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orchard was put out under fence. A young orchard was put out ir years ago, and will soon come into bear-RICHAPD CUSTER,

FIRE INSURANCE.

F. A. THAYER.

Caveats, and Trade Marks obtained, and all Patent business conducted for MODERATE FEES.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. secured.

A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C. SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE.

HOW DUKE SAVED MOLLY.

or the third time little Ruth Holstepped out on the broad, flat ing her eyes with her hands, ed eagerly down the road. h, dear!" she sighed, glancing come, and Sister Molly is never n she turned and passed through her mother was bending over iron pot which hung from the e in the wide fireplace.

st supper time, and they hav-

Well, daughter, any signs of 'em o, mother," answered Ruth, al-

I should do!" tall, gray haired man entered.

children? Haven't they come home yet ?"

Mrs. Holly shook her head. with them.

The farmer threw back his head in the end?" and laughed.

like a lamb with Molly. And as for ter come back to us?"

spirit!" er, for then when Edward went ing." away, she would have come up here "Edward wrote that there was a to stay with us," returned Mrs. Hol- great scarcity of horses in the army, had been taken, but Duke was still lev, "Middlesex is no place for her; and asked me, in case Duke was standing under the tree. it's a perfect nest of Tories! But we needed for our Washington, if I had bard work to get her to spend would be willing to give bim up."

even this week with us." "Well, I suppose she thought up Duke. En, Molly, girl?" dark days-dark days, mother! It's our country," said Molly. "And bad enough to have to fight an open dear old Duke is fit to carry even so neighbors who are on the watch for ton!"

It was the summer of 1781, the by the simple evening prayer. the Revolution. The campaign of was cleared away, Molly said to her 1779 had proved a failure. The Brit- father: troops in their winter quarters at I'll take Ruth with me for company. Morristown were terrible.

and was put out opened most disastrously. The dwel- gate and down the old post road. of the people of Middlesex.

all bus-ters, which had been scoured until "it was all imagination." they shone like silver.

"whoa" of his mistress, a rosy cheek- pew.

Ruth was smothering him with cept the singing of birds and rustling proud with a twin on either arm. to worry about you. What made died away on his lips. long, slanting shadows, "it's you so late "

Edward, and they came just before both doors are guarded." I left. They've had a terrible winter, father," and the tears gathered out of the windows, but the shots narrow entry into the kitchen, in Molly's eyes. "Our brave men fired after them warned others of the have been without shoes, and had dangers of flight. With clanking only miserable rags for clothing, and arms a number of British soldiers, hundreds of them have died from led by some of the Middlesex Tories, hunger and cold. At times they have rudely entered the church and prohad neither bread nor meat in the ceeded to plunder the congregation. camp, and the Continental money Silver watches were taken, silver ready to cry, "perhaps Gray lost value so that it took four months has run away, or some of them pay of a private to buy a bushel of and earlings were roughly dreadful Tories stopped them; and wheat! Edward says if it had not snatched from women's ears. if anything should happen to Geor- been for the great heart and coursge die or the twins, I don't know what of Washington they would have trooper pointed to the golden beads given up in utter despair. But on her neck, The kitchen door opened, and a things are looking brighter now,

Congress has sent them money and ma'am," said he. "I've put the milk in the pantry, Gen. Green has had some spendid mother. Where are Molly and the victories in the South, and Edward whispered a neighbor; "resistance says there are still more to follow." "You don't say !" cried the farmer | the necklace. in a ringing voice, and his bent form "Ruth is worrying, father, for fear straightened and his blue eyes flash-

"But these victories cost so, fath-"No fear of that, little girl. Mol- er !" said Molly, throwing her arm two, and amid the soldier's jeers and ly Pidgin is a born horsewoman and over the horse's neck and hiding her mooting, the gray haired minister Duke may be fiery and unmanage- face against his glossy mane. "O. was dragged from the pulpit.

just like to see 'em do it, that's all! uneasily, but at the sound of his mis- prick of my bayonet. We must There isn't a horse in these parts tre-s' yoice he became instantly make haste, or the whole town will that can keep within sight of Duke's quiet. He turned his full bright be after us," he added in a lower heels. I knew his value well when eyes on her and towered his head un- tone addressing one of his comrades. I gave him to Molly for a wedding til his nose rubbed against her hand. In the meantime, Molly and Ruth gift. And they are well matched for "Just look at the critter, mother!" had reached the door without being cried Farmer Holley, "I think he seen, and Mistress Pidgin peeked out "I wish Molly had less spirit, fath- actually knows what the girl is say- cantlously. The guard had left his

"It would be rather hard to give June of the Tories would run off the "I would even part with him if cattle or ransack the house while she necessary. I will do anything and was away. We are passing through everything that I can for the sake of foe, but when it comes to having good and great a man as Washingevery chance to plunder you and to In a few moments the family was a furious plunge that would have ungive you over to the red coats, it's seated at the table, and, opening the almost more than flesh and blood big, leatner bound Bibie, Farmer Holley read a short chapter, followed darkest and most trying period of The next morning, after breakfast ish were everywhere successful, and "I believe I'll ride down to Midthe American army had done almost dlesex church, I don't like to Miss nothing toward bringing the war to one of Parson Mather's sermons, around her, and her calm voice a close. And 1780 was a still more They are a great comfort to me. discouraging year. The winter was And I can see, too, whether the one of the coldest ever known, and house is all right, I can get there the sufferings of the Continental in time for the afternoon service and

Shortly before noon Duke was Early in 1781 several hundred of brought to the door, and so impa- top of a long hill Molly drew rein the soldiers revolted and were only tient that he could hardly wait for and looked back. A few mounted kept by the point of the bayonet from Molly and Ruth to mount, Off they going home, so that this year, too went at a rapid pace through the lers on the Connecticut coast lived in After a few pits and a little coax-For particulars and terms, apply to or ad- constant fear of the British who oc- ing Duke settled down to a sober "may you always carry your rider cupied New York City and Long trot. A ride of six miles brought as swiftly from danger as you have Island, and frequently crossed the them to Molly's house, and a glance carried us to day !" Sound at night in boats, to plunder them that all was safe. Then they Duke bore them swiftly up the old the inhabitants and carry them away came in sight of the wooden meeting road to Caanan parish, and as soon captives. Norwalk, Middlesex (now house, with its stiff little belfry. On as they reached home safely the to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of property to on short notice and at reasonable rates.

Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the state, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies.

The prisoners had been carried across thought to the fire ing the Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett County au whose earnest teachings served to nished steel. She looked again, but were sent to the prison ships in New keep up the almost fainting courage there was nothing but an unbroken York bay, where some of them lan-Mrs Holley swung the crane fur- growth of bushes and tangled vines. them Parson Mather, after along dether over the fire and then helped Her first impulse was to tell Molly. lay, were returned to their homes, Ruth to set the table with the dark | Then she laughed at her foolish fears. blue china and the large pewter plat- "I'm but a silly girl," she thought; headquarters of the Continental

"Hark! What is that?" said the went behind the church, where the laration of peace, she stood on a balfarmer, going to the door. But Mrs. horses were fastened, and tied Duke cony with Edward and the children Holley and Ruth were there before to a tree. Then she took Ruth by beside her, and heard the thunder of him, just in time to see a powerful the hand, crossed the porch, passed artillery, the ringing of bells and the gray horse dash up to the door and through the little entry and walked wild cheers of the people. For as stop obediently at the decided up the aisle to a square, high backed she looked up the street, she saw, hind her, on the pillion, and securely the service. She could not get that under the triumphal arch, with tied to her waist, was 4 year old bit of red color and the glitter in the proudly arched neck and quivering First - Class Tailor, To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or Geordie, while in front, encircled by swamp out of her mind. The win-nostrils, a magnificent gray horse, commission and steady work for earnest her two twins. Ben and dows were open, and she found her-bearing on his back that martial figher arms, sat the two twins, Ben and dows were open, and she found her- bearing on his back that martial fig-ELLWANGER & BARRY, Desire, as like as two peas. In a self listening intent for every little ure so well known and loved-the Rochester, N.Y. moment Geordie was unfastened and sound. But she heard nothing ex- noble Washington.

kisses, while Mrs. Holly looked very of the leaves, as the warm south wind gently stirred the branches of "Well, Molly," said her father, the trees. But when Mr. Mather, that served as a doorstep, and, looking at her admiringly as she from his high pulpit perched beneath sprang lightly to the ground, "you the great sounding board, began to are as spry as ever. We had begun read the hymn, suddenly the words

"Surrender or die!" called a loud "I was waiting for dispatches from voice. "E-cape is impossible, for Three or four young men climbed. buckles were torn from knee breeches

Molly started up indignant as a

"I'd thank ye for these gewgaws,

"Softly, softly, Mistress Pidgin," is of no use," And Molly gave up

Then she whispered to Ruth: "Keep close to me, little sister! Do that they've been caught by Tories, ed. "Now, may the Lord be prais- just as I do-keep getting nearer the or that Gray Duke has run away ed! How many times have 1 told door-a step at a time-without atyou, mother, that we'd certainly win tracting attention. If I can only save Duke!" "The British tied the men, two by able enough with strangers, but he's Duke, Duke! When will your mas- "Let the rebet parson lead the march," cried one; "and hark ye, being caught by the Tories, why I'd Duke had been champing his bit sirrah, step lively, or you'll feel the > post to help lead the horses to the front of the church. Most of them

The two sisters darted down the steps, climed upon a stone fence untied Duke and mounted, but had gone only a few yards when they encountered two men, "Stop!" cried one of them, seizing the bridle. Molly bent over duke and patted him gently on the neck. Then she raised her whip and brought it down with all her might on his flank. He reared wildly, and, with seated a less skillful rider than Molly, he freed himself from his captor, dashed across the green, and, with ears laid flat against his neck and his tail streaming out like a white banner, he darted like an arrow up the road. Ruth was partly thrown from the pillion, but Molly's strong arm was sounded reassuringly: "Pull yourself up to the pillion! Never fear! I can hold you;" and even in that mad flight the little girl was able to draw herself up to a secure position. As they reached the men had started in pursuit, but Duke was too fleet for them and they turn-

"Oh, my brave Duke," said Molly;

wall of green leaves, so thick was the guished and died, and others, among

Meantime Duke was sent to the army, and it was the proudest day of The bell was ringing, and Molly Molly's life when soon after the decamid the waving of the flags and the ed, bright eyed young woman. Be- The young girl heard but little of fluttering of hankerchiefs, passing

The Republican.

BENJ, H. SINCELL, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

THE WAY I MANAGE JOHN.

- To think that twenty years have passed . Since John and I were wed. Since John and I were wed, And not a harsh or cruel word By either has been said;
- We've had our cares and trials such As other people meet, But then we've had each other's smiles Howe'er the world should greet.
- How have we lived with loving ways
- So long as man and wife? Why has not pain and discontent Destroyed our joy in life? The truth, my friends, is this, no more:
- We keep our love aglow, And when the fires of love are bright This world is free from woe.
- In courtship days when John would come I always looked my best; I tried to have our home arranged In honor of my guest. His every wish I sought to please,
- I sought his comfort then:
  This treatment pleased my dear good John
  And brought him back again.
- Dear John could never frown at me For I was always kind,
- And kindness true will never leave
  Faultfinding in the mind.
  In those dear days I wisely vowed
  To live a wifely life,
  That John might ever bless the day
  When I begame his mile. When I became his wife,
- I always think that home is mine And John its favored guest, That when he comes from out the world
- With me for him is rest. Kind friends may think 'tis endless toll To pass a life like this, But now to see his joy in home
- Yields me my greatest bliss. But who deserves a loving smile, Or kindness freely given, Who needs the aid of loving home
- To gain a glimpse of Heaven, o much as he who toils all day To keep our wants supplied? Then let us yield our sweetest smiles And be our husbands' pride!

  — Detroit Free Press.

THE FATAL FLOWER.

Satisfactory Results It Unexpectedly Accomplished.

OU ARE a dead doctor looking fixedly at Ana-Anatole stag-to spend the evening gayly with his old friend, Dr. Bardias, the illustrious scientist, whose investigations of poisonous e familiar with but whose nobility of heart and quasipaternal goodness Anatole had enjoyed especial advantages for appreciating.

"Poor boy," continued the doctor; "what have you been doing?" Nothing that I know of," stammered Anatole, much agitated.

"Ransack your memory. Tell me what you have been drinking, what you have been eating, what you have been breath-

This last word was a revelation to Anatole. That very morning he had re-ceived a letter from one of his friends who was traveling in India. In this letter was a flower that the tourist had picked on the banks of the Ganges-a red, odd-shaped flower, whose perfume, as he now remembered very well, was peculiarly penetrating. Anatole seached his pocket-book and found the letter and the flower, which he showed to the scientist.

"No more doubt," cried the doctor; "it is the Pyramenenis Indica!-the mortal flower, the flower of blood!" "Then really-you think-"

"Alas, I am sure!" "But it isn't possible! I am only twenty-five years old. I feel full of life and health." "At what hour did you unseal this fatal letter?" "This morning at nine o'clock." "Well, to-morrow morning at the same hour, at the same minute, in full health, as you say, you will feel a certain pain in your heart, and all will be

"And you know no remedy, no way of-"None." said the doctor.

And, hiding his face in his hands, he dropped into an arm-chair, suffocating with grief.

On seeing his old friend's emotion, Anatole comprehended that he was really condemned. He rushed from the room like a madman.

With perspiration on his brow, ideas upset, and his body mechanically advancing. Anatole went out into the night, unconscious of what was going on around him, not even suspecting that the streets were becoming de serted. For a long time he ran thus: then, coming to a bench, he sat down. How many hours had he left?

The persistent and painful sound of a distressing cough tore him at last from his prostration. He looked, and saw sitting on the same bench a tiny flowergirl-a child of eight years, thin and two sous and two louis. He was going that I can not seem-I, Capdenac-to to give her the two sous, when it ocurred to him that he would be dead in a few hours, and he gave her the two

This incident did him good. So far he had been like a man struck on the head with a club; but now his stupor bassed away, and he got a fresh grasp of is scattered ideas.

He looked at his watch. "Three o'clock in the morning! It s time to go to bed-go to bed! Give my last six hours to sleep? No, I certainly have something better to do than that, but what?-oh! to be sure, there's my will to make."

Not far away was a restaurant that kept open all night. Anatole went "Waiter, a bottle of champagne and a ottle of ink." He drank a glass of wine and looked it his paper, meditatively.

"To whom shall I leave my income of them. And among the persons who interest me I see only one--Nicette!" Nicette was a charming young girl of fresh as the dawn, arrived in the little eighteen, with light hair and large salon. black eyes. She was an orphan like His last will was quickly drawn up and every thing went to Nicette.

"Poor Nicette," he thought; "she was very sad the last time I saw her. Has not her guardian—who knows nething of the world outside his class in wind instruments at the conservatory-seen fit to promise her hand to a brute, a sort of bravo, whom she detests? She detests him the more because she loves another, if I have clearly understood her confessions, full of reserves and embarrassment. Who is this happy mortal? I do not know; but he is cer tainly worthy of her, since she has chosen him. Kind, gentle, affectionate Nicette deserves an ideal husband. Ah she is just the woman that I should have desired, if-it is outrageous to orce her-to spoil her life by confiding uch a treasure to a brute. Never before did I so well understand the genrous ardor that inflamed knights errant, and impelled them to deliver oppressed beauties. And if I should not restrain myself!—but why should I retrain myself? Why should I not be Nicette's knight? It is settled, and from to-morrow morning-but to-mor row will be too late. I must act at once. The hour is a little unreason able for seeing people; but when think that I shall be dead in five hours 1 don't mind the proprieties to that extent. Come! my life for Nicette!" It was four o'clock in the morning when Anatole rang at the door of Nic ette's guardian. M. Bouvard. "Is there a fire?"

"No, dear M. Bouvard," said Anatole; "I came to make a little call." "But I suppose, monsieur, tha omething very important to say to me."

"Very important, M. Bouvard. You nust abandon the marriage of my cousin Nicette to M. Candenac.' "Never, monsieur, never."

"It will not take place!" "We shall see. And now that you know ny reply, monsieur, I will detain you "That is very kind of you; but I am good as well as tenacious, M. Bouvard; I take no offense at your procedure, and I remain. "Remain if you like. I consider you as gone, and I have no more to say to

"Do you consent?" "To what?" "Abandon the marriage."

"But, monsieur, M. Capdenac is a terrible man!" "In that case, let me do it; only swear to me that if I induce M. Capdenac to give up his claim my cousin shall be

"Yes, monsieur, she shall be free." When Anatole arrived at the address given him it was nearly six o'clock in. the morning.

"Who's there?" asked a gruff voice. through the door. "Open. A very serious message from

M. Bouvard." Finally the door opened, and Anatole found himself in the presence of a man with a stiff mustache who wore for his nightdress a costume of the fencing "Monsieur," said Capdenac, "May I

"Monsieur," answered Anatole, "you wish to marry Mlle. Nicette?"

"Yes, Monsieur." "Monsieur, you shall not marry her!" "Ah! thunder! Ah, blood! And who vill prevent me?"

Capdenac looked at Anatole, who was ot very large, but who seemed very de-"Ah, young man," said he, at last, "it s lucky for you that you find me in one of my good-humored moments. Take advantage of it. Run away while there is yet time. Otherwise I do not answer for your days." "Nor I for yours." "A challenge to me! Capdenac! Do tune to kill five of my adversaries and ity on your youth. Once more save ourself. "I see," said Anatole, "that you are an adversary worthy of me, and my desire increases to measure myself with so formidable a man. Let us take those two swords there, near the chimney, or alry swords. Or what do you say to these curved sataghans? What is the matter?" "Young man, do not play with fire-

"Are you afraid? You are trembling!"
"Tremble! I! It is from cold." "Then fight or abandon Nicette's hand." "I like your bravery. The brave are made to agree. Shall I make a confession to you?"

"Speak on." "For some time I have been thinking myself of breaking off this marriage;

yield to threats.' "I withdraw them."

"Then it is agreed." "Will you write out your abdication and sign it?" "I have so much sympathy for you that I can refuse you nothing!"

professor, stormily. door to shout:

"It seems, monsieur, that I am no onger master of my own house. You horse can be plainly seen at a distance over it. go, you come, you command! To prove of twelve miles and even farther, it is six thousand francs? I have no father to you that I do not like it I shall pay or mother, which is a lucky thing for no more attention to you. You hear? I am going to read my newspaper." A few moments later Nicette, as

> "What's the matter?" "The matter," said M. Bouvard, "is that your cousin is mad. "Mad? All right!" said Anatole; "but Nicette will see that my madness has its good side. Last night, my dear little cousin, I obtained two things-M denac renounces your hand and you excellent guardian consents that you may marry the man you love." "Truly, my guardian, you are willing that I should marry Anatole?" "What?" exclaimed Anatole "For you are the man I love, my

Just then Anatole felt his heart beat Was it the pleasure that violently.

"FOR YOU ARE THE MAN I LOVE."

Nicette's unexpected confession caused without enjoying it."

taken-Dr. Bardais."

says. 'The learned Dr. Bardais has shining beautifully. at midnight."

other's arms. - From the French.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF FAKIRS.

They Live for Weeks and Even Months in a State of Trance. There are various circumstances which must exert a modifying influence, and either increase or diminish the period during which life can be sustained in the absence of food. Other inasmuch as he possesses a larger storo conjunction with starvation always accelerates death, while a moderately effect, inasmuch as it diminishes the exhalation of fluid from the body. It is probably owing to warmth and moisture that persons buried in mines or confined in some similar manner have had their lives preserved beyond the ordiou know that I have fought twenty less, and that I have had the misfor- gentleman who starved himself under was a good and brave woman. I saw wound fifteen others? Oh, come, I take life was prolonged for sixty days, dur- Wyo., where she is now living. Her those two boarding axes. Or those cav- longed for many days or even for weeks, suit. She could ride any horse that to a standstill. In one case the man Black Hills she drifted from six weeks, and carefully watched; in Springs."-Chicago Tribune. another the man was buried for ten days in a grave lined with masonry, and covered with large slabs of stone. When the bodies were disinterred they resembled corpses and no pulsation could but I did not know how to manage it. be detected at the hears or in the will have to struggle for."—Munsey's So I would very willingly consent to arteries. Vitality was restored by Weekly. He fumbled in his pocket, and found what you desire; but you understand warmth and friction.-New Review.

WHITE HORSE MILL.

A Monster Emblematic Figure Made by One of the Saxon Kings. About two miles to the north of Lamourne, in Berkshire, England, is White Horse Hill, on the summit of which there is a large Roman entrenchment called Uffington Castle. A little below Furnished with the precious docu-ment, Anatole ran to M. Bouvard's. facing the northwest is the figure of a the castle on the steep side of the hill The distance was long, and he did not gigantic white horse, the dimensions of reach the door until eight o'clock in the which extend over about an acre of ground. Its head, neck, body and tail "Go home and go to bed," shouted the consist of one white line, as does also each of its four legs. The outlines of "I have Capdenac's abdication. Open the monstrous specimen of the genus the door or I will break it in." equus are formed by cutting trenches in M. Bouvard opened. Anatole handed the chalk, of which the hill is mainly comhim the paper and went to Nicette's posed, the ditches being two or three feet in depth and about ten feet wide. The white color and the surrounding turf > said, if the sun is shining brightly. the standard of the Saxons, and some celebrated white horse of Berkshire, dripping, until brown. brings several arguments to prove that one of nature's oddest oddities. Ashmead Burton thinks that the early Rural New Yorker. tribes noted the outlines of a horse on to its present graceful symmetry. How- as little water as will keep them from ever this may be, it has been a custom burning. Pour all the pulp into a jelly of the trench so as to preserve the color | meat. - Tho Housekeeper. and shape. This task is known for last thousand years. The peasants say etc.-Country Gentleman. that the grass can not grow on account of the ground having been poisoned Louis Republic.

A DARING AERONAUT.

but an accident happened to the parathe steps taken, the success obtained, he met another current which brought pound of cocoanut nut; 'And now," he concluded, "I am going him back and he saw nothing until he "Bardais, Bardais!" suddenly ex- this snow-storm, as near as he could heated oven. Do not cook rapidly.claimed Bouvard, bursting out laugh- judge for at least ten minutes, and when Ladies' Home Journal. ing. "Listen to what my newspaper he had passed through it the sun was suddenly been attacked with mental Below him he could see what apalienation. The madness with which he is afflicted has a scientific character, and down for miles and miles. He It is well known that the doctor was could see a distance of some forty miles, so that milliners both here and abroad specially engaged in the investigations and was able to discern the sun glisten- are setting them forth among their dress of poisons. He believes now that all the ing on the sea of Brighton. He found models, using these simple low-crowned. persons whom he meets are poisoned, the air getting very sharp and keen, flat-brimmed shapes for airy hats in net and he persuades them that they are. and long icicles were hanging from his and tulle. Black tulle is shirred on in-He was carried to an asylum last night mustache, and he had no sooner rubbed visible wires in sailor shape, and trimmed them off than others formed. For a few with folds and loops of the tulle, gold The two young people fell into each minutes he was quite deaf. He now passementerie, black birds with yellow seemed to be descending on the moun- wings, and long gold pins. Black Chantains of snow, and he thought be was tilly and beige point d'esprit silk nets, getting near Hastings or Brighton. He trimmed with delicate black laces and could smell the sea. Thinking he was | fine French ornaments in silver filigree, coming down, he took hold of four of are also sent over. Cream felt sailors his guy ropes and pulled the balloon have bands of gold or silver galloon, partly over on one side to allow some of | with bunches of very fluffy white estrich

the gas to escape at the mouth. he did not see for some considerable time. white crape, shirred on gold wires with earth. - Yankee Blade. A Story of Calamity Jane. "Bushels of chills and fever literature have been written about 'Calamity nary period. In morbid states of the Jane," said Cassius Reynolds, a Wyonervous system, life may be prolonged ming ranch owner, "but a true story of in the most extraordinary manner in her has never been given to the world. the absence of food. In a remarkable These stories reflected upon her charthe influence of a religious delusion, her a few weeks ago at Rock Springs, ing the whole of which time nothing name is Jane Steers. She was the bestbut a little orange juice was taken. known person in the West in the '70's. Somewhat analogous to the cases just She carried military messages for Custer mentioned are those in which all food in the Big Horn country, where the is abstained from while the person is in savages were so thick that a white man a state of trance or partially suspended | dared not enter the basin. She dressed animation. This state may be pro- like a man, always wearing a buckskin provided that the body be kept sufficient- ever bucked and never heard of the ly warm. The most remarkable in- word 'fear.' After General Custer was stances of this character have been fur- killed she went to the Black Hills and nished by certain Indian fakirs, who are was the first white woman to enter able to reduce themselves to a state re- Deadwood. When 'Wild Bill' died she sembling profound collapse, in which tenderly nursed him. When the Indians all vital operations are brought almost and outlaws were driven away from the was buried in an underground cell for to place and finally located at Rock Unexpected,

"To marry your daughter is the sole object of my life, sir." "Rats! Young man, any one can do

FIRESIDE FRAGMENTS.

-A novelty in pillows and head-rests s the new lamb's-wool filling, making ushions as soft as down and much more pleasant for summer use, being absoutely free from odor, which is not always the case with even the best down. -A dusting bag is made of jonquil silk, with a silver hoop at the top, which may be slipped over any convenient knob. This holds a duster of pale pink or white silk, or of soft, fine cheese cloth, stitched with delicate colored silks .-The Home.

-To wash black lace pass it through warm suds made of oxgall and water, rinse in cold water, then dip in glue water, squeeze it out and clap it till "Cousin, get up, dress quickly and chalk of the trench being of a beautiful nearly dry; then pin it out on a pillow or mattress till dry. Then put it bethe greenest of green, the figure of the tween two sheets and pass a warm iron steak, cut in eight pieces, pound well, as a substitute for that article. A white horse is known to have been place on a tin plate in a steamer, steam one hour, save carefully juice of meat. have supposed that this monster em- Beat one egg until light, add meat juice blematic figure was made by Hengist, one of the Saxon Kings. Mr. Wise, an make thick enough to mix. Dip each author who has written much of the piece in butter, then fry in hot lard, or

-Cucumber Sauce: Peel the cucum this figure was made under order of bers and cut in lengthwise, rather thick Alfred, during the reign of Ethelred, slices; soak in salted water for half an his brother, and that the figure is a hour, and take out the seeds. Make like monument to a victory over the Danes the tomato sauce, with the exception in the year 871. Other well-known that a little sharp vinegar should be writers are of the opinion that the won- dropped on the cucumbers when taken derful white horse is a natural freak, up, before the sauce is finished. An egg

-Tomato Jelly: Break ripe tomatoes the hillside and gradually worked it in- into pieces and stew them until done, in since time out of memory for the neigh- bag, and when the juice has trickled boring peasants to assemble on a certain through add a pound of loaf sugar to day of each year, usually about mid- each pound of the juice. Return it to summer, to clear away the weeds from the stove and let it boil rapidly until it the White Horse and to trim the edges jellies. This is very nice with roast

-Pudding Sauce: Mash a quart of miles around as "Scouring the Horse." ripe fruit, beat it thoroughly and add A large mound at the foot of White one teacupful of granulated sugar and Horse Hill and almost directly under set away for an hour. Just before the the "Horse," is called Dragon Hill. sauce is needed, put it on the stove and Here, according to tradition, St. George heat nearly to boiling, stirring conkilled the dragon. On the top of this stantly to avoid its burning. Place the mound, or "barrow," there is a space pudding in a deep dish and turn the about fifty yards square upon which not sauce around it. This is an excellent a spear of grass has grown during the sauce for a steamed pudding, roly-poly, of the stalks, and place the asparagus in bundles and put them into a muslin A Journey Through Space Five Miles bag to preserve the tops, and cook in liver to disappear. Others grew abthe salted water until tender: place pormally causing changes of the most the salted water until tender: place normally, causing changes of the most him? Was it death?

"Unfortunate that I am!" cried the poor fellow; "she loves me. Happiness on a trapeze attached to his ballon, asparagus on them, and pour a butter gist of Hikone, in Omi, Japan, happiness of the control of the patient."

The aeronaut Higgins went up the other day from Croydon, near London, asparagus on them, and pour a butter gist of Hikone, in Omi, Japan, happiness of the control of the patient." is within my reach, and I am to die meaning to come down by a parachute; sauce over the whole.—Boston Herald. ceeded in converting wild hemp (yach-Then seizing Nicette's hands fever- chute in a strong current of air, and he egg yelks in a bowl with a pound of ishly, he told her all-the letter re- had to cut it loose. This caused the white sugar and beat very light. Add said about the process, but it is asserted ceived, the perfume inhaled, the prog- balloon to shoot up six thousand feet half a pound of creamed butter. Shred that trial of the thread has been made nosis of his old friend, the will written, higher, and on reaching that altitude up half a pound of citron, grate half a at the first silk-weaving establishment pound a quarter of a pound of almonds cellent results in every case. The plant die."

But it is impossible!" said Nicete: passed through some sleet and snow. and add these with the grated rind of a He could hear the sound of trains, howthis doctor is mistaken. Who is he ever. All of a sudden he found himself eight eggs beaten to a stig froth. Line glossy, in no wise inferior to silk when "A man, Nicette, who is never mis- in darkness, caused, he presumed, by four pie plates with puff paste, fill with properly prepared. Cultivation on an snow and thick atmosphere. He was in the pudding and bake in a moderately

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

The Popular Sailor Hat-Combinations of Sailor hats are in high vogue, so much feathers and fancy jeweled pins as orna-The balloon then turned round three ments. Other white felts are wholly times, and he remarked to himself, "I veiled with silk nets, with loops of the am descending." He did nothing more net and sea swallows or black birds, set things being equal, a stout person has a to the balloon, merely sitting on his up in front. For garden parties and rechance of living longer than a thin one, trapeze watching for terra firma, which ceptions are lovely sailors of creamof combustible material which will serve him as fuel. Exposure to cold in When he was about two thousand feet lace and tea-roses as garniture. Many from the earth he prepared to descend women, especially those with slender by hanging by one arm on to his little faces, find a plain ribbon-trimmed sailor high temperature aids in prolonging trapeze rope as if he were using his hat far more becoming than a bent, atmosphere has a similarly favorable thirty miles from whose he carth— arched, or very wide shape. The straight thirty miles from where he started. He brim and simple style of the whole hat thinks he got about five miles above the is "complimentary," but its jaunty name scares them often into choosing a less becoming shape with a more dignified

To use black and white in successful combination requires artistic taste and very judicious handling. We see these qualifications carried out among some of the elegant boilets in "second" mourning produced this season. One recently exhibited was a rich poult de soie with white bengaline. The upper portion was of the bengaline, which was also employed for the sleeves. These were very full on the shoulders, fitting neatly into a black velvet cuff eight inches deep, which laced up the inside of the arm. The white bengaline reappeared as a plaited panel, at the side of the black skirt, the breadths in front of which were slighly draped, but not raised the least at the bottom of the skirt, nor was there any sign of a foundation skirt. The back was plain and full. The marked contrast between the two colors was toned by a bordering of cilver, which was present both on bodice and skirt, wherever the magpie colors met. The lower portion of the corsage was of the black poult de soie, V-shaped folds of it being carried to a delicate point on each shoulder and straight across the back, being fulled over the chest and pointed below the waist. The joining of skirt and bodice was defined by a band of silver garnithat. Get an object in life that you ture. The black silk, asserting itself between the designs, made an effective background. -N. Y. Post.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

-A method of soldering tin cans by electricity has recently been devised, and it bids fair to be quite generally

-It is a relief to know, upon so good an authority as Professor Charcot, of France, that only one person in 100,000 is subject to the hypnotic influence. -A very ingenious instrument has lately appeared for showing the velocity and pressure of the wind. The effect is produced by the rising or falling in level of mercury in a trough. -A new electric lantern has been designed in Vienna for the use of lecturers and medical classes. By a combination of lenses the magnified image of an object is projected on a white screen in its natural color. -Artificial musk is a new product of the chemists. It is an oily liquid of a brown color, and smells so much like musk that perfumers are able to use it

-A new industry is proposed for Florida, the cultivation of the camphor tree. There has been an increase in the price of the gum of late, and a large demand is anticipated in the future for the manfacture of smokeless gunpowder, of which camphor is a necessary ingredient. -It will not be long before all the waste water-power in the land will be converted into electrical energy, and conveyed anywhere to a point of from ten to one hundred miles on a small copper wire, in armaments of from ten to five hundred horse-power. The cost of construction per mile would not exceed $6,000. Long distance distribution has already been practically successful in the Western States, but more particularly in Switzerland. - Inventive

-According to present appearances electricity may be superceded for rapid suburban transit purposes, under certain peculiar conditions, by the sliding railway, to experiment further on which an overhead line is to be constructed in Paris, between the Place Clinchy and La Villette, capable of carrying 12,000 passengers an hour each way. The distance (about four miles), including stoppage at three intermediate stations, is intended to be traversed in seven minutes. The experimental line exhibited recently in Paris is to be re-erected at the Edinburgh exhibition.

-To the condemnation of tight lacing Professor Virchow added his strong word in a recent lecture, at Berlin, on etc.—Country Gentleman.

—To boil asparagus, allow one tablethat "the outward pressure of tight lacspoonful of salt to one-half gallon of ing so surely affected the internal orwith the dragon's blood at the time St.
George gave him the fatal wound.—St.
of the stalks and place the sparagers could determine to what period of fashin cold water for half an hour; tie them | ion the possessor belonged. Excessive lacing caused whole portions of the

-Mr Nayemura Sakusaburo, a drugvist of Hikone, in Omi, Japan, has suc -A Toothsome Pudding: Put twelve yo) into a substance possessing all the essential qualities of silk. Nothing is blanch and in Kioto and at other factories, with exin question grows on moors and hill-sides. Its fiber is said to be strong and extended scale would present no difficulties. - Scientific American.

> TOMMY'S FIRST VOYAGE. How He Tormented His Ma Until He Be-gan to Feel "Kinder Queer."

"Tell me, ma, who's that big man up there?" "That's the captain, Tommy." "What's he up there for?"

"That is his place, up on the bridge?"
"What do they call it bridge for?" "Because it goes over the deck." "What deck?" "Why, Tommy, the deck we are standing on. Don't be so silly.' "Can't he ever come down?"

"Who, Tommy?" "Why, that big captain." "Certainly he can, whenever he likes." "But you say it was his place." "Well, so it is, when he is on duty." "What duty?"

"Why, on watch; taking care of the ship."
"Is it his ship?" "No, dear, it belongs to a company." "Company of real soldiers?"

"No; certainly not; how absurd you are. A company of business men.' "Can they sail for nothing?" "I don't know; I suppose so." 'We can't, can we?'

"Why not?" "Because your father does not belong to the company. Now be quiet. O, look at that ship.

"Why, right there."

"Where?"

N. Y. Voice.

"Where is it going?" "I don't know. Do be still. I've got a headache." "Is there a captain on that ship? "Yes."

"Big as ours?" "I don't know. Now stop talking." "Well, what is it now?" "I feel queer-kinder sick." "Mercy sakes, Tommy! Why didn's you say so before? Come, hurry and let me put you to bed!"-Ocean. Hungry Toads at Supper. When the electric lights in the outskirts of the town flash out the toads in the neighborhood know that their supper time is come, and they hurry to the feast. A lady, relating an experience similar to that of other observant persons, tells how she was recently waiting in a carriage near an electric lamp, which had just been lighted, while her friend went to a neighboring shop. In the dry road she presently saw a stir, and looking over the wheels saw hopping in all directions across and around toads aiming for the light. She saw, on going nearer, that there was a ring of toads underneath the light already waiting for the fall of moths and the insects of night that drop from the life-destroying flame. It was a curious sight—those creatures squatted in a circle, with upturned heads, waiting for the victims to drop into their mouths. -

A DOG HOSPITAL

Wards for Sick, Sad and Disabled Canines.

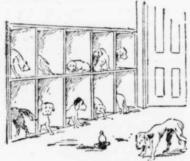

How a Pug Looks in the Threes of Hysteria-The Big Bull-Terrier with a Wooden Leg, and the Wicked Ways of a Sinful Dog.

Three full-fledged veterinary surgeons -Drs. Withers, Baker and Hugheswatch the interests of the sick canines of Chicago at the dog hospital, says the Times of that city. Three assistant young doctors-Shipley, Wright and Pope-watch their elders and walk their very peculiar hospital wards.

There are no charity wards. All the dollars a week and upward. Thus the perils of vulgar society are guarded against, and the most prudent of canine lung fever, bronchitis and such commothers can trust her puppy to the Chi- plaints, just the same as human beings cago dog hospital without fearing that or horses. Then there is the accident the youngster will pick up bad language. ward. A splendid St. Bernard was specified time, he can have his release It is strictly a temperance institution. Whisky is forbidden, and the use of a vast expanse of sawdusted floor, while patients are freed from depressing in- lescent wards. In almost every influences. No contagious diseases are stance the animals were superb specihospital-contracted small-pox. In short, pear to have a genuine love for the the hospital is a beauty.

applies solely to the achievements there-

A WARD IN THE HOSPITAL

in. In point of fact, the institution is as homely as hands can make it. The 'wards" are small rooms with a saw-dust AFTER THE ATTACK OF THE WOODEN LEG. carpet, and "cots," bunk-fashion, along the sides. These look like a succession f cubby-holes filled with straw-and dogs. In reality they are puppy-holes. "One man can lead a horse to water, sisten to reason any more than a sick nan will. Moral suasion no go. Phy-

the dog. Medicine goes. product of the hospital, yet here is a been in his right senses, he was distitle fellow who can dance. It is sometinetly a vulgar dog when etherized. hing quite new and striking in terpsichorean exercise. He is a silver-haired little skye belonging to a South-side animals could not suffer from the commight be shorter, since the recruit can grandee, and the wriggles he performs are tarantula antics and the skye's is incision just above the knee-a few one opportunity to retract shortly after the St. Vitus' dance.

What do you suppose are the most prevalent doggish ailments, any way? The doctors say nervous disorders. Of course this applies to the aristocratic pay patients that seek the hospital. Street curs are not troubled with nerves. These are a product of a higher civiliza-

CONVALESCENTS.

A hysterical dog is a queer sight. Recently a young vet was sent for in a tremendous hurry. Consternation reigned in the mansion whence the summons issued. Mistress and maid were alike in tears. The darling puggy-pug was shut tightly in the kitchen. were afraid it had gone mad, and their first impulse had been to call in a policeman. But policemen are rude creatures without a proper conception of a pug's sensibilities, so a messenger was dispatched in hot haste for a doctor in-

The doctor who came was a young man, and not a bad-looking one. If he had been old and ugly there is a possibility that less alarm would have been vouchsafed for his welfare. As it was, every time he attempted to open the kitchen door there was a chorus of "Oh's" and "Ah's," "You'll get bitten!" "Oh! do be careful!" "Oh! come back, come back; better for dear Puggy to die alone than to cause your death, too!" After various frantic and ineffectual dashes for the door the intrepid young doctor succeeds in obtaining a glimpse of his interesting patient. Puggy was reveling in a fit of hysterics in the most lady-like manner. Shrieking, moaning, whining, by turn stiffened out, or pre-

A BROKEN JAW AND A CRUSHED PAW. ternaturally exuberant, Puggy had a complete monopoly of that kitchen, and showed how artistically complete hysteria could be made. The ladies were much relieved to discover their idolized pet was still in full possession of the small amount of sense ever, inclined to be indignant with the a case for displaying women' shoes doctor for rlainly remarking that over feeding and coddling had been the cause of the disorder, and a new regime must be commenced.

"It is just this sort of thing which lies at the root of half the dog diseases," said a doctor to the Times' representative. "The animals are fed on cake, candy, pie and pickles, take no exercise, and live in heated rooms. Consequently they have indigestion, followed by nervous disorders and often paralysis. Hysteria is quite common among pugs and poodles and such pets of the ladies.'

was a pathetically funny sight. It was blotches showed on its smooth skin just But all the cases are not the result of indulgence. Dogs have sore throat, spreading his superb leonine body over if he wants it.

pital ward. About the funniest case recorded is that of "Jack," a full-blooded bull-dog.

whose front leg was injured in a fight. was a great favorite, so he was conveyed and pleased with the notion of a change. to the hospital to see what could be The theory of the new experiment is the operating room. munication of these very bad manners. 'ival Carmenate's. Only that artiste's The attendant doctors made an oblique skillful slashes-and Jack's legs numbered only three!

feet, pushing the foreign leg ahead like transportation and so on. a wheelbarrow. By degrees he became enemy's teeth from the hardness of that deceptive wooden leg.

Household Hints.

A bruise may be hindered from disgrand stand directly behind the catcher | the materials required. in order to see how much curve the pitcher has. Foul tips are plentiful this

Use a little kerosene in a boiler of clothes to help the rubbing. To help are 15 in the row. Work 3 rows around some poor struggling devil of an undertaker use a little in the stove when you light the fire in the morning. Rooms covered with oil-cloth can be greatly improved by taking up the oilcloth and replacing it with Brussels and forth, omitting 11 stitches-5 on carpet. Never use the first water that comes from a pump or hydrant, as it has been in a lead or iron pipe all night and is not healthful. Standing all night in a glass bottle does not hurt whisky, hence many prefer it in the morning to water. To prevent tramps calling a second time, feed them on your wife's pie, made by a new recipe which she has just discovered .- Texas Siftings. It Was Tough. "Please give me a bite of something ma'am?" appealed a hungry tramp. "Here, poor man, is some canned beef.

It is all I can spare you." "Is it Texas beef, ma'am?" "Yes, poor man!" "Then," said the wayfaring man, turning sadly away, "may God forgive you; I never, never can."

Taken, But Not Paid For-Georgia Editor-What shall we call our new paper?

Friend-Call it "The Watermelon." Then all the colored people will take it. Georgia Editor-Yes; but they would never pay for it.-Light.

Dealer-Now, here's a show-case that will magnify the goods you put into it. Customer-Great Scott! Then I don't nature had bestowed. They were, how- want it. I'm a shoe-dealer. and I want

ENLISTMENT ON TRIAL.

ermitting Recruits to Leave the Army If They Find Army Lite Distasteful. Innovations are numerous just now in A pretty little dos with the "hives' traditional plan for generations has been, when once the recruit is secured a valuable pug, and the great red and has taken the oath, to consider him a fixture. He could be dishonorably as they would on a baby's, while its discharged as worthless, or in rare cases poor round eyes were swollen until near- the influence of friends could procure patients are dogs of means and pay five ly closed. Same cause. Too much pie. his discharge. But in general the prospect before him was five years of an occupation which might be most distasteful, unless he should escape it by desertion. But now, after he has been

It must be acknowledged that advantobacco in every form severely pro-hibited. Of course, like the other pre-A collie that had been run over by a A collie that had been run over by a provision to a rather mortifying as well scriptions, these rules apply only to the wagon lay blinking in his cot. Setters as troublesome extent. At Jefferson and greyhounds in various stages of dis- Barracks, for example, the outpouring It is not a home for incurables, so the repair wandered around in the conva- of recruits under this invitation to escape has been so great that the question how to procure the needed men for the admitted. Thus no pug need fear the mens and the property of wealthy men army while such an arrangement goes spoiling of his beauty by the pitting of and women of the city. The doctors ap- on becomes serious. Some of these men might have held to their engagement, creatures they tend, which is duly ap- having once entered upon it, and have That remark is purely figurative and preciated, so that the sight is rather become gradually used to the restraints more cheerful than the ordinary hos- and exactions of the military life; but they jumped at the chance of honorable escape thus thrown open to them. The new experiment, in short, has made an unpromising start, and perhaps the authorities will conclude that it must be modified, if not altogether bandoned. Every body admits that the greatest of army evils is desertion. It is not only demoralizing to the troops to find so many of their comrades escaping with impunity, but it is costly, from expenses of recruiting, transportation, clothing, and so on, where more than 2,800 desert, as was the case last year. It has been found, however, that the greater part of the enormous drain from desertion occurs during the first year of service. All sorts of notions drive lads to the recruiting office. They are anxious to escape the restraints of home, or have had quarrels with family and friends, or have become involved in Jack was worth considerable money and | business or love affairs, or are restless

Sut two can't make him drink," says the old proverb. It takes just two doctors to make the timid dog swallow his medicine. First the doctor diagnoses the the Chinese, must go. Accordingly Jack than to have them desert. So far as Then he was put under the influence of ether and any thing appears to the contrary, this easons with the dog. A dog won't laid upon the slippery marble slab of theory has not been disproved by the brief trial given to it. Only when the The behavior of that dog was awful. gain in the infrequency of desertions ical tried. Doctor to each corner of He kicked and screamed and foamed at during a long period is compared with the mouth, and swore the most frightful the number of cases in which recruits Performing dogs are not an advertised canine oaths. Whatever he might have have received discharges on application, can the facts be properly ascertained. tinetly a vulgar dog when etherized. Probably, however, there might be an Fortunately the operating room is well improvement in the mode of carrying much earlier find out whether the military life suits him. Having received his enlistment, all else that he could fairly ask would be furnished through He became a famous patient, and after the new system of discharge by pursome time his owner hit upon the ingen- chase which is very likely to be estabius device of a wooden leg for him. At lished by Congress. In this system the first Jack found it awkward and in the Government only remunerates itself for way, and would go on limping on three expenses laid out on the soldier in

> But the great hope of the future, both used to it, and albeit a slight stiffness, in decreasing desertions and in securwalked as well as ever. Sad to relate, ing a better class of men, is through Jack's woes have not softened or subdued his nature. He was always a fight- ing. The new plan of paying less attening dog, and always will be. Instead of tion to the great cities and of opening being incapacitated, he has a great bulge recruiting stations for particular region his opponent now. A strange dog is ments year after year in smaller towns always welcome to chew away on that or rural districts, where the characters wooden leg while Jack proceeds to do and antecedents of the men are known, him up with the others. He gets there and where they will have old acquaint--with three feet. After a prolonged ances with them in the same company, fight Jack enjoys nothing so much as is the most promising of the recent excalmly extracting the remnants of his periments.-Washington Cor. N. Y. Sun.

BED-ROOM SLIPPERS.

The Materials Required, and How to Make and Embellish Them. A skein of Germantown wool, either coloration by instant application of hot in white or some bright or delicate water. A good way to kinder the color, and a little white Shetland wool bruise itself is to avoid sitting in the or knitting silk for the ankle edge, are

> With a bone crochet needle make a chain of 8 stitches. Work, in short crochet, all around this chain, making 2 stitches in the 4th chain so that there this little oval, widening at each end and at the middle-where the first widening was make. After these rows, widen only at the middle until 20 or 22 rows are completed. Now work back each side of the middle stich. These 16 rows are crocheted alternately on the Crochet together at the heel; and begin the ankle. This is quite plain, 6 rows in short crochet, missing a stitch slender ankle.

Then work one row of double crochet, row is not narrowed, neither are the two plain rows of short crochet which follow it.

Now with the Shetland wool, or the silk, make a row of scallops, thus: One short crochet, miss 1, 5 double crochet, miss 1, 1 short crochet. Repeat.

If silk is used, be careful to fasten it strongly and leave an inch of the silk run in at the wrong side of the work. A crocheted cord, or, still prettier, a narrow white ribbon should be run in around the ankle and tied in a dainty bow. -Home.

Collect on Delivery. Tangle-Here's a package of mackerel just come, Mary, that I ordered from the

Mrs. Tangle - Why, no, it isn't mack- that? erel, Henry, it's cod. Can't you see it's

UNCLE SAM'S SEEDS.

Where They Come From and How They Are Stored, All the seeds now being distributed our military establishments, and of recent experiments the most remarkable ment represents a certain potato that it has been the one which permits recruits cellent article in the shape of a Hiberis sending out as probably the most exwho do not like the service to leave it nian tuber ever obtained by cultivation. without more ado. In place of taking It never offered potatoes before this seathe risks of disgraceful desertion they son, by the way. The germs of this make a statement that they are quite | wonderful vegetable will be sent to you sure soldiering will not suit them, and if you make the request—twenty-five obtain an honorable dismissal. The "eyes" in a wooden box-all cut up and ready to plant. Of course, the notion is that the farmer, observing that the potatoes grown from these twenty-five eyes are superior to any others of his crop, will keep them for seed, and other agricultural persons in his neighborhood will obtain from him specimens of the vegetable for planting, the product of all that particular district being in this way improved. Such, indeed, is the whole idea and purpose of the seed distribution-that the vegetables and as good and pretty of their kinds as pos-

The seeds bought of the farmers by storage department of Uncle Sam's barn, thimbles with long handles for such velope, having received its measureful, is sealed up and a label is pasted on it, telling what seeds it contains, giving directions for planting them, and saying at the bottom: "Please raport results." It is desired to know, you see, how are put up in bunches of fives and tens, and, after being addressed, they are seed houses .- Washington Letter.

BROKE THE BELL. A Desperate Case Cured When the First

Symptoms Appeared. In the days of the chestnut bell a Long Branch train, and one of the men by, on a passenger's trunk, sat a palefaced, weary-eved young man of twenty summers, who was going down to the Branch with his ma. He wore a chestnut bell, and this was perhaps the first time he had had a chance to ring it. The gentleman was proceeding with his story when ting-a-ling! went the bell. He stopped and looked around, and then continued, but after half a minute the young man belled him up again. The man looked annoyed, but went on, and during the quarter of an hour he was talking that bell rang about fifteen times. When he had finished he looked over to the weary young man and asked:

"What is that bell for?" "Chestnuts," was the reply "How do you mean?"

"Why, you know, when you hear any thing old you-ting-a-ling on the bell. "O, you do. I guess I'll try it once." He got up, shook the young man out of his coat and collar at the first shake, and then whirled him around, ended him up, and gave him a toss over a heap of baggage. The bell boy got up covered with dust and a wreck, the bell hanging by one end, and as he disappeared into the ladies' room we heard his mother exclaim:

"Why, darling, didn't I warn you to look out for the locomotive?" And the man who had told the story

"Best to take such cases at the start and administer strong medicine. He who'd have got mad and damaged him beyond repair."—N. Y. Sun.

Bordered Gingham Dresses. The bordered gingham or chambery dresses are made up very much like the bordered camel's hair and English cheviot fabrics. The skirts are kilted, accordion-plaited or slashed here and there, or they are intact-a full round skirt gathered to a belt made with a very deep hem. The front of the waist is the usual short jacket with revers opening over a blouse vest or shirt front. with a softly folded tennis belt of the back and the front loops of the work, so dress material. The sleeves are full at that the stitch may resemble the rest of the top and wrinkled; a standing collar is sewed to the blouse front, while the revers of the jacket are continued across the back in a turned-down collar. Sometimes on dressy toilets there are merely at the corners where the 11 stitches squareshaped Hungarian caps for sleeves were left. This narrowing shapes a about ten inches in length, and slashed to the shoulder on the outside of the arm. Beneath this is a full bishop for a cord or ribbon to be run in. This sleeve of embroidered nainsook or India muslin. This style repeats one that is popular on very young ladies' toilets of China silk and net for evening wear.— N. Y. Evening Post.

No Charity. "May I take a kiss before I go, dearest?" said George as he prepared to "You may borrow one, George," said charming Jennie, "but you must not take one, for mother has repeatedly cautioned me against giving kisses to any one. So George was obliged to borrow.-Boston Courier.

Turned Her Hair. Cora-Miss Fussanfeather's hair used to be black. I see it has turned to a chestnut. How do you account fo

Clara-I believe she has been using marked C. O. D.? How stupid of them the funny papers to do her hair up into send the wrong kind of fish!—Light.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

Its Editor Continues to Do Business at

We extract the following items from he last issue of the Arizona Kicker: A SURPRISED MAN.-Last week we had a friendly criticism on Jim Taylor, "No. I camped out last year." "Why who keeps the whisky ranch at the don't you camp out this year?" "I just other end of the bridge. We stated that told you. I camped out last year."— his den was probably the nearest imitation of Hades to be found on earth, and that the people of this section were not that the people of this section were not doing their duty in allowing Jim to conlook like?" Second Saleslady—"O, he's sume so much oxygen and hydrogen. It was intended as a pleasant little caution to Jim to set his shanty on fire and go hence, but he didn't take it that way. On Wednesday of this week he came over to take our scalp. He didn't drop a hint as to his intentions, but when we caught sight of him a block off we knew by the jerk of his eyebrows that he neant us.

If Mr. Taylor expects to make a sucess in life he must carefully observe flowers grown in this country shall be two or three things. Don't pull your gun too quick. Don't shoot before you get ready. Don't yell when you shoot, as it only rattles your own nerve. He the agent are sent to Washington in opened on us at a distance of 200 feet, bags, and in this shape are piled in the which was 180 feet too much. He was in too great a hurry to take aim, and his which is a big brick building just back bullets were wasted. His yells took of the main structure of the Department | away his breath. When he had fired of Agriculture. An enormous room ad-joining is filled with pretty women sit-on his back, and made him holler in ting at little tables and measuring out about sixty seconds. The look of surseeds from sacks into brown paper en- prise and astonishment on his face as velopes. Some of them use quart pots, he found himself licked was a laughaothers pints, and so on down to mere ble sight. The boys put him in an empty barrel and rolled him around unlittle seeds as carrots. Obviously, too, til he was thoroughly weary, and yester-the envelopes differ in size. Each en- day he was chased out of his dive and departed for the mountains.

IT DIDN'T FAIL .- Last Saturday the Granite Hill Savings Bank, of this town, failed to open its doors, and a notice was posted up to the effect that it would the seeds turn out. Finally the packets open in about a week and pay at least to prevent the dispensing of morphine fifty cents on the dollar. The boys got for quinine, a strip of steel should be together about ten o'clock and Mr. Dug-firmly riveted over the mouth of the sent off in this shape. If you ask simply for "some vegetable and flower seeds," you will probably receive ten just then, but after a rope had been to explode and shatter the steel when envelopes of the former and five of the passed over his neck he explained that the poison is taken in hand. If the clerk latter. A sample bundle of ten vege- the failure had been caused by over- survives he will know that the shock tables would very likely contain a quart | confidence in silver mine investments. of corn, half a pint of beans, half a pint The boys doubted this, and Mr. Duggan of peas, and some small envelopes of was taken to the bank and compelled to cabbage, pumpkin, tomato, pepper, rad- show his books and his cash. After I've no doubt the inhabitants of the ish, cucumber and beet. Quarts are figuring for about two hours a com- moon eat, drink and sleep, just as we also given of buckwheat and lawn- mittee found that there was money grass. A separate room in the barn is enough to pay every depositor $1.47 on Mr. B.—"Well, I don't believe any thing devoted to the putting up of flower seeds, which are purchased from the big out and the bank wound up in ship-lunatics are right here, and that one of shape fashion. It was no failure, but them is in this room."-Texas Siftings. simply going out of business. Mr. Duggan had calculated on a little scoop, but argument? O, get out!" Mrs. Winksthe boys got ahead of him. He left town on foot, carrying a spare paper Binks—"I address the expression not to collar in his hind nocket and he will of us were waiting at Trenton for the probably look for some hay-seed town ask you to get out-to get out of the in which to begin life anew. We have a room, or the house, or the town, or the began telling about his experience on a failure here in trade now and then, but wrecked vessel in mid-Atlantic. Near we permit no bank to fail unless all de- Do I make myself plain?" Mrs. Winks positors are first paid in full.

FOR OTHER FIELDS-Ex-Judge Jim Demorest. Harrison, who has been a familiar figure on our streets for the last year, who was supposed to be a retired flour merchant from Minnesota, out here to cure his asthma, is with us no more. He eparted yesterday in charge of a deective, and will bring up at Joliet as the end of his journey.

felt it a personal hit at himself. He ness of taste. Its flavor is generally conthrew out his hints that we were trying sidered to be half way between the to run the town, but that he would flavors of beef and game; it is somehe tried to force us into a personal he had a Derringer in his pant's pocket and snapped at us, but it failed to go off. | bled and dressed by the slaughterer.

broken by the shock, and his collar He went away saying that he owed us soon melts and soon becomes rancid. time yet.

STILL HARPING-Our jealous-minded contemporary is still giving himself away in every issue of his poor old senile sheet, and such subscribers as he has, take it for the sole object of seeing what might have rung that bell on somebody he says about us. The hair that broke the camel's back was our private grave-$60 to remove the seven bodies to a nice little plat of ground, and to identify each grave with a nice head board, his gall bursted. He had no private gravevard. He went out to shoot somebody but was knocked into the sand and his gun confiscated. He hasn't the nerve to even throw mud at an Indian.

Poor old man! Poor old contempor ary! Your sun went down kerchunk when the Kicker was established, and you have been crawling in the moonlight ever since. Blow away if it does your soul good. It doesn't hurt us any, and but for this escape valve you might take rat poison or roll into the river .-Detroit Free Press.

A Complete Give-Away. Census Taker (to an old maid)-When were you born, Miss? Old Maid--I was born about the time that Lincoln was assassinated. Census Taker (a little later, to the mother)-In what battle did you say your husband was wounded? Mother-At Vicksburg, I think.

It was in the Mexican war. I remember it as well as can be.-West Shore. Some One to Blame.

You say you want a silent partner?" "Yes. "Can't you attend to the busines alone?" "Yes, but when any complaint arises from customers I want some one who isn't near to lay the blame on."-Chicago

Almost a Hint. Gentleman Visitor-It seems to me that I have forgotten something. Lady-Yes, you have forgotten to home.-Texas Siftings.

PUNGENT PARAGRAPHS.

-"My husband is a fore-handed man," boasted a woman to a neighbor. "All monkeys are four-handed," the latter replied.-West Shore. -"Going camping out this year?"

Lowell Citizen. -First Saleslady-"Have you seen jist a bargain counter affair, that's all.'

-Terre Haute Express. -Miss Fianceb-"Do you get any time to practice now, Lena?" Mrs. Younghusband-"O, yes, plenty of it." Fiancee-"Indeed! I am surprised. What are you practicing?" Mrs. Younghusband-"Strict economy."-Burlington Free Press. -"You shouldn't find fault with my temper," said she. "When we were married, you know, you took me for bet-ter or for worse." "I know it," was the reply, "but I had hope of striking some thing like a general average."-Washington Post. -Applicant (to farmer)-"Can't you give me employment, sir?" Farmer-"What do you know about farm work?" Applicant—"I was once the editor of an agricultural paper." Farmer - "Can't hire you. Must have some one who knows how to milk and hoe potatoes, at least."-Query. -"Charlot, did you ever stop to think," said a grocer, as he weighed half a stone of potatoes, "that these tubers contain sugar, water and starch."

"No, I didn't replied the lad; "but I heard mother say that you put peas and beans into your coffee, and about a pint of water into every quart of milk you sold." The subject of natural philosophy was dropped.-Photo. -The Western Druggist thinks that meant morphine.

-Mr. B .- "You say you believe that the moon is inhabited?" Crank-"I do. do. Fair Luna is certainly inhabited."

-Mrs. Binks (angrily) -"Call that an but to your argument. country, or the planet, or the universe. -"You couldn't possibly make yourself any plainer than you are naturally."-

HOW HORSE TASTES.

Its Flavor Is Half Way Between Those of Beef and Game Physically, it may be distinguished from beef or mutton by its appearance It is coarser in the grain than beef. In this respect it resembles bull beef more Judge Jim objected to the course of the than any other. It is darker in color Kicker. He didn't like us one bit, and and looks more moist than beef. It has when he saw us walking to the front he a peculiar smell and a peculiar sweetmake us chew cactus before he was thing like the flavor of hare. One reason done with us. One day two weeks ago why horseflesh is as a rule darker in color than beef is that horses which are quarrel, and we learned afterwards that pole-axed, or which have died from injury, disease or old age, are not properly Believing that we could run the town It is, however, by its fat that horseflesh better than the judge, we began hunt- is most easily distinguished. The fat of ing up his pedigree, and in the course horseflesh is not generally mixed with of a week discovered that he was an the lean. It is yellow in color. It looks "escaped gentleman" from State prison. more moist than the fat of beef. It one, but as he has seven years yet to Consequently, unless a rapid sale is efserve we shan't begin to worry for some | fected or the fat removed, an advanced price must be charged in order to secure the butcher from loss on unsold meat.

Lastly horseflesh can be distinguished from beef by its chemical characteristics. and it is in this way that it may be recognized when mixed with other substances. Who can tell, except the chemist, what are the component parts of a sausage, polony, or saveloy? Or When we went to an expense of who can tell by taste what those parts are? We do not judge by taste, we judge by flavor, and in the making of flavorseasoning as does it."-Nineteenth Century.

Rank and Money Marriages. It is becoming more and more hard for Faubourg St. Germain mothers to find rich husbands for their daughters. As there is no court here, the connection which marriage with one of these young ladies might open to a nouvel en richi would be of small value. She could not endow her husband with a title, and her pretensions to be better than his family would be unendurable. As her forefathers and foremothers all married for money, she has not the recommendation of beauty. The sons of noble families, as such, are not nearly so much prized as they used to be by the magnates of the French Jewry. Still, they can pick up in all directions the daughters of men who have made money in business. For instance, a match is contemplated between the heiress of a manufacturer of corsets and a descend-Old Maid-Why, no, mother, it wasn't. ant of Marshal de Grouchy, who was a man of ancient family. Her father is glad to buy a title for her, and she is delighted at the prospect of hearing a stylish maitre d'hotel announce that "Madame la Marquise est servie." A Relgian Prince of non-royal house was able some eight or nine years ago to get hold of £400,000 by going to Hymen's altar with the daughter of a man who rose from being a street-sweeper to having a contract for sweeping the streets of Paris. But his sisters, who were penniless, had to marry poor widowers .-London Truth.

-When a young man loses his heart to some girl, he usually loses his nerve

THE REPUBLICAN.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND.

BENJ. H. SINCELL, Elitor and Proprietor.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. One copy, one year..... INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE,

TERMS OF ADVERTISING. First insertion, $1 per square of ten lines 5 cents per square for each additional inser-tion. Special contracts for advertising longer than three months.

*Correspondents must enclose full name and a idress, not necessarily for publication, but as a private guarantee of good faith. Reject-ed communications will not be returned.

FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1890.

Salutatory.

wishes of the people and a truthful campaign of next year. It will be conducted in a fearless, in- of Maryland will decline to have but to plead guilty. Accompanied piece or organ of any individual, very men who have profited by the He immediately drove to the office shall be to serve the people, and their people's money will woo them from sel, on Courtlandt street, where Mr.

great-in fact cannot be estimated has so long held despotic sway over tion, it was decided to go into court now-and to its developement and her fortunes and her destinies and immediately and end the case. Judge trembled as the sentences of his acwelfare we shall exert our best en-give them a first-class, clean, local

Come in friends, and let us march hand in hand towards that goal of prosperity which we can reach as a people, and help our county take the They will see you later, and the high station among her sisters which, by nature, she is entitled to hold. BENJ. H. SINCELL.

Valedictory.

IN disposing of THE REPUBLICAN sincere thanks to all my patrons, and train of silver free coinage here. That ment.

can in Garrett County to subscribe vote has been cast for free coinage. for THE REPUBLICAN.

Just here would it not be a good idea to impress upon the RepublicanCounty Central Committee that the next Congressional Convention, by right as well as by rotation ought to be country free and unlimited coinage held in Oakland?

THE death of Michael Bannon, of Anne Arundel county, on the 2nd by the Democratic leaders, and abide inst., removes from the arena of the result in confidence. - New York Democratic politics in this State a Press. conspicuous figure, and his loss will be keenly felt at the next election by his party associates.

THE passage of the Federal Election bill by the House of Representatives marks another step in the history of the Republican party and

The cry of the Democrotic press against the measure only served to strengthen the determination of Ohio, moved into the Garthright the Republicans to redeem their cottage Tuesday for the season. promises made to the people and to make it possible for the will of the majority as expressed at the ballotbox to be the supreme law of the

The part taken in the contest by our able Representative is a source are almost indiscribable. The earnof gratification to his friends as well as to every citizen of the District who believes in fair play.

Let every Republican voter in the County bestir himself and prepare for the contest now approaching. success and the results of active work the program consisted of music, will best be seen when the ballots are counted. Tariff clubs should be organized in every district and bright, ener- ent. getic Republicans be selected as offi-

The initiative step should be taken in Oakland and a club formed upon be run through this town.

whose roll shall appear the names of every Republican voter in No. 7.

Campaign literature will be furnished, and every voter in the county will have the opportunity extendissues involved. Organize at oncedo not delay so important a matteropen the fight all along the line, and a glorious victory will be the result

A SPECIAL meeting of the Maryland Democratic Editors' Association was held at the Hotel Rennert, Baltimore, Saturday last, at which an address to the Democratic voters of the State was issued. The address urges harmony and concord in the party and says that State affairs and State matters are to be laid aside and the campaign now approaching is to be fought on national issues alone.

A casual glance at this remarkable WITH this issue of THE REPUBLI- tention of the people from the Archer to five years in the penitentiary. CAN we begin our journalistic career. steal, the painful inefficiency of the make it a faithful expositor of the ty in good fighting trim for the State dependent manner, at the same time their attention and recollection drawn by his son-in-law, State Senator being a live exponent of the princi- away from these things; we believe Benjamin Silver, Jr., he came into will be edited, not as the mouth- itudes emanating from some of the this morning, arriving at 8:50 o'clock. clique or clan, but our constant aim misrule and misuse, probably, of the of Bernard Carter, one of his countheir determination to forever rid E. H. Gans, another of his counsel, The possibilities of our county are the State of the base oligarchy which was summoned. After a consultamade it an easy task through the Stewart and the State's officers were ignorance and culpable neglect of her accordingly notified. We look for and shall expect the chief officers to rob her Treasury of support of the people in our efforts to vast sums of money wrung from the hard earnings of her people. No, gentlemen, the people have not forgotten these things. They will respectfully decline your polite and vials of their long pent up and righteous wrath will be poured upon your devoted heads.

From Free Trade to Free Comage.

By an easy progression the Demoon a solid basis, that I thank you the industries of the country and read to the court a statement signed The lowest penalty for the offense feel that I can retire from the oner- would accomplish the same purpose follows; ous position of editor and publisher by a different method-driving out and turn the paper over to more gold and making us a silver basis To Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Judge of vigorous hands. My health is such country. It is necessary only to that I feel the necesity of getting rid glance southward to the silver counof the cares and worries incident to tries on this continent and consider the publication of a political paper. the condition of their people to see ed. In the Senate and the House IT is the duty for every Republi- alike the almost solid Democratic In the Senate Mr. Vest announced that the apostle of Democracy, Groof free trade declared in the House that the Democrats would give the of silver. As for the Republican party, it can very well afford to meet the Democracy this fall on the free trade and coinage platform, created

Mountain Lake Park. The Camp Meeting is largely attended and the meetings are the very best, as might be expected from the host of workers in attendance—Rev. John Thompson, D. B. Updegraph carries out another pledge of the Chi-cago platform to secure free and fair Stephen Merrett, C. H. Lakin and elections in every section of the coun- many others from all points of the Youngstown. Mr. J. W. Thomas of Pomroy While No 4 train was coming from Oakland Tuesday night the fireman Mr. H. B. Rice, fell from the tender and was badly hurt. I would be so glad to tell those who are not here of the grand good meetings we are having, but they est sermons, the burning testimonies, the prevailing prayers, the shouts of victory are wonderfully inspiring and enjoyable.

Cranesville.

An immense crowd of people attended the picnic held here on the 4th. The picnic was held under the Eternal vigilance is the price of auspices of the Lutheran Church and the finest fire-works we have ever seen were discharged. There is no sickness here at pres-

The crops could not be any finer.

E. J. Fringer has ten men cutting pulp wood for him. The C. & O. R. R. will, very likely,

Statement

FIVE YEARS IN PRISON

Imposed Upon Him by Judge Stewart.

Ex-State Treasurer Stevenson Ar-

THE ACCUSED IN COURT.

Archer, accompanied by Messrs. helpless family.

MR. ARCHER'S STATEMENT.

the Criminal Court: I hereby plead guilty to the indict-And now allow me to return my the evils that would follow in the say that when the indictment was the fact that the prisoner is over day. They expressed themselves as to ask that you continue your pat- the Democratic party has committed that they had examined the statute ous system is broken down by the tend thanks to the citizens of Friendsronage to my successor, knowing itself to this policy, the proceedings upon which the indictment was strain he has undergone for many ville who so kindly welcomed them. him to be worthy of your encourage- at Washington during the last two based, and that they were clearly of months past, and by the customary The boys are all gentlemen of the weeks have abundantly demonstrat. the opinion that the statute was cosideration shown to prisoners who highest standing and we hope they State, and that, therefore, my of trial. fense, grievous as it is, was not puncoinage, while Mr. Mills, the apostle has decided that if I am guilty of holding the office of treasurer. on my official bonds, but others also Dugan Clark, S. A. Keen, W. H. cause of that same confidence. For Withrow, Dr. and Mrs. Jennie Fweerwilling, Mrs. E. Williams, cuse or palliation. Now that I have. so to speak, come to myself, I realize crowd. its enormity and am deeply serry, compass, Large delegations are in and, I sincerely trust, truly penitent from Pittsburg, McKeesport and for all I have done.

The sorrow and misery which have been caused by my conduct is shared by many, but no blame for any part of it attaches to any one but myself : it is all mine, and mine alone,

No part of the State's money or gambling, stock speculation, or for political purposes; nor have I at this time one dollar of it left. I. therefore, submit myself to the good judgment and mercy of the court. (Signed) STEVENSON ARCHER.

THE SENTENCE.

When Mr. Carter finished Judge Stewart sentenced the ex-treasurer to five years in the penitentiary. Mr. and remained with him for a short Archer immediately left the court- time. room, and, accompanied by Messrs. peeches, singing, etc., and at night Carter and Silver, and Deputy Sheriff Roseman was driven to the peniten-

THE SCENE IN COURT.

and walked slowly down the aisle to will not be allowed any unusual the space reserved for the lawyers. license in either the matter of food the time he entered the court-room tain delicacies. ed to fully acquaint himself with the His Confession Made in a Written to the time he left it. Closely following him came Messrs, Carter, Gans, penitentiary book and was taken Silver, Stevenson Archer Williams, back and shaved by the regular barand Col. Edwin H. Webster, the lat- ber. His long, wavy, grayish-brown entrance of Mr. Archer created great he was conducted to the bath-room. surprise in the court-room, as nobody the room or about the building at the to him. time, and the short legal formatities

generally known what was going on. mate of a prison never said a word, cher Monday morning came into the for the lawyers, Mr. Archer took a that he heard what was said to him, S nate amendments agreed to by the Criminal Court in Baltimore, plead seat with his companions and gazed and bore himself as if he had ful y guilty to the indictment charging steadily at the floor. His head was prepared himself for all that happendocument is sufficient to show the de- him with embezzling State funds, whiter than when those in the court- ed. In every respect he was treated sire of its authors to draw off the at- aud was sentenced by Judge Stewart room saw him last, and he trembled as any other prisoner would have visibly with emotion. The hum and The sudden and unexpected ending | bustle attendant upon the usual court Young in experience as well as in Governor and Comptroller and the of this celebrated case caused consid- business ceased, and a hush of sur- eut at the penitentiary in the capacyears, we nevertheless assume con- shortcomings of the majority in the erable commotion in court circles. prise and expectancy fell upon the ity of a director of the institution trol of this journal determined to last Legislature and to place the par- The trial of the case was set for Tues- room. Mr. Gans approached Judge when Mr. Archer arrived, said that day, and a large number of witnesses Stewart, who suspended the case then he was the picture of a man comhad been summened. Mr. Amer, on trial. Mr. Gans then informed recorder of the affairs of our county. We believe the intelligent people however, decided not to stand trial, the court of his client's intention to boring under great prostration.

plead guilty. Mr. Carter then arose, and, drawwhile Mr. Archer himself seemed to be deeply affected. His hands twitched spasmodically and his bent from knowledgment of guilt fell slowly from Mr. Carter's lips. He seemed fully to realize the shame and dis-Soon after Judge Stewart had grace he had brought upon an honortaken his seat upon the bench, Mr. ed and illustrious name and upon his

Carter, Gans and Silver, appeared | When Mr. Carter finished reading in the court room. He seemed to be the confession, he folded it slowly carefully worded invitation to do so. bowed down by a realization of his and looked up at Judge Stewart. terrible position and looked extreme- Everybody turned from the prisoner ly careworn and haggard. State's and his council and bent their eager Attorney Charles G. Keer was there gaze upon the judge, in whose hands to represent the State, and the case lay the termination of the most celewas immediately taken up. Mr. brated case in the history of Mary-Archer was placed in the dock, and land. The latter made no comment the indictment charging him with at all, but turn ng to Deputy Clerk I desire to say to those who have cratic party has followed its advocacy embezzlement was read. He was Carz, simply said: "Mr. Clerk, I imsupported and aided me in my ef- of free trade with advocacy of tree then required to plead to the indict- pose a sentence of five years in the

with all my heart, and will ever hold have placed our working people in by Mr. Archer, pleading guilty and to which Mr. Archer pled guilty is you in grateful remembrance. Hav- competition with the poorest paid throwing himself upon the mercy of eighteen months in the penitentiary, ing secured the object aimed at, I now laborers of the world. The other the court. The statement was as and the highest is ten years. The sentence imposed is five years, but five days off in each month is allowed for good behavior, making the term virtually four years and two months.

In fixing the sentence, Judge ment which has just been read. In Stewart was probably moved to Pa, who were encamped on the Bear doing so, I respectfully ask leave to impose less than the full penalty by Creek flats, started home on Saturfound I was advised by my counsel threescore years of age, that his nerve well pleased with the place and exnever intended to embrace within confess guilty and thus spare the will come again. its provisions the treasurer of the State the trouble and expense of a the presence of this court, to acknowl. by his counsel on the grounds that condition for bass fishing. edge that I am guilty of the offense the law did not apply to the State those friends who, because of their demurrer. The State appealed and lands in this vicinity. great and undoubted confidence in the Court of Appeals on the first of my integrity, became the sureties this month overruled the lower court. Brown, spoken of in last weeks issue The only spectators were a few as being very ill, is improving who have suffered pecuniarily be- court house idlers and witnesses who cuse or palliation. Now that I have, court-room would not have held the

AT THE PENITENTIARY.

On the way to the penitentiary drove of cattle and sheep. Mr. Archer seemed relieved somewhat from the strain under which he has labored for so long and appeared time. to be in better spirits from having experienced the worst that could bethe members of the party about the securities was ever used by me in weather and other commonplace topics.

Nothing was said in regard to the sentence or about himself. On reaching the penitentiary he thanked Mr. Roseman for his courtesy and shook hands with the hackman. He was delivered into the custody of Warden hundred. Services will be held in it Weyler in the usual way. Mr. Carter and Mr. Sliver entered the prison H. E. Friend.

At the end of thirty days his relacase. The ex-treasurer entered first, will receive regular prison fare and not amount to much.

He seemed deeply agitated, and did or in prison privileges, unless he may not raise his eyes from the floor from be ill and the doctor prescribe cer-

> Mr. Archer was registered in the A striped suit was given him in

Mr Archer, despite the intensity which made the once-honored man a with which he must have felt this convict were over before it became first practical experience as an in- Senators as to whether the President Reaching the little space reserved but merely bowed his head in token

> Mr. John T. Ford, who was prespletely crushed and seemed to be la-

In Warden Weyler's office are piled up the clothes lately worn by upset this little Democratic scheme. ing from his pocket a manuscript, by Mr. Archer, and on top of the pile but from conversations with a numples of the Republican party. It that no juggling with words, no plat- the city from his home, near Belair, read slowly and impressively, and in is the soft, wide-brimmed brown felt ber of the leading Republican Senfeeling tones, the prisoner's plea of hat which he always used to wear ators I think the sentiment is at this guilty, while the audiance listened and which had come to be a familiar time against making the radical in breathless silence. Judge Stewart object to all who knew him, as well changes in the Rules which would be also listened intently to the reading, as to many persons who were accustomed to pass him on the street when | Senators are under the impression he was chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Friendsville.

The "Glorious Fourth" was pleasantly celebrated here under the auspices of the M. E. Sunday School. Long before the appointed time crowds of people began to come in and continued coming until noon. When the train arrived it was crowded almost to overflowing. The school met at the church and headed by Marshal J. T. Garey, the flag bearers, Miss Della Garey and Miss Flora Lodermilk, and the Friendsyille Cornet Band followed by the different classes and congregation marched to of speeches by Capt. E. M. Friend, Rev. Spangler, Rev. H. E. Friend, J. Bayard Henry, Esq. Prof. E. A. Browning, and Prof. DeWitt. Music by the choir, and by the band, a dialogue, and a treat for the children. The day was all that could be expecte !, and the crowd large, orderly and well pleased.

The rattroad officials departed on Saturday for their respective homes. The young men from Meyersdale

A fishing party consisting of Messrs, Miller, Irvin, Johnson, and Mr. Archer was indicted on the Rutter of Uniontown, Pa., were stopishable under that statute, but now 29th of April last for embezzling ping a few days last week with Mr. ver Cleveland, was a convert of free that the highest court in the State $132,000 of the State securities while Leslie E. Friend. They had a very pleasant time and expect to return the offense charged, I desire here, in | That indictment was demorred to later when the waters are in a better

> On Thursday of last week a party charged against me in the indict. Treasurer, who, it was contended, of stock holders in the Yough Manor ment, and also to confess that I have could not embezzle from himself. Land Co., consisting of Hon. John been guilty of a great sin against The case was ably argued by Messrs. K. Cowen. Major Cross, Messrs. Almighty God; that I have proved Carter and Gans for the prisoners Jackson, Huston and J. Bayard Henfalse to the great trust committed to and Attorney-General Whyte and ry, accompanied by Capt. E. M. me by my native State; that I have State's Attorney Kerr for the State, Friend and Mr. J. J. Whetstone, > deeply and cruelly wronged, not only and Judge Stewart sustained the took a very pleasant drive over their We are pleased to note that Billy

McHenry.

Our farmers are busy harvesting hay and wheat.

Andrew Shartzer, of Oakland passed through here Monday with a or assistance.

place. Census enumerator A. S. Sell finon Thursday.

The Union Church at this place is almost completed. The seating ca- There was a rumor here last week pacity of the building is about three that the "Squadron of Evolution"

The McGinty act was played in Rio de Janeiro Saturday. Oakland on the 4th by a young man tives will be permitted to visit him from the East. He was sitting on When Mr. Archer and his party terviews. Of course, if he should be the creek, about fifteen feet below. entered the court-room, Judge Stew- taken very ill, his family will be As is generally the case with per-

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, July 7th, 1890 .-Senator Morrill, chairman of the committee on Finance, to-day called up the McKinley tariff bill, as amended by his committee, in the Senate and made a speech opening the deter being three of his bondsmen. The hair and heard were shorn off, and bate, the end of which no man is rash enough to attempt to set a date for. There was a disposition on the part expected the case to come up before place of his citizens clothes and of Senators favorable to the River Tuesday. But few persons were in Warden Weyler read the prison rules and Harbor bill to have that measure disposed of before the tariff bill was taken up, but owing to the fact that there is a doubt in the minds of many will sign the River and Harbor bill. if it is passed by the Senate and the House, but little was done towards antagonizing the tariff bill with it-

Democratic Senators are openly threatening to talk out the rest of the Fifty-first Congress on the tariff bill, unless the Republicans will promise not to take up the Federal election bill in the Senate at this session. This can be done under the present Rules of the Senate, if the Democrats have the nerve to carry out their threats. Of course the Senate can, if so disposed, change its Rules so as to necessary to do it. Many Republican that there is no general demand by the party throughout the country for the enactment of a Federal election law, so that it may be said that the fate of that measure is in the hands of the Republican voters of the country; if they wish it passed let them make that fact known to their Senators, and it will be done. That's the whole situation in a nutshell.

U. S. Treasurer Huston, who has been ill for quite awhile has recovered and resumed his duties. Mr. Huston is a deservedly popular official.

Ex-Representative Valentine, the new Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, has made a jump into popularity by raising four mammoth United States flags at the feet of the Goddess of Liberty on the top of the dome of the it may sound this is the first time that the national flag has been raised over the Capitol since that building was completed, except when the House or Senate was in session. because of the Rules, which say that the flags over the respective houses of Congress shall be hoisted only when they are in session, consequently on all holidays and during the recess of Congress there has been no flag over the Capitol. This has been surprising to all visitors, particularly those from foreign countries, and Mr. Valentine is deserving of credit for having been the first one to solve that problem of how to raise the flags. He had four staffs temporarily erected pointing north, south, east and west, and it is probable that they will be made permanent.

The agreement on the silver bill still bangs fire, and if one listened to the opinions expressed by the conferees, in private, he would soon be convinced that no agreement was possible. Nevertheless it is safe to say that an agreement will be reached, and that it will either provide for the purchase and coinage of $4 .-500,000 worth of silver each month or of 4,500,000 ounces, and it is probable that the bill will make the coin certificates full legal tender, good for either gold or silver, although the last will not be accomplised without a stubborn fight. The Republican conferees are now trying to get together in their ideas so as to act as a unit in this important matter, and it is hoped that they will succeed. Whatever is adopted should be a Republican measure pure and simple without any Democratic suggestions To-day is individual suspension

The health of the people of our day in the House, and what is to community is very good at this come up later in the week is not yet fully determined upon, though the At a meeting of the directors of the committee on elections will try to C. & O. R. R., at Friendsville, on get some of the contested election fall him. He made a few remarks to Friday last, it was proposed to ex- cases disposed of, if the appropriation tend the road up Hoye's run to this bills, which usually have the right of way, do not prevent.

Mr. Blaine has gone to Maine and ished his work in Accident district is not expected to return for some time, unless the complications with Great Britian in regard to the Behring Sea Fisheries shall reach a crisis. had been ordered to Behring Sea to protect American interests at all on next Sunday, conducted by Rey. hazards but it is stated at the Navy department that the Squadron is on its way home, having sailed from

There are now forty three stars on the legal flag of the United States, the President having signed the bill once a month for fifteen minutes, but the rail road platform near Davis's admitting Idaho as a State on the not alone, as two penitentiary officers barber shop and being a little top- 3rd inst., the law providing that must be always present at these in- heavy he took a headlong plunge to the new star shall be added on the Fourth of July sucreeding the law admitting a new State. Owing to a art was engaged in trying another permitted to see him oftener. He sons in his condition, his injuries did Wyoming is still on the Speakers table in the House.

LODGE MEETINGS.

LOCAL BRANCH, No. 85, of the Iron Hall m 'ets in Sturgiss' Hall 1st and 3d Saturday nights of each month. The Y. M.C. A. of Oakland meets in the ame Hall Friday night of each week and Sunday afternoon.

SHEALTIEL LODGE, No. 122, I. O. O. F., meets in Legge's Hall every Monday night.

PATMOS COUNCIL., No. 388, A. L. of H, meets in same Hall ist and 3d Thursday nights of each month.

GARRETT LOUGE, No. 113, K. of P., meets in Garthright's Hall, Lake View, every Wednesday evening, at 7:30.

LOCAL NEWS.

Fred Felty's new house is being handsomely painted.

Wednesday is discount day at the Garrett County Bank.

Remember Mayers is agent for Huyler's candy. Coaching parties from Deer Park Hotel are seen in our city every day.

FOR SALE OR LEASE - Hazelwood Cottage,-Inquire at Cottage. Messrs. Spedden & Bolden have and efficient officer. begun work on A. D. Naylor's new sold and rented over two car-loads of furniture,

A telephone line has been erected between Gen. Palmer's residence and Offutt's store.

Sole agent for Huyler's choice keeps them.

and Blue Horse Rakes, at Davis & was necessary. Son's. It will pay you. Real estate is active here at present. Inquiry is being made for eligible building sites. A new platform is being laid in front of the residence of E. D. Kepner, on Quality Hill. Ex-Sheriff Sollars' children have but are now convalescing. A large force of hands are still employed in cleaning up the streets, under the direction of Mayor Hart.

The only place in the city to get Huyler's candy is at Mayers', drug-

WANTED - A good cook and housekeeper. Four in family. No children. Apply at Garthright's the thermometer registered 96 to 102 degrees in the shade.

Will neither smoke, smell or ex-finished. Go to S. P. Specht's, Deer Park, Md., if you are in want of vegetables.

Green and fancy groceries, at low Robert R. Henderson, of Cumber-

Large crowds of Oakland people go to Mountain Lake Park daily to attend the camp-meeting now in progress at that place.

If you wish to buy good goods at low prices, go to S. P. Specht's, Deer Park, Md., who always handles the very best goods.

Abel DeWitt, Esq., of McHenry, was, probably, the first farmer in the county who harvested his wheat, which he did on July 4th. If you want your Boots or and neatly done. Davis & Son have put in a full line of horse rakes. Parties wishing rakes should see them before buying.

berland, lately appointed Sub-Treas- hunting or for any other purpose. urer of the United States, at Baltimore, will enter upon the discharge of his duties about the 15th inst. We have made arrangements to handle the Champion Machine and have a full line of repairs for the New Mower on hand.

DAVIS & SON.

Never in the history of Oakland has there been so many visitors in the town so early in the season. Every incoming train brings people who help to swell the number.

shops some time ago for repairs, was July 12, 1890 : brought through Oakland last Thursday and put to work on the road.

Buy your Fruits, Vegetables and Melons at headquarters. You will always find there the best and cheapest. They receive fresh supplies from the gardens every morning. Don't forget the place, -on Railroad street, at Felty & Co.'s.

The spirit of improvement is very noticeable in our midst, and our citizens seem to be taking an especial Notes About Our People at Home and delight in making their homes at tractive and our town beautiful.

We make special drives on water melons and cantelopes. Fruits of all kinds in season. The cheapest place in Oakland for same

FELTY & Co. Rail Road St.

'Squire Gonder had several young men before him last Sunday on the charge of using profane language at Mountain Lake Park. After hearing the case, the boys were discharged.

Attention is called to the advertisement of "Fernleigh Manor." Under the efficient management of John B. Deakins, E-q., it will soon be one of the leading places out of town.

At an election held by Co. B. 2nd Bat., M. N. G., on Saturday night-Prof. J. Newman was elected Captain vice P. A. Chisholm, resigned. Prof. Newman will make a popular

WANTED. - Two men for general farm work. One to have care During the past week Shartzer has of horses. One of stock. Good wages and permanent places to good

W. McCullough Brown, (near) Bayard, W. Va.

While a son of Franklin White was playing around a threshing macandles is Mayers. No other store chine one day last week, his fingers were caught in a cog-wheel of the machine and mashed. Amputation Don't fail to see the Red, White of the first finger of his right hand

> FOR SALE.-We have for sale one second-hand Singer sewing machine also one second-hand Remington sewing machine. 21 2t

HAMILL & LITTLE.

J. J. Hoblitzell, of Mversdale, Pa., passed through this city Wednesday morning for Friendsville, where he been seriously ill for several days will superintend the erection of immense kilns for burning fire clay. This will be a great industry for the lower end of the county, as large beds of the finest clays in the country underlay the land in that section.

On the morning of the 4th, while Mr. E. F. Stansberry was descend. Mrs. Lean F. Sincell. ing the steps leading from the back door of his shoe shop to the yard, this city Monday afternoon on No. shapes in Hats. they gave way under him and pre- 5 on his way to Chicago. cipitated him to the ground. His face was somewhat bruised and he The hottest day of the season, in also received a very painful cut in Cumberland, was last Monday, when his left leg below the knee.

Lone Welf, a Sioux Indian, who was in Custer's last fight on the Lit-Go to S. P. Specht's and buy the tle Big Horn, was in the city Tues-Red Oil, the best on the market, day looking for friends who live in this section of country. Lone Wolf morning, and received painful, is a very tall man and is about 65 though not serious injuries. The Jamison property on the hill years old, as straight as an arrow and will present a fine appearance when speaks English very well. He left the work of painting and repairing is on Tuesday's accommodation for Terra Alta.

Lewis Muhlenberg, of Grantsville, was before 'U. S. Commissioner, land, on Monday, charged with vio-Artie Fraley will take possession lating the law by selling liquor withof the new house erected by James out having paid the special tax there-Leathers, on Water street, in a few for. After hearing the evidence of the Government's witnesses the Commissioner held Munlenberg for the action of the United States Court.

bail being required in the sum of $500-which was furnished and the prisoner released. For Sale or Lease.

Lots binding on East LINES of

Oakland. MRS. E. A. KILBOURN,

6 28 4t. Jessup's A. A. Co., Md.

Postoffice Hours. The Oakland postoffice is open daily, except Sunday, from 7 A. M., Shoes repaired leave them at Cline's fo 7.30 P. M. The Sunday hours are C. A. Bolden and wife, grocery, and it will be promptly from 8 until 9 a. m., and from 5.30 to 6.30 p. m.

Trespass Notice.

Notice is hereby given warning all persons not to trespass upon my Hon. Geo. L. Wellington, of Cum- farm either for the purpose of fishing, 6 28 3t NIMROD GLOTFELTY.

A Grand Picnic

Will be held at McHenry, on Saturday, July 26, in McLean Grove. Music by the DeWitt string band. Miss Nellie will pick the banjo. A grand time is anticipated. Plenty of refreshments on the grounds. Come one, come all and have a good time. COMMITTEE.

List of Letters

List of letters remaining unclaimed R., which was sent to the Piedmont rett county, Md., for week ending and also a good business man.

> Jackson, Walter (2) Johnston, James, Loughry, Miss Olive J. Landstreet, W. D., Belt, Mrs. Fannie, Clark, Bertha A., Crom, Mr. R. C., Dorn, J. L., Dorn, J. L.,
>
> Eagle, Rev. Shade M., Lee Mrs. Helen A., > Honton, Rev. T. J.,
>
> McCroby, Miss Mollie. Persons calling for them will please say they are advertised.

F. A. THAYER, P. M.

PERSONAL POINTERS.

Abroad.

Rowan White has been very ill for several days. C. M. Miller, of Swanton, was seen on our streets Tuesday. John Wilburn, of Hoyes, was in town on business, Monday.

Elijah Myers, E-q., of District No. 2, was in town on Tuesday. Col. R. S. McCollough, of Louisiana, is here for the summer. Daniel Chisholm, Esq., has been in Grantsville for some time.

Walter Ravenscraft, of Chicago, is visiting his parents in town. Miss Annette Beck, of Pledmont, is visiting Mrs. E. H. Sincell.

Miss Elia DeWitt, of McHenry, was up to Oakland on Mondy. Miss Elliott of Deer Park, was in Oakland on Monday visiting friends. McKeesport, Pa., visiting his son, Geo. E. Bishoff, of Sang Run. gave our office a pleasant call on Tuesday morning.

Miss Cora Naylor, of Hedgesville, W. Va., is vi-iting her brother, Mr. A. D. Naytor, Dr. J. Lee McComas was in Rowlesburg, Tuesday, on professional business.

and John A. Hart were in Cumberland Tuesday. Jas. Nydegger, returned from Annapolis last week and is visiting

Ex-Senator R. T. Browning and Edward Taggert were fishing at Deep Creek this week. Uriah M. Stanton, Esq., County friends in town.

Treasurer, was in the city Tuesday on official business. A. S. Sell. of McHenry, was in our city Tuesday. Adam says things are booming in No. 6.

Miss Julia Hood, of Frederick County, Md., is visiting her aunt,

Henry Albright passed through

Mrs. Mollie Getty, of Cumberland is on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Kepner, this week. Hon. Geo. W. Atkinson, West

Virginia's Congressman, spent last

Sunday at Mt. Lake Park. Mrs. Rebecca Hoops fell, Monday

W. M. Coddington has been afflicted for seyen weeks with rheumatism. He is now much improved.

Miss Twigg, of Cumberland, is visiting the family of Hon. R. T.

Browning on Liberty street hill. Mrs. John Edwards, of Cumberland, is visiting her cousin, Mrs.

King Delawder, on Second street. Raymond Mason, who attended his sister's funeral here last Wednesday rates. Expenses need not exceed morning, left for Chicago Monday those formerly paid at Accident, night.

F. G. Hyde and wife drove over to Brandonville to visit Mr. Hyde's County Examiner's requirements. mother, yesterday. They will return next week,

Thos. Bell, Esq., assistant Superintendent of Ginna & Co., New York, attended his mother's funeral here on Thursday of last week.

Mr. Joseph Helbig and wife, accompanied by Eugene Hart, spent the 4th in Meyersdale, Pa., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilburn, of Elk Garden, were in town on Monday on their way home from a visit to John Wilburn, of Hoyes. Misses Annie and Nettie Schiller.

of Cumberland, were visiting at S. E. Bolden's last and part of this week. Harper's Ferry, they will be valid sidered various petitions and appeals They returned home on Monday, State's Attorney W.P.Townshend,

Col. J. W. Veitch and Lawyer G. S. Hamill were in Cumberland Wednesday on professional business. Democrats of Cranesville, Preston day night, Engine No. 1300 was go-County, W. Va, brought a load of ing east pulling train No. 4, and the advisability of establishing an produce to the city Wednesday morn- when a short distance east of the electric light plant here. The prob-

Thos. K. Harvey, of Mountain day morning. Mr. H. is a very Engine No. 1 on the Skipnish R. in the Post Office at Oakland, Gar- pleasant and agreeable gentleman

Arthur Campbell received a telenoon announcing the death of his neice. He left that night for Baltimore on No. 4 to attend the funeral.

Mr. Will Stoyer caught sixteen black bass in the Yough above 6, 1890, at the residence of S.O. New- be taken towards building up Oak-Friendsyille one day last week that man, Salisbury, Pa., by the Rev, J. land and increasing its prosperity Much of the charity that begins at weighed thirteen pounds. Among M. Evans, Elizabeth Horchler to and it will be an additional inducehome is too feeble to ga a-visiting, them were two that measured six- Norman B. Newman.

teen inches each and balanced the scales at five pounds. W. A. Barritt and family, of Philadelphia, arrived in Oakland on Tuesday morning on their way to Barritt Station, W. Va., C. & P. R. R, where they will spend some time.

Postmaster F. A. The yer sprained his ankle very seriously on the 4th. He was in the act of alighting from a carriage at the Boiling Spring and stepped on a stone which turned under his foot.

The Fourth in Oakland. The fourth passed off very quietly in Oakland, considering the number of people in town. The crowd was an orderly one and were very well behaved. The picnic and dance in Kilbourne's Catholic church, was the leading attraction of the day. The receipts amounted up in the hundreds. Hall, which was very well patron-

Red, clearing about $30. The fire-works at the Oakland Hotel were grand and created considerable amusement to the crowd that gathered to see them.

India Ink and Crayon at Pritchard's

Gallery. Not that I do that kind of work. It has never been done in Oakland, but have made arrangements with one of the largest copying houses in J. M. Litzinger, of the Democrat, the United States, and can furnish that line of work as cheap as can be had direct from the firm. I am prepared to do the common enlarging, photographing and tin-typing. Give Parasols and Sun Umbrellas.

We have just opened an elegant line of Sun Umbrellas, and can sell Hills; $764.50. them 40 per cent less than they can be bought elsewhere, as we bought them after a big fire, Siik Mits 15c per pair. Just the thing for summer wear. Be sure and see our 45c Corset. We can offer the best bargains in Hats, Flowers, and all Millinery Goods. You should come at once while our

All the best and most desirable Colored Lace Hats at 45c, reduced from 75c.

> M. L. SCOTT, Baltimore Store. Oakland, Md.

Strayed. From the Mountain range near Alfred Lohr's, in Dist. No. 1, on or about May 20, 1890, five two-year-old heifers and two 2-year-old steers. An under bit out of each ear. Any one knowing anything of the above will please communicate with

JACOB GNAGEY. 6 28 4t Grantsville, Md.

Normal School. Teachers who expect to attend the Oakland Division of County Normal should make early application to the Special advantages will be offered in Ashby at $445. addition to a thorough course in Classes will be formed on request of with Chief Judge Nathan Casteel teachers for evening studies in clas- and Henry Kamp and Charles Morsics or sciences.

J. NEWMAN. Principal.

21 4t

Excursions to Baltimore. The B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell cheap excursion tickets to Baltimore from all stations on its lines between Thursday and Saturday of each week valid going on all trains on day of Merrill was re-appointed Committee sale and valid returning on all trains until following day inclusive, and fixed at $15,000. from stations South and West of returning for three days including day of sale.

A Narrow Escape. H, B. Rice, a fireman on No. 1300, the largest engine on the B. & O., E. J. Fringer, one of the few had a narrow escape from death Tueswater station Mr. Rice, in some unac- able cost will be $6,000 and the idea countable manner, fell from the cab is to canvass the city and secure as Lake Park, called to see us on Tues- of the engine He was found by Mr. many subscribers for one share of John Compton in an unconscious stock each as possible, and if any condition and taken to Mayers' drug shares then remain unsold parties store, where it was found that he had desiring to invest larger sums will received serious injuries about the have the option of taking as many head. His wounds were dressed by as they may desire. The par value gram from Baltimore Tuesday after. Dr. Rayenscraft, after which he was of the shares will likely be $10. sent to his home in Piedmont, MARRIED.

NEWMAN-HORCHLER .- On July and another important step thereby

AT THE COURT HOUSE.

The Courts all in Session this Week-The Clerk's Office. The non-jury term of the Circuit

Judge Henry W. Hoffman on the bench. The docket was composed of 21 originals, 3 appeals and 59 trials, 14 judgments were rendered, and Court adjourned Tuesday morning.

THE JURY LIST. The following named jurors were drawn on Tuesday by Judge Hoff man for the September term : District No. 1. - Nelson Savage, Otto Paugh.

No. 2. - Chas. C. Fike, Wm. H. Frazee, Geo. Shartzer, Thos. Fike, Wm. A. Coddington. No. 3 .- Francis Spicer, Jefferson Green, Samuel D. Hummel, Philip grove, under the auspices of the P. McAndrews, Solomon D. Yoder, C. E. Ellithorp, Henry Winterberg,

Thos. W. Frost, No. 4.-Thos E. Harrison. At night the ladies of the Luther-Geo. A. Spedden spent the 4th, at Hall which was a festival in Offutt's McMillen, John J. Beeghley, Edward Margroff, Josiah Beeghtey. No. 6.-John E. Otto, Wm. Callis, Jonas Glotfelty. No. 8 .- Adrian Glotfelty, Geo. W. Legge, Isaac I. Kuykendall, Cephas A. Dodge, John C. Dunham, Ed-mund Jamison, Wm. H. Murphy, Geo. F. Loughridge, Henry Beckman, John M. Browning, John M.

Davis. No. 8, - Henry Sisler, Geo. L. Mosser, Thos. K. Harvey, Edward N. Miller.

No. 9.—Bazil Anderson. No. 10.-Ephraim W. Kelso, Jas, H. Wilson, Clarence H. Tilson. No. 11.-John F. Robeson.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS. Jonas J Beachy and wife to Louis Sauceman; 25 acres of the Callan farm : $350. G S Hamil', trustee, to Samuel D. Hummel, Lot No. 16 of Walnut

D E Offutt, et al, to John O Thayer, 128 acres ; $345. A L Gnagey and wife to Jonas E Gnagey, Lot No. 3 in Schultz's addition to Grantsville; $1,000.

George's Creek Coal & Iron Co. to Wm A Jacobs et al, a parcel of land; John Markley and wife to Elizabeth Markley, 871 acres; $600. Richard Graham and wife to Mar-

Bayard Keller and wife to D. E. Offutt. 56 acres of land; $250. J'R Anderson and wife to D F Offutt, Military Lots Nos. 1270, 1271 1272, 1273, 1274, 1276, 1277, 1278, 1279 and 1280, 500 acres of the tract called Muddy Creek ;" $1,200. Edward Hoye, Trusiee, to Henry Beckman, Military Lot No. 1505, 50 acres ; $25, Mt. Lake Park Association to Geo.

Park ; $250. MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Dewitt Minard and Rebecca Jane Male. Elmer Cross and Fanny Sines. Perry Broadwater and Mary Ediza-

beth Alexander, COUNTY COMMISSIONERS. The Commissioners met on Tues

Daniel Fike was appointed Road Supervisor in place of William Geiss declined. A number of orders for bridges Principal. Arrangements have been and roads and outside pensioners made to furnish board, &c., at low were passed on the Contingent Fund. The contract to build the bridge across Snowv Creek on the Ashby road was awarded to J. Frank ORPHANS' COURT. This court convened on Monday, gan, associate Judges, on the bench. The first and final account of special auditor in Equity No. 33 was confirmed. The Cierk was ordered to notify all executors and administrators whose accounts are overdue. SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS. The Board of School Commission-Wilmington, Del., Staunton, Va. and ers met last Tuesday and reorganized Oakland, Md., inclusive, on Tuesday, W. D. Hove President of the Board, and Wm. Hinebaugh, Sec., Treas until August 5th. Tickets will be and examiner. Commitsioner G W on Accounts. The Bond of the Treasurer was The Board then took up and confor new school houses, and finally decided to build three or four houses this summer.

After transacting some other routine business the Board adjourned.

Electric Light for Cakland. Mr. Thomas, of Richmond, Va., is at present in Oakland considering

We hope our people will encourage this enterprise. The advantages to accrue to the city will be great ment to outsiders to locate here.

DEATHS.

SHOEMAKER .- June 27, 1890, at the residence of Daniel Stevanus, Elk Lick Township, Pa., Elisha Shoe-Court convened on Monday, with maker, aged 58 years and a few months. MERRILL.-George E. Merrill eld. est son of Geo. W. and Dena Merrill, died at his home on West Centre street on Wednesday, July 9, 1890, aged 18 years and 7 months. cause of his death was typhoid fever of which he has been sick for seven weeks. At the time he was taken sick he was clerking for H. G. Davis & Bro., Deer Park. His death is a ad blow to his parents as he was a very bright and promising young man, and they have the sympathy of the whole community in their bereavment.

Last Notice to Debtors. Desiring to close up all accounts due me on account of subscription. advertising or job work, all persons indebted to me are requested to call and settle at ouce. I desire to attend to this matter in person, and will place accounts in the hands of an attorney only after failing to obtain a settlement in any other way. Friends, do the best you can, and I will do anything in reason in the way of indulgence

JAS. A. HAYDEN. 7 11 3t

Church Services -- Sunday. M. E. Church-Preaching at 101 A. M. and 7 P. M., by Rev. C. E. Clark. Ev. Lutheran Church-Preaching at 10½ A. M., and 7 P. M., by Rev. J.

A. Dunlap. St. Mathew's Church-Preaching every Sunday at 11 A. M., by Rev. F. S. Hipkins, Rector in charge. St. Peter's, Catholic-Preaching every Sunday at 101 o'clock A. M.

month.

except the second Sunday of each

-GO TO-

Henry J. Mayers'

COR. MAIN AND RAILROAD STS

Successor to W. D. Nydegger, IF YOU WANT

PURE DRUGS

Having graduated from the Philadelphia COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, and taken a implete course both in the PHARMACEU-TICAL and CHEMICAL labratories, and served SEVEN years in a Drug Store in Wheeling, W. Va., I am fully able to fill all Physicians' PRESCRIPTIONS and FAMILY W Powell, Lot No. 144 in Mt. Lake RECEIPTS with safety and accuracy.

"Purity, Accuracy and Promptnes My Motto." -Also dealer in-Fishing Poles, Reels, Lines, Hooks, Poems, Buckets, Baskets, Bibles.

Autograph Albums, Knives, Ink Stands. Razors, etc. AND STATIONERY IN GENERAL. Now ready to give you the closest prices on Painters' Oil, Turpentine, Hard Oil, Varnishes White Lead, Putty, Glass, Brushes, etc.

Give me a call before going elsewhere. German and English Spoken. H. J. MAYERS, Ph. G.,

Opp. GLADES HOTEL. SHERIFF'S SALE.

Under and by virtue of a writ of fleri facias Under and by virtue of a writ of her factas sensed out of the Circuit Court of Garrett County, being No. 2 Judicials, July Term, $90, at the suit of the Mayor and Common council of Deer Park vs. Sarah Perry, I did eize, levy upon and take into execution by n actual entry upon the premises on the 28th ay of May, 1890, all the right, title, interest nd estate of the said Sarah Perry in and to the Nov 2 and 11 in the town of Deer Park

ots Nos, 2 and 11 in the town

Garrett County, Maryland, and I hereby give ON SATURDAY, THE 2ND DAY

OF AUGUST, 1890, in front of Mrs. Taggart's Hotel in the town of Oakland at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., of said day I will proceed to sell said real estate at public auction to the highest bidder, for E. N. CASTEEL.

Sheriff.

Splendid Accommodations. GOOD FISHING AND HUNTING ABOUND IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD. Scenery Unsurpassed.

FERNLEIGH MANOR

IS NOW OPEN FOR GUESTS.

JOHN B. DEAKINS, Proprietor. NORMAL SCHOOLS.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS, OAKLAND, MD., July 9th, 1890. There will be three Normal Schools in Gar-rett County this summer, viz: At Oakiand, in charge of Prof. J. Newman, Accident, by Prof. Ephraim Lee, and at Grantsville by Prof. E. A. Browning. Said schools to open MONDAY, the 4th of AUGUST, 1880, and continue for a term of ten weeks. The tuition will be $5.00 for 2nd grade branches, and $6.00 for students taking up both ches, and $6.00 for students taking up both ist and 2nd grade branches.

A curriculum of students, as adopted by the Board, will be furnished each Teacher at the opening of Schools,

By order of the Board.

WM. HINEBAUGH,

AN OBSTACLE.

- I was climbing up a mountain path With many things to do, Important business of my own And other people's too, When I ran against a Projudice
- That quite cut off my view. My work was such as could not wait, My pathway clearly showed, My strength and time were limited, 1 carried quite a load— And there that hulking Prejudice
- Sat all across the road! So I spoke to him politely-For he was huge and high gesting that he move a bit And let me travel by, de smiled, but as for moving? He didn't even try!
- Then I reasoned very quietly With that colossal mule, No other road—my time was short— The mountain winds were cool; I argued like a Solomon-
- He sat there like a fool. Then I flew into a passion, I danced and howled and swore,
  I pelted and belabored him
  Till I was stiff and sore.
- He got as mad as I did, But he sat there as before, And then I begged him on my knees-I might be kneeling still
- If so I hoped to move that mass Of obdurate ill-will! As well invite the monument To vacate Bunker Hill.
- So I sat before him helpless, In an eestacy of woe: The evening mists were rising fast The sun was sinking slow;
- When a sudden inspiration came, As sudden winds do blow.
- I took my hat, I took my stick, My load I settled fair,
  I approached that awful incumbus
  With an absent-minded air.
  And I walked directly through hin,

As if he wasn't there!

CAUGHT BY A HABIT.

-Charlotte Stetson, in Boston Budget.

great deal to do with successful detective work. I have known officers who and perhaps some on had pointed me were honest, conscientious, and pains- out as a capitalist or speculator. He months, and had finally run a man money as a starter. He offered, in case down until he was within arm's length, I would advance $800, to give me a cersome one else was sure to step in and tain share in the venture, and, as I bag the game at the last moment. It is thought well of it, I drove out to his an old saying that "luck brings luck." | place, a distance of about twelve miles It was certainly true in my case. My first capture was that of the famous morning walked through the timber. At Dick Morton, the Tennessee outlaw of about ten o'clock we came upon the of the man. Any description you may down on a side porch for a chat. After give of a particular man will apply to dozens in a general way. Dick was and she introduced him as her nephew about six feet high, brown hair, blue from Ohio. He was roughly dressed eyes, sandy whiskers, etc. The only but any one with half an eye could see real point was in his manner of speech. It was said that he always rolled his clean, the sun had burned his face eyes upward when beginning a sen- and neck, and his hands were not ov

Just a week after I left Nashville I was in Evansville, Ind. As I sat in the | jumped to the conclusion that he was a office of a hotel a man came in and registered, and when he answered the inquiry of the landlord up went his eyes. When I had seen him do this three or four times I began to compare him of the battles on the lower Mississippi, point for point with my description of and as my farmer friend and the Dick Morton, and in five minutes I was stranger did not exactly agree the dissatisfied that I had my man He had sussion waxed hot. Then, to my great been shaved, had his hair cut, and wore a suit of black, but there were some things he could not hide. The little I now compared him with the descripfinger on his left hand was off to the first joint; he held his head cocked to one side when listening to you, and his right foot toed in as he walked. I made no move until after dinner. Then, come for, and what do you suppose he as he came out of the dining-room I did? He just fell right off his chair in held him up with the muzzle of a revolver right against his breast and the landlord put the handcuffs on him. Then I called the local officers and turned him over. He had two pistols really the woman's nephew, but she did and a knife on him, and his wallet panned out over $2,000. At this time more than one hundred men were looking for him in Tennessee and Kentucky, there being a reward of $5,000 offered for him dead or alive. It was luck, so far as our meeting in Evansville, but had I not caught him as I did, and in the way I did, the affair would have had a different ending. He was going to settle his bill and take a boat down the river, and once outside the hotel he would have killed any man who dared approach

In the second year of the war a young man named Cassius Phillips, cashier in a State bank in Chicago, skipped out one night with about $25,000. It so happened that I was off service then, doing a bit of work for Uncle Sam, and I was asked to take up the embezzler's I had seen him in court about a month before, where he was a witness in a case. His peculiarity was his voice. While he was a big, bewhiskered fellow, his voice was as light and thin as a woman's. He had thirty hours the start of me and had left no trace of his trail. Having learned that he was always talking about a life in Paris, I set out for New York in hopes to hear something of him at the steamer office. He had not been seen, nor had he been among the passengers sailing for any foreign country the day before. argued that he had lingered on the way somewhere, and would yet turn up in New York. I had been there three days, and was going up Broadway one afternoon in a stage when there was a jam. A stage coming down locked wheels with us, a horse was thrown down, and amid the excitement I heard a thin, piping voice crying out:

'Why don't you do something? We shall all be killed before we get out of this tangle!"

The voice belonged to a good-sized man on the outside of the other stage, and I spotted him in an instant for Phillips. I followed him to his hotel. and from thence to the office of the had purchased a ticket I stated the case mind.

to the superintendent of police, and had him arrested and held until the necessary papers could be had. It was Phillips, sure enough, but how changed! He had sacrificed whiskers and mustache. He had dyed his eyebrows and has his hair snipped short. He had changed his fine clothes for an ordinary suit, and his beaver for a soft felt. I might have sat and looked at him for two hours and failed 'to recognize him, but his voice had given him away. In the fall of 1863 a paymaster belonging to the Western army suddenly stepped out of sight with $175,000 in new, crisp greenbacks. He was at particular cow mentioned and do with Cairo when he received the money from the Government, and he put it into a satchel and lost himself between six o'oclock in the evening and sunrise next morning. He had been gone three days when I reached Cairo. He was described to me as a tall, slim, light-complexioned man, with light side whiskers, habit he had of rubbing the back of the left hand with the palm of the right when speaking. This was a very slight searched for four days between Cairo and Chicago, but couldn't strike his trail. My idea was that he would head country, but he had other plans. Pretty well satisfied that he didn't leave Cairo by rail, I began hunting among the steamboats. I found, after a long search, that a man, who might possibly that night up the river, but how far no one could say. The information was so vague that it was like hunting for a eedle in a haystack, but I went up to Quincy before making a stop. If he showed up at St. Louis ne was sure to be nabbed, as the officers in all the larger cities had been notified and were now on the watch. I could hear nothing of my man at Quincy, and after Some Queer Cases in the Work a day or two I went on to Keekuk. It was busy times on the river then, and every body was on During the years that I was "in the the jump. I could hear nothing of profession" I had some queer cases. I the paymaster, and was about to had the reputation of being "lucky," return to Cairo to take up a new line of and I am ready to admit that luck has a pursuit, when a stranger approached me with a proposition. He was a farmer, taking, but who always just missed it. had a lot of black walnut timber which If they had been on a case for six he wanted to get to market, but needed thirty years ago. I was in Nashville farm which backed against his, and as when he shot and robbed two men on a we were both thirsty we went to the highway forty miles distant. I was well for a drink. While there the then on the Cincinnati force, and was woman, with whom my friend was well interested in getting a close description acquainted, came out, and we all sat that he was in disguise. He had shaved He did this on the advice of an clean, and he explained that he had old woman to break himself of the served a year in the army, been dishabit of stuttering, and it was a success. charged for disability, and had come out West to rough it for a few weeks. I deserter, but had no idea of troubling him. It was the business of the pro vost marshal to pick up such fellows We somehow got to talking about some amazement, the stranger began to rub the back of his left hand with his right. tion, and allowing for the changes he had made I saw that he must be my > months and then skip to Europe.-N. Y. KOSCIUSZKO'S WILL.

man. I quietly addressed him by name, told him who I was and what I had his eyes. He had been planning his not know that he was a paymaster. He and had used only about $60 of it. His

How This Noble Pole Disposed of His American Estates. Few are probably aware of the testinonial which this Polish noble left beof liberty. It is found in his will which of my property in the United States, I bought in the plantation formerly owned in purchasing negroes from among his His old mistress being reduced to povown or any others, and giving them lib- erty, he undertook to care for her. He erty in my name; in giving them an ed- said, when he was elected to the State duties as citizens, teaching them to be defenders of their liberty and country, popular with whites and blacks, Demoand of the good order of society, and in useful. And I make the said Thomas Jefferson my executor of this. T. Kosciuszko. 5th day of May, 1793."— Christian at Work.

That Ear's No Thoroughfare. Mamma-Robbie, does your ear ache? Robbie-No. mamma.

Mamma-Then why have you put cot-Robbie-Well, mamma, you know you keep on telling me that I learn so little, because what goes in at one ear comes out at the other. So I've plugged the other up. - Harper's Young People.

-We often hear a man say: "I would do such and such if I had a mind." But French line of steamers, and after he that's just the trouble; he hasn't a WANTED A VACATION.

A Remarkably Interesting Story of a Shepherd Dog's Intelligence. On the Powell stock-farm, in Warren County, is a shepherd dog of wonderful intelligence and of such remarkable strength that he was long ago impressed into service to do the family churning, although it would seem that the almost human reason he manifests in the care and regulation of the cattle on the farm should have saved him from the menial service. The dog's name is Jeppo and at the word of command he will go to any field and separate from the herd a the dog: "Jeppo, go to the back meadow and fetch the spotted heifer home." Instantly the dog will trot away to the designated field, and in due time return with the spotted heifer. The brindle cow, the yearling Jersey bull, the black blue eyes, and auburn hair. There was cow, the muley cow, will be selected nothing peculiar about him except a and disposed of by the dog in the same cow, the muley cow, will be selected way. He will not only select any sixcle head of cattle from a pasture, but any pair, or three, or all that may be called clue to work on, but it was all I had. I for. He will remove them from one field to another on order, and never goes wrong. Yet this rare dog is made to climb a caged tread-mill twice a week for the East and seek to get out of the and do the common work of a stupid buck sheep. The dog has shown in many ways that he does not like it, and the other day gave such emphasis to his determination to quit it if possible that his master gracefully submitted, and have been the paymaster, took a boat Jeppo has been emancipated from the tread-mill. A Jersey calf was recently taken from its mother for weaning, and it became such a pet with the Powell children that it has the run of the premises without let or hindrance. Jeppo early showed his disapproval of this calf, and to see it free and idle while he was laboring on the tread-mill to churn the very buttermilk the calf was being pampered with, evidently rankled in his bosom. The tread-mill has a low slatted cage around it, and the mill stands such an angle that any thing walking on it has to keep walking as long as it remains on the machine. The lower end or entrance to the cage has a door, but as it was known that Jeppo, having been told to run the mill, would not forsake his work until his duty was done, the door was never closed on him. A few days ago Jeppo was sent to the machine to do the churning. He obeyed, but the churn had not been running long before it suddenly stopped. The person in charge of the churning went out to see what was the matter with Jeppo and the machine. She saw a sight that started her umped through the door and stood on the mill, which started at once. Jeppo jumped against the door and closed it. The calf made a great outery, but had to keep going with the mill. Jeppo walked around to the dairy door, saw the churns going, and, wagging his tail contentedly, trotted off to the pasture removed from the mill, but when Powell was told of the dog's extraordinary act he declared that Jeppo should never churn again .- N. Y. Sun.

RICH COLORED MEN.

Examples of Ex-Slaves in the South Who Have Grown Wealthy. It will probably be surprising to know that in Galveston there is a colored man who is worth over $350,000. His name is Silvester, and he has a fine mansion in the most desirable residence portion of the city. And, what will more than surprise Chicago people, his wife employs none but white servants. How did Silvester get rich? Well, he got a start in politics, then ran a saloon and a gambling-house for colored people for a few years, then went into real estate and a regular faint, and we worked over him speculated. He is shrewd and successa quarter of an hour before he opened ful. One of the most successful and wealthiest real estate men in Houston embezzlement for weeks. He was is a colored man. His name is Milton Sterrett. He owns a fine residence, surrounded by immense grounds, all terhad the money in a satchel in his room raced off and planted in the finest flowers and shrubbery, and keeps a plan was to lie in hiding for several landscape gardener to attend it. He was war, and made every thing he has in real estate deals during the last twenty years. He owns several large plantations and is worth at least $400,000. Then take Senator C. N. Burton, of hind him in America of his fervent love Fort Bend County. When the war closed and he was freed he lived on a was filed in the clerk's office of the cir- plantation belonging to his mistress, cuit court of Albemarle County, Va. whose husband and two sons were This interesting document is as fol- killed, leaving her alone in the world. "I, Thaddeus Kosciuszko, being She had given him a good elementary of blood and thunder fiction." just in my departure from America, do education and he was shrewd. By attenhereby declare and direct that, should I tion to business he soon acquired a good make no other testamentary disposition farm. In a few years he added to it, and hereby authorize my friend Thomas by his mistress, and had two other large Jefferson to employ the whole thereof ones on the Brazos in ten "years more. first founded by the famous Vidocq in ucation, in trades or otherwise; and in Senate, that he owed all he was to her having them instructed for their new kindness, and that he felt it his duty to condition in the duties of morality care for her. And he sent her back to which may make them good neighbors, her native State-Virginia-and regugood fathers or mothers; and in their larly remits to her-and has done so for crats and Republicans, and studied law whatsoever may make them happy and so that he could depend on himself to manage his immense plantation and worth over $500,000. Then Henry Black, the great sheep and cattle ranchman of Tom Green and Pecos Counties, is worth nearly half a million. He has made it all in less than fifteen years. Are these men Southern negroes? Yes, every one of them. But the largest plantation owner and the heaviest farm-land taxpayer in the ter or Permanence, to which belong rich county of Lamar was a light-colored mulatto named Harver. He died a few weeks ago and left a widow, who will be able to pull through, probably, as her husband left four large planta-tions, a fine stock farm, some city property in Paris, and a big bank account. Besides this he left her a snug little in-surance policy on his life for $18,000.— Chicago Tribune.

MISCELLANEOUS.

-An odd invention, manufactured at the suggestion of a New York lady, is an enameled orange which opens and discloses a watch in one half and a purse in the other.

-How to elevate the masses is still two burden of a good deal of speculation. Blade.

-Horses can not stand the compresse air which the men breathe while working in the Port Huron tunnel and mule power was substituted. The mules get it as he is told. His master may say to fat and sleek on it and do not seem to mind the pressure.

the Passamaquoddy Indians in Maine, a years that spot will be known over tinct. It has taken war songs, folk raisin-producing sections in the world. lore stories, ordinary conversations be The climate is such that grapes can tween two Indians, etc.

coming off and sticking in the mud. He foot of land. returned the mules and demanded his money back, but he didn't get it.

utes. one movement each of the elbow, wrist people set out vines. I was the first on properly set to awaken him in ample thing went off he reached out of bed, entire family from being aroused-and pendent of foreign lands for this fruit. about 9:30 he awoke from his second nap, still grasping the alarm clock firm ly in his hand.

-In the parlor of a country home no far distant from Warrenstown, Ga., there hangs between the front windows a likeness of General Robert E. Lee. Just on the inside is an ivy vine that has entwined itself along so as to al most cover the front. Through the crevice where the blind laps has crept a spray of this ivy, and, as if drawn by the magnetism of this picture, has en twined itself as beautifully around and down the frame as if arranged by loving hand. -An old man lived alone and abso lutely denied himself the meager ne-Mrs. Powell saw when she came was Jeppo driving the petted Jersey calf toward the tread-mill cage. His experience with unwilling cattle stood him well now, and he forced the calf to the eage door and nipped its heels until it nobody knows of any heirs, and the old Scotchman left no will. A bad wife, divorced and married again, is largely responsible for this bit of pathos -The quaint love feast was celebrated recently by the Pennsylvania Dunkards. After the night services of three hours duration loaves of bread and tin dishes containing soup made of rice and beet where Mr. Powell was. The calf was were placed on the table and all the members partook of the Lord's Supper Every set of four brethren and every se of four sisters ate soup out of one dish two sitting on each side of the narrow table. The salutation of the holy kiss followed the supper, when each imprinted a kisson the lips of the member next to him. Communion service, the breaking of unleavened bread and the drinking of unfermented grape wine were also a part of the services. KEEN-EYED VIDOCOS.

Organization of the Detective Force of the French Capital. Much interesting information respecting the Paris detective police has re-cently been given by M. Valbel in his book of the Surete, which is in reality a series of biographies of the principal members of the force. The Police de Surete must be distinguished from the Surete Generale, which is really the 'Political Police Force" acting under the orders of the Minister of the Interior, and in a most secret manner. The Police de Surete, on the other hand, is a body the members of which a waiter on the boats between Galveston Police, or Cabinet du Prefect, and perlook for their orders to the Prefect of and Houston before and all during the form their duties openly and without any of that impenetrable mystery which envelope the proceedings of the Ministerial myrmidons. The Dogberry of the Surete could not, in fact, pursue his investigations without making himself known-generally speaking-although when following up a clew in a criminal case he does not disdain to adopt the disguise which is supposed to be permanently used by extra-clever detectives

The ordinary "plain-clothes" rejoice in the high-sounding designation of "Inspector," and has as his respective chiefs the Sub-Brigadier, the Brigadier, and the Principal-Inspector. This force was 1832, when it only comprised thirty-one men, to whom were added fourteen "outsiders," who were called indicateurs. In 1848 the body was increased to 160 men being afterward reduced to sixty, until it was at last brought up to its present redoubtable number of 300 "Inspectors," who are directed by M. Goron.

He has under him on the staff one ief clerk, who acts as his principal leputy or "under-study;" four other clerks or secretaries, five chief inspec tors; ten brigadiers and twenty-subranch interests. Senator Burton is brigadiers. The 300 detective-inspec tors are attached to sections, such as the Special Brigade of picked men, the Department of Information and Warrants, that of Requisition or "Searches, the Pawn Office, the Streets and the Disorderly Houses. There is also another important section, that of a Cenualties.

During a period of fifty-seven year the Surete has had twelve chiefs, of whom the best known—not including Vidocq—was Claude, whose memoirs obtained a world-wide reputation. Not withs anding sharp criticism, the French Surete maintains a high character for efficiency. - London Telegraph.

ARIZONA RAISINS. An Industry That Has Proved Profitable

In the Palmer House rotunda a party of travelers we: talking about the fu ure of the Western Territories. F. N. Scofield, of Phænix, Ari., remarked that there were industries in his Terri-We thought the introduction of elevat tory that were industries hardly known ors a number of years since had solved in this part of the country. "For inthat problem for all time.—Yanker stance," said he, "how many raisins were grown in Arizona last year?' "Not one," replied a member of the "I thought you would say that," re turned Mr. Scofield. "Now I'll tell you something new about your own land. In the Salt River Valley there are some -The phonograph has been used to 400,000 acres of the best vineyards in preserve specimens of the language of this broad continent. In less than five language which is rapidly becoming ex all the globe as one of the greatest be dried better and quicker there than -A Gallitzin (Pa.) man recently in any part of California. During the bought a pair of mules in Clearfield ent're summer we have no rain except County for $140 and discovered while little showers now and then. There are taking them home that one of them had more than enough natural streams in a plaster of paris hoof-the false work the valley to irrigate every available

"There years ago I planted eighty acres with vines. Last year I got my -A statistical enthusiast has calcu- first crop. I can't tell exactly how many lated that a planist, in playing a certain tons of raisins I sold except that I suppresto, played 5,595 notes in four min- plied the whole Territory. Then when The striking of each note in- it was demonstrated that grape-growing volved two movements of the finger and was a profitable business any number of and arm. From this it is calculated to produce raisins in Arizona and when that 72 voluntary movements were made I planted the first vine I had no idea that the enterprise would be so success -A Chicago traveling man relates an ful. Although the industry is only amusing experience with an alarm year old the valley is now pretty well He wound up the affair and taken up by grape-growers. This year placed it on the floor near the bedside, I will plant 160 acres more. The production of raisins in California and time to catch the early train. When the Arizona has considerably cut down the importation within the last two years grabbed it by the bell to prevent the It will not be long before we are inde

> Chicago Tribune. A Boon to Wives. Having used "Mother's Friend" I would not be without it. It is a boon to wives who know they must pass through the painful ordeal of childbirth. Mas. C. Melberre, Iowa. Write the Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga., for further particulars. Sold by all druggists.

MANY a man can sell a fifty-cent article or a dollar and then not be able to hold on to the dollar.-Puck.

RELIANCE may be placed in every representation made by Maher & Grosh, Toledo sentation made by Maher & Grosh, Toledo O., whose ad. will be found elsewhere in this paper. No risk in sending then money; they will do exactly as they agree. The trouble with justice is that she does so little besides holding her scales.—Galveston News.

keep its head all right it is liable to get rat tled at the tail.—N. O. Picayune.

Six Novels Pree, will be sent by Cragin c Co., Philada., Pa., to any one in the U.S. o Canada, postage paid, upon receipt of 2 Dobbins' Electric Soap wrappers. See lis of novels on circulars around each bar.

Water is good in case of fever, but watered stock makes the market feverish.— Texas Siftings. You hardly realize that it is medicine, when taking Carter's Little Liver Pills; they are very small; no badeffects; all troubles from torpid liver are relieved by their use.

A MAN should be sure he's right, then follow his knows .- Yonkers Statesman Any one can take Carter's Little Liver Pills, they are so very small. No trouble to swallow. No pain or griping after taking.

When a train is telescoped the passengers are apt to see stars. HALF-CURED eruptions will return. Eradicate them with Glenn's Sulphur Soap. Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50 cents.

Sand-Bagging may be classed among the too base hits.—Texas Siftings. THE best cough med cine is Piso's Cure for Consumption. Sold everywhere. 25c.

The enterprising real-estate speculators of Seattle have been laying out subdivisions so far from town that it will soon be diffi-cult to determine where Boston ends and Seattle begins.—Chicago News. THERE are ten thousand men in the United States who would at once set out for Africa on exploring expeditions if they only had the money to go ahead on. This want of money is one of the reasons why so many of our enterprising men remain at home and unknown.—Detroit Free Press.

An English paper states that "women a too much inclined to touzle the hair," statement that most married men will i dorse.—The Ram's Horn.

"It's not my fault," observed the strug-gling butcher, as he weighed twelve ounces of bone to the two pounds of steak, "if I can't make both ends meat."—American

The whirliging of time reverses some things completely. Thirty years ago, in this country, old masters sold their slaves at auction. Now we frequently see 'old masters' advertised to be sold at auction.—Norristown Herald.

A BALTIMORE girl has gone insune be-cause she wasn't born a man. She never had to meet the rent, nor shave, nor sarve on a jury, nor pay a poll tax, nor fasten her suspenders with a shingle nail, but she didn't know when she was well off.—Mer chant Traveller.

A CRACKER and a biscuit trust is the latest business combination. It is proper to say that too great a trust in biscuits has broken up many a bappy home.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Ir you should see a messenger boy run-ning when there was no cause for it, that would be a phenomenon; but if you should see him running when there was cause for it that would be a miracle.—Elmira Gazetta

Now comes the pretty girl, in comfortable summer costume, under the white lace sunshade. Whatever may happen later, the young man who is permitted to sit on the fence and see her pass by isn't likely at the moment to regard life as an absolute failure.—N. Y. World

ENGINES AUTOMATIC, PORTABLE OF STATIONARY.
WESTON ENGINE CO., Painted Post, N. Y.
ALL KINDS.

55 to $8 a day. Samples worth $2.15
FREE. Lines hot under horses' feet. Write RIKWSTER SAFETY REIN HOLDER CO., Helly, Nick. DO You Live in a House. If so, you want HARTMAN Steel Wire Mat. Absolutely flexible ndorsed by Physicians and U. S. Government, it prices. HARTMAN MFG. CO., Beaver Fall SPNANE THIS PAPER NEW MEDICAL PROPERTY OF THE PAPER NEW P

EDUCATIONAL.

WAUSEON NORMAL A great school for teache TAUSEUR RURMAL and those desiring and thorough instruction. 896 pays expensionered. S. METZLER, President, WAUSE STRAPE THIS PAPERSHY the you was.

ONE ENJOYS Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known. Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. SAN FRANCISCO, CAL. LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N.Y.

THE BEST SOUTHWEST to invest your surplus earnings is Pittsburg, Kansas.

PITTSBURG TOWN CO., Pittsburg, Kan

BILE BEANS KISSING at 7. 17. 70: Photo-gravure

"I have been a great sufferer from Torpid Liver and Dyspepsia. Every thing I ate disagreed with me until I began taking

Tutt's Pills

SOLD EVERYWHERE. WANTED 10,000 Soldiers PENSIONS Disability Law. I. W. QUABY, 602 FIFTH STREET,

THE SPRINGER MEDICAL CO. DISEASES BY THE USE OF THEIR REMEDIES

spondence is invited, and patient, can be treated a well by mail as here. Address THE SPRINGEL MEDICAL CO, 417 Superior St., Cleycland, Ohio BORE WELLS!

CLOVER HULLERS MARSFIELD, D. For Pamphlets THE AULTMAN A

PATENTS! Invent something and your FORTUNE!

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

NECESSARY REFORM.

Men Who Drink Should Not Be Employed by Transportation Companies. who gets drunk on or off duty must your only safety. - Muscatine (Ia.) Jourquit the company's service. This general order of a single line ought to be made a universal order for all corporations intrusted with the lives of human

But does the order as uttered go far enough? Is it not notorious that men employed upon railroads and steamboats are too often drinking men? Certain of the older railroad lines have begin early enough, by intercepting long since forbidden the sale of intoxicants in the eating houses of their routes, and have built and equipped reading-rooms, where employes, re-freshed by food to be had at fair prices from the company's servants, can rest and spend their leisure in a rational and helpful way. But it still is true that many of the railway stations are near saloons which are located in their vicinity for the purpose of catching the wages of railway employes. No rail-double the punishment which he would double the punishment which he would double the punishment which he would come habitues of drinking places. They can not prevent the location of saloons can not prevent the location of saloons near their shops or switching points or round houses. They can supply the men with clean and comfortable reading-rooms, with coffee and sandwiches, ing-rooms, with coffee and sandwiches, and then forbid their visiting drinking places while on or off duty.

The steamboat lines have done practically nothing to diminish the vice of intemperance which prevails to a degrading degree among the water-men of the inland lakes and the rivers. The mariner's drinking resort is generally crowded with boozy fellows. Roustabouts of the docks, deck hands and even officers of steamboats will be found drunk on duty and drunk off duty. The more miserable among them are habitually in debt to the keepers of waterline doggeries and cheap boardinghouses, where they drink more than they eat. It ought to become a universal discipline of transportation companies not to employ under any circumstances men who drink intoxicants. It is folly to say they can not get along without them. They can if they are furnished sufficient good food and their tenure of place limited by their absolute sobricty. If one company had the moral courage to set the example all others would have to follow if they desired to retain public confidence.

It has been repeatedly demonstrated, in the polar expeditions, illustrating the fact in arctic latitudes: in India and equatorial explorations, that the men enduring severe and extraordinary hardship came out of them better by total abstinence from stimulants than when they resorted to these doubtful agents of artificial vigor. The barbarous and vulgar practice of "treating," by which the human stomach is compelled to become a receiving vat for unnecessary and injurious liquids, is more responsible for drunkenness and irresponsibility than men's own belief that they need stimulants.

Whether transportation companies employes are disposed to be abstainers or not of their own accord they ought to be required to be abstainers as a condition of employment. They have no right to take into their mouths what will muddle their brains while intrusted with the lives and property of others. It is not enough that they shall not drink while on duty. No man can tell when the effect of the alcoholic or malt stimulant taken off duty will reach his nerve centers. He is certain to be to some degree affected by every drink he takes, and neither he nor anybody else can fix the term of the effect.-Chicago

Herald. SCIENTIFIC FACTS.

Advice to a Young Man Who Is in the Habit of Drinking Intoxicants. We saw you from our office window yesterday entering a place reputed to be a saloon. We have seen you and others going into that place under such cirregularly taking alcoholic beverages. Do you not know that the habit is hurtful to you in every way, without a single compensating benefit! This is not the opinion simply of a crank. You may call us a crank for saying this, but it does not dispose of the physiological and scientific fact, so important for you to know. It is because the nature and | devil in solution.' effects of alcoholic liquors are not understood that people drink them. Alcohol is a poison; it is not food nor accessory food; does not give nourishment nor help digestion, neither does it impart any heat to the system. It retards digestion, impairs health, deranges the than all the armies of France. brain, destroys the system and brings on premature disease and death. Beer es this as well as whisky. This is shown by the very remarkable medical testimony against beer called forth by the Toledo Blade from distinguished physicians. .It shows beer-drinking to be a most prolific source of drunkendisease-especially kidney and liver diseases-and of premature death. It is demonstrated that beer is even more deleterious than whisky and the stronger liquor as the cause of incur-makers. At the late Temperance conference in New York, Dr. N. S. Davis, of Chicago, who is president of the World's Medical Association and must therefore stand high in the medical profession, had a paper on "Alcohol a Poison," in which this distinguished physician "placed nerve sensibility and molecular force.

able physical disease and of mortality.

and that beer patients beyond all other men are prone to succumb to surgical operations. It is a striking and powerful arraignment of the beer and beer-ways and everywhere. The nervous gone and the other going. Who of diseases that afflict the human family what shall stop him?"

throughout are traceable to the action

Now, young men, these are scientific facts, indisputable facts. Should you not, as an intelligent and sensible young man, heed them, and at once, One of the trunk railroad lines has and resolutely, join the army of teeto-

A CAPITAL OFFENSE.

Some of the Ancient Nations Punished

Drunkenness with Death. The offense of drunkenness was a source of great perplexity to the ancients, who tried every possible way of dealing with it. If none succeeded, some of the ways and means by which the insidious vice is incited and propagated. Severe treatment was often tried to little effect. The Lecrians, under Zaleucas, made it a capital offense to drink wine, if it was not mixed with water; even an invalid was not exempted from punishment unless by order of a physician. Pittacus, of Mitylene, do if sober; and Plato, Aristotle and doed with eighty blows. Other nations thought of limiting the quantity to be drunk at one time or at one sitting. The Egyptians put some limit, though what it was is not stated. The Spartans, also, had some limit. The Arabians fixed the quantity at twelve glasses a man, but the size of the glass was, unfortunately, not clearly defined by the historians. The Anglo-Saxons went no fixed on the side of drinking cups, so done by King Edgar after noticing the drunken habits of the Danes. Lycurgus, of Thrace, went to the root of the matter by ordering the vines to be cut down. And his conduct was imitated in 704 by Terbulus of Bulgaria. The Suevi prohibited wine to be imported. And the Spartans tried to turn the vice into contempt by systematically making their slaves drunk once a year, to show their children how foolish and contemptible men looked in that state. Drunkenness was deemed much more vicious in some classes of persons than in others. The ancient Indians held it lawful to kill a king when he was drunk. The Athenians made it a capital offense for a magiscapital offense for magistrates to be drunk; and Constantine II. of Scotland, 861, extended a like punishment to young people. Again, some laws have absolutely prohibited wine from being drunk by women; the Massillians so de creed. The Romans did the same, and death .- "Liberty of the Subject," by James Patterson. SHORT BUT POINTED.

extended the prohibition to young men under thirty or forty-five. And the husband and the wife's relations could scourge the wife for offending, and the husband himself might scourge her to

What Some Public Men Have Said About the Liquor Traffic. Lord Chesterfield called publicans

'artists in human slaughter.' Ruskin said that they were "moral assassins." Carlyle spoke of public-houses as seething hells of vice and immoral-Lord Brougham called drink-selling an "infernal traffic."

Lord Randolph Churchill spoke of it as "a devilish liquor traffic." Gladstone declared it to be productive cumstances as make us believe you are of greater evils than the combined scourges of war, famine and pesti-

> Wesley called the money received in exchange for drink "blood money." Robert Hall spoke of drinks as "liquid fire and distilled damnation. Mr. Walters, M. P. (of the London Times), charged it with being "the > Buxton, the brewer, said the contest between the church and the school and the public-house was but a development of the war between Heaven and hell. General Von Moltke says: "Beer is a > far more dangerous enemy to Germany

ITEMIZED FACTS.

EIGHTY new W. C. T. unions have been organized in Michigan within the last year. One hundred and four report an increase of membership.

You can tell where a young man is going by observing how his tracks are pointing. If the toes are toward the saloon he has joined the army of the devil .-- Ram's Horn. THE late Lord Napier, of Magdala,

When in active service he was constantly exhorting the men under his command to avoid strong drink. THE Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in Dublin, Ireland, was a warm friend of the Temperance declares that if the drink temptation were removed to-morrow, the society might with perfect safety disband and What "Half-and-Half" Is. A Temperance writer has given us the following original sentiments concernthe total abstinence movement on the ing the populr beverage known as "half-impregnable corner-stone of science." and-half": "The title of 'half-and-half' The action of alcohol, according to this is given to a mixture composed of two paper, is in every way poisonous. In-stead of warming the body in winter, it suggests that her 'better half' has or cooling it in summer, alcohol simply proved for worse instead of for better. renders the individual less capable of It may also signify the many half-doljudging of his condition, diminishing lars that have been transferred from the drunkard's pocket to the saloon-Prof. Wright, of New York, said at keeper's till. In some cases it is sugthe same gathering: "It is a well-known fact that alcohol—I speak as a because their father was a drunkard chemist-is a devitalizing influence, al- half and half-the best half of the man

THE FARMING WORLD.

WOOL-GROWERS. Some Points for Their Careful Considera-

The American wool-grower has not notified its employes that any man talers, which, in this respect at least, is been the well-informed man he ought on the sow to such an extent that it will to be, says the Breeder's Gazette. There is no reflection meant of his skill in breeding and management of flocks; the milk is not healthy, for the system is so drained that it can not product but the wool-growers of the United States have been hustled by the foreigner without knowing how the thing was done. The idea has been to the pigs as well as the dam are in just shut off this unwelcome rivalry from such condition as to invite disease. our markets by law, rather than pracical economical systems of wool-grow- to have the sow in good even flesh at ing, which would give such advantages as would hold American markets for feed she will not get poor while suckling. Americans. To do this it is necessary that we should know what we can do sidered under the head of condition be for ourselves in addition to what Congress is willing to do. "Providence helps those who help themselves." sides fat, for a sow may be fat enough; yet if that has been put on with corn and water alone she is not in good con-Congress seems willing to do something dition to raise a litter of pigs, because, in this way; and if we can do any thing for ourselves it is nothing more than right that we should.

> broader views in intensified, diversified, at farrowing time as possible. But I direct systems and special purposes that | would not advise (as some do) to dismay apply to the varied conditions and card corn altogether for brood sows, for cessfully we may be able to compete they do not also get some oats or shorts, with the wool-growers of other countries and most of the time it is shorts. I would tries. After knowing what we can do advise a variety or change of feed, for ourselves we must know the skill, never make the change suddenly, to methods and abilities of wool-growers in the countries where the cheap wools Month men say separate the sow from are produced that press us so badly. It's balance of the herd a week or ten Yankee genius, so proverbial for push days before farrowing time and shut her and persistence, succeeds by knowledge in her pen, but from experience I have further than to order silver nails to be of their own resources and of those of oncluded that the better plan is to let oppose their enterprises. Let the her remain with her companions as long that each might know the proper measure. And it is said that this was the methods and resources of the world's her time is up I would put her in her that all about the methods and resources of the world's her time is up I would put her in her that each might know the proper measure. And it is said that this was wool-growers, and they will find the pen alone at night letting her out with way to protect themselve. Settle the the ones she has been running with in systems of sheep-raising on firm facts, daytime. This seems to prevent her not theories, and the blunders of the past will be removed by energy and brains. The American sheep-raisers looked after, but this should be done need to know all there is to know of even if she is in her pen, and when the foreign breeding, feeding, management, proper time arrives she will be willing possibilities and advantages in climate, to be separated from the herd, and you feeds and all else that favor them; then can then put her in her pen and let her there will be a mutual understanding fix her bed to suit herself, and do not > we now know not of. Handling Bugs with Pincers.

For several seasons I have noticed in our quince orchard bugs resembling the our quince orchard bugs resembling the lift it is cold and the pigs are liable to trate to be drunk, and Charlemagne im- being rounder and flatter in shape and will give my method of handling them, itated this by a law that judges on the having the nauseous odor of the "stink- although there are other ways that I bench and pleaders should do their business fasting. The Carthagenians pro- branches of the quince trees during the hibited magistrates, governors, soldiers summer and fall. Where they harbor and servants from any drinking. The the bark becomes discolored and during Scots, in the second century, made it a the fall will crack open, and the branch the winter. I have picked them off with my "bug to sun themselves, and think I have saved some trees by that means.

PINCERS FOR HANDLING BUGS.

at work on the apple trees at the same time. The "pincers" mentioned above I find very useful in many ways. They that each fellow gets his share of the work on the principle of a pair of sheepinsects.-Rural New Yorker.

DAIRY SUGGESTIONS.

THE Orange County Farmer gives the "cow doctor" a whack. It says every town has one, and it is a great misfort- said every month in newspapers (yes, I

THE thoroughbred feeder will make even a scrub herd, if the cows have any merit at all, do better than a scrub feeder can make a thoroughbred herd

Do Nor waste feed. Profligate feeding, so far as profits are concerned, is as bad as short feeding. Observe an economical liberality, if we may be allowed the expression.

ARE you and the cow on intimate terms of friendship? If not, your cow is not doing as well as she might be made to do. A cow does her best only for her acknowledged friends. A FULL grain bin and an empty cow are to be found on the farms of some of the people who say there is no money in dairving. There is no money in that ! kink of a dairy, never was and never will be. ARE there not families in the city who would be glad to buy their butter of a private dairy? asks a correspon- even from that on .-- W. W. McClung, in dent. Undoubtedly, we reply; but we Breeding Gazette. do not know of any practical way of finding them. How many pounds of food shall I give my cows? asks a subscriber. No one can answer that question but yourself or some one who knows all about your cows. It is a matter that must be determined by experiment.

Subsoiling.

Tearing up the subsoil with the subsoil plow, and thus giving the water some sort of channels underneath the top soil and the reservoir greater depth is often of great help in undrained lands; but it will not do much good where such fields are now and then turned into swamps, with water standing on the surface. There should be at least some efthis is properly attended to there is no reason why the land should not bear good crops, and respond freely to manure application.

CARE OF BROOD SOWS.

Some Very Practical Suggestions on an From experience I believe a sow should be fleshy enough to round up the body smoothly; for if she raises a fitter of six or eight they will soon draw reduce her flesh materially, and if a sow gets very poor while suckling her pigs is so drained that it can not produce good wholesome nourishment. I believe But there are other things to be confever, and to relieve this we must use this hoped the intelligent efforts to show some other kind of of food, such as bran, what can be done on American soil by our own sheep-raisers may lead to nature, so as to produce as little fever changes going on in agriculture, manu-factures and trade.

It is important to know just how suc-sows, but there are very few days that and adjustment of means to ends that disturb her more than is absolutely necessary to save the pigs. Remember, one man is enough to attend to her, and he should be as quiet as possible large gray squash-bug in color, but chill something must be done, and I better. I have a soapstone that is round like a wheel and just large enough to go inside a common barrel. I heat this stone, and after filling the barrel about half full of straw I put in the stone, spread a little straw over it, then putan old sack or piece of carpet over this so as to prevent the little pigs from work ing their feet through the straw to the hot stone, and in a few minutes this is a very warm nest, and as fast as the pigs come I put them in the barrel and cover it over with a blanket, and in a very short time they are dry and warm. Then I take them out, two or three at a time (so as to be able to handle them) or tree, as the case may be, dies during and let them suck, putting the first lot in a basket and letting the next lot suck, and so on until all have sucked; pincers" on bright days when they then put them all back in the barrel, come out on the south side of the tree and if you will peep into it a few minutes later you will see a bunch of "sleeping beauties." When they next The same or a similar bug I noticed awake I put them all out and watch them "march up to the bar and take a drink. "treat:" then it is generally safe to shears, are about eight inches long and leave them, unless it is very cold; if so, were made by a local blacksmith at a I return them to the barrel, taking cost of twenty-five cents, and are a fine them out to suck about every two thing for hand-picking many kinds of hours until I think it perfectly safe to leave them with their dam

It hardly seems necessary to repeat what has been said so often about the feed of the sow just after farrowing, yet might say every week) there would be some that would each issue see it for the first time; hence, we say, do not give the sow any thing to eat for twelve hours after farrowing, but give a drink -not rich swill, but a drink of water. I prefer greasy dish-water for the first drink, but water with a handful of light shorts is a good drink. I would rather a sow have too little to eat the first two weeks than too much. After that I increase the feed according to the way the pigs look. If the pigs are getting fat I hold back the feed and give them lots of exercise to prevent the "thumps," but if they are gaunt and hide-wrinkled I increase the feed and richness of slop and get those pigs to take a little milk from a small all to themselves. By careful watching and helping the pigs that are getting behind a man can have a more even bunch of pigs, and if they are kept growing evenly until they are weaned there will not be much trouble to keep them

Swinging Door for Hog Yard. A very simple and effective arrangement to protect swine from constant raids of poultry while feeding is shown in the accompanying illustration, from sketch and description furnished by W. A. Graham, Indiana. Pickets

> SELF-CLOSING DOOR.

fective surface drainage, and an outlet all around the yard or pen. A slatted sufficiently deep to carry off the surplus door made of light material is bung by water both from the surface and from stout screw-eyes, as shown in the enthe lacerated portion of the subsoil. If graving. The pigs can pass readily irt defies If the old proverb be true, SAPOLIO is greater than royalty itself: Try it in your next-house-cleaning: Grocers keep it. DO YOU LIVE IN GREASE?

As a true patriot and citizen you should naturalize yourself by using the best inventions of the day for removing such a charge. To live in Grease is utterly unnecessary when SAPOLIO is sold in all the stores, and abolishes grease and dirt.

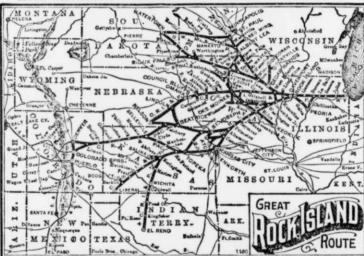

EECHAM'S
PAINLESS. PILLS EFFECTUAL. FOR BILIOUS & NERVOUS DISORDERS

Such as Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Fullness and Swelling after Meals, Dizziness, and Drowsiness, Cold Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, and all Nervous and Trembling Sensations. &c. THE FIRST DOSE WILL CIVE RELIEF IN TWENTY MINUTES.
BEECHAM'S PILLS TAKEN AS DIRECTED RESTORE FEMALES TO COMPLETE HEALTH. For Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Impaired

Digestion, Constipation, Disordered Liver, etc., they ACT LIKE MAGIC, Strengthening the muscular System, restoring long-lost Complexion, bringing back the keen edge of appetite, and arousing with the ROSEBUD OF HEALTH the whole physical energy of the human trame. One of the best guarantees to the Nervous and Debilitated is that BEECHAM'S PILLS HAVE THE LARGEST SALE OF ANY PROPRIETARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

Prepared only by THIOS. BEECHAM. St. Helens, Lancashire, England. Sold by Druggists generally. B. F. ALLEN CO., 365 and 367 Canal St. New York, Sola Agents for the United States, who if your druggist does not keep them WILL MAIL.

UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THE COUNTRY, WILL OBTAIN MUCH VALUABLE INFORMATION FROM A STUDY OF THIS MAP OF

THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Including main lines, branches and extensions East and West of the Missouri River. The Direct Route to and from Chicago, Joliet, Ottawa, Peoria, La Salle, Moline, Rock Island, in ILLINOIS—Davenport, Muscatine, Ottumwa, Oskaloosa, Des Moines, Winterset, Audubon, Harlan and Council Bluffs, in IOWA—Minneapolis and St. Paul, in MINNESOTA—Watertown, and Sioux Falls, in DAKOTA—Cameron, St Joseph, and Kansas City, in MISSOURI—Omaha, Fairbury, and Nelson, in NEBRASKA—Atchison, Leavenworth, Horton, Topeka, Hutchinson, Wichita, Belleville, Abilene, Dodge City, Caldwell, in KANSAS—Kingfisher, El Reno, in the INDIAN TERRITORY—Denver, Colorado Springs and Fueblo, in COLORADO. Traverses new areas of rich farming and grazing lands, affording the best facilities of intercommunication to all towns and cities east and west, northwest and southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaports. southwest of Chicago, and to Pacific and transoceanic Seaporte

MACNIFICENT VESTIBULE EXPRESS TRAINS,

Leading all competitors in splendor of equipment, between CHICAGO and DES MOINES, COUNCIL BLUFFS and OMAHA, and between CHICAGO and DENVER, COLORADO SPRINGS and PUEBLO, via KANSAS CITY and TOPEKA or via ST. JOSEPH. Through Coaches, Palace Sleepers, NEW AND ELEGANT DINING CARS, and FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS. California Excursions daily, with choice of routes to and from Salt Lake City, Ogden, Helena, Portland (Ore.), Los Angeles and San Francisco. Fast Express Trains daily to and from all towns, cities and sections in Southern Nebraska, Kansas and the Indian Territory. The Direct Line to and from Pike's Peak, Manitou, Cascade, Glenwood Springs, and all the Sanitary Resorts and Scenic Grandeurs of Colorado.

VIA THE ALBERT LEA ROUTE.

Fast Express Trains, daily, between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, making close connections for all points North and Northwest. FREE Reclining Chair Cars to and from Kansas City. The Favorite Line to Pipestone, Watertown, Sioux Falls, and the Summer Resorts and Hunting and Fishing Grounds of Iowa, Minnesota and Dakota.

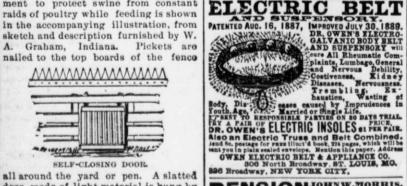

THE SHORT LINE VIA SENECA AND KANKAKEE offers facilities to travel between Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Lafayette, and Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth, Kansas City, Minneapolis, and St. Paul.

For Tickets, Maps, Folders, or desired information, apply to any Ticket Office in the United States or Canada, or address

E. ST. JOHN, JOHN SEBASTIAN, CHICAGO, ILL.

PISO'S CURE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.

PENSION JOHN W. MORRIS, Successfully PROSECUTES CLAIMS. Late Principal Examiner U.S. Pension Bureau. 3 yrs in last war, ib adjudicating claims, atty since TREE SALESMEN "Whole Root ys, Piece Trees" PAY.

wherever found. That holds the Roll on which is wound The Braid that is known the world around. New Laws PENSIONS For Widows
For Soldiers Pensions For Parents
Write at once to J. L. McFarland, Washington, D. C.

THIS IS THE CLASP

GOFF'8

A. N. K.-C.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK.

The Mountain Chautauqua.

On the breezy summits of the Al- the parents perceived that the weight was a good education. leghany Mountains, 2,700 feet above of the growing family would be too sea level, the Mountain Lake Park great for the strength of the branch Assembly, Garrett County, Md., to which supported the nest--in fact, it ed in the pine woods for which the be hereafter and forever known as was beginning to give way. Some- State is famous. 'The Mountain Chautauqua," will thing must be done or the nest would hold its ninth annual session from fall. The goldfinches saw this clear-July 29th to August 12th.

the Rev. Dr. W. L. Dayidson, has pick up somewhere, the bending prepared a program which is excel- twig to a stronger and higher branch lent in every department, and should of the tree, and thus their nest and attract a multitude of people to this unique and delightful summer resort. Class-work under the care of experienced instructors will be conducted in the following departments: Elocution, Physical Culture, Astronomy, Microscopy, Kindergarten, him by the parish; his companion Music, Amateur Photography, and Sunday School Normal in senior and junior grades.

The Rev. Dr. W. M. Parkhurst, well known for his work in connec-Indiana, will conduct the Minister's Institute for three days, July 30th to 31st, and August 1st, at which great and grave questions will be discussed. Such meetings ought to be attended by pastors of all denominations within reach of Mountain Lake Park.

Among theplatform talent the following are underlined: Dr. P. S. Hensen, Professor J. B. DeMott. Leon H. Vincent. Peter Mamreoff Bishop W. F. Mallatleu, Dr. M. M. Parkhurst, Dr. George E. Hite. Dr.

President G. E. Reed, and others. During the entire session an orchestra of twelve pieces will be present. The chorus class will be under lived. the direction of Professor Cecil, the accomplished musician of Baltimore, the occasion. rates can be found in private cottages. The B. & O. R. R. will sell The groom made complaint to the 12 will be G. A. R. Day. A great cordingly gave orders to provide a gathering is expected. There will complete jockey dress for the monbe ample opportunity for Croquet, trons of the Mountain Lake Park Assembly, Write to J. M. Davis, of Oakland, Md., for a detailed pro-

The Tomb of Eye.

is at Jaddah, the seaport of Mecca. The temple with a palm growing out the man, "he is gone over the fallow." of the solid stone roof (a curiosity which is of itself the wonder of the him?" "Ay, zure!" said John,"there Orient) is supposed to mark the last be a little man in a yellow jacket just resting place of the first woman. gone by. I hope, from my heart, the According to Arabian tradition, Eve young gentleman mayn't meet a fall, measured over two hundred feet in for he rides most monstrous bould." height, which strangely coincides The experiment had the desired efwith an account of our first parents fect; Jacko had had enough of horse written by a member of the French riding to make him dislike the sight Academy of Sciences a few years ago of the stable ever afterwards, who also claimed a height of over two hundred feet for both of the tenants of the Garden of Eden. Eye's ed in some way the animal under tomb, which is in a graveyard sur- his charge. The animal showed no rounded with high white walls, and disposition at the time to resent, but which has not been opened for a sin- the driver knowing from the wicked gle interment for over a thousand expression of its eye what was pass- hands in the present sphere, and preyears, is the shrine of thousands of ing within its mind, kept on the pare themselves withat for doing Ishmaelites, who make pilgrimages watch for several days. One night to the spot once every seven years. It he had retired within his tent, leavis hemmed in on all sides by the ing his striped cloak spread over the tombs of departed sheiks and other wooden saddle of the camel outside worthies who have lived out their the tent. er, remain open all night, in spite of by the cracking and the smashing of Terrible cries of anguish are said to ly persuaded that the bones of his that there will always be something emit from them, as though the master were broken to pieces. Hav- for him to learn " memory of the first known tragedy tired. Next morning the master. still haunted the remains which blind who had heard from the tent this superstition believes to be deposited agreeable process going on, presented himself to the camel. The disapand which were as follows:

The writer heard of many other in- pointed animal was in such a rage to teresting legends and superstitions he died of yexation on the spot. connected with this celebrated bury. ing ground, none of which he cared to take the time to investigate, as cholera of a violent type was raging at Jiddah and many other Mediter-July and August, 1882.

smoke !"-Boston Herald.

wish to make a noise ?"-Puck.

Brief Stories About Animals.

A pair of goldfinches had built ly, so they were seen to fasten, by a ing out of a new farm in North Caro. THE GARRETT COUNTY BANK The superintendent of instruction, small string they had managed to line. He was afterwards a clerk in a young ones were preserved.

> THE DOG AND HIS POOR MASTER. About twenty years ago there lived in a hut an old man who had been a shepherd. He was very poor, and had only three and sixpense allowed was an old dog whom he called Bob. Poor Bob, like his master, led a very hard life, that is, he was half starved.

A gentleman who was passing the hut one day took Bob home with tion with the DePauw University, him, and gave him as much as he could eat and drink, with a nice warm bed. After keeping him for a fortnight the gentleman thought he would take him out for a walk, but Bob had no sooner got outside the door than he ran back to his miserable home and his poor old master. About asix months after this Bob was seen standing in the gentleman's garden, looking much thinner than Von Finkelstein, Dr. C. O. Brown, he walked straight into the parlor to use carpenters tools, when he Dr. Howard Henderson, G. W. and stayed there all night. The learned the trade, He afterwards Loomis, Rev. C. C. Albertson, Rev. next morning Bob was taken back to E. L. Eaton, David D. Thompson, the hut, and it was then discovered that the old man had been buried for more than a month. So not all the J. A. Fullerton, Dr. E. L. Moffatt, kindness and not all the good food travagant in other directions. It was given to poor Bob could induce him to leave his poor master while he vants, and the waiters at the various

THE MONKEY ON HORSEBACK. The Duke of Richmond kept some and Madame Annie Roemer Kasper, hunters in the county of Sussex. A a superb singer, will be the soloist of monkey, which was kept in the stable, was remarkably fond of getting The hotel accommodations are ex- on the backs of the horses, skipping cellent. Good board at reasonable from one to the other, and teasing the round-trip tickets from all points at duke, who formed a plan to remedy at a meal." one rate for the round trip during the evil. "If he is fond of riding," will graduate Aug. 8. There will be said his grace, "we'll endeavor to special days of rare interest. Aug. give him enough of it;" and he accomplete jockey dress for the montennis, base-ball and all pleasing key. The next time the hounds amusements. Every indication points to this as the greatest and strapped to the back of one the best strapped to the back of one the best best season ever enjoyed by the pa- hunters. The view was given, away they went through thick and thin!

The horse being fond of the sport, and carrying so light a weight, soon left all the company behind. Some of party passing by a form house, in-The Arabs claim that Eve's tomb | quired of a countryman whether he had seen the fox. "Ay, zure," said "And was there any one up with days in that region of scorching sun During the night he heard the camel and burning sands. On each year, approach the object, and after satisfyon June 3, which is, according to ing himself that it was his master's this supposed tomb of our first moth- the cloak, evidently much gratified knows everything." the keeper's offorts to close them. the saddle under its weight, and ful- man, who is happy because he knidws see his master safe before him, that

> THE REVENGEFUL CAMEL A certain camel driver had insult-

No LONGER RAGGED .- Some one asked the editor of the London Punch why ragged people never go to ranean seaports at the time these church, and he replied, "Because things were being investigated, in when people go to church they soon cease to be ragged." There is a world of truth in that explanation. The Lady-"I heard you had a fire here hungry, ragged creatures that have him. and are selling goods at a bargain ?" to be fed and clothed by the hand of Butcher-"That's right,ma'am. Look charity rarely belong to any church. at these fine hams for fourteen cents Grumble, as too many people do, a pounds, only slightly damaged by about the amount of money required to maintain churches, it is the bes invested money in the country' Mrs. Nerfus-"I am sure I heard a There are scores of hungry and ragnoise downstairs. There must be ged men who would soon be able to burglars in the house !" Mr. Nerfus feed and clothe themselves if they sible for the ladies' tollet -"Nonsense! Why should burglars were brought under Gospel influence.—Canada Presbyterian.

They Were all Poor Boys.

John Adams, second President their nest on the small branch of an was the son of a farmer of very modolive tree. After hatching their brood erate means. The only start he had

> Andrew Jackson was born in a log hut in North Carolina, and was rais-James K. Polk spent the earlier years of his life helping to dig a livcountry store. Millard Filmore was the son of a

New York farmer, and his home a business of clothier.

James Buchanan was born in a small town in the Allegheny Mountains. His father cut the logs and built his house in what was then a wilderness.

Abraham Lincoln was the son of a very poor farmer in Kentucky, and lived in a log cabin until he was twenty-one years old.

Andrew Johnson was apprenticed to a tailor at the age of ten years by his widowed mother. He was never able to attend school, and picked up all the education he ever had.

General Grant lived the life of a common boy in a common house on the banks of the Ohio river until he was seventeen years or age.

James A. Garfield was born in log cabin. He worked on the farm CONTRACTOR & BUILDER, usual. When the door was opened until the time he was strong enough worked on the canal.

> The Brazilian nabob, Baron Fereau, was as miserly in trifles as he was exone of his peculiarities not to fee serhotels at which he sojourned were for that reason not partial to him. One morning, while staying at the magnificent Maux hotel in Rio de Janeiro, he came down to breakfast and ordered a cutlet. After he had eaten it he ordered a second.

"Baron," said the head waiter, maliciously, "it's a custom with us never to serve the same course twice

"Is that so?" said Fereau, and ris-In ten minutes he came back into the dining room, "Waiter," said he, "I have just bought this hotel, and am master here now, As you will not be able to get accustomed to my plan of serving the guests according to their wishes, you are dismissed at once." Thereupon he took up his napkin again and called to another waiter:

"Now bring me another cutlet."-Philadelphia Times.

BEST WAY TO GET ON .- A young man once wrote to the celebrated Thomas Carlye asking his advice about the best way to get on. The following was the quaint answer: Study to do faithfully whatsoeyer thing in your actual situation you to your charge—that is, your post; stand in it like a good soldier. Silently devour the many chagrins of it, as all human situations have many, and see that you aim not to quit it without doing all that it, at least, requires of you. A man perfects himself by work much more than by reading. They are a growing kind of men that can wisely combine the two things - wisely, valiantly, can do what is laid to their pare themselves withat for doing other, wider things, if such be before them."

Happy Men.

The old Persians, who had many authors of singular penetration, gave the world the following proverb: "There are two men in the world Arabian legends, the anniversary of cloak, and believing that it covered who are perfectly happy; The first the death of Abel, the doors of the his master himself, he lay down and is the whelly ignorant man, who is temple which forms a canopy over rolled backward and forward over happy because he thinks that he

"The second is the really learned ims which were the favorites of a When a man knows not and knows

This proverb suggests certain max-not that he knows not, he is a fool shun him. When a man knows not and knows teach him. When a man knows and knows not that he knows, he is asleep; wake him.

that he knows not, he is simple:

When a man knows and knows that he knows, he is wise; follow

If You Have a Triffing Cough Don't neglect it. Use Roger's Specific Cough ure. Price 25c.

For Sprains, Burns, Bruises, Collo, Roger's Cocain Pile Remedy has no Use Roger's Worm Syrup-safe and

You will find the above at A. G. turgiss' Drug Store, and Country Stores.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

INSTANT RELIEF FOR ALL RHEUMATIC PAINS, SURE CURE for Rheumatien, Neuralgia and Sciatica, Sold by druggists everywhere, or by mail, 25 cents. Novelty Flaster Works, Lowell, Mass.

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. D. E. OFFUTT, President.

G. S. HAMILL, V. Presiden S. T. JONES, Cashier, A General Banking business transacted. very humble one. He learned the an-Prompt attention to collections. 112'89.

> AGENTS to canvass for the sale of our WANTED. MOST LIBERAL TERMS.
> Unequaled facilities. One of the largest, oldest-established and best known nurseries in the country. Address, W. & T. SMITH, Geneva Nursery. Geneva, N. Y. 676t Established 1846.

TOHN A. WOLF. CARPENTER AND BUILDER, East End Oak St., Onkland, Md.

ENGLISH SPAVIN LINIMENT removes a m Horses, Blood Spavins, Curbs, Splints, eeney, Ring bone, Stiffes, Sprains, all oflen Throats, Coughs, etc., Save 550 by of one bottle. Warranted the most won-ful Blemish Cure ever known. ITCH. MANGE. AND SCRATCHES on humar or animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford' Lotion. This never falls. Both for sale by HENRY J. MAYERS, Druggist, Oakland, Md.

JONAS E. GNAGEY,

AND PROPRIFTOR OF

GRANTSVILLE PLANING MILL, Manufacturer and dealer in Lumber, Sash, Doors, Blinds, Scroll-Work, Wood-Turning, Moulding, Stair Building, and General Building Material.

Will also conduct the UNDERTAKING BUSINESS, and keep on hand an assort-ment of Coffins, and also manufacture the same to order. A fine hearse in attendance, It will be my aim to turn out only first-class work at reasonable prices. Thanking all who have favored me in the last, I hope by fair and liberal dealing to nerit their future patronage.

All orders left at the mill promptly attended to. An Correspondence solicited, JONAS E. GNAGEY, Grantsville, Md., June 17, 1890. 6 21 iy.

If so call upon or write us.

The Farmers' Hardware

Association, (LIMITED.)

E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

The Leading Hardware and Implement House of Somerset County, Pa.

It will pay you to call and see us. We are sole agents and represent the best line of goods ever offered to the farming community among which we name the BROWN WAGONS, DAVIS BUGGIES, WHITELY and D. M. OSBORNE MOWERS AND BINDERS BISSELL and SYRACUSE CHILL PLOWS EMPIRE GRAIN DRILLS, STEEL KING (all steel frame harrows), ANN ARBOR HAY TEDDERS, DEHAVEN & CO. an I BISSELL & CO. STOVES and RANGES, STRICKLER HAY CARRIERS, Also have a TINWARE and HARNESS FACTORY connected with the establishment.

FARMERS' HARDWARE ASSOCIATION LIMITED, 386 m E. A. BRIEL, Gen. Manager.

FOR SALE!

Small Farm Near Deer Park.

f desire to sell my farm near Deer Park containing one hundred acres, fifty acres cleared and in grass. The improvements consist of a good 1½-story dwelling house, barn, wagon shed, young orchard, &c., &c. The farm is well watered and nearly all under fence. Situated about 2½ miles from Deer Park. er fence. Shuated abou beer Park. For terms, &c., apply to

JOS. G. NESBITT, Fairment, W. Va.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

H. S. MILLER & Co's

CELEBRATED

BONE FERTILIZERS. Having used the above Fertilizers for about EVERY INSTRUMENT FULLY four years, and testing many other popular varieties. I find that this brand is an honest article, which can be depended upon to be as represented.

Farmers raising grain or grass, or any kind of vegetables, will do well to give this a trial and it will speak for itself. We will have a car load in a short time of he different grades. Please write for prices and terms,

We will have all kinds of Flower and Vegetable Plants in the proper season Cut Flowers and Floral Designs can be had on short notice, sent by mail or express, Address
H. WEDER H. WEBER, Box 57, Oakland, Md.

A Rare Chance to Secure a Home. FOR SALE

Several Tracts of Land . h the Hooppole Road, 3 miles from Deer Park

and 6 miles from

Oakland. Md.

These lands are of excellent quality, each ract has a stream of water running through or cattle, and springs of excellent water, and a quantity of valuable timber. The Hoopole road passes through the lands and the pole road passes through the lands and the Deer Park road quite near them. They adjoin the farms of John L. Browning, Frank R. Nethkin, Wm. Schooley, Joseph Spiker, Ralph Browning, Jacob Sell, W. M. Rhodeheaver and others.

These lands will be sold CHEAP and on the MOST FAVORABLE TERMS: One fourth cash and the balance in three or four ecual yearly payments, with interest and security to the satisfaction of the owner.

For further information annly to.

For further information apply to. JAS. A. HAYDEN. Republican Office, Oakland, Ma

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE!

Situated about 2½ miles south of Oakland, ontaining 80 acres; 50 acres cleared; orchard of 100 apple trees beginning to bear; 2-story FRAME HOUSE. containing five rooms and a cellar, nicely bainted and plastered; a good frame barn and all necessary out-buildings.
The land is heavily limed and an abunlance of lime stone is on the place.
Two and one-half tons of hay to the acre was produced this year.
For terms &c., apply to

THOMAS & SINCELL, Attorneys for owner,

Oakland, Md.

J. F. LEWIS. -MANUFACTURER OF-LUMBER, SHINGLES AND PLAS-

TERING LATH I

J. F. LEWIS. 33'881y Cranesville, W. Va

MASSEY HALL PREPAK TURY SCHOOL,

OAKLAND, MARYLAND. Fourth Year--Trinity Term Begin

April 14th, 1890. Regular and elective studies. Three cour all. Special attention to collegiate require-nents. Number of Pupils strictly Limited, Reference Library. For terms, hours, courses, &c., apply to

REV. J. NEWMAN, Principal. DR. E. H. BARTLETT.

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, Offers his professional services to the peop of Oakland and vicinity. of Oakland and vicinity.

Residence and office two doors East of Catholic Church.

tf 296

ANDREW J. HARNE. AUCTIONEER! Will sell Real or Personal Property.

Residence Oakland, Garrett county, Md Oakland, Md., Feb. 21st, 1887. --WANTED--

WHITE OAK LUMBER CUT TO ORDER Also White Oak Timber Land. W. C. WHITE LUMBER CO., Cumberland, Md. Office 30 Baltimore Street.

2 15 90 13

FOR RENT--By the Year or for the Season.-The west End of Wing.and Wing," at Deer Park, containing a Parlor Sitting Room, two Dining Rooms, two Kitchens and Six Sleeping Rooms. The Six-rooms will be furnished with everything nec-essary except BED CLOTHING. Also stable room for two horses, and carriage house There is a garden lot, with Fruit Trees, con-nected with the premises. Apply to 5 24 E. C. TILSON. Proprietor. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERETT & HARVARD

CLOUGH & WARREN ORGANS.

UNSURPASSED IN TONE WORKMANSHIP AND DURABILITY!

GUARANTEED!

Having decided to make a specialty of sellng the above named Instruments, I desire to inform the citizens of this and adjoining counties who may be desirous of purchasing o inform the citizens of this and adjoining ounties who may be desirous of purchasing really first-class instrument at a moderate rice, to call and examine my line of instruent and get prices on same before going sewhere. I can assure all of one thing—no etter instruments are made for the money and those I handle. This is no idle boast, at a fact which time and observation has bundantly proven. I buy at first hands and o not charge two prices for my goods. A casonable profit on the investment is all fsk.

J. M. LITZINGER, Oakland, Md.

NEW FIRM. Spedden & Bolden, CONTRACTORS AND BUILDES.

OAKLAND, - MD., Will contract for or superintend the erection of buildings in town or vicinity.

JOB WORK A SPECIALTY! B. & O. R. R. Time-Table

The following is the new time-table on the B. & O. R. R., which went ineffect May 11th, 1890:

GOING EAST 71—Accomme 47—Express...

The fast trains, with the exception of those mentioned, make stoppages only at the First Class Stations. Tickets should always be procured before taking the cars, passengers saving thereby from 10 to 25 cents.

> WM. M. CLEMENTS, Manager.

C. K. LORD. General Passenger Agent.

FOR SALE.

VALUABLE

I am authorized to sell the valuable stock farm, commonly known as the "Willink Farm," situated about four miles from Oak-land, and containing 465 acres. About 200 acresare cleared and under a good state of cultivation. The improvements consist of LARGE DWELLING HOUSE, Tenant House, Barn and other out-buildings and a young orcherd.

There is also a five-foot vein of excellent coal on the tract. The farm will be sold for $10,000 tollars, in easy payments.

The improvements cost more than the price asked. This is considered to be one of the best stock farms in the county.

JAS. A. HAYDEN.

Oakland, Md.

rop Leaf, Fancy Cover, Large Drawers, Nickel Rings Tucker, Ruffler, Binder, Four Widths of Hemmers Sent on trial. Delivered in your home free of freight charges. Buy only of Manufacturers. Save Canyassers' Commissions. Get New Ma-chines. Address for Circulars and Testimonials. Co-Operative Sewing Machine Company,

VOLUME 14.

OAKLAND, MD., FRIDAY, JULY 18, 1890.

NUMBER 22.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

THOMAS J. PEDDICORD,

ATTORNEY-AT-LAW. Will practice in all the Courts of Maryland and West Virginia. Office in Pritchard Building, Oakland, Md. 226 '87.

GILMOR S. HAMULL ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHANCERY. OFFICE ON ALDER STREET, Particular attention given to Conveyancing questigation of land titles and collection claims. Loans negotiated. jel4-ly

B, FAY, ATTORNEY AT LAW AND SOLICITOR IN CHNACERY will practice in the Courts of Garrett, Allegany and the Court of Appeals Also in adjoining counties of West Va.

53 Special attention given to Investigation of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection Of Land Titles, Conveyancing and Collection States. Real estate bought and solic transitions. WARING THOMAS. EWD. H. SINCELL

THOMAS & SINCELL,

Attorneys-at-Law and Solicitors in Chancery, OAKLAND, MARYLAND, Will practice in the Courts of Garrett and Allegany counties, the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the adjoining counties of West Virginia. '88106

J. W. VETTCH. VEITCH & TOWNSHEND, ATTORNEYS AT LAW SOLICITORS IN CHANCERY, OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD.

Will practice in the Courts of Garrett County, and the adjoining Countles of West Virginia and in the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

35 Office in the Court House,
July 3-tf. A. E. GONDER, ATTORNEY AT LAW

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.

Office in Pritchard Building, first floor, room, Third street, Oakland, Md.

DR. D. O. MCKINLEY, Resident Dentist, Salisbury, Pa., Will visit regularly through Garrett county, Md., and offers his services to those wishing

P. O. address, Elk Lick, Pa. 6226m DR. W. H. RAVENSCRAFT,

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD. OFFICE IN NYDEGGER BUILDING. Eg- Residence at Commercial House, Sept. 9, 1885.—1y.

H. W. M°COMAS, M. D., PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON, OAKLAND, MD.,

offers his professional services to the peoof Oakland and vicinity. 55 ar Office with Dr. J. Lee McComas, Residence corner Oak and fifth streets, two doors East Catholic Church.

DR. S. TOWNSHEND. RESIDENT DENTIST. OAKLAND, MD. Office and residence on Oak street, between First and Second. Particular attention paid to cleaning and alling the natural teeth.

All work warranted to give satisfaction Dr. I. D. Wewman,

OAKLAND, MD. CHRONIC CASES A SPECIALTY. Office and residence on Milistreet, oppose the Helbig bridge can say or night promptly attended to. 3 à y

FOR SALE, A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND, Of 133% acres, situated 7 miles North of Oakland, near the Yough River. The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, barn, stable and all other necessary outsuidings; twenty acres undercultivation. A fine young rchard is on the place. For terms and further information, apply THOMAS & SINCELL, Successiol Treatment of Disease A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY!

Successful Treatment. CURES: Cetorrh. Brenchitis, Consumption, Malaria, Rheumatism. Wonderfel Tenic and Blood Parifier. The efficacy of the Microbe Killer in caree of con-umnia in his been so of strails demonstrated that we as partition in claiming it it constitute powers beyond from of any actions kinder. We do not elaim for it magnitudes more mourant carees no far gone that cure sold only in on called the one to use. Sold only in one allowed months. Price S3.00. sufficient to learn the month. Obeap: within the reach of all. Physical to 17 years experience in charge of the office. Sound for drawlar and information. Wm. Radam's Microbe Killer, Sold Arch St., Ph.

NOTICE. All persons are warned against cutting down any of the timber on my land on the Hooppole Road, adjoining the land of Bowie Johnson, about three miles from Deer Park and six miles from Oakland. The penalty for cutting down timber in Garrett county Md., without permission of the owner of the land, is the same, under the Act of 1880, ch 284, as for feloniously steating goods or chattels to the value of the tree or trees" so cut down.

THEOS. B. HORWITZ

THEOS. B. HORWITZ BLACKSMITHING.

I am prepared to do all kinds of blacksmith-ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices of ing. Farmers' work a specialty. Prices as low as can be had for first class work, Shop near"Browning House." DAVID LITTLE.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MULES

We have opened

NEW STOCK YARDS

BARRITT STATION

Where you can find all Nydegger building, Main St., above kinds & sizes of mules suitable for any pur-

> Mules for Logging —and—

TRAM ROADS

constantly on hand. MINE MULES A SPECIALTY. W. A. BARRITT, JR., & CO.,

Barritt Station, On W. Va. Cen. R. R., between Gorman and Bayard.

MT. LAKE PARK, MD., ALDERSON & ROBINSON, PROPS

C. M. RATHBUN, Manager.

Sash, glazed and open, Doors, Blinds, Window and Door Frames, Brackets, Mouldings, Stair Balusters and Newers, Weatherboarding Flooring, Ceiling, Pickets and Palings.

Scroll Sawing, Turning, Planing and Matching done to order at the lowest rates. #z-Estimates cheerfully given on all kinds of mill work. 9. '87.

E. F. STANSBERRY.

-Manufacturer of-Boots and Shoes. Wagner's old stand, Railroad street,

OAKLAND, MD. Nov. 21, 85,- y.

WANTED.

LOCAL OR TRAVELING,

CHASE BROTHERS COMPANY, 5 10 3m* ROCHESTER, N. Y. FARM FOR SALE

COAL& FIRE CLAY I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acre

I am authorized to sell a farm of 250 acres 125 acres of which are cleared, situated on the Oakland and Sang Run road, six miles from Oakland, and near the Youghiogheny river. This is a very desirable farm, and is under laid with three veins of Coal, one vein being 6 feet, another 3 feet and another 4 feet. Also an abundance of Fire Clay.

The improvements consist of two dwelling houses, a barn and other outbuildings. Also a good orchard, and a young orchard just coming into bearing. coming into bearing.

The farm is we!l watered, and is in every way a very desirable property. One hundred and :wenty-five acres of valuable timber.

Call on or address MICROBE KILLER

JAS. A. HAYDEN, Republican office, Oakland, Md.

ALEXANDER &

Office, Room No. 1, Postoffice Building, Cor Liberty and Baltimore Streets.

LUMBER BROKERS

CUMBERLAND, MD.

-AND DEALERS IN-

MILL AND LUMBERMEN'S SUPPLIES

Axes, Cant Hooks, Pike Poles, Cross Cut Saws, Calks and all Logging and River Driv-ing tools; Belting, Oils, Cordage, Lath Yarns, Board and Log Rules, Files, Circular Saws, Pulleys—wood or Iron; Shafiling, Hangers, Couplings, Pillow Blocks, and all kinds of Mill Supplies furnished on short notice. Wire and Steel Rope, Horse Clothing, Wag-ons, Buggles, &c.

JULIUS A. ROEHM, A PRACTICAL AND

First-Class Tailor, FROM BALTIMORE, Has taken charge of Leowenstein's old stand on Oak street, where he will be pleased to re-ceive the patronage of the public. 3 16 90

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

EVERY Housewife
EVERY Counting Room
EVERY Carriage Owner
EVERY Thrifty Mechanic
EVERY Body able to hold a brush
BHOULD USB

■IK-F ON ANALIST STROUGH WILL STAIN OLD & NEW FURNITURE WILL STAIN GLASS AND CHINAWARE

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The Best Blood Medicine

So say Leading Physicians and Druggists, and their opinion is indorsed by thousands cured by it of Scrofula, Eczema, Erysipelas, and other

"Ayer's Sarsaparilla has won its reputation by years of valuable service to the community. It is the best."—R. S. Lang, Druggist, 212 Merimack st., Lowell, Mass. Dr. W. P. Wright, Paw Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practice, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparilla for chronic dis-eases of the blood."

Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts.,

Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilia in numerous instances, and I find it highly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O. L. M. Robinson, Fharmacist, Sabina, O. certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it."

"For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last bescrofulous running sores, which, at last be-came so bad the doctors advised amputating one of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen hottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my bloed, and am no longer trou-bled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Don't fail to get

Ayer's Sarsaparilla DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Bold by Druggists. $1, six $5. Worth $5 a bottle.

FARM FOR SALE!

For sale cheap, a farm of 305 acres, about 90 cres of which is cleared, and on which are rected a

Two-Story Frame House, Two Stables and other outbuildings. About 75 acres of the woodland is covered with EXCELLENT TIMBER. The farm is situated two miles from Swanton, B. & O. R. R. About 250 acres is under fence. A young orebard was put out four years ago, and will soon come into bear-For particulars and terms, apply to or ad-RICHARD CUSTER.

Having added another first-class company to those represented by me, I am now pre pared to write policies on all kinds of proper-ty on short notice and at reas-mable rates, Special inducements and rates given on Special inducements and rates given on dwelling houses and farm property.

Insure your property in good companies—those authorized by law to do business in the State, and save trouble in case of fire.

The only licensed Fire Insurance Agent in Garrett county, authorized to write policies. F. A. THAYER.

OUR OFFICE IS OPPOSITE U.S. PATENT OFFICE. We have no sub-agencies, all business direct, hence can transact patent business in less time and at LESS COST than those remote from Washington.

Send model, drawing, or photo, with description. We advise if patentable or not, free of charge. Our fee not due till patent is secured. A book, "How to Obtain Patents," with references to actual clients in your State, county, or town, sent free. Address C. A. SNOW & CO.,

Opposite Patent Office, Washington, D. C. SALESMEN WANTED AT ONCE.

workers,

Show this paper to your neighbor, he is not slready a subscriber, and k him to look it over and note its rits as a local family journal. The rate of subscription pute it withthe reach of every one, and no one

o wants to have the county news uld be without it.

ELI PERKINS has been in Birmingun England : in Berlin and Chemitz, Germany; and in the manuicturing districts of Belgium nd France. European manufacters all tell him that "protective tariff in America means poverty in grope, and that free trade in Amer-lea means milts running on full time in Europe, and wealth to the monarchies," Eli is for protection, and America against free trade and Europe, and Eli is sound. He tells the truth.-Press.

WHEN Colonel Brice, of New York, got himself elected United States Senator from Ohio, he forgot years by claiming to be a resident of place. New York City. But he has been disagreeably reminded of it many times since. The last move of the implacable tax gatherer is to institute a suit against Brice in the Ohio Supreme Court. - Montgomery Press.

BALTIMORE working men celebrated the Fourth by paying the following neat compliment to Maryland Democracy: "In Maryland we find a political has robbed the State and was almost were excited and solicitous about on the point of getting of without their future, punishment. We find a Governor stitutional duties-who did not know State funds."-Exchange.

Accident .- Delayed.

Dr. R. A. Ravenscroft took ill on of Accident. Jacob Boyer and Jacob Pysel, executors of the Benjamin Keller estate, have made their final settlement with the heirs of said estate. The estate was 26 years in settling up. Accident has something new again. It is a new root on the build-

Samuel Boyer, of Oakland, and his 4th and spent the afternoon troutfishing in Big Bear Creek. He returned home next day, taking with him 52 speckled beauties.

Annie Hostetler, daughter of Joseph Hostetler, is quite ill. Henry Feigh is reported sick.

The Accident correspondent and his better half spent the 4th at Friendsville attending the Sunday-School picnic of the M. E. church. Miss Virgie Hinebaugh, Messrs. W. T. and E. H. McMillen, and Webster Glotfelty spent the 4th at Petersburg, Somerset County, Pa.

Joseph Beeghley fell from a load of hay last Saturday, and suffered FIRE INSURANCE. of hay last Saturday, and suffered er. He also bruised his left hip and had a new hay carrier put in to show him how to operate it and as he was pulling the trip-rope broke and he was precipitated to the the barn floor.

> the North Western carriage and French language. Sleigh Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee, Wis., a No, 4 phaeton cart. It looks quite handsome and is said to be easy riding. This company certainly sells carts very reasonable. Mr. McMillen has secured the privilege of selling this company's carts, carriages, &c.

in the last decade.

THE MAN OF OUR TOWN.

There was a man in our town Who would not advertise, And so with me you'll all agree He was not extra wise. But when he found his cash decrease, With all his might and main He set to work to figure up, And make an increase plain.

Says he, "My cash must not decrease It paineth me full sore; For lo, instead of getting less, It should be getting more, Experience has taught me this: The man who would be wise Should advertise by night and day, And I will advertise."

And soon this man of our town Bugan to advertise, And so, with me, you'll agree That he was very wise; And lo! tho gold poured swiftly in, It overflowed the till: nce that time he has advertised-

Is advertising still.

-Montreal Witness. IN THE LOBBIES.

People and Things at the Door of Congress.

Years ago the lobbies of the Senthat he thereby rendered himself ate were swept and garnished. The difficult one. When a man has held liable for the axes on four or five apple woman and cigar venders were million dollars worth of personal turned out and the precincts reduced familiar with the faces of Representa-Coperty which he had evaded for to order and dignity befitting the lives and Senators his superiors; hesi-

Now the House seems likely to follow suit. Speaker Reed has issued an edict that the hucksters within the House wing shall scatter and depart. Andithere is much consternation among long tolerated pharasites. Yesterday every member that stepped out of the House was instantly seized upon by one of the humble servitors and tearfully implored to "promise" something; probably that party which has been in power for he would try to assuage the virtuous twenty-five years and has grown cor- wrath of Reed. The photograph rupt. We fine a State Treasurer who men and the cake and apple women elected who does not know his con- humanity are the back numbers that the House gallery there stood a man are still to be seen in these old familit was his duty to watch over the lar places. The card man at the door, United States Army, At another "Aunt Clara" at her notion stand in the corridor just off the dome, old "Aunt Hannah," the apple woman, yers and merchants seek these places. and Mrs. and Mr. Patrick Callahan, Sunday afternoon, and on Sunday with their milk and pie stand in the night and Monday was very sick, basement. Promptly at 12 o'clock but at this writing (Tuesday) was old Hannah comes trudging into the feeling much better and improving. House corridor with her basket of them, of course, are active politicians, Mrs. Mary Boyer, better known as red and yellow apples, carrying her and are necessary to the Congressmen Grandmother Boyer, is lying very ill little footstool, on which she seats who give them their places. At the at the home of her son, Jacob Boyer, herself in one of the window casements.

Old "Aunt Clary" looks exactly as stood for 15 years, Sergeant Decker, she did 25 years ago when she first the man with no hands. He lost his came to Washington. She was once left arm and right hand at Gettysa prosperous millinery merchant in burg, but for all this he is one of the New Orleans, although her history most efficient doortenders. He has runs farther back than that. She is a mechanical contrivance buckled on a French woman, who in her youth the stump of his arm, by which he ing owned by Jacob Boyer in which it is said, was remarkably beautiful can take a card as well as any of his the Misses Ault have their millinery One of the most famous American comrades. statesmen conceived a passion for her and for many years she enjoyed his son Stanley, came to Accident on the fullest confidence and friendship. The war cost her her little fortune in New Orleans and she came to Washington somewhat unsettled in mind. late war as are now so far disabled She used to go into the Senate gal- as to be incapacitated to earn a livelery and wave a small silk flag, lihood from manual labor. making wild expressions of delight whenever a strong Union speech was children under 16 years of age) who made. Charles Sumner became her served not less than three months, friend and secured for her the privit- and were honorably discharged. ege of keeping a stand in one of the | 3. Dependent parents who have Senate corridors. From there, a few lost sons that served in said war, and years later, she was moved over into who now have no other means of the corridor just off the dome on the support than their own labor, not House side, where she is now "on taking into account assistance from needles and pins," she declares. She relatives or friends. has made a handsome living from I propose to prosecute efficiently her sale of notions and has educated such proper and just claims under her son and daughter as well as they this law as may be presented, in would have been had they been the elbow considerable. Jacob Musser children of a millionaire. The boy iness. was sent to Yale College and is now his barn and Mr. Beeghley went living in Europe. Aunt Clara's name is not Clara, and probably there street, Cumberland, Md. 224-275 is no one in Washington who knows exactly what it is or what her antecedents were. She seems to be as Eli McMillen has purchased from familiar with the German as with the

The pages in Congress are always an interesting lot of boys. The older ones are bright, shrewd and well-informed as boys can be. The fresh ones are interesting because of their freshness and their burning desire to form. This is one of the atlest prelearn all the tricks and ways of their sentations of the benefits of Protecolder comrades. The fact that sev- tion yet published, and should be Superintendent Porter, of the Cen- eral public men, including Senator widely read. Send for a copy to the sus Bureau, says that the total pop. Gorman, of Maryland; Dick Town- American Protective Tariff League, ulation of the United States, as shown send, of Illinois, and the multi-mil- 23 West Twenty-third street, New by the present census, will reach 64,- Honaire, Congressman Scott, of Penn- York, enclosing a two-cent stamp. 500,000, an increase of over 14,000,000 sylvania, were at one time pages The Oakland Coal and Coke Com-T. F. King, Grand Commander of notion that some time he, too, may acres more, and is preparing to in-To sell our Choice Nursery Stock. Salary or commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and steady work for earnest visited Alta Lodge No. 574 K of the commission and the commission a visited Alta Lodge, No. 574, K. of take a seat in one house or the other contract for building one hundred ELLWANGER & BARRY, Mt. Hope Nurseries.
Established 1840.

H. at Oakland on last Thursday as a statesman. Their favorite caper more coke ovens and a number of is to draw off in a bunch and go dwellings.

through the forms of a mock House or Senate. They show remarkable fairness in the distribution of honors, and the best politician and smartest boy is generally elected Speaker. Every fellow ingturn is given a chance to make a speech, and the previous question is not moved until after all have had a fair chance.

The young Websters and Clays gesture, gesticulate, stride up and down, rant, and make the old chama ber ring with their youthful speeches: Now it is the postal telegraph, another time the surplus, and again the tariff that engages their attention. Some of their speeches are very well made, and would do credit to Congressmen of the real sort. Altogetherithe life of a page of the Senate or House is pleasant and, instructive, They learn to be gentlemanly, quick, shrewd, and well informed. It is counted quite a prize among people well-to-do to have their boys put on the roll as pages for a winter or two, simply for the sake of experiance.

The position of doorkeeper is a the position long enough to become tate to make changes. The task of attending any of the doors of the House for the first few weeks of a new session is a burdensome one. For instance in this Fifty-first Congress there are 142 new faces in the House, and it is a very bright man who can remember them all at the end of a week's service. Besides this all the old members; have shifted their seats and are scattered about the chamber, so that they can not be quickly placed. But the doorkeeper must know them all, and so must the official reporters recognize them the instant they rise to their feet.

It is curious to learn what sort of men seek the position of doorkeeper. For many years at one of the doors of who had been a major general in the door was an old colonel. Men prominent (in state politics, editors, law-Not infrequently they are men of more than ordinary influence at home, and some of them are the best confidants of public men. All of reserve gallery of the House there stands this session, where he has Pensions under the New Law.

Congress having lately passed a general pension law in the interest 1. Of such surviving soldiers of the

2. Widows of soldiers (and their connection with my professional buse JACOB BROWN.

Attorney at Law. Hoffman Law Building, S. Liberty

The aggregate wealth of the United States is said to average one thousand dollars for every man, woman and child. Suppose an equal division of this money could be made, what a high old time some fellows would have with their share!

Blaine's famous reply to Gladstone has just been issued in pamphlet seems to fire the breast of every boy pany, has leased a large tract of land, who gets an appointment with the and has purchased eleven hundred

The Republican.

BENJ, H. SINCELL, Publisher.

OAKLAND, GARRETT CO., MD.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

The poet sings of lover's bliss, Of Heavenly smiles and rapturous kiss, Of woman's beauty fair and sweet; And vows that life is incomplete, When forced by fate to dwell apart, From her whose image fills his heart.

He raves of eyes of every hue, Of golden brown and sapphire blue; Of waving tresses touched with gold, And glossy bands of ebon fold: Of graceful figures, tall, petite; Of glance demure, or smile so sweet.

He tells each tale of joy and woe, So tenderly, we feel a glow Of sympathy; our bosoms fill, And hearts responsive beat and thrill, And smouldering fires start up anew, While doubting hearts for pardon suc We think of him whose gifted hand

Has penned these lines, and swift is fanne The hero worship in each soul. And all his virtues we extoll, And fancy clothes with every grace, And manly beauty, form and face. Alas! when we the vail have torn That hides the truth, our hero, shorn

Of all our fancy held so fair, Is just a man, with head most bare, And form too stout for early youth. ('Tis not romantic, but the truth.) And while within his cosy den, He talks of love with stubby pen, While clouds of smoke around him soar, No doubt he votes the whole a bore;

Nor would be leave his pipe and chair, For any maid, however fair.

—Cornelia W. Boyden, in Yankee Blade

THE OLD SETTLER.

He and the Squire Have a Little Misunderstanding;

But After a Few Exciting Words They Apologize and Shake Hands-Curious and Uncommon Winds and Hurricanes-Tale of Hiram Wuncut.

ence heered tell on setch ram-West," said the Squire. "They chaff is, an' knock things helter-skelter him knowin' of it, and ez fer gittin' up an' tother eend up giner'ly. They'm a b'ar fight 'mongst the orful to read about. "Pooty high winds, be they, 'Squire' inquired the Old Settler. Nothin' like 'em ever heerd afore!" asserted the 'Squire. "Do they do any thing p'tic'lar cur'ous an' oncommon? "Cur'ousest an' oncommonest ever "Has any on 'em ben high enough an'

cur'ous enough to change the shirt on a man's back 'thout his knowin' of it?" asked the Old Settler, with the air of an examining lawyer.

"Wull, Major," replied the 'Squire, slightly miffed, "harrycanes don't gin-er'ly trapse 'round the kentry playin' funny jokes

"Ah! Don't they?" said the Old Settler, with a sarcastic smile. "Wull, then, mebbe ye kin tell me wuther any o' these here harrycanes o' your'n is high enough an' cur'ous enough to git up a b'ar fight a quarter miled or more the case of an ancistoro' mine who lived bove the 'arth an' durn nigh ag'in the clouds? That wouldn't be playin' no funny joke, I reckon."

"Major," said the 'Squire, after a mo ment's consideration of the subject, "if y've got any relations ez keers fer ve. they orter take ve in hand to wunst. Y've got permonit'ry sym'toms o' goin'

"That hain't nuther here nor thar, b'gosh!" exclaimed the Old Settler, shaking his fist at the 'Squire. "Y've gone an' fetched up a heap o' talk about some high an' cur'ous winds an' harrycanes, an' y've slung it at me without me ever givin' ye a durn provvycation fer it. I wa'n't savin' nuthin' 'bout no wind! Ye say th' never was any setch

"WICHEVER ONE YE DARN PLEASE!"

winds heerd on, an' w'en I 'cept yer chal'nge an' try to git some fac's outen o' wind. Folks in housen th't was bein' ye 'bout the 'zact natur' o' these winds scooted through the air in one d'rection yer braggin' on, ye don't dast come to 'd meet housen from neighborin' deesouten the charge ye made ag'n me by turnin' the subjec' onter wuther I've got any relations or not! I've got ez | nuthin' th't none o' them winds mowt they kin eat ez much ez your'n kin! Thuz this leetle differ'nce 'twixt my relations an' yourn, though: Your rela- night 'Mongst the wash were one o' tions kin eat ez much ez mine kin, but Philander's flannen shirts. Nex' mornmine alluz has it to eat, b'gosh t'l- in' w'en she went out to take in the relations!" shouted the 'Squire, shak- lookin' cotton shirt. That were asing his fist as threateningly as the Old Settler had shaken his. "Ez fer eatin', I his yoke o' steers were gone, 'long with dunno how much yer relations kin eat, his wagon, th' were a time on that but I know one o' their relations who clearin', an' no mistake. kin drink a durn sight more'n anybody else's relation th't I ever know'd; but ben playin' hob ag'in. las' night,' said married.

he for't alluz hev it to drink, though, Philander "but I never know'd one of unless somebody else buys it!"

exclaimed the Old Settler, jumping to a yoke o' steers to a wagon an' drive his feet and brandishing his cane. "Is 'em away." present company 'cepted? Is it? Or t'other! W'ich shell it be?" "Wichever one ye durn please!" ex-shoe fits you, consarn ye, put it on!" The Old Settler glared at the 'Squire tler. The latter's cane was raised over the 'Squire's head and the 'Squire's fist | neck an' hollers: was very close to the Old Settler's nose, The two veterans had never before been seen in attitudes quite so threatening. But nobody thought it worth while to interfere. By and by the Old Settler lowered his cane, but his glare re- kim to hisself. nained. The 'Squire's fist dropped, but the snap did not leave his eye. Then all!" the Old Settler exclaimed: "Who said I thort ye were referencin to me? I never thort o' setch a thing, b'gosh! Thuz more present comp'ny th'n me here th'ts relation o' my relation. Yender sets Sol Duzenberry. He married M'riar's secon' cousin, an' d'ye spose I'm gointer set still an' hev ye throw impytations on Sol? Not w'ile I kin git up an' pertest, b'gosh!"

"Wull," said the 'Squire, a good deal gentler, "is th' any o' your relation's clation here 'sides you an' Sol?" "No, th' hain't," replied the Old Set-

"Then, Major," said the 'Squire, " on't mind sayin' to ye th't I didn't mean Sol."

"All right, 'Squire!" exclaimed the Old Settler. "I 'cept yer 'pology!" The 'Squire and the old Settler shook ands and sat down, the 'Squire's eyes winkling as he winked at the boys.

while the Old Settler ordered a leet! umpin' refreshin' fer all han's. said the 'Squire, after "Major," while, "I think ye said a spell ago th' made a charge ag'in ye an' wouldn't stan' by it. How'd I make a charge

"Wull, 'Squire," replied the Old Settler, "speakin' o' them high an' cu'rous winds o' your'n, ye said th't I hadn't never heerd o' winds ez was ea high an' cu'rous ez them. That were charge ag'in me, an' a ser'ous one, an pageousin' winds wen I begun to try an' git some fac's an' harrycanes outen ye bout them winds o' your'n ye ez they seem to drifted to subjects ez was furrin' to the havin' out question, an' a little unfort'nit."

"Sech bein' the case, Major," said the 'Souire, "I'll take back the charge an' don't seem to ast ye to perceed with yer 'zamination stop at nuthin', o' me ez to wuther them winds o' mine, Major. They ez ye call em, was ekal to sartin things slosh housen or wuther they wa'nt. Replyin' to yer around ez if they two fust questions now, I'll say th't wa'n't no more none o' them winds o' mine ever consekence ez to heft th'n buckwhit dreamt o' changin' a man's shirt 'thout wouldn't ha' had no more idee o' doin of it th'n they would ha' had o' takin' up a c'lection fer the heathens in Af ferky.

"That's wat I thort, b'gosh!" said the Old Settler. "An' now, then, 'Squire, was any o' them winds o' your'n high an' cur'ous enough in their natur' to hev a man arrested charged with cattle steal-

"Never, sir!" replied the 'Squire, with the solemnity of a witness in court. "Good!" ejaculated the Old Settler. Now, sir! Did any o' them winds o your'n, ever show their height an' their cur'ousness to be setch az to change the veenoo of a case in court an' save an innercent man from persecution?"

"Never!" answered the 'Squire "Then, 'Squire," said the Old Settler, 'th'has been winds and harrycanes a durn sight higher and cur'ouser th'n them o' yourn, an' I'll prove it to ye by in the Sugar Swamp deestric' at an 'arly day. 'Cordin to the dockyments his name were Hiram Wuncut. I wun't say that the winds they had in the Sugar Swamp deestric' in them days was higher an' cur'ouser th'n any th't had ever ben heard on afore, 'cause it mout be a charge ag'n somebody, but the fam'ly lockyments says they was, an' also says th't they was oncommon suddent an' contrairy in their dispositions.

"If ever th' were a victim o' sarcum stances, the dockyments says his name were Hiram Wuncut. Hiram were a oor man, but he were ambitious. He had a clearin' th't were contin'ally bein' squatted on by a b'ar th't didn't make o bones o' walkin' off with a sheep or a pig or a calf, right afore Hiram Wunut's eyes, an' it was the ambition o' Hiram to lay that b'ar low. But the b'ar were too cunnin' a chap fer Hiram, an' he continuered to gether in the livn' projuce o' Hiram's farm an' keep Hiram poor. The b'ar didn't seem to other nobody else's sheep nor calves ut Hiram's, an' so, w'ile his neighbor hilander Boles k'd raise wool enough o make him nice flannen shirts an' his calves grow'd up inter cows an' oxen, Hiram had to keep on wearin' ruther sed up ol' cotton shirts th't had kim with him wen he landed in Sugar Swamp, an' his calves couldn't stay with him long enough to git to be cows nor oxen.

"Them winds o' the Sugar Swamp deestric', so these fam'ly dockyments says, usety come up so suddent th't one minute yer corn in the garden wouldn't be shook by ez much ez a zephyr, an' the next minute yer house 'd be sot down in the nex' township by a streak the dough trough, but try to sneak tric's passin' along in t'other d'rection, them winds run in setch contrairy streaks. Hiram Wuncut alluz said th't many relations, b'gosh, ez you hev! An' do would ever s'prise him not one ioty. "One afternoon Philander Boles' wife hung out her wash, an' lef' it out over wash the flannen shirt were gone, an' "I don't keer a durn fer you ner ver in its place on the line were a cur'oustoundin', but w'en Philander found th't

"'One o' them tarnal winds must ha'

'em to take a shirt offen a line and pin "Is present comp'ny 'cepted, 'Squire?" another un in its place afore, an' hitch

"Philander walked over to Hiram hell I consider th't yer a liar? One or Wuntut's, w'ich were a miled away, an' he didn't find Hiram to hum. Somehow or other, he went to trapsein 'roun' the under the Old Settler's nose. "If the foun' Hiram way over beyont Lost Crow Barren, goin' west, in a dazed sort o' way, an' drivin' a pair o' steers. Phiand the 'Squire glared at the Old Set- lander were a cross an' overbearin' sort o' chap, an' he grabbed Hiram by the

> "'Whar ye goin' with my yoke o steers? An' w'at a-ye doin' with my flannen shirt on?' "Hiram looked kind o' crazy at fust, > an' then he rec'onized Philander, an' "'Jeewhizz!' he says. 'If it don't beat

"'Sh'd say so!' says Philander. "'It's all kim back to me now!' says Hiram. 'Fore daylight this mornin' I see that pesky ol' b'ar takin' my las' sheep. I tore fer your place to hev ye come an' help me run him down. Jis' ez I got to your cabin one o' the winds grabbed me. It husseled me around in the air over your patch fer a minute or two, an' then swished me up more'n a quarter of a miled, an' started west with me. We hadn't gone fur 'fore we met that b'ar. It'd bengrabbed up by contrairy wind, an' were comin' along back east. The sight o'that b'ar riled ne, an' ez he kim by me I clutched him. Thar we war, right in the swirl o' them two contrairy winds, an'every time 1'd sling the b'ar's heds up he'd wind begun to fall, an' let us down s'prise me, but the doin's o' this un lean kerflummixes me! Hullo! Th' hain't no b'ar in the wagon! If some one ain't gone an' stoled it, then I'lleat my ears!

WAT A-YE DOIN' WEH MY FLANNES SHIRT ON"

"But knowin' all about the Sugar were took back an' brought up 'fore ol' Jedge Sniffits. The jedge were ag'in estice thar. Change o' veenoo were de-But it didn't, fer just then, all of a suddent, kerl-o-o-o-gh! kim one o' them office an' all th't were in it war sailin' west'rd through the air like a soarin' Gander deestric', the wind let the buildin' down, and it hadn't no sooner landed than Jedge Sniffits hollers out:

"'Let the perceedin's perceed!" "Then up pops Hiram. they won't! says he. 'That wind has changed the veenoo o' this case! This here hain't the Sugar Swamp deestric' This here is Wild Gander, an' ye hain't got no jurisdiction here, b'gosh! You let me go, or I'll make you sweat fer usurpatin' jurisprudence, b'gosh, an'

then we'll see who's on top!" "Ol' Jedge Sniffits know'd too much to go on in that deestric', an' Hiram Wuncut walked out c' court, and never went back to Sugar Swamp.

whar natur' is so durn queer an' neighbors is so mean!" "-Ed. Mott, in N. Y. Sun.

Mean Measure of Man's Size. The investigations of the anthropological committee of the British association, recently reported, exhibit the following as the mean measure of man's size in the various countries of Europe: The English are the tallest race among men, their average height being 5 feet 10 inches, the working classes included, outside of which the average stature would amount to only 5 feet 9 inches. The Norwegians, however, are at least their equals. The Danes, Dutchmen and Hungarians average 5 feet 8 inches; the Swiss, Russians, and Belgians, 5 feet 7 4-5 inches. The Frenchman's mean stature, like that of the German, does not rise above 5 feet 5% inches. In Germany there appears a decided difference in size between the inhabitants of the south and those of the north; for example, the Hanoverians and Bavarians-in favor of the former. The smallest of all European nations are the Italians and Spaniards, who show a mean of only 5 feet 5 inches. While, as mentioned, the working-men of England evince an average superiority of bodily size, in France the other classes exhibit a mean measure by nearly an inch exceeding that of the laboring population. -Some men like to keep bachelor's hall, but in our opinion a bachelor never makes so good a haul as when he gets What are you practicing?

Mrs. Younghusband—Strict economy.

AN AGATE BRIDGE.

Some of the Wonderful Things in Chalcedony Park, Arizona. Among the great American wonder is the silicified forest known as Chalcedony Park, situated eight miles south of Corrizio, a station on the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, in Apache County, claimed the 'Squire, snapping his fingers deestrict, an' 'long in the afternoon he Arizona. The country formation is sandstone on volcanic ash, and the trees are exposed in gulches and basins where the water has worn the sandstone away, or are buried beneath the sandstone, their fered from the selfishness of tobacco ends protruding from between the formations. The locality was noticed in survey. The jasper and agate generally replaced the cell walls and fibers, and the transparent quartz filled the cells ing with jewels?" and interstices, especially where the "That," replied the minister, "is the structure was broken down by decay. These cell centers and cavities produced conditions favorable not only for also for the formation of the drusy crys-> that so increase the beauty of the material. There is every evidence to show that the trees grew beside some inland sea. After falling they became water-logged, and during decomposition the cell structure of the wood was entirely replaced with the silica from the sandstone in the walls surrounding this great inland sea. Major John W. Powell, who has visited all these regions, says: "The wood consisted of logs water-rolled before burial, and are now gradually weathering out of their matrix. The inclosing rock is sandstone and cretaceous shale of the series known as Jura-trias, and lying mmediately above the Chinarump. Agatized wood containing much semional has been formed in California (and oossibly in Arizona) under volcanic deposits, but the wood in question is not ssociated with volcanic material; its matrix is sedimentary." The red and yellow coloring matter is derived from the oxide of iron in the sandstone, which is red, and the black may be due to partial carbonization or to oxide of manganese. The bark in nearly every case has been decayed before silicification, and even part of the other layers of the tree is often gone, but the difference between the oxidation on the surface and inside is that the surface to the depth of half an inch is so altered and changed that it has the appearance of bark, and is generally supposed to be such. A phenomenon perhaps unparelleled and the most remarkable feature of the away the hull on us went. Bime by the thickest part, and 3 at the smallest. Where the bark does not adhere the gradjally to the arth, jist ez if we was characteristic colors of jasper and agate goin' down a big long hill. The hull are seen. Although the wood is beautibusiness turned my head clean inside out, an' I ben wanderin' about like a needed to reveal its greatest charms; erazy man. These is your steers, sure not only does the glass enhance the enough! An' I'm durned if this bere brilliancy of its colors, but it renders hain't your flannen shirt! I've said that visible the structure, which has been nuthin' none o' these winds done 'd ever perfectly observed, even to the forms of minute cells, and is more beautiful now than before the transformation.

Dr. P. H. Dudley examined micro scopically some sections of this wood and found that part of it, at least, be longs to the genus Araucaria, one spe Swamp winds, Philander were mean cies of which, Araucaria excelsa, the enough to hev Hiram arrested fer cattle | Norfolk Island pine of the South Pastealin' an' stealin' his shirt. Hiram cific Ocean, according to the same authority, grows to a height of 100 to 200 feet. Other portions were found to rehim from the start, an' Hiram ast fer a semble our red cedar, Juniperus Virchange o' veenoo, 'cause he couldn't get giniana, when grown in the extreme South. The cell structure of some of nied and the case ordered to perceed. the wood indicates growth in a mild, uniform climate, the annual rings being marked by only, one, two, three or more winds, an' the nex' secont the jedge's slightly smaller hexagonal or rounded, not tabular cells, as is usually the case. The name of "Chinarump" has been eagle. Ten miled away in the Wild suggested for this material by Major John M. Powell, this being the Indian name for the substance. according to one of the Indian myths, were believed to be the bolts of the arrows used by their god. It has been extensively used by them in making spear and arrow points.

BILL ARP SURPRISED.

The Wonderful Things Children Are Now Taught at School. I never knew how it was that a chicken could sleep on the roost without falling off, or how it could hold on to it in a bird sat down the tendons in the legs | the shop unconvinced. closed up the toes tight around the "'I wun't live in a place,' he said, limb, and the bird or the chicken I notice now that when a chicken is heap from these children. I reckon they can tell me why a cow gets up be hind and a horse gets up before, and how many eggs a bat lays, and why a it was with intense pride that she whipporwill can't sit across a limb, and exhibited the great black cat, whom she why a bean vine climbs round a pole christened Rip Van Winkle in Joe Jefone way and a hop vine the other, and ferson's honor, and the mocking bird what the dew claws are on a dog's hind whose songs in many keys are scarcely legs for. Maybe they know how it is less tuneful than those of the graythat when a horse eats grass the grass bearded Quaker. makes hair, and when a sheep eats grass it turns to wool, and when a goose eats grass it turns to feathers. There is a reason for every thing in nature and this generation is finding it out. One would think from the way these school children talk about hygiene and what to eat and what not to eat and how to cook it, that there was no need for anybody to die if they would con-> am glad the children have such books to study.—Atlanta Constitution. Mr. Younghusband Smoked Cigars. Miss Fiance-Do you get any time to practice now, Lena? Mrs. Younghusband-O, yes, plenty Miss Flance-Indeed! I am surprised. Burlington Free Press.

FRENCH TOBACCO.

It Is the Vilest and Dearest Article of the Face of the Earth. It was a woman who did it. "Unknown the city of her birth, the town in which she died unknown, her name has perished from the earth, this truth survives alone," and the truth is that she caused a nation of 40,000,000 of people to suffer from the vilest and dearest tobacco on the face of the earth. She did it through feminine vanity and in one moment avenged all that her sex has sufsmokers. And this is how it happened: One evening there was a ball at the 1853 by the Pacific railroad exploring Tuilleries. Napoleon said to one of his ministers:

"Who is that woman over there blaz--, the tobacco manufact-

"There is money in tobacco," said the the deposition of silica as quartz, but Emperor. "The government will have a monopoly of the tobacco business after tallina cavities of quartz and amethyst this." So the French Government, monarch-tal or republican, has ever since served he has in this world except the final 'e' out to its unfortunase subjects such tobacco as it thinks they can smoke without falling dead when they get the first whiff. It costs from half a franc to a franc for a packet containing a couple of ounces. The government is not content with legitimate profits, but serves out the most abominable mixture that ever insulted a respectable pipe. It is a black, stringy, rank substance, and the material of which it is made is kept a deep secret by the officials. Some say it is made from old rags, but this is evidently untrue, for rags would smoke much better than Franch tobacco does. Fearing an uprising among the English and American residents in France, the government reluctantly consented to allow a couple of brands of English tobacco and one or two brands of American tobacco to be sold in the republic. The price put on these goods gives about three times the cost of the tobacco to the government. Thus, a packet which sells in Detroit for ten cents costs in France two francs, or forty cents-four times the American price. But in order that the government can do its own swindling and that the retailer will not have a chance to run in its own little local swindle on you, the government does one good thing. It prints on every package of tobacco or bunch of cigarettes the price that is to be paid.

The tobacco shops of France are govrnment offices and are filled with deserving people who have claims on the kick a cloud, an' wen h'ed sling me up I'd kick ag'in a cloud. Bime by I tree of agatized wood spanning a canon of his overnment, as for instance, the widow of a soldier who has died in the service socked my knife clean through the b'ar's 45 feet in width. In addition to the of his country. These tobacco shops wizzen, an'he give up. Jist then, w'at span fully fifty feet of the tree rest on are few, as compared with the number should come sailin' along on the wind goin' west but a yoke o' steers, hitched to of over 100 feet. Both ends of the tree test on found in English or American cities.

They are also practically sub-post-ofa wagon. I slung the b'ar in the wagon ez it kim up, jumped in arter it, an ages 3½ feet in diameter, 4 feet at the boxes. Herein lies a hint to the United States Government. There is loud complaint after every election that there are not enough post-offices for the patriots of the party to fill. Let the Government take over the tobacco shops of the United States. Abraham Lincoln said, when threatened with the small-pox, that if he took it he would have some thing to give every office-seeker. It the United States Government absorbed the tobacco business it would be almost as well fixed as Lincoln. In most large cities there are thousands of tobacco shops to one post-office or one customs house. This is a good chance for the Government.

But, unless it wants to stir up a rebellion, let it not attempt to manufacture the tobacco.-Detroit Free Press.

